They based their argument on the theory of the amount of business done. Why, they asked, should they be forced to pay $100 for a business which might average between $5,000 and $10,000 per year, while the groceries, drug stores, and similar merchants with a great deal larger amount of business had but a $12.50 tax to pay? They also commented on other points: very little police patrol around their houses; no favors asked, and similar arguments.

The committee of the Lower House was unanimously in favor of the reduction to $12.50, but the Upper House did not act so favorably, although it admitted that the protests of the moving picture men were justified. Owing to the condition of the finances of the city, they said, they could not consider such a decrease, but were willing to cut the price in half. The managers have agreed to allow this to go by without further protest, and if the cut is allowed by the mayor, an ordinance will be introduced in the council decreasing the license fee. It is an actual fact that Kansas City's finances are in poor shape and every cent is needed, all of which the moving picture managers realize. The next few weeks, however, will probably witness a reduction to $50.

Most of the licenses expire July 1 and the plan is to have the new ordinance in effect by that time so that the benefit will be immediate.

Several of the larger theatres represented were as follows: Strand, Gillham, Bonaventure, Benton, Linwood, Gladstone and various others. No downtown houses were represented, the delegation coming from the suburban theatres. However, if the ordinance is favorably accepted, each playhouse in the city will be affected.

Kansas Censors Reject an Average of One Reel in Fifty; 51,032 Are Approved By the Board

THE Kansas state censors under W. D. Ross, Kansas superintendent of public instruction, have a low batting average in the number of films rejected, according to a compilation of the office's business up to May 1, practically a year, filed recently. This report shows that out of 5,137 films, comprising 11,614 reels, examined by the censors, only 105 were rejected, or about one in fifty. 51,032 were approved by the censors.

On the first time up, 5,028 were passed and 109 rejected, four of which, after reassembling with objectionable features eliminated, were afterwards accepted. Of the final 105, 62 were appealed to the state's censor board. Thirty of these were rejected absolutely by the appeal board, the governor, attorney general, and the secretary of state. Thirty-two were allowed to be exhibited by this body. In a number of cases, however, the censors say that the producers eliminated objectional scenes before the final approval of the appeal board was made. In all, 5,064 of a possible 5,137 were approved, with but thirty absolutely rejected.

The Kansas City exchanges have just received word that the projection room installed by the Kansas state board of censors in the basement of the state building in Topeka is ready for use, and from now on all pictures reviewed will be passed on in that room. This is the same place the state fixed up about four weeks ago, which failed to pass the inspection of the fire marshal regarding certain requirements of moving picture booths.

The establishment of this room means that it will be possible to have the film shown without having to hire a person in Topeka to present the pictures before the censors. Heretofore, the price has been two dollars for the inspection of each reel, with an additional fifty-cent fee going to the person who took charge of the film while in Topeka. This charge covered the exhibiting and also the care of the film, which included the shipping of it according to the advice of the exchange. It is intended to eliminate this fifty cents fee for the exchanges, if possible, but whether the latter care to entrust their films to the state for rerouting is a matter of conjecture. At any rate, the moving picture men fail to see the advantage to be derived from the establishment of the room, and really prefer to exhibit their pictures in a Topeka house, as heretofore, where the best results can be obtained.

The claim is that this room is one of the poorest projection rooms ever constructed and that it is dangerous for every person in the room when a picture is being shown. Entrance to this place is gained by a series of lanes in the basement of the building.

ORDER ISSUED BY COAST RAILROADS PROHIBITING CARRYING OF FILMS ON TRAINS IS CANCELLED; BUT METAL CASES MUST BE LOCKED

The orders issued by the railroad companies operating in California that in the future motion picture films could not be carried on passenger trains or ferry boats, except by express companies or common carriers, have been cancelled. These orders were issued last March and were to go into effect immediately. The Film Exchange Board of Trade of San Francisco took action on the matter at once and induced the railroad companies to suspend the orders for the time being, at the same time preparing a case for presentation before the State Railroad Commission.

During the past three months many conferences have been held between the exchange men, attorneys representing the railroads and express interests and officials of the National Bureau of Explosives. It was shown conclusively that there had never been an accident of any kind in carrying films in California and that accidents elsewhere had been the result of gross carelessness and could as easily have occurred had the films been in charge of an express company. At the final hearing on the question the transportation companies agreed to cancel their orders and to allow films to be carried as hand baggage, provided certain restrictions were faithfully lived up to, it being understood that at the next session of the State Legislature measures would be brought up for regulating the carrying of films on boats and trains.

It was insisted that all films carried by passengers be packed in regulation metal boxes with a fiber lining and that these boxes be locked. Exhibitors are being made to realize that this is a privilege that may be revoked if proper care is not exercised and exchange men are insisting that the regulations are lived up to. In granting this concession the attorneys for the railroads stated that local conditions had a great deal to do with it as it was realized that the communities around San Francisco Bay are in reality one great city with a population of about 900,000 and that practically all of the films carried by passengers are taken to houses within the metropolitan area.

JUST TO MAKE TALK

By LONGACRE

WHY REVIEWERS ARE SO FOND OF TRIPE SALAD

TRANSCRIBED from notes taken in a projection room where the producer's employes had also gathered.

"Now watch this boy; isn't that clever?"
"Oh, I just love both of those children. You know, when we were taking this, the one on the left . . . ."
"Who wrote those titles?"
"Oh—h—see that. The first time he did that . . . . ."
"There's the cat I told you about."
"I just love cats."
(Intermission while four women read the subtitle aloud in varying keys).
"Look! Look at his eyes."
"Isn't that just the cleverest thing."
"Where'd you get that woman?"
"I dunno. She's the mother . . . ."
"There's another subtitle misspelled."
"Oh—h, see that. I just knew she'd do that."
"Don't you just love those pigs?"
"I think that's the funniest thing I ever saw."
"That—see that! That was made over in . . . . Why, Mr. Runyon, there was another scene to go in there."
"Here's Marjorie; isn't she sweet."

Having nothing much to do, Mabel Taliaferro has started a crusade against gossip, introducing numerous mechanical appliances of her own. When she exhausts her field we can arrange to give her some new leads.

In the Maytime
When the lilacs bloom
And the young man's fancy turns
Bugs,
Nature smiles
Like a press-agent,
Sneaking,
Peaking, Seeking
A new account,
Pardon us the rhyme,
It was an accident.

As we were Saying:
In the Maytime,
Older men's fancies turn
Bugs
Also.
Their hearts commence to yearn
To see their names in print;
And what so easy as to Run for President?
'Tis being done,
Quite generally.

Hence we have before us
Shouting pressmen in a chorus;
There we go
Rhyming again.
Pardon us.
We merely wished to
State:
That we have received the ArtLes
Literature which announces the Candidacy of Edwin August for the Presidency,
On a platform of
"Free Silence," and for
Our part, we are Willing.
Willing that he shall be Freely silent
Forever.
So say we

ALL OF US.

In the press matter hot from Universal City, we read that during the last year 200,000 rolls of wall-paper have been purchased, and "prices varied from twenty-five cents to $3 a role." Twenty-five cents a role is overpaying lots of persons.

The percentage of illiteracy in the United States is 7.7—or was last August, when this department was young. These illiterates probably include the author of the following letter, recently received by E. T. Peter, president of the United Program Film Service, of Dallas:

Mr. E. t. Peten
I re seve your letter in the re gards of thay films Now cost I dont want the Wost that you have but a bout the Secken clas so I Will Name som of peces have you the peces Wher thay crusfide crist on the cross Have you the kidnat Child have you got John & Hery & Willie the chicken rags Now I Will tell you I Wants som that is funny to young peple so have you the hanta room Now thes all is old peces but thay is funny have you the Dimant in the skies have you a price fight have you the tran robs Now if you have eny of the peces that I nam send me the price of them And Nam som of your funny peces Now I Wants them as soon as I cand get them so Write at A erly date I am yours

---

After viewing the Sir Herbert Tree production of "Macbeth," at the Fine Arts studios, De Wolf Hopper dusted off the acreage of his face surrounding the mouth, and remarked: "I see where the mattress

---

The Bayside Bugle

Vol. I. No. 4. Bayside, L. I., June 5, 1916 Ten cts. a copy

EDITORIAL

One thing our citizens should bear in mind at this season is the question of commutation tickets to the city. There being so many now owning automobiles, and others with friends who have the same, that often it is not essential to take the train to N. Y. in the mornings, and thus part of the ticket goes to waste or is not used. As the old saying hath it, "A penny saved gathers no moss," although this being a figure of speech regarding the penny, as a commutation ticket does not cost pennies, but rather $8 from this village. Many are now buying 50-ride tickets and others none at all unless on mornings when it rains, when a single ticket suffices. A word to the wise is perhaps unnecessary, but the BUGLE aims to be fearless in extending helpful suggestions to our readers.

Local News

—Many from here celebrated Decoration day in various ways.

—Cliff Bruce is getting up early these mornings. Cliff has a job in N. Y. now, and is a pretty busy man.

—Jack Clymer is getting to be a real good autoist. He drives to the city each morning, frequently taking Ye Editor along, as Jack likes bright company. He is known as "Kid Oldfield" to many.

—If many more of our motion picture people, such as Geo. Irving, Frank Powell, Art. James, Bill Johnston, Jim Corbett, Cyril Scott, et al., keep on joining the yacht club, we will have to arrange for a yacht club correspondent, we guess.

—Bright weather is keeping Bram Davis, our hustling real estate man, on the move these days.

—Talk of the Big Bayside Clambake, for picture people and their friends, as well as stars, etc., is getting quite general. We hear they want to have the bake down by the bay on or about July 4th, Independence Day.

—Jim McKenna was New Yorking on bus, one day this week.

—H. Reichenbach has put the summer screens up all around the porch of his house.

ART SUPPLEMENT TO BAYSIDE BUGLE, JUNE 17, 1916

Miss Alice Brady and her staff, summering at Bayside. This photograph was taken at great expense especially for the BUGLE by Mr. White, the celebrated N. Y. photographer. Extra copies, suitable for framing, to be obtained at this office factories will have to close down. All the hair in the world appears to be in use on these countenances."

Three Scenes Descriptive of the Signal-Mutual Production, "Whispering Smith," with Helen Holmes and J. P. McGowan

The best suggestion we have heard this week is that Violet Mersereau picked up the name of Welch, recently discarded by Louise Carbasse-Lovely, etc. Violet, you may remember, is the young person who agreed to marry the "handsomest man," and then left him flat.

FANNIE WARD KEEPS "FRIEND HUSBAND" BUSY DICKERING WITH EXPRESS COMPANIES

"Public Opinion" is the name given the photoplay by Margaret Turnbull, now being produced by Frank Reicher, of the Lasky Studios, and which stars Blanche Sweet. This pertains to the ruin of an innocent girl's character by talk at clubs and in society.

The Lasky director, George Melford, is said to be chasing the festive trout in the streams in Bear Valley. At least, Mr. Melford is on a two weeks' vacation, the first he has had in four years.

Fannie Ward and Jack Dean are expected home soon from their delayed honeymoon trip to New York. Letters from Miss Ward are to the effect that she is having the time of her life buying additions for her wardrobe, and friend husband is becoming a business man dickering with the express companies for the transportation of the new frocks.

FRED THOMSON WILL DIRECT SOTHERN FOR VITAGRAPH

Fred Thomson has been engaged by the Vitagraph Company of America as director for E. H. Sothern, who will begin work at the Vitagraph studios in Brooklyn on three photo-dramatic productions beginning June 1.

Thomson was selected out of a large number of possible candidates for the work of directing Mr. Sothern. He is known as one of the most artistic directors now engaged in the production of screen drama.

Thomson began his career as a motion picture director with the Vitagraph Company several years ago after a long experience in the theatre. Since that time, he has been with several other concerns but expressed himself as delighted at his return to the old, yet ever new, Vitagraph. Thomson has been a friend of Mr. Sothern for some years.

J. A. Berst Punctures Dream Bubble of the "Authors' Union"

Script Makers Are Not Entitled to Ten Per Cent. of Profits on a Picture, Even if Scribes Are Willing to Work Union Hours

THE New York papers recently published a story to the effect that the "Author's League of America," of which Winston Churchill is the president, and Theodore Roosevelt the vice-president, is considering the advisibility of joining the American Federation of Labor with the express purpose of "bringing the moving picture men to time" by holding them up for ten per cent of the profits of a picture, this ten per cent to be paid the author of the story, idea or scenario from which the picture is made. Thompson Buchanan, secretary of the executive committee, is reported to have said that any picture which nets the producer or distributor $35,000 should pay the author at least $3,500. One of the arguments advanced is that "an author gets from $500 to $1,500 for an idea or scenario which costs the producer not more than $15,000 to prepare for use and from which he reaps not less than $35,000."

As a lever for their arguments the disgruntled scribes plan to make use of the cameramen and mechanicians who are now affiliating with the American Federation of Labor. Thus if the picture manufacturer does not accede to their terms they expect to call out their fellow union men, the cameramen et al and tie up the plant as tight as a drum.

J. A. Berst, vice-president and general manager of Pathe, when the above statements were called to his attention, refused to be alarmed.

"In the first place," he said, "the authors' argument rests upon a false premise. They take no account of the picture which does not pay its way and which represents a loss and not a profit. We would be only too glad to buy at a high price any and every idea for a picture to cost not more than $15,000 that would positively give to us net profits of $35,000, but it can't be done. The value of a story for picture purposes is a gamble, and the picture itself is a gamble. Who takes the risk, the author or the producer? The author spends the time of one man, himself, for a week or so. The producer spends six or seven weeks or more upon a feature picture, with high priced players and with extras, cameramen, property men, all drawing salaries and fattening the overhead charges upon that picture. It costs about thirty per cent to market a feature in addition to the producing cost which is never as low as $15,000 for a good production with first class players. In view of this cost the author receiving ten per cent of the profits would earn less money than he does on the basis of the present plan, and as many features actually lose money on such pictures, he would get nothing for his work. It strikes me that $3,500 is an excessive price for the idea for one feature picture. We have frequently paid high prices for the picture rights to some well-known book or play, but in those instances we were also buying the publicity which naturally is a part of such a work through its popularity with many persons.

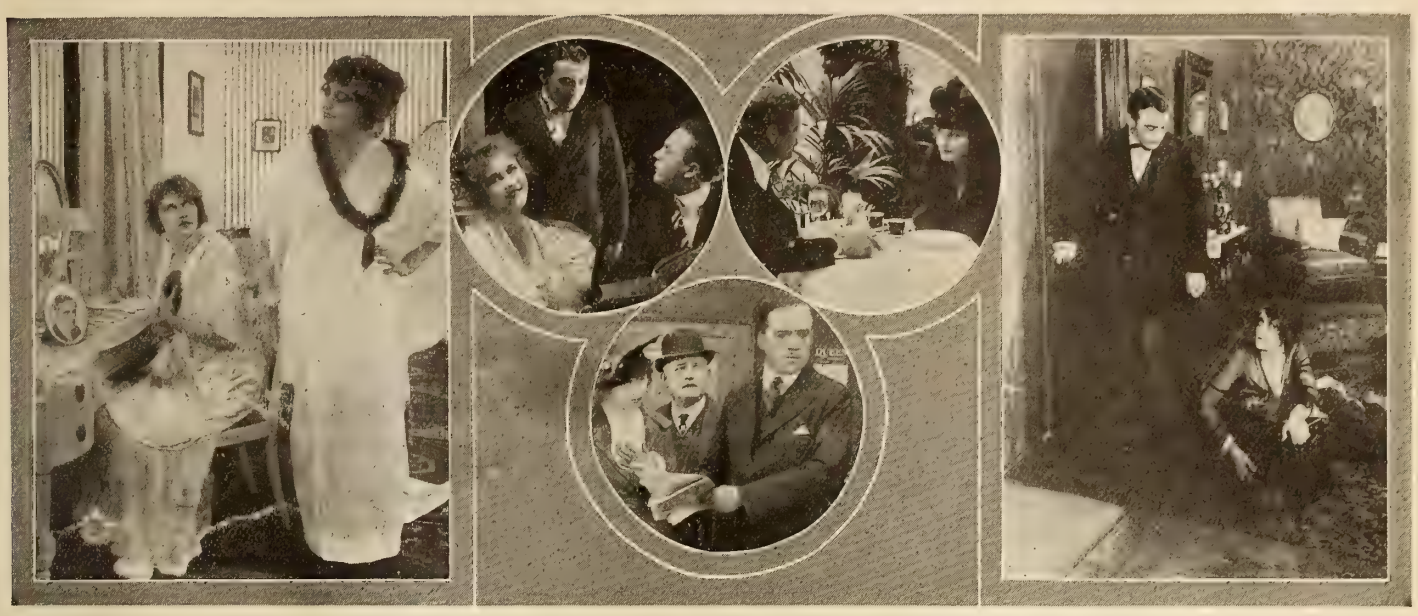
"If our friends the authors are really serious in their plans they lay themselves open to criticism in that the unknown writer would receive the same rate of compensation as the most famous.

"It is stated that the Author's League now numbers 1,200 members, and that it is expected by the end of the year there will be 3,000, which number is supposed to include practically all the scenario writers. The motion picture business has reared up its own school of dramatists, and I fail to see where the business would have to be dependant upon any author's association. There neither is nor can be any monopoly of writing talent—that is a field of human endeavor that is open to any one. The famous writer frequently falls down when he writes for the screen, for the requirements of the art differ from those of the stage, the short story or the novel.

"Finally let me reassure the Author's League as to the fabulous profits in the motion picture business. They don't exist, press reports to the contrary."

URBAN, SCENIC ARTIST OF NOTE, TO DESIGN FOX PAPER

It is reported that Joseph Urban, the famous scenic artist and designer of some of the most beautiful stage settings ever produced is to design all of the billboard and advertising "paper" for the William Fox-Kellermann picture. This will be the first work of this kind ever done by him.



Anna Nilsson and Tom Moore in Chapters Six, Seven and Eight of the Pathe Series, "Who's Guilty?"

THE EASTERN STUDIOS

(Continued from page 3737)

will not have to go out of the city on location work, the entire production having been arranged for at the Paragon Studios or close by.

Robert Warwick, playing in "Friday the 13th," the first film play from the pen of Thomas W. Lawson, the noted financier and fictionist, will work along for several more weeks at the Peerless Studios, then visit the stock exchange at Boston and Chicago.

Theda Bara in a Scene from "East Lynne," William Fox

In addition to the companies outlined, four other companies are either assembling or ready to start work at the sign from Mr. Brady, who now gives every detail his personal attention.

"PRINCE CHAP" FOR SELIG

"The Prince Chap" will soon be put in production at the Chicago studios of the Selig Company.

Selznick Secures Five Acres of Meadow and Woodland

Section Is Located on Flushing Bay, Long Island, and Plans for the Studio on the Site Call for a Floor Space of 100 by 150 Feet

AFTER scouring the environs of New York for a likely site for the Clara Kimball Young Film Corporation studio and printing plant, Lewis J. Selznick, president and Miss Young, star and vice-president of the company, decided this week on a section of land in the vicinity of Flushing, L. I. A long term lease was signed for five acres of meadow and woodland on the shore of Flushing Bay and the work of constructing the studio and adjoining plant will begin at once.

The architectural plans for the studio were drawn up to meet the ideas of Miss Young and her Director General, Albert Capellani. These plans call for a studio floor space 100x150 feet. The walls and roof will be completely glassed and the front end of the studio, facing on the bay, will be so constructed as to be thrown wide open, permitting sets to be erected within the studio showing a natural sky background and glimpses of the shore and bay.

An architectural gardener has been engaged to plan the grounds around the studio and along the shore front. There will be several kinds of formal gardens for exterior scenes, and an artificial lake and water fall.

Among the innovations planned for the studio itself is a specially constructed flooring that will be absolutely impervious to shock and free from all vibration. Thousands of feet of film are spoiled every day in the old-fashioned studios by the floor vibrations caused by workmen and other persons moving about the studio while a scene is being taken. With the new flooring designed for Miss Young's studio the heaviest sort of construction work can be carried on close to a camera in operation without affecting the film in the slightest.

Another feature of the new studio will be the two revolving stages, on each of which four interiors of ordinary size or two big sets can be erected and "shot" without moving the position of the camera and lights. This device has been proved a tremendous saving in time—and in a studio time is the equivalent of large sums of money.

The dressing room accommodations planned are unusually commodious and designed to satisfy the wants of the most "temperamental" players. Miss Young practically drew the dressing room specifications herself.

It is hoped to have the studio completed by the end of the summer. For her first production, a picturization of Robert W. Chambers' famous novel, "The Common Law," Miss Young will lease a studio in New York.

"FIGHTING HEIRESS" IS KALEM'S LATEST SERIAL

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Los Angeles, June 3.

Filming of the last episode of the Kalem "Social Pirates" resulted in two players being injured. Ollie Kirkby has a sprained knee, necessitating the aid of crutches, and Frank Jonasson was hurt when thrown from a horse when it fell after stepping into a gopher hole.

With the completion of this, Director James Horne of the Kalem Glendale studio took up the making of another series of pictures to be known as "The Fighting Heiress." The series, like the "Social Pirates," will consist of fifteen episodes, each of two reels. The punch of the first reel will be a big prairie fire, and to successfully film this Director Horne negotiated the purchase of an entire crop of wheat on a nearby ranch. A large number of extra players were engaged for the fire fighting scenes. True Boardman, who played lead in "The Stingaree" series, has been engaged for "The Fighting Heiress." Marin Sais will play the name part, and the supporting company will consist of E. Forrest Taylor, Frank Jonasson, Ed. Clisby, R. E. Bradbury, R. L. Dell and others.

"JAFFERY" PUT IN WORK BY FROHMAN AMUSEMENT

"Jaffery," which is being made into a five-reel picture by the Frohman Amusement Corporation, was written by William J. Locke, the noted English author, with many novels to his credit. This last has proved his most popular, outselling even his "Beloved Vagabond."

The cast selected by Director George Irving is headed by C. Aubrey Smith for the name part.

Mr. Smith, like Locke, is an Englishman, and the actor and novelist have been intimate friends for many years. When a play was made of the book, "The Morals of Marcus," it was Mr. Smith who played the leading part. Now, in the noble, rugged character of "Jaffery," Mr. Locke has allowed his pen to portray his friend Mr. Smith, so that in securing C. Aubrey Smith for this lead, a character has stepped from the printed page into the flesh—not an actor portraying the part accurately, but the actual man about whom the character was drawn.

MARYLAND CENSORS PICKED

Special to Motion Picture News.

Baltimore, June 3.

Governor Harrington of Maryland has named the members of the board of Moving Picture Censors, which consists of some of the most prominent people in the state. William F. Stone, former Collector of Customs and chief political leader of the Republican party of Baltimore, was one of the appointees. Mrs. Thomas B. Harrison, daughter of Bernard N. Baker, former steamship magnate, has been put on the board, and has the distinction of being the only woman member.

Charles E. Harper of Salisbury, a former mayor of that town, is the third member of the board. The censors will get $2,400 per year.

The Moving Picture Censor Board will elect a secretary at a good salary. Operators and other employees are to be selected.

BETTY BROWN TO POSE FOR FASHIONS IN MUTUAL WEEKLY

After a successful season with the Palace Fashion Show, Betty Brown has returned to New York to pose for the Gaumont Company in the fashion section of its Mutual Weekly

The Mutual Weekly makes a specialty of both American and Parisian fashions The former are models from leading Fifth avenue modistes; the latter are posed in Paris by the Gaumont Company at the ateliers of the most renowned fashion designers.

"MAN BEHIND THE CURTAIN" FROM "V" ON JUNE 19

"The Man Behind the Curtain" Vitagraph's Blue Ribbon Feature for June 19, is a photoplay in five parts and comes from the pen of Minnie Krakauer.

Lillian Walker is featured in this picture. Templer Saxe, and John Costello round out a capable cast. The picture was directed by Cortland J. Van Deusen, and is said to be highly dramatic.

No Small Features, but Big Operatic Spectacles from Dixon

Author-Producer Whose "Fall of a Nation" Opened in New York on June 6 Makes This Decision as a Result of Satisfactory Collaboration with Victor Herbert

Where "The Fall of a Nation" Was Made: The Dixon Studios and Laboratories

SPECULATION as to the future of the Dixon studios and laboratories, Sunset Boulevard and Western avenue, Hollywood, Cal., has been set at rest by Thomas Dixon on the eve of the presentation at the Liberty theatre, New York, Tuesday, June 6, of his mighty Preparedness spectacle, "The Fall of a Nation." Mr. Dixon is so well satisfied with the results of his collaboration with Victor Herbert that he has decided to devote the new plant exclusively to the production of big operatic spectacles. He announces that Bartley Cushing, his assistant in the staging of "The Fall of a Nation," and the managing director of the production department at Hollywood, is now preparing plans for a new spectacular feature along entirely novel lines. The making of small features is not contemplated at this studio.

It is interesting to note that the filming of "The Fall of a Nation" had been going on for several weeks when ground was broken in October for the Dixon studios. Construction of the plant and continued production were carried on simultaneously. It was not until January 15 of this year that the last nail was driven in the studio where "The Fall of a Nation" was completed and where its successor will soon be begun.

The plot on which the plant is situated was formerly an orange grove. Part of the grove still remains as a screen for the Sunset Boulevard side of the studio. Overlooking this grove are the mechanical departments and dressing rooms. Adjoining the latter are the stages, one a glass enclosed affair and the other open but equipped with improved diffusing curtains. The rear of the lot is reserved for exterior scenes. A replica of old Mulberry Bend, New York, was constructed there for the filming of many important scenes in "The Fall of a Nation."

Towering above the mechanical departments is the chalet top, in which there is room for four complete paint frames: Along the Western Avenue side are the executive offices, leading down to the laboratories. This latter department is said to be one of the most complete in any motion picture studio. In charge is William C. Thompson, chief photographer, a graduate of Columbia University, and a member of the American Chemical Society and other organizations of chemists. Under his direction the capacity of the laboratories is 500,000 feet of film weekly. Here as many prints of "The Fall of a Nation" as may be required can be turned out as rapidly as desired.

Gaumont Players Arrive from South on Steamer Comanche

Throng of Bystanders Apprised of Their Presence on Board by "Comanche Yells"—Company Sees Manhattan Island First Time for Six Months

WHEN the S. S. Comanche of the Clyde line reached New York, Sunday, June 4, there were several rounds of what by-standers called Comanche yells from the crowd of Gaumont players who beheld Manhattan island for the first time in over six months. They had come by boat from the winter studios at Jacksonville, Fla., to spend the summer at the American headquarters of the Gaumont Company at Flushing, N. Y. Here are located both the studios and the laboratories of the United States branch of the Societe des Etablissements Gaumont. All film made in America is released in Mutual Service.

Heading the party was Edwin Middleton, director. Mr. Middleton and the players were greeted by a throng of friends who had come to welcome them home. There were seventy people in the party; all the actors who had not come by rail after finishing work in productions that were completed a week before, all the stage crews and the scenic staff, and all the cameramen. A member of the party who had not gone south was S. J. Vaughn, who has been office manager at Jacksonville. Mr. Vaughn will devote his time during the summer to the technical side of Gaumont productions.

In the party were Iva Shepard, Alexander Gaden, Lucille Taft, Mathilde Baring, Kathleen Butler, Henry W. Pemberton, Charles W. Travis, John Reinhard, Cyril Reinhard, James Levering, John Mackin, and Albert Macklin. There was the usual assortment of wives and husbands, maids, valets and automobiles.

THIS INSERT IS SPECIALLY PERFORATED SO THAT IT MAY BE REMOVED AND USED FOR DISPLAY PURPOSES. TEAR OFF ALONG DOTTED LINE

BLUEBIRD Photoplays
Present
"The Three Godfathers"
The most wonderful outdoors picture ever produced
From the great Saturday Evening Post Story by Peter B. Kyne. With a remarkably strong cast including
Harry D. Carey & Stella Razeto
Directed by Ed J. Le Saint

GEORGE Horace Lorimer, noted editor of the Saturday Evening Post, says: "The Three Godfathers," by Peter B. Kyne, is one of the strongest, most human stories that ever appeared in the Saturday Evening Post.

That's why it was adapted for the screen and produced as a BLUEBIRD Photoplay. The power of this appealing play leads you through every human emotion. It is a living expression of an unusual episode of human life.

It is a BLUEBIRD—it must be good.

Book through your local BLUEBIRD Exchange or Executive Offices

B L U E B I R D
PHOTOPLAYS (Inc.)

1600 Broadway New York

Tommy Atkins in the Making: Scenes from "How Britain Prepared," a Film Made by Authority of the British Government

CHAPLIN LAID UP FOR A DAY

Due to a cold contracted during the filming of the exterior scenes work on the third of Chaplin-Mutual comedies, which will be released on July 10, had to be suspended for several days, while Charles Chaplin placed himself under the care of a physician.

In one of the scenes, Chaplin takes a tumble into a tub of water in the open. At the time a chill wind was blowing and the water was anything but warm. Chaplin accomplished the scene all right, but failed to dry his hair. That night he complained of a chill and a physician who was summoned ordered that he remain in bed for a day.

Chaplin returned to the studio the next day, but acting under the advice of Business Manager Caulfield and his physician did nothing more strenuous than to supervise the rehearsal of several scenes and the construction of several of the important sets.

CLAIRE ALEXANDER AND MISS GIBSON WIN PRIZES

Claire Alexander, ingenue of the Cub Comedy company, and Margaret Gibson, star of Centaur Features, representing the David Horsley studios in the annual bathing parade at Venice Cal., were awarded prizes by the judges for their originality of costumes.

Miss Gibson wore an elaborate purple and white satin suit which she calls "The Elk," and Miss Alexander was garbed in a pretty creation in the style of a "Billy" suit of a rich shade of cerise trimmed with a white satin.

"How Britain Prepared" Is Near-War Film—In Good Sense

Picture Does Not Pretend to Record What Is Going on at the Front, but Shows America How Long a Nation Must Prepare for a Conflict

"WAR film!" exclaimed The Man. "Don't talk to me about war films."

"Why so?" inquired The Other Man.

"Fakes? Most of them fakes!" replied The Man.

"But," interposed The Other Man, "this is not a 'war film;' this is only a near-war film."

"A near-war film!" exclaimed The Man incredulously. "That's a new one on me! But I told you most of them are fakes!"

"Many war films may be fakes," gently sponded The Other Man. "But while the so-called war film may be dubious, this near-war film is exactly what it is represented."

"So 'How Britain Prepared'"—

"Is a near-war film—the first ever so announced—because it doesn't pretend to be a record of what is going on at the front, but something of vastly more interest to us Americans in these days. We are not at war. But who knows how soon we may be? And that is just where these wonderful near-war motion pictures, made under authority of the British Government by Charles Urban and his associates, strike home. That is why such scenes of tense interest and spontaneous enthusiasm are enacted at every presentation of 'How Britain Prepared,' at the Lyceum theatre; that is why the spectators burst into applause as they see pictured on the screen hundreds and hundreds of women, young and middle-aged, doing men's work in Britain's munition factories; that is why as they see 40,000 loyal Irish soldiers being reviewed by the King as they are about to start for the trenches, the crowded theatre, stirred by the sight and the melody of 'Tipperary' played by the orchestra, takes up the refrain and sings it with a vim.

"C. R. McCauley's pungent prologue, entitled 'A Nation Prepared,' showing what might happen to New York, but won't if this Nation is awake, gives the keynote. So that as the screen sets forth in rapid detail the elaborate process of turning an army of five million civilian volunteers into an efficient fighting machine, the spectator is more and more impressed by the tremendous reality of the scenes unfolded before him and the thought is forced in upon his mind:

"'If England, found unprepared at the outset of the Great War nearly two years ago, has had in the meantime to expend seventy-five per cent of the energy of the War Department in training an army, what state would we find ourselves in, if suddenly we should be forced into war with an army which consists of only one man for every half-mile of sea coast or every 104 square miles of our territory?'

"In other words," continued The Other Man, "these pictures showing Tommy Atkins in the making and the even more wonderful pictures showing Admiral Jellicoe's powerful and mysterious North Sea Fleet on guard and in action, defying the Germans to come out of Kiel—the fleet without which 'How Britain Prepared' never could have been filmed—have been presented to the public at the psychological moment. They have come exactly when the American public needed just such an excitant, just such a stimulus, just such a justification for its constantly growing conviction that the cause of Preparedness is the Cause of the Hour."

"Evidently," said The Man, "The men who took over the United States rights are something more than amateur psychologists. They must be clairvoyants."

"Well," replied The Other Man, "I hear that one of them was born in Ireland and the other fellow's ancestors came from Palestine."

"Can you beat them?" exploded The Man.

"Not on your life!"

More Than 900 See "Myra" at Pre-Showing in Chicago

Film Magnates, Exhibitors, Newspaper and Trade Press Representatives See Three Episodes of International Film Service Serial at Princess Theatre

MORE than nine hundred film magnates, exhibitors, newspaper and trade paper representatives attended a pre-showing of three episodes of "The Mysteries of Myra," the International Film Service serial, at the Princess theatre, Chicago, last week. The performance was arranged by Manager J. K. Burger, of the International exchanges.

The International reports that the serial is proving greatly popular all over the country. Following this initial release, the Hearts organization has a force of directors at work at studios in Ithaca, Fort Lee and New York on productions which will star Irene Castle, Nigel Barry, Grace Darling, Harry Fox, Jean Sothern, and Howard Estabrook. Paul Dickey is director-general.

BRUCE AGAIN IN FOX RANKS

Clifford Bruce, screen hero of the William Fox production of Joseph Medill Patterson's play, "The Fourth Estate," has returned to the ranks of the Fox players and will begin work at once in a new feature.

As a reporter-hero of the Patterson play, Bruce was called upon to be a rugged "mixer" ready for a scrap.

AUTHOR VAN LOAN GETS ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS A WORD

When Theodore Roosevelt returned from his African hunting trip, it is said he received a dollar a word for the account of his explorations, from Scribner's Magazine. Commodore Peary touched the same remarkable figure for the same publication on his return from his last arctic expedition. This price for literature set a high water mark which stood as such for a long time, until now it remains for a happening in the motion picture industry to eclipse even these remarkable figures.

H. H. Van Loan, publicity man of Universal sold five words to Henry "Pathe" Lehreman of the L-Ko Company at the astonishing figure of one hundred dollars per word. It came about this way. Mr. Lehreman has just completed a five-reel burlesque war picture starring Billy Ritchie and was casting about for a suitable title for it when he suddenly bethought himself of the name of Mr. Van Loan's comedy which he wrote some time ago with Pat Rooney, entitled "The Mirth of a Nation." Mr. Lehreman had the comedy and he wanted that title so he immediately began negotiations with Stanley Kingsberry, the New York representative of the L-Ko Company, giving him instructions to secure the use of the name, "The Mirth of a Nation" at any cost. The results are that Mr. Van Loan received five hundred dollars for the five words which will decorate the burlesque upon its release by Universal.

"ONE CYLINDER SAM" INTERIORS AT THOUSAND ISLANDS

A Metro company of players, headed by Harold Lockwood and May Allison, are at the Thousand Islands, making exteriors for their next production, "One Cylinder Sam," under the direction of Henry Otto, a newcomer to the Metro forces. Heretofore Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison have appeared on the Metro Program under the auspices of the Quality Pictures Corporation, but in the future the Lockweed-Allison features will be made by the Yorke Film Corporation, a newly organized producing company, of which Fred J. Balshofer is president.

When "One Cylinder Sam" is completed the Lockwood-Allison company will go to California, where it will probably be located permanently.

STANDARD WILL HANDLE E. & R. JUNGLE IN 3 STATES

The Standard Feature Film Company of Portland, Oregon, which handles a number of state rights subjects, has contracted with the E. & R. Jungle Film Company, for exchange rights for the states of Washington, Oregon and Idaho, and will begin handling the films of the company at once. With the addition of this exchange to the long list of independent ones handling the animal comedies made by E. & R., a greater portion of the United States is now sold. In all territories where the pictures have been released for several weeks, the company is receiving letters of congratulation from exhibitors on the cleverness of their comedies, as well as numerous orders for additional prints from the exchanges.

Miss Talmadge Likes Studio Lights Better Than Footlights

"Why Invade Someone Else's Field," She Asks, and Besides the Screen Demands All Her Time—She Is Ready for Hard Work in Triangles at Riverdale

Members of the Film Colony Bidding Good-bye to Norma Talmadge, the Fine Arts Star, on Her Departure from Los Angeles for New York

NORMA TALMADGE, star of the Fine Arts Company has arrived in New York, where in the old Reliance studio at Riverdale she will work in three or four Triangle features during the summer. Miss Talmadge, a native of Brooklyn, received a royal welcome when she arrived in the city two weeks ago.

Recently she found time to sandwich an interview with a representative of MOTION PICTURE NEWS between shopping rounds, work and the theatre.

"What shall the interview be about?" the timid representative asked.

"Oh, use your own good judgment about that," was the light reply; "anything that suits you suits me."

Of what would Miss Talmadge talk? Censorship, better pictures, longer runs, better stories, the Triangle-Paramount merger? Decidedly on none of these.

Finally this from the interviewer: "What are you doing now?"

"Well, after I get through talking with you, I'm going to the theatre. Then tomorrow I'll be buying gowns and clothes. It's such a trouble you know, and I'm not even beyond the fitting stage yet."

And then Miss Talmage launched into an enthusiastic discourse on the west and also the east. "If I had my way," she said, "I'd like to spend about four months in Los Angeles and eight in New York, so you see I like the east four months better than the west. And now we're all ready for work up at Riverdale. The leading man? Oh! yes, his name is O'Brien. First name? Jack, Dennis or Shamus, something like that. Will I ever go on the stage? No, indeed. I'd be afraid of losing my voice. I keep getting offers all the time to appear where my pictures are being shown, but I don't take them because I know I won't have anything to say when I get up on the stage. Perhaps, I shouldn't tell you all about the offers because I've never accepted any and it doesn't sound well. Anyway a motion picture actress' place is in the studio and not behind the footlights. Why invade a field that belongs to someone else?"

And then Miss Talmadge turned interviewer, "Do I look older or younger since you saw me last?" she asked.

The answer can be shaped to slightly better effect in type. Miss Talmadge, fresh from sunny California with a coat of delightful tan on her face and hands, looks even younger than when she departed from New York about a year ago. An outsider in conversing with her would never dream that she ever faced the glaring studio lights and from her unassuming and frank manner he would never be led to believe that she was one of the foremost emotional actresses on the screen today.

MARGUERITE SKIRVIN IS SIGNED BY METRO

Marguerite Skirvin has been engaged by Metro, and will be seen on that program in the leading female role in "The Quitter," a five part Metro-Rolfe play in which Lionel Barrymore is starred. Miss Skirvin has the role of a western girl, which is entirely to her liking, as she hails from Oklahoma.

Miss Skirvin has had considerable experience in stock, playing with Poli and Keith in Hartford, Providence and Syracuse.

The first theatrical engagement Miss Skirvin had was with Henry W. Savage, on her return from Paris.

Miss Skirvin has also had wide experience in motion pictures and appeared in leading roles in "Aristocracy," with Tyrone Power, "The Port of Missing Men" with Arnold Daly, "A Parisian Romance," with H. Cooper Cliffe, and in "The Passers-By," with the World Film Company.

HUNDRED PLATE BANQUET FOR REEL FELLOWS ON 15TH

The next meeting of the Reel Fellows Club of Chicago, which will be held the evening of June 15 at their new quarters in the Morrisson Hotel, will be Ladies' Night. Invitations have been sent out to all the players, exchangemen and people connected with the motion picture industry in Chicago, and a hundred plate banquet has been guaranteed. The Morrisson Hotel will furnish a cabaret entertainment of fifteen people, after which, dancing will take place.

It is the plan of the officers of the Reel Fellows Club to give an automobile party to the Chateau Desplaines, Lyons, Ill.

Illustrating the Thomas Dixon Spectacle, "The Fall of a Nation," Which Opened at the Liberty June 6—Produced by the National Drama Corporation

"THE CRIMINAL'S THUMB," FORMERLY "SPATULATE THUMB," HINGES ON PECULIAR PLOT

Recently the Gaumont company announced a photoplay under the title of "The Spatulate Thumb." This has now been changed to "The Criminal's Thumb." As such it will be released as a Mutual Picture June 22. It is a three-act melodrama written by Lionel Barrymore and Wright Huntington. Alexander Gaden and Iva Shepard are the stars provided by Gaumont.

The plot turns upon the possession of a spatulate thumb by the master criminal, a thumb that differs markedly from the one on his other hand. Scientists claim this occurs only once in every one hundred thousand individuals. It is interesting to note that Wright Huntington himself, one of the authors of the photodrama and a well-known actor, is the possessor of such a peculiar thumb.

PAUL WEST IS PROLIFIC SCENARIO WRITER

Paul West during the last year has been about as productive a writer of feature scenarios as one man could very well be. Besides writing many of the comedies for Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Drew, including "Boobley's Baby," "The Story of a Glove" and "Number One," he has written and had produced by the Vitagraph some twenty comedies and one and three-reel pictures of various kinds, and the five-reel Vitagraph Blue Ribbon comedy, "Crooky," with Frank Daniels. That company is about to produce as E. H. Sothern's introductory screen medium Mr. West's drama, "The Chattel," selected by Mr. Sothern and J. Stuart Blackton from among scores of scenarios offered by various authors.

The Vitagraph has also in hand, for early production, five more feature pictures by Mr. West, each of five reels or more, while the World Film Corporation is soon to announce several others of his, including "The Velvet Paw," with Gail Kain and House Peters.

"STAIN OF CONSCIENCE" FROM CULVER CITY FILM

The Culver City Film Company is the name given a new producing organization which has begun production at Culver City, Cal. Joseph E. Singleton has been selected by this organization as director, and John P. Wilde and Josephine West are the leading players. Singleton, until accepting this engagement, was at the Fine Arts studio as an actor. The first subject to be made by this concern is titled "The Stain of Conscience," and will consist of three reels.

MARGUERITE SNOW JOINS IVAN PRODUCTIONS

Marguerite Snow after completing a year with the Metro organization has joined the Ivan Film Productions. It is said an especially attractive offer won Miss Snow to the Ivan ranks.

Her first role under the Ivan banner will be "The Faded Flower," which was written especially to feature her by Ivan Abramson, the author of the many Ivan successes.

Marguerite Snow

A strong cast is being assembled to support Miss Snow in compliance with the Ivan policy that every character in an Ivan play must be a principal.

Work on this new Ivan play will commence immediately on the completion of the scenario and in the meantime sets are being constructed in the Ivan studio.

On its completion the new feature will be released through the Ivan exchanges as the scheduled regular monthly release for July.

ARCTIC SCENES AND ANIMAL LIFE OF THE NORTH PLANNED FOR ESSANAY RELEASES

The scenic beauties of Canada from Nova Scotia to British Columbia and from the Georgian Bay country to the Yukon will be filmed by several squads of Essanay camera men during the summer months.

Great preparations are being made for the Yukon pictures. Animal life in this great north country will be given as much attention as scenic studies and the camera staff has orders to get a series which will show how polar bears live. So thorough will be the canvass of this country for appropriate scenery and animal studies that the party is not expected to return until late in August or September.

The photographers will work westward to Vancouver through the Canadian Rockies and then take a boat for the north country, making a long snow trip inland and later working north by dog sledge to the habitat of the polar bear, the walrus and seal.

All such scenes will be released in split reels with the Canimated Nooz cartoons, by Wallace Carlson, and other 500 feet productions.

MITCHELL EDITS 104 ISSUES OF MUTUAL WEEKLIES

When he put his final O. K. upon Mutual Weekly, No. 75, which has just been given to the screen, Pell Mitchell completed his second year as editor of this motographic news reel. The Mutual Weekly is manufactured by the Gaumont Company at Flushing, N. Y. Mr. Mitchell has edited one hundred and four issues.

During his incumbancy the Mutual Weekly has recorded a number of scoops which testify to his enterprise and alertness. Even away from the office, Mr. Mitchell remains "on the job," since a second office is maintained in his New York apartment that he may keep constantly in touch with the news of the world.

EDWARDS NOW WITH THE KEYSTONE ORGANIZATION

Harry Edwards, who since leaving the L-Ko early this year, has been producing Ham Comedies for the Kalem Company, has been contracted for by Mack Sennett, and at the Keystone studio last week took up the filming of a subject which features Ray Griffith, with a supporting cast of Alice Davenport, Julia Fay, Jean Cavender and Fritz Schade.

ROSKAM MAKES "CUTS" TO "HEAL" THE SICK IN FILMLAND

Edward M. Roskam, whose offices are in the Candler Buliding, New York, is a film specialist, and has a comprehensive knowledge of every branch of the business.

Edward M. Roskam

Mr. Roskam "cuts" and titles single reels or features; places printing contracts, and sells positives or negatives on subjects for which he is the authorized selling agent.

FARNUM, VACATION OVER, IS AT WORK IN "PARSON OF PANAMINT," PALLAS

After a short vacation, Dustin Farnum has returned to the Pallas studios in Los Angeles and has begun work on his next vehicle, "The Parson of Panamint," from a story by Peter B. Kyne which appeared in the Saturda. Evening Post.

It is announced that this will be the biggest production yet undertaken by Pallas. The locale is a Nevada mining town of forty years ago, and some pretentious sets will be necessary. William D. Taylor is directing the film, with Winifred Kingston as the feminine lead. Other principal parts have been given to Howard Davies, Herbert Standing, Colin Chase, Doc Cannon, Ogden Crane and Jane Keckley.

NEW KNICKERBOCKER ISSUES VIM BULLETIN

Two bulletins in one is the result of a novel method adopted by the Melies Manufacturing Company in its latest issue of the house organ advertising Knickerbocker Star Features and Vim Comedies. The new bulletin is a saddle-stitched booklet of twelve pages and cover, the Knickerbocker and Vim advertising matter occupying opposite halves of the publication and meeting in the middle, upside down to each other. Thus the information the exhibitor requires is provided in a form that obviates confusion and is handily preserved in a binder supplied for the purpose.

THREE PER CENT OF GROSS RECEIPTS IS PLAN IN OKLAHOMA

Pictures exhibited in Oklahoma after the next legislature meets are very likely to contribute to help support the state and municipal governments to the extent of about three per cent of the gross receipts of such exhibitions. This theory of reaching a source of revenue has been evolved by a high official and is understood to be well thought of by a large number of the members of the legislature.

Of course the proposal to tax films exhibited in Oklahoma to the extent of three per cent of the gross receipts will bring a clamor of protest from the film concerns and exhibitors, but in the end, the dear people who attend the film theatres may have to pay dear for the privilege.

BUNN AND FRIEDMAN RESIGN FROM WORLD IN CAPITAL CITY

It is with genuine regret that the film circles of Washington, D. C., see the departure from its exchange ranks of C. W. Bunn, manager of the World Film Exchange, and his right hand roadman, Henry Friedman. These two men have worked congenially for the up-building of the World offices there and at the same time have drawn friends from those around them. They are leaving the exchange in its highest standard since its establishment, with a long list of contracts throughout the territory.

Mr. Bunn and Mr. Friedman will still continue their close relation in their new posts, for Mr. Bunn succeeds to the management of the Pathe Chicago Exchange with Mr. Friedman as his assistant.

Through the resignation of Mr. Bunn and Mr. Friedman, E. R. Haas receives a promotion to assistant manager in the office.

"LITTLE VOLUNTEER," ESSANAY, WITH JOYCE FAIR

So successful have been the recent two-reel Essanay releases featuring little Joyce Fair, the eleven-year-old star, that George K. Spoor, president of that company, has decided to give her a wider range of opportunity. Under the new plan she is now working in a three-reel production, "A Little Volunteer." It is a story of a "little mother," who has several small sisters and brothers under her care, and who rises to a fitting reward after a troublesome time with a negligent father. As usual, Budde, her pet Pomeranian, appears with her in this picture.

SUNDAY OPENING LEGAL IN DANVILLE, ILLINOIS

Sunday motion picture shows are legal in Danville, Ill., and the managers are rejoicing over their victory. A hard fight was made to prevent the film houses from giving Sunday shows, but the fight has been in vain. Corporation Counsel W. T. Gunn has given his opinion that the ordinance permitting Sunday shows is legal, as it does not violate either State or municipal laws.

LYDIA TITUS SIGNS WITH UNIVERSAL

Lydia Titus, well known character actress who has been with the Morosco-Pallas players, has been contracted for by the Universal Company, and will play first in "By Fate's Decree," a five reel subject.

STERN WINS SALES PRIZE OFFERED BY NEW YORK "U"

Herman Stern, of the Universal's Twenty-third street exchange, New York, has just won the first competitive sales prize offered by the management of that exchange to hustling representatives. The prize was a gold watch fob suitably inscribed.

Herman Stern

Stern was a producer and an exhibitor, before entering the exchange end of the business.

A COUNTESS ADDED TO THE COUNTLESS NUMBER OF "U" PLAYERS

The Misses Marguerite and Genevieve Schwab made their film debut at Universal City during the past week as members of the Smalley Company, in the five-reel feature entitled "The First Stone," which was written by Lois Weber.

Another recent addition to the Universal City forces is Countess Du Cello, who will play character roles. She is a former legitimate stage actress, and until very recently was with the Famous Players at Jacksonville, Fla.

DRUM ON OBSERVATION TOUR IN SOUTH AND WEST

Harry C. Drum, of the World Film Corporation office, is making a trip of "observation" over the Southern and Western territory of the World. His first stop was at New Orleans, where he was the guest of exchange managers during his short stay in the Crescent City. Mr. Drum went on to Dallas, Tex.

From Texas Mr. Drum continues to California. Not only will he visit the California studios of World Film, but he will seek a long-needed vacation in that state.

JEFFERSON IN CHARGE OF PALLAS SCRIPT DEPARTMENT

L. V. Jefferson, well known scenario writer of the west coast, who has a record of more than one hundred photoplays written within a year, has been engaged by the Pallas-Morosco Company to take charge of the senario department as editor.

SCREEN EXAMINATIONS

"HIS BROTHER'S WIFE"

(Premo-World—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

STUDIOUS devotees of the drama would be very apt to find much at fault with "His Brother's Wife" in respect to its construction, for coincidence is profuse in its development and scenes that have little bearing on the story proper have been inserted merely for the detached entertainment which they provide. Luckily, though, the majority of picture going folk are not critics. What they want is an appealing story, sufficiently stocked with action to warrant constant enjoyment and good acting increases the value of the picture in their minds. All this "His Brother's Wife" furnishes, so the coincidence is less incongruous than it might be, while there is no denying the pleasure derived from observing winter sports at Saranac Lake and the dancing of lithesome maidens at a social affair.

After an introduction of some length, the situation of the penniless man and his desperate wife is uncovered. Howard Barton, the man's brother, arrives from Australia with a fortune. He is unable to find Richard Barton, but one day in a pawn shop he stumbles across Helen, the wife, attempting to raise more money. Helen is pretty and Howard loves the gay life. Ignorant of her identity he makes advances which Helen after a great struggle accepts. But before anything disastrous has occurred Howard learns that Helen is considering this step for the sake of her husband. He is ashamed and sends her home with money.

The Bartons Entertain

Finally Helen and Howard meet through Richard. Richard with his wife and child is sent to the mountains to recuperate. Here Howard comes and mentions his love for Helen, referring to the night in his apartments, and Richard overhears with the result that he casts off his wife, despite her assertions that she is innocent. Taking to the stage Helen is starred in a play, the counterpart of her own experience with her husband and brother-in-law. Repentant, Richard asks forgiveness, after watching the play, while Howard takes himself back to Australia.

There is much more incident than this in the five reels. In fact there is a little too much, all told, but the originality of the situations and the fact that the ending is quite hidden discountenances the other shortcomings. Harley Knowles has produced the picture with good care and taste. The action is smooth and not ruffled from poor editing. The photography calls for no criticism.

Ethel Clayton, apearing as Helen, is taxed severely by the role's requirements but at no time does she give the impression of being unable to handle even the biggest scenes awarded her. She is fully expressive and besides presenting an attractive appearance she practises restraint to a degree that is most effective. Carlyle Blackwell makes the most of the indefinite character of Howard while Paul McAllister as Richard completes the triangle with a creditable performance.

"A GUTTER MAGDALENE"

(Lasky-Paramount—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY HARVEY F. THEW

ALTHOUGH there are several incongruities, impossibilities and illogical moments in this subject, it amply fulfills what is to our mind the great mission of the motion picture—to entertain. There is a story which is not new, and atmosphere which we have encountered many times before, but the construction is both careful and artistic, and skilfully keeps the center of interest just a little in advance of the projection.

Maida at Home in Her New Surroundings

When the audience commences to murmur: "Lord, is this only the third reel?" the exhibitor might as well take the film off his machines. When the spectators say: "What, the fifth reel already!" he needs nothing more. Among the films calculated to inspire the latter attitude we have no hesitation in placing this newest Lasky subject; we believe the interest in the story will overcome the incongruities, and most of them will never be noticed.

Fannie Ward is an attractive figure. It is not the best thing she has done, nor is the role the most fortunate for her, but she is convincing and appealing. Sympathy is with her throughout.

She plays the part of a girl who has been lured from her country home by an unprincipled city man, and when she realizes her situation, she accepts it, and becomes the aid of a band of card sharps —the regular stuff. One day Steve Boyce, a Westerner with $40,000 belonging to a railroad, falls into their clutches. He is fleeced in a poker game, knocked unconscious with a bottle, robbed of the balance of his money and thrown into the street. There he is divested of his clothes, and when he awakes he finds himself penniless and in rags. He is promptly arrested as a vagrant.

The girl, Maida, overcome by what she has seen, flees from the house. She happens upon a detachment of the Salvation Army and joins them. After his release from the workhouse, Steve wanders into the Salvation Army barracks. He has been injured, and Maida takes care of him. Meanwhile, he is being sought by the railroad as an absconder.

His "pal," Sheriff Barrett, back in Wyoming, hears of his disappearance and comes East to investigate. He falls into the clutches of the same sharper, and recognizes him as a man wanted for murder in Wyoming. He arranges to go to the man's apartment and play poker that night.

In the meantime the crook has traced the girl, and she has demanded that he restore the money to Steve, with whom she has fallen in love. He tells her to come to his apartment that night. She does so, but instead of giving her the money he attacks her. She siezes a pistol and kills him. The sheriff rushes in, grasps the situation, and when the police arrive, he takes the blame. The mystery of the lost money is explained, and Steve takes Maida back to Wyoming with him.

Jack Dean, Charles West, Billy Elmer, Gertrude Kellar, Robert Bradbury and James Neill all handle their roles acceptably. The scenario was made by the late Clinton Stagg from a story by Willard Mack.

"THE DIVIDEND"

(Kay-Bee-Triangle—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

TO the exhibitor who wishes to book an unusually powerful drama we recommend this picture. It is the story of a money-crazed millionaire, whose insatiable greed causes him to neglect his son, with the result that the boy slides easily into dissipation, and finally becomes an outcast and a dope-fiend.

The characterizations are so clearly drawn, the atmosphere gained so well, and the theme developed with such finality, that the spectator overlooks the improbabilities and the minor defects, his attention riveted on the action.

The Father Realizes His Folly

There is all the difference in the world between a picture which deals in a sincerely dramatic way with things of evil—even to showing the pitiful habitues of opium dens in all their degradation— and a picture which portrays evil merely for its sensational effect. "The Dividend," to our notion, belongs in the first-named class, otherwise we should not have recommended it to the exhibitor. Perhaps some of the dive scenes could have been omitted, but in any case we are quite certain that the appeal of this picture to any audience is beyond dispute, and that the appeal is essentially wholesome.

As John Steele, the millionaire, William H. Thompson is what we should call great, in that he seems to be Steele himself, and not Thompson attempting to be Steele. Charles Ray, as the son, is a splendid type for the part and gives an excellent impersonation. There are but two other leading characters: Ethel Ullman, as a girl whose miserable wages in the Steele factory drive her out on the street; and Margaret Thompson, a woman of the underworld. Their work is effective. It seems almost unnecessary to say that the story is by C. Gardiner Sullivan.

It is one of the few pictures we have seen—perhaps the only one—in which there is no real love theme. Instead of detracting from the dramatic effect, this omission adds to it, because attention is centered where it belongs—on the situation between father and son. Walter Edwards, the director, deserves his full share of credit for skillful handling of details.

"THE MAN FROM NOWHERE"

(Red Feather-Universal—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

WITHOUT stretching the point at all this melodrama is by far the best picture shown under the Red Feather brand that the past two months have brought forth. It is for a number of reasons. It has a story, furnished by William H. Clifford, of pronouncedly strong and gripping qualities, handled in such a manner as to quite eclipse a number of impossibilities, apparent when the picture is bared to the bone. Thankfully too, the story can do full justice to five reels of film.

Turning to the histrionic effect expended on the picture, there is much that is out of the ordinary to consider there. King Baggot, who has for a long time been denied the opportunity to render a performance befitting an actor of his ability, is afforded a real part in this picture. In the role of Jim Mr. Baggot acts with sincere and effective feeling. He plays to the sympathies of his audience and he reaches them by methods worthy of praise. His support is polished and well chosen in most instances. Irene

Dorenzo Confesses

Hunt as his sister, Betty; Joseph Granby as the villain, Dorenzo, and Joseph Girard as the Governor have important roles which they interpret capably. Frank Smith as the prison warden is as good as ever, while Helen Marten and Johnnie Walker complete the cast.

Jim is sentenced to life imprisonment on the charge of killing his sister when in reality she was shot by Dorenzo, a slaver. In the prison he heroically conducts himself in a revolt of the convicts and is made a trusty. Later the son of the governor is made the victim of the underhand card playing of Dorenzo who is masking as an Italian count and courting the attentions of the governor's daughter. The son persuades the warden to let Jim, who is somewhat of a card sharp, to come to the club and expose Dorenzo. This done, Jim confronts the villain with an accusation of the murder of his sister. Dorenzo is overcome from the shock and before he dies he confesses. A light romance between Jim and the governor's daughter has also been introduced.

The work of Director Henry Otto is as always, artistic. Never when an opportunity has been afforded him to strengthen a scene by the use of light effects has he refused the chance and the results certainly show for themselves. The subtitles of the pictures are perhaps a little too dreamily poetic, but this is a minor matter. More pictures like "The Man From Nowhere" and the Red Feather brand will be meritoriously established.

Illustrating "The Making of Maddalena," Edna Goodrich's First Vehicle for Morosco-Paramount

"THE MAKING OF MADDALENA"

(Morosco-Paramount—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

EDNA GOODRICH'S first appearance in a Morosco picture is successful without being exceptional. Likewise is the picture. Endowed with an appealing story, it makes a strong play to the sympathies and there are very few who will not be deeply moved by the sincere efforts of Maddalena, the Italian girl, to assume her place in the world. In respect to the drawing of the several characters, the picture is original enough to hold the attention throughout, although the plot itself is quite conventional.

The story, keyed at a gait that seems rather slow, deals with the unhappy marriage of Maddalena and Hale, a pseudo art student. Hale is unable to earn money and when he is stricken with fever, his father arrives and takes him and his child home, leaving Maddalena to shift for herself. Maddalena is cared for by friends of Hale. In America she becomes a nurse when an epidemic rages among the infants of the city. Her own child is laid low by the disease and this forms a means of reuniting husband and wife.

Miss Goodrich, as Maddalena, gives a most appealing interpretation of the part. Forrest Stanley acts the negative character of Hale in characteristic fashion. Howard Davies does a good bit as Maddalena's father, while Colin Chase, John Burton, Juan de la Cruz and Mary Mersch fill the remaining important roles.

Frank Lloyd directed and his work is acceptable in every detail. The individual scenes are handled capably, a realistic atmosphere has been obtained and the settings are all good. James Van Trees, cameraman, has made a very good job of the photography, although he was confronted by nothing difficult in the way of lighting effects.

"THE EVIL THEREOF"

(Famous Players-Paramount—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY HARVEY F. THEW

THIS is a picture which has created considerable discussion regarding its moral tone. In order to get a clean cut opinion in the matter, the Famous Players company, in conjunction with the Strand Theatre management, selected a committee of fifteen disinterested persons to rule upon its propriety, following a private showing in New York last week. The committee voted nine to six that the picture is acceptable as it stands, and calls for no alteration.

The present reviewer holds with the majority of this committee, for the following reasons:

1. The picture tells a story of life as it might be—and frequently is—lived.

2. The presentation of the vicious side of life is not such as to glorify vice, or make it attractive to the younger generation, rather the reverse.

3. Although dealing with the seamy side of wealth, vulgarity has been carefully eliminated, even from the atmosphere.

4. We find nothing in its exposition of vice which the carefully-guarded youth do not already know through the reading of uncensored novels, newspapers and "legitimate" stage offerings.

And greater than all of these, had we a fifteen-year-old-daughter of our own—which we have not—we would send her to see it.

The story was written by Rennold Wolf and Channing Pollock. It deals with a wealthy idler, who knows not what to do with his money, and finds his chief enjoyment in entertaining girls of a so-called questionable order. He gives a dinner to five of these girls, with as many gilded youth, and as a souvenir, a $100 bill is given to each girl in various surprising ways.

Then the story of each $100 bill is told; how they were wrung from the poverty, misery and blasted hopes of the poorer classes. As the meal progresses, the host's favorite, a young manicurist, whom he has brought to her present level, receives her present, and it wakens in her mind a recollection of all the misery her host's money has brought. When, in a burst of intoxicated affection, he attempts to force further attentions on her, her recollections overcome her, and she stabs him to the heart.

Frank Losee gives a finished portrayal of the wealthy libertine, and Grace Valentine does some of her best work as the girl. George LeGuere handles the part of a young man, just turning into the ways of burglary, in able manner.

"NOTORIOUS GALLAGHER; OR, HIS GREAT TRIUMPH"

(Columbia-Metro—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

WRITTEN and directed by William Nigh, who also plays the chief role, this picture has some great moments—enough to make it thoroughly interesting—and some weak spots, which seem to be due to insufficient care in editing, and the necessity for subordinating everything to one character. As a whole, it is distinctive, and possessed of no little originality.

It is distinctive because of one character, "Buttsey" Gallagher (Mr. Nigh). Gallagher is a boy of the slums, who has never known anything but sordidness and abuse, until he is suddenly projected into the atmosphere of warmth and light by a curious route. He climbs up on a balcony window of Judge Winters' home to watch a crowd of would-be society folk at a reception, and goes to sleep. A few minutes later two burglars break into the house, are discovered, and in escaping one of them kills the butler. They burst out on the balcony occupied by Gallagher, and finding him there, throw him into the house, thus making it appear that he is the murderer.

The boy at first denies his guilt, but he is arrested, and straightway becomes a hero in his own eyes, and in the eyes of his slum companions. He finds this situation so much more pleasing than his previous life that he begs to be kept in jail, and actually pretends he is the murderer. Only two persons know he is not—Peggy Winters (Marguerite Snow) and her lover. They saw the murder from an alcove where they were engaged in a clandestine meeting. Only eight minutes before Gallagher is to be executed, and when he is just about to be placed in the electric chair, Peggy and her lover overcome their fear of what people will say and save the boy from death. Gallagher pleads to be executed, declaring that no matter where death would send him, it couldn't be worse than the life he has known.

The rest of the story shows Gallagher's development of character from fear and weakness to a heroic moment when he fights a crowd of gangsters who imprison Judge Winters in his old home at Hillside, in order to keep him from blocking a crooked deal which is about to be put through hte Hillside city council.

As Gallagher, Mr. Nigh creates a real character—one of the most striking we have seen on the screen. Gallagher is not all pathos; a good deal of him is humor. And even when Mr. Nigh's direction overdoes sentiment—as for example when he shows too many close-ups of a weeping jury—Mr. Nigh's acting is always the centre of attention. Miss Snow does well in a part which is never clearly defined. Others are Robert Elliott, Roy Applegate, David Thomas, Martin J. Faust, Julius Cowles, and Citta Cameron.

From the standpoint of lighting effects, photography, sets, and types, the picture is virtually beyond criticism. The continuity is very bad, and we have several scenes in which characters are placed without explanation for their presence. But Mr. Nigh deserves credit for placing a novelty character on the screen, and for acting it so effectively.

"THE THREE GODFATHERS"

(Bluebird—Six Reels)

REVIEWED BY H. S. FULD

HARRY CAREY needs no introduction to the picture play public nor does Stella Razeto. But the interpretation of their respective roles in this story of the West deserves special mention. They both typify the western characters so conscientiously and naturally that the observer is hard put to it to realize that it is only acting.

In this latest release of Bluebird the supporting cast is also above the average, making an offering of more than the ordinary excellence of histrionic ability.

The photography is good, some of the exterior night scenes especially. The pursuit of the escaping outlaws—where the only light is the flashing of revolvers fired in the dark—show great attention and care on the part of director and cameraman.

The story deals with a trio of outlaws who are escaping across the desert, are witnesses to the birth of a child whose mother dies in an abandoned Prarie Schooner on the sandy waste of the desert.

Outfitting the New Born Babe on the Desert

The outlaws have a change of heart and in response to the mother's dying wish become godfathers to the child.

Water becoming scarce, they make for the nearest camp some fifty miles across the desert and after great hardship one survivor arrives at the camp with the child. The latter is none the worse for the trip but the outlaw (Harry Carey) is some time in completely recovering.

The girl (Stella Razetto) who has helped him escape in the first place, is the first to welcome him when he staggers in with the baby in his arms, and together they try to evade the sheriff, who has caught up to his quarry.

Subsequent developments prove the baby to be the child of the sheriff's sister, and having faith in the outlaw's complete reformation, the sheriff lets him go and the lovers are married in his presence by a sky pilot whom the sheriff brought to the house for that purpose.

"The Three Godfathers" is thoroughly interesting throughout and coupled with good acting and photography makes an acceptable offering.

In the supporting cast are George Berrel, Frank Lanning, and Joe Rickson as members of the outlaw gang, and Hart Hoxie as the sheriff.

"IT HAPPENED IN HONOLULU"

(Red Feather-Universal—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

LYNN REYNOLDS, author and director, has not drawn on surprisingly original material for his first five-reel picture, but even so he has succeeded in producing a comedy-drama of very high quality, one which the exhibitor might show before any variety of audience without trepidation. His picture is clean as the proverbial whistle, fraught with scores of genuine comedy touches while the suspense is easily maintained by the light vein of drama that becomes apparent whenever it is needed.

Much of the picture's comedy, in fact almost all of it, is furnished by its excellent cast. Careful direction has resulted in action that appears to be spontaneous to the observer. Such comedy hardly ever fails to reach its audience and it does here in the most approved fashion.

The story has for its principal characters a pretty young girl, burdened with an aspiring mother, a happy-go-lucky son of the rich and an English nobleman of the extreme type. Mother, of course, wants the nobleman, but daughter prefers the plain American and her wishes are heartily but uselessly sponsored by father. The scene shifts to Honolulu where it is mother's plan to stage the wedding. The American is summoned by daughter on a hurry call and he arrives followed by a detective who believes he has stolen funds from his father's office. The American beats the bally lord to it and marries the girl while mother is dozing in the heat and a cablegram from the young man's father clears him of suspicion of the theft.

Fourth of July Doesn't Agree with Mother

Myrtle Gonzalez is as ever the dashing and attractive heroine. Val Paul is seen as her best-loved and he acquits himself of the requirements of his role with pleasing ease. Bertram Grassby gives his familiar and humorous impersonation of the English nobleman. Lule Warrenton as the aspiring mother is excellent, while George Hernandez as her subdued husband takes his role well. Others are C. Norman Hammond and Fred Church, who appear to advantage.

The photography of the picture is way beyond criticism while the locations are all very pretty, those supposedly in Honolulu being typical.

"MUTT AND JEFF IN THE BIG LEAGUE"

(Mutt and Jeff Film—One Reel)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

FORSAKING the European battlefront, Mutt and Jeff break into big league baseball, via a dream of Mutt's. Jeff is in the box, Mutt is at bat with two out and the bases full. Instead of covering himself with glory, Mutt strikes out, and is immediately covered with a shower of missles from the angry fans. Then he wakes up.

If possible, the humor in this is more infectious than the humor of Bud Fisher's previous releases. The technical work is fully as good.

Three Scenes from a Kalem Production, "The Lotus Woman," Featuring Alice Hollister

"THE LOTUS WOMAN"

(Kalem—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

THE Kalem Company has succeeded in producing in "The Lotus Woman" a picture of the vampire type that gets far enough away from that which is revolting to create a favorable as well as a strong impression. The greatest reason for this lies in the fact that the vampire plot which centers about a sensuous woman is nicely balanced by a parallel dealing with the strength of true friendship. This combination serves the equally commendable purpose of introducing the required dramatic contrast.

Beyond a few slips in production which, considering the ultimate impression created by the picture, may be lightly spoken of, the direction is creditable. Harry Millarde, in executing his duties as director, has seen to it that a convincing atmosphere has been obtained. The supposed locale is an anonymous Latin-American country; and settings, costumes and scenery realistically lay emphasis on this illusion.

Juana, the Lotus Woman, is the favorite of Lopez, a victorious rebel leader. She is desirous of captivating Mandeville, an American, the right hand man of Lopez. Mandeville is unmoved because he loves an American girl who has favored the attentions of Chase. Business brings Chase to the south and it is not long before he has fallen completely under the spell of the Lotus Woman. The American girl comes to seek him and Mandeville to save the name of Chase, pretends to be the husband of Juana. Chase, however is killed by the rebel's soldiers and the American girl is finally brought to a realization of Mandeville's noble love. Juana after her outraged father has taken the life of Lopez, kills herself.

The impression of greater strength that the photoplay might have concluded with, has quite naturally been dispensed with in favor of the happy ending. The action is at all times entertaining although it takes quite a while to get into the vitals of the story.

Alice Hollister, termed by the Kalem press agent "the original screen vampire," plays the title role in good style. Her work is never repellent, yet quite pointed enough to be forceful. Harry Millarde makes a very likeable figure of Mandeville and Arthur Albertson does good work as Chase. John E. Mackin, James B. Ross and Faye Cusack complete the cast.

"THE FIREMAN"

(Chaplin-Mutual—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY HARVEY F. THEW

CHARLIE CHAPLIN seems to have found himself congenially located in his new Mutual surrounding. His second production is every bit as good as "The Floorwalker," and the Chaplin fans will find their long-time idol in his old form.

In this subject there is more than the usual allowance of "rough stuff." A great deal of it is comparatively new, but the older stuff is somewhat glorified in the eyes of the Chaplin fan by the fact that it is Charlie doing it.

Charlie is the driver of a fire engine. He is constantly in hot water with the captain for his failure to answer the alarms, and his unique methods of serving soup.

The captain's sweetheart visits him, in company with her father. While there, father arranges that a fire shall start in his house, and the fire company is to neglect the alarm, thereby allowing him to cash on his insurance.

The company is called to a real fire, and while it is there father starts his own private blaze, ignorant of the fact that daughter is up in her room. When he discovers her plight he races after the fire department, but nobody responds except Charlie, who rescues the girl by bravely scaling the facade of the house, and bringing her down on his shoulders. He is forgiven many past shortcomings, and he and daughter walk off arm in arm.

The Hero's Reward

Edna Purviance is more than usually attractive as the daughter. Eric Campbell is a ferocious and active captain, and Lloyd Bacon plays a dual part as father and a lieutenant in the fire company.

"THE MOONSHINERS"

(Keystone-Triangle—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

PICTUREGOERS who have been accustomed to expect rapid-fire comedy in Keystone pictures will probably be somewhat puzzled by "The Moonshiners." There is a small amount of preliminary slapstick, centering about Al St. John, who as a country boy, is employed as a baggage agent in a small town. After dodging trunks for a few scenes, he goes to sleep reading a dime novel, entitled "The Moonshiners," and the main action that follows occurs in his dream, with himself as the hero pitted against a gang of moonshiners.

Evidently intended as a burlesque of "illicit still" melodrama, the latter action has twice as many serious moments as it has comic ones, and the spectator has little or no occasion for laughter. Curiously enough, the melodrama is quite realistic, even to the killing of some of the villains, and their final capture by government officers.

When St. John wakes up he falls off a pile of trunks and a final comic touch is given. In the cast are Alice Lake, Joe Bordeau, N. J. Thompson, James Bryant, Horace J. Haines and Bert Frank, all of whom do good work.

Some of the exteriors, taken in a forest, are beautiful, and there are some admirable lighting effects. The picture was directed by Ferris Hartman.

"THE STAINED PEARL"

(Knickerbocker Star Feature-General—Three Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

THIS is a sea story, well produced and competently acted, and calculated to arouse interest in the mind of the average spectator because it has a degree of mystery, and leaves something to the imagination.

The action centers about a pearl, the origin of which is never explained. This is a point distinctly in the picture's favor. The spectator sees the possession of the gem bring death to several persons in divers ways, these incidents being based on such human motives as jealously and anger. There is no hocus-pocus about the pearl. Still, a certain mystery is created in the spectator's mind.

Most of the action takes place on a ship at sea, always an interesting setting. The central figure is Capt. Ray (Henry King), who is at odds with the mate, and also with Paul, in love with Ray's daughter. The mate is after the pearl. He and Ray fight, and Ray, thinking he has killed him, hides the body in a seachest. In his sleep, Ray hides the pearl in the barrel of a shotgun, with which finally kills the mate, imagining he has killed the mate's ghost. Then the Captain jumps overboard.

"Terrified by the Ghost"

There are several flaws in the plot, but these are discounted by the rapidity of action. In the cast are King, Katherine Burke, Harry Southard, Charles Dudley, George Theilan, Frank Erlanger and Richard Johnson. The direction is by Fred Huntley, under the supervision of the Horkheimer Brothers.

"THE SNOWBIRD"

(Rolfe-Metro—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY HARVEY F. THEW

UNUSUAL scenery in this subject adds attractiveness to a commonplace story and familiar handling. The greater part of the picture was made up in the winter mountains, scenery representing—and well representing—the Canadian woods. The chief fault of the ficture is the running of some two hundred feet of film after the story has been told, and the halting of the action at the highest point of the principal climax for the introduction of a vision of Paris life.

The interest, however, is strong, and is carried logically through the six reels; the picture is entertaining, and has an appeal wide enough to give it good box-office value.

Edwin Carewe, the director, appears as a French Canadian of education and mental attainments, living alone deep in the woods. He has inherited valuable land, half of which, through an agreement made by his father, belongs to John Wheeler, an American banker.

Wheeler's daughter, played by Mabel Talliaferro, is sought in marriage by Mitchell, a wealthy young idler, whom she detests, but who proposes to force her into a marriage. He does this by getting her father so involved financially that he is in danger of prison unless he can prove his ownership of the Canadian lands. As Corteau, the Canadian, has the only proof of this in existence, and refuses to give it up, Wheeler is lost.

In order to save herself and her father, the girl slips away to Canada to plead with Corteau. She obtains entrance to his cabin disguised as a boy, and Corteau puts her to work. He discovers by accident that she is a girl, and she confesses to him her mission. He respects her until he finds that she has stolen the coveted document, then in a rage he attacks her.

They come to an understanding, and Corteau sincerely repents his attitude. In the meantime, Mitchell and Wheeler start out after the girl, and they find her in a cabin, where gossip has it that she is living alone with Corteau. Mitchell breaks his way in, and accuses the girl, and Corteau comes to her defense. The two men fight, and Mitchell stabs Corteau; Corteau gets hold of the knife and returns the thrust, and mortally wounded, Mitchell staggers out into the snow and dies in the woods.

Corteau recovers. He and the girl discover that they love each other, and all ends happily.

"AN INNOCENT MAGDALENE"

(Fine Arts-Triangle—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

A ROMANCE of heart interest, this gives Lillian Gish opportunity to play one of her typically appealing parts as a Southern girl of to-day whose father, an unreconstructed Kentuckian, has brought her up in an atmosphere of aristocratic poverty.

The girl meets a millionaire gambler, falls in love with him, and marries him after they have fled from the old Colonel's wrath to the city. The gambler, for the sake of the girl, gives up his evil ways, and devotes himself to her. He defies a blackmailing detective, and as a result is sent to prison.

Shortly thereafter, another woman appears on the scene, and asserts she is the gambler's wife. The girl is persuaded of this, and goes back to her old home, but her father drives her out, and she takes refuge in a negro cabin with her old Mammy. When her child is born, she believes it illegitimate, and herself a Magdalene. Her life is made miserable by the villagers, and she determines to kill herself by leaping off a cliff, but the husband, after his prison term is over, finds her and they are reunited, after the spectator learns that the other woman was merely an old flame of the gambler's.

We have told the story in some detail to show its import, as the title might mislead. It is a story which perhaps will not stand strict analysis, but the handling of it is along the intelligent lines characteristic of the Fine Arts forces. Miss Gish registers in excellent fashion the varying shades of emotion she is called upon to depict. Sam De Grasse, as the gambler, is unusually pleasing, and Spottiswoode Aitken gives one of his fine character renditions. Jennie Lee is exceptionally good as the negro mammy, and Mary Alden is thoroughly acceptable as the other woman. Seymour Hastings and William de Vaull are also in the cast.

We think this picture will go very well, not only because of the work of Miss Gish and her fellow players, but also because the Southern atmosphere is excellent, and there are many human touches. Alan Dwan, always a careful and skilled director, worked from a script by Roy Summerville, which in turn was based on a story by Granville Warwick.

"HOW BRITAIN PREPARED"

(Patriot Film Corporation)

REVIEWED BY HARVEY F. THEW

IN days when we are almost surfeited with war pictures and preparedness propaganda, this film manages to stand out, and is deserving of especial attention. Not only is it of value as a study and a lesson, but it is an excellent entertainment.

One of its chief virtues is its evident genuineness. And right now, when charges of "fake" are being shouted against numerous importations of battlefield films, this may be largely responsible for its appeal. A wide variety of subjects is covered; they are assembled in orderly and logical sequence; the story they tell and the message they bring is clear and intelligible to all.

Moreover, the photographs were made under the personal supervision of that expert in motography, Charles Urban. He has dared the winter of the North Sea, to get striking views of the Great Fleet at work; he has invaded the training camps and the front, and the result is well worth the great effort required.

The film is divided into two parts, the first dealing with the organization and drilling of Kitchener's great army, and the second dealing with the sea, and the naval side of the war. The first part is subdivided into "Recruiting and Drilling of Volunteers," "Making Munitions," "Trench Work," "Cavalry, Artillery and Mounted Infantry," "Field Telegraph and Signalling Corps," "Royal Flying Corps," "Motor-Cycle Machine-Gun Section," "Provisioning an Army," "His Majesty, King George V.," "Off to the Front," and "Destroying a German Blockhouse in Flanders." The second part consists of "Building and Launching a Battleship," "A Naval Gun in the Making," "On a British Mine Sweeper," "The Silent Sentinels," "With the Grand Fleet in the North Sea," "Jack Afloat," "The Hornets of the Fleet" and "Battleships in Action."

Scenes from Universal Pictures for June: "The Sea Lily," "His Little Story," "The Madcap," and "Two Mothers"

"THE INNER STRUGGLE"

(American-Mutual Masterpicture De Luxe—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY WILLIAM C. ESTY, 2nd

THOSE who look for insipid conventionality in a film will doubtless recoil from the stark reality of this one. There is no convenient killing off of undesirable characters, and no final clinching between the hero and heroine. The story, written by Julian La Mothe, is unhackneyed and strong, giving rise to novel situations intensified by the ingenious directing of Edward Sloman.

Dr. Grant's unselfish devotion has made him the idol of a leper colony. One day a woman not afflicted with the disease comes to the island. She explains that she cannot leave her husband, who has been sent there. This conjugal sacrifice recalls to Dr. Grant his own love affair. Myra Hamilton, the girl he loved, refused to marry him because he practiced vivisection. She married instead, Harry Elliot, a diverting young roue. Elliot's dissipations were driving Myra insane when Grant took a hand. In a terrific fight he had beaten Elliot senseless, had taken him to the country, and after some months had made a man of him. Because he still loved Myra, he had exiled himself on this pestilential island.

That night a letter comes from Myra, telling him that Elliot is dead, and that she wants him to come home and claim her. Grant is about to go when he remembers his helpless patients, and his love for them prompts him to stay. He burns Myra's letter between his fingers, and finding that the flames do not burn his hands, discovers that he too has leprosy.

This final, unexpected climax makes a fitting close for a tale filled with unforeseen situations.

Some of the scenes in the leper colony and in an insane asylum are undeniably gruesome, but are necessary for creating the proper atmosphere. The fight between Grandt and Elliot is unusually well done. The only directorial slip-up is the exaggerated enthusing over Elliot done by the extra girl society buds.

The sets and exteriors are good and the lighting and photography are remarkable. The trio of leads is admirable. Winnifred Greenwood (Myra) is equally effective when chatting at a festive tea fight or when sobbing over her profligate husband. Franklyn Ritchie (Dr. Grant) contributes a finished piece of acting, and Roy Stewart (Elliot) skillfully alienates and then regains the sympathy of the spectator.

"HYPOCRISY"

(William Fox—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

LIKE some of the other recent subjects from the William Fox studios, "Hypocrisy" contains a pleasing amount of comedy relief, although in the main it is a domestic drama descriptive of the folly of a young wife, and of a certain portion of high society which lives by bluff and hypocrisy.

It is putting emphasis in its proper place to say that the handling of the comedy in this picture is superior to the handling of the near-tragic elements, and for this Director Kenean Buel deserves praise. His work elsewhere is effective, but his use of such commonplace situations as the first attempts of a young wife to cook, the presence of bill collectors outside the apartment of a social parasite, the appearance of a mule in an outdoor love making scene, and the forlorn aspect of a justice of the peace roused at midnight to perform a marriage, show considerable skill and capture an audience without difficulty.

The Husband Makes a Discovery

Virginia Pearson has the leading role and it is one happily suited to her. Miss Pearson makes a beautiful appearance, and her work in comedy situations is excellent. She holds her dramatic scenes well, and gives further strong evidence that she is a sincere and accomplished screen player.

The other members of the cast—Albert Swenson, John Webb Dillon, Ida Darling, Gladys Morris, Henri Leone, and others—offer adequate support, though their work is not so natural as that of the star.

To go back to Mr. Buel's direction: the story is told in a straightforward, easily comprehensible manner, and it gains in force from good use of parallel action, and the cut and flash. The subtitles are skillfully placed, particularly in the comedy scenes, and one of those touches of reality which are too seldom seen on the screen is created by references in two titles to the European war and the late Irish revolt. These are small details, but they show that Mr. Buel is on the right track.

Summed up, "Hypocrisy" will please, first, because it has not been permitted to get overserious; and second, because Miss Pearson is excellent. The story is by Hugh C. Weir.

"MACBETH"

(Reliance Film Corporation—Eight Parts)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

SHAKESPEARE'S "Macbeth" has received what may be summed up as excellent treatment in its migration to the motion picture. The passages have been changed a little bit here, enlarged upon slightly there and scenes have been added that were merely suggested at in the play and some that are products of the present producer's imagination have been inserted to meet the demands of the camera.

Perhaps the exhibitor is of the opinion that Shakespeare, speaking in the terms of the lowbrow, is only for the highbrow and subsequently he may be led to believe that "Macbeth" will not meet the demands of his audience. If such thoughts possess his mind he may best dispense with them, for "Macbeth," aside from the fact that it is a Shakespearian play, is undoubtedly an excellent picture and consequently it is in a position to entertain both sects of the aforementioned "brows." This statement is made merely because some Shakespearian picture-plays of the past have mocked the author and deceived an eager public.

Sir Herbert Tree steps into the light of the studio via "Macbeth." His characterization of the Scottish thane from the time he first comes under the influence of the false ambition to become king until he at last reaps the ill rewards of his many misdeeds is a convincing study of character. The change is wrought plainly and Sir Herbert, aided by an expressive countenance which screens particularly well, makes the most of the part.

Constance Collier, as Lady Macbeth, shares honors with the English actor. She makes the role cold, calculating and hard, untouched by sympathy. Her influence over the at first more amicable Macbeth is easily understandable from Miss Collier's playing. Wilfred Lucas's Macduff, Ralph Lewis's Banquo, Spottiswoode Aitken's Duncan and Mary Alden's Lady Macduff leave little to be desired. L. Tylden, Scott McKee and Jack Leonard as the three witches are excellent, while a large supporting cast, including several hundred supernumeraries, appear.

John Emerson is credited with shaping the play for the screen and the directing. Mr. Emerson, perhaps because he was dealing with "Macbeth", has adhered more or less rigidly to stage production. In close-ups his characters deliver what seem to be speeches from the play directly into the lens. Talking, however, seems in no wise to hinder facial expression, and so the point may be disposed of lightly.

In respect to his scenario Mr. Emerson has done excellently. The bits of action that up to this time have been foreign to Shakespeare, inserted by Mr. Emerson, bear out the suggestions of the play to a degree of perfection. Battle scenes, for instance, the sight of Macduff at home with his wife and child, the final storming of Macbeth's castle and other incidents create a strong impression entirely in keeping with the original play.

Likewise in the matter of production has Mr. Emerson carried out his scenario to a perfect degree. The costuming, the settings and the handling of the hordes of extras in the battle scenes could not be improved upon. And besides, there are the three witches and Banquo's ghost introduced as only the films can properly introduce them; by use of double exposure. In smaller but no less important instances has Mr. Emerson taken advantage of the power of the camera. In that most crucial point in the play when Macbeth, after he has murdered Duncan, is brooding over his deed and of future glories prophesied to follow he is awakened from his lethargy by the knocking of Macduff at the castle door. Again calling the double exposure into play, a mailed fist is seen knocking on Macbeth's heart. There are other bits of equal significance.

In fact from first to last, the picture "Macbeth" is a powerful tragedy. There was opportunity, plenty of opportunity to visualize it as violent melodrama because the various murders done and caused by Macbeth are all pictured in this production. Happily, however, the play is worthy to be called a tragedy, for it depicts with great intensity the downfall and ruination of an overly ambitious man, spurred on to murder by an even more ambitious wife.

It is a picture which will provide amply for the entertainment of those who have before considered Shakespeare to be beyond their scope of conception, while it is also a production that will in no wise offend the sensibilities and the traditions held by the student.

Cutting and Titling is an art
I'm an artist at it

EDWARD M. ROSKAM
Film Expert
220 West 42nd Street
New York City

GET YOUR RELEASE
DATES AND TITLES TO THIS OFFICE
BY SATURDAY
NOON

Advertising on the Screen

(Continued from page 3716)

"THEN follows the motion picture drama of the evening, a powerful drama, perhaps, which requires the sympathy, and the appreciative attention of the audience. But is the audience now receptive? Is the artistic atmosphere, so much to be desired, still in evidence? Echo answers: It is not!.

"The preliminary showing of 'Oscar's Oleo,' etc., etc., has distracted the audience, has lowered the artistic tone of the theatre; has provided a most improper introduction for the film drama to follow.

* * *

"THE public resents being taken advantage of. The fact remains that the people pay the price of admission to view photoplays and not to have advertising slides forced upon them, nor industrial photoplays which exploit the merits of laundry machinery, dairies, or bakeries.

"If these advertisements are to be presented, it is only fair to theatre patrons that announcements be primarily made. The interjection of advertising film, or slides, between two worthy films, will ruin an otherwise well-balanced program; and the advertising is endured and not relished by the audience.

"Furthermore, they are in no receptive mood to properly appreciate the merits of forthcoming productions. And when the same advertising slides are continued for a week at a time they become particularly tiresome to the persons who have paid good money to be entertained, not bored.

* * *

"THERE is undoubtedly a fertile field for advertising via the moving picture screen. Many of the advertising film productions are pretentious and expensive. They will attract many people if there is a frank announcement that they are advertisements and are to be shown as such. No prices of admission should be charged the people to view these films, any more than the newspaper should charge for permission to read advertisements contained in them."

Tabloid Reviews for the Busy Exhibitor

PRODUCTIONS FROM ALL PROGRAMS

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

"The Blue or the Grey." (Biograph. Reissue. Mon., July 3.)—A civil war picture made by W. Christy Cabanne with a cast including Donald Crisp, Alfred Paget, Robert Harron, Irene Howley and Mildred Manning. It is brim full of action, some of it most thrilling, but its story paints the northern soldier with such a slurring brush that it is hardly enjoyable. There are some few scenes which are apt to be offensive besides.

"His Trust and His Trust Fulfilled." Biograph. Two reels. Reissue. Sat., July 4.)—This was made by D. W. Griffith and issued as two separate pictures, each somewhat dependent on the other, under the titles of "His Trust" and "His Trust Fulfilled." It has now been made into one picture and the titles combined. The story deals with an old negro who faithful to his promise to his master, cared for his widowed wife and daughter after his death in the war. It makes a most appealing offering, one we are sure that all will enjoy. An accomplished cast composed of Wilfred Lucas, Claire MacDowell, Del Henderson, Dorothy West and Grace Henderson does high grade work.

"Fools' Gold." (Essanay. Three reels. Sat., June 10.)—Will be reviewed in next week's issue.

"Putting It Over." (Essanay. Two reels. Tues., June 13.)—Not shown for review; the story follows:

Evans, a young lawyer, while handling a case for Mrs. Chelmsford, lives at her house. He is in love with the lady's niece, Bernice, and pretending that they are studying parts for an amateur theatrical performance, they make violent love to each other. A valuable necklace is stolen from the house. Evans and Bernice happen to get in the burglar's automobile while eloping, and are taken to the police station, but the gems are recovered and the wedding is celebrated. The cast is composed of Harry Beaumont, Marguerite Clayton, Camille D'Arcy, Charles Stine, Marion Skinner and Mark Smith.

"Canimated Nooz Pictorial No. 11." (Essanay. Split reel. Wed., June 14.)—An animated cartoon burlesque of the current news weeklies shares this reel with 500 feet of Western scenic.

"The Promise Land." (Essanay. Three reels. Sat., June 17.)—Not shown for review; the story follows:

David Hunter and Charlie Griswold are suitors for the hand of Margaret Jameson, a small town girl. By promises of taking her to the city, Griswold wins the girl and marries her. Many years later Hunter is a successful doctor, and Griswold has become a derelict. Hunter saves the life of Margaret's baby, and the death of Griswold leaves Margaret free to marry Hunter.

"Midnight at the Old Mill." (Kalem. Tues., June 6.)—There is not much of a story to this comedy although Ham and Bud and their support are capable of getting a few laughs without its aid. A chase in which the action is speeded up brings the picture to a close. There have been decidedly better Ham comedies.

"In Cinderella's Shoes." (Kalem. Wed., June 7.)—Ethel Teare appears here as the daughter of a shoe manufacturer who believes in foot wear of the vastly exaggerated common sense variety. Ethel objects to wearing such shoes and the subsequent entanglements are quite humorous. Others in the cast are Gus Leonard, Jack MacDermott and Victor Rottman.

"The Disappearance of Helen Mintern." (Kalem. Two reels. Week of June 12.)—Aside from accomplishing their usual clever trick of bringing a band of lawbreakers to justice, Mona and Mary, show lovable inclinations in their number of "The Social Pirates." The construction of the story here presented leaves little to be desired as is the usual case.

"An Old Man's Folly." (Knickerbocker Star Feature. Three reels. Fri., June 16.)—Despite the fact that coincidence is badly overworked and the plot is a variation of the triangle idea, this picture should prove acceptable, chiefly because of the excellent style in which it was produced insofar as settings, lighting and photoplay are concerned. The action moves quite rapidly, and the cast, while not at all brilliant, is competent. Daniel Gilfether, as a foolish old man who carries on an affair with an adventuress, heads the cast. Others are Marguerite Nichols, Les Willis, Richard Johnson, Phyllis Grey and Frank Erlangen. Reeves Eason directed, under the supervision of the Messrs. Horkheimer.

"The Two Orphans." (Selig. Three reels. Re-issue. Mon., June 12.)—Will be reviewed in next week's issue.

"The Cowpuncher's Peril." (Selig. Sat., June 17.)—This Tom Mix Western is in every respect similar to the scores he has already produced. The simple plot is merely a vehicle to carry the numerous riding and shooting feats. These, as usual, are of a spectacular kind. Audiences that appreciate conventional Westerns will like this release. In Mr. Mix's support Victoria Forde, Pat Chrisman and Joe Ryan appear.

Tom Meyers, having found a rich gold mine, starts out to register it at the Claim Office. Padgett, a man who envies Tom, wounds him, steals the description of the mine, and rides off to register the claim. Betty, a ranch owner's daughter, sees this episode and by furious riding beats Padgett to the office and saves Tom's property. This act impresses Tom so much that he asks her to be his wife.

MUTUAL PROGRAM

"Disguisers." (Falstaff. Mon., May 29.)—Here we have Conrad and Oscar in new roles. Oscar is the successful wooer, and when he returns with his bride Conrad resolves on revenge. Conrad learns that the bride's Uncle Dave has come on from Dakota, and manages to sow suspicion as to Uncle Dave's identity in Oscar's mind. Oscar hides and sees Uncle Dave kissing the bride. He leaps out and attacks the intruder, and then finds he is a bona-fide uncle. Uncle Dave is wroth and tears up the deed of a house which he was bringing as a gift. Claude Cooper, Louise Emerald Bates, Frank E. McNish and Riley Chamberlain compose the cast.

"Sawdust Love." (Cub, Fri., June 2.)—Two wayfarers, asleep by the road, hear the sound of hammering, and awake to find a small circus pitching its tents nearby. They immediately join the crowd, and one of them falls in love with Nina, a performer and daughter of the proprietor. The clown, who also loves the maid, attempts to keep them away, but they get into the circus and attract Nina's attention. She spoils her act, and father chases the two trouble-makers. The three run into the middle of the ring, and make such a hit that they are immediately given jobs. Nina runs into the arms of her new sweetheart, who embraces her, and then awakes to find himself by the roadside, embracing his fellow hobo. The whole circus episode was a dream.

"Peterson's Pitiful Plight." (Falstaff. Sat., June 3.)—Peterson is beset by creditors. He is in love with his bookkeeper, Rosemary, and when the creditors become too importunate, he tells them she is an heiress and when they are married everything will be repaid. After the wedding the creditors throng the house, and Peterson introduces them as uncles, cousins and brothers. Rosemary is delighted and urges them to call often—which they do. They throng the office and house, Peterson is served with a summons by two at the same time. While the rival factions are fighting for him, he throws Rosemary into a car and they escape. Bert Delaney, Gladys Leslie and Elise Jordan head the cast.

"Circumstantial Evidence." (American. Two reels. Mon., June 12.)—Will be reviewed next week.

"Love, Burglars and a Bull Dog." (Vogue. Tues., June 13.)—Innumerable complications and the great speed of the players will doubtless find favor for this film in many audiences. The humor is forced at times, and were it not for the broad burlesque employed in some of the situations, they might have been risque. Much of the business is the kind that generations of theatre-goers have proved to be sure-fire. Rube Miller is the lead, supported by Alice Neice, Arthur Tavares and Maude Kirby.

Rube, the lazy husband of an industrious washerwoman wife, has a great eye for female pulchritude. A new couple move into the house next door, and Rube flirts with the wife. He gets into a lot of trouble with his jealous wife and the equally jealous husband of the woman he is ogling. Everything comes out all right in the end when Rube captures a brace of burglars.

"Billy Van Deusen's Eggs-Spensive Adventures." (Beauty. Wed., June 14.)—Not shown for review.

"The Sheriff of Palumas." (Mustang. Two reels. Fri., June 16.)—The familiar story of this production is well handled by a competent cast. The ending is not the one usually used, and on this account a touch of novelty is not lacking. The atmosphere is well created, and fine photography prevails throughout. The players, well selected, are as follows: Charles Newton, William Stowell, Varvey Clark, Harry McCabe, Burr Ritchie, Ashton Dearholt, Madeline Fordyce and Helen Rosson.

Jesse Martin, a reformed safe cracker, has become a respected figure in a Western town. After he has been elected Sheriff, he makes his son, just back from college, Deputy Sheriff. One of Martin's old accomplices comes to town and by threatening to expose Martin's past life, forces the Sheriff to aid him in robbing a safe. Martin's son discovers a finger print on the safe and is horrified to find that it is his father's. In a quarrel, however, Martin and the crook kill each other, so the Sheriff's forced duplicity is never known.

"Pedigrees, Pups and Puppies." (Beauty. Sun., June 18.)—Orral Humphrey, Lucille Ward and Joe Massey make an excellent comedy team, but their efforts in this instance are hampered by the mediocrity of the material at their disposal. The facial contortions of the principals, however, do much to counter-balance the scarcity of laughs in the situations.

At the Signal-Mutual Studios: (Left to right) Stage and Laboratory; Street Scene for "Whispering Smith"; Studio Station, the Only One of Its Sort on the Time Card of a Railroad

Smith is an admirer of pedigreed dogs and a hater of cats. He spends all his money to buy an expensive dog. Mike is an admirer of Shapely Smith's daughter, but the father refuses to countenance their marriage because he believes that the Smiths are descended from kings. The pedigreed dog is unable to drive away vagrant cats, but Mike's mongrel pup puts them to route. This fact, coupled with the proof that one of Smith's ancestors was hanged as a horse-thief, persuades the father to let Mike marry his daughter.

"Delinquent Bride-Grooms." (Vogue. Sun., June 18.)—Not shown for review.

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

"What Love Can Do." (Red Feather. Five reels. Mon., June 12.)—Reviewed at length in the issue of June 10.

"Their Awful Predicament." (Nestor. Mon., June 12.)—A mixup is here staged at a week end party where a burglar who has stolen a necklace from a jeweler, two suspects and a detective are most prominent. There is considerable good comedy in this although towards the end it waxes rather slow, as the situations are all somewhat similiar. Eddie Lyons, Billie Rhodes, Lee Moran and Ed Burns are the principals.

"The Melody of Love." (Gold seal. Three reels. Tues., June 13.)—In a mining town a romance is for a time blighted by the interfering villain, but in a more or less dramatic way things turn out happily. While these three reels contain some of the finest scenes ever filmed, the action in the opening phase of the picture is not clear and the story is apt to drag in numerous spots. J. Warren Kerrigan, Norbert Myles and Buck Connors are the principals.

"The Wonderful Secret." (Imp. Tues., June 13.)—Edith Roberts once again as the daughter of a poor but proud old southern colonel brightens this film to a most pleasing extent. She is wooed and won by a young northerner, who of course has a lot of money. Harry Benham in this role does well. William Addison Lathrop wrote the scenario and Winthrop Kelley directed.

"How Stars Are Made." (L-KO. Two reels. Wed., June 14.)—Alice Howell and Ray Griffith are sweepers in the L-Ko studio and both have something of a desire to act. When a pageant parades in Hollywood, Alice dresses as an angel, and Ray as the devil, thus usurping the positions of Gertrude Selby and Reggie Morris. A chase of fair character brings the picture to a close. This has some funny stuff in it, but there have been many better L-Ko two reelers.

"When the Wolf Howls." (Rex. Wed., June 14.)—An appealing little drama in which the wife of the poor artist is driven to contemplate suicide but is prevented in the nick of time by the arrival of her husband who has met success. This has been handled to excellent effect and produces a great bit of suspense. William Mong wrote the scenario and directed with Cleo Madison, while these two also have the principal roles.

"Her Soul's Song." (Laemmle. Two reels. Thurs., June 15.)—The young wife, a beautiful singer, is deprived of her voice at the birth of her child. She leaves her husband in a rage, but as time goes on she longs for her child. She returns to discover it deathly ill. This strange situation brings back her voice and later the baby under her care becomes well. This drama, though seemingly wildly impossible makes very good entertainment. The subtitles are written across the scenes in most instances. Dorothy Davenport and Emory Johnson are the principals.

"Betty's Hobo." (Laemmle. Thurs., June 15.)—Calder Johnstone's forte is sentiment. Sometimes it is true sentiment and sometimes it is not. Here he has written an average story of a hobo who has a past, intimately connected with the father of the little girl he makes friends with. It is mainly a child's picture although its simplicity may make for more mature admirers. George Cochrane directed his two leads, Thomas Jefferson and Zoe Bech.

"The Devil's Image." (Imp. Two reels. Fri., June 16.)—This portrays in gruesome fashion the dream of a man, in which he sees himself as a dope fiend. Gruesome it is, but it is unusually strong as well, while it has been produced efficiently. Hobart Henley does some good acting as the dope fiend, while Irene Hunt makes the role of the wife very human. Hal Clarendon directed.

"Almost a Widow." (Nestor. Fri., June 16.)—The husband starts on a trip but misses the boat and joins a poker game. The boat goes down and the wife mourns for hubby. He returns the next day with a glowing report of how he rescued several persons, but then it is learned that the boat did not go down at all. This has a number of humorous complications and makes a very satisfactory comedy with Betty Compson, Neal Burns and Ed Burns playing the leads. Robert McGowan wrote the story, Al Christie the scenario while Horace Davey produced.

"The Golden Boot." (Victor. Fri., June 16.)—A fairly good comedy in which Al MacQuarrie as a tramp is unable to spend a roll of bills which he finds in an old shoe. He does, however, succeed in doing a lot of good by giving the money to a stricken family. William Bowman wrote the story for this and directed after Olga Printzlau prepared the scenario.

"The Railroad Bandit." (Bison. Two reels. Sat., June 17.)—A sensational melodrama written by Wright Roberts along lines of the old school. If some of its phases fail to ring true, such shortcomings are far overbalanced by the abundance of thrills that the action contains. Among the incidents is a thrilling running fight engaged in by bandits on horseback and railroad men on a moving flat car. Pedro Leon, Lee Hill, Marie Walcamp, and L. C. Shumway played under Henry McRae's direction.

"Love Quarantined." (Joker. Sat., June 17.)—Written and produced by Allen Curtis, this picture contains the necessary plot and eccentric business essential to an excellent comedy. William Franey, Gale Henry, Charles Conklin, Lillian Peacock and Milburn Moranti have their usual parts.

"The Finer Metal." (Rex. Two reels. Sun., June 18.)—This has several new and sustaining twists to a story of the eternal triangle in which the easily influenced young wife is the most prominent figure. The climax scenes have considerable power and all in all the picture will doubtless entertain over its whole length. The arrangement of the bank offices is poor, but otherwise Ray Schrock's direction is commendable. Ben Wilson, Dorothy Phillips and William Welsh are the principals.

"A College Boomerang." (Imp. Sun., June 18.)—A college romance which fails utterly to convince because of its unreal atmosphere and its heavy melodramatic character. Harry Benham and Edith Roberts are the leads.

"Romance at Random." (Laemmle. Sun., June 18.)—This Rupert Julian picture contains one of those last minute surprises which is effected not by a sudden change in situation, but by the minature physique of midget Gus Alexander. Julian as the unwilling co-respondent in a divorce case trembles to meet the woman's husband because he is a prize fight promoter, but Alexander is the man and there's nothing to be afraid of there. This makes a very good release as it is worked out exceedingly well and carries a big surprise. Elsie Jane Wilson is the wife. E. J. Clawson prepared the scenario from a story by H. B. M. Watson.

"Peg o' the Ring." (Universal Special Feature. Sixth Episode. Two reels. Week of June 5.)—At the opening of this number entitled "The Cry for Help" both Peg and Dr. Lund, Jr., are prisoners of the counterfeiters. Peg is almost drowned in the cellar, but she is rescued by Dr. Lund. The counterfeiters' den is raided by detectives and all are captured except Mrs. Lund. Later at an entertainment given by Dr. Lund, Sr., in honor of the reopening of the circus, Peg, under the influence of her strange inheritance, accuses Dr. Lund, Jr., of being a counterfeiter and he is arrested by officers.

William Worthington, Universal Director

WEEKLIES

Hearst-Vitagraph, No. 44.—Memorial Day parade in New York; girls play water football at Venice, Cal.; Boston preparedness parade; three thousand visit Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill; anniversary of birth of G. A. R. in Danville, Fy.; Central Park Zoo family of hippopotomi move to summer quarters; military exhibition on Governor's Island; world's records broken in athletic meet at Harvard Stadium; other views.

Mutual Weekly, No. 75.—President and Mrs. Wilson attend the Grayson-Gordon wedding in New York; New York policemen in military training camp; Mutual stars sail for the Orient; 2,000 pilgrims journey to Sagamore Hill to ask T. R. to lead them; Baltimore preparedness parade; Rodman Law in thrilling parachute drop; target practice at Fort Crockett, Tex.; American sport fashions; latest fashions in evening gowns; Chaplin aids war orphans; snake day at Jourdanton, Tex.

Selig-Tribune, No. 43. (Mon., May 29.)—Girls practice for annual canoe races, Riverside, Mass.; Evening Mail marathon, New York City; dog show at Belmont Park, L. I.; Vincent Astor takes aeroplane flight at Marblehead, Mass.; classic dance in the open, Boston Mass.; Elephant Butte Dam completed at Elephant Butte, N. M.; National Guard Tournament at Sheepshead Bay, N. Y.; and other events.

Selig-Tribune, No. 44. (Thurs., June 1.)—Kentfield celebrates California's discoverer, Sir Francis Drake; with the U. S. troops in Mexico; dress parade at West Point, N. Y.; horses and mules purchased by Allies, San Francisco, Cal.; six thousand children of Portland, Ore., participate in outdoor calisthenics; President and Mrs. Wilson and other national figures attend Dr. Grayson's wedding in New York; Prince Von Buelow, reported successor to Count Von Bernstorff, Ambassador to United States in Berlin, Germany; and other events.

INCORPORATIONS

The Corporation Trust Company, 37 Wall street, New York, reports the following new corporations:

In Delaware:

THE STRAND COMPANY; to conduct places of amusement for the production of moving pictures; capitalized at $100,000 in Hillcrest, Del.; incorporators are: Earnest B. MacNair, Hillcrest, Del.; William H. Bramble, Wilmington, Del.; and John O. Griffith, Wilmington, Del.

NEW YORK THEATRE SYNDICATE; to operate theatres, amusement enterprises, etc.; capitalized at $37,000 in Penns Grove, N. J.; incorporators are: Fred D. Doty, Broad and Main streets, Penns Grove, N. J.; Giles S. Doty, Broad and Main streets, Penns Grove, N. J.; Thomas B. Hall, 328 North Sixth street, Camden, N. J.; E. S. Kilmer, Broad and Main streets, Penns Grove, N. J.; and James C. Crumlish, Broad and Main streets, Penns Grove, N. J.

In New Jersey:

HIGHLANDS AMUSEMENT CORPORATION; Amusement enterprises; capitalized at $10,000 in Highlands, N. J.; incorporators are: Harry A. Sculthorp, Highlands, N. J.; Jesse L. Sculthorp, Highlands, N. J.; and George E. Jenkinson, Jr., Highlands, N. J.

In Virginia:

PEOPLES AMUSEMENT COMPANY, INC.; a general moving picture business and amusements generally; capitalized at $10,000 in Richmond; incorporators are: A. J. Bradley, W. Chester Evans, E. A. Barlow, all of Richmond, Va.

In New York:

SUB-SEA MOTION PICTURE APPARATUS CO., INC.; motion picture bus.; capitalized at $1,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Howard Thurston, Beechurst, L. I.; Rualto F. Leithold, 1400 Broadway, N. Y.; and Thos. F. MacMahon, 1400 Broadway, N. Y.

CELEBRATED FILM CORPORATION; motion picture business; capitalized at $1,000 in Nyack, N. Y; incorporators are: Arthur Rosenach, Times Building, N. Y.; Louis Scharman, 218 West Forty-second street, N. Y.; and Harry G. Kosch, 218 West Forty-second street.

MARTIN ELECTRICAL MANUFACTURING CO., INC.; motion picture films, vaudeville, theatrical supplies, etc.; capitalized at $50,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Ralph

Martin, 1063 Simpson street, Bronx; Jos. J. Murphy, 457 West Thirty-fifth street, N. Y.; and Harvey C. Price, 131 West 110th street, N. Y.

A. & W. FILM CORPORATION; gen. film business; capitalized at $10,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Abraham Press, 64 West Twelfth street, N. Y.; Ernest V. Reiss, 210 West Fourteenth street, N. Y.; and Wm. G. Keir, 355 East 165th street, N. Y.

RIALTO FILM CORPORATION; motion picture business; capitalized at $1,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Wm. Goldburg, 20 East Ninetieth street, New York; Julius Goldburg, 233 Broadway, New York; and Jesse J. Goldburg, 707 St. Nicholas avenue, New York.

MAHARG AMUSEMENT COMPANY, INC.; to operate places of amusement, moving pictures, films, etc., in Manhattan; incorporators are: Jacob Wollheim, 338 East Seventy-ninth street, New York; Alfred J. Graham, 65 West 181st street, New York; and Harry Baer, 30 East Forty-second street, New York.

LEWIS J. SELZNICK ENTERPRISES, INC.; motion picture business; capitalized at $500,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Lewis J. Selznick, 448 Riverside Drive, New York; Fisher Goodhue, 157 East Thirty-fourth street, New York; T. A. Driscoll, 716 Park avenue, Hoboken, N. J.

PEN-O-GRAPH FILM CORPORATION; motion picture and theatrical business; capitalized at $500 in Manhattan; incorporators are: John B. Hall, Baldwin Harbor, L. I., N. Y.; Redmond B. Cotter, Baldwin Harbor, L. I., N. Y.; and Wm. A. Kane, 110 West Fortieth street, New York.

PHOTO-CHROME FILM CORPORATION; moving picture business, printing and publishing; capitalized at $50,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Thos. F. McMahan, Stella M. Kelleher and Bailey C. Elliott, all of 1400 Broadway, New York.

HOLMA FILM CORPORATION; motion pictures and theatrical business; capitalized at $5,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Nelson Ruttenbert, 1129 Vyse avenue, Bronx; Marie A. Ritter, 183 St. Nicholas avenue, Brooklyn; and J. Robert Rubin, 165 Broadway, New York.

B. & L. AMUSEMENT COMPANY, INC.; to manage theatres and general moving picture business; capitalized at $1,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: John A. Litt, 137 East Twenty-eighth street, New York; Anthony A. Bagarozzo, 261 West Fourth street, New York; and A. Fabry, 210 West Fourth street, New York.

CARDINAL FILM CORPORATION; motion pictures; capitalized at $10,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Alex L. Kenney, 67 Meadow Lane, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Gertrude E. Wandler, Woodhaven, L. I.; and Arthur W. Smith, Orange, N. J.

Mae Gaston (Horsley)

R. & W. PHOTOPLAY CO., INC.; managers and proprietors of theatres, etc.; capitalized at $4,000 in Brooklyn; incorporators are: Irving Rosenthal, 375 Snediker avenue, Brooklyn; Mary Begren, 63 West One Hundred and Forty-third street, New York; and Jos. Wellen, 653 Georgia avenue, Brooklyn.

SUPERB PICTURES CORPORATION; motion picture business and carrying on theatrical enterprises; capitalized at $100,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Herman Becker, 1493 Broadway, New York; Harry Rapf, 1564 Broadway, New York; and Arthur H. Jacobs, 1564 Broadway, New York.

PROGRESSIVE FILM MANUFACTURING CO., INC.; motion pictures, theatrical bus, etc.; capitalized at $5,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Jacques E. Horn, Fourth street and Fifth avenue, Brooklyn; Wm. Cohen, 218 Martense street, Brooklyn; and Theo A. Doucet, 139 West Forty-seventh street, New York.

PHOTOPLAY MATERIAL BUREAU, INC.; motion picture and vaudeville business; bookselling, stationers, etc.; capitalized at $1,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are Victor E. Grossbaum, 1018 East 163d street, Bronx; Lillian Kamber, 907 Prospect avenue, Bronx; and May Berkman, 529 Fifty-second street, Brooklyn.

PUBLIC SERVICE TICKET OFFICE, INC.; deal in theatre tickets, general ticket office, manage theatres, etc.; capitalized at $5,000, in Manhattan; incorporators are: Jos. Leblang, 501 W. 110th street, New York; Tillie Leblang, 501 W. 110th street, New York; and Hugh Leblang, 689

In Pennsylvania:

COLUMBIA THEATRE COMPANY; owning, maintaining and operating theatres, etc.; capitalized at $5,000; incorporators are Thomas D. McCloskey, Pittsburgh, Pa.; William E. Best, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Robert H. Grier, Bellevue, Pa.

THE STURK AMUSEMENT COMPANY; operation and maintenance of places of amusement, etc.; capitalized at $10,000; incorporators are: Charles A. Sturk, Philadelphia, Pa.; John C. Swartley, Doylestown, Pa.; and Paul Freeman, Doylestown, Pa.

MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITORS' LEAGUE OF PENNSYLVANIA; operating etc., of moving picture theatres, etc.; capitalized at $5,000; incorporators are: I. W. Shearer, James Delves, Fred J. Herrington, A. J .Barthell, Sol. Openheimer, Christ J. Vollmer, and Henry Poke.

In Virginia:

NORFOLK ACADEMY OF MUSIC, INC.; to lease and operate theatres, and theatrical attractions; capitalized at $15,000, in Norfolk, Va.; incorporators are: Jake Wells, Norfolk, Va.; Otto Wells, Norfolk, Va.; and J. L. Mitchell, Norfolk, Va.

CIRCUIT THEATRES CORPORATION; to own and conduct public and private moving picture, theatrical, musical and other performances; capitalized at $1,250,000 in Richmond, Va.; incorporators are: W. W. Beverley, Richmond, Va.; E. M. Enos, Richmond, Va.; and R. E. Peyton, Jr., Richmond, Va.

GAIETY AMUSEMENT COMPANY, INC.; general amusement business, theatres, roof gardens, moving picture shows, etc.; capitalized at $50,000 in Hopewell, Va.; incorporators are: J. C. D. Cholson, Hopewell, Va.; Thos. P. Suelis, Hopewell, Va.; and P. O. M. Brown, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Live-Wire Exhibitor Have you arranged your bookings on Frederick J. Ireland's High-Class Comedy Series

TOM & JERRY?

IF NOT—DO IT NOW

Two reels a week for 10 solid weeks. First release Monday, June 26th
A Sure-Fire Box Office Winner for the Hot Weather Season

Made by
EMERALD MOTION PICTURE COMPANY
Released exclusively through
AMERICAN STANDARD MOTION PICTURE CORPORATION
Executive Offices: 166 W. Washington St., Chicago
Branches in all principal cities.

TO LEASE

Building 50 x 100 suitable for Studio, located in heart of N. Y. City. 3 floors, large room 50 x 90, 26 feet high, small room 40 x 40, 18 feet high and 1 floor 50 x 90 divided into 5 rooms which can be used for dressing rooms. Apply P. A. R., 106 MOTION PICTURE NEWS, 729 Seventh Ave., N. Y.

Perfect
Developing and Printing

There are reasons—Come and see them.

We sell Eastman raw stock and can make shipment same day order is received.

Dependable Service Guaranteed Quality

Rothacker Film Mfg. Co.
Successor to Industrial Moving Picture Co.
CHICAGO, :: U. S. A.

CARTOON ADS
DON'T HANDLE ANY LINE UNTIL YOU HAVE SEEN MOTO-ADS. CATALOG FREE. BIG PROFITS FOR EXHIBITORS AND AGENTS.
AMERICAN COMMERCIAL FILM CO.
150 W. Austin Avenue CHICAGO

COOL & VENTILATE BY TYPHOONS
1544 BWAY. TYPHOON FAN COMPANY NEW YORK CITY

Calendar of Coming and Current Releases

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

RELEASES FOR CURRENT WEEK

Monday, June 12, 1916.

KALEM—The Disappearance of Ellen Mintern (Twelfth of "The Social Pirates"), D., 2000....Special
BIOGRAPH—The Spirit Awakened, D., 1000 (Re-Issue) 20704
LUBIN—Otto the Cobbler, C., 1000..... 20705
SELIG—The Two Orphans, D., 3000..... 20699
SELIG—Selig-Tribune, No. 47, Topical, 1000..... 20703
VITAGRAPH—Her Loving Relations, Com. D., 1000 20702

Tuesday, June 13, 1916.

EDISON—The Man in the Street, D., 3000 (Re-Issue) 20711
ESSANAY—Putting It Over, C., 2000..... 20706
KALEM—The Alaskan Mouse Hound (Ham. Com.), 1000 20708
LUBIN—The Avenger, D., 2000..... 20709

Wednesday, June 14, 1916. ....

BIOGRAPH—Liberty Belles, C., 3000..... 20717
EDISON—The Charge of the Light Brigade, D., 1000 20716
ESSANAY—Canimated Nooz Pictorial, No. 11, Cart., and 500 ft. Sc., Split reel..... 20715
KALEM—The Bachelor's Alliance (E. T. Com.), 1000 20714

Thursday, June 15, 1916.

LUBIN—Sons of the Sea, D., 3000..... 20720
SELIG—Selig-Tribune, No. 48, Topical, 1000..... 20723
VIM—Hungry Hearts, C., 1000..... 20724

Friday, June 16, 1916.

KALEM—The Stenographer's Strategy (Sis Hopkins), C., 1000 20728
KNICKERBOCKER STAR FEATURE—An Old Man's Folly, D., 3000..... 20724
VIM—The Raid, C., 1000..... 20730
VITAGRAPH—Harold the Nurse Girl, C., 1000.....

Saturday, June 17, 1916.

ESSANAY—The Promise Land, D., 3000..... 20729
KALEM—A Race Through the Air, D., 1000 (H. of H. Series) 20738
LUBIN—Hubby Puts One Over, C., 1000..... 20734
SELIG—The Cowpuncher's Peril, D., 1000..... 20739
VITAGRAPH—Ashes, D., 3000..... 20735

RELEASES FOR COMING WEEK

Sunday, June 18, 1916.

KNICKERBOCKER STAR FEATURE—Pay Dirt (Henry King), D., 5000..... 20740

Monday, June 19, 1916.

KALEM—In the Service of the State (Thirteenth of "The Social Pirates"), D., 2000.....Special BIOGRAPH—A Missunderstood Boy, D., 1000 (Re-Issue) .....
SELIG—The Reprisal, D., 3000.....
SELIG—Selig-Tribune, No. 49, Topical, 1000.....
LUBIN—Otto's Legacy, C., 1000.....
VITAGRAPH—Stung, C., 1000.....

Tuesday, June 20, 1916.

BIOGRAPH—The Reformers, D., 2000 (Re-Issue)....
EDISON—Out of the Ruins, D., 3000.....
ESSANAY—The Girl at the Curtain, D., 2000.....
KALEM—Ham Comedy (Title not decided).....

Wednesday, June 21, 1916.

EDISON—The Pied Piper of Hamelin, Juve., 1000....
ESSANAY—The Fable of the Undecided Brunnette, C., 1000 .....
KALEM—Ethel Teare Comedy (Title not decided)..

Thursday, June 22, 1916.

LUBIN—Love is Law, D., 3000.....
SELIG—Selig-Tribune, No. 50, Topical, 1000.....
VIM—Never Again, C., 1000.....

Friday, June 23, 1916.

KALEM—Her Great Invention (Sis Hopkins), C., 1000
KNICKERBOCKER STAR FEATURE—The Ancient Blood, D., 3000.....
VIM—For Better or Worse, C., 1000.....
VITAGRAPH—Curfew at Pokey Center, C., 1000....

Saturday, June 24, 1916.

ESSANAY—A Traitor to Art, D., 3000.....
KALEM—H. of H. Series (Title not decided).....
LUBIN—Persistency, C., 1000.....
SELIG—Taking a Chance, W. D., 1000.....
VITAGRAPH—Underneath the Low Down, D., 3000.

MUTUAL FILM

Monday, June 12th, 1916.

AMERICAN—Convicted for Murder, D., 2000..... 04813
FALSTAFF—Real Estaters, C., 1000..... 04815

Tuesday, June 13, 1916.

THANHOUSER—Brothers Equal, D., 2000..... 04816
VOGUE—Love, Burglars and a Bull Dog, Comedy, Lead: Rube Miller..... 04818

Wednesday, June 14, 1916.

MUTUAL—Mutual Weekly No. 76, Topical..... 04819
BEAUTY—Billy Van Deusen's Eggs-spensive Adventure, C., 1,000..... 04820
GAUMONT—See America First, Kartoon Komics, Scenic and Cartoon, Yellowstone National Park. 04821

Thursday, June 15, 1916.

THANHOUSER—D., 3,000 04822

Friday, June 16, 1916.

MUSTANG—The Sheriff of Plumas, D., 2,000..... 04825
CUB—Jerry and the Moonshiners, 1,000..... 04827

Saturday, June 17, 1916.

CENTAUR—The Star of India, D., 2,000..... 04828
FALSTAFF—Doughnuts (Conductor 786), C., 1,000.. 04830

SUNDAY, June 18, 1916.

BEAUTY—Pedigrees, Pups and Pussies, C., 1,000.... 04831
VOGUE—Delinquent Bridegrooms, C., 1,000..... 04832
GAUMONT—"Reel Life," Magazine Reel..... 04833

Monday, June 19, 1916.

AMERICAN—The Gentle Conspiracy, D., 2000..... 04834

Tuesday, June 20, 1916.

VOGUE—Ruffhouse, C., 1000..... 04836

Wednesday, June 21, 1916.

MUTUAL—Mutual Weekly, No. 77, Topical, 1000.... 04837
BEAUTY—The House on Hokum Hill, C., 1000..... 04838
GAUMONT—See America First, Sc., The Belle of the Village Green, Shgrf., Split reel..... 04839

Thursday, June 22, 1916.

GAUMONT—The Criminal Thumb, D., 3000..... 04840

Friday, June 23, 1916.

MUSTANG—A Modern Knight, D., 2000..... 04843
CUB—Jerry's Elopement, C., 1000..... 04845

Saturday, June 24, 1916.

CENTAUR—A Siren of the Jungle, D., 2000..... 04846

Sunday, June 25, 1916.

BEAUTY—The Day's Work, C., 1000..... 04848
VOGUE—The Iron Mitt, C., 1000..... 04849
GAUMONT—"Reel Life," Magazine reel..... 04850

Calendar of Current and Coming Releases

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

RELEASES FOR CURRENT WEEK

UNIVERSAL SPECIAL FEATURE—Peg o' the Ring, No. 7, D., 2000 01525

Monday, June 12, 1916.

RED FEATHER—What Love Can Do, D., 5000 01507
NESTOR—Their Awful Predicament, C., 1000 01507

Tuesday, June 13, 1916.

GOLD SEAL—The Melody of Love, D., 3000 01509
IMP—Her Wonderful Secret, C., 1000 01510

Wednesday, June 14, 1916.

REX—When the Wolf Howls, D., 1000 01511
L-KO—How Stars are Made, C., 2000 01512
UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY—No. 24, News 01513

Thursday, June 15, 1916.

LAEMMLE—Her Soul's Song, D., 2000 01514
BIG U—Betty's Hobo, C D., 1000 01515
POWERS—Prof. Wiseguy's Trip to the Moon, Cart., and Little Journeys in Japan, Sc., Split reel 01516

Friday, June 16, 1916.

IMP—The Devil's Image, D., 2000 01517
VICTOR—The Golden Boot, C., 1000 01518
NESTOR—Almost a Widow, C., 1000 01519

Saturday, June 17, 1916.

BISON—A Railroad Bandit, D., 2000 01520
JOKER—Love Quarantined, C., 1000 01521

Sunday, June 18, 1916.

REX—The Finer Metal, D., 2000 01522
LAEMMLE—Romance at Random, C., 1000 01523
IMP—A College Boomerang, C., 1000 01524

RELEASES FOR COMING WEEK

UNIVERSAL SPECIAL FEATURE—Peg o' the Ring, No. 8, D., 2000 01544

Monday, June 19, 1916.

RED FEATHER—The Man from Nowhere, D., 5000 .. 01526
NESTOR—Wanted, a Husband, C., 1000 01527

Tuesday, June 20, 1916.

GOLD SEAL—The False Part, D., 2000 01528
BIG U—The Grip of Crime, D., 2000 01529
IMP—His Picture, C., 1000 .....

Wednesday, June 21, 1916.

VICTOR—The Scarlet Mark, D., 2000 01531
L-KO—The Jailbird's Last Flight, C., 1000 01532
UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY—No. 25, News 01533

Thursday, June 22, 1916.

IMP—Behind the Secret Panel, D., 3000 01534
POWERS—The Young Sleuths, C., 1000 01535

Friday, June 23, 1916.

IMP—The Heart Wrecker, Com. D., 1000 01536
REX—The Rosary, D., 1000 (Re-Issue) 01537
NESTOR—What Could the Poor Girl Do?, C., 2000 .. 01538

Saturday, June 24, 1916.

BISON—The Ghost of the Jungle, An. D., 2000 01539
JOKER—The Fall of Deacon Stillwaters, C., 1000 01540

Sunday, June 25, 1916.

REX—The Fool, D., 2000 01541
LAEMMLE—The Rogue With a Heart, D., 1000 01542
L-KO—Dirty Work in a Beanery, C., 1000 01543

UNICORN PROGRAM

Monday, June 5, 1916.

PURITAN—The Rosary, D., 2000 650
GAYETY—The Baby in the Case., C., 1000 651

Tuesday, June 6, 1916.

HIAWATHA—Bob Armstrong's Reward, W. D., 1000 652
LILY—The Crucial Test, D., 1000 653
JUDY—Taming of the Shrew, C., 1000 654

Wednesday, June 7, 1916.

BUFFALO—Broken Hearts, W. D., 1000 655
HIPPO—Mixed Brides, and Pale-Faced Injuns, C. Sp. 656
PURITAN—The Missing Necklace, D., 1000 657

Thursday, June 8, 1916.

LILY—The Formula, D., 2000 658
JOCKEY—Johnny-On-The-Spot, C., 1000 659

Friday, June 9, 1916.

RANCHO—The Higher Voice, W. D., 1000 660
GAYETY—The Re-Made Maid, C., 1000 661
SUPREME—The Two Waifs, D., 1000 662

Saturday, June 10, 1916.

SUNSET—The Rustler's Retribution, D. W., 1000 663
SUPREME—The Eternal Truth, D., 1000 664
HIPPO—Hubby's Escapade, and His One and Only, C. Split reel 665

Sunday, June 11, 1916.

UTAH—A Squaw's Loyalty, W. D., 1000 666
JOCKEY—Two of a Kind, C., 1000 667
PURITAN—The Recoil, D., 1000 668

Monday, June 12, 1916.

PURITAN—The Lure of Gold, D., 2000 675
GAYETY—Little Grains of Rice, C., 1000 676

Tuesday, June 13, 1916.

HIAWATHA—The Wisdom of the White Man, W. D., 1000 677
SUNSET—Mother, D., 1000 678
JOCKEY—Their Noble Relation, C., 1000 679

Wednesday, June 14, 1916.

RANCHO—From Out of the Past, W. D., 1000 680
HIPPO—Wifie's Dilemma, C., 1000 681
SUPREME—The Cashier's Ordeal, D., 1000 682

Thursday, June 15, 1916.

PURITAN—The Ghost's Bride, D., 2000 683
GAYETY—Love and Overalls, and His Wife's Visitor, Com., Split 684

Friday, June 16, 1916.

HIAWATHA—The New Prospector, W. D., 1000 685
JOCKEY—The Closed Door, C., 1000 686
LILY—The Blindness of Jealousy, D., 1000 687

Saturday, June 17, 1916.

RANCHO—His Leading Lady, W. D., 1000 688
SUPREME—The Nobler Love, D., 1000 689
HIPPO—A Circumstantial Hero, and The Live Wire, Com., Split 690

Sunday, June 18, 1916.

RANCHO—The Man Who Came Back, W. D., 1000 .. 691
JOCKEY—The New Maid, C., 1000 692
SUPREME—The Little Heroine, D., 1000 693

RELEASE DATES FOR READY REFERENCE

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

BIOGRAPH

5— 9. Merry Mary, D.....2000
5—15. The Perfidy of Mary, D. (Re-Issue).1000
5—17. Beverly of Graustark, D.....3000
5—22. The Mistake, D. (Re-Issue).....1000
5—23. Who's Looney Now? C.....2000
6—29. The House with the Closed Shutters, (Re-issue).....1000
5—31. Woman Against Woman, D.....3000
5—31. The Woman in Black, D.....5000
6— 5. The Girl Across the Way, D. (Re-Issue) 1000
6— 6. The Yaqui, Cur., D. (Re-Issue).....2000
6—12. The Spirit Awakened, D. (Re-issue)..1000
6—14. Liberty Belles, C.....3000

EDISON

5—30. Helen of the Chorus, D.....3000
5—31. Cartoon Comedy and 500-ft. Scenic, Split Reel
6— 6. The Stoning, D. (Re-Issue).....3000
6— 7. Love's Labor Lost, Cart., and Camping with the Black Feet, Sc., Split Reel
6—13. The Man in the Street, D. (Re-issue).3000
6—14. The Charge of the Light Brigade, D.1000

ESSANAY

5—17. Vernon Howe Bailey's Sketch Book of San Francisco, Cart, and 500 ft. Sc., Split Reel
5—20. A Rose of Italy, D.....3000
5—23. The Condemnation, D.....2000
5—24. Canimated Nooz Pictorial, No. 10, Cart., and 500 ft. Sc.....Split Reel
5—27. The Schemers, D.....3000
5—30. The Song in the Dark, (Re-issue), D.2000
5—31. The Fable of the Willing Collegian Who Wanted to Get a Foothold, C.1000
6— 3. Our People, D.....3000
6— 6. Orphan Joyce, D.....2000
6— 7. Vernon Howe Bailey's Sketch Book of Berlin, Cart., and 500 ft. Sc., Split Reel
6—10. Fool's Gold, D.....3000
6—13. Putting it Over, C.....2000
6—14. Canimated Nooz Pictorial, No. 11, Cart., and 500 ft. Sc.....Split Reel
6—17. The Promise Land, D.....3000

KALEM

5— 6. The Human Telegram, D. (H. of H. Series), ...1000
5—10. Not What the Doctor Ordered, C....1000
5—12. A Lunch Room Legacy, C.....1000
5—13. The Bridge of Danger (H. of H. Series), D.....1000
5—16. The Irish Rebel, D.....1000
5—17. The Artful Dodger, C.....1000
5—19. An Innocent Vampire, C.....1000
5—20. One Chance in a Hundred (H. of H. Series), D.....1000
5—23. Ham's Busy Day, C.....1000
5—24. The Bogus Ghost, C.....1000
5—26. The Baby Grand, C.....1000
5—27. The Capture of Red Stanley (H. of H. Series), D.....1000
5—30. A Bunch of Flivvers, C.....1000
5—31. A Smoky Adventure, C.....1000
6— 2. Sis the Detective, C.....1000
6— 3. The Spiked Switch (H. of H. Series), D. 1000
6— 6. Midnight at the Old Mill, C.....1000
6— 7. In Cinderella's Shoes, C.....1000
6— 9. Juggling Justice, C.....1000
6—10. The Treasure Train, D.....1000
6—16. The Stenographer's Strategy, C.....1000
6—17. A Race Through the Air, D.....1000

KNICKERBOCKER STAR FEATURES

4—28. The Broken Promise, D.....3000
5— 5. The Oath of Hate, D.....3000
5—12. Broken Fetters, D.....3000
5—17. Spellbound, D.....5000
5—19. A Child of Fortune, D.....3000
5—26. The Flirting Bride, D.....3000
6— 2. Shadows, D.....3000
6— 9. The Stained Pearl, D.....3000
6—16. Pay Dirt, D.....3000

LUBIN

5— 6. Father's Night Off, C.....1000
5— 8. Skirts and Cinders, C.....1000
5—11. The Wheat and the Chaff, D.....3000
5—13. Jenkin's Jinx, C.....1000
5—15. Otto the Artist, C.....1000
5—16. The Beggar King, D.....2000
5—18. Jackstraws, D.....3000
5—20. The Winning Number, C.....1000
5—23. Otto the Hero, C.....1000
5—25. Prisoners of Conscience, D.....3000
5—27. Oh! You Uncle, C.....1000
5—29. Trilby Frilled, C.....1000
5—30. The Final Payment, D.....2000
6— 1. The Code of the Hills, D.....3000
6— 3. Pickles and Diamonds, C.....1000
6— 5. Otto, the Reporter, C.....1000
6— 8. The Scapegrace, D.....3000
6—10. Two Smiths and a Haff, C.....1000
6—12. Otto the Cobbler, C.....1000
6—13. The Avenger, D.....2000
6—15. Sons of the Sea, D.....3000
6—17. Hubby Puts One Over, C.....1000

SELIG-TRIBUNE NEWS PICTORIAL

Issued every Monday and Thursday.

SELIG

5— 6. An Elephant's Gratitude, D.....1000
5— 8. A Stranger in New York, C.....3000
5—11. Selig-Tribune, No. 38, Topical.....1000
5—13. The Sheriff's Duty, D.....1000
5—16. The Hardy Way, D.....3000
5—18. Selig-Tribune, No. 40, Topical.....1000
5—20. A Boarding House Ham, C.....1000
5—22. The Test of Chivalry, D.....3000
5—27. A Five Thousand Dollar Elopement, C. 1000
5—29. The Hare and the Tortoise, D.....3000
6— 3. Crooked Trails, D.....1000
6— 5. A Temperance Town, C.....3000
6—10. Going West to Make Good, D.....1000
6—12. The Two Orphans, D.....3000
6—17. The Cowpuncher's Peril, D.....1000

RELEASE DAYS

GENERAL FILM

Monday—Biograph, Lubin, Selig, Selig-Tribune, Vitagraph.
Tuesday—Biograph, Essanay, Kalem, Lubin.
Wednesday—Biograph, Essanay, Kalem.
Thursday—Essanay, Lubin, Selig-Tribune, Vim.
Friday—Knickerbocker Star Feature, Kalem, Vim, Vitagraph.
Saturday—Essanay, Kalem, Lubin, Selig, Vitagraph.

MUTUAL FILM

Monday—American, Falstaff, Vogue.
Tuesday—Thanhouser, Vogue.
Wednesday—Beauty, Mutual Weekly, Gaumont.
Thursday—Gaumont, American.
Friday—Mustang, Cub.
Saturday—Centaur, Falstaff.
Sunday—Beauty, Vogue, Gaumont.

UNIVERSAL FILM

Monday—Red Feather, Nestor.
Tuesday—Gold Seal, Rex, Imp.
Wednesday—Victor, L-Ko, Animated Weekly.
Thursday—Laemmle, Big U, Powers.
Friday—Imp, Victor, Nestor.
Saturday—Bison, Powers, Joker.
Sunday—Rex, Laemmle, L-Ko.

VIM

5— 4. The Brave Ones, C.....1000
5— 5. Home-Made Pies, C.....1000
5—11. The Water Cure, C.....1000
5—12. The Pretenders, C.....1000
5—18. Thirty Days, C.....1000
5—19. A Fair Exchange, C.....1000
5—25. Baby Doll, C.....1000
5—26. Villains and Violins, C.....1000
6— 1. The Schemers, C.....1000
6— 2. The Land Lubbers, C.....1000
6— 8. The Sea Dogs, C.....1000
6— 9. A Dollar Down, C.....1000
6—15. Hungry Hearts, C.....1000
6—16. The Raid, C.....1000

VITAGRAPH

5— 6. The Resurrection of Hollis, D.....3000
5— 8. The Double-Double Cros, C.....1000
5—12. Out Ag'in, In Ag'in, C.....1000
5—13. The Accusing Voice, D.....3000
5—15. The Lucky Tumble, C., and Scenes in Iceland, Sc.....Split Reel
5—19. More Money Than Manners, C.....1000
5—20. Miss Adventure, Com.-D.....3000
5—22. The Cost of High Living, C.....1000
5—26. The Battler, C.....1000
5—27. The Wheat and the Chaff, D.....3000
5—29. The Idle Rich, Com.-D.....1000
6— 2. The Loneliness, C.....1000
6— 3. Carew and Son, D.....3000
6— 5. New York, Old and New.....1000
6— 9. She Won the Prize, C.....1000
6—10. The Strange Case of Robert Burnham, D.....3000
6—12. Her Loving Relations, Com.-D.....1000
6—16. Harold the Nurse Girl, C.....1000
6—17. Ashes, D.....3000

MUTUAL FILM RELEASES

AMERICAN

4—27. A Broken Genius, D.....3000
5— 1. Pierre Brissac the Brazen, D.....2000
5— 8. The Touch on the Key, D.....2000
5—11. The Profligate, D.....3000
5—15. The Pretender, D.....2000
5—18. Four Months, D.....3000
5—22. Repaid, D.....2000
5—29. The Release of Dan Forbes, D.....2000
6— 1. The Trail of the Thief, D.....3000
6— 5. Jealousy's First Wife, D.....2000
6—12. Convicted for Murder, D.....2000

BEAUTY

5—10. Skelly's Skeleton, C.....1000
5—15. "No Title," C.....1000
5—17. Billy Van Deusen's Fiance, C.....1000
5—21. Twenty Minutes in Magic, C.....1000
5—24. Adjusting His Claim, C.....1000
5—28. The Pork Plotters, C.....1000
5—31. The Comet's Comeback, C.....1000
6— 4. Ima Knutt Gets a Bite, C.....1000
6— 7. Billy Van Deusen's Operation, C....1000
6—11. Thinim Stout, C.....1000
6—14. Billy Van Deusen's Eggs-spensive Adventure, C.....1000
6—18. Pedigrees, Pups and Pussies, C.....1000

CENTAUR

5—27. The Kaffir's Gratitude, D.....2000
6— 3. Clouds in Sunshine Valley, D.....2000
6—10. The Lion's Nemesis, D.....2000
6—17. The Star of India, D.....2000

CUB

5— 5. M. T. Dome's Awful Night, C.....1000
5—12. Jerry's Perfect Day, C.....1000
5—19. Harmony and Discord.....1000
5—26. Preparedness, C.....1000
6— 2. Sawdust Love, C.....1000
6— 9. Jerry's Big Lark, C.....1000
6—16. Jerry and the Moonshiners.....1000

FALSTAFF

5— 1. The Dashing Druggist's Dilemma, C..1000
5— 5. The Sleigher's Strategy, C.....1000
5— 8. The Kiddie's Kaptain Kidd, C.....1000
5—13. Freddie's Frigid Finish, C.....1000
5—15. Deteckters, C.....1000
5—20. Steven's Sweet Sisters, C.....1000
5—22. Politickers, C.....1000
5—27. Sammy's Semi-Suicide, C.....1000
5—29. Disguisers, C.....1000
6— 3. Peterson's Pitiful Plight, C.....1000
6— 5. Advertisementers, C.....1000
6—10. Where Wives Win, C.....1000
6—12. Real Estaters, C.....1000
6—17. Doughnuts, C.....1000

GAUMONT

5—14. "Reel Life," Topical, Ed.....1000
5—17. See America First (Yosemite National Park), and Kartoon Komics, Split Reel
5—21. "Reel Life".....1000
5—24. See America First (Savannah, Ga.), and Kartoon Komics.....Split Reel
5—25. Armadale, D.....3000
5—28. "Reel Life".....1000
5—31. See America First, Sc. and Kartoon Komics, Cart.....Split Reel
6— 4. "Reel Life," Magazine.....1000
6— 7. See America First, and Kartoon Komics, Cart.....Split Reel
6— 8. The Flames of Vengeance, D.....3000
6—11. "Reel Life," Magazine Reel.....1000
6—14. See America First, Kartoon Komics, Scenic and Cartoon.....Split Reel
6—18. "Reel Life," Magazine Reel.....1000

MUSTANG

5— 5. With a Life at Stake, D.....2000
5—12. The Gulf Between, D.....2000
5—19. The Blindness, D.....2000
5—26. Jack, D.....2000
6— 2. A Man's Friend, D.....2000
6— 9. The Pilgrim, D.....2000
6—16. The Sheriff of Plumas, D.....2000

MUTUAL PROGRAM

DAVID HORSLEY PRODUCTIONS

CRANE WILBUR

GEORGE OVEY

MARGARET GIBSON

WILLIAM CLIFFORD

THE BOSTOCK ANIMALS

These animals will be at Luna Park, Coney Island, for the summer of 1916 (opening May 27th). Animal pictures will be produced there which the public (your customers) will be permitted to witness, thereby increasing their interest in my productions. Book them.

Studios: Los Angeles, California
Laboratories: Bayonne, New Jersey
London Office: 93 Wardour St., London, England

DAVID HORSLEY PRODUCTIONS

LOS ANGELES

RELEASE DATES FOR READY REFERENCE

MUTUAL WEEKLY
Issued every Thursday.

THANHOUSER
5— 2. The Weakling, D.....2000
5— 4. The Spirit of '61, D.....3000
5— 9. When She Played Broadway, D.....2000
5—16. The Answer, D.....2000
5—23. For Uncle Sam's Navy, C.....2000
5—30. The Nymph, D.....2000
6— 6. John Brewster's Wife, D.....2000
6—13. Brothers Equal, D.....2000

VOGUE
5— 2. Out for the Count, C.....1000
5— 6. Bundling Bill's Dream, C.....1000
5— 9. Germatic Love, C.....1000
5—14. A Mix-Up at Rudolph's, C.....1000
5—16. The Man with the Hod, C.....1000
5—21. The Chinatown Villains, C.....1000
5—23. Rival Rogues, C.....1000
5—28. National Nuts, C.....1000
5—30. Shy Thirty Cents, C.....1000
6— 4. Nailing the Lid, C.....1000
6— 6. A Plane Story, C.....1000
6—11. His Blowout, C.....1000
6—18. Delinquent Bridegrooms, C.....1000

PATHE EXCHANGE, INC.

Week of May 29, 1916.

The Iron Claw, No. 14, D.....2000
Who's Guilty? No. 4, "The Silent Shame," D.....2000
Ice, C.....1000
Siberia, the Vast Unknown, No. 8, and The Tokio Exposition, Scenic.....Split Reel

Week of June 5, 1916.

The Iron Claw, No. 15, D.....2000
Who's Guilty? No. 5, "Sold Out," D.....2000
Luke Laughs Last, C.....1000
The Fatal Pie, Cart., and Some Fresh Water Fishes, Ed.....Split Reel
The Zinc Mines of Lang Hit, Ed., and Around Mt. Fugi (Japan) Sc. Split Reel

Week of June 12, 1916.

The Iron Claw, No. 16, D.....2000
Who's Guilty? No. 6, "Sowing the Wind," D.....2000
An Awful Romance, C.....1000
France's Canine Allies, Ed., and The Gorges of Colorado, Sc.....Split Reel

Week of June 19, 1916.

The Iron Claw, No. 17, "The Vanishing Faker," D.....2000
Who's Guilty? No. 7, "Truth Crushed to Earth," D.....2000
Luke's Fatal Flivver, C.....1000
From Kitchen Mechanic to Movie Star, Cart., and Japan's Ancient Capital—Nara (Col. Sc.) .....Split Reel
A Matrimonial Martyr, Col. Com.-D.....1000

UNICORN FILM PROGRAM

BUFFALO
5—17. Divided Love, D.....1000
5—24. In the Hills of Kentucky, D.....1000
5—31. Rival Candidates, D.....1000
6— 7. Broken Hearts, Western D.....1000

GAYETY
5—12. Boarders and Ghosts, C.....1000
5—15. The Teacher and the Bully, C.....1000
5—19. Wholesale Proposals, C.....1000
5—22. Mary's Mistake, and Tricking the Trickster.....Split Reel
5—25. The Busy Bee, C.....1000
5—29. A Bride to Order, and In the Balkans .....Split Reel
6— 2. All for the Love of Laura, C.....1000
6— 5. The Baby in the Case, C.....1000
6— 9. The Re-Made Maid, C.....1000

HIAWATHA
5—16. The Rose of Love, D.....1000
5—23. The Dividing Line, D.....1000
5—25. Falsely Accused, D.....1000
5—20. A Daughter of the Hills, D.....1000
6— 6. Bob Armstrong's Reward, Western D.1000

JUDY
5—16. A Musical Deception, C. and The Black Mark, C.....Split Reel
5—23. Hubby's Present, and Our Darling's Playmate. .....Split Reel
5—30. The Skating Craze at Moodyville, C.1000
6— 6. Taming of the Shrew, C.....1000

HIPPO
5—17. Father's Flirtation, C.....1000
5—20. All On Account of an Olive, C., and Mary Makes Believe, C.....Split Reel
5—24. The New Ranch Owner, C.....1000
5—26. A Gentleman of Leisure, and our Darling's Chips.....Split Reel
5—31. A Modern Hercules, C.....1000
6— 3. Nearly Married, C.....1000
6— 7. Mixed Brides, and Pale-Faced Injuns, C. .....Split Reel
6—10. Hubby's Escapade, and His One and Only, C.....Split Reel

PURITAN
5—21. The Fisherman's Choice, D.....1000
5—27. The Uncut Diamond, D.....1000
5—30. Kentucky Brothers, D.....1000
5—31. The Wheat King, D.....1000
6— 4. The King's Vengeance, D.....1000
6— 5. The Rosary, D.....2000
6—11. The Recoil, D.....1000

LILY
5—24. The Hindoo's Revenge, D.....2000
6— 1. The Sacred Oath, D.....2000
6— 6. The Crucial Test, D.....1000
6— 8. The Formula, D.....2000

JOCKEY
5—14. Robbers, Romance and Reggie, C.....1000
5—18. Auntie's Romance, C., and The Nation's Capitol, Ed.....Split Reel
5—21. A Midnight Escapade, C.....1000
5—24. The Hobo Imposter, C.....1000
5—27. O'Brien's Investment, C.....1000
6— 1. Billie's Find, and the Enchanted Matches.....Split Reel
6— 4. Willie the Sleuth, C.....1000
6— 8. Johnny-On-the-Spot, C.....1000
6—11. Two of a Kind, C.....1000

RANCHO
5—12. The School Teacher's Reward, D.....1000
5—19. Their Indian Friend, D.....1000
5—23. Mother's Strategy, D.....1000
6— 2. A Double Reward, D.....1000
6— 9. The Higher Voice, Western D.....1000

SUNSET
5—13. The Son's Sacrifice, D.....2000
5—20. The Mexican Insurrection, D.....2000
5—26. The Mystery at Shallow Creek, D.....1000
6— 3. His Indian Guardian, D.....1000
6—10. The Rustler's Retribution, Western D.1000

SUPREME
5—19. The Birthday Gift, D.....1000
5—22. The Yellow Hound, D.....2000
5—24. The Stone Hammer, D.....1000
5—25. The Village School Master, D.....1000
5—26. The Empty Crib, D.....1000
5—29. The Price He Paid, D.....2000
6— 2. When a Man Weakens, D.....1000
6— 3. The Heart of a Peddler, D.....1000
6— 9. The Two Waifs, D.....1000
6—10. The Eternal Truth, D.....1000

UTAH
5—21. The Wrong Room, D.....1000
5—27. The Indian Child's Gratitude, D.....1000
6— 4. Fate's Decree, D.....1000
6—11. A Squaw's Loyalty, Western D.....1000

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

ANIMATED WEEKLY
Issued every Wednesday.

BIG U
5—25. Corporal Billy's Comeback, D.....2000
5—31. The Attic Princess, D.....1000
6— 1. Brother Jim, D.....1000
6— 8. The Sea Lilly, D.....1000
6—15. Betty's Hobo, Com.-D.....1000

BISON
5—13. A Fight for Love, D.....2000
5—20. Hulda the Silent, D.....2000
5—27. The Wedding Guest, D.....2000
6— 3. Tammany's Tiger, C.....2000
6—10. The Cage Man, D.....2000
6—17. A Railroad Bandit, D.....2000

GOLD SEAL
5—16. Darcy of the Northwest Mounted, D.3000
5—23. The Woman Who Followed Me.....
5—30. The Silent Man of Timber Gulch, D..2000
6— 5. The Rose Colored Scarf, D.....2000
6—13. The Melody of Love, D.....3000

IMP
5— 9. When a Wife Worries, C.....1000
5—10. The Go-Between, D.....1000
5—12. The Capital Prize, D.....2000
5—16. When Slim Picked a Peach, C.....1000
5—21. Claudia, C. 1000
5—23. The Health Road, D.....1000
5—26. The Unconventional Girl, D.....2000
5—30. A Double Fire Deception, C.....1000
6— 2. "Jim Slocum, No. 46,393," D.....2000
6— 5. His Little Story, C.....1000
6—13. Her Wonderful Secret, C.....1000
6—16. The Devil's Image, D.....2000
6—18. A College Boomerang, C.....1000

JOKER
5— 6. A Perfect Match, C.....1000
5—13. A Wife for a Ransom, C.....1000
5—20. A Raffle for a Husband, C.....1000
5—27. A Stage Villain, C.....1000
6— 3. A Dark Suspicion, C.....1000
6—17. Love Quarantined, C.....1000

LAEMMLE
5—18. Grouches and Smiles, C.....1000
5—19. Heartaches, D.....2000
5—30. The Fur Trimmed Coat, D.....1000
6— 1. Two Mothers, D.....2000
6— 4. The Wire Pullers, C.....1000
6— 3. Alias Jane Jones, D.....2000
6—11. The False Gems, D.....1000
6—15. Her Soul's Song, D.....2000
6—18. Romance at Random, C.....1000

L-KO
5—10. The Great Smash, C.....3000
5—17. Baby's Gasoline Glide, C.....1000
5—24. A Busted Honeymoon, C.....1000
5—28. Gamboling on the Green, C.....1000
5—31. Tough Luck on a Rough Sea, C.....2000
6— 7. Billie's Waterloo, C.....1000
6—11. Phony Teeth, and False Friends, C...1000
6—14. How Stars Are Mada, C.....2000

NESTOR
5— 8. Potts Bingles Again, C.....1000
5—12. Never Lie to Your Wife, C.....1000
5—15. He's a Devil, C.....3000
4—20. The Royland Villain, and Ed...Split Reel
5—22. Her Celluloid Hero, C.....1000
5—26. Love and Brass Buttons, C.....1000
5—20. All Over a Stocking, C.....1000
6— 2. Good Night Nurse, C.....1000
6— 6. Never Again Eddie, C.....1000
6— 9. Twixt Love and the Iceman, C.....1000
6—12. Their Awful Predicament, C.....1000
6—16. Almost a Widow, C.....1000

POWERS
5—18. A Toyland Robbery, and Ed...Split Reel
5—20. Their Social Smash, C.....1000
5—25. Mr. Fuller Pep—He Dabbles in the Pond, Cart., and Classic Dances, Vaud. .....Split Reel
5—27. Storming the Trenches, C.....1000
6— 1. It Can't Be True, C.....1000
6— 8. Mr. Fuller Pep—He Breaks for the Beach, Cart. and Pygmies of the Zoo, Ed.....Split Reel
6—10. Betrayed by the Camera, C.....1000
6—15. Prof. Wiseguy's Trip to the Moon, Cart., and Little Journeys in Japan, Sc. .....Split Reel

REX
5— 9. Virginia, D.....1000
5—14. A Soul for Sale, D.....3000
5—18. A Wife at Bay, D.....2000
5—21. Love Triumphant, D.....2000
5—23. "Virginia," D.....1000
5—26. Harmony in a Flat, C.....1000
5—28. A Gentle Volunteer, D.....3000
6— 3. A Cad, D.....1000
6— 4. As in a Dream, D.....3000
6— 9. The Code of His Ancestors, D.....1000
6—11. The Sheriff of Pine Mountain, D 2000
6—18. The Finer Metal, D.....2000

VICTOR
5—12. A Strange Confession, D.....1000
5—17. The Three Wishes, D.....1000
5—24. The Limousine Mystery, D.....2000
6— 7. Object—Matrimony, C.....2000
6— 9. The Scorpion's Sting, D.....3000
6—16. The Golden Boot, C.....1000

"Motion Pictures that are Worth While"

So says the New York Evening Post.

"Pictures that might have been made by Rudyard Kipling," writes the New York Evening Sun.

And every other New York Paper without exception echoes these sentiments.

An unqualified success! Hundreds turned away at each performance!

"HOW BRITAIN PREPARED"

Official English Film.

Showing how 5,000,000 civilian volunteers were transformed into an efficient Army in eighteen months and also wonderful and unique motion pictures of

ADMIRAL JELLICOE'S GRAND FLEET ON GUARD AND IN ACTION

Pictures made on the flagship "Iron Duke," the "Queen Elizabeth" and other warships involved in the recent fight with the Germans by Charles Urban, the only civilian permitted to take such photographs.

A TWO HOURS AND A QUARTER ENTERTAINMENT

UNITED STATES RIGHTS CONTROLLED BY

THE PATRIOT FILM CORPORATION

729 SEVENTH AVENUE, NEW YORK AL LICHTMAN, General Manager

Correspondence With First-class Theatres Invited.

P. S.—This is the "Psychological Moment" to show these pictures. They present real men and real women doing real things for a tragically real purpose. And for America they are a powerful incentive to Preparedness, the Issue of the Hour. See how the audiences go wild with patriotic enthusiasm at every showing.

FEATURE RELEASES—CURRENT AND COMING

Bluebird Photoplays

5— 1. The Crippled Hand (Ella Hall)...5 parts
5— 8. The Glided Spider (Louise Lovely).5 parts
5—15. Elusive Isabel (Florence Lawrence)6 parts
5—22. A Son of the Immortals (J. Warren Kerrigan).....5 parts
5—29. Naked Hearts (Rupert Julian).....5 parts
6— 5. The Eye of God (Tyrone Power and Lois Weber).....5 parts
6—12. Bobbie of the Ballet (Louise Lovely). .....5 reels
6—19. The Three Godfathers (All star cast). .....5 reels
6—26. Shoes (Mary McDonald).....5 reels

Fox Film Corporation

4— 3. Blue Blood and Red.....5 reels
4—10. Slander .....5 reels
4—17. A Modern Thelma.....5 reels
4—24. A Man of Sorrow.....5 reels
5— 1. Blazing Love.....5 reels
5— 8. The Eternal Sapho.....5 reels
5—15. Sins of Men.....5 reels
5—22. Battle of Hearts.....5 reels
5—29. The Spider and the Fly.....5 reels
6— 5. Hypocrisy. .....5 reels
6—12. A Woman's Honor.....5 reels

Ivan Feature Productions

1—Forbidden Fruit (Everett Butterfield and Paula Shay).....5 reels
2—A Fool's Paradise (Chrystine Mayo, Paula Shay, and Joseph Burke)....6 reels
3—The Immoral Flame (Maude Fealy)...5 reels
4—The City of Illusion (Paula Shay and Mignon Anderson).....6 reels
5.—Her Husband's Wife (Sally Crute, Mignon Anderson and Augustus Phillips). .....5 reels

Kleine-Edison Feature Service

EDISON

1—12. The Catspaw.....5 reels
1—26. The Innocence of Ruth.....5 reels
2— 9. The Martyrdom of Philip Strong..5 reels
2—23. At the Rainbow's End.....5 reels

GEO. KLEINE

1—19. Wild Oats.....5 reels
2— 2. The Final Curtain.....5 reels
2— 9. When Love is King.....5 reels
2—16. The Scarlet Road.....5 reels
3— 1. The Mishaps of Musty Suffer.....10 reels

Metro Pictures Corporation

F. A. BALSHOFER

4—24. The Come-Back (Harold Lockwood and May Allison).....5 reels
6—12. The Masked Rider (Harold Lockwood and May Allison).....5 reels

COLUMBIA PICTURES CORPORATION

3—13. Lovely Mary (Mary Miles Minter).5 reels
4— 3. The Kiss of Hate (Ethel Barrymore)5 reels
4—10. The Half Million Bribe (Hamilton Revelle and Marguerite Snow)...5 reels
5—22. Notorious Gallaghar (William Nigh and Marguerite Snow).....5 reels

POPULAR PLAYS AND PLAYERS

4—17. Playing with Fire (Mme. Petrova).5 reels
5—29. The Scarlet Woman (Mme. Petrova)5 reels
5—15. The Spell of the Yukon (Edmund Breese) .....5 reels

B. A. ROLFE PHOTOPLAYS, INC.

3—20. Her Great Price (Mabel Taliaferro)5 reels
5— 1. The Snow Bird (Mabel Taliaferro).5 reels
6— 5. Dorian's Divorce (Lionel Barrymore and Grace Valentine).....5 reels
6—19. The Flower of No-Man's-Land (Viola Dana).....5 reels

QUALITY PICTURES

3—27. The Wall Between (Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne)...5 reels
5— 8. A Million a Minute (Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne)....5 reels

Mutual Masterpictures

DE LUXE EDITION
Week of May 29, 1916.

No. 105. The Man from Manhattan (Wm. Stowell and Rhea Mitchell), American .....5 reels
No. 106. Other People's Money (Gladys Hulette), Thanhouser.....5 reels
Week of June 5, 1916.
No. 107. Whispering Smith (Helen Holmes), Signal.....5 reels
No. 108. Soul Mates (William Russell), American. .....5 reels
Week of June 12, 1916.
No. 109. The Inner Struggle, American...5 reels
No. 110. The Abandonment (E. Forrest Taylor and Helene Rosson), American. .....5 reels
No. 111. The Wasted Years (Crane Wilbur), Centaur.....5 reels
No. 112. Far from the Madding Crowd (Florence Turner), Turner.....5 reels

Paramount Pictures

FAMOUS PLAYERS

5— 4. The Red Window (John Barrymore)5 reels
5—15. The Trust (Hazel Dawn).....5 reels
5—25. Saints and Sinners (Peggy Hyland).5 reels
5—29. (Title Not Decided), (Marguerite Clark). .....5 reels
6— 5. The Evil Thereof (All Star Cast)..5 reels
6—12. Her Romance (Marguerite Clark)..5 reels
6—15. Destiny's Toy (Louise Huff).....5 reels
6—22. Susie Snowflake (Anna Pennington and Wm. Courtleigh, Jr.). .....5 reels
6—26. The World's Great Snare (Pauline Frederick). .....5 reels

JESSE LASKY COMPANY

5— 8. Maria Rosa (Geraldine Farrar)....5 reels
5—11. Alien Souls (Sessue Hayakawa)...5 reels
5—22. The Frameup (Blanche Sweet)....5 reels
6— 1. The Gutter Magdalene (Fannie Ward). .....5 reels
6—19. The Clown (Victor Moore).....5 reels

MOROSCO PHOTOPLAY COMPANY

5—18. Pasquale (George Beban).....5 reels

PALLAS

4— 3. Heart of Paula (Leonore Ulrich)..5 reels
5— 1. David Garrick (Dustin Farnum)...5 reels
6— 8. The Making of Maddalena (Edna Goodrich). .....5 reels
6—29. The American Beauty (Myrtle Stedman). .....5 reels

Triangle Film Corporation

KAY-BEE-INCE PRODUCTIONS

4—30. The Beggar of Cawnpore (H. B. Warner). .....6 reels
5— 7. The No-Good Guy (William Collier)5 reels
5—14. Not My Sister (Bessie Barriscale)5 reels
5—21. The Primal Lure (Wm. S. Hart)..5 reels
5—28. The Market of Vain Desire (H. B. Warner). .....5 reels
6— 4. The Bugle Call (Wm. Collier, Jr.)..5 reels
6—11. The Sorrows of Love (Bessie Barriscale). .....5 reels

FINE ARTS-GRIFFITH PRODUCTIONS

4—30. The Children in the House (Norma Talmadge). .....5 reels
5— 7. The Good Bad-Man (Douglas Fairbanks). .....5 reels
5—14. Susan Rocks the Boat (Dorothy Gish). .....5 reels
5—21. A Child of the Paris Streets (Mae Marsh and Robert Harron).....5 reels
5—28. Mr. Goode the Samaritan (DeWolf Hopper). .....5 reels
6— 4. Going Straight (Norma Talmadge).5 reels
6—11. Reggie Mixes In (Douglas Fairbanks). .....5 reels

KEYSTONE-SENNETT PRODUCTIONS

4—23. The Snow Cure (Ford Sterling)....2 reels
4—23. A Rough Knight (Shorty Hamilton)2 reels
4—30. The Lion and the Girl (Joe Jackson)2 reels
4—30. His Bitter Pill (Mack Swain).....2 reels
5— 7. Her Marble Heart (Charles Murray).2 reels
5— 7. A Dash of Courage (Harry Gribbon). .....2 reels

Red Feather Productions

4—17. Her Bitter Cup (Cleo Madison)....5 reels
4—24. Thrown to the Lions (Mary Fuller)5 reels
5— 1. Dr. Neighbor (Hobart Bosworth)..5 reels
5— 8. A Huntress of Men (Mary Fuller).5 reels
5—15. A Youth of Fortune (Carter and Flora Parker De Haven).....5 reels
5—22. Half a Rogue (King Baggot).....5 reels
5—29. The Iron Hand (Hobart Bosworth and Jane Novak).....5 reels
6— 5. The Madcap (Flora Parker De-Haven). .....5 reels
6—12. What Love Can Do (Adele Farrington). .....5 reels

Vitagraph-Lubin-Selig-Essanay

HEARST-VITAGRAPH NEWS PICTORIAL
Issued every Tuesday and Friday.

VITAGRAPH

4—24. God's Country and the Woman (Nell Shipman, Geo. Holt and Wm. Duncan).....8 reels
5— 1. The Law Decides (Dorothy Kelly, Bobby Connelly, Harry Morey and Louise Beaudet).....7 reels
5— 8. Britton of the Seventh (Charles Kent, Bobby Connelly and Eulalie Jensen). .....5 reels
5—15. The Ordeal of Elizabeth (Lillian Walker, Donald Hall and Evart Overton). .....6 reels
5—22. The Suspect (Anita Stewart).....6 reels
5—29. The Lights of New York (Leah Baird and Walter McGrail).....5 reels
6— 5. The Destroyers (Lucille Lee Stewart). .....5 reels
6—12. The Redemption of Dave Darcy, (James Morrison). .....5 reels

LUBIN

4—10. The Flames Johannis (Nance O'Neill). .....5 reels
5— 8. Love's Toll (Rosetta Brice and Richard Buhler).....5 reels
6— 5. Those Who Toil (Nance O'Neil)..5 reels

SELIG

3—20. The Ne'er-Do-Well (Kathlyn Williams and Wheeler Oakman)....10 reels
4— 3. The Cycle of Fate (Bessie Eyton, Wheeler Oakman and Edith Johnson). .....5 reels
5— 1. At Piney Ridge (Fritzi Brunnette).5 reels
5—29. Into the Primitive (Kathlyn Williams, Guy Oliver and Harry Lonsdale). .....5 reels

ESSANAY

4—10. Burlesque on Carmen (Charlie Chaplin). .....4 reels
4—24. The Little Shepherd of Bargain Row (Sallie Fisher, John Junior and Richard C. Travers).....5 reels
5—15. Sherlock Holmes (William Gilette).7 reels
6—12. That Sort (Warda Howard, Ernest Maupain, Duncan McRae and John Lorenz). .....5 reels

World-Equitable Program

WORLD

4—24. The Closed Road (House Peters and Barbara Tennant).....5 parts
5— 1. The Feast of Life (Clara Kimball Young). .....5 parts
5— 8. Her Maternal Right (Kitty Gordon)5 parts
5—15. Sudden Riches (Robert Warwick).5 parts
5—22. Tangled Fates (Alice Brady).....5 parts
5—29. Fate's Boomerang (Mollie King)..5 reels
6— 5. His Brother's Wife (Ethel Clayton and Carlyle Blackwell).....5 reels
6—12. Perils of Divorce (Edna Wallace Hopper and Frank Sheridan)..5 reels
6—19. La Boheme (Alice Brady).....5 reels
6—26. What Happened at 22 (Frances Nelson and Arthur Ashley).....5 reels

To All Manufacturers and Distributors of Feature Films:

On behalf of

WILLIAMSON-WADDINGTON PICTURES, LTD., OF AUSTRALASIA, whom I represent exclusively in this country, I beg to announce that they (WILLIAMSON-WADDINGTON PICTURES, LTD.) are at all times prepared to consider and arrange for the purchase each week of significant feature films of the best and most attractive type, requiring at least fifty-two (52) big features yearly, for Australia and New Zealand. If you are prepared to deal with me here, to supply their requirements, I will be glad to hear from you at once, as to what you have to offer, what arrangements you would propose, and upon what terms, etc.

I am fully authorized and prepared to conclude all such business for this concern by direct dealing here in America, rather than through any foreign office or connection.

Address: WALTER C. JORDAN
(AGENT FOR WILLIAMSON-WADDINGTON PICTURES, LTD.)
Empire Theatre Bldg., 1432 Broadway, N. Y.

(ALSO SOLE AMERICAN AGENT FOR J. C. WILLIAMSON, LTD., OF AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND)

MAIN OFFICE
SAN FRANCISCO
234 EDDY ST.
CALIFORNIA

EASTERN REPRESENTATIVE
LEON D. NETTER
1325 VINE ST.
PHILADELPHIA PA.

SOL L. LESSER
MOVING PICTURE FILMS

MOTION PICTURE RIGHTS PURCHASED FOR THE PACIFIC COAST

ALL STAR FEATURES DISTRIBUTORS, Inc.
AND
GOLDEN GATE FILM EXCHANGE, Inc.

BRANCH
LOS ANGELES
514 WEST 8TH ST.
CALIFORNIA

ORRIN DENNY

Superintendent
SIGNAL FILM LABORATORIES

Laboratory Expert
Negative Specialist

4560 Pasadena Avenue
Los Angeles, Cal.

MANUFACTURERS

Incorporated concern with modern film and office equipment, prepared to furnish same, as well as required bond and references with regard to business responsibility, wishes to represent weekly program and feature films as distributors for Texas, where we have transacted business with every-worthwhile theatre for the last five years. Correspondence invited.

Box 28, Motion Picture News, 729 Seventh Ave., New York

THE FROHMAN AMUSEMENT CORPORATION

Producing successful dramas re-enacted before the recording eye of the camera by actors and under directors who have created artistic and box office successes in the "legitimate."

EIGHTEEN EAST FORTY-FIRST STREET, NEW YORK

WILLIAM L. SHERRILL, President

State Rights and Miscellaneous Releases

ALL FEATURES BOOKING AGENCY
Right Off the Bat.....5 reels

AMERICAN COMMERCIAL FILM CO.
Animated Cartoons.....

AMERICAN CORRESPONDENT FILM CO.
The Battles of a Nation.....6 parts

AUTHORS FILM CO., INC.
3—27. Sins of the Father.....4 parts
4— 3. Her Redemption.....4 parts
4—10. Denise .....4 parts
4—17. Love's Sacrifice.....6 parts
4—24. A Woman's Awakening.....5 parts
5— 1. Under the Mask.....5 parts

CALIFORNIA MOTION PICTURE CORPORATION
March—The Unwritten Law (Beatriz Michelena).....7 reels
May —The Woman Who Dared (Beatriz Michelena).....7 reels
July —Kismet (Otis Skinner).....10 reels

CELEBRATED PLAYERS' FILM CO.
The Birth of a Man.....5 parts

CHAMPION SPORTS EXHIBITION
Willard-Moran Fight.....4 parts

CHICAGO TRIBUNE
German Side of War.....5 reels
Russian Side of War.....4 reels

CLARIDGE FILMS, INC.
Heart of New York.....5 reels

COSMOFOTOFILM COMPANY
Incomparable Mistress Bellairs..4 parts
Liberty Hall.....4 parts
The Black Spot.....4 parts
Victoria Cross.....4 parts
O 18.....4 parts
His Vindication.....5 parts

E. & R. JUNGLE FILM CO.
No. 10. Haunted.
No. 11. Have a Heart.
No. 12. It Made a Monkey of Him.
No. 13. Two Chimps and a Chump.
No. 14. Twin Cupids.
No. 15. Aunt Hepsey's Heir.
No. 16. Oil of Revolution.
No. 17. Who's It?

E-K-O FILM CO.
The Invisible Enemy.....5 reels

ELDORADO FEATURE FILM CO.
The Impersonation .....5 reels

FORREST FILM CORPORATION
Bottom of the Sea.....5 reels

JOS. W. FARNHAM
Race Suicide .....6 parts
The Awakening of Bess Morton..5 reels

GREAT NORTHERN FILM COMPANY
Sins of Great Cities (E. Thomsen).4 reels
The Man with the Missing Finger (Alfred Hertel).....4 reels
For Her Son (Betty Nansen)....4 reels
A Woman's Honor (Elsie Frolich)4 reels
The Folly of Sin.....5 reels
The Mother Who Paid.....5 reels

HANOVER FILMS
Marvellous Macist.....6 parts
Should a Baby Die?.....5 parts

ESKAY HARRIS FEATURE FILM
Alice in Wonderland.....6 parts

HIPPODROME FILM CO.
At the Front with the Allies.....

HERALD FILM CORPORATION
3—27. Charlie's White Elephant, C. Cart..1 reel
4— 3. Charlie's Barnyard Pets, C. Cart...1 reel
4—10. Charlie the Busy Barber, C. Cart..1 reel
4—17. Charlie the Animal Trainer, Com. Cart. .....1 reel
4—24. Charlie's Jitney Hunt, Com. Cart..1 reel
5— 1. Charlie Prepared, Com. Cart.....1 reel

JUVENILE FILM CORPORATION
4— 1. World War in Kidland.....1 reel
4— 8. A Chip Off the Old Block.....1 reel
4—15. Chip's Elopement.....1 reel
4—22. Chip's Backyard Barn-Stormers....2 reels
4—29. Chip's Rivals.....1 reel
5—13. For Sale a Daddy.....1 reel
5—27. Chip's Carmen.....2 reels

KULEE FEATURES
Germany on the Firing Line.....6 parts

MODERN MOTHERHOOD LEAGUE
Twilight Sleep .....

B. S. MOSS
Three Weeks.....5 reels
Salamander .....5 reels
One Day.....5 reels

F. O. NIELSEN
Guarding Old Glory.....5 reels
Just Out of College.....5 reels
Little Sunset.....4 reels
The Spoilers.....9 reels
All for a Girl.....5 reels

PHOTODRAMA COMPANY
How Molly Made Good.....6 reels

PROHIBITION FILM CORPORATION
Prohibition .....5 parts

RAVER FILM CO.
The Other Girl.....5 reels
Life Without Soul.....5 reels
The Fortunate Youth.....
Driftwood .....

RAY COMEDIES
6—21. Casey's Dream.....
6—28. Casey's Kids.....

RIALTO FILM CO.
The House of Mirrors.....

STANDARD NEWS FILM, INC.
Standard Travelogues.....32 parts
Are We Ready?.....4 parts
The Animal World.....5 parts
Navies of the World.....1 reel
The Price of Liberty.....5 reels
Aircraft .....1 reel

SUN PHOTOPLAY CO., INC.
The Princess of India.....5 reels
A Woman Wills.....5 reels

SUPREME FILM CO.
The Cowpuncher.....6 parts

TRANS-OCEANIC FILMS, INC.
The Life and Adventures of Shakespeare. .....6 parts

UNITY SALES CORP.
5—29. Diana (Colored).....3 parts
6— 5. My Country First.....6 parts
6—12. The Pursuing Vengeance.....5 parts
6—19. The Bishop's Secret.....4 parts

VARIETY FILMS CORPORATION
Unto the Darkness.....4 reels
In the Ranks.....4 reels
Harbour Lights.....4 reels
Enoch Arden.....4 reels
Mysterious Man of the Jungle.....3 reels

WAR FILM SYNDICATE
On the Firing Line with the Germans .....6 parts

MISCELLANEOUS

EDUCATIONAL FILMS CORP., OF AMERICA
The Film Hunters.....1 reel
The Yarn of the Slowern'ell.....1 reel
In the Hanging Glacier Country...1 reel
The Sunset Trail.....1 reel
The Trail to Cloudy Pass.....1 reel
The Stampede .....1 reel
American Game Trails.....1 reel

"THE BEACON FILMS," INC.
Somewhere in Brittany.
Sea Anemones.
Life in Egypt.
Offering of Flowers.
Gorges of the Bourne.
Animal Studies.
In the land of the Hellenes.
Portugese types and costumes.
In the Land of the Rising Sun.
Curious Creations of Pond Life.

METRO PICTURES CORPORATION
Metro-Drew Comedies (weekly).
Metro Travelogues (weekly).

MUTT AND JEFF FILMS
ANIMATED CARTOONS
1. Jeff's Toothache.
2. Mutt and Jeff in the Submarine.

PARAMOUNT PICTURES CORPORATION
PARAMOUNT PICTOGRAPHS (WEEKLY)
BURTON HOLMES TRAVEL PICTURES
4—10. Bilibid, the "Sing Sing" of the Philippines.
4—17. The Pasig River (The Filipino River).
4—24. The Lowlands of Luzon.

BRAY CARTOONS
4—27. Col. Heeza Liar Wins the Pennant.
5— 3. Al Falfa's Scientific Diary.
5—10. A Toyland Paper Chase.
5—17. Bobby Bumps and His Goatmobile.
5—24. Kid Casey the Champion.

PATHE EXCHANGE, INC.
Pathé travels (See Pathé).

UNIVERSAL
Uncle Sam at Work (See Powers Universal).

VARIETY FILMS CORPORATION
Upper Bavarian Mountain Lakes.
In the Land of the Hindoos.
Victoria Falls.
Should a Baby Die?.....5 reels

VITAGRAPH (V. L. S. E.)
FRANK DANIELS' COMEDIES
5— 1. Mr. Jack Hires a Stenographer.
5— 8. Mr. Jack, His Dukeship (End of the Jack Series).
5—15. Kernel Nutt Wins a Wife.
5—22. Kernel Nutt the Janitor.
5—29. Kernel Nutt the Footman.
6— 5. Kernel Nutt and the Hundred Dollar Bill.
6—12. Kernel Nutt in Mexico.....

SERIALS

The Girl and the Game.....Signal Film
The Secret of the Submarine.....Signal
Peg o' the Ring.....Universal
Mary Page, The strange Case of..Essanay
The Social Pirates.....Kalem
The Iron Claw.....Pathé
Who's Guilty? .....Pathé
The Mysteries of Myra.....International Film Service
Gloria's Romance.....Kleine

Wait a Minute!

Just because a picture contains only one thousand feet of film, don't get the idea that it is merely a filler.

The comedies made by the E. & R. Jungle Film Company featuring

"NAPOLEON" and "SALLY"

are one reel Features.

Properly handled they will prove one of your greatest drawing cards. They are a sure cure for a sick box office. Try them. Write or wire for particulars.

E. & R. JUNGLE FILM COMPANY, 1720 North Soto Street, Los Angeles, Cal.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE

Two foot Warne Compensarcs, slightly used, good condition. Address L. E. Lemon, Aurora, Ill.

Exhibitors

If your pictures have the least flicker or lack of brilliancy, get a NUIDEA 6 in 1 Combination Shutter. New Invention Surprising Results. Does the business. Guaranteed. Price $4.00.
Wm. Rehfuss Mfg. Co., La Crosse, Wis.

WANTED

Representative to handle the feature "Guarding Old Glory," in Oklahoma. Bond, Refs., Required. Southern Film Service Company, 315 Carondelet, New Orleans, La.

ARE YOU A LIVE WIRE?

Then Write Us at Once. Big Money in Taking Motion Pictures for News, Advertising, and Home Talent. We Are the Lowest Priced House in the Country Selling Motion Picture Cameras. Write for Information. We Are Specialists in Equipping Beginners. Describe Your Locality. We Will Tell You if It Can Be Made to Pay. A few Sample Bargains.
Ernemann, 200 ft. capacity, Seasoned Oak Case, Ernemann F: 3.5 Anastigmat lens. Our price, $62.50. Williamson M. P. Camera, 100 ft. capacity, teakwood case, F: 6 lens. Our price including sole leather carrying case, $55.00. Phantoscope M. P. Camera, 200 ft. capacity, magazines side by side, fine mechanism, Carl Zeiss F: 3.5 lens. Our price with carrying case, $87.50. Professional Kino, 200 ft. capacity, teakwood case. Film register to 200 ft. regular spindle, trick spindle, English Claw movement with balance-wheel insuring a rock steady picture. Fitted with 50 M. M. B. & L. Zeiss Tessar lens F: 3.5 in focusing mount. Our price, $125.00. Williamson Professional M. P. Camera, 400 ft. capacity, regular and trick crank, direct focusing, two lenses. 2-inch and 3-inch Zeiss Tessar F: 3.5, 5 magazines and two carrying cases, our price, $175.00.
Write us today.
DAVID STERN CO.
1047 E. Madison St. Chicago, Ill.
In business since 1885.

The advertising you get from your electric sign in the day time is free. The advertising you get at night with a Federal sign is unsurpassed.
FEDERAL SIGN SYSTEM
(ELECTRIC)
Lake & Desplaines Streets, CHICAGO.

CAILLE
Ticket Office Equipments
Embody Ticket Sellers, Ticket Choppers, Change Makers, Theatre Record Ledgers and Theatre Tickets. Catalog on request.
Caille Bros. Co., 1003 Amsterdam Ave., Detroit, Mich.

AIRDOME BENCHES
made of seasoned Maple lumber, any length desired. All leading makes of moving picture machines. Operating booths that pass inspection. New and slightly used. Get our prices before buying elsewhere. All orders filled same day as received.
LEARS THEATRE SUPPLY CO.,
509 Chestnut St. St. Louis, Mo.

OPERA CHAIRS

Complete Line
Prompt Shipments
Write for Catalogue with Direct Factory Prices
PEABODY SCHOOL FURNITURE CO.
802 W. Fourth Street, North Manchester, Ind.

Motion Picture News

HAS THE QUALITY CIRCULATION OF THE TRADE

TABLE OF CONTENTS

A SUBSTITUTE FOR CENSORSHIP..... 3715
EDITORIALS 3716
"Civilization" Makes Profound Impression in East..... 3717
American Film Company Opens Office in New York..... 3719
"We Need Proper Regulation"—Rowland..... 3721
Completion of Fiftieth Cub Celebrated at Horsley..... 3718
Brooklyn League Wants Ochs President of National Body 3718
Lubin Gains Victory Over Pennsylvania Censors..... 3720
Picture People Win Over Funkhouser..... 3720
Clayton to Appear in Series of Three-Reel Essanays..... 3720
World Ready to Buy Scripts..... 3721
Leads in "Julius Caesar" Taken by Prominent Film Folk 3722
Women's League Pins Medal on V-L-S-E..... 3722
Policy of Stars in Short Lengths Profits General..... 3723
Ivan Calls Meeting of Exchangemen..... 3723
Elaborate Presentation of "Macbeth" Made at Rialto.... 3723
"Gloria's Romance" Proves a Magnet..... 3724
Rialto Elects Officers in Detroit..... 3724
Universal Gets Rights to Dorsey Travel Pictures..... 3724
California Lets Cat Out of the Bag..... 3726
Selig Stars in Long and Short Films Successful..... 3726
Pennsylvania Meeting in Pittsburgh Probably a Big Event 3727
Reel Fellows in Chicago Have Membership Near 200..... 3728
No Lessening of Kalem Activities in Summer..... 3728
Omaha's First Ball Promotes Friendly Feeling..... 3729
Feature Comedies from Melies for General..... 3729
Farrar Off to Coast on Delayed Honeymoon..... 3748
General Manager of Progressive Boosts Western Exhibitor 3750
Rubinstein Resigns from Thanhouser Publicity..... 3750
Berst Punctures Dream Bubble of Authors' Union..... 3755
Selznick Secures Five Acres of Meadow and Woodland.. 3757
Big Operatic Spectacles from Dixon..... 3758
Gaumont Players Arrive on S.S. Comanche..... 3758
"How Britain Prepared" is Near-War Film..... 3761
Over Nine Hundred See "Myra" in Chicago..... 3761
Norma Talmadge Likes Studio Lights Better Than Footlights. 3762

DEPARTMENTS

Live Wire Exhibitors..... 3730
Looking Ahead with the Producers..... 3732
The Eastern Studios..... 3735
In and Out of West Coast Studios..... 3738
Film News from Foreign Parts..... 3749
Among the Exchanges..... 3751
New Laws and Court Decisions..... 3754
Just to Make Talk..... 3755

SCREEN EXAMINATIONS

A Gutter Magdalene (Lasky-Paramount)..... 3765
Evil Thereof, The (Famous Players-Paramount)..... 3767
Fireman, The (Mutual-Chaplin)..... 3769
How Britain Prepared (Patriot Film Corp.)..... 3770
His Brother's Wife (Premo-World)..... 3765
Hypocrisy (William Fox)..... 3771
It Happened in Honolulu (Red Feather-Universal)..... 3768
Innocent Magdalene, An (Fine Arts-Triangle)..... 3770
Inner Struggle, The (American-M.M.P.)..... 3771
Lotus Woman, The (Kalem)..... 3769
Making of Maddelena, The (Morosco-Paramount)..... 3767
Man from Nowhere, The (Bluebird)..... 3766
Macbeth (Reliance)..... 3772
Moonshiners, The (Keystone-Triangle)..... 3769
Mutt and Jeff in the Big League (Mutt and Jeff)..... 3768
Notorious Gallagher (Columbia-Metro)..... 3767
Stained Pearl, The (Knickerbocker-General)..... 3770
Snowbird, The (Metro)..... 3770
Three Godfathers, The (Bluebird)..... 3768
The Dividend (Kay Bee-Triangle)..... 3766
General Reviews..... 3772
Mutual Reviews..... 3772
Universal Reviews..... 3773
Release Charts.....3776, 3777, 3778, 3782, 3784

ACCESSORY NEWS SECTION

Motion Picture Projection Simplified..... 3789
Projection 3792
The Camera 3798
Music and the Picture..... 3800
Building and Furnishings..... 3803

THE BEST PICTURES AT THE LOWEST PRICES
Large Hand Colored Pictures of the Players 11 x 14, 25c. each, $1.85 per dozen if you order now.
Write and ask how to keep your house crowded at every performance.
R. K. STANBURY, Fuller Bldg., New York

TransVerteR
Automatically supplies only such voltage as arc requires. No waste of current in ballast.
HERTNER ELECTRIC & MFG. CO.
432 Prospect Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, U. S. A.

Experienced and Reliable
CAMERA MEN
at Your Immediate Disposal
RAPID, EFFICIENT SERVICE
Cinema Camera Club, 1006 Times Building
'Phone Bryant 6558 New York City

"All eyes on a line"
FOCO
Adjustable Opera Chair
Can be changed from adult's chair to child's chair by pressing catch and raising. Write for booklet.
Family Opera Chair Organization, St. Louis, Mo.

MENGER & RING, Inc.
Manufacturers of
POSTER and LOBBY DISPLAY FRAMES
504 W. 42nd Street New York

Goes
POSTERS—Everywhere
Offices—Chicago and New York

AMERICAN STANDARD
MOTION PICTURE MACHINE DURABLE
110 W. 40TH STREET, NEW YORK

Speedco
Arc Controller
HELPING TO PROTECT
"CIVILIZATION"
Criterion Theatre
New York
Speed Controller Company, Inc.
257-259 William Street NEW YORK

Accessory News

SECTION OF MOTION PICTURE NEWS DEVOTED TO THE
CONSTRUCTION, EQUIPMENT AND OPERATION OF THEATRE, EXCHANGE AND STUDIO

JUST A MOMENT PLEASE

(The operator is in trouble)

MR. EXHIBITOR:

Can you afford to have this slide flashed on your screen continuously?

Help your operator overcome this by installing a Late Model MOTIOGRAPH. It is the machine that will fit your needs.

In performance—Low Maintenance Cost and Service it has no equal.

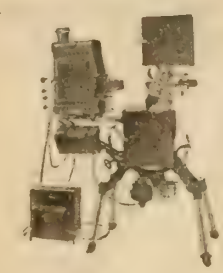
Ask your dealer about the Late Model MOTIOGRAPH.

If he has none on his floor to show you, write us.

THE ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MFG. CO.

568 WEST RANDOLPH STREET - - CHICAGO, ILL.

Western Office: 833 Market St., San Francisco, Cal.

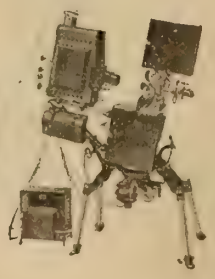


"SIXTEEN YEARS OF KNOWING HOW"

A PROJECTION MACHINE

CAN BE NO BETTER THAN ITS

INTERMITTENT MOVEMENT



A RADICAL ADVANCE IN "INTERMITTENT" DESIGN AND CONSTRUCTION IS THE MEMORABLE ACHIEVEMENT THAT HAS PLACED

POWER'S CAMERAGRAPH

IN ITS PRESENT PRE-EMINENT POSITION

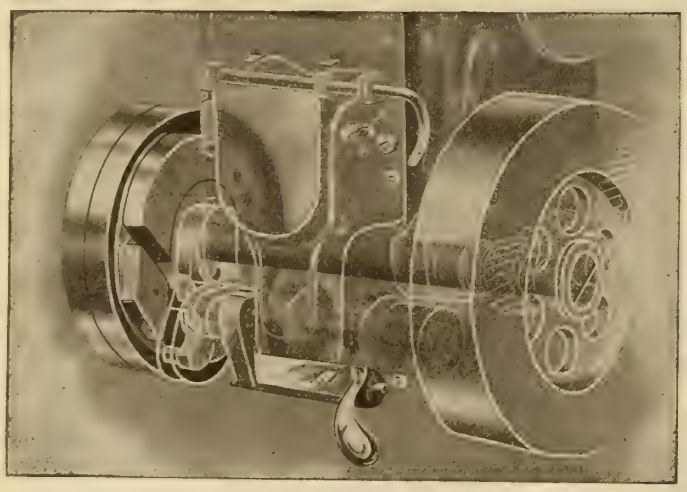


FIG. 1

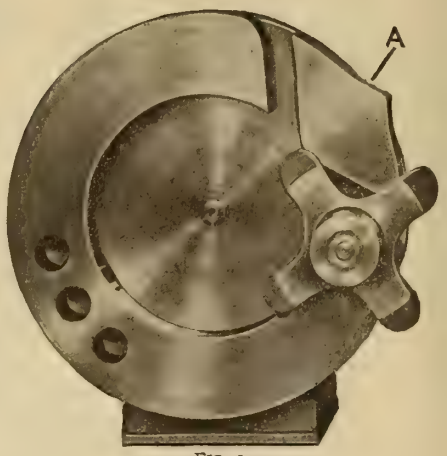

FIG. 2

Perfect Projection of motion pictures made possible by the only basicly different rotary intermittent movement in over 300 years, applicable to use in projection machines.

Fig. 1 is a phantom view of the Movement complete. Its very appearance bespeaks the strength and durability which distinguish it above all other movements.

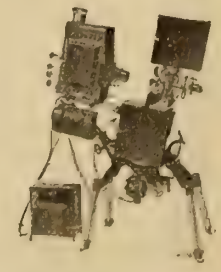
Fig. 2 shows a frontal view of the important elements. At Point A will be seen the unique shape of the driving cam by which maximum speed is obtained in changing from one picture to another, with minimum wear on the film.

THE WHOLE COMBINES FOR STEADY FLICKERLESS PICTURES

Catalogue D Gives Full Details

NICHOLAS POWER COMPANY

NINETY GOLD ST. NEW YORK



Construction, Equipment and Operation

Accessory News

Section of Motion Picture News

Everything for Theatre, Exchange and Studio

Motion Picture Projection Simplified

By J. H. Hallberg

99 — Having studied the straight single core and "U" core type choke-coils with either one or two separate windings for choke-coils, is there any other form of core used for choke-coil design and construction?

Ans. — From the view point of the manufacturer who often times does not make up a sufficient quantity of choke-coils to warrant the making of special dies for punching the core laminations, the straight core or "U" core construction is the cheaper and simpler proposition. Either the straight core or the "U" core gives, under normal conditions, entirely satisfactory results and are the types generally used.

In the accompanying Fig. 49, there is illustrated what is known as the "W" core which is thus termed on account of the fact that the shape of the core looks like a "W."

In referring to Fig. 49 we observe at once that the center part of the core is practically twice as large as the two side cores which extend from the lower part of the core body.

The coil or windings are mounted upon the center core and the dotted lines indicate the magnetic flux through the core legs.

100—Why is the middle leg of the "W" core made of twice as large cross section as the side legs?

Ans.—If you will stop and think, you will realize that the magnetizing coil being mounted upon the central leg and having a given number of turns and amperes flowing, creates a certain number of magnetic lines of force. For a given number of magnetic lines of force and for a given purpose, the center core must therefore be of a cross section, capable of carrying the total magnetic flux generated by the coil without undue crowding and consequent overheating.

Following the dotted lines we find that after leaving the central core, they divide, one-half going through each one of the outside legs, which on that account can necessarily be made one-half the cross section of the center leg.

The form of choke-coil construction gives perhaps the very best balanced magnetic distribution and a coil designed and constructed with this type of core, gives perfect regulation, but it requires special dies and tools for manufacturing a choke-coil of this description and on this account it is not commonly used.

It is evident that on account of the comparatively large radiating surface and uniform distribution of the magnetism, the "W" type core works at very low temperature and with the least possible vibration and unbalance.

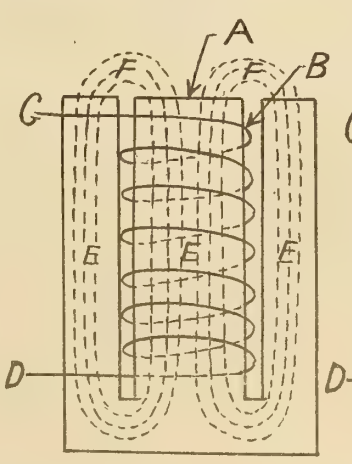


Fig. 49

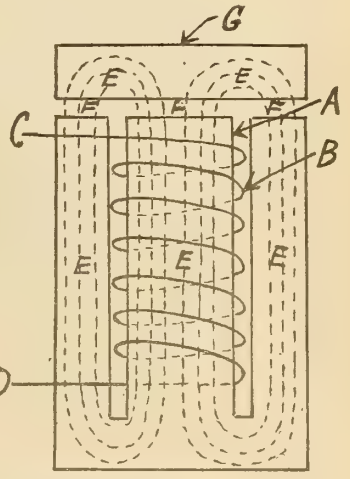

Fig. 50

The choking or reactive effect of a coil designed along the lines illustrated in Fig. 49, can be varied by moving the coil or the core relative to each other in a similar manner as has been described for the regular straight or "U" core types.

101—How may the reactive effect of a "W" type core choke-coil be increased or decreased without increasing or decreasing the number of turns or changing the amperes flowing in the coil or without moving the coil relative to the core?

Ans.—Fig. 50 illustrates the "W" type core with a laminated magnetic circuit closing core G, placed in magnetic relation to the ends of the three legs of the "W" core.

It has already been explained to you how by moving this circuit closing core, relative to the core legs, the magnetic resistance of the iron circuit, can be increased or decreased in consequence of which the current flow in the coil included in the circuit will be decreased or increased as desired.

Copyright, 1916, by J. H. Hallberg.

Latest Kunsky Theatre in Detroit to Seat 3,100

The Madison Will Occupy Site at Corner of Grand Circus Park and Broadway—Ninety-nine Year Lease Obtained on the Property—C. Howard Crane, Who Has Designed All Other Kunsky Theatres, Has Prepared Plans for a Building Expected to Represent His Best Work

JOHN H. KUNSKY, Detroit's motion picture magnate, will erect in Detroit a theatre to be known as the Madison. It will occupy the site at the southwest corner of Grand Circus Park and Broadway, now occupied by the store buildings running back for a distance of 185 feet on Broadway, a ninety-nine-year lease having been obtained upon the property. A five-story office building will be erected upon the Witherall Street side facing the park, and a three-story office and shop structure will occupy the Broadway frontage, surrounding the theatre building proper, which will be a huge affair seating 3,100 and with a spacious stage as large as any in the west, thus offering accommodations for the largest of dramatic and spectacular productions. The upper floors of the office building will be taken up entirely with the offices of the various enterprises controlled by Mr. Kunsky, additional space now being required for the handling of his already large interests.

The rise of John H. Kunsky as a power in the theatrical firmament of Detroit and Michigan has been almost what might be well termed as meteoric. First starting with the most modest of capital in the days of the penny arcade, Mr. Kunsky has risen within the space of a few short years to one of the most prominent factors of the business in the United States.

It was while engaged in the operation of penny arcades with the late A. Arthur Caille, that an article in the Scientific American stating that a machine to reproduce life size photographs in motion had been invented, caught his eye, and realizing the vast possibilities of such an invention from the amusement standpoint, Mr. Kunsky quickly interested Mr. Caille, with the result that they took the next train East, witnessed the invention demonstrated and arranged for the purchase of an entire outfit. The Casino theatre, the first moving picture theatre in the world to be put into operation was then built at 28 Monroe avenue, the results being most satisfactory. Then followed other theatres of the same nature in Detroit and other cities, which was followed by the construction of the most successful old Majestic theatre, which stood upon the site now occupied by the Kresge Five and Ten Cent Store building on Woodward avenue. In turn came the Columbia and the Garden, both of which met with instant public favor.

Kunsky a Theatre Builder Years Ago

About this time, Mr. Caille's interests were purchased by Mr. Kunsky, Mr. Caille retiring from the business. Mr. Kunsky immediately expanding with the promotion and the erection of the Liberty theatre situated upon the site of the old Scotch Presbyterian Church at the corner of Bates and Farmer streets. As to the success of this theatre, Detroit is already familiar.

Spurred on by his success along his chosen line of endeavor, Mr. Kunsky then constructed the Alhambra, located at the corner of Woodward and Kenilworth avenues, and known as one of the most beautiful residential theatres in the United States, which in turn was followed by the taking over of the Washington theatre, to that time known as a complete failure, and making it into a playhouse catering to capacity audiences seven days in the week. Last September, the Strand theatre, situated at the corner of Grand River avenue and Fourteenth street and seating 1,500, was opened under Mr. Kunsky's direction.

The new Madison, his latest venture, marks the greatest effort of Mr. Kunsky's career. All information regarding the probable cost is met with a smile and the statement that it is not a question of money but of quality, style and comfort. However, some idea of the investment involved is obtained from the statement that the plans call for a very superior and highly decorative structure with an entrance from Grand Circus Park, the lobby leading through to the theatre being mostly of solid marble which will be enhanced by ornamental work of the most costly construction and embracing the latest architectural ideas along this line. Leading directly into the theatre, this lobby will open into a beautiful foyer which, it is said, will excel anything as yet advanced in theatre construction anywhere in the country. The huge theatre will contain a roomy main floor and balcony, while the reception rooms, smoking rooms and grand promenade will excel in appointments his other theatres. The decorations will follow in general a color scheme of green and pure white.

The entire building will be illuminated from the street through a novel system of indirect lighting which will throw into bold relief at night, the entire structure of white glazed terra cotta without the displaying of a single electric bulb. Surmounted by a huge electrical sign, the building will throw out in illumination which will be evident for blocks around. The top floor of the office building will contain the most handsome suite of offices in Detroit, all being finished in pure circassian walnut of massive design and panelled in artistic fashion and luxuriously furnished to match. The structure will have its own heating and lighting plant, thus being absolutely independent at all times of any mishaps that might otherwise occur.

Largest Photoplays Can Be Shown at the Madison

Even a higher class of photodrama and musical features will be presented than is now shown in the Washington, Liberty, Alhambra, Garden, Strand and the various other theatres which are now controlled and operated by Mr. Kunsky, this being made possible by reason of the great capacity and facilities offered. Due to this fact, extended engagements of the large photodramatic productions which are now obliged to seek the dramatic theatres in Detroit in order to obtain sufficient revenue from the box office to make profitable their exhibition in Detroit, will be offered. A great pipe organ costing $50,000 will be installed, which will be played in company with a fine symphony orchestra of twenty-five or more pieces, while many innovations, which are not as yet given out for publication, will be introduced.

No small factor in the success of the realty deal is George W. Trendle, corporation lawyer, and legal adviser to Mr. Kunsky.

Mr. Trendle, although a young man, has shown exceptional aptitude for promoting and financing business enterprises. Engaged by Messrs. Caille and Kunsky almost at the outset of their successful operations along theatrical lines as their legal representative, Mr. Trendle has grown up with the Kunsky interests and to him is due no small amount of credit for the preparation of the ways and means of financing the various large ventures represented. To his care has been entrusted the organizing, the capitalizing and the successful working out of the many varied and complex financial details connected with the promotion of each Kunsky venture. While engaged in the practice of law and handling a large and lucrative corporation practice, the demands of the Kunsky enterprises have made it necessary that he set aside certain definite periods each day to consult with Mr. Kunsky in order to keep in smooth and profitable operation, the ever growing and pressing affairs of the corporation which he represents, and it is in Mr. Trendle's care that the intricate details of the financing, planning and construction of the new Madison has been placed by Mr. Kunsky.

To Schmied-Sisman Company of Detroit has been awarded the building contract while Frank Farrington has been appointed by Mr. Kunsky to act as his personal representative in the supervision of the construction work.

C. Howard Crane, also of Detroit, and one of the most prominent theatre architects in the United States, who has the Madison plans in charge, and who has designed every theatre erected by John H. Kunsky and also the beautiful Majestic at Woodward and Willis avenues, states that the Madison will represent his supreme effort in theatre construction.

The loan on the property has been placed with the Tillotson and Wolcott Company of Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati and New York, who will doubtless make an offering of these bonds to investors in Michigan at some date within the near future.

WILL YOU BE REPRESENTED? SEPTEMBER 9 IS THE DATE

400,000 PEOPLE
LAY OVER IN CHICAGO
DAILY

Are You Manufacturers Going To Miss This Opportunity To Get Acquainted With These Movie Fans?

THE

SIXTH NATIONAL EXPOSITION AND CONVENTION

Of The

MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITORS' LEAGUE OF AMERICA

And The

MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

COLISEUM—CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, JULY 10TH TO 18TH INCLUSIVE

Will Be The Means of Your Reaching This Vast Army of Motion-Picture-Going-Public

CHOICE SPACE MAY STILL BE OBTAINED

APPLY TO

WM. J. SWEENEY
Chairman, Convention Committee

LOUIS H. FRANK
Manager of Exposition

1413 MASONIC TEMPLE BLDG., CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Projection

Operating Electricity — Repairing Equipment

Questions Answered

Edited by J. H. Hallberg

Who will answer all questions you may send in, no matter how simple or difficult

WHAT IS AVERAGE EXPENSE OF KEEPING A MACHINE OF AVERAGE MAKE IN REPAIR?

E. S., Natchez, Miss.—I had the pleasure of reading your write-up in Motion Picture News in the May 27 issue, headed "Waste in the Operating Room Through Incompetence." If every exhibitor would read articles of that kind, it would give him a few interesting points and at the same time would benefit the operators and give them encouragement.

I am the operator at Baker Grand theatre, Natchez, Miss., and belong to Local No. 293 of New Orleans.

I am now using two Powers 6-A machines and would like to know the average expense for keeping a machine of average make in repair when operated about seven hours a day, six days a week for three years.

I hope you will answer this question in the near future with little or no difficulty as I am asking this question so that I can convince the boss.

Ans.—Thank you, Brother Operator, for your interesting letter. I agree with you in that the managers and proprietors should become familiar with the problems which the operators have to meet and solve.

If the manager knew how much cheaper it is to avoid trouble than to patch things up after the trouble has occurred he would always give you what may be necessary to keep your equipment in first-class operative condition.

I am glad you belong to Local No. 293 of New Orleans, as it shows you are the right sort of an operator.

My experience has been, that the operators who belong to the Union, are generally men who have been tested and tried, by more experienced operators, generally in charge of the Unions and a manager should look favorably upon the employment of Union operators because of the assurance that he will then get better men.

The cost of repairs on the moving picture machine varies somewhat with the make of the machine and more particularly with the conditions under which it may be operated, and the care which it receives.

As all modern machines are now guaranteed for the period of one year against mechanical defects as well as against wear, it is your privilege when purchasing a new equipment to send your mechanism, after it has been used less than one year, to the manufacturer by express prepaid, who will then overhaul the mechanism and put it in first-class working order without expense to you. In view of this fact, it is not necessary to count the cost of repairs on the mechanism of a projector during the first 12 months, as far as the manager is concerned at least.

However, with the beginning of the second year, you are operating under your own guarantee and expense. Experience proves that a machine which has been handled with a reasonable amount of care and not misused, can be repaired at the end of the second year for a sum ranging between twenty and thirty dollars. When the machine becomes old and requires repair during the period of the third year, then the expenses may be slightly more than specified above because at that time, there may be necessary the replacement of a few gears and shafts which had not shown wear during the first two years of operation, but it is safe to say, that a projector can be kept in first-class repair for twenty-five dollars per year, during the first four years of its life.

After three or four years the machine can of course be kept in repair, but then the chances are that the manufacturer has brought out new and modern mechanisms and machines and it would be to your advantage then to dispose of your old machine and install a new more modern equipment.

It is well to remember that repair work can be done better at the factory where the machine is made than at any other place, but you can secure this service through your local dealer or distributor who will no doubt loan you a mechanism, while yours is sent away to the factory for repairs.

I am glad to have had this opportunity to hear from you and you may call on us at any time.

WANTS ADVICE ON A GOOD CARBON

A. LaF., Two Harbors, Minn.—Would appreciate very much advice on a good carbon. I have been using Electras to good advantage, but as there are no more to be had must find a good substitute. The current is A. C. 110 volts, 60 cycles, and I have a Compensarc which I operate at the 60 notch.

Have already tried Speer Carbons both ¾ and ⅝ sizes. The ⅝ seems to give fair light for three or four reels, but after that the lower carbon heats up so that it threatens to heat my carbon holders. The ¾ size doesn't act this way but I can't get a good light from them.

Am sending you a carbon which you will note heated up a distance of about 5 inches. What causes this? The ⅝ Electra burns fine under same condition that this carbon was tested.

Ans.—Your question about the best carbon for you to use has been carefully gone over and I would recommend that if you had such good results with the Electra carbons that you secure some of them which I believe can be purchased in the open market in the ⅝ x 12-inch size cored at eleven or twelve dollars per hundred.

However, if you cannot get the Electras you may still use the ⅝-inch cored Speer carbons in the upper holder and a ¾-inch cored Speer carbon in the lower holder. Setting the lower carbon straight up and down and the upper one inclined at an angle of about 25 degrees relative to the lower. It is a fact that sometimes carbons will disintegrate which will cause the carbon to glow red for a considerable distance, due to over-load of the carbon or in some cases due to the carbon being faulty. Sometimes a carbon may not be forced under high enough pressure when manufactured or the material may not be exactly right.

You know as well as I do, that we have oftentimes had batches of foreign carbons which have been poorer than others and if I were you, I believe I would put my case up to the Speer Carbon Company of Saint Marys, Pa., and I am sure that they will replace any defective carbons for you or tell you what in their opinion might be the cause of your trouble. The Speer Company are more familiar with their own product than anyone else, and they may help you out.

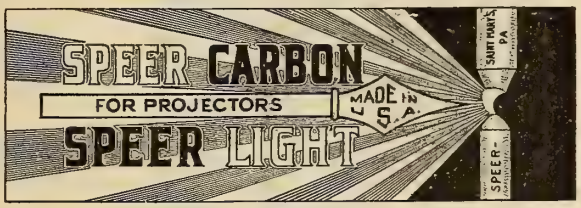
There is also a carbon made in this country by the National Carbon Company, which I understand is quite satisfactory. There is no reason why you should not try through your regular dealer or distributor to secure several makes of carbon until you are satisfied.

With a Ft. Wayne Compensarc on the high notch you secure at least 60 amperes and with this current you ought to use a ¾-inch cored carbon. If you have difficulty in getting a carbon to suit you at the present time, I would recommend that you use a ⅝-inch Speer carbon and reduce your current to the second notch and then I am sure you will get a very good light. In fact, as good as you will get with ⅝-inch carbons overloaded at 60 amperes on the high notch.

SPEER Projector Carbons

were used exclusively in the magnificent projection by Nicholas Power Company, at the recent Exposition in Madison Square Garden—Direct Current was used regulated by rheostats at an amperage between 75 and 100 and the brilliancy of the illumination was favorably commented upon by all who witnessed the performance—The SPEER Projector Carbons have now established a record for superiority in every respect.

You better get your order in NOW!!!



TRADE MARK

NET CASH PRICES

For Regular Speer Carbons

	½x12, cored, pointed both ends,	$37.50 per M.	(1,000 in a case)
9	16x12, cored, pointed both ends,	$40.00 per M.	(1,000 in a case)
	⅝x12, cored, pointed both ends,	$50.00 per M.	(1,000 in a case)
	¾x12, cored, pointed both ends,	$70.00 per M.	(1,000 in a case)
	⅞x12, cored, pointed one end,	$115.00 per M.	(500 in a case)
	1x12, cored, pointed one end,	$150.00 per M.	(500 in a case)

Sample Orders for 100 Carbons Filled at 10% Advance on Above Case Lot Prices

Speer Carbons are absolutely guaranteed to give satisfaction or money back

SPEER CARBON COMPANY

DEPT. "N"

(Makers of Carbons for Electrical purposes during the past 25 years)

ST. MARYS, PA.

For Sale by Leading M. P. Machine Distributors, Including the Following:

J. H. HALLBERG, 727 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y.
E. E. FULTON CO., 154 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill.
KLEINE OPTICAL CO., 166 N. State St., Chicago, Ill.
KANSAS CITY MACHINE & SUPPLY CO., 813 Walnut St., Kansas City, Mo.
SOUTHERN THEATRE EQUIPMENT CO., Rhodes Building, Atlanta, Ga.
G. A. METCALFE, 117 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco, Cal.

PREPAREDNESS

Now is the Time to Prepare your Theatre for the Hot Weather. Make it attractive, inviting and Cool. Take out that old Equipment and get UP-TO-DATE.

Would you be interested in a plan to make your improvements and allow them to pay for themselves?

Write us today for Special Offer

AMUSEMENT SUPPLY COMPANY

Note change of address
THIRD FLOOR MALLERS BUILDING
S. E. CORNER WABASH AVE. & MADISON ST.
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Dealers in Motiograph, Power's, Simplex, Standard and Edison Machines, Genuine Repair parts and all goods pertaining to the M. P. Theatre

MINUSA

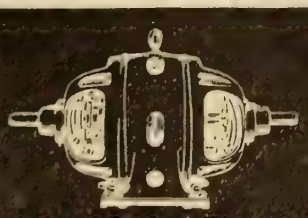
"SCREEN LIGHT THAT NEVER FAILS"

The "ORIGINAL GOLD FIBRE SCREEN"-Perfected.

MINUSA CINÉ PRODUCTS COMPANY
SAINT LOUIS | CHICAGO | SAN FRANCISCO | PITTSBURGH | CALGARY, ALBERTA | NEW YORK
SCREENS BUILT BY BRAINS

MOTION PICTURE MACHINES
Power—Simplex—Baird
HALLBERG'S 20th Century Motor Generators
MINUSA Gold Fibre Screens
SANIZONE Deodorants, the perfect perfume for Motion Picture and all Theatres
WE ARE DISTRIBUTORS
Ask for Catalogs
Lewis M. Swaab 1327 VINE STREET PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Wagner WHITE LIGHT Converters



Especially constructed for Motion Picture service. They are complete equipments, ready to install, simple to handle, and are Wagner Quality
Bulletin 10922.
Wagner Electric Manufacturing Company,
Saint Louis, Missouri.

LIGHT JUMPS AND SPUTTERS ALL AROUND THE BOTTOM OF THE CARBON AND GOES OUT

C. W. D., Lewisburg, Tenn.—I have been reading Projection questions and answers in Motion Picture News *and am very much interested in them. The first thing I look for when I get the "News" is the Projection questions.*

I want some information about my light.. I am using a Ft. Wayne A C to D C Generator, wired for two lamps. I am positive that it is wired as with No. 8 wire. The most of the time I get a fine light; as good as I want with Bio 5/8 cored carbons bottom and top.

Sometimes the light gets to jumping and sputters all around the bottom carbon and will go out. I have used several kinds of carbons and find the Bio to be the best. I have the generator about 10 feet from the machine.

Ans.—Your complaint about the arc with your generator jumping and sputtering from time to time has been carefully considered and I have also examined the diagram of connections which you sent.

After due consideration of your trouble I recommend that instead of using 5/8-inch cored carbon in the bottom or lower negative holder you use a carbon not larger than 9/16-inch and probably for better results a 1/2-inch cored carbon in the lower holder with the 5/8-inch cored top.

The unsteady light you complain of is caused by the lower carbon being too large in diameter, which the small arc you are operating with, does not maintain hot enough to always keep the arc centered in the core. When the arc happens to jump out of the core, it establishes itself on the solid part of the lower carbon which, of course, is cooler and as it has no core flux it increases the resistance of the arc stream which then goes out or consumes the carbon irregularly and that is the cause of your unsteadiness. Use the smaller size cored lower carbon mentioned and your troubles will be over.

SIMPLEX MACHINE INSTALLED IN NEW YORK HEADQUARTERS OF WOMEN'S CLUB

A Simplex projection machine has been installed in the rooms of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, located on the thirty-fifth floor in the Metropolitan Life Building, New York, a photograph of which appears above.

THE METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE BUILDING NEW YORK CITY

PEEBLES SUCCEEDS TOUCHON IN HOUSTON OFFICE OF CONSOLIDATED

UPON the resignation of Charles D. Touchon as manager of the Houston office of the Consolidated Film and Supply Co. Harry T. Peebles was placed in charge. Mr. Peebles has been with the Consolidated as road man for some time.

BETTER SATISFACTION

This notice is addressed to the minority of our subscribers who do not regularly answer advertisements.

The service described is, however, open and free to all who wish our help.

We do not wish to discourage you from writing direct to our advertisers; in fact, you do not do enough of it for your own good, but we do want you to get the proper goods to fit your needs.

There are many, perhaps you, who are too busy to write each company separately; therefore we are offering our co-operation, which means that you will receive full information on any subject which you may designate by merely filling out the coupon, designating by numbers the goods in which you are interested.

Your inquiries thus received will be forwarded to reputable manufacturers, even though the goods on which you wish information are not advertised in the "News."

1. Architectural Suggestions
2. Arc Controllers
3. Brass Rails
4. Building Materials
5. Cameras
6. Carbons
7. Chairs
8. Chair Upholstery
9. Converters and Transformers
10. Developing and Printing
11. Developing Tanks
12. Disinfectants and Perfumes
13. Economizers and Rheostats
14. Electric Signs
15. Elevators and Escalators
16. Exterior Lighting
17. Film Carriers
18. Film Cement
19. Film Cleaners
20. Film Stock
21. Fire Extinguishers
22. Floral Decorations
23. Generators
24. Gas Engines
25. Heating Apparatus
26. Interior Lighting
27. Interior Telephones
28. Lenses
29. Lighting Sets
30. Lobby Display
31. Lobby Novelties
32. Metal Ceilings
33. Motors
34. Mural Paintings
35. Musical Instruments
36. Paints
37. Perforating Machines
38. Printing Machines
39. Projection Machines
40. Projection Machines (Home)
41. Projection Booths
42. Rectifiers
43. Reels
44. Rewinders
45. Screens
46. Slides
47. Slide Ink
48. Studio Lights
49. Tickets
50. Ticket Selling Machines
51. Ticket Taking Machines
52. Uniforms
53. Ventilating and Fans
54. Vacuum Cleaners

Gentlemen: Please send me descriptive matter on the subjects marked in the above lists.

Name .....

Theatre .....

City .....

State .....

PHILADELPHIA OPERATORS, LOCAL NO. 307, HOLD SUCCESSFUL BALL

ALTHOUGH Philadelphia Moving Picture Operators' Union, Local 307, I. A. T. S. E. had decided to have their annual entertainment take a different form this year, when the crucial moment came, the appeal of the dance won the day—or rather the night.

This, the fifth annual affair of the union, brought out the operators and their friends in goodly numbers, making the entertainment not only enjoyable but a financial success as well.

The ball took place on Monday, May 29th, at the Eagles' Temple, at Broad and Spring Garden streets. On account of the warm weather no special stunts were on the program, but all who attended had a good time. Excellent music was furnished by the Apollo orchestra, of which Professor Henry Clay Stagg is leader.

The exchanges proved their friendship for the operators by liberal advertising in the souvenir program. The Local showed its appreciation by dedicating one of its dances to their advertisers. In fact every dance was dedicated to some member or friend of the operators, a novel idea that made the programs unique. While the merriment was at its height a delegation from the New York office of the Oliver Morosco and Pallas Pictures Photo Play companies of 220 West Forty-second street, appeared on the scene headed by Julian M. Solomon, Jr. Hundreds of large balloons were set afloat amongst the dancers and diners bearing the picture of Myrtle Stedman as an American Beauty, named after a forthcoming Pallas release. The excitement and diversion thus created made one wonder why other producers were not on hand with their souvenirs.

The committee in charge of the ball whose indefatigable efforts carried it to its successful conclusion were as follows: B. F. Bache. John J. Stevens, Walter G. Murray, John A. Harris, Louis Krouse, Abbot Oliver, Wm. Hamilton, Sr., Charles Smith. while Joseph V. Freil and Walter G. Murray managed the floor.

Amongs those present were Charles Segall, president of the Exhibitors' League and proprietor of the Apollo theatre. Jay Emanuel, treasurer of the League and manager of the Ridge Avenue theatre; George Dembow, manager, Fox Exchange; Philip Greenberg, manager, New Film Exchange; W. B. Leggett, of New York Biograph Company; Samuel Lefko, National Poster Exchange; G. Michaels, Tri State Star Features; D. Starkman, Electric Theatre Supply Company; George Schwartz, same; Jay A. Wiest, of Pathe; M. A. Heenan, Bluebird; J. F. Gill, Triangle; Harold Rodner, Metro; Charles Pierce, Dallas Pictures of New York; Arthur Graver and Julian Solomon, Sr. Among the operators were seen Ben Harris, Midvale theatre; Seymour Brown, Jefferson theatre; Ross Peters, Knickerbocker theatre, and others.

HALLBERG APPOINTED PROJECTION EXPERT FOR CIRCLE THEATRE, INDIANAPOLIS

The Circle Theatre Company, under the direction of Robert Lieber, of Indianapolis, advises us that J. H. Hallberg, Projection Editor of the NEWS has been appointed Consulting Expert for the complete electrical and machine equipment for the new Circle Theatre, which it is expected will be finished sometime during the middle of August.

The Circle Theatre will have a seating capacity of more than three thousand and will be one of the best equipped motion picture theatres in the middle states. Robert Lieber is introducing several new features in the design and decorative arrangement and with the co-operation of Mr. Hallberg we look for the best results on the screen.

Description of the Circle Theatre with illustrations and specifications for the Projection installation will appear in a later issue of the NEWS.

SIMPLEX MACHINES PICKED BY KLEINE FOR "GLORIA'S ROMANCE"

THE Globe theatre, Broadway and Forty-sixth street, New York, is now showing George Kleine's serial "Gloria's Romance," with Billie Burke. Mr. Kleine selected a Simplex machine for the projection of the picture.

Charles Urban of London, who brought over the feature "How Britain Prepared," which is shown in the Lyceum theatre, Forty-fifth street, also uses Simplex projectors.

Hallberg

has moved to the new Film Building

729 7th Ave.

and has established the greatest showroom in the World for

Motion Picture Machinery Apparatus and Supplies

There will be on exhibition all standard make Motion Picture Machines, Motor Generators, Transformers, Converters, Carbons, Lenses of all kinds, with a full line of accessories and supplies, operating on single or poly-phase A.C. as well as with D.C.—A special switch board has been provided with Watt meters, volt and ampere meters and the necessary control switches to give a prospective purchaser an absolute demonstration of the efficiency of the

HALLBERG 20TH CENTURY MOTOR GENERATORS

Transformers and other electrical apparatus with any make Projection Machine.

Distributor of Power's-Simplex-Baird M. P. Machines

Send for Free Circulars and Catalogues, but for Hallberg's Big 100-page Catalogue, send 25 cents.

I EQUIP THEATRES COMPLETE AND CARRY "SPEER" AND OTHER MAKE CARBONS, ALSO SUPPLIES.

Send $2.50 for latest Operator's Book, "MOTION PICTURE ELECTRICITY."

J. H. HALLBERG Swedish Electrical Engineer

729 7th Ave. The House of Quality New York

Mr. Dealer!

How are you meeting the demand for better projection lenses than the regular equipment of the various machines?

It will pay you to investigate and stock the best—the new Marlux oversize projection objective.

Marlux gives more light and greater steadiness of illumination. Write your nearest distributor or direct to the makers.

Crown Optical Co.
ROCHESTER, NEW YORK

The right screen is essential in any auditorium in which motion pictures are presented, but it is positively indispensable in any airdome in which the management hopes to realize to the fullest possible extent upon their investment.

RADIUM GOLDFIBRE SCREENS use less electrical current than any other screens made—and the minimum of electrical current produces the maximum of results. This means that with RADIUM GOLD FIBRE SCREENS airdomes are enabled to start their performances at least an hour earlier than is possible with any other projection surface. An hour's extra show each summer evening means a lot of money.

Write Today for Price and Detailed Information.

RADIUM GOLD FIBRE SCREEN, Inc.
220 W. 42d St. New York City

Every Little Ray of Light Does Its Full Share of Work on the RADIUM GOLD FIBRE SCREEN

Canadian Distributors—Allfeatures, Ltd., No. 56 King St., W. Toronto, Can.; Allfeatures, Ltd., Scala Theatre Building., Montreal, Can.

ONTARIO EXHIBITORS WANT PROBATION PERIOD FOR OPERATORS SHORTENED

Special to Motion Picture News.

Toronto, June 3.

BECAUSE so many moving picture machine operators are enlisting, and because many returned soldiers are learning the business, Ontario theatre proprietors want relief from the regulation which compels an assistant operator to serve a year before he can get his certificate as a full fledged operator.

A delegation of moving picture exhibitors waited on Robert Newman at the parliament buildings May 25 and laid the matter before him. He told them to put their request in the form of a petition which he could lay before the provincial treasurer.

The delegation represented that so many operators had enlisted that if some relief were not given many moving picture shows would have to close their doors, as the law demands that none but qualified operators may have charge of moving picture machines, and soon there would be no operators left. On the other hand the delegates pointed out that many of the assistant operators who have served for seven or eight months are quite ready to take their examination. They asked, therefore, that the law be amended to read: "An applicant for a moving picture operator's license shall have served as an apprentice to an operator for a period sufficient to satisfy the inspector," rather than "for a period of one year."

The fact that many returned soldiers are being employed as assistant operators was another ground taken by the delegation in urging that the period of probation should be shortened. These men should be enabled to earn their full pay as early as possible, they urged. The pay for operators is stated as $15.00 a week for evening performances only, $18.00 where Wednesday and Saturday matinees are included, and $20 a week for all day and evening, when two shifts are run.

UNCLE SAM'S SAFETY FIRST TRAIN IS EQUIPPED WITH TWO SIMPLEX MACHINES

THE U. S. government Safety First Train, consisting of thirteen all-steel coaches, equipped with government safety first applications, left Washington, May 1, at 10 o'clock, carrying with it two complete Simplex projectors for use at the various train stops.

Crowds Anxious to Get a View of the Simplex Machines on the U. S. Safety First Train

The moving picture machines will be operated from each side of a baggage car, which contains a large electrical generator and pictures will be projected upon temporarily arranged screens, thereby showing them from both sides at one time. This train will be on the road about three months.

BLAIR FACTORY IN NORTHBORO, MASS., IS COMPLETELY DESTROYED

THE Blair Corporation of Northboro, Mass., which has for some time past been perfecting its new standard projection machine has met with an unfortunate setback.

On May 20 the factory and its contents was entirely destroyed, including machinery, tools and thirty projection machines, which had been completely assembled.

Whether the company will continue its experiments in the motion picture line and reproduce its projector is as yet undecided.

HANDY TOOL KIT FOR OPERATORS IS SOLD BY FULTON COMPANY

EVERY trade requires its own special tools, and a good workman always takes pride in owning a fine set of the implements of his trade. The growth of the moving picture industry has been so rapid that only recently have the needs of the projection machine operator been taken into consideration. The old days when the operator repaired his machine with bits of twine, bent nails, and the like, have passed, and today the man in the booth should be a highly-trained, skilled mechanic, and his tools must be the best obtainable.

Progressive operators will be interested in a handy tool kit now being sold by the E. E. Fulton Company of Chicago. This company has included every article that years of experience have shown necessary for the perfect operation and maintenance of a projector. Everything in the kit was selected because of its special adaptability for projection work.

The collection includes two kinds of pliers; three sizes of screw drivers; four special broaches, and a tap wrench for broaches; two sizes of rawhide mallets; two machine hammers; amber glare glasses; assorted taper pins; "V" block; vise; electric hand-lamp with battery; complete set needle files; roll of rubber tape and roll of friction tape; and an oil can. These articles are packed in a special enameled metal case measuring eight by seventeen by six inches.

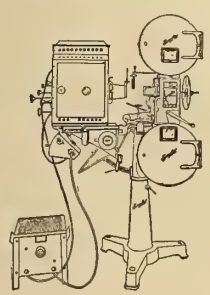
"THE DAY!"

The Toast Wherever Film Men Foregather.

—SEPTEMBER 9—

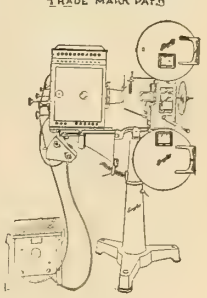
Studio Directory of Motion Picture News

Simplex TRADE MARK PAT'D



FACES SMILING ARE DOLLAR SIGNS TO THE EXHIBITOR

Simplex TRADE MARK PAT'D



THE BIGGEST ASSET

Best Advertisement and Surest Sign of SUCCESS is a Refreshed and Smiling Audience and the FIRST ESSENTIAL is CLEAR, FLICKERLESS PROJECTION

You do not have to take our word for it, because

Simplex PROJECTORS

are demanded by the most exacting Exhibitors from the Atlantic to the Pacific and in Foreign Countries

Simplex

Send for Catalog "N"

THE PRECISION MACHINE CO., Inc. 317 East 34th Street, New York

The Camera

A Department Devoted to Motion Picture Photography in All Its Phases, Studio and Laboratory Work

Cloud Effects in Motion Pictures

To Lend an Added Charm and a Sense of Artistic Finish to the Exterior Scenes, a Cloud Effect or a Sunset Is Sometimes Introduced by Producers of the Better Class—Means and Procedure for Good Rendition of Clouds Outlined

TO lend an added charm and a sense of artistic finish to the exterior scenes of a motion picture a cloud effect or a sunset is sometimes introduced by producers of the better class. Such an effect properly photographed is always pleasing to behold and we shall endeavor to outline the means and procedure by which a good rendition of clouds in exterior scenes may be attained.

It is known to most all photographers and has been pointed out in a former article in the Camera Department that cine negative film is chiefly sensitive to the blue violet end of the spectrum, and even the average amateur knows that because of this predominant blue violet sensitiveness of the film stock, skies and clouds which radiate these actinic rays in greater proportion than the rays of other parts of the spectrum, are generally badly overexposed in the negative.

Such density in the sky area of a negative can only result in the sky being a clear white, without any vestige of clouds in the resulting positive prints, unless some means has been employed in taking the picture to cut down the excess of blue violet light reaching the sensitive film.

A logically and frequently employed method of "getting the clouds in" is to close down the lens diaphragm to a pin-point aperture. Provided the lens possesses a diaphragm which will close to a very small opening (and not every cinematograph taking lens will do this) the clouds will be secured all right—but the foreground and other objects in the picture will be so much underexposed as to show absolutely trasparent in the negative. This, however, is not always a disaster as, if it be desired to portray an evening scene with the cloud formations in the sky, the other underexposed portions of the negative will print in black in the positive and yield very pleasing silhouettes against the sky line. The closing scene of many a pretentious motion picture has been photographed in just this way.

Cloud Effects Often Wanted

There are many occasions, however, when a producer wants the clouds in the picture, but the characters and setting must also be shown in full detail, in which event a light filter must be used on the lens to achieve the desired result. The ignorance displayed by many cameramen on the subject of light filters or "ray screens" as they are frequently and more or less erroneously called, is prodigious. For instance a so-called cameraman went to one of the largest photo-supply houses and said he wanted to buy a "Motorchromatic filter," meaning, of course, an Orthochromatic filter. He stated that he had been told that it would decrease the contrast in his negatives, which might or might not be the case, according to whether he used a compensating filter or a contrast filter.

The class of filters likely to be most useful to the motion picture photographer may be termed compensating filters, as they are chiefly designed to retard the action of the blue violet rays and allow light of other colors to record satisfactorily on the film which results in more natural looking pictures.

The compensating filters obtainable for motion picture and general photographic work may be divided, roughly speaking, into two styles, namely, graduated filters in which the color is deep at the top and gradually decreases in hue until at the bottom there is nothing but clear glass; and the regular filter, which is of an even color all the way through and over its entire area.

Before proceeding further with the descriptions of individual types of light filters, we shall here state the qualifications which all light filters should possess, if they are to be of real value and are expected to perform satisfactorily. The prime requisite of a compensating filter is—that it shall not transmit (or allow to pass through) any ultra-violet light. Whether a light filter transmits ultra-violet rays or not can only be determined by examining the filter in question with the spectroscope, as ultra-violet emanations are quite invisible to the human eye. Consequently all makers of light filters claim that their product is spectroscopically tested, although in many cases such an assertion is a joke and can be so proven.

Another important requisite of a light filter is that it be mounted with a high degree of optical accuracy and that the two sides of the glass be absolutely plano-parallel to each other. The best glass for filter making which is anyways moderate in price is Patent Plate, the surfaces of which are parallel to each other within limits of a few thousandths of an inch. Glass of this quality or better must be incorporated in the making of the filter if sharpness of focus is expected equal to that which the lens will give without the filter.

First Qualification of a Good Filter

The first qualification of a good filter, namely, complete absorption of the ultra violet, is easily made possible by using a proper dye when preparing the same. A dye which completely absorbs the ultra-violet and is very popular with makers of good light filters is Filter Yellow K or Rapid Filter Yellow as sometimes known. And as regards the glass for use in making the light filters it will be noted above that Patent Plate is a suitable selection, whereas, for those who require the utmost in definition in the photographic images, filters may be secured mounted in optical "flats." "Flats" are pieces of glass which have their surfaces ground to absolute parallelism and are comparatively high in cost. They are hardly needed in cinematographic work, being mostly required in copying with long focus lenses and in three-color negative making.

To resume our description of the light filters available for motion picture camera work, it may be stated that for cloud effects the most popular and efficient style will be the graduated filter, having deep color at the top which diminishes in intensity until towards the bottom it consists of clear transparent glass. While graduated filters may be had mounted in round cells to slip on the front of the lens, the best form is a rectangular filter in an adjustable mount which will permit of its being slid up or down in front of the lens and the desired area of the film image subdued by the colored portion of the filter.

It can be readily seen that with a filter on the lens graduated so that the top portion is covered with the yellow tint and the foreground portion has only clear glass in front of it, the excessive action of the blue violet of the sky will be retarded preserving the cloud formations in the negative, while the foreground will receive its full exposure as the lower clear glass portion of the filter exerts no appreciable diminishing influence on the light which passes through the lens. Thus it may be readily inferred that a good graduated light filter is a valuable adjunct to a cameraman's outfit.

Although there are numerous graduated filters obtainable not all are good ones. Some of domestic manufacture, it is regrettable to say, are found upon spectroscopic examination to transmit considerable ultra-violet light, which shows that the proper dyes were not used in their manufacture or at least not in the right proportion.

Other Uses for Graduated Filters

The use of a graduated filter is not solely confined to cloud and sunset effects however. By turning its mount around so that it is in a position crosswise to the lens instead of up and down, a harsh lighting at one side of the picture can be toned down, or a scene with trees or other dark foreground on one side and a distant or brightly lighted view, such as water on the other may be successfully photographed, where a satisfactory and pleasing result would hardly have been possible without recourse to the horizontally mounted graduated filter.

Filters of even color throughout, e. g., ordinary compensating filters, are frequently employed by intelligent motion photographers, however, and negatives secured through their use show superiority to negatives made with the unscreened lens, although theoretically, a compensating filter should be used in connection with an isochromatic or panchromatic emulsion. The action of the compensating filter is briefly—to retard the action of the blue violet rays sufficiently to allow the greens, yellows, and reds to act with sufficient intensity upon the sensitive emulsion.

A valuable point about the ordinary compensating filters is that they may be procured in varying densities or depths of color. Filters of varying density are generally known as 2X, 3X, 5X, etc., according to the extent to which they increase the exposure above the normal. Thus a 2X filter would require an exposure twice as long as would be required without the filter on the lens, a 3X would require three times the exposure and so on. Although a 2 times filter could be used without fear of underexposing on almost all classes of camera work, a 3X or 5X filter is something every cameraman should possess, as sometimes in summer when out on the water, or in Southern climes overexposure cannot be avoided even by employing the smallest stop in the lens, without the addition of a light filter. Especially is this true when working on deserts or tropical waters where the intense light of the sky is doubled by being reflected back from the sand or the waters of the ocean.

Where to Set Filters

Perhaps after going so deeply into this all important matter of light filters and their relation to cinematography, some of our readers will resire to know where filters of good quality and reputable make are obtainable.

With regard to graduated light filters, by far the best we have seen are those sold by Allison and Hadaway of 235 Fifth avenue, New York. These are the celebrated filters made by Sanger, Shepherd and Company, Ltd., a well-known English firm making apparatus for color photography. The Allison and Hadaway concern have laid in a supply of graduated filters in such sizes as to particularly take care of the cameraman's wants.

Ordinary compensating filters of even color throughout are supplied by all prominent makers of photographic lenses, such as in the film margin answers the question,

(Continued on page 3801)

"EASTMAN"

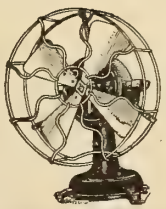
"How clear should a motion picture be?"

EASTMAN KODAK CO.,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.



NOW IS THE TIME TO EQUIP WITH FANS

We will furnish you (4) oscillating fans, the kind that distribute the air by swinging in different directions, for direct current at a total of $44.00. Alternating, $50.00. Also Ceiling Fans, Bracket and Ventilating.

Fidelity Electric Co., Lancaster, Pa.

Get acquainted with "FULCO"
The Department Store
OF THE MOVING PICTURE TRADE
MACHINES EQUIPMENT SUPPLIES
OUR TRADE MARK
FULCO
Our catalog covers the line from A-Z
E. E. FULTON COMPANY
156 W. Lake St. CHICAGO, ILL.

Perfect Developing and Printing

Negatives Developed . 1c. ft.
Positive Printing . . . . 4c. ft.

TITLES in any language 5c. per foot complete
Cards Free Tinting Free

Satisfaction guaranteed by our fifteen years' experience Special price on quantity orders.
GUNBY BROS., Inc., 145 West 45th Street, New York City

QUALITY means EVANS means PERFECTION

We Do Particular Work for Particular People
Developing and Printing ONLY

Evans Film Manufacturing Company
Numbers 416-418-420-422 West 216th Street
Telephone 6681 Audubon NEW YORK CITY

The Universal Camera
For Motion Photography

Write for Illustrated Catalogue
The UNIVERSAL CAMERA CO.
559 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago

Branches { 1007 Times Bldg., New York
821 Market St., San Francisco
229 E. Sixth St., Los Angeles

Music and the Picture

Edited by Ernst Lux

This department is maintained for the exhibitor's assistance with a view of suggesting proper musical illustrations for current photo plays. MOTION PICTURE NEWS will be pleased to help solve any difficulties the exhibitors may have with their musical programs. All communications should be addressed to the Music and the Picture Department.

DON'T BE AFRAID TO PLAY THE "OLD SONGS"—PEOPLE LIKE THEM—BUT USE DISCRETION

Dear Mr. Luz,—

I am a young man, sixteen years of age, and have had two years' experience in playing for motion pictures.

My manager has asked me to play Irish and Scotch airs and folk songs with the pictures; that the people like to hum the songs to themselves. Now I do not think the people would like to hear those old tunes for pictures, and would appreciate more music that was up to date.

Will you give me your ideas on this kind of music for pictures?

Yours truly,

CARLETON A. JAMES.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Your query is difficult to answer properly as you do not state a specific instance. I will nevertheless try to explain the use of the character music you speak of.

The continued playing of folk songs or reminiscent melodies is not good, nevertheless when you desire to create an Irish, Scotch or any other foreign musical atmosphere, you can only do it by playing the older and known folk songs. Patrons of the picture theatre love to hear the old songs when judiciously used. Such numbers should not be continued throughout an entire picture. After the proper creation of the musical character you desire by the playing of a well-known and reminiscent number, it is more entertaining to follow the impression created by modern music of similar characters, inserting reminiscent numbers of proper musical temperament at proper intervals for the purpose of maintaining musical character suggestion.

If you will take time to study your picture theatre audience you will find that it is made up more of older people who find picture theatre entertainment more to their liking, as it can be enjoyed in their preferred quiet manner. The older members of the audience always appreciate what we will call the old songs. It is not good form to play any feature throughout and maintain certain character tone. For instance you may have a picture supposedly taken entirely in Ireland or Scotland; the characters, locations, scene sets and costuming might suggest the Irish or the Scotch throughout, nevertheless it would be poor musical form and still poorer entertainment, were you to continue playing Irish music throughout the entire five reels of the picture, should the picture be a feature.

Your character suggestions should be placed at such points as to accent the effect and where the action of the screen is not too prominently defined temperamentally, a good rule to follow is to ignore the character effects entirely when you desire to create pathetic or heavy dramatic synchronization.

You will find many other opportunities for both the reminiscent and modern character numbers at other points in the picture and by dividing your musical interpolations in this manner you will find yourself playing a much improved program that will more readily appeal to the senses of your audience.

To be a good picture musician you must be broad-minded and not confine yourself to what you consider new or old in music. Confine yourself rather to what you consider good or bad. The old numbers that we remember are those that were accepted by the public as good music. If this was not the case they would have been forgotten long ago. Good musical numbers live in the mind of the public forever, regardless of whether they are old or new publications.

SOUSA, MARCH KING, REPRESENTING A COMMITTEE OF PROMINENT NEW YORKERS, PRESENTS EDOUARDE, STRAND CONDUCTOR, WITH SILVER LOVING CUP

ON the stage of the Strand theater, New York, May 30, John Philip Sousa, bandmaster and march king, representing a committee of prominent New Yorkers presented a huge silver loving cup to Carl Edouarde, musical director of the Strand. This token is an appreciation from one thousand patrons of the Strand theater.

The idea of presenting Mr. Edouarde with some token of appreciation originated with one of the Strand patrons who brought this suggestion to B. A. Rolfe, managing director of the Strand. As soon as it became known that this testimonial was to be tendered Mr. Edouarde numerous persons who had enjoyed his weekly concerts asked that they be permitted to contribute to the testimonial. Accordingly a committee was formed to further the arrangements, comprising Daniel Frohman, John Philip Sousa, Carl Laemmle, Adolph Zucker, R. A. Rowland, Mitchel H. Mark, Mrs. J. Christopher Marks, Leo Feist, Banjamin A. Rolfe, Max Spiegel and John D. Gluck. As Mr. Sousa had been a life-long friend of Mr. Edouarde he asked that he be permitted to make the presentation speech.

Mr. Edouarde has been leader of the Strand orchestra since the opening of the theatre two years ago. Before that time he had gained a solid musical foundation from a variety of studies and positions. Mr. Edouarde was born in Cleveland, O. As a young man he began the study of the violin, later going to Europe to complete his musical education. He graduated from the Royal Conservatory at Leipzig in 1899. Returning to this country he made a tour with Liberati's Band as violin virtuoso.

Following his tour Mr. Edouarde assumed the professorship of harmony and theory in the Cleveland Conservatory of Music. He resigned this chair several years later to become a conductor of Knapp's Millionaire Band, after which he organized the Carl Edouarde Concert Band. When the strand was opened its founders offered the post of musical director to Mr. Edouarde and he abandoned his organization to accept the position.

TWO VALUABLE SUITES FOR PICTURE PLAYERS OR ORCHESTRA LEADERS

IN many of the late problem features quiet action requiring similar musical temperament for the purpose of synchronization has continued quite often for fifteen or more minutes. To avoid the music becoming tiresome on account of continued repetition, suites of two or more numbers properly selected can be used at such points to great musical advantage. The "Dawn" suite, published by Witmark and Sons, New York City, is a suite of three numbers, having a pathetic or romantic appeal throughout.

"The Characteristic Sketches" by Frank P. Atherton, published by Oliver Ditson, East Thirty-fourth street, New York City, is a suite of three numbers which does not only maintain a pathetic or romantic appeal but creates a dramatic color at very appropriate intervals. It is the one suite that I know of where the musical composition implies to perfection the musical sense of the title, namely, No. 1, "Wandering"; No. 2, "Entreaty"; No. 3, "Contentment."

Both of these numbers play for twelve or more minutes without any tonal monotony. Every orchestra leader or picture pianist and organist should have them. Both numbers can be gotten for piano solo or orchestral arrangement.

Beginning with this week, we shall suggest each week musical numbers, both old and new, which can be used to good advantage by picture musicians, explaining in each issue the value of the numbers as picture music. Save these suggestions for future reference. Space is too limited to give many numbers in each issue.

THE WALBROOK, BALTIMORE, OPENED ON MAY 29—IT SEATS 1,200

BALTIMORE'S newest motion picture theatre, the Walbrook, at North avenue and Rosedale street, opened Monday night, May 29. The opening night was rather elaborate and city officials and prominent citizens from all sections of the city attended the performance. The Walbrook has 1,200 seats and is the largest residential house in the city limits. The building has a frontage of 48 feet with a depth of 150 feet and the exterior is rather simple but rich. The interior woodwork is finished in French gray while the principal wall color is of old ivory. The walls are panelled in Rose du Barry silk between embossed and enriched panel mouldings, with scrolls and flower festoons to match. The floor covering is of heavy maroon-colored carpet.

There is a large gallery and boxes have been arranged in the front line with a perfect view of the screen. The theatre was built by a stock company formed by the residents of the neighborhood. The officers are. Harrison L. Stires, president; Oscar Teschner, vice-precident; Otis J. Tall, treasurer, and Clarence H. Konze, secretary. The attractions being presented consist of Triangle, Fox and V. L. S. E.

CHORUS OF 35 YOUNG WOMEN INTERPRETS MUSIC FOR INCE'S "CIVILIZATION" AT CRITERION, NEW YORK

IN addition to having composed a score longer than that of the average opera, embracing more than forty themes, Victor L. Schertzinger has written both the words and the music of several incidental songs sung during some of the more intense emotional scenes and entre acts of Thomas H. Ince's muchly-heralded eleven reel Cinema peace production "Civilization," at the Criterion theatre.

A selected chorus of thirty-five young women interprets Mr. Schertzinger's music. Another interesting departure is a 'cello solo, which accompanies one of the scenes, played by Thomas Yorf, a young man Mr. Ince considers a "find," having brought him to New York all the way from California.

CLOUD EFFECTS IN MOTION PICTURES

(Continued from page 3799)

Voigtlander, Goerz, Bausch and Lomb, Taylor, Taylor and Hobson and other photo-opticans. The G. Cramer Dry Plate Company of St. Louis, are also specialists in light filters of the highest quality and the "Ideal" ray filter made by Burke and James of Chicago, has been popular with photographers for many years and will stand a rigid test.

Before closing, it will be well to give a few pointers as to the correct usage of a filter. Opinions differ as to whether a filter should be placed before or behind the lens. As the placing of a filter in either of these positions will alter the focus of the lens (generally lengthening it slightly) it is best to focus the image with the filter in position. It will probably be most convenient for the cameraman to use his filter in front of the lens, in which event the filter should be placed close to the front glass of the same. Never place the filter on the outer end of the sunshade an inch or more from the lens combination, as in this case the definition or sharpness of the image would be sure to suffer.

AMERICAN MOVIE CAMERA COMPANY PERMIT IS REVOKED BY FRISCO COMMISSIONERS

THE Commissioner of Corporations has revoked the permit of the American Movie Camera Company of San Francisco to dispose of stock, as its assets are under attachment. This concern sold no shares other than in exchange for shares of the Pocket Movie Camera Company, which it succeeded.

ALL Kimball Organs are masterpieces, whether they consist in a carefully selected group of orchestral tones for a house seating less than five hundred or whether they contain every instrument that can be utilized in the most exacting picture and enough of them to fill the largest auditorium with musical sound. The electrical mechanism is quick, accurate, dependable and puts the whole instrument as completely under the domination of the organist as the symphony orchestra the conductor.

W. W. KIMBALL CO. Established 1857 CHICAGO

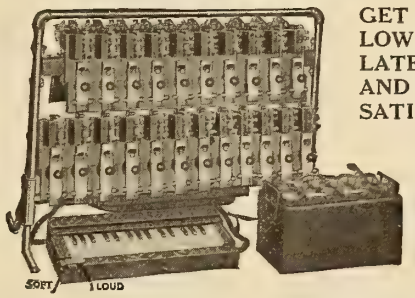
Eastern Office:—507 FIFTH AVE., NEW YORK

FILL THOSE EMPTY SEATS DOUBLE YOUR RECEIPTS



GET THE OTHER FELLOW'S CROWD with the LATEST STREET, LOBBY AND PIT MUSICAL SENSATION, A DEAGAN UNAPHONE, WITH AND WITHOUT SWELL BOX. TWO MANAGERS, WITH FOUR SHOWS EACH, HAVE EIGHT UNAPHONES IN DAILY USE. LOSSES HAVE CHANGED TO PROFITS. WHY NOT YOU?

WRITE FOR TRIAL OFFER AND CATALOG "F"

J. C. DEAGAN, Deagan Building 1776 Berteau Avenue Chicago, Ill.

A. B. C. DRAMATIC MUSIC

Don't be without the New Modern Music for Picture Playing. 12 Sets now ready.

Set 1 consists of a heavy misterioso. Agitato and Plaintive, for scenes of incendiarism or premeditated murder.

Set 2 consists of a long Heavy Dramatic Descriptive and Hurry. Good for scenes of heavy plotting or mysterious action leading to fights or tumult.

Set 3 consists of an Agitato-Hurry and Lamentation. Good for fights, riots, etc., ending in despair or death.

Set 4 consists of a Light Agitato and Andante movement. Good for quarrels or agitation in society dramas.

Set 5 is a Burglar scene opening with the sneaky music, then agitato, hurry and Plaintive. Contains four different numbers.

Set 6 consists of a misterioso and Allegro Hurry. Used for plotting ending in great confusion or fights.

Set 7 is an Indian scene of three numbers. An Indian mystical opening a fight or battle hurry, closing with an Indian plaintive.

Set 8 is a fight and chase scene. Opens with a Hurry, going directly into a concert gallop for the chase.

Set 9 is a three numbered Storm scene. A. 1 is a Storm Hurry. B. 2 is an Allegro Agitato. C. 3 a Plaintive Andante as an Aftermath Set 10 A Diabolical Scene of 3 numbers. A. 1 is a new Misterioso. B. 2 an Agitato-Misterioso. C. 3 an Andante in minor key.

Set 11 A Western Scene. 3 numbers. Illustrates the western characteristic, the barroom fight and the chase.

Set 12 A Fire Scene of 4 numbers. A. 1 the plotting. B. 2 the agitation or alarm. C. 3 the coming of the fire department. D. 4 a Waltz Lento movement after action quiet.

No picture player can afford to be without these numbers. All numbers arranged for Piano, Organ, One Man Orchestra Player or Orchestral combinations from 2 to 35 pieces.

Prices:—Small Orch. including Organ and Cello .....25 cents each Set
Full Orch. .....35 cents each Set
Piano Solo and Accom..10 cents each Set
Extra Parts ..... 5 cents each part

PHOTO PLAY MUSIC CO., Publishers, New York Theatre, 1530 Broadway, New York City

FOR SALE

MOVING PICTURE MAILING LISTS

Only complete one to be had, numbering 22,000; price, $40.00; itemized by states, or $3.50 per thousand for states you want. Postage guaranteed.

1173	Film Exchanges	$4.00
149	Manufacturers and Studios.....	1.00
210	Moving Picture Machine and Supply Dealers	1.50

Write for particulars

Trade Circular Addressing Co.

166½ West Adams Street, Chicago

Franklin 1183 Estab. 1889

"A Gutter Magdalene"

By ERNST LUZ

Paramount Feature Projection Time, 70 Minutes

This plot is adapted so as to make it possible for the pianist, one man orchestra player, organist or orchestra leader to make some prior preparation for playing the picture. The numbers suggested do not need to be used; similar numbers, or numbers suggested by "notes" will do as well. It is intended that no unnecessary expense be added for the exhibitor or musician.

	Description of Music	Number Suggested	Cue to Stop Number
1.	Desc. (H. Rom.)	"Tulip and Pansies" (Ditson & Co.)	"$40,000 and a western tenderfoot."
2.	Inter.		After telephoning scenes.
3.	H. Dr. Andante	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 3"—B-2	After wife walks out of room where gambling.
4.	Agitato	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set. No. 3"—A-1	After Westerner hit on head.
5.	Desc. (H. Path.)	"To a Star" (W. Jacobs)	Policeman picks up Steve from street.
6.	Salvation Army	"Salvation Army Patrol" (C. Fischer)	After wife comes from auto.
7.	Desc. (H. Rom.)	"Serenade by Jeffrie (Boston Music Co.)	Connects 1 and 2.
		PART 2.
			"Maida finds her new happiness."
8.	Waltz (Leg.)	"Rosemaiden" (E. Schuberth)	City Park scene.
9.	Desc. (H. Rom.)	"Second Reverei" (Cundy & Co.)	Maida gives soup to Steve in Salvation Army quarters.
10.	Agitato	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 3"—A-1	After Steve hit by auto on street.
11.	Dr. Andante	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 3"—B-2	Salvation Army standing singing.
12.	Rock of Ages		"Scuse me lady," etc.
13.	Path. Int. and Waltz	"Tourjous Jamais" by Waldteufel	Connects 2 and 3.
		PART 3.
			"A gleam of sunshine."
14.	Desc. (Rom.)	"Spring Dreams" (Leo Feist)	"Sheriff Tom Barrett."
15.	H. Leg. Intro. and Waltz	"Forget Me Not" by Waldteufel	"Meet me here at 9:30 to-night."
16.	Desc. (H. Leg.)	"Character Suite Sketches No. 1" (Ditson & Co.)	Connects 3 and 4.
		PART 4.
17.	Desc. (H. Leg.)	"Character Suite Sketches No. 2" (Ditson & Co.)
18.	Desc. (H. Leg.)	"Character Suite Sketches No. 3" (Ditson & Co.)	After Boyce arrested.
19.	Desc. (H. Leg.)	"Rosemary" (M. Witmark)	Prison cell scenes.
20.	Inter. (L. Desc.)	"Starlight" (Chappell & Co.)	Connects 4 and 5.
		PART 5.
			After prison cell scenes.
21.	Desc. (Path.)	"Twilight" (Chappell & Co.)
22.	Desc. (H. Leg.)	"Visions" by Tschaikowski	"You said if I came here to-night."
23.	Agitato	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set. No. 3"—A-1	Jack Morgan shot by Maida.
24.	Desc. (H. Path.)	"Chimes of Love" (C. Fischer)	Police station scene.
	Waltz (Leg.)	"La Flamme" (Ricordi & Co.)	To end.

Notes: This picture affords excellent opportunities for character synchronization and for obtaining serious musical depth. For obtaining the heavy, romantic and pathetic effects numbers of legato movements should be selected as near as possible.

Effect Notes: The usual drum effects characteristic of the Salvation Army can be used during No. 6. A single pistol shot at the end of No. 23 is also good. All other effects should be avoided.

Nos. 1, 5, 7, 9, 16, 17, 18, 19, 21, 22, and 24 should be slow serious numbers, having pathetic or romantic appeals with an emphasized dramatic effect.

For Nos. 16, 17, 18 and 19 a suite of numbers of similar musical temperament can be used to good effect. The cue to stop for No. 18 is not important and is placed in the picture to prompt you and make it impossible for the changing points to go beyond your control.

No. 2 should be a light 2/4 number. No. 6 should be a number characteristic of the Salvation Army. I know no better number than "The Salvation Army Patrol," published by Carl Fischer, Cooper Square, New York.

Nos. 8 and 25 should be medium slow waltzes of legato movement. No. 12 is a positive screen suggestion and the song "Rock of Ages" is the only possible number to use. Nos. 13 and 15 are concert waltzes having slow and apealing introductions. Nos. 14 and 21 are slow numbers with pathetic or romantic appeal. Must be quiet numbers. No. 20 should be a light 4/4 number. The organ can be used to good advantage throughout the entire picture.

WE BUILD
ORGANS AND ORCHESTRIONS
WITH ELECTRIC ACTIONS
WRITE FOR CATALOG
FACTORY
THE SYMPHONY PLAYER CO.
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Music is essential for a successful picture entertainment, and
THE BARTOLA ORCHESTRA
is essential for providing perfect music. Our catalog explains this.
CHAS. C. PYLE, General Sales Agent, 710-711 Mallers Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
Factory
Oshkosh, Wisconsin

Building and Furnishings

STRAND, IN ALTOONA, PA., OPENED ON MAY 29 BY SILVERMAN BROTHERS, IS A 1,670-SEAT HOUSE

ALTOONA, PA., has a new picture theatre of modern design and equipment—the Strand, which opened its doors to the public on May 29. The enterprise of its owners, Silverman Brothers, is well illustrated by their advertising of the opening. Not content with a page or two of newspaper space, they employed a ten-page section in the Altoona Times, in which the theatre was fully described from every angle. This section also carried the advertisements of all the building and accessory firms which were concerned in the construction and equipment of the house.

The Strand is a theatre of 1,670 capacity, with 920 seats on the first floor and 750 in the balcony. A wide lobby, 40 by 60 feet, provides entrance to the theatre from Eleventh avenue, through half a dozen double doors. The lobby is adorned with beautiful matched panels of marine brocadilli marble, around all sides. The inclined promenade, leading from the lobby to the lounging room on the second floor, and thence to the balcony, is built with a floor of quarry tile. The walls of the lobby, lounging room and promenade are of caen stone.

Exterior of the Strand, Altoona, Pa., from Architect's Drawing

The first floor has been treated with a harmonious color scheme. The proscenium arch, in which the screen is installed, is flanked on each side by four boxes, two on each floor, while the paintings over the arch are extended around on either side of the balcony. Four loges are also provided, between the boxes and the regular seats. A magnificent chandelier is suspended from the ceiling, and lighting fixtures have been arranged conveniently in all parts of the house.

Three distinct general lighting systems are provided: a general lighting system, emergency and remote control. In addition, there is a battery system, which makes it possible, in case the other systems fail, to illuminate the theatre until the current is turned on.

The fire escapes are all wide and substantial. Floors are of concrete and heavy rails are used as guards. The fire escapes on the Eleventh avenue alley side lead into a fire tower. The platforms are all built with concrete floors, and have steps with non-slip treads.

For the convenience of patrons there are ladies' retiring rooms, men's smoking rooms, parcel rooms, drinking fountains, public telephones, children's playrooms, an information bureau, and many other comforts. The toilet rooms, as well as the wash rooms and matron's room, are finished in Venoso marble, with floors of tile. Two offices on the second floor are equipped for the Messrs. Silverman, and their office force. On the third floor are located the ushers' quarters and the press room.

A roof garden will be opened June 15. This will occupy the space over the theatre entrance, and will be 40 by 60 feet.

Young ladies act as ushers at the theatre. Paramount and Triangle pictures are shown exclusively in Altoona at the Strand. Four performances are given daily. The music is furnished by a Wurlitzer-Hope-Jones Unit Orchestra.

OAKLAND THEATRE IN PONTIAC, MICH., READY IN OCTOBER, WILL SEAT 1,800

THE general contracts have been let and work has been started on the new Oakland theatre, store and office building, on the southeast corner of Saginaw and Water streets, Pontiac, Mich.

This theatre will be one of the largest and most beautiful theatres erected in the state and is owned and will be operated by the Oakland Theatre Company of Detroit, officers of which are A. I. Marentette, president; James H. O'Donnell, vice-president; Harry Goldstein, second vice-president, and Frank C. Cook, secretary and treasurer.

It is expected to have the building ready for occupancy about the first of October. The building itself will be modern and fireproof throughout. The entire front is to be built of white terra cotta, which will also carry around some distance on the side street.

In addition to the theatre portion, the building will also contain four modern stores on the first floor and several well appointed suites of offices on the second floor. The basement will contain space for a billiard room and barber shop and will have separate entrance from the street.

The theatre proper is to be built on the amphitheatre style, similar to the Majestic theatre, Detroit, and will have a seating capacity of about 1,800.

The interior decorative scheme is carried out on the Adam style and the opinion gained from the architect's sketches is that it will far surpass anything yet designed along these lines. The foyers and lobbies are very spacious, in fact, they are large enough to accommodate the entire audience. Spacious retiring and toilet rooms have ben provided for ladies and gentlemen and all the other conveniences provided for a modern theatre building such as check rooms, and lounging rooms, are included in this building.

Inclines instead of stairways are used to reach the various levels, which makes every portion of the theatre easy of access. The building is open on all sides so that there are exits in every direction at every point in the theatre. This feature alone is something that few theatres can boast of.

The stage is large enough to produce most any attraction and is completely equipped in every detail. The dressing room and musicians' rooms are all located under the stage. The building will have its own power plant and heating apparatus.

Special attention has been given to the ventilating which is to be a very elaborate system.

The Frank Farrington Company, of Detroit, has been awarded the general contract. C. Howard Crane of Detroit, who has designed and planned a great many of Detroit's beautiful theatres, including the Majestic, Alhambra, Garden, Strand and others.

WHO PAYS THE COST

of installing a SOSMAN & LANDIS STAGE SETTING? You do, originally, but your patrons repay your investment many times over. They will come to your house oftener and in greater numbers. They will patronize your theatre because they appreciate the distinctiveness and beauty of SOSMAN & LANDIS creations, because they find that the setting minimizes eye-strain, and because it helps out the illusion created by the pictures.

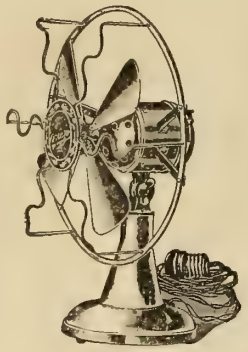
We will design a setting for your theatre at a price you can easily afford—some models cost only $200.

Our handsome catalog is yours for the asking—why not send for it now?

SOSMAN & LANDIS COMPANY
SCENIC PIONEERS FOR 37 YEARS
417 SOUTH CLINTON STREET CHICAGO

FANS—FANS

8 in. Chicago A. C. or D. C.	$ 5.35
8 in. Breezer A. C. or D. C.	6.90
12 in. D. C. Regular - -	12.50
16 in. D. C. Regular - -	14.25
12 in. D. C. Oscillating -	15.95
16 in. D. C. Oscillating -	18.85
16 in. D. C. Exhaust Fans -	15.25
57 in. D. C. Ceiling Fans -	19.75
12 in. A. C. Regular - -	12.00
16 in. A. C. Regular - -	15.75
12 in. A. C. Oscillating -	16.85
16 in. A. C. Oscillating -	20.00
58 in. A. C. Ceiling Fan -	25.20
16 in. A. C. Exhaust Fan -	18.60



BREEZER

Other sizes of fans at prices correspondingly low. Write for our Complete Catalog of Picture Machines and Theatre Supplies.

EXHIBITORS SUPPLY CO., 5 S. WABASH AVE., CHICAGO, ILL.

REFLEX
Made in Switzerland
CARBONS
Write us for descriptive circular and price list
JONES & CAMMACK
Sole Importers
12 Bridge Street New York City

THEATRE ACCESSORIES
LUCAS THEATRE SUPPLY COMPANY
ATLANTA GEORGIA

ALL THE PLAYERS

of prominence in any sized picture can be furnished instantly. WIRE US YOUR WANTS. If you fail to display the face of a popular player who is appearing at your house you are overlooking an opportunity for larger receipts. THE FACE OF A WELL KNOWN PLAYER prominently displayed will draw more money than the mere announcement of a name.

LARGE HAND COLORED PICTURES.
Size 22 x 28 75c Each Size 11 x 14 20c Each

SEMI-PHOTO POST CARDS $3.00 per thousand. Print your announcement on correspondence side and mail them weekly. PHOTOGRAPHS, size 8 x 10, all the prominent players, 600 different names, 20c. each. GRAVURE FOLDERS, containing pictures of all the prominent players, including feature stars, $10.00 per thousand.

SINGLE COLUMN CUTS of all the players, 600 names, 40c. each.

TRANSPARENCIES, ALL SIZES, from 50c. to $2.50. FAC-SIMILE OIL PAINTINGS from $8.00 to $25.00, according to size and frames.

KRAUS MFG. CO., 220 W. 42nd Street, N. Y.
12th Floor, CHANDLER BUILDING.
Send for Catalogue of over 600 players and samples free. Write us giving details of your dull nights, and we will send you a remedy.

MARKET STREET REALTY BUYS TWO THEATRES IN SAN FRANCISCO

THE Market Street Realty Company, which controls one of the most valuable pieces of property in San Francisco, located at Fourth and Market streets, and which is to shortly erect an immense moving picture house, has purchased the Portola theatre, almost adjoining this site, together with the Market Street theatre, opposite Fifth street. The Portola is one of the leading houses in the downtown district, with a seating capacity of about 1,100, and has been the home of many film successes, it being considered a mark of honor to have productions presented there. It is conducted under the management of Eugene Roth, who is acknowledged to be one of the leading exhibitors of the entire country, and who will continue in charge of the house as well as assuming the management of the other two.

The Market Street theatre is of about the same size as the Portola and is centrally located. It has been conducted for years by Hallahan and Getz and until recently was a program house, using General service. Feature attractions were put on recently and this policy will be continued by the new management. With two 1,100 seat houses now in operation on Market street and a third one with a capacity of almost three times as many planned the Market Street Realty Company has taken a commanding position in the downtown amusement field.

PIEDMONT IN ATLANTA, IN HEART OF BUSINESS DISTRICT, COST $100,000 TO BUILD

THE newly completed Piedmont Theatre, of Atlanta, Georgia, is one of the finest picture houses in the South. It is located on the heart of the business district, a few doors from the Keith Theatre and the Ansley and Piedmont hotels. Hugh Richardson, the Atlanta capitalist, authorized A. T. Brown, the architect, to draw plans calling for an expenditure of $100,000. The site of the theatre is worth $400,000.

The house has been leased to Charles and Peter Mion for a term of years and is under the management of Ralph DeBruller.

The Piedmont Theatre has exclusive first-run service from the Paramount and exclusive rights on the George Kleine-Billie Burke serial. A feature of the daily program is the concerts played on the J. P. Seeburg player. The big instrument is operated by a relay of three experts who were brought to Atlanta for this purpose.

MANY SPEEDCO ARC CONTROLLERS INSTALLED IN EASTERN THEATRES IN THE LAST WEEK

RECENT installations of Speedco Arc Controllers have been in The Regent theatre, Rochester, N. Y.; Rowland and Clark's Regent, Pittsburgh, Pa.; another to Keith's Prospect, Brooklyn, N. Y.; two more to the Vitagraph Company's studio, in Brooklyn, N. Y.; Loew's Lincoln Square, New York City; the Wilson, Baltimore; the Strand, Flint, Mich.; another to the Cortland Opera House, Cortland, N. Y.; the Liberty, New York City, and the Criterion, New York, for Ince's "Civilization."

"PERCENTAGE PICTURES" IS SPECIAL ARTICLE IN "NOVELTY NOTES," ON SCREEN CAREERS

"NOVELTY NOTES" for June contains an exhaustive special article, entitled "Percentage Pictures," which is important to all who are interested in the future careers of Anita Stewart, Mary Pickford, and Charles Chaplin and their probable effects on the motion picture industry.

"Novelty Notes" is mailed to exhibitors only: but any of NEWS readers may obtain a copy of the June issue if they will send their names and addresses to "Novelty Notes," 115 East 23rd street, New York.

DEPARTMENT OF INTERIOR BUYS ALLISON AND HADAWAY LIGHTS

ALLISON & HADAWAY, 235 Fifth avenue, New York City, manufacturers of studio lights, report that they have just made a shipment of their New Panchroma Twin Arc portable lights to the United States Government. These lamps were ordered by the Department of Interior after they had tested a sample submitted to them some time ago. Each lamp is 8,000 candle power and fitted with special made trunks for quick transportation purposes.

GREAT WESTERN WILL MAKE FEATURES ON 22,000 ACRE RANCH

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Chicago, June 3.

The Great Western Film Company is a new Minnesota Corporation which intends about June 15 to start producing western features on a 22,000 acre ranch near Malta, Montana. A. R. Tobin, business manager, states that he secured the services for this company of Wallace D. Corburn, the cowboy poet, who will appear as one of the stars; C. W. Hitchcock as producing director, and of William P. Cooper, formerly with the Moffet Studios of Chicago, as photographic director. It is also the plan of this company to erect a studio in St. Paul for the purpose of producing commercial pictures.

The Raths-Sevolt Company of St. Paul has secured the agency for the Portoscope, a small projector, manufactured by the Motion Picture-Scope Company of Chicago, in the Northwest territory.

The National Carbon Company of Cleveland, Ohio, who had an exhibit at the Northwestern Exhibitors' Convention in Minneapolis, in charge of I. V. Chrissman, demonstrated their new metal carbons. Five hundred samples of these were distributed among the exhibitors and operators who attended the show.

The Western Electric Company of Chicago had a booth at the Minneapolis Convention, in charge of L. E. Luckman, in which they displayed their inter-phones for theatres, national carbons, fans, Pyrene extinguishers and Mazda lamps.

D. C. Cookingham, general manager and one of the owners of the Hertner Electric and Manufacturing Company of Cleveland, Ohio, was present at the Minneapolis Convention to demonstrate their transvertor to the Northwestern exhibitors.

BROWN AND CRISP OF CLUNE RETURN TO LOS ANGELES

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Los Angeles, June 3.

MANAGER of Production Lloyd Brown and Director Donald Crisp of the Clune Film Producing Company, have returned from a stay of several weeks with Harold Bell Wright at his ranch home in Arizona, with a completed script for the story "The Eyes of The World." Settings and properties are now being built at the studio in Hollywood, but most of the scenes will be made on the setting described by Wright in his book.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., FILMED BY GAUMONT FOR "SEE AMERICA FIRST"

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., the "Pittsburgh of the South," will be shown in pictures in Gaumont's "See America First" series June 21. This is one of the last southern cities to be pictured in "See America First" at the present time, since the Gaumont cameraman has come North to take advantage of the summer season. On June 14 will be released some memorable views of Yellowstone National Park.

DIRECTORY OF NEW THEATRES

ALABAMA

The Strand theatre, Montgomery, has let a contract to the Carrier Air Conditioning Company for a new ventilating system in the theatre. The air will pass into the auditorium through 350 mushroom ventilators beneath the chairs, and will be drawn out by an exhaust in the attic of the building. There will be a complete change of air in the building every two minutes.

ARIZONA

The Phoenix Amusement Company, composed of Messrs. Mouk and Richard, have opened their seventh theatre, The Rex, at Prescott. The company has the Columbia of one thousand seats, and the Amuzu at Phoenix, the Iris at Rey, National at Hayden, Iris at Florence and the Juarez at Sonora.

ARKANSAS

The Yale Theatre Company of Oklahoma is spending around $50,000 on their new theatre in the Schulte Building, Fort Smith, which was recently leased by General Manager L. W. Brophy. The house, when completed, will play vaudeville, stock and pictures.

CALIFORNIA

Ford and Meyer, who took over the Acme theatre at Castro and Twenty-fourth streets, San Francisco, a short time ago, have since purchased the Palmer and Vicksburg theatres in the immediate vicinity. As the district is not large enough to support three theatres one or more of these will be closed, except on special occasions.

THEATRE AND EXCHANGE MAILING LIST SERVICE

We rent lists of or address contemplated or existing theatres, exchanges, state rights owners, publicity mediums and producers, selected as to territory, class, etc. Twenty thousand changes were recorded in our list last year. Its use means a saving to you of from 30 to 50% in postage, etc.

N65

MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY CO.

80 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK Phone, 3227 Chelsea
425 ASHLAND BLOCK, CHICAGO Phone, 2003 Randolph

Addressing Multigraphing Printing Typewriting

OPERA CHAIRS

Steel—Cast Iron

Exceptional in Quality—Comfortable

You are invited to make use of our Service Department. Send blue print or sketch for Free Seating Plan.

If you are desirous of reseating, we can help you dispose of old chairs.

Write for Catalog N.

We manufacture Special Out-of-Door Seating.

STEEL FURNITURE CO.

1475 Buchanan Ave., S. W.
Grand Rapids, Mich.

EXHIBITORS CASH IN ON THIS OFFER

Every exhibitor will agree that his one best asset is a classy program to go to his patrons weekly. The most effective and classiest program on the market is our Souvenir Portrait Card program. It reaches the home, is a sure patron getter, and is the cheapest advertising known. And now you can purchase them at an undreamed of price — Listen ——

1000 Weekly Programs, $3.00

Printed on the backs of our famous artistic Souvenir Portrait Cards. We had designed and reproduced in colors portrait cards of forty-eight of the biggest stars in filmdom — Billie Burke, Charlie Chaplin, Mary Pickford, Francis X. Bushman, etc. You print your advertising program on the back. Use one a week. Write for sample programs and circular showing "Six Ways to Build a Bigger Patronage."

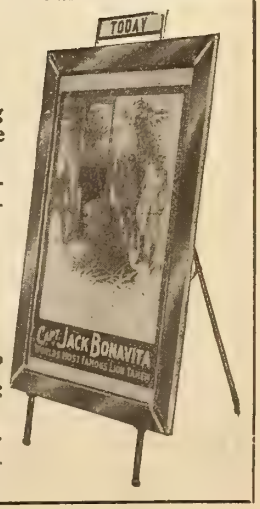
Cahill-Igoe Co., 117 W. Harrison St., Chicago

Make Your Lobby Display Attractive

There is nothing more fascinating to the public than a bright brass frame to display your photos or posters.

We make Lobby and Theatre Fixtures and Brass Rails of every description.

Don't fail to visit our Showrooms.
Write for catalog.



The NEWMAN MFG. CO.
717 Sycamore Street, Cincinnati, Ohio

Branch Factories and Show Rooms:
101 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.
68 W. Washington St., Chicago, Ill.

Coast representative, G. A. Metcalfe, 117 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, California.

AMERICAN SEATING COMPANY

Exclusive Manufacturers of

Furnishings for Theatres, Schools, Churches and all Public Buildings

When you want Opera Chairs, remember we have

50,000 CHAIRS

ALWAYS IN STOCK

in 6 different styles in Imitation Mahogany and Circassian Walnut finishes, assuring you satisfactory selection and

IMMEDIATE SERVICE

Other designs of Upholstered and Unupholstered Chairs unlimited in number, furnished in 25 to 50 days after receipt of specifications, depending on character of chairs selected.

Our Consultation Service, specializing in designing economical arrangements for theatre seating is tendered to you without any charge whatever.

Descriptive literature on request.

For prompt attention address:

General Offices: 1012 LYTTON BUILDING, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Sales Offices in all principal cities

INFORMATION

I am interested in Motion Picture Photography and would like

Without Obligation

on my part to obtain information on the equipment as checked

CAMERAS
CAMERA ATTACHMENTS
TRIPODS
LENSES
FILM STOCK
STUDIO LIGHTS
LABORATORY APPARATUS
DEVELOPING AND PRINTING

(Tear out this advertisement and mail to MOTION PICTURE NEWS, 729 7th Avenue, New York.)

Name .....

Theatre .....

Address .....

.....

The plan of E. M. Frazier to erect a large moving picture house on Stevenson street, San Francisco, and to secure an entrance to the theatre through the space now occupied by the Empire nickelodeon, bridging the rear street, has brought forth a storm of protest from property owners in the vicinity. It was set forth by the protestants, who appeared before the board of supervisors, that such an arrangement would upset property values and would tend to increase the fire hazard. Mr. Frazier has applied for a permit and this has been approved by the building committee and the street committee.

Turner and Dahnken of San Francisco, who conduct a circuit of moving picture houses in California, Oregon and Nevada, plan to erect a new theatre at Richmond, where a large lot is owned. This new house will supplant the one now being conducted there and will have a seating capacity of 2,000. A. W. Cornelius of San Francisco is the architect.

CANADA

William Brown, who has for some time controlled the Majestic and Crystal theatres in Vancouver, B. C., has just added the Maple Leaf to his string, taking over the lease formerly held by the National Amusement Company. The house will hereafter change its program daily, and the admission price has been reduced to five cents.

Mr. Smart, well known in Rockwood, Ont., has decided to open a moving picture house there.

ILLINOIS

J. A. Behrick and Son, contractors, has been awarded the contract for the erection of a $22,000 motion picture theatre in Robinson. The building will be modern in every respect, with a seating capacity of eight hundred.

H. E. Otey, owner and manager of the Robinson Opera House, is having that theatre remodeled. The main floor is being lowered five feet, giving exits level with the pavement. The front entrance also has been improved.

INDIANA

Charles Porter has bought the Old Trails theatre at Centerville. The theatre has been in charge of Mr. Cook, who was forced to give it up on account of poor health. Mr. Porter formerly operated a picture show in Cambridge City.

Otto E. Banschbach, of Shelbyville, has taken charge of the Grace theatre at Martinsville, as Manager for F. J. Rembusch, owner of the theatre. Mr. Rembusch and Mr. Blackstone have dissolved their business arrangement which has existed for some time, during which time Mr. Blackstone has been in charge of the Grace theatre as well as the Blackstone theatre. Mr. Banschbach has been employed by Mr. Rembusch for the last four years and has much experience in the motion picture business. The Grace theatre will be open each evening hereafter.

W. W. C. Barnes, of Marion, has been awarded the contract for erecting the new theatre building of the Washington Theatre Company, on the site of the old Mecca club, in West Fourth street, Marion. Work will begin soon.

The Strand theatre, in North Michigan street, South Bend, has reopened under new management, with shows at popular prices.

Alexander John McCabe, publicity man of the Orpheum theatre, Fort Wayne, and formerly in charge of the publicity of several of the leading motion picture theatres of Fort Wayne, recently was married to Miss Norma Estelle Merkel, of Fort Wayne.

A combination, pipe organ, piano and complete orchestra instrument has been installed at the Crystal theatre, Decatur, by William Parent, manager of the theatre.

Mr. Weintraut, of Waldron, has bought James Alcorn's north side motion picture theatre at Greensburg and will move the equipment to Waldron.

H. T. Coons of the Gem theatre, at Hobart, has bought an electric transverter for his theatre, and hereafter will use direct current.

The Grand and Lyric theatres at Aurora, which were closed recently for two weeks on account of a breakdown in the power station, have reopened.

Mt. Vernon, is to have a new motion picture theatre. Mr. Crebs has purchased the Palace livery stable and will put up a new film house on that site. Steel ceilings are included in the architect's specifications, and with a concrete floor, make the house fireproof.

LOUISIANA

The Ivy theatre, at Annette and Villere streets, New Orleans, has reopened under the management of Emile Garnier. High class vaudeville and pictures are being featured by the management.

All plans have been completed for the leasing and operation of the new Strand theatre, at Baronne and Gravier streets, New Orleans. The theatre will be finished in October at a cost of several hundred thousand dolalrs. The Saenger Amusement Company has leased the Strand from the De Soto Biulding Company for a period of ten years. It will be two-stories high, and will contain seven modern office buildings in addition to the theatre proper. It will be finished throughout in Caen stone and marble, and will seat 2,000. The exterior will be white terra cotta, and concrete and steel will be used on the inside. Silent rotary fans and a system of vacuum cleaning will be installed. The Strand theatre will be directed by one of the best known picture men in the country, E. V. Richards, Jr., a close friend and associate of S. L. Rothapfel, proprietor of New York's Rialto. The dominant interests in the De Soto Building Company are Commissioner of Public Safety Harold W. Newman and his brother, Leonard Newman, of the brokerage concern of M. W. Newman and Sons, Henry Beer and Edgar H. Bright, of the cotton firm of H. and B. Beer.

L. C. Asbury recently reopened the Canal Airdome, Canal and Rochebave streets, New Orleans.

The Empire theatre, New Orleans, has ordered two Simplex projection machines from George Vivirito.

It has became known that the Pearce interests are back of a plan to build a moving picture theatre to seat several thousand in Canal street, New Orleans. This enterprise is expected to eclipse anything yet undertaken by the Pearces. Just as soon as a desirable site is selected, the building will begin, it is announced.

The Pearce interests, New Orleans, have donated an entire moving picture "theatre" to the Warren Easton High School. Pictures will be shown regularly to the school boys, and will consist mainly of educational subjects.

Spanish Fort, one of the most popular New Orleans summer resorts, in opening this summer announced that free motion pictures would be projected nightly. On Sunday afternoons a cameraman from the Harcol Film Company "shoots" various groups of pleasure seekers, and these pictures are shown at the resort a week later. The new scheme brings out the crowds in large numbers.

An immense cooling system has been installed in the Triangle theatre, New Orleans. It is noted in this connection that practically every management in Canal street is featuring this summer the fact that the inside of its theatre is several degrees cooler than the temperature on the street.

Fire caused a loss of $1,025 at the Peoples theatre, 2736 Dryades street, New Orleans, when flames started from a projection machine and spread to the main floor.

MICHIGAN

The opening of the following Detroit theatres will probably take place before the expiration of the next sixty days: The Ferry Field theatre, Grand River avenue and the Boulevard; The Drury Lane, Woodward and Grand Circus Park and the Regent theatre, Woodward and Horton avenues.

Jack Mowitt has been appointed manager of the Knickerbocker theatre, Jefferson and the Boulevard, owned by the Ingersoll-Gaukler Company, Detroit. Mr. Mowitt formerly managed the New Empire theatre.

The Vaudette theatre at Three Rivers, has been purchased by George Pierce, of Constantine, who is remodeling same for the exhibition of features exclusively.

Architects Charlton and Kuenzli, of Marquette, have been engaged by August E. Brauns, of Iron Mountain, to prepare plans for a moving picture theatre building, that will be 60 by 75 feet in size, and situated on East Ludington street.

The Star theatre in Bay City, is now under the management of L. R. Simpson, who also has the Alladin theatre in that city.

MISSOURI

With the honor of being the oldest moving picture theatre in Kansas City—the first one to start there far back in 1898—the Yale Arcade, 720 Main street recently closed its doors. Harry Fogel was the proprietor. This house was first opened in the year of the Spanish-American war. It is the only house in Kansas City that has not changed its location since starting. Incidentally it is also one of very few houses to claim the constant ownership that it does. But once has it changed hands in 1911, Harry Fogel purchased it from its originators, Carl Mincing, J. F. Mincing and A. D. Flintom.

OHIO

Kenton is to have a motion picture theatre seating 900 persons. It will be the remodeled Opera House. The main floor will seat 500, while 400 can be accommodated in the two balconies. There will be three main aisles in the theatre, while the lighting will be of the indirect type. Work will be started within sixty days.

The Empress, another Kenton motion picture theatre, has just been remodeled and put into service. A National ticket vendor also has been installed. It is an electrically operated machine and facilitates the handling of tickets. A new gold fibre screen has been added to the equipment. Miss Hazel Kuntz is the new pianiste.

The Royal motion picture theatre, Tiffin, has been sold to William H. Wolf, a retired traveling salesman. The house was turned over to Mr. Wolf by Fred. J. Curtis and Peter B. Hipp, who owned the theatre for a number of years.

The Star theatre, Delaware, has been closed for repairs. A new floor will be put in on the same level with the sidewalk. The back wall be torn out and the theatre enlarged. Other improvements include new twin electric fans and a marble entrance.

OKLAHOMA

The Electric is the name of the theatre which opened at Commerce recently. The house is modern in every detail, seats 600, has a new model Simplex projector, and is using features.

A new picture house is reported to be in the field at Muskogee. When completed, it will be 40 by 70.

Sans Souci Park and Airdome has opened at McAlester. Pictures and vaudeville are used.

W. T. Spears has secured the contract to remodel the Yale theatre at Muskogee. It calls for $15,000 worth of alterations. Mr. Brophy, manager, says he will have the finest house of its size in Oklahoma when the Yale is worked over.

A. G. Hall, manager of the Strand at Drumright, has resigned and is sojourning in California. Dave Williams, his successor, also manages the Majestic.

PENNSYLVANIA

The Orpheum theatre at Forbes and Murry avenues, in the Squirrel Hill district of Pittsburgh, one of the finest residence sections, has opened. It is one of the prettiest theatres in the city. Mark Browarsky is the proprietor of the Orpheum and the theatre seats 400 persons. It is equipped in the finest style. The pictures are changed daily and feature subjects will be used. An admission price of ten cents is charged and the music for the theatre is furnished by a pipe organ.

TEXAS

Tyler and Everidge have recently opened the Star theatre at Rising Star. They have a light plant and new projection equipment, and are getting started rather well.

J. R. Wells from Denison, has bought the Garden summer theatre at Longview, from H. R. Yates.

The Four States Amusement Company, was incorporated at Texarkana, Texas, last week for $750. They will operate the Lyric, Queen and airdome in that town.

Jesse Cook has opened the Brookstone Airdome at Denison. He is running vaudeville, light stock and pictures.

J. J. O'Malley is no longer with the Queen theatre, Abilene, having resigned. His successor is H. G. Haynie.

C. J. Musselman's new motion picture house in Paris, will be modern in every particular. It will seat around 900. Paris was visited by fire some weeks ago, and Mr. Musselman lost his three theatres. He is now operating a temporary house.

A. W. Lilly, operating two houses in Commerce, has purchased the two theatres in Wolfe City, a town not far from Commerce. The houses were the Sunset and Busby, but immediately after Jack got them, one of them was changed to the Hippodrome, which is the name of one of the Commerce houses.

Lithographed Streamer Banners for all Paramount, Triangle, World, Equitable, Metro, Fox, Pathe, and all other Feature Pictures.

GOOD PROPOSITION TO DISTRIBUTORS

10 Ft. x 32 In.

30c. EACH

At Your Exchange or

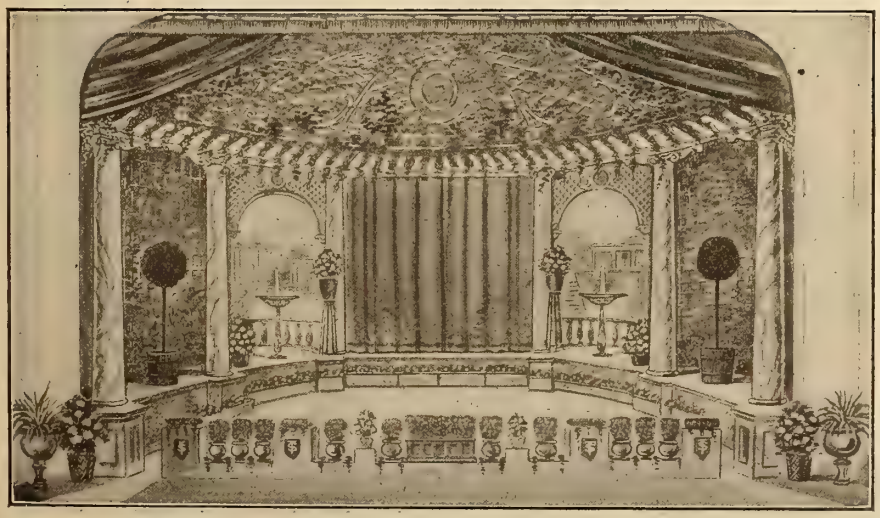
NATIONAL POSTER CO.

518 Maller's Building, Chicago, Ill.
145 W. 45th Street, New York City
310 Palace Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.
207 Broadway Market Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

Mr. Exhibitor: Condensers for which you are asked to pay One Dollar each or more, are not as good as the ones, we are selling regular at 75 cents each. We still have about five thousand MALTESE CROSS condensers left from our last import.

Take advantage of this price. They are guaranteed against discoloring, are the purest crystal condensers produced at any price. Per dozen, $7.50, half dozen, $4.00. Get the habit, deal with the best Motion Picture Supply House in the country. For 16 years in the lead.

THE STERN MANUFACTURING CO., INC., Philadelphia, Pa.



For Artistic Lobby Display and Stage Decorations

Install our line of Artificial FLOWERS, TREES, VINES, LEAVES, GARLANDS, WREATHS AND PALMS.

Estimates made and theatres decorated under contract by our expert.

Our 32-page catalogue No. 3, illustrating in colors the latest artificial flowers for Theatre decoration, FREE.

FRANK NETSCHERT COMPANY, INC.
61 Barclay Street New York City

Send in your Contribution!!! NOW!!!

Exhibitors!!

Mail Your May 15th Donation or the 10% of the receipts of your day to the Motion Picture Campaign

for the

Actors' Fund of America

TODAY

Many Exhibitors who have signed up to contribute 10% of one day in their theatres to the Motion Picture Campaign for the Actors' Fund of America are delaying the culmination of the campaign by tardiness in sending in their checks. Lists of contributors are being withheld from publication awaiting the checks promised. Exhibitors! Please send in your checks today!!

Exhibitors!
Send in Your Contribution Now

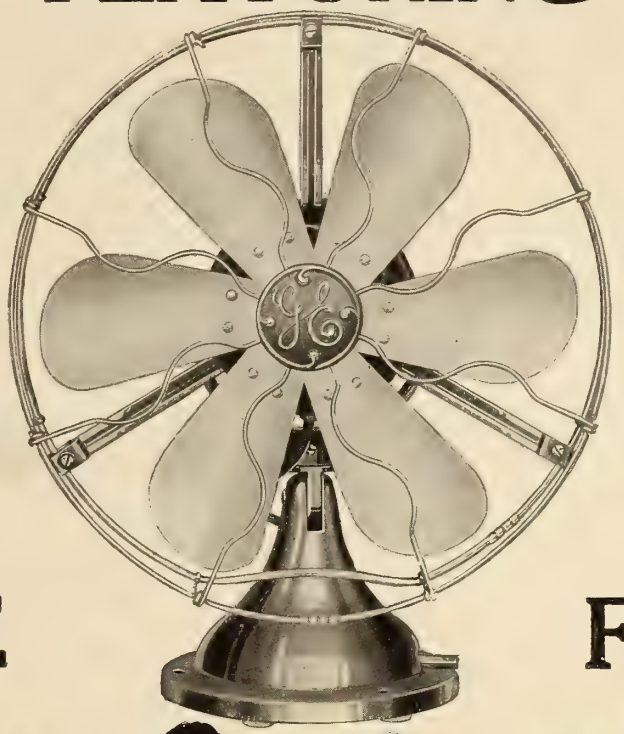
SAMUEL GOLDFISH, Chairman
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE
30 East 42nd St. Annex, New York

Please Mail in Your Contribution at Once

Checks payable to the MOTION PICTURE CAMPAIGN FOR ACTORS' FUND
J. Stuart Blackton, Treasurer, Locust Avenue, Brooklyn, New York

THE WILLIAMS PRINTING COMPANY, NEW YORK

FEATURING



Air changed every minute

Coming—Cool waves on hot days

G-E Fans

Yes—G-E Fans are a big feature on hot days as far as box office receipts go. The cool house is the big house.

When buying Fans look for those with the G-E monogram in the center; there is over twenty years' experience in Fan Building behind it. Insist on G-E Fans—those that will be just as good five or six years hence as they are today—the quiet-running fans that need no more attention than oiling once a year.

If your nearest dealer or lighting company cannot supply you, write us.

General Electric Company

General Office Schenectady, N. Y.

Sales Offices in All Large Cities

6092

Oliver Morosco

PRESENTS

EDNA GOODRICH

IN

"THE MAKING OF MADDALENA"

FROM THE PLAY BY MARY & SAMUEL LEWIS

RELEASED JUNE 8

PRODUCED BY

The Oliver Morosco Photoplay Co.

PARAMOUNT PICTURES

JUNE 24, 1916

Motion Picture News

HAS THE QUALITY CIRCULATION OF THE TRADE

VOL. XIII. No. 25

PRICE 10 CENTS

Red Feather Photoplays

present

"The Heart of a Child"

BY THE FAMOUS NOVELIST, FRANK DANBY, OF "PIGS IN CLOVER" FAME

ANOTHER HEART INTEREST ENGLISH PRODUCTION LIKE "MY OLD DUTCH"

Book through any Universal Exchange

FAMOUS PLAYERS
48 SUPREME PHOTOPLAYS A YEAR

DANIEL FROHMAN
Introduces
The captivating, fascinating

INN PENNINGTON

in her initial screen appearance, as

"SUSIE SNOWFLAKE,"

A photo-drama of Broadway and the Home Town,

By Shannon Fife.

Released June 22nd on the Paramount Program

FAMOUS PLAYERS FILM Co

ADOLPH ZUKOR, PRESIDENT
DANIEL FROHMAN, MANAGING DIRECTOR
124-130 WEST 56TH STREET, NEW YORK
CANADIAN DISTRIBUTORS—FAMOUS PLAYERS FILM SERVICE LTD.

Paramount Pictures

are the productions of

Famous Players Film Co., Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Co., The Oliver Morosco Photoplay Co., Pallas Pictures

Quality in a photoplay will attract desirable patronage.

Consistent quality in a program will hold and build up that desirable patronage.

Paramount exhibitors prosper to-day and build up for tomorrow on a foundation of consistent quality.

Are YOU satisfied?

Write Our Exchange To-day

Paramount Pictures Corporation
FOUR EIGHTY FIVE FIFTH AVENUE at FORTY FIRST ST.
NEW YORK, N.Y.

Paramount Pictures

Music

Specially arranged music for each feature beginning with release of April 3rd, 1916, is available at a small rental. Whether you have a full orchestra or only a piano, this specially arranged music will add greatly to the effectiveness of each feature.

Ask our exchange.

WEEK'S RELEASES

Daniel Frohman presents
MARGUERITE CLARK in SILKS AND SATINS
produced by
Famous Players Film Co.

Daniel Frohman presents
LOUISE HUFF in DESTINY'S TOY
produced by
Famous Players Film Co.

PARAMOUNT-BURTON HOLMES TRAVEL PICTURES NO. 19
"The Penal Colony of Palawan"

PARAMOUNT PICTOGRAPHS NO. 19
Preparedness.
Better Babies.
Testing Your Mind—Munsterberg.
Tramp Signs.
In Idaho—Shooting Rapids.
"He Has a Good Job."

PARAMOUNT-BRAY ANIMATED CARTOONS NO. 22
"Kid Casey, the Champion"

Are YOU satisfied?

Write Our Exchange To-day

Paramount Pictures Corporation
FOUR EIGHTY FIVE FIFTH AVENUE at FORTY FIRST ST.
NEW YORK, N.Y.

How can an advertiser continue advertising? By giving YOU value.

Paramount Pictures

Rifle vs. Shotgun

Make a list of twelve representative people that you would like to see in your theatre and then figure out how many of these twelve would be interested in

Paramount Pictographs
(The Magazine on the Screen)

Paramount-Burton Holmes
Travel Pictures

Paramount-Bray Animated
Cartoons and Bray-
Gilbert Silhouettes

Shooting in the dark with a shotgun is not likely to bring home much game. Daylight and the rifle—that's the Paramount exhibitors' way.

Are YOU satisfied?

Write Our Exchange Today.

Paramount Pictures Corporation
FOUR EIGHTY FIVE FIFTH AVENUE at FORTY FIRST ST.
NEW YORK, N.Y.

Paramount Pictures

5418

A "Joy-ride" that's a whole bundle of Laughs

LUKE'S FATAL FLIVVER

Produced by
Rolin Film Co.

Featuring
HAROLD LLOYD

Released the week of JUNE 19th

The PATHÉ EXCHANGE inc
EXECUTIVE OFFICES
25 WEST 45th ST. NEW YORK

A "repeat" is a sure proof of picture popularity

PATHÉ'S ultra-dramatic series success

WHO'S GUILTY?

is getting them

Here's what Denver says:

WHO'S GUILTY

By Special Request "Who's Guilty" will be repeated

TODAY

AT THE

IRIS THEATER

In Addition to the Regular Program

Featuring ANNA NILSSON and TOM MOORE

Produced by ARROW FILM CORP'N.

The PATHÉ EXECUTIVE

25 WEST 45th ST.

A magazine's success is measured by its advertising. Look at the "News!"

PATHÉ presents
the Five Part Gold Rooster Play

A MATRIMONIAL MARTYR

beautifully treated in
PATHÉCOLOR

A drama containing much good acting,
some pathos, some comedy and much human nature.

Produced by Balboa
Featuring
RUTH ROLAND
Released the week of June 19th

The PATHÉ
EXECUTIVE
25 WEST 45th ST.

RUTH ROLAND
EXCHANGE inc.
OFFICES
NEW YORK

One big chorus of praise and not one dissenting voice!

That's true of

PATHÉ'S biggest serial

THE IRON CLAW

Ask the multitudes of Exhibitors showing this phenomenal success!

Produced by Feature Film Corporation,
Edward José, General Director

The PATHÉ EXECUTIVE
25 WEST 45th ST.

WORLD PICTURES

The Chicago Daily Tribune.
THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

WEDNESDAY. JUNE 7, 1916.

THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE: WEDNESDAY, JUNE

FLICKERINGS from FILM LAND

Miss Brady in a Well Made 'Brady Made.'

"LA VIE DE BOHEME."
Produced by Paragon.
Directed by Albert Capellani.
Released by World.
Presented at the Studebaker.
Mimi .....Alice Brady
Rudolph .....Paul Capellani

BY KITTY KELLY.

"LA VIE DE BOHEME" is a photoplay that fulfills the things we have been told characterized the "Brady-made" films. It is a wonderful treatment of a difficult subject.

As the opera "La Bohme" is tragic so is the photoplay, though the film version is based on the story rather than the opera, it is said. However, events follow the opera, though with greater freedom permitted by the more elastic medium of the photoplay, so closely as, in the case of "Carmen," to elucidate the music story to the masses. No concession was made to the joy folks and the film ends with the death of Mimi, though the mortal agonies are brief and, in truth, beautiful.

Atmosphere is the outstanding quality of the picture. Capellani, the wizard of the celluloid, whose touch invariably transplants one to Paris, has vivified into actual individuals the light hearted, deep loving, tender irresponsibles of this Bohemia, where sorrow and death creep in to wring the hearts and chill the joy of the world.

The Bohemians, artist, musician, author, and their sweethearts frolic with a fine old world spontaneity. Rudolph and his Mimi love and lose each other and sorrow sadly. It snows and Mimi comes back, racked—but not unpleasantly to view—wit hthe cough that closes the door of life to her.

Quaint settings, entirely apart from our country, quaint interiors and costumes and behaviors, make the film, while alive, a picture of a different world than today. A glimpse to linger long in the visual memory is the scene of the street with the snow falling. The veil of poetical imagination has been drawn over the whole production wrapping it in a gentle protection from the rough edges of life's materialism. Things go easily or they go hard, but they go poetically.

Around the principal players is gathered a corps of most efficient assistants, for some reason unnamed, who contribute quite as much to the general effect as do the principals themselves.

More words would simply repeat what has been said. It is an able film, effectively played, beautifully photographed, produced with finesse. A lot of ne but a ridiculousness underlyi of tr to b inst hc us

Miss Alice Brady

BRADY-MADE

A magazine's success is measured by its advertising. Look at the "News!"

WORLD PICTURES

SHIELDING THEMSELVES PROTECTING THEIR PATRONS

Jones, Linick and Schaeffer operating the

STUDEBAKER THEATRE

IN CHICAGO

WORLD PICTURES

Thos. D. Soriero operating the PARK THEATRE

IN

BOSTON

Have Contracted for and are Going to FEATURE

WORLD PICTURES BRADY-MADE

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO ?

BRADY-MADE

Stop! Look! Listen!

A MAN in Pennsylvania received $10,000 for suggesting the use of these words by the railroads.

They will be worth equally as much to you if you apply them to the conduct of your business.

Stop!

Consider the drawing power—the box-office value—of each picture for your theatre before you book it. You would not pay the same for a mixture of copper, silver, and gold that you would for pure gold. Neither should you pay the same for all pictures, regardless of whether they are good, bad, or indifferent.

Look!

See every picture screened before you book it, and then select only those which you know will please your patrons. Don't buy "a pig in a poke." All pictures are not of equal appeal. Do your booking on a basis that will permit you to take what you want and what your patrons want, rather than what someone else wants you to take.

Listen!

Keep your ear to the ground for your patrons' comments and then pass these on to the manufacturer. In short, use your position to have pictures made to their (your patrons') order. All of which, when summed up, simply means—

Book the V. L. S. E. Way—

The Open-Booking, Box-Office Value Way

V. L. S. E. Inc.

Trademark Reg. U. S. Pat. 1907

"The Man Behind The Curtain"

A Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature in Five Parts

With

Lillian Walker

Supported by

Evart Overton

Caught in a demoniac mesh of intrigue, a woman faces the very abyss of misery. Love, honor, home—all are in the balance. She uses the only weapons she has—the appeal of sex—and the arch conspirator is caught in the net of his own weaving.

THE VITAGRAPH COMPANY OF AMERICA

Released through V. L. S. E. Inc.

LUBIN

The Topmost Effort Of

EDGAR LEWIS

Master Director of

"The Great Divide"
"Souls in Bondage"
"The Flames of Johannis"

Is epitomized in

"THOSE WHO TOIL"

A big, forceful, heart-appealing epic of Justice, Honor, Strife and Love.

From the pen of that widely known author

Daniel Carson Goodman

Featuring

NANCE O'NEIL

"The Bernhardt of America"

LUBIN FEATURE
Released through V.L.S.E. Inc.

"Into The Primitive"

Robert Ames Bennet's Most Popular Story, filmed as an intensely thrilling drama of Jungle life, and featuring Kathlyn Williams, Guy Oliver, Harry Lonsdale and Eugenie Besserer.

"A superior production."—Motion Picture News.
"Strictly out of the ordinary."—Motography.
"Realistic and purposeful."—Exhibitor's Herald.
"Kathlyn Williams at her best."—Dramatic Mirror.

"Into The Primitive—
Two Men and a Woman"

SELIG

Released through V.L.S.E. Inc.

TRADE MARK REG
U.S. PAT. OFF.

Warda Howard

Supported by

Duncan McRae
Ernest Maupain
and
John Lorenz

Is presented in

"That Sort"

In 5 acts
By Basil McDonald Hastings
Directed by Charles J. Brabin

William Gillette

Is presented in

"Sherlock Holmes"

In 7 acts
Arthur Berthelet, Director

Essanay Features

"The Little Shepherd of Bargain Row"
Charlie Chaplin's Burlesque on "Carmen"
"The Havoc"
"The Discard"
"Vultures of Society"
"The Misleading Lady"
"Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines"
"A Daughter of the City"
"The Alster Case"
"The Raven"
"The Crimson Wing"
"The Man Trail"
"A Bunch of Keys"
"The Blindness of Virtue"
"In the Palace of the King"
"The White Sister"
"The Slim Princess"
"Graustark"

Essanay
GEORGE K SPOOR PRESIDENT
Released through V.L.S.E. Inc.

BIG FOUR
V L S E
FEATURE PLAY

LUBIN

BRANCH OFFICES

Atlanta
75 Walton St.

Boston
67 Church St.

Chicago
Adams St. and Wabash Ave.

Cincinnati
129 West 7th St.

Cleveland
2077 E. 4th St.

Dallas
1900 Commerce St.

Denver
1433 Champa St.

Detroit
502 Peter Smith Bldg.

Kansas City Mo.
12th & Walnut St.

Los Angeles
643 So. Olive St.

Minneapolis
608 N. First Ave.

New York City
1600 Broadway

Philadelphia
229 N. 12th St.

Pittsburg
117 Fourth Av.

San Francisco
986 Market St.

Salt Lake City
129 E. Second South St.

St. Louis
3630 Olive St.

Seattle
415 Olive St.

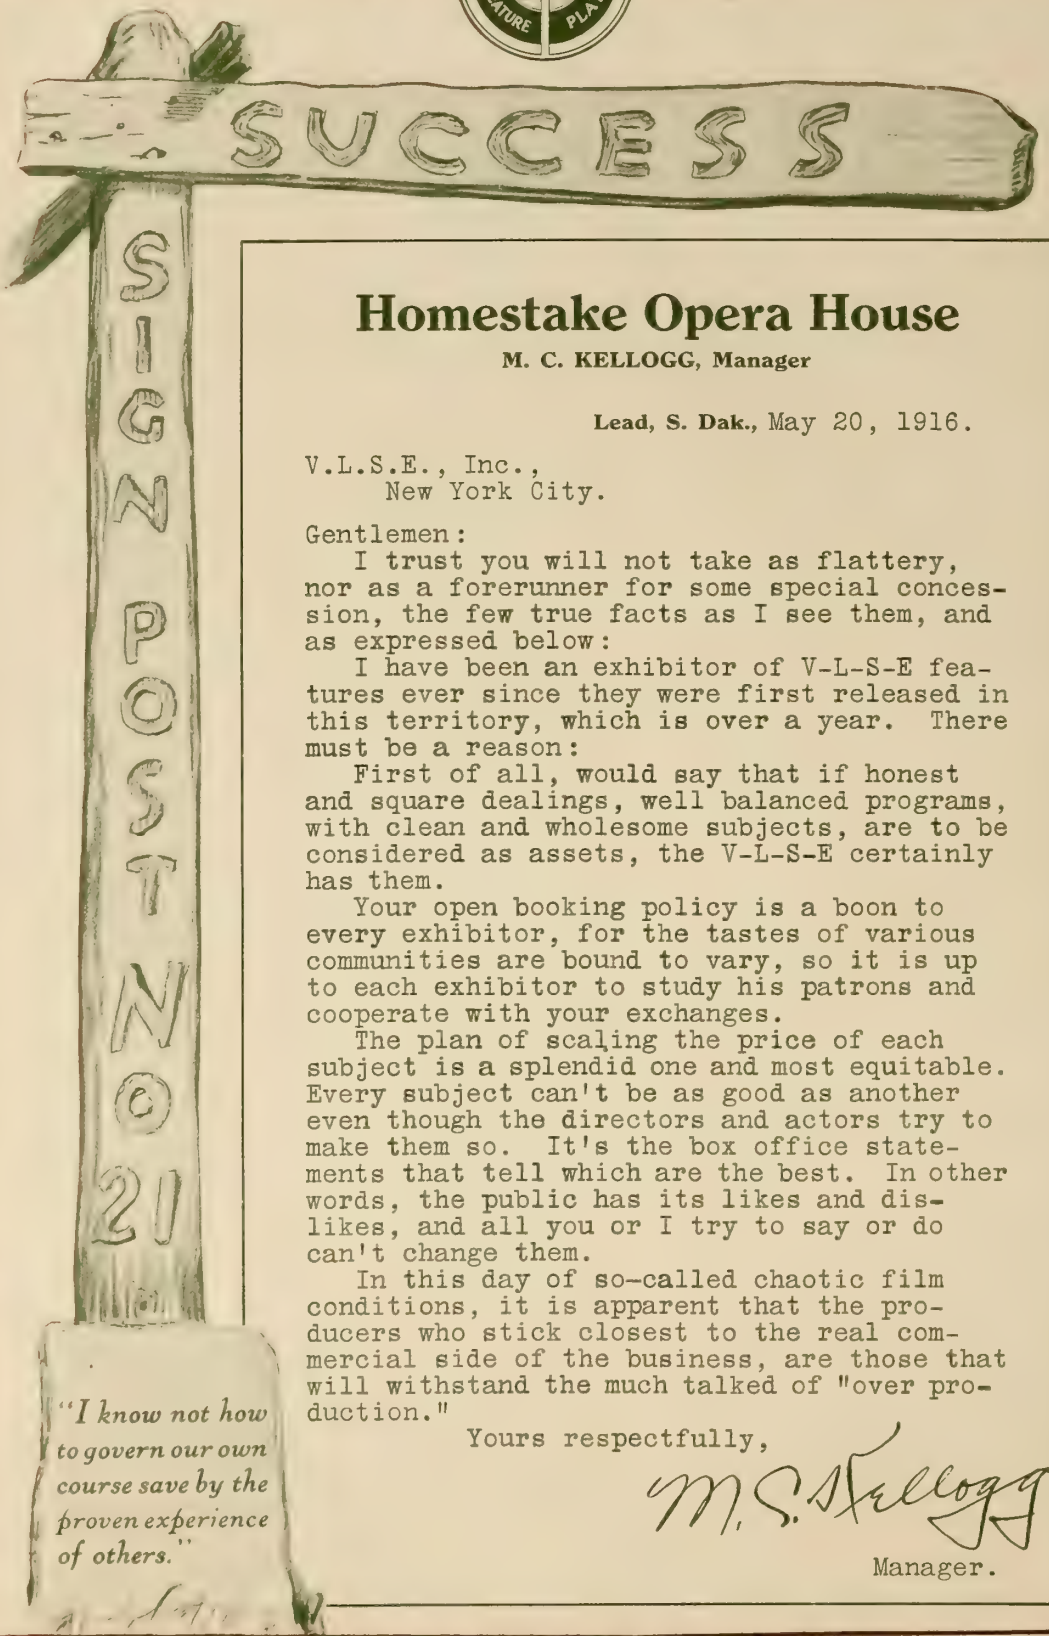
Washington D. C.
811 E Street, N. W.

New Orleans
342 Baronne St.

Syracuse
117 Walton St.

Toronto
15 Wilton Ave.

Montreal
198 St. Catherine St., West



Homestake Opera House

M. C. KELLOGG, Manager

Lead, S. Dak., May 20, 1916.

V.L.S.E., Inc.,
New York City.

Gentlemen:

I trust you will not take as flattery, nor as a forerunner for some special concession, the few true facts as I see them, and as expressed below:

I have been an exhibitor of V-L-S-E features ever since they were first released in this territory, which is over a year. There must be a reason:

First of all, would say that if honest and square dealings, well balanced programs, with clean and wholesome subjects, are to be considered as assets, the V-L-S-E certainly has them.

Your open booking policy is a boon to every exhibitor, for the tastes of various communities are bound to vary, so it is up to each exhibitor to study his patrons and cooperate with your exchanges.

The plan of scaling the price of each subject is a splendid one and most equitable. Every subject can't be as good as another even though the directors and actors try to make them so. It's the box office statements that tell which are the best. In other words, the public has its likes and dislikes, and all you or I try to say or do can't change them.

In this day of so-called chaotic film conditions, it is apparent that the producers who stick closest to the real commercial side of the business, are those that will withstand the much talked of "over production."

Yours respectfully,

M. C. Kellogg

Manager.

V.L.S.E. Inc.

TRADEMARK
Reg. U. S. Pat. 1907

"If I Were Going to Play Essanay-Chaplin's "Burlesque on Carmen"

"I Would Pay Whatever Necessary to Get it."

"I can tell you without question that this is a tremendous box office attraction because its worth has been definitely proven"

Says "Wid" Gunning Exhibitor
Technical Man
Film Critic and Magazine Editor

IN FORM A MAGAZINE—IN FACT A SERVICE

THE BRADSTREET OF FILMDOM

WID'S

INDEPENDENT REVIEWS OF FEATURE FILMS

Charlie Chaplin's

"BURLESQUE ON CARMEN"

Essanay—V. L. S. E.

AS A WHOLE	Great Box Office Winner
STORY	Good
DIRECTION	Good Bits of Business
PHOTOGRAPHY	Good
STAR	Wonderful Personality
SUPPORT	Good
EXTERIORS	Good
INTERIORS	Acceptable
DETAIL	Good
LENGTH	Four Parts

I would say that this can be booked any place safely and played up heavily in the advertising.

Released thru

VITAGRAPH LUBIN SELIG ESSANAY

4 THE BIG FOUR 4

ESSANAY

GEORGE K SPOOR PRESIDENT

MUTUAL STAR

THE MOST POPULAR STAR OF THE AMERICAN SCREEN

FLORENCE TURNER

In Six Powerful Dramatizations of Famous Works by Celebrated Authors
Each in 5 ACTS

PRODUCED BY TURNER FILM COMPANY

SERIES No 3

RELEASED JUNE 22ND

FLORENCE TURNER IN Far from the Madding Crowd

In a Marvelous Characterization of Bathsheba, the Impulsive Capricious but Fascinating Woman upon whom Tragedy and Suffering is brought by Her Own Actions

An Artistic 5 ACT production of the Great Novel by the Dean of English Literature Thomas Hardy, O.M.

RELEASED JULY 20TH

FLORENCE TURNER IN Doorsteps

An Elaborate 5 ACT screen version of the Successful Comedy-Drama by the Noted Actor-author Henry Edwards

RELEASED AUGUST 17TH

FLORENCE TURNER IN A Welsh Singer IN 5 ACTS

From the Record-breaking "best seller" of that Name by Allen Raine

RELEASED SEPT. 14TH

FLORENCE TURNER IN The First Settler's Story

A Lawrence Trimble 5 ACT Version of the Well Known American Poem by Will Carlton

RELEASED OCT. 12TH

FLORENCE TURNER IN Shop Girls IN 5 ACTS

RELEASED NOV. 9TH

FLORENCE TURNER IN Redeemed IN 5 ACTS

ARRANGE FOR THE COMPLETE SET OF FLORENCE TURNER PRODUCTIONS NOW

BOOKED THROUGH THE 68 MUTUAL EXCHANGES

How can an advertiser continue advertising? By giving YOU value.

Bewitching
Juanita Hansen

has more great scenes in Chapter Five—wears dazzling gowns—is fascinating!

By

Thrills! Thrills!
And Gorgeous Beauty

Every chapter is a tremendous rapid-fire succession of monumental daring, adventure, mystery! Yet don't forget that "The Secret of the Submarine" is a production of dazzling beauty! Chapters shown to date have had interspersed brilliant scenes with terrors and carnage. Chapter Five, released June 19th, is not only a great combination of plot, mystery and struggle, but the big scenes show richly-gowned beauties and interiors of rare magnificence.

Millions Reading The Story!

E. Alexander Powell, the famous war correspondent, has novelized "The Secret of the Submarine" for over 1,000 newspapers. Each week the new chapter appears in these papers. The narrative is powerfully penned, a marvelous recital of gigantic struggles and adventures. Millions are reading the story—want to see the motion pictures. These papers head the list:

New York World, Buffalo Courier, Dallas Journal, Indianapolis Star, Philadelphia Inquirer, Cleveland Leader, Omaha Bee, Milwaukee Journal, Baltimore American, Pittsburgh Gazette-Times, San Francisco Chronicle, Los Angeles Record

AND 1,000 OTHERS

MUTUAL SPECIAL FEATURE

Followed MILLIONS!

Hundreds upon hundreds of theatres from one end of the country to the other are showing "The Secret of the Submarine" to packed houses! Over one thousand representative newspapers are publishing E. Alexander Powell's great novelization of "The Secret of the Submarine." Literally—millions are following this triphammer hit—millions look forward every week to smashing, crashing chapters that stampede audiences to remarkable demonstrations of enthusiasm! The success of "The Secret of the Submarine" knows no bounds, is making new motion-picture history!!

American Film Co., Inc., presents

The SECRET of the SUBMARINE

Directed by Ge rge Sargent

The Film Novel of the Hour!

Thomas Chatterton
is the storm center of the big dramatic climaxes!

Overflow Your Theatre!

Book "The Secret of the Submarine" Today!!

Overflow your box office with bumper receipts. Boom all your attractions. Book "The Secret of the Submarine" for that dull night. Make its wonderful drawing-power pay you big profits—instead of a competitor. Send your reservation now—no obligation involved—just helps protect you. Act today while public interest is at fever heat! High-power co-operation of every kind.

Apply to "The Secret of the Submarine" department of any Mutual Exchange, or at Mutual Film Corporation, 71 W. 23d St., New York City

American Film Company, Inc.

SAMUEL S. HUTCHINSON, Pres.
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

MUTUAL PICTURES

A Modern Knight

Art Acord and Nita Davis in a two-part "Mustang" comedy-drama, exciting and thrilling, with many good laughs.
Directed by William Bertram. Released June 23d.

The Abandonment

With Helene Rosson and E. Forrest Taylor. This is a gripping five-part "Flying A" society drama forcefully presented.
Directed by Donald MacDonald. Released June 15th.

The Gentle Conspiracy

A two-part "Flying A" drama featuring Vivian Rich, George E. Periolat and Alfred Vosburgh. An intense human-interest story.
Directed by Carl M. LeViness. Released June 19th.

The House on Hokum Hill

A new idea in comedy—a plot unique—with John Sheehan and Carol Halloway, whose versatility registers every atom of merriment.
Directed by Archer McMackin. Released June 21st.

The Day's Work

A comedy emphasizing the antithesis of system—a big success, with Orral Humphrey and Lucille Ward.
Directed by Orral Humphrey. Released June 25th.

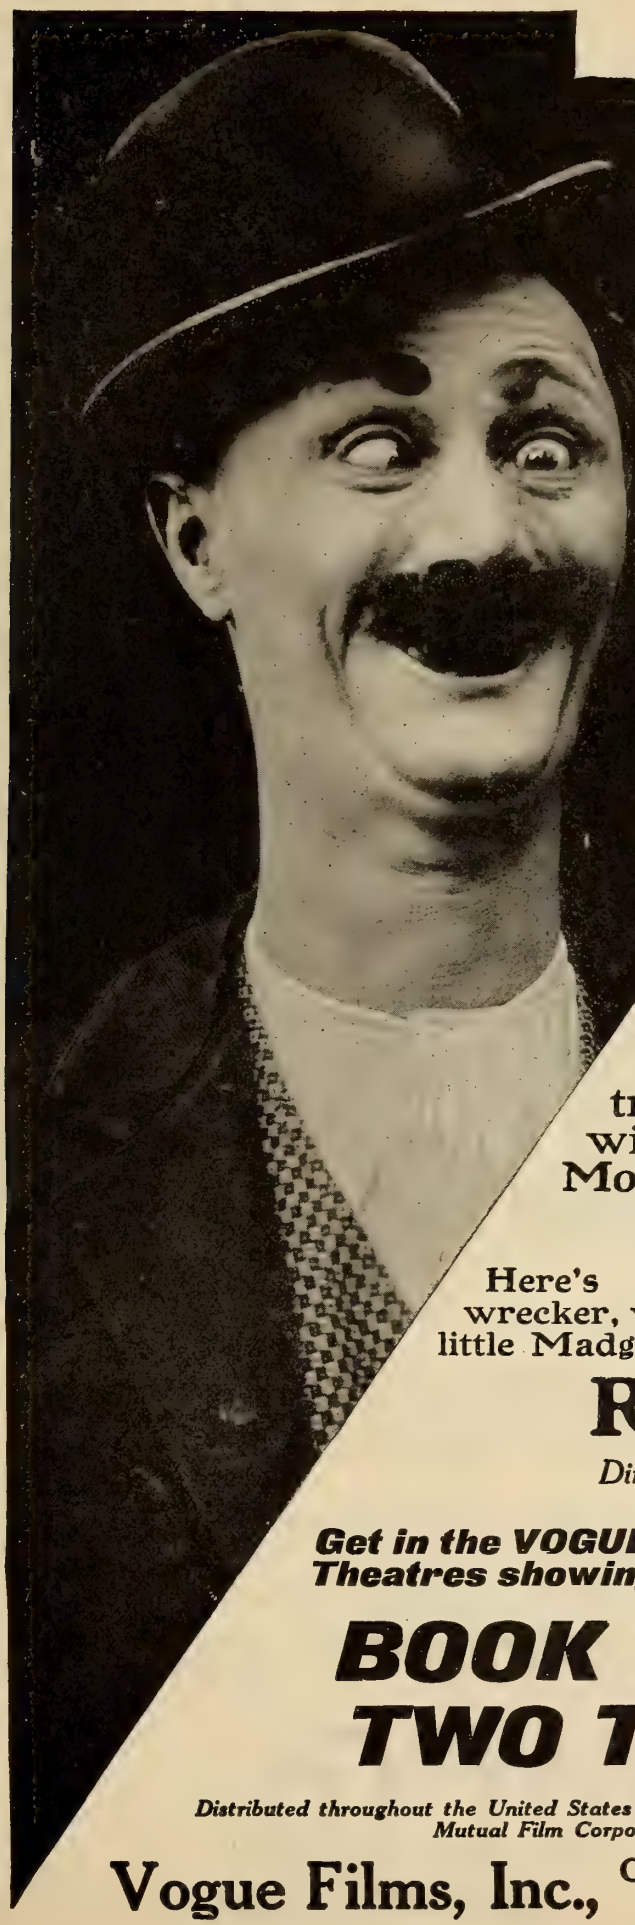
These productions offer every exhibitor a big opportunity to establish his theatre as a place of high-class amusement

BOOK THEM AND PACK THE HOUSE

All "Flying A," "Beauty" and "Mustang" productions are distributed throughout the United States and Canada exclusively by the Mutual Film Corporation

AMERICAN FILM CO., Inc.

SAMUEL S. HUTCHINSON, President, Chicago, Illinois



MUTUAL PICTURES

The IRON MITT

With

Ben Turpin and Rena Rogers

VOGUE famous comic artists in a travesty on melodramatic mystery, with Paddy McQuire and Arthur Moon in the supporting cast.

Directed by Jack Dillon. Released June 25th.

Here's another VOGUE profit-getting gloom-wrecker, with funny Rube Miller and charming little Madge Kirby in the leading roles. It's called

RUFFHOUSE

Directed by Rube Miller. Released June 20th.

Get in the VOGUE van for BIGGER, BETTER BUSINESS. Theatres showing Vogue Comedies are the busy ones.

BOOK THESE TWO TODAY

Slapstick With a Reason

VOGUE COMEDIES

Distributed throughout the United States and Canada exclusively by Mutual Film Corporation

Vogue Films, Inc., Gower and Santa Monica Los Angeles, Cal.

Mutual Pictures

The "Other Woman" Wanted Money

The Weak Man Took It

It Went to the "Other Man"

The Sweetheart Was Suspected

The Strong Man Saved Her

WHICH Did She Marry?

"The Criminal's Thumb"

RELEASED JUNE 22

As you can see from the pictures above, this is an exceptional play that keeps you guessing to the end. A strong Gaumont cast headed by two popular stars, Alexander Gaden and Iva Shepard. "The criminal thumb" is responsible for its possessor's final undoing after three strong acts revealing night-life in a great city. Written by Lionel Barrymore and Wright Huntington; directed by Edwin Middleton.

THREE GREAT GAUMONT SINGLE REELS EACH WEEK MAKE THEM WEEKLY ATTRACTIONS ON YOUR PROGRAM

MUTUAL WEEKLY—News of the world FIRST in Motion Pictures. The "scoopiest" News Reel in America. First to give the news you read on the front page of your newspaper.

REEL LIFE—The Mutual Magazine in Film. Bears the same relation to a magazine that the Mutual Weekly does to a newspaper.

KARTOON KOMICS—Animated whimsicalities by Harry Palmer. Full of fun for young and old. On same reel with

"SEE AMERICA FIRST"—Scenic, with official U. S. government film of National Parks taken by Department of Interior. Recent releases include Yellowstone, Pike's Peak, Yosemite, Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala.

Gaumont Co.

FLUSHING, N. Y. JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

MUTUAL PROGRAM

DAVID HORSLEY PRODUCTIONS

CRANE WILBUR

GEORGE OVEY

MARGARET GIBSON

WILLIAM CLIFFORD

THE BOSTOCK ANIMALS

These animals will be at Luna Park, Coney Island, for the summer of 1916 (opening May 27th). Animal pictures will be produced there which the public (your customers) will be permitted to witness, thereby increasing their interest in my productions. Book them.

Studios: Los Angeles, California
Laboratories: Bayonne, New Jersey
London Office: 93 Wardour St., London, England

DAVID HORSLEY PRODUCTIONS

LOS ANGELES

Read What the George Kleine's Greatest
Miss BILLIE BURKE
(By Arrangement With F. Ziegfeld, Jr.)
A Motion Picture Novel by Mr. & Mrs. Rupert Hughes.

"A STORY THAT WILL FIND ECHO IN EVERY HEART."

—Kitty Kelly in Chicago Tribune

"Gloria's Romance" is the story of a little girl who grows up. Miss Burke has mirrored with exquisite precision the adolescent unfolding skillfully indicated by the Hughes. Through her youthful hoydenism peep glimpses of aspiring young ladyhood, but her attitude is mostly of rebellion and effervescent mischief. Along with her mischievousness Miss Burke is mistress of a naive selfishness that finds particular scope in some of the moonlit scenes where she wanders through lovely gardens or scrambles slyly over the veranda balustrade. "Gloria's Romance" is the human kind of a story that will find echo in hearts in every city street and village home.

"SOMETHING FINE AND DISTINCTLY DIFFERENT."

—Dorothy Day in Des Moines Tribune

I went to the Palace yesterday along with a lot of other fans, to see something different—something wonderfully fine—Billie Burke in Gloria's Romance—and like all the others I came away satisfied. I had seen Billie Burke and something fine and distinctly different.

"A TENDER, SYMPATHETIC AND BEAUTIFUL STORY."

—Indianapolis Star

With Billie Burke as the star and the advent of the first "motion picture novel" called "Gloria's Romance" the Keystone turned hundreds of people away yesterday. "Gloria's Romance" is a tender sympathetic, and beautiful story that affords Miss Burke an opportunity to do some really striking acting.

"SETS A NEW STANDARD OF LITERARY QUALITY."

—Oakland (Cal.) Tribune

This new screen novel sets a new standard in literary quality of motion-picture stories, for it is logically developed, carefully plotted and an intense, compelling tale of the romance of a young society woman.

"PICTURE RECEIVED BY RECORD-BREAKING CROWDS."

—Seattle Post Intelligencer

"Pretty Billie Burke in 'Gloria's Romance' at the Rex is just as delightfully dainty as she is on the stage. Miss Burke has a personality that fairly beams out on the screen. Manager Hemrick of the Rex is much gratified with the reception the picture received by record-breaking crowds yesterday."

"BILLIE BURKE CHARMED THOUSANDS."

—Portland Oregonian

With Billie Burke, the "star supreme," in "Gloria's Romance," the million-dollar film novel, as the headline attraction on a program of exceptional merit, the T. & D. theater, the Portland home of Turner & Dahnken motion pictures, opened yesterday. Billie Burke charmed thousands just as she did in "Peggy" and the two reels of "Lost in the Everglades" are full of Billie Burke pranks.

"TAKING MOTION-PICTURE FANS BY STORM."

—St. Louis Globe-Democrat

This screen novel by Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hughes is setting an absolutely new standard in literary merit of motion-picture stories. Miss Burke is bubbling over with good spirits and cheerfulness. The film is taking the motion-picture fans by storm, and the Columbia is presenting the story to capacity houses from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

"ATTRACTIVE BACKGROUNDS AND FINE CAMERA WORK."

—New York Morning Telegraph

Billie Burke fastened her grip even tighter on New York audiences last night when she appeared in the first two chapters of the George Kleine photoplay serial "Gloria's Romance" at the Globe theater. The serial proved to be a happy combination of well-chosen cast and interesting surroundings. The picture is a personal triumph for Billie Burke, and she is excellently supported by Henry Kolker. Without being spectacular, "Gloria's Romance" is entertaining and exciting. The beauties of Palm Beach form an attractive background for the action, and fine camera work is responsible for some admirable photographic effects which materially add to the finish of the production.

"BILLIE BURKE BROKE HOUSE RECORD SATURDAY."

—Houston Chronicle

Billie Burke, at the Queen theater Saturday, broke the house record for a Saturday attendance. Manager C. A. McFarland said the crush was the heaviest he had experienced since the house was opened, and that the crowds jammed the lobby throughout the day, and in some parts of the day blockaded the sidewalk. Billly Burke appears in a picture that peculiarly fits her talents and makes an impression that lingers.

"GLORIA'S ROMANCE AN OUT OF THE ORDINARY SERIAL."

—Canton (Ohio) News-Democrat

Kleine is making an out of the ordinary serial in "Gloria's Romance," the first chapter of which is now being shown at the Lyceum. It is unusual in its story, in the excellence of its cast and in the elaborate manner in which it is being staged.

"BILLIE BURKE IS ALTOGETHER CUNNING."

—New York Times

An interesting experiment was begun last night at the Globe theater with the first exhibition of the first chapters of a new movie serial entitled "Gloria's Romance," with Billie Burke as the star. Miss Burke proved herself a good screen subject. She is winsome and girlish looking, and when she dons the clothes of a boy she is altogether cunning.

"MISS BURKE DEVELOPS CAPACITY FOR MISCHIEF."

—New York Sun

In her present play Miss Burke, who is in the role of a tomboy daughter of a millionaire, develops an infinite capacity for michief. This leads her into a variety of escapades from which most of the comedy action of the picture is drawn.

"NO MORE POPULAR PICTURE HAS EVER BEEN SHOWN."

—Indianapolis Star

No more popular picture has ever been shown than "Gloria's Romance," which, featuring charming Billie Burke, is packing audiences into the Keystone. Week by week interest in this charming serial grows, until it seems that ere long the theater will not be large enough to hold all who want to follow the fortunes of Gloria.

"BILLIE BURKE GIVEN WONDERFUL OPPORTUNITIES

—Minneapolis Tribune

In order to accommodate admirers of Miss Burke, the "Gloria's Romance" production is shown at least six times a day at the New Palace. The doors open at noon, and "Gloria's Romance" is run until time for the vaudeville program, between the matinee and evening shows, and then again between the two evening vaudeville performances. Billie is given some wonderful opportunities to display her ability in the gymnasium with boxing gloves, with the foils in a fencing bout, as the hostess at a chafing-dish party, as a girl graduate and as her own natural, playful self.

"BILLIE BURKE MORE WINSOME THAN EVER."

—Tulsa (Okla.) World

If Billie Burke is to appear in more exquisite gowns than those worn in the first chapter of "Gloria's Romance," she will have to call in the services of a fairyland sartorial wizard and to use a colloquialism, "there ain't no such animile." In "Gloria's Romance" Miss Burke is ravishingly beautiful and more winsome than ever before.

"PICTURE LOOKS LIKE IT COST A FORTUNE."

—Detroit News

Radiant Billie Burke in a new serial film opened yesterday at the Majestic theater; and Billie, who is introduced to us as a little girl, doesn't look a bit over twelve. The serial is said to have cost a million dollars, and from the introductory episode one guesses readily that the press agent is no faker.

"MAKING A HIT WITH MOTION-PICTURE PATRONS."

—Seattle Post Intelligencer

"Gloria's Romance," with petite Billie Burke playing the part of Gloria, is making a hit with motion-picture patrons of the Rex. Rupert Hughes has written a story that fits Billie Burke like one of her own gloves. She just revels in it. And this diminutive comedienne has no competitor when it comes to reveling. She is the real spirit of joy. It is easy to see that she is having as much fun in the screen as her auditors are out of it.

Critics Say About

Cinematographic Achievement in GLORIA'S ROMANCE

Supported by HENRY KOLKER

20 Feature Chapters! For Bookings Apply to Nearest Kleine Exchange!

"A PRETTY STORY; A NORMAL LOT OF CHARACTERS."

—New York Mail

Judging from the first two chapters of "Gloria's Romance," something different in a serial is being developed. All serial pictures heretofore have been built of weirdly impossible and thrillingly melodramatic incidents, but this serial is made up of subtler things; a pretty story, a normal lot of characters who are neither thorough villains nor thorough heroes and complications of a sort which will not make the sensible person writhe with laughter at their absurdity.

"GRAND OPERA HOUSE PACKED TO THE LIMIT."

—San Antonio Express

The Grand Opera House was packed to the limit Friday to see "Gloria's Romance," the new Rupert Hughes story, in which Billie Burke is the featured star. A hand-to-hand conflict with a real Seminole Indian is the big thrill in chapter two of the George Kleine motion-picture novel, and the fight appeared to be no make-believe affair, but the real thing.

"BILLIE BURKE OUTSHADOWS EVERYBODY ELSE."

—Houston Chronicle

Billie Burke has already established herself as a foremost screen star, just as she has long been beloved on the speaking stage. She photographs perfectly—so perfectly, in fact, that one can almost see the sunset red gold of her hair and the wonderful blue of her smiling eyes—and "camera consciousness" is a term wholly unknown to the little player. Miss Burke's support is excellent in every way, but Billie so outshadows everybody else in any and every production in which she appears.

"MOST EXPENSIVE FILM NOVEL EVER PRODUCED."

—Savannah News

The Odeon gave the Savannah amusement public several sensations last week, principal among which was the presentation of the most expensive serial ever produced, Billie Burke in "Gloria's Romance." Those who saw the first episode of this production need not be assured of the high character of the new film novel.

"GLORIA'S ROMANCE ENTHUSIASTICALLY RECEIVED."

—Sioux Falls Leader-Press

"Lost in the Everglades," chapter one of "Gloria's Romance," Kleine's 20-part photoplay serial featuring Billie Burke, Henry Kolker and other stars, was enthusiastically received at the Colonial on Wednesday, and the opening of the elaborate film novel gave new insight on the work of Billie Burke.

"AUTOMOBILES LINE STREET, PEOPLE BLOCK SIDEWALKS."

—Omaha Bee

Automobiles lined the streets and people blocked the sidewalks in the vicinity of the Muse theater Friday night, when the first chapters of "Gloria's Romance," featuring Billie Burke, were shown at that theater, and "Lost in the Everglades," the opening chapter of the story was up to the expectations aroused.

"DESPITE HEAVY RAIN THEATER WAS PACKED."

—Atlanta Journal

Admirers of Miss Billie Burke flocked to the Piedmont theater Monday to see the first chapter of "Gloria's Romance." Despite the heavy rain, the Piedmont was packed from the opening reel at 11:30 o'clock in the morning, until the doors were shut at night. Miss Burke, as a mischievous girl (she grows up in later chapters), charmed her audience on the opening day, and they went away to tell their friends, so that Tuesday was another busy day at the Piedmont.

"GLORIA'S ROMANCE PLEASES LARGE CROWDS AT LYRIC."

—Springfield News-Record

Billie Burke, the most charming actress in filmdom, came to the Lyric Thursday in her latest offering, "Gloria's Romance," and it pleased large crowds at the theater. Many who saw the production declared that Miss Burke appears to far better advantage than in her first movie play.

"THEATER LOBBY PACKED—HUNDREDS TURNED AWAY"

—Milwaukee, Wisconsin

With the theater packed, the lobby jammed and hundreds turned away, Billie Burke in "Gloria's Romance" was welcomed at the Merrill theater Sunday.

"INTEREST SO KEEN EXTRA SHOWS NECESSARY"

—Minneapolis Tribune

Despite the fact that the vaudeville program this week at the New Palace theater is one of the best ever presented at that theater, Miss Burke holds her own in the film portion of the program. The patrons demonstrate their interest by remaining after the vaudeville to view the serial, and so keen has the interest been that it has been necessary to run the film after the last performance at night, to accommodate those who came late.

"PACKED OUTSIDE DOORS OF REX THEATER."

—Seattle Times

Billie Burke is certainly a favorite with the women in this city, for every afternoon at the Rex theater they are packed outside the doors of the Rex theater in their efforts to see this famous little star in the latest and greatest of her successes, "Gloria's Romance." There is only one Billie Burke, and there will be only one, for her clever little mannerisms cannot be duplicated.

"MOST LAVISHLY PRODUCED SOCIETY PLAY OF YEAR."

—Peoria Star

The Apollo today has the second chapter of "Gloria's Romance," in which Billie Burke has achieved the climax of photoplay production—the most lavishly produced and whimsically delicious society play of the year.

"THRONGS GREET BILLIE BURKE AT STAR THEATER."

—Illinois State Journal

Yesterday throngs greeted the arrival of the fascinating little star, Billie Burke, at the Lyric in her latest and greatest film success, entitled "Gloria's Romance," and her appearance on the screen can be appreciated as though she were appearing in person.

"GLORIA'S ROMANCE IS SHOWING UP BEAUTIFULLY."

—St Louis Globe-Democrat

"At the Columbia the George Kleine film, 'Gloria's Romance,' with Billie Burke, the star supreme, and an excellent cast is showing up beautifully. Miss Burke has the most engaging part in her career."

"BILLIE BURKE A STAR OF SCINTILLATING CAPACITY."

—Pittsburgh Press

Billie Burke in "Gloria's Romance" is surely a star of scintillating capacity. Her charming actions, her sweet smile and her clean-cut acting have made for her a reputation to be envied by stagefolks the world over.

"BILLIE BURKE MORE LOVELY THAN EVER BEFORE.

—Dallas News

Billie Burke is more lovely than ever in the third chapter of "Gloria's Romance," for she appears as a school girl who plays basketball, tennis, fences and holds chafing-dish orgies in her room.

"AN ACHIEVEMENT IN A CLASS BY ITSELF."

—Norfolk (Va.) Pilot

Billie Burke in her 20-week serial came and saw and conquered. If the subsequent installments of "Gloria's Romance" measure up to the first one, revealed yesterday at the Wells, Miss Burke's serial is going to be set down in the annals of motion pictures as an achievement in a class by itself.

"PRODUCTION A MARVEL OF BEAUTY AND EXCELLENCE."

—Worchester Gazette

If Worcester was ever treated to a genuine screen feast it had it today at the Pleasant theater, where Billie Burke was shown in the first chapter of "Gloria's Romance." The production is a marvel of beauty with a strong and rapidly moving story of deep interest.

"GLORIA'S ROMANCE TO BREAK ALL RECORDS."

—Milwaukee News

Billie Burke, in "Gloria's Romance," threatens to break all the records she set when she appeared in "Peggy," some months ago. "Gloria's Romance," which opened at the Merrill on Sunday, is an excellent play and gives Billie Burke no end of opportunities to display her talents.

How can an advertiser continue advertising? By giving YOU value.

ALICE HOLLISTER

The LOTUS

Five Powerful Acts

Passionate intrigue and loyal friendship are moulded into a story that is stirring with the vivid and colorful atmosphere of Latin America, and unforgettable in its tense drama—punch after punch mounting steadily to a crashing climax. A big, smashing production in every way—a throbbing story staged with unstinted lavishness and realistic detail.

RELEASED, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 28th

Book in the World's Biggest

KALEM

235 West 23rd Street

the Original Screen Vampire in WOMAN

In Regular Service

Featuring Alice Hollister, known wherever motion pictures are shown, and with a following gained by years of popularity—not a sham reputation made overnight. Miss Hollister's vivid interpretation of The Lotus Woman, at whose feet all men are captives, is an emotional triumph. Harry Millarde is another favorite in the cast whose name means dollars in the box-office.

COMPLETE LINE OF ADVERTISING AIDS

Program—General Film Service

COMPANY——

KALEM TRADE MARK

New York City

"NOTHING SO STUPENDOUS EVER

THOMAS H. INCE'S
Million Dollar Cinema Spectacle

Civilization

Now Playing Twice Daily to Capacity at the Criterion Theatre, Broadway and 44th St. and TURNING THOUSANDS AWAY FROM THE BOX OFFICE!

"'Civilization' will remain at the Criterion Theatre all summer and all winter."

GEORGE KAUFMAN, N. Y. Tribune.

"OUTDOES" THE BIRTH

THOMAS H. INCE

"CONCEIVED BY THE BRAIN OF MAN"
C.F. Zittel ("ZIT") N.Y. Eve. Journal

Civilization

The GREATEST TRIBUTE EVER PAID A MOTION PICTURE PRODUCER BY THE WORLD'S FOREMOST CRITICS.

"Every past performance of the motion picture makers was outdone, and by an incredibly wide margin, last night at the Criterion Theatre, when 'Civilization' was shown for the first time."
—LOUIS DE FOE, N. Y. Morning World.

"'Civilization' sets a new standard in motion picture enterprise, and stands out as the highest attainment of the art of the screen." —RENNOLD WOLF, N. Y. Telegraph.

"'Civilization,' seen at the Criterion Theatre last night, is the most remarkable picture of war that the screen has shown. It places Ince on an artistic footing with David Belasco. 'Civilization,' in short is a gigantic, moving, and above all, human picture of war and its consequences." —CHARLES DARNTON, N. Y. Evening World.

"Entertainment on an artistic level with 'Ben Hur.'"—ALEXANDER WOOLLCOTT, N. Y. Times.

"It was a daring thing to attempt the formidable task of challenging comparison with the 'Birth of a Nation.' The result exceeds all expectations." —LOUIS SHERWIN, Evening Globe, N. Y.

"The triumph of 'Civilization' is assured."—CHARLES HENRY MELTZER, N. Y. American.

"It may be said that 'Civilization' surpasses anything which has gone before in motion picture production."
—S. M. WELLER, N. Y. Review.

"'Civilization,' a pictorial wonderwork."—BURNS MANTLE, N. Y. Evening Mail.

"'Civilization' is a real landmark."—CHARLES F. ZITTEL, Evening Journal, N. Y.

"OF A NATION" LOUIS SHERWIN NEW YORK GLOBE

1005 Brokaw Bldg. N. Y. City

EQUITABLE PICTURES

HELEN WARE IN "The Price"

THOS. A. WISE IN "Blue Grass"

HILDA SPONG IN "Divorced"

KATHARINE KAELRED IN "Idols"

CYRIL SCOTT IN "The Twin Triangle"

LILLIAN LORRAINE IN "Should a Wife Forgive?"

JACKIE SAUNDERS IN "Not Guilty"

CHAS. J. ROSS IN "The Senator"

JULIA DEAN IN "The Ransom"

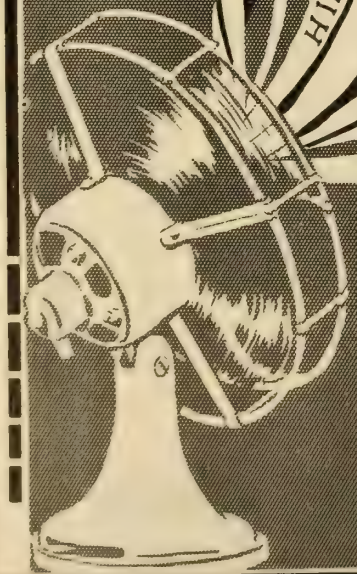
MARIE EMPRESS IN "Love's Crossroads"

ADELE BLOOD IN "The Devil's Toy"

CHAS. CHERRY IN "Passers By"

JOHN MASON IN "Reapers"

MARGARITA FISCHER IN "The Dragon"



Are Pleasing the Public

THAT'S WHAT COUNTS

EQUITABLE MOTION PICTURES CORPORATION

RELEASING THROUGH

WORLD FILM CORPORATION

Irene Castle

The Symbol of Grace

will be presented in a series of

CAMEO PICTURES

Produced by INTERNATIONAL FILM SERVICE Inc.

The MYSTERIES of MYRA

PRODUCED by WHARTON INC.

has proved our contention that if a serial has Punch, Suspense, Love, and Heart Interest, exhibitors will book it. Have you arranged your booking?

INTERNATIONAL FILM SERVICE INC.

Written by Charles W. Goddard
-from the story by Hereward Carrington.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

for you Mr. Exhibitor for you Mr. Exchange Owner

Read what the critics say of

HER HUSBAND'S WIFE

EDWARD WEITZEL IN THE MOVING PICTURE WORLD, SAYS:

"It hits the spectator a wallop between the eyes—you are floored by the dramatic situations"—He calls it "A dramatic knockout!"

OSCAR COOPER IN MOTION PICTURE NEWS, SAYS:

"The action of this picture moves at top speed, holding the interest thruout."

The unanimous opinions of the trade press credits the Ivan Film Productions with the manufacture of better features month after month.

A real opportunity for live-wire exchange owners to become exclusive distributors of Ivan productions in several territories is now available.

THE IVAN ARE THE ONLY MANUFACTURERS RELEASING A FEATURE EACH MONTH ON THE OPEN MARKET PLAN

IVAN FILM PRODUCTIONS, Inc.

126 WEST 46th STREET, NEW YORK CITY

JAFFERY

OVER 100,000

OUTSELLING every one of William J. Locke's previous works, "Jaffery" is in the hearts of half a million readers. It is a strong, wholesome story, creating a photo-play of great scenic variety and striking dramatic action.

C. Aubrey Smith

supported by ELEANOR WOODRUFF

and a cast known to both stage and screen including

Eric Blind, Florence Deshon, Paul Doucet, Stanley Dark and Doris Sawyer

A world famous novelist
His most popular work
A masterfully artistic production

The
Frohman Amusement Corporation
Eighteen East Forty-first Street New York
WILLIAM L. SHERRILL, President

"JAFFERY" WILL BE COMPLETED FOR RELEASE ABOUT JULY 15

William J. Locke

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG
THE EMBODIMENT OF GLORIOUS FEMININITY AND EXQUISITE ART
MANY AN EXHIBITOR THINKS HE IS PLEASING HIS PATRONS WHEN HE IS ONLY PLEASING HIMSELF
Lewis J. Selznick

TRIANGLE

Motion Pictures are successes or failures because the public patronizes them or withholds patronage. If a picture achieves financial success it is either because it is a bad picture depending on crude sensationalism, or because it is a good picture made according to high ethical standards by talented men and women with a definite purpose behind it.

TRIANGLE PICTURE PLAYS are of this latter class. Their aim has been to portray the big things of life, to bring to the screen the greatest possible quality and quantity of entertainment until now TRIANGLE PLAYS have earned first place where good things are appreciated by merit alone.

The actual cost of making TRIANGLE PICTURES is never considered. The orders are to make the best and then beat that in the next picture—to spare no effort to get just the right effect—that indefinable touch of perfection so noticeable in TRIANGLE Productions.

NORMA TALMADGE

BESSIE BARRISCALE

PICTUREPLAYS

TRIANGLE PLAYS are the very latest word in the production of motion pictures. They show you miles upon miles of wonderful natural country; peoples you have read about only in books.

They don't hold you to one set of emotions, either, but rush you swiftly through the gamut of them all. They give comedy, tragedy, laughter, tears all in rapid succession. Their magic carries you delightfully through space and time.

You spend an hour among the marvels of the beautiful north, its ice and snow and wonderful scenery. Then, whisk! You are on the blazing Mexican battlefields holding your breath as a horde of savage soldiers descends on a defenceless city. Another change and you roar with laughter at the ridiculous complications of some Keystone Comedy.

If you are an exhibitor and are not running TRIANGLE PLAYS why not drop us a line for information regarding their presentation.

TRIANGLE FILM CORPORATION, 1459 Broadway, N. Y.

GREATEST SERIAL STORY
EVER PRESENTED

Novelized by ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE
An Elaborately Staged, High-Class Production,
Aglow with Tense, Thrilling Situations

A PUNCH IN EVERY EPISODE

THE WORLD FAMOUS SCREEN STAR

MAURICE COSTELLO

The Crimson

RELEASED

In 16 Episodes

THE METRO

ARRANGE YOUR WATCH FOR ANNOUNCE ADVERTISING

The Consolidated

O. E. GOEBEL, Pres.

LARGEST

ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

EVER UNDERTAKEN

WILL BE ADVERTISED
IN EVERY CITY IN THE UNITED STATES
THAT HAS A DAILY PUBLICATION

A DIRECT BENEFIT TO THE EXHIBITOR

THE POPULAR CHARMINGLY BEAUTIFUL

ETHEL GRANDIN

Stain Mystery

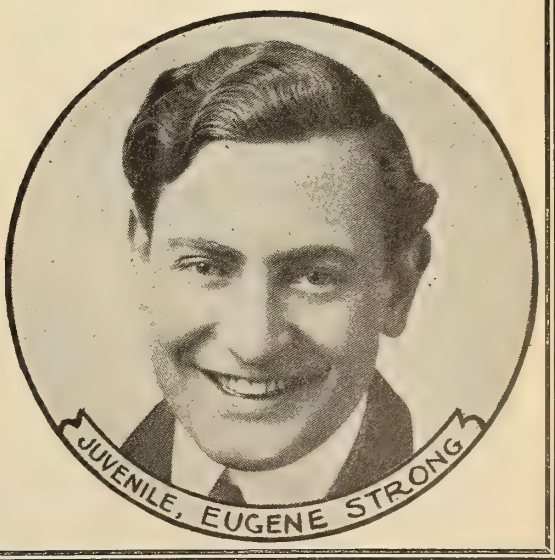
THROUGH

EXCHANGES

First Release Aug. 21

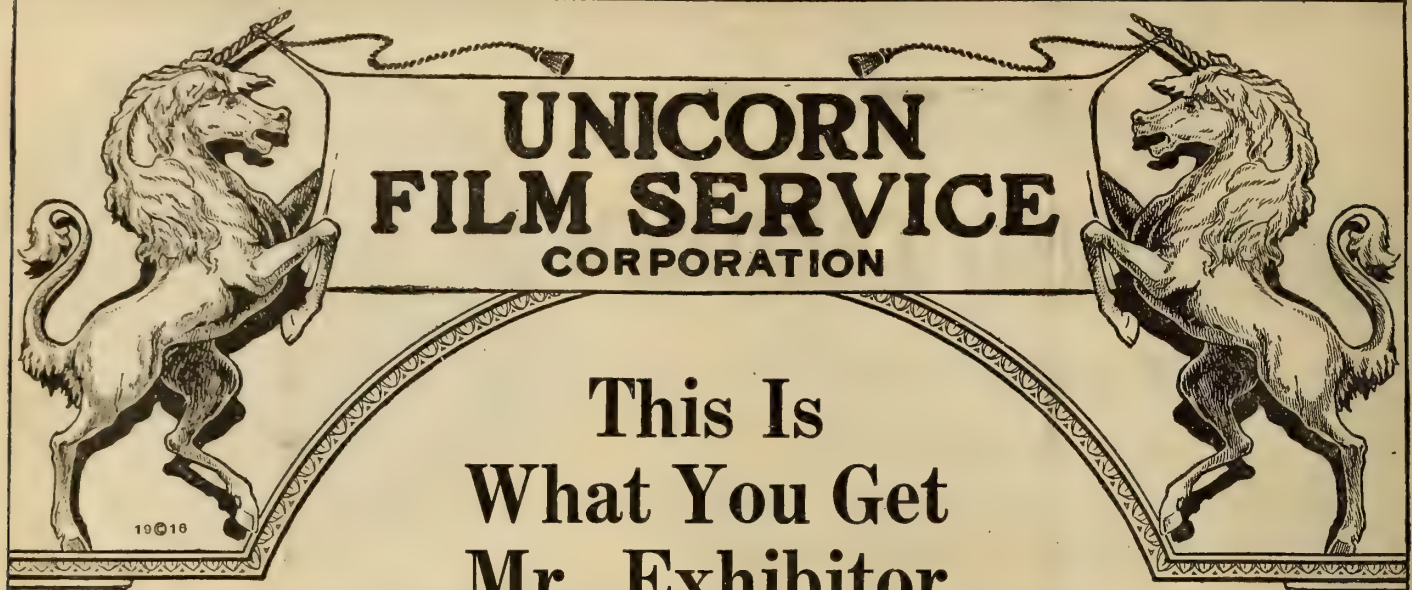
BOOKINGS NOW

MENT OF OUR UNIQUE CAMPAIGN



Film Corporation

1482 BROADWAY, NEW YORK



This Is What You Get Mr. Exhibitor

The very best one and two reel subjects ever produced. Every cast composed of stars of national reputation. Clean and clear new film—at prices much lower than you are now paying for poor subjects and worn-out film.

Make up your mind now to investigate Unicorn Film Service, it will make money for you and please your audience.

EXCHANGES:

New York City	130 West 46th St.	H. W. Harwell
Boston	207 Pleasant St.	S. M. Moscow
Springfield	167 Dwight St.	Wm. F. O'Brien
Bangor	Eastern Trust Bldg.	W. J. Brennan
Buffalo	23 W. Swan St.	H. E. Hughes
Syracuse	565 S. Salina St.	Geo. A. Hickey
Albany	680 Broadway	William Lawrence
Philadelphia	1309 Vine St.	A. G. Steen
Washington, D. C.,	434 9th St., N. W.
St. Louis	3628 Olive St.	Sam Werner
Omaha	Unicorn Exchange
Kansas City	Gloyd Bldg.	J. W. Morgan
Wichita	Unicorn Exchange
Minneapolis	Produce Exchange	W. L. Merrill
Indianapolis,	129 W. Washington St.	J. W. Cotter
Chicago	Mallers Bldg.	L. J. Schlaifer
Cleveland	750 Prospect Ave.	L. C. Gross
Pittsburg	125 Fourth Ave.	Jack Kraemer
Detroit	183 Jefferson St.	W. D. Ward
Toledo	415 Summit St.	R. E. Peckham
Cincinnati	531 Walnut St.	Harry E. Coffey
Denver	1436 Welton St.	L. Goldstein
Western Division Manager		J. A. Eslow
Eastern Division Manager		Fred B. Murphy

To be Opened

Atlanta San Francisco Dallas Salt Lake City
Seattle Portland New Orleans Los Angeles

The men in charge are experienced film men who will co-operate with you in every way. Write the exchange in your territory or direct to the New York home office.

UNICORN FILM SERVICE CORPORATION

IKE SCHLANK, General Manager

126-130 West 46th St. New York City

(Names and dates of our releases can be found in "schedule of current and coming releases" on back pages of this publication)

THE RESERVE PHOTO-PLAYS CO. PRESENT

THE RAYS Johnny & Emma

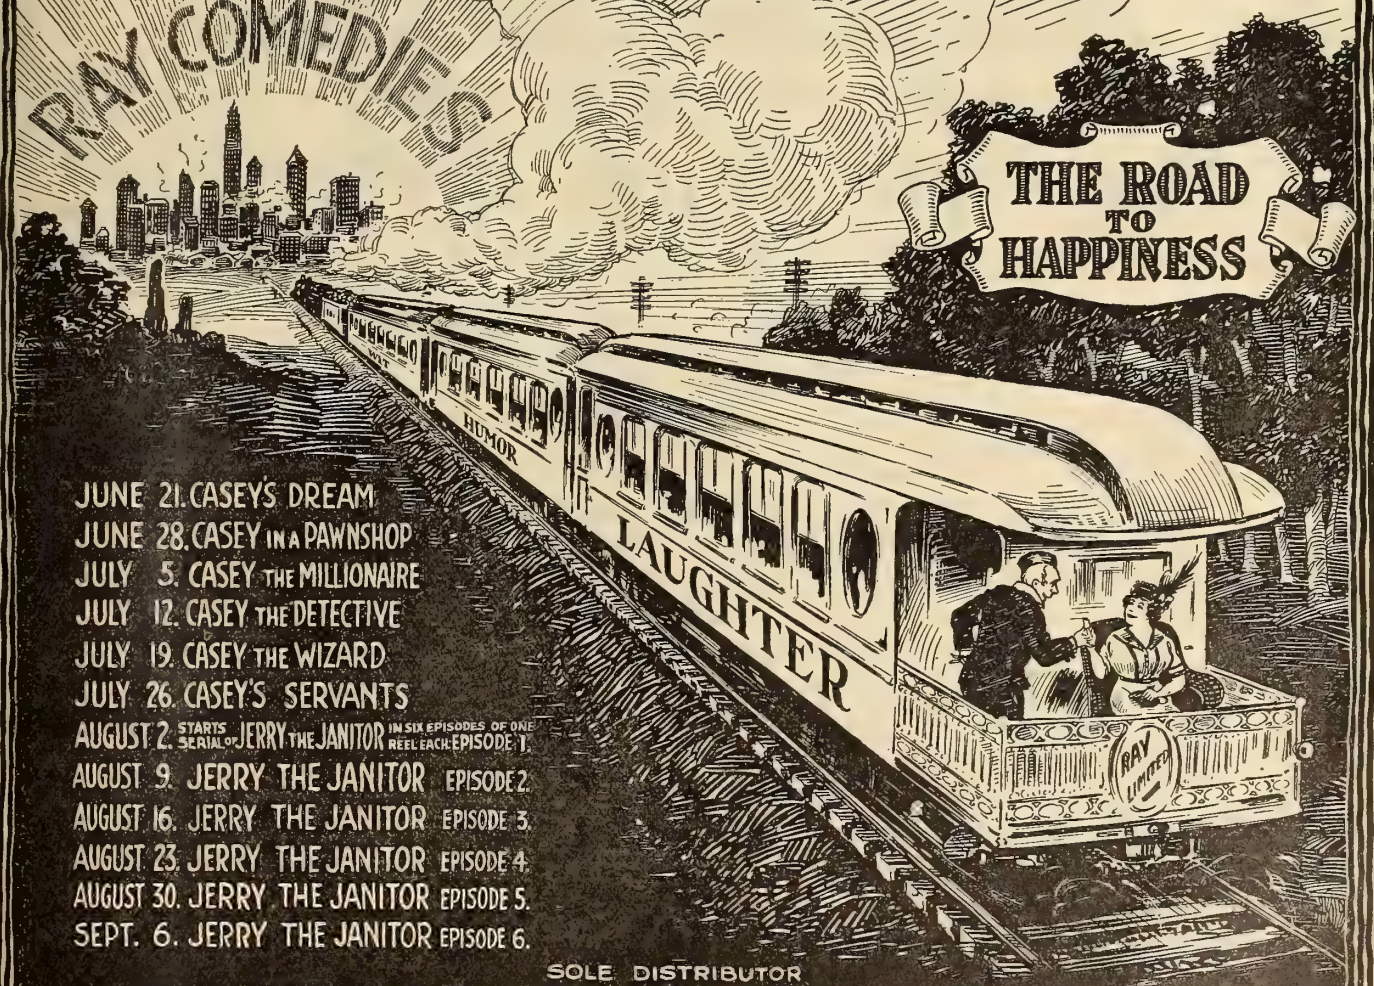
IN THE

COMEDY SERIAL

JERRY THE JANITOR

6 EPISODES

RAY COMEDIES



JUNE 21. CASEY'S DREAM
JUNE 28. CASEY IN A PAWNSHOP
JULY 5. CASEY THE MILLIONAIRE
JULY 12. CASEY THE DETECTIVE
JULY 19. CASEY THE WIZARD
JULY 26. CASEY'S SERVANTS
AUGUST 2. STARTS SERIAL OF JERRY THE JANITOR IN SIX EPISODES OF ONE REEL EACH EPISODE 1.
AUGUST 9. JERRY THE JANITOR EPISODE 2.
AUGUST 16. JERRY THE JANITOR EPISODE 3.
AUGUST 23. JERRY THE JANITOR EPISODE 4.
AUGUST 30. JERRY THE JANITOR EPISODE 5.
SEPT. 6. JERRY THE JANITOR EPISODE 6.

SOLE DISTRIBUTOR

C. LANG COBB JR. COLUMBIA THEATRE BLDG. NEW YORK

SERIAL FILM CORPORATION PRESENTS
the Tremendous Sixteen Episode Serial

THE YELLOW MENACE

By Louis Tracy—Produced by William Steiner

EDWIN STEVENS

the Eminent Dramatic Star as "ALI SINGH"

The Mongolian Demon who Invades a Helpless United States. Hundreds of Overwhelming Scenes. Thousands of People. Cast of Noted Artists Includes

Florence Malone, Margaret Gale, Armand Cortes, Gerald Griffin, Dave Wall, Marie Treador, Albert Hall and Many Others Equally Famed

THE BEST ADVERTISED SERIAL EVER PRODUCED—WATCH FOR THE RELEASE DATE!

Ninety-eight per cent of the population of America is keyed up right now to see "The Yellow Menace"

Eleven hundred newspapers will carry the soul-shaking story

What some noted men say about "The Yellow Menace"

Speaker CHAMP CLARK, of the House of Representatives:
If I had my way I would shut out that entire Asiatic gang.—We will never arbitrate the Monroe Doctrine.

Editor METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE:
The Japanese look far into the future. Japan is waxing rich and strong through the great war. Japan will fight us unless we are better prepared than she is. The Japanese problem at the present spells WAR in the not distant future.
—Issue July, 1916

ARTHUR BRISBANE, Editor N. Y. Journal:
The yellow men have been through two wars recently and know how to make war. A million half breeds, armed by orientals, would not be a joke.

N. Y. AMERICAN, May 26, '16:
What the Germans have done, using Turks, the Japanese could do using Mexicans. Their fleet lies ACROSS THE PACIFIC. It is NOT IMAGINARY. A "little" Mexican war might not look so little after a few weeks.

DISTRIBUTED EXCLUSIVELY BY THE CONCERN WITH A CONSCIENCE

UNITY SALES CORPORATION
729-7th AVE. NEW YORK

THE NATIONAL DRAMA CORPORATION

Announces

ITS FIRST PRODUCTION

THE FALL OF A NATION

THOMAS DIXON

VICTOR HERBERT

NOW PLAYING LIBERTY THEATRE, NEW YORK

NEW YORK SUN
"Battle thrills in 'The Fall of a Nation.' Wonderful scenes of war."

NEW YORK TIMES
"Finely spectacular. Mr. Herbert's score is effective."

EVENING JOURNAL
"The scenes of battle are terrific in their scope and magnificent in their photography."

EVENING MAIL
"'The Fall of a Nation' is inspiring."

NEW YORK AMERICAN
"The new show is a decided hit—a triumph of film art. Will please countless thousands."

NEW YORK PRESS
"As a photographic spectacle, it ranks with 'The Birth of a Nation.' Victor Herbert's music is surpassing."

EVENING WORLD
"A powerful and fascinating spectacle. The audience watched it with breathless interest."

EVENING SUN
"Thomas Dixon presented 'The Fall of a Nation' with thunderous effect"

CAPACITY BUSINESS AT $2.
PRICES MARKS ALL PERFORMANCES

OFFICES OF THE CORPORATION : 1480 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

The most SUCCESSFUL PRODUCERS of FILM PRODUCTIONS are doing business

through

EDWARD SMALL

WHY?

Because he represents some of the greatest and most popular STARS appearing on the screen —

To Directors:

When you require the services of ELITE ARTISTS of recognized ability — Communicate with

EDWARD SMALL

(The Lightning Service)

1493 Broadway, New York City

(Putnam Building)

Telephone { 674 / 675 } Bryant

22⅜ Pages of the Advertising
Carried in the June 17th
Issue Appeared in the News Exclusively

ALSO

The June 17th News had Over Eight Pages More Paid Advertising Than Any Other Picture Trade Paper published that week

TRADEMARK
Reg. U. S. Pat. 1907

THE LATEST

Essanay—Chaplin Comedy

"POLICE"

Is the Year's Greatest Laugh Producer

CHARLIE CHAPLIN himself says: "It's a scream."

Read what the critics from east to west say:

This new vehicle of tremendous laugh getting power ranks with Chaplin's greatest work.
—New York Dramatic Mirror.

Exhibitors who want to give their patrons a real laugh should show this picture.
—Exhibitors Herald.

"Police" is funny in the extreme.
—Motion Picture News.

Manager Field of the Colonial says Chaplin's "Police" drew the biggest Sunday crowd he ever had. It is as funny as the advertising would strive to make one think it, and moves the house to laughter.
—Kitty Kelly, Chicago Tribune.

Chaplin in "Police", if possible, is funnier than ever. To appreciate it, watch the crowds.
—Mildred Joclyn, Chicago Post.

"Police" is a winner.—Dallas (Tex.) Herald.

Chaplin fans are delighted with this comedy which drew capacity crowds at The Empress.
—Des Moines (Ia.) Register.

It is the most screamingly funny of all his funny comedies.—Atchison (Kans.) Globe.

This mirth provoking comedy is pleasing all crowds at the Regent theatre.
—Indianapolis (Ind.) Star

General Film Service

Essanay

GEORGE K. SPOOR, PRESIDENT

1333 Argyle St., Chicago

TRADEMARK
Reg. U. S. Pat. 1907

The Absolute Test of All Photoplays

Every photoplay must meet the final test of sales power.

If it does not it is a failure. If it cannot attract the public it is useless, as no photoplay is of any value on a shelf.

Essanay's short subjects have met the test; its actors are known the world over; its plots carry the fundamental element of human interest that appeals to all.

Essanay plays sell; they please.

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN

is presented in

"The Girl at the Curtain"

The strange case of a couple who wed with a curtain between them, so that neither sees the other. Having carried out the provision of a will they separate. Later they meet and fall in love to find they are already man and wife.

2 act drama (reissue)—June 20

GEORGE ADE'S

"Fable of the Undecided Brunette" is another of his quaintly humorous satires on the present day girl. It keeps all in an uproar of laughter.

1 act comedy—June 21

ANN KIRK and EDWARD ARNOLD

are presented in

"A Traitor to Art"

The story of a girl's tragic failure as an artist in a great city; her final reclamation from the ultra-Bohemian life through a minister who loves her and brings her happiness.

3 act drama—June 24

General Film Service

Essanay

GEORGE K. SPOOR, PRESIDENT

1333 Argyle St., Chicago

The Strange Case of Mary Page

Essanay

GEO. K. SPOOR,
1333 Argyle Street, Chicago

There Is Only One Serial on the Market That Has Proved Its Box Office Value. Only One That Started With a Rush and Kept Up Its Momentum. "Mary Page" Never Has Sagged In Interest or In Money Getting Strength.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.

COLUMBIA
PICTURES CORPORATION
presents
The INCOMPARABLE
VIOLA DANA
in her first METRO wonderplay
The FLOWER of NO MAN'S LAND
Five Acts of vital action and charming romance
Written and directed by John H. Collins
METRO PICTURES
Released on the Metro Program
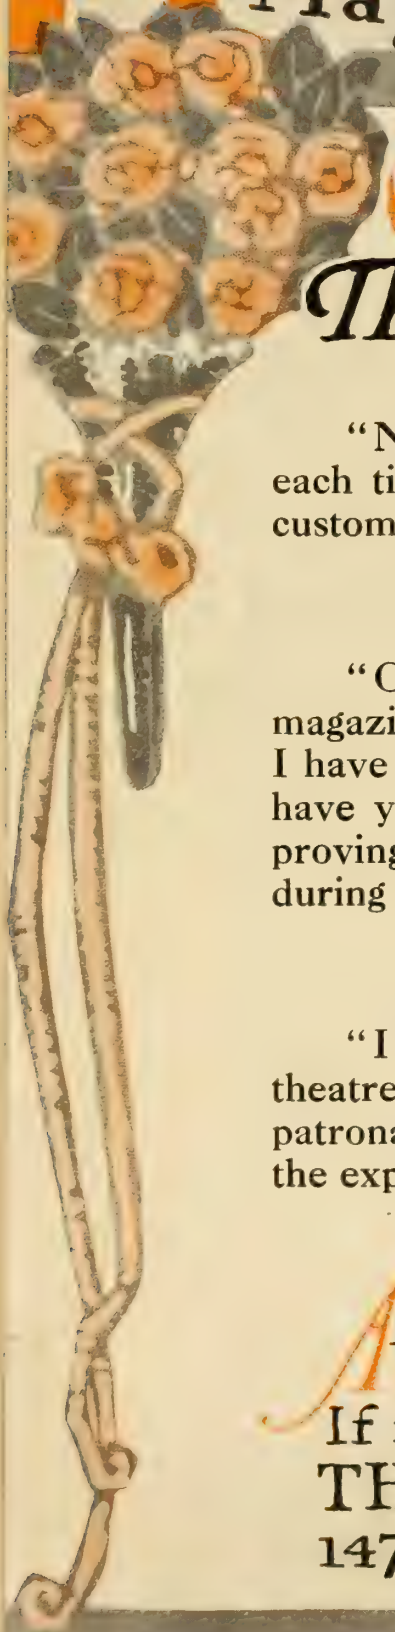
June 26th

The Pictures Magazine



What Exhibitors say about The PICTURES Magazine

"Not only does your magazine hold our patronage, but each time we send to a new name we find that it makes a new customer."

Carl F. Miller, Mgr.
STRAND THEATRE, Fremont, O.

"Our patrons look forward to Metro day, knowing that the magazine will be distributed on that day; and, as a manager, I have noticed heralds, photos, pennants, etc., in the streets, but have yet to find a copy of THE PICTURES MAGAZINE, proving to me that these magazines are carried home to be read during the leisure hours."

F. A. Abbott, Mgr.
BLOOMBURG AMUSEMENT COMPANY, Asheville, N. C.

"I distribute 2,000 a week, but rarely find one left in the theatre. I am convinced that they brought in a better class of patronage, together with an increased business that warrants the expense."

Wm. H. Stevens, Mgr.
STRAND THEATRE, Waterbury, Conn.

ARE you aboard the express train headed for big box office success? If not, get in touch today with THE PICTURES MAGAZINE 1476 Broadway, New York

GREAT VICTORY is won for

"THE LITTLE GIRL NEXT DOOR"

a 6 act photoplay based on the

VICE EXPOSE

of a senate investigating committee

Film upheld in Chicago Council

"The Little Girl Next Door" need not fear further interference from the Chicago Council Judiciary Committee, as the resolution directing Chief of Police Healey to revoke the permit was tabled. A score of clergymen, club-women and social workers testified to the "moral value" of the picture, and urged that restrictions be removed so that high school girls and boys might be permitted to see it. The Rev. M. P. Boynton, one of the first to favor the granting of a permit for the picture, said at the meeting of the committee: "There can be no just criticism of the film. I believe in turning the light on immoral conditions, and for that reason I believe the picture is doing good."—News Report.

THIS POWERFUL MORALITY DRAMA is continuing to

SMASH ALL BOX OFFICE RECORDS

IN EVERY THEATRE WHERE SHOWN

Apply immediately for

STATE RIGHTS

Room 521, First National Bank Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

TRADEMARK
Reg. U. S. Pat. 1007

Essanay

GEORGE K. SPOOR, PRESIDENT

presents

LEWIS S. STONE

supported by

Marguerite Clayton
E. H. Calvert
Sydney Ainsworth

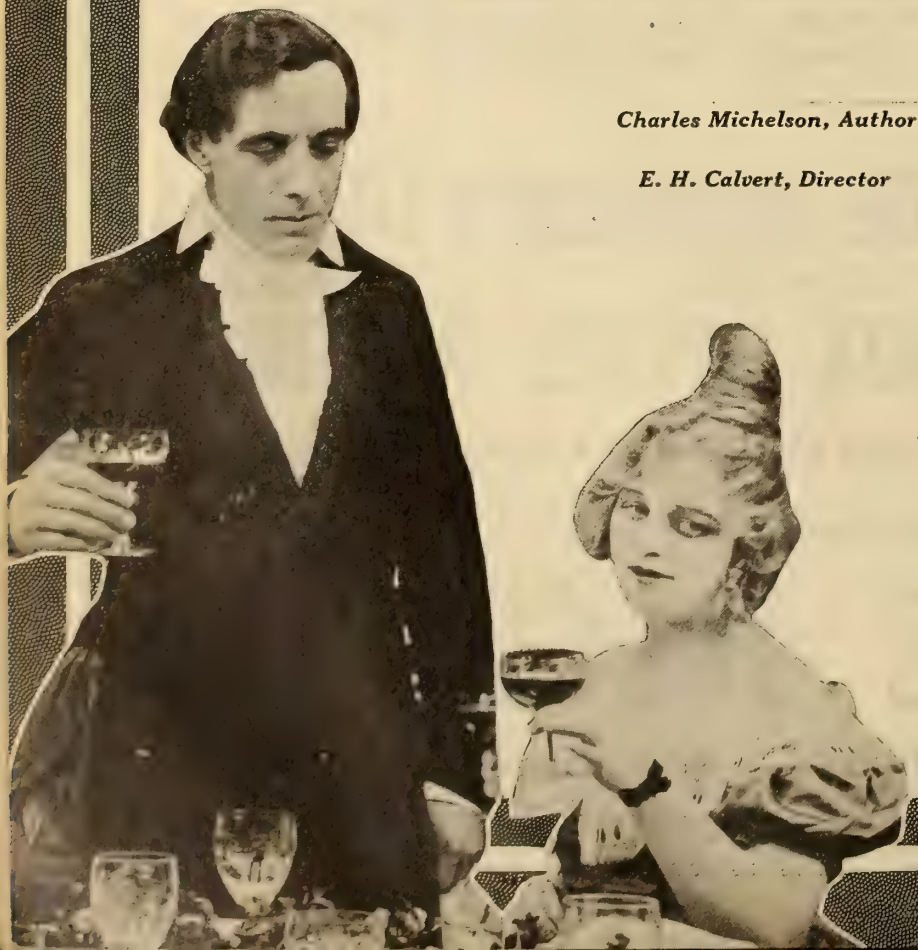
in

"According to the Code"

In 5 Acts

Charles Michelson, Author

E. H. Calvert, Director



Released through
V.L.S.E.

BIG FOUR FEATURE PLAY
V L S E

JUN 15 1916
©CLB362061

"When You See it in 'The News' It's News"

Motion Picture News

HAS THE QUALITY CIRCULATION OF THE TRADE

"The Exhibitors' Medium of Communication"

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA
427 SO. FIGUEROA STREET

NEW YORK CITY
SEVEN HUNDRED AND TWENTY-NINE SEVENTH AVENUE

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS
110 SO. DEARBORN STREET

Volume XIII | JUNE 24, 1916 | No. 25

Last Week's Luncheon

SOMEONE remarked at the luncheon held at Delmonico's, June 8, at which were present sixty-four leaders of all branches of the industry, that the Board of Trade had justified its existence by this accomplishment alone.

* * *

THE luncheon was not a Board of Trade affair, although the idea of it originated within the Board. But the missionary work for trade organization already done by the Board of Trade was clearly demonstrated when the chairman called for a rising vote in favor of some kind of a national trade association.

The vote was all but unanimous.

* * *

ONLY two years ago the Board of Trade idea, first broached in this industry, met with no response whatever. Only a year ago a small meeting greeted the proposition with intense pessimism. The general, if superficial comment was: "It can't be done."

At last week's luncheon sixty-two men got spontaneously to their feet and said they wanted a national association of and for this industry.

After that the meeting, despite its very able handling by the chairman, was not of so clear and undivided a mind.

* * *

THERE was truth as well as humor in the remark of one speaker who said the meeting most clearly indicated the well-worn line that the industry is still in its infancy.

If one may analyze the tenor of the meeting, its drift, after its spontaneous outburst for organization, was marked by two states of mind: first a vagueness of thought as to how to organize, and secondly by the same old feeling that has always saddled the onward movement of the motion picture business, namely a suspicion of the other fellow's good intentions.

* * *

THE chairman opened the meeting by sweeping the decks clean, completely clean, as you have to do in the trade when you offer a new matter of mutual good.

He did not, as the newspapers erroneously stated, announce the dissolution of the Board of Trade.

But he said that all the officers and directors would resign, if desired, and that the Board of Trade would dissolve if desired—that anything and everything possible would be done to facilitate the accomplishment of a broad, all-embracing trade association formed for the general and mutual good and to the satisfaction of all concerned which by the way was and still is the prime purpose of the Board of Trade.

If, as the Chairman pointed out, the Board of Trade has failed in its purposes, this is only to be expected as one of the preliminary stages in the always rocky road toward the final unification of a new and big industry.

* * *

FOR myself and with no desire to be stubborn or obtuse, I fail to see just where—and no one has yet indicated where—the Board of Trade has had other than the best of intentions. It still stands in the position in which it started, namely to be of utmost and impartial good to all branches of the industry.

It has made mistakes undoubtedly—what organization indeed or what individual in this industry has not?—but I fail to see why it should be done away with or what practical good can be thereby accomplished.

And in the same connection I suggest that this whole industry and every man in it owes a debt of gratitude to the men who for no gain and no glory willingly assumed a considerable responsibility and expense in starting and upholding this first organization movement and who have unfailingly and to the serious detriment of their private businesses given freely their time to its many committee and directors' sessions.

* * *

HOWEVER, the movement for a greater trade organization has been launched. We have a general committee composed of the sixty-four men present at the luncheon and a sub-committee with instructions to prepare and submit to the general committee a plan of organization.

In the writer's opinion this plan of organization should in no way disturb the exhibitor organizations, national, state and local. It should aim to increase and strengthen these organizations, which must always remain separate and devoted to the exhibitor.

These organizations can be fully represented in the general trade organization through these officers as members or through standing committees.

* * *

LET everyone help now. Send suggestions to the committee. Don't stand off and let "George" do it all. Don't wait to be invited, and above all don't be suspicious.

We've got to have a trade organization. There's no question about that. And we've got to have it mighty quick.

If you don't think so, say why. If you do think so—help.

WILLIAM A. JOHNSTON.

Copyright, 1916, by Motion Picture News, Inc.

Motion Picture News

HAS THE QUALITY CIRCULATION OF THE TRADE

MOTION PICTURE NEWS EXHIBITORS' TIMES

Published on Tuesday Every Week by

Motion Picture News, Inc.

729 SEVENTH AVENUE, COR. 49TH STREET, NEW YORK.

WILLIAM A. JOHNSTON.....President and Editor
HENRY F. SEWALL.....Vice-President
E. KENDALL GILLETT.....Secretary
H. ASHTON WYCKOFF.....Treasurer and Business Manager
WENTWORTH TUCKER.....Asst. Treasurer
R. M. VANDIVERT.....Advertising Manager
THEODORE S. MEAD.....Chicago Manager
J. C. JESSEN.....Los Angeles Manager
LESLEY MASON.....Managing Editor
WILLIAM RESSMAN ANDREWS.....News Editor

The office of the company is the address of the officers.
Entered as Second-Class matter at the New York Post-Office.

Subscription $2 per year, postpaid in the United States, Mexico, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands. Canada, $3; Foreign, $4 per year. N. B.—No agent is authorized to take subscriptions for MOTION PICTURE NEWS at less than these rates. Have the agent taking your subscription show his credentials and coupon book.

VOL. XIII June 24, 1916 No. 25

"A Substitute for Censorship" Finds Favor

LAST week's editorial, headed "A Substitute for Censorship," has called forth expressions of strong commendation from exhibitors and producers alike. Letters endorsing the plan have been received from many vitally interested in seeing censorship forever laid to rest through the constructive substitute, which MOTION PICTURE NEWS outlined.

Lee A. Ochs, president of the New York State League, writes: "I am in hearty accord with your entire article. No doubt a few points could be worked out, which would make it a little better, but, as whole, I think you have solved the problem."

* * *

ANOTHER endorsement comes from Louis F. Blumenthal, treasurer of the New York State League. He says: "I wish to say that, after reading carefully your article, 'A Substitute for Censorship,' I am heartily in accord with the general principles expressed therein."

As representative of the opinion of producers, Paul H. Cromelin, of the Cosmofotofilm Company, writes:

"I have read with much interest your editorial entitled 'A Substitute for Censorship.' It is of peculiar interest because it is constructive. I have opposed legalized censorship of motion pictures for many years and am more strongly of the opinion today than ever that any cure for such evils as exist in the industry must come from within. I deplore the action of those concerned in the industry asking for and favoring legalized censorship.

* * *

"I AM opposed on principle, and as respects the principles involved there can be no compromise. That there are evils which have developed and which require treatment no one who knows the industry well would seriously deny. Therefore, I would welcome any plan by which the leaders would unite in an honest endeavor to cut out causes for complaint and believe that this could be done in a large degree by the industry itself, far more effectively than could ever be done by means of legalized censorship; and the plan you propose seems to afford a frame work on which some such structure could be built."

* * *

FINALLY, this endorsement from Carl H. Pierce, of the Oliver Morosco Photoplay Company, is cited:

"I believe that the editorial in this week's issue of your paper is fundamentally sound . . . . If the editorial has in mind a 'Board of Review' that shall include the idea of an entirely clean slate, I am heartily in favor of the proposition, and shall most sincerely advocate it to all the executives on the Coast."

MOTION PICTURE NEWS invites every exhibitor and exchangeman in the country to write us your views on the editorial—the more the better.

What Is a Real Screen Story?

IT will not do for the makers of pictures to be too pessimistic about progress in the industry, and particularly progress as related to the quality of photoplays themselves. It is perfectly true that the average story which finds its way to the screen should never have traveled the costly road which landed it there. But little is gained by condemning the mass of screen stories in toto, without making some attempt to discover just what kind of stories the screen ought to get.

A story may be excellent in novel form or book form, or as a stage play, and fall flat when it is screened. It may contain a great idea, and still, in photoplay form, fail to convince. In incident it may be strong; as a spectacle, stirring; in characterization, excellent, and still lack the vital spark.

* * *

THIS will be, and is true of photoplays adapted from short stories or novels more than any other. The reason is evident. It has been stated before, and it should be restated now: a lot of inaccuracies and flaws in character delineation can be covered up by clever description under the pen; they cannot be covered up on the screen, where everything must stand forth to the eye.

It would be well for the makers of pictures to remember this fact in their search for material that really belongs on the screen. They should also remember that the screen is not the place for dramatic duels between characters in a play which was first of all written for the speaking stage. That sort of drama is too much dependent on dialogue.

* * *

WHICH leads us to remark that whatever else the true screen story must have, it must not be conditioned upon psychology dependent on the spoken word. As somebody has very correctly said, you cannot photograph dialogue. All you can do is to render your picture somewhat convincing, by falling back on conversational subtitles. And conversational subtitles really have no place on the screen.

The production of a real photoplay is a complex matter. Many things, many minds enter into it. But the story is the fundamental thing. The opening wedge toward the widespread development of screen writers will come through the realization that the screen is not the place for any story which hinges on word psychology.

Surprisingly few producers seem to know this. They still cling to the idea that the screen should copy the stage, even to copying the sort of dramatic material native to the stage. These producers are the reactionaries in the business. Like the reactionaries in a political party, they stick to old theories in spite of the fact that these theories are entirely out of place. The real screen story must be written for the screen.

Broader Trade Association Projected at Luncheon

Over Sixty Prominent Men in the Motion Picture Industry Meet at Luncheon at Delmonico's, New York, on June 8, to Initiate Plans for the Formation of a Trade Association Which Shall Come Up to the Expectations of Producers, Exchangemen and Exhibitors Alike

MORE than sixty of the most prominent men in the motion picture industry at a luncheon held at Delmonico's June 8, initiated plans for the formation of a trade association which should be thoroughly representative of the whole industry.

A subcommittee was appointed, with Walter W. Irwin, chairman of the meeting, as the head, to formulate definite plans for the association, and report back to the committee of the whole, consisting of all those who were present at the June 8 luncheon. The report of the sub-committee will be heard at a meeting to be held June 29.

Besides Chairman Irwin, this organization committee consists of the following: Jules E. Brulatour, Nicholas Power, J. H. Hallberg, Lee A. Ochs, John J. Whittman, L. L. Levine, W. Stephen Bush, William A. Johnston, Tracey Lewis, William W. Hodkinson, and Jesse L. Lasky.

It was the sense of the meeting that each branch of the industry is an important member of the motion picture family; that family differences and disputes ought to be amicably adjusted within the family circle, so that the industry as a whole could present a solid front, not only in opposition to adverse legislation, but liekwise in support of constructive measures, as well as all other matters pertaining to the welfare and further development of the business.

It was also the consensus of opinion that in the formation of such an association, this industry owes a duty not only to itself, but to the public, to see to it that so great a vehicle of entertainment and education should not be handicapped or harassed in its development, but on the contrary should be permitted to advance constantly in those qualities that make for enlightenment, education and entertainment.

Purpose of Meeting Outlined by Irwin

The purpose of the meeting was outlined by Mr. Irwin, who spoke in part as follows:

In order to save time, we will get down to work at once. This meeting, gentlemen, was not called by the Motion Picture Board of Trade, it is not a meeting of the Board of Trade, it is a meeting of the entire industry, for the purpose of considering the formation of an association which will be representative of the entire industry, and which will gain the confidence of every one in it. No business has progressed and gained the prominence, the degree of success, and in many respects the stability, that this industry has gained in so short a time; and at the same time so neglected to know itself, to know those who constitute it, or to form an association for its protection and promotion.

Frankly and honestly speaking, the Motion Picture Board of Trade has not been able to fulfill its objects. It was formed with the best of intentions. It was the intention of every one who had anything to do with it that it should gain the confidence of the entire industry, and that each branch of the industry should come into it with a proper representation. The fear seems to have existed that the Motion Picture Board of Trade is a manufacturers' association.

Now, the officers and directors of the Board of Trade are quite willing to relinquish their positions to others who may be selected by the entire industry. I think I can confidently say to you that they are quite willing to amend the charter in any respect that this meeting may consider that it should be amended. In the first place, it has been suggested that its name ought to be changed. With that suggestion I agree. The name, the Motion Picture Board of Trade, seems to smack too much of manufacturing.

Two Directors from Exchangemen Suggested

It has also been urged by the exhibitors that the exchangemen have two directors and the producers two directors, and that the exchangemen and producers are one and the same, because in every instance the exchange is controlled by the producers, or the producers are controlled by the exchange organizations, and that, therefore, the exhibitors ought to have a representation equal to the representation of exchangemen and exhibitors.

In this respect I think they are right, and I know the Board, at least those whom I have heard express an opinion, agree as to this; and the Board of Trade is perfectly willing to do anything this meeting may think proper to bring about an association that will have the full confidence and co-operation of the whole industry. They are willing to go further than that. They are quite willing to dissolve the Board of Trade, so that the Board of Trade will not be in a position of inviting manufacturers or exhibitors to come into it. The purpose of this meeting is to form an association by which no one is invited to come in, by which we have all come together of our own volition for the purpose of forming an association which is thoroughly representative.

The fact that the Board of Trade has not been able to carry out the purposes and intentions with which it was formed is not unusual; in fact, is quite natural. Other trade organizations, as you know, when first formed in an industry, go through this same period of uncertainty, of suspicion and of misunderstanding; and it is not until vital questions confront the whole industry and cause the entire industry to get together, just as we are here in this splendidly representative gathering, that those comprising an industry are able to understand each other, to do away with the differences, and, as we propose to do to-day, amend the existing trade organization so that it meets the requirements of the entire industry, or else discard it and create a new association which will be able to present a solid front to questions that affect the entire industry.

Now, there are but a few questions that we ought to consider this afternoon. The first one is, do we agree that this industry has arrived at the point where we ought to have an association based upon proper representation from each branch of the industry, so that all questions affecting the whole industry may be determined by the industry, and with the agreement that the minority shall abide by the decision of the majority.

If we agree that such an association ought to be created, the next question is the method of establishing its budget by a proper contribution from every branch of the industry.

Understanding and Friendship Desired

Therefore, gentlemen, the paramount question to be discussed this afternoon is whether we have arrived, or may arrive, at a degree of understanding, acquaintanceship and friendship, each branch of the industry with each of the other branches, so that we may have an association which will gain not only the confidence of the manufacturers and equipment men, but the confidence of the exhibitors. No association that you will be able to form can meet the situation on questions such as censorship, railroad and express rules, insurance, and a host of other questions that must be considered, unless we have the exhibitors with us.

As the Board of Trade was formed with the best intentions, sincere intentions, and as the Board of Trade still possesses those same intentions, it is our purpose, if it be the will of this meeting, either to permit the Board of Trade to be so amended that it will meet with the desires, squarely, of each branch of the industry, or to dissolve it, and form a new association which will obtain the necessary co-operation and confidence of every one in the industry.

Commodore J. Stuart Blackton spoke next, after which there was a general discussion in which many of those present participated.

J. W. Binder, Executive Secretary of the Motion Picture Board of Trade of America, after the meeting, made this statement:

I am much gratified at the representative attendance at the meeting. I believe the action taken is wise and along constructive lines. The original plan of organization and the budget of the Board of Trade were never considered by me as being permanent. The plan was tentative, and the budget intended to suffice only for the organization period, until the full membership had been secured. When it became apparent that, from whatever reason, the full strength of the different branches of the industry could not be enrolled, I at once began work upon a broader plan, a larger budget and a more equitable method of raising the same. Under the former procedure, a few concerns bore the brunt of the expense connected with the Board's work.

Careful study of existing Trade organizations in other industries showed that in the majority of cases the money to be raised for trade organization purposes was secured through a self-imposed tax on the unit of production. In the film industry this is the thousand-foot reel of film. The plan evolved, after discussion with the Board of Directors, has been placed at the disposal of the new committee. If adopted, it will raise a budget adequate for the things which must be done by a trade association without being burdensome to any one in the industry.

I am sure that the Committee appointed will work out a plan which will be fair and equitable, and which will enlarge upon the beginnings made by the Board of Trade, the result being an efficient trade organization, thoroughly representative of the whole industry. If this is done, I shall feel thoroughly repaid for the time and energy I have personally given to the work in the past.

I do not feel, nor does any one, I believe, familiar with what the Board has accomplished that it has in any sense been a failure. I have only to point to the splendid fight made against the Federal censorship bill in Washington, the achievement of the Wilson dinner, and to the fact that in the eleven States in which the legislatures met this year, out of sixty-four bills hostile to the motion picture industry introduced, only eleven became laws, to prove this assertion.

It is a source of keen regret to me that I shall not be here to take an active part in the organization to be built. I am sailing for London on Saturday to execute a private commission of an extremely important nature, which it is a great honor to have been asked to undertake. I shall be absent until July 15. If the committee has not completed its labors at that time, my best efforts, and as much time as I can give, will be at its disposal.

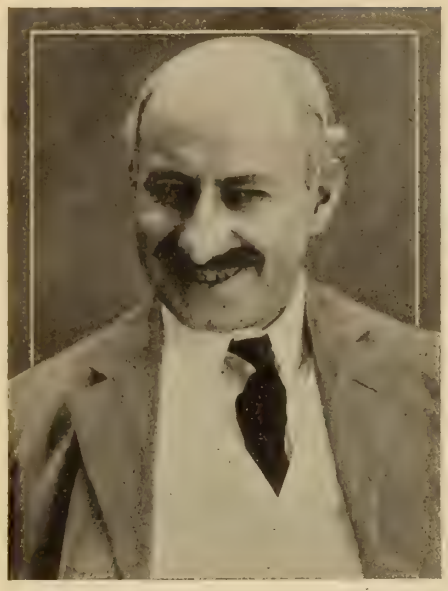
Those present were:

A. H. F. Banshof, H. Berbaum, J. A. Berst, J. W. Binder, J. Stuart Blackton, L. P. Blumenthal, Louis J. Bull, William Brandt, Cranston Brenton, William A. T. Brady, J. E. Brulatour, W. Stephen Bush, John F. Chalmers, Harry Cochrane, Paul H. Cromelin, Edward Earl, Jack Edwards, Joseph W. T. Engel, William Fox, Arthur S. Friend, Samuel M. Field, E. K. Gillett, Huntly Gordon, J. C. Graham, B. R. Hampton, I. N. Hartsall, Ralph W. Ince, W. W. Irwin, L. B. Jennings, Wm. A. Johnston, Ad. T. Kessell, Jr., Jesse Lasky, Arthur Leslie, Tracy Lewis, Lewis L. Levine, Ben Lyons, Lesley Mason, McDonald, Lee A. Ochs, M. Oestreicher, Carl H. Pierce, Nicholas Power, P. A. Powers, John F. Robertson, S. L. Rothapfel, Richard T. Rowland, William M. Seabury, S. M. Spedon, W. N. Selingsberg, John Semler, W. E. Shallenberger, B. Tietel, Sam Trigger, Carl Wilson, Charles Urban, John J. Wittman, Charles Condon, C. K. Von Dousen, J. H. Hallberg, Terry Ramsaye, H. T. Edwards and Lloyd B. Willis.

NELLIE PHILLIPS, GENERAL FILM, KILLED IN STREET CAR ACCIDENT

Nellie Phillips, a bookkeeper employed in the General Film Company branch office at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., was killed Saturday, June 3, when a street car in which she was riding was struck by a train.

Miss Phillips had been employed in the Wilkes-Barre office for more than two years and her efficiency and fidelity were highly appreciated by the General Film Company.



Barney Bernard (Vitagraph)

RECIPE FOR A SUCCESSFUL MOTION PICTURE DEPARTMENT

One of the most successful motion picture pages in Ontario is being conducted by E. Y. Watson for the Toronto Sunday World. His page gets all the advertising it can carry—and more. The answer is: Mr. Watson makes it his business to co-operate in the fullest possible measure with exchanges and exhibitors. His first step upon assuming the position of motion picture editor was to visit all the exchanges, with a view to grasping their viewpoint.

This is a winning policy. We have yet to hear of a single newspaper, which has found exhibitors or exchangemen unresponsive to intelligent co-operation.

"BATTLE CRY" IN NEW ORLEANS UNDER NEWSPAPER AUSPICES

In line with the propaganda for preparedness, The Times-Picayune brought to New Orleans the Vitagraph-V-L-S-E feature, "The Battle Cry of Peace." It was shown for a week at the Crescent theatre to S. R. O. business, and the run was lengthened.

Other New Orleans papers co-operated with the Times-Picayune in bringing the subject of preparedness home to the people of the city. Theatre parties were arranged, at which the G. A. R., the Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, the Spanish War Veterans and other organizations were guests.

DRESSES AS GIANTESS TO HERALD "SLIM PRINCESS"

Manager F. J. Potter, of the Ruby theatre, Chelan, Wash., pulled an original stunt in advertising "The Slim Princess" by attiring himself as a midinette, representing a giantess, about seven feet tall.

SMALL FIRE IN NEW ORLEANS OFFICE

Special to Motion Picture News.

New Orleans, June 10.

A slight fire in the office of the World Film Corporation, 836 Common street, caused a loss of one hundred dollars. One of the films caught fire, but was quickly extinguished before the flames could spread.

Ochs Candidate of New York Local for National President

Announcement Comes from Local's Headquarters and Delegates Are Instructed to Vote for New York Man from First to Last—Platform Is Made Public

THE candidacy for National President of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America of Lee A. Ochs of New York, was the announcement made last week at the headquarters of New York Local, 218 West Forty-second street. The boom was launched by the New York Local of the Exhibitors' League, and its delegates were instructed to vote for Ochs from first to last. Similar instructions have been voted by the Bronx and Brooklyn locals during the week.

Mr. Ochs's platform is announced as follows:

Equal participation and voice with the manufacturer and distributor in all plans, programs, conferences and movements that affect the industry as a whole.

A campaign of co-operative work that will bring the strength of the National Exhibitors' organization up to 100 per cent. of the total number of motion picture exhibitors in the United States.

A local in every motion picture center, great or small, in the United States.

One national convention and one exposition or trade show each year to be held simultaneously in the city chosen by the convention. The exposition should be under the auspices of the exhibitors with co-operation and participation of the entire industry.

The establishment of a credit system that will insure the increase in membership of the league.

The establishment of a bureau of information for the benefit of the league's members.

The establishment of a grievance committee, whose duty it shall be to adjust all differences between exhibitors and other branches of the industry, which committee shall be permanently located in New York, the headquarters of all the large manufacturing, distributing and accessory concerns.

Such progressive legislation, as shall be beneficial to all branches of the motion picture industry, whether local, State or national.

Eva Tanguay, Famous Comedienne, Now a Picture Producer

Surrounded by Competent Staff, Vaudeville Star Is Engaged in Filming "Eva's Deal in Pork," Which Will Introduce Her to Screendom

A MOST important announcement of the week in film circles is that famous Eva Tanguay is at present busily engaged in the production of a motion picture. "Eva's Deal in Pork" is the title the famous comedienne has selected for her introduction into filmdom.

During the past year, Miss Tanguay has been the recipient of many offers to forsake the legitimate stage for the screen. She is now surrounded herself with a competent staff, all of whom are well known members of the moving picture world, it is said.

Miss Tanguay has the distinction of being the only vaudeville star who played in New York City for three consecutive years, playing 22 return engagements at the Colonial Theatre, 27 return engagements at the Alhambra Theatre, New York City; and 25 return engagements at the Orpheum Theatre, Brooklyn.

For her initial bow to the screen, Miss Tanguay has created what is said to be a new and original character.

Donald Brian (Famous Players)

"PARAMOUNT SUNDAE" EXPLOITED BY WESTERN EXHIBITOR

Thomas Bruce, manager of the Electric Theatre in Hoquiam, Wash., contributes to the current issue of Paramount progress the receipt for a Paramount sundae, which Archie Stafford of Hoquiam has invented.

The formula for the sundae follows:

Put leaf of lettuce on 8-inch plate, take large scoop of orange sherbet, put small scoop vanilla ice cream on top, giving mountain effect, cover all with whipped cream. Cover half way to top with ground pistaschio nuts (representing trees), over balance put ground cocoanut (representing snow). Decorate around bottom with maraschino cherries and fruit in season. Dip large lump of sugar in alcohol, place on top of sundae and light.

"TWO CHIMPS AND A CHUMP" MAKE HIT IN LOS ANGELES

The Peerless Film Service of Los Angeles, which is handling the E. & R. subjects in that territory, has booked them for weekly release at Clune's Broadway theatre, and Napoleon last week was guest of honor at a matinee performance. The attendance was unusually good, and the pictures are to continue there indefinitely. The first one shown is named "Two Chimps and a Chump."

"The Fall of a Nation" Rises to Dramatic Heights

Dixon Subject, Shown at Liberty Theatre, New York City, on June 9, to Enthusiastic Audience, Proves a Spectacle Capable of Teaching a Powerful Lesson for Preparedness While Holding the Attention by Brilliant Examples of Motion Picture Art

THOMAS DIXON'S "Fall of a Nation" opened at the Liberty theatre, New York, on June 6, before a trade audience which cheered almost constantly. The picture is Mr. Dixon's plea for an adequate army, and in a combination of the spectacular and the interest created by a personal story he accomplishes his purpose with considerable clarity and force. At the close of the performance Mr. Dixon made a short speech, in which he thanked the audience for its appreciation and praised all those associated with him in the production of the picture.

Victor Herbert, who composed a musical score specially for the picture, was also brought up on the stage. Besides announcing himself for Preparedness, Mr. Dixon spoke of the combination of a picture and music composed to fit its action and the fact that "The Fall of a Nation" was the first picture to be so treated.

"The Fall of a Nation" spells Preparedness not only with a capital P, but with every one of its twelve lessons in smashing bold-faced type. The picture, which is in a prologue and three acts, takes about three hours to run, including three short intermissions.

The prologue deals with the various peoples that first migrated to American shores and on which the foundation of American democracy was built. The persecuted Germans, French, Italians, Russians and Irish are shown in their native lands in the critical period which started their immigration to North America. The prologue goes on to show the signing of the Declaration of Independence and the breaking away from England. Various typical bits of United States history are introduced depicting the manner in which America's Americanism has been maintained during the country's development.

Foreign Army Shown on American Soil

But the poison of kings still taints America in the future, as Mr. Dixon says in a sub-title, and in the picture proper he tells of an imaginary and plausible occupation of the United States by a foreign army. The army, assisted by an internal uprising, instigated by an ambitious millionaire, is termed as belonging to a nation greatly indebted to the United States through the present war. America's inadequate army is shortly overpowered, the eyes of the Pacifists and Peace-at-any-Price supporters are opened, and so, after two years of suffering under the yoke of the "Emperor," an uprising led by women succeeds in crushing the foreign power and re-establishing the republic.

There are several personal stories interwoven with this main theme. There is the love affair of Virginia Holland, at first a pacifist but later a true fighter, and John Vassar, a congressman, who leads the United States army when the uprising materializes. There is also the little romance indulged in by Billy Holland and Zonia, Vassar's niece, which is one of the particularly bright threads of the picture. And then there is the tragic little story of the Italian family who came to America seeking peace and liberty. The father is killed in the war. He is carrying the American flag in a charge when he falls. The little son is shot in a street riot, and only the mother is left to carry on the fight against the enemy.

The battle scenes that grace much of the first part of the picture are, to say the least, thrilling. Flashes of aeroplanes dropping bombs on the American lines are inserted between scenes of war waged on the earth. The invading army possesses three formidable appearing howitzers of the German type, which look exactly like the real thing. The explosion of shells is terrifying in that many times throughout the battle the earth in close proximity to the soldiers is ripped asunder and its fragments scattered through the air.

Included in the detailed action of the film is a pointed attack on a certain Pacifist who might still have been Secretary of State. There are also certain things about the invading army which are strongly mindful of the Kaiser's forces.

Dixon Assisted by Cushing

Mr. Dixon was assisted in the direction by Bartley Cushing. The directors were, of course, confronted with a tremendous task. Any one who would attempt to picturize the subjugation of the United States is in such a position. The general impression conveyed by "The Fall of a Nation" is that the producers had a difficult job. The greater part of the action transpires on Long Island. The battles are fought there, and it is the haven of the refugees. One finds the question "Why did not the refugees take to the Rocky Mountains or the Great Lakes?" confronting him. Long Island, where the fighting was going on, was not a very safe place. Neither have the producers shown serious regard for time and space and the intelligence of their characters. How could the United States troops prepare an uprising for several months or years, which ever the case may be, and then steal all the way from the middle West to Long Island without being surprised by the enemy? How could the organization of rebels be carried on in a New York attic with rifles, machine guns, and ammunition continually carried in right under the noses of the passersby? Another score that may be chalked up against the producer is the use of backdrops in a few of the interior scenes. The motion picture ought to have progressed beyond such elementary things by this time.

The players, none of them exceedingly well known, exhibit sufficient ability to do full justice to their parts. Percy Standing, Arthur Shirley, Lorraine Huling, Leila Frost, Flora MacDonald, M. Giroci, Phillip Gastrock and Burton Wilson have some of the most important roles.

The photography of the play is very good, and it was aided on the opening night by excellent projection. The musical score, furnished specially for the picture by Victor Herbert, discountenanced in many cases the errors made by the producers. The music was inspiring and arranged to fit the scenes of the picture with great care.

Comments of New York Dailies

Some of the comments of the New York daily press on Mr. Dixon's picture follows.

The Times:

The battle scenes on Long Island are admirably worked out, but Mr. Dixon is shrewd enough to sprinkle the picture with children. A tiny Italian boy is seen after the battle is over groping among the dead for his father, a tiny American girl is seen hiding under the table where some invading officers have just been dining riotously.

Mr. Herbert's score is effective. It helps a lot. It is easy enough to find miscellaneous musicial motifs to accompany a photoplay, but here we have a score adjusted also to its rhythms. Of course there are dissonantal crashes for the battle scenes. In one scene of lamentation, the figure on the screen moves to the measures of a strain that is a blending of "Lead Kindly Light" with taps. And in the prologue the origins of this country are traced, in scenes which show it as a place of refuge and new life for the variously oppressed of Europe, to a musical accompaniment wherein is woven from time to time the airs of our national anthems.

This music adorns a photoplay that lasts all evening, an example of good motion picture photography without any evidences of the advance for which one must watch with interest in the handling of this new art form. And, like all big spectacular pictures, it must face the eternal question, "Is it as good as 'The Birth of a Nation'?" It has not yet been possible to answer this in the affirmative.

The Press:

"The Fall of a Nation" carries a message and a warning that are brought forth clearly and graphically as the story is developed. It presents a most remarkable picture of battle, of big guns in action as the Teutonic armies used them against Liege and Namur, and shows remarkable riding and drilling of large bodies of men and women.

The Evening Sun:

Turning from history to prophecy, Thomas Dixon presented "The Fall of a Nation" last night in the Liberty theatre with thunderous effect. The reverberations of his 42 centimetre cannon, as simulated in Victor Herbert's music, were matched by the applause for the battle scenes, despite the unaccustomed sight of the Stars and Stripes going down to defeat. Those same big guns will be heard far and near, for this photoplay is bound to make a widespread success. It is an unnecessarily theatrical compound of thrills and laughs, but it is so entertainingly done that it will please the crowds.

Mr. Dixon's story is of the conquest of America by an imperial invader, whose legions bring great cannon—"the world is ruled by a machine," the apt caption reads—and of its redemption by a volunteer army, aided by a white clothed legion of women working within the enemy's lines. It is a new Ku Klux Klan.

It is as a demonstration of the need of preparedness that the picture is supposed to have its great drawing power. One might think, however, that it will in the end owe its dividends half to its sweeping excitements and half to Mr. Dixon's uncanny genius for stirring up a ruction. "The Clansman" stirred old embers of racial prejudice into fire and "The Fall of a Nation" is bound to create something of that sort of an effect. Its story has its crux—not in the mere invasion of America, but in bits of accomplishment by the aid of a secret armed organization, which rises in a night and seizes the country. A pleasant suggestion truly for Americans in these days!

The preparedness lesson will have to be taken as a flight of the prophetic imagination, for condensation of the film or some other cause has made the conquest of the country and its reconquest lack plausibility.

Scenes from Three Vitagraph Offerings for the Week of June 19: "Would You Forgive Her?" "Curfew at Simpton Center," and "Stung!"

The Tribune:

If a dramatist invents a little story about a million men springing to arms in the United States and cooperating with a foreign foe in the conquest of America, and if he further arranges matters so that a number of pretty girls in white win back the country by making love to the enemy—why, of course, there is nothing to prevent him. Mr. Thomas A. Dixon, whose newest motion picture opened last night at the Liberty theatre, must be given credit for concocting a delectable romantic fantasy.

When, however, Mr. Dixon names his picture "The Fall of a Nation," and pretends to believe that he is telling a big story or solving a national problem, then it is time to do something about it. "The Fall of a Nation" is not big. In fact, it is so trivial that seven dozen pictures like it would not send a single patriotic thrill down the spine nor accelerate one's pulse beats by so much as a semi-quaver. A film, like a play, needs something more than an American flag to make it thrilling.

Some of those present at the premier were:

Ex-Judge Alton B. Parker, Miss Charlotte Burnett, Mayor John Purroy Mitchel, Theodore Rousseau, State Senator James H. Walker, Henry Martyn Brigham, S. Stanwood Menken, Edward D. Marsh, R. L. Patterson, Mrs. Lilla Radclyffe Dugmore, Thomas H. Ince, Richard A. Rowland, Joseph W. Engel, Commodore J. Stuart Blackton, Herbert Brenon, Dr. Ralph Opdyke, Joe Weber, Henry Albert Phillips, J. B. Duke, A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., A. B. Duke, B. N. Duke, T. B. Yuille, Henry R. Hoyt, W. R. Perkins, Alexander H. Sands, Jr., Lorraine Huling, Mrs. Huling, Leila Frost, Flora MacDonald, Percy Standing, Mrs. Helen S. Brown, Mrs. C. W. Bradshaw, Mrs. Margaret Oldham, Captain Ridley McLean, Mrs. Charles E. MacMillan, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dixon, Victor Herbert, Mrs. Robert Adamson, Reginald Barlow, A. H. Woods, Jesse L. Lasky, W. A. Twitty, W. T. von der Lippe and Mary Pickford.

EXPRESS STRIKE IN INDIANA AFFECTS EXHIBITORS

Motion picture proprietors in northern Indiana have been seriously affected by the strike of expressmen in Chicago, as all traffic has been entirely suspended out of Chicago in the shipment of motion pictures.

Since the outbreak of the strike two of the leading theatres of Elkhart have been sending men to Chicago every day to procure their pictures. An automobile delivery including Elkhart, South Bend and Goshen has been started, to deliver the films to these three cities every day. As some releases are made from other cities, and shipments are made from motion picture houses in every city, the theatre owners will not be without pictures.

Miss Eyton on First Visit to New York for "Prince Chap"

Selig Star, Here with Director Marshal Neilan to Film New Feature, Will Also Buy a Few Gowns and Perhaps See the Town Later

THIS is an "interview" with Bessie Eyton, the young Selig star, who landed in New York on Friday, June 9. Stripped of its verbiage, and everything else, it resolves itself into these facts:

1. She is at the Great Northern Hotel.
2. She is making her first visit to New York.
3. She thinks New York is "wonderful."
4. She is here to make New York scenes for the new Selig feature, "Prince Chap."
5. She will also buy a few gowns and things.
6. She is unusually fond of picture work, and foresees a great future for films.

After this synopsis of the interview comes the full working scenario in Miss Eyton's own language, to a greater or less extent.

Bessie Eyton

1. "I'm spending my time around the hotel right now, waiting a call from Marshal Neilan, our director. We're here to work and not to play, and just as soon as the weather is decent we'll begin. That's why I have to stay pretty close to the telephone."

2 and 3. "Yes, this is my first glimpse of New York. Up to last March I had never been out of California. Then I came east as far as Chicago, and have been kept pretty busy there since. When we got into New York—there are five of us in the company—it was raining, and we didn't see much. Nevertheless, I think it is a wonderful city, and if I can, I'm going to try and stay over a few days after our work is finished and see some of it."

4. "There are a lot of scenes in our new picture which call for a New York setting, so Mr. Neilan decided that the only thing to do was to come here. Some of these scenes are at the steamship piers, and others in the streets. Next week we are going to motor out to the Benedict estate at Greenwich, Conn., to make some important scenes."

5. "Of course I will do some shopping; women are expected to think of that first, so I won't disappoint anybody. A few gowns and things like that, I suppose, will constitute my shopping; I hear there are wonderful shops in New York."

6. "I like picture work. Just now I have nothing to do but wait, but when we are at work we earn all we get. Nevertheless, it is my style of work, and I am ambitious to do everything I can in it. I have never been on the stage and my sole experience in this line is before the camera. We have just finished Churchill's 'The Crisis,' in twelve reels, and it is a really remarkable picture. Many of the scenes we made at Vicksburg, using the old forts and the original locations of the novel. Our new picture also promises to be especially good."

The "interview" now closes with the observation that Miss Eyton is young, active, auburn haired, pretty and bright. With this equipment she bids fair to realize her ambitions.

RUTH ROLAND TO APPEAR IN KNICKERBOCKER FEATURES

Ruth Roland is the latest acquisition to the group of stars appearing in Knickerbocker Star Features. Melies Manufacturing Company has arranged with H. M. and E. D. Horkheimer for the production of a number of three and five reel dramas featuring Miss Roland, and the star of "Who Pays?" and other serials is now working in her first picture, for release on the Knickerbocker program in the General Film service.

GRETCHEN HARTMAN, METRO, BEGAN STAGE CAREER AT ELEVEN

Gretchen Hartman, the piquante Adelaide Severn of the Metro-Rolfe production, "The Purple Lady," which is her first Metro picture, was born in Chicago, where she went to school. When she was eleven she went on the stage and played Mary Jane in "Mary Jane's Pa," the play by Edith Ellis in which Henry E. Dixey was starred.

From then until she grew up, which was not long ago, Gretchen was bothered by the Gerry Society, and other people, who though that a child, even as clever as she, should not be on the stage. But she remained in the play three years. Her first grown-up part was in "The Master of the House," with Florence Reed.

She appeared in musical comedies, among them "The Flirting Princess" and "Sweethearts," with Christie MacDonald. Then she mysteriously lost her voice, and went into pictures, her first experience being with the Biograph. Going to California, she reveled in the outdoor life of the motion picture colony, riding anything from a blooded horse to a bucking broncho, swimming and playing tennis and golf.

She played the insane wife of Rochester in the film production of "Jane Eyre," and appeared in "The Mystery of Orcival," "Fit for the Burning," "On the Heights" and other pictures.

"Big Pictures Are Antidote for Summer Dullness"—Irwin

"V-L-S-E Proved by Its Efforts Last Hot Season That Theory That Business in Film Industry Must Fall Off at This Time Is a Fallacy," He Declares

"BIG pictures are an antidote for summer dullness,' says Walter W. Irwin, general manager of the V-L-S-E, in discussing plans of the company to better its record of last year, when its business, instead of falling off during the hot season, actually increased.

"We proved by our efforts last summer," Mr. Irwin continued, "the fallacy of the old theory that business in the film industry must necessarily fall off in the summer time. This is simply another way of saying that exhibitors are keen, intelligent business men, and that if proper co-operation is offered them, they will join in putting on pressure when the handicap is greatest.

"It would be foolish to try to discount the fact that hot weather does tend to keep people away from theatres. But on the other hand, it is equally apparent that strong attractions and intelligent service may be used to counterbalance the influence of such weather.

"This is best proved by the fact that the legitimate theatres during the summer months turn their theatres into moving picture houses, secure the very best possible attractions which they can obtain, exploit them with the same enterprise that they use in publicizing their stage offerings, and as a result, frequently play to more profitable business than they do during the winter months.

"If the legitimate theatre manager can do this, certainly the moving picture exhibitor who is more familiar with the public's likes and dislikes in pictures than his theatrical competitor, and who is better able to surround those pictures with the environment that makes for their greatest success, should find it easy to dpulicate or excel his competitor's experience.

"It is simply a question of selecting those productions which are so powerful in their dramatic appeal, that the public will seek them, regardless of the sate of the weather; and then advertising these productions to the widest possible extent.

"The reason we, of the V-L-S-E, feel so confident as to what we may expect during these next few months is. first because we have taken extensive steps to see to it that our service in behalf of our customers is complete and unfailing in its efficiency; second: because our manufacturers have gone to unusual lengths to provide pictures that will give to an exhibitor's business, the needed stimulus to keep it at a normal level during the torrid season."

Three Women Are the Stars in Three Fox Films for June

Bertha Kalich Will Be Seen in "Ambition," Virginia Pearson in "A Tortured Heart," and June Caprice Will Appear in "Caprice of the Mountains"

THREE women are the stars of the three new William Fox releases announced for the month of June—Bertha Kalich, Virginia Pearson and June Caprice. The stories range from the rough life of the Southern mountaineer to the careers of metropolitan politicians; the actresses range from Madame Bertha Kalich, with with her wide fame and well-established reputation on both stage and screen, to little June Caprice, of whom William Fox declares he is going to make a full-fledged film-star within one year.

In Madame Kalich's supporting cast are Kenneth Hunter and William H. Tooker, and little Kittens Reichert. Stuart Holmes and Fuller Mellish, well-known English actor, are in the Virginia Pearson picture. June Caprice's leading man is Harry S. Hilliard.

Other releases promised for the near future include Theda Bara, William Farnum, George Walsh and Anna Luther. The promised policy of releasing one Bara, one Farnum, one Pearson, and one Kalich picture each month, will be carefully followed. These are the announced releases for the month of July:

July 3.—Bertha Kalich in "Ambition," a vital drama of intrigue, in which love and politics are mixed. It is an American theme.

July 10.—Virginia Pearson in "A Tortured Heart," a story of village gossip and the evils it leads to. This picture was taken in and near Savannah, Ga.

July 17.—Harry Hilliard and June Caprice in "Caprice of the Mountains," a story with all the freshness and vigor of a spring picnic.

VARIETY GETS RIGHTS TO TWO UNITY SUBJECTS

Andrew J. Cobe, vice-president and general manager of the Unity Sales Corporation, announces that he has just consummated a deal whereby the states rights to the entire state of New York and Northern New Jersey have been acquired by Louis Rosenbluh, president of the Variety Films Corporation, for the two Unity Features, "My Country First," and "The Pursuing Vengeance."

Both are backed up by a strong line of advertising and publicity to help the exhibitor exploit them thoroughly and in a money-making way.

AMBROSIO TO FILM ALL OF D'ANNUNZIO'S WORKS

The Authors Film Company, Inc., American representative of Ambrosio, the largest photoplay producer in Europe, announce that Gabriel D'Annunzio, Italy's greatest poet, has signed a long-term contract with Ambrosio for the filming of all his works, past and to come.

CHARACTERISTIC POSES OF FOX FILM STARS TAKEN FROM THEIR LATEST PHOTOGRAPHS

June Caprice | Bradley Barker | Jose Collins | Harry Hilliard | Annette Kellermann

RAIN UPSETS MIDDLETON PLANS

While waiting for scenery from the winter studios at Jacksonvile, Fla., it was the intention of Director Edwin Middleton of the Gaumont Company to take a number of exteriors in and about Flushing, N. Y., where the main studios and the laboratories are located.

However, the rain upset his plans and the scenery had been received and arranged before the clouds lifted. No pictures were taken the first four days after the companies arrived.

Selznick Closes Big Deal in Chicago for Young Films

Forms Partnership with Jones, Linick and Schaefer Syndicate for Organization of Million Dollar Distributing Company to Cover Middle West

LEWIS J. SELZNICK, founder and president of the Clara Kimball Young Film Corporation, has closed a big deal with Aaron J. Jones, head of one of the biggest syndicates of motion picture theatres in the middle west, for the exclusive distribution of Miss Young's feature pictures in that territory. Under the terms of the franchise granted the Jones, Linick and Schaefer syndicate, a $1,000,000 distributing company will be incorporated under the name of Lewis J. Selznick Productions, Inc., of Illinois.

The franchise is for a period of five years and gives the Jones syndicate exclusive control of the Clara Kimball Young Film Corporation output in Illinois, southern Wisconsin, Indiana and western Kentucky. The syndicate paid Mr. Selznick a large sum for the franchise and the distribution of the pictures will be conducted on a fifty-fifty basis between Mr. Selznick and the syndicate.

The preliminary negotiations for the deal were handled by two of Mr. Selznick's personal representatives, Ben S. Cohen and Ned H. Spitzer, who were sent to Chicago about two weeks ago. Mr. Selznick was sent for to close the deal last Thursday and on his arrival in Chicago the final details were quickly settled.

Mr. Selznick has now completely covered a great proportion of the United States with his private exchanges. The New England states are controlled by a partnership with Green and Abrams of the Boston Photo-Play Company; New York state and northern New Jersey are covered by the home office or exchange, under the management of Sol J. Berman; southern New Jersey and Pennsylvania are in control of a partnership between Mr. Selznick and Messrs. Stanley J. Mastbaum and and W. B. Smith of Philadelphia and Michigan is similarly in control of a company headed by Mr. Selznick and Harry I. Garson of Detroit.

Messrs. Cohen and Spitzer, Mr. Selznick's advance representatives, are leaving at once for the West where similar deals are in the course of negotiation between Mr. Selznick and various local film interests there.

Moore Is Re-engaged by the Famous Players Film Company

Actor Who Appeared Opposite Mary Pickford in Many Successes Signs a Long-Time Contract and Will Shortly Be Co-Starred with Hazel Dawn

OWEN MOORE has been re-engaged by the Famous Players Film Company, under a long term contract, and will shortly be co-starred with Hazel Dawn, in an adaptation of a stage success on the Paramount Program, the title of which will be shortly announced. Mr. Moore, who has been a popular figure on the screen ever since the pioneer days of the motion picture and has been identified with several notable productions, has just completed a successful engagement with the Triangle Film Corporation.

Owen Moore

In his previous connection with the Famous Players Mr. Moore appeared in support of Mary Pickford, and played opposite her, in the first photoplay in which she was starred by that company, "Caprice," as well as in several subsequent successful pictures. Their joint appearance under the Famous Players banner marked the first reunion of Miss Pickford and Mr. Moore since the old Imp and Biograph days when they first apeared together.

This is the first time that Miss Dawn and Mr. Moore have been associated together on the screen and it is confidently expected by the producers that the combination will be a happy one.

COPYRIGHT BUREAU FORMED TO PROTECT AUTHORS

Scenario writers who have lost their scripts, or who think their ideas have been appropriated by readers and worked up into other photoplays, will be interested in the announcement that a corporation has been formed under the name of the Dramatic Authors' Copyright Bureau, with offices in the Longacre Building, which has a new and attractive way of overcoming that difficulty and protecting the writers.

The company claims to have found a way to protect ideas in short story or scenario form which will prevent their being pilfered by unscrupulous producers of photoplays.

PARAMOUNT BUTTONS FOR SOUVENIRS

Several thousand artistic Paramount buttons are being supplied by the Paramount Pictures Corporation for sale through its exchanges. They carry the Paramount trademark on a yellow background and make attractive souvenirs for distribution among Paramount audiences.

Illustrating Recent Episodes of "The Iron Claw," Pathe Serial

High Lights in the New Million Dollar Annette Kellermann Film, "A Daughter of the Gods," Soon to Be Presented by William Fox

POST ARRIVES ON COAST FOR DUTIES WITH TRIANGLE

Special to Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, June 10.

Charles Johnson Post has arrived on the coast to supervise the publicity matter for the Triangle Film Corporation, and has opened offices in the Currier Building, Los Angeles. Marion Strauch, who was assistant to Carlyle Ellis, formerly in charge of this work, is to continue with Mr. Post. Mr. Ellis has returned East.

The studio publicity will be handled in the future as in the past, Kenneth O'Hara having charge at the Ince plant, William Hart at the Keystone, and Benjamin Ziedman at the Fine Arts.

HOBAN WILL MAKE CARTOONS FOR INTERNATIONAL

Walter C. Hoban of the Hearst forces, cartoonist for the New York Journal and creator of "Jerry on the Job," is to make animated cartoons for the International Film Service.

He is twenty-five years old, and was born in Philadelphia. After a short course at St. Joseph's College, he went to the Philadelphia North American and became sporting cartoonist. In 1913 he came to New York and joined the Hearst collection of trained pencil pushers.

"Daughter of the Gods" Is Nearly Ready for Showing by Fox

Broadway House Will Be Picked Next Week for Brenon-Kellermann Marine Spectacle for Which Bowers, Composer of Many Musical Successes, Will Write Elaborate Score

HERBERT BRENON'S film conception, which was in the making in Jamaica for eleven months, is now almost ready for production in the greater cities of the United States and Europe.

Within the next week announcement will be made of the name of the Broadway theatre to give shelter to this production for a run of months, and as rapidly as possible thereafter, the other larger cities of the nation will be opened up.

"A Daughter of the Gods" will receive a distinctive mounting. Many reasons entered into the selection of "A Daughter of the Gods" as the title for the Fox-Brenon-Kellermann picture. For months under the warm Jamaica skies, Herbert Brenon made his picture with "A Daughter of the Gods" as his working title. Creators of pictures who begin their pictures with a designation are beyond question influenced by their temporary titles. More and more the picture continued to adhere to its temporary poetic designation. In the course of recent months scores of titles were under consideration by William Fox, Herbert Brenon and their close consultants, but none of the newer suggestions were so applicable to the picture as the initial title.

To indicate the "pitch" of this spectacle it should be said that although its battle scenes are tremendous, the picture itself is not a war film or dependent upon any of these phases for its appeal, as powerful as they are. The picture is imaginative, poetic, physically beautiful and all the way through its 10,000 feet the imagery and poetry of a great directing genius shows itself.

Mr. Fox has announced the selection of Robert Hood Bowers, composer, to write the musical score for "A Daughter of the Gods." Not only will he write the musicial score, with an introductory number already completed which is destined to become one of the most popular airs of the year, but he will also personally rehearse for Mr. Fox the orchestra assembled for the presentation of the picture.

The composer chosen jointly by Mr. Fox and Herbert Brenon to make the world's only million dollar picture memorable in a musical way will be remembered by millions of persons as the composer of the once popular shows, "The Vanderbilt Cup," "The Hoyden," "The Red Rose," and more than a score of other musical productions.

Mr. Bowers was born in Pennsylvania in 1877 and after being graduated from Franklin and Marshall College, studied music under Thomas Whitney Surette, Frederic Grand Gleason and Constantin von Sternberg. In 1902 he received the gold medal of the Chicago Conservatory for excellent work.

Among his compositions have been "Rubes and Roses," 1903; "The Paraders," 1903; "The Maid and the Mummy," 1904; "The Vanderbilt Cup," 1906; "The Hoyden," 1907; "A Grecian Garden," 1908; "The Anniversary," 1908; "The Silver Star," 1909; "The Wife Tamers," 1910; "A Certain Party," 1911; "The Scare Crow," 1911; "The Red Rose," 1911; "The Antique Girl," 1911; "California," 1911; "In the Barracks," 1912; "The Little Parisienne," 1912; "The Red Heads," 1913; "The Water Cure," 1913; "Omika," 1913 and a large part of "The Rose Maid."

Vacation for Miss Young Before She Begins "Common Law"

Capellani Will Complete Adaptation of Chambers' Story and Prepare Sets While the Star in Resting Period Makes a Study of Chief Role

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG, star and vice-president of the film corporation organized in her name, finished her last picture for her old company, World Film, last week, and after a brief vacation will begin work on her first production, "The Common Law," an adaptation of the noted American novel by Robert W. Chambers.

Miss Young's final picture under World Film auspices was finished under the direction of Albert Capellani, who has been engaged as director general of Miss Young's own company, and will sever his connection with the World Film within a few weeks. Miss Young's contract with the World does not terminate until July 15. The interval not being long enough to permit the taking of another picture, it was decided that Miss Young should take a few weeks' vacation.

Before leaving for Poland Springs this week, Miss Young will decide upon the three pictures to follow "The Common Law." These will be selected from the list of popular novels and successful plays, the motion picture rights to which are already secured by Miss Young and Lewis J. Selznick, president of the corporation. While at the Springs Miss Young will make a thorough study of the character of Valerie, the heroine of Chambers' novel, and on her return will be prepared to step right into the role before the camera.

In the mean time, M. Capellani will complete his adaptation of the novel and begin the construction of interiors at the studio, so that there will be no delay in beginning the production on the date set, July 16. The director general has practically decided upon the two directors who are to work under his supervision in the preparation of two pictures simultaneously.

PARAMOUNT BAS-RELIEF ANIMALS OF SECRET MANUFACTURE

Paramount exhibitors now have the opportunity to offer their audiences the sort of comedy which might have entertained the ancient Greeks had the characters in a frieze of the Parthenon suddenly come to life and indulged in comic antics.

Ashley Miller, the inventor of the animated bas-relief on the screen, which is now released regularly on the Paramount program through the Bray studios, is one of the best-known of American film directors. His idea for the film novelty which bears the same relation to sculpture that the animated cartoon does to drawing, grew out of a watch fob in relief, which Mrs. Miller gave him in Paris two years ago.

No one but the artists, cameramen and directors knows how the Plastiques are really made. Sculpture in motion pictures is the result of months of careful work spent by Mr. Miller and C. H. Ranson, the comedy director, in a little studio in the Bronx, where the sculptor's art, the photographic lens and the possibilities of the films were all utilized to produce a new screen feature.

HEPBURN OF GENERAL IN CHARGE OF SALT LAKE BRANCH

William Hepburn, formerly assistant manager of the Los Angeles General Exchange, has been promoted to the position of manager of the Salt Lake branch, and has gone to that city to take up his new work. Hepburn has been with the Los Angeles exchange for a number of years, first having been in charge of the projecting machine department.

"Apostle of Vengeance" Is a Kay-Bee Subject with Hart

Story Is Based on Kentucky Feudists and Is from Pen of Katterjohn—Fannie Midgley, Joseph J. Dowling, Mary McCoy, Marvel Safford and Jack Gilbert Are in the Cast

Special to Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, June 10.

THE Ince Kay-Bee subject completed this week for the Triangle is "The Apostle of Vengeance," a tale of Kentucky feudists, in which William S. Hart is starred in the part of a minister, the eldest son of a Kentucky mountaineer. The big punch of the story is when he is brought face to face with a problem of choosing between avenging the death of his father, killed by the feudists, or abide by his scriptural teachings. The story was written by Monty M. Katterjohn, and is said to be founded on facts told the scenario writer by a member of a famous Kentucky feaudist family.

Fannie Midgley appears in the part of Hart's mother, Joseph J. Dowling as the head of the opposing faction, Mary McCoy is the pretty mountain lass who finally wins the minister, and others are Marvel Safford and Jack Gilbert. This story, like most others in which Hart appears, has a big fight scene, in which a bootlegger is Hart's opponent. One unusual thrill for this is afforded by Marvel Safford, aged fourteen years, who allowed herself to be dropped from a bridge overhanging a mountain stream to the water, twenty-five feet below.

In making this picture the producing company encountered a mountain rainstorm, and for three hours worked in it to secure absolute realistic effects. In the past many scenes of this kind have been made by artificial means, and this one is said to be far superior to any previously coming from this studio.

The famous Bella Union resort of the San Francisco Barbary Coast has been built in replica at the Culver City Ince plant for use in the current H. B. Warner subject, which pertains to the story of a vagabond. The setting covers one entire stage. Another unusual setting is that built to resemble the interior of a New York cathedral for the Frank Keenan story being filmed by Reginald Barker. This was built by Art Director Robert Brunton from photos especially taken for the purpose. It is said to be even larger than the cathedral sets used in "Waifs," and the one in "The Market of Vain Desire."

Director-Actor William S. Hart has taken up his new story, written especially for him by Monty M. Katterjohn. In this Mr. Hart appears as a soldier of fortune, and the scenes are laid along the border of Mexico and the United States.

A very distinct tribute was paid to Louise Glaum, Kay-Bee leading woman, for her ability as a make-up artist this week, when her sister, thinking she had been badly injured, fainted when she saw her in the cafe wearing grease paint scars. Miss Glaum had just been working in scenes for a vampire story in which she is supposed to fall through a plate glass mirror. In the accident her face is badly cut. The make-up was so perfect that it not only badly frightened her sister, but cameramen were able to take close-up views with the actress' face which covered the entire frame.

J. C. Jessen.

Play Within a Play, with Wilbur, Is Horsley Offering

"Wasted Years" Will Be Released on June 24 in Five Reels—Mae Gaston Is Once More the Leading Feminine Support of the Star

A PLAY within a play, produced by a cast headed by Crane Wilbur, will be notable among the Horsley-Mutual releases for the week of June 24. It is a five-reel Masterpicture, de luxe edition, "The Wasted Years."

Mr. Wilbur, who is also the author of this play, is seen in an entirely different role than in previous Horsley productions, in the character of an aged man. Such is his character as he watches the play of "Youth," to look back over the years he has wasted.

On the other hand, he is also seen as a young and innocent country youth, who falls heir to considerable wealth, and, casting aside the simple and quiet life of the village of his boyhood, enters a life of romance and adventure, to fall the victim of a woman of the world.

Mae Gaston, who has been seen in numerous productions from the Horsley studios, is once more the leading feminine support of Mr. Wilbur.

Jessie Burnett, a new edition to the Wilbur Company, shoulders the character of the "worldly woman," and John Oaker departs from his usual line to work opposite Miss Burnett as one of the chief tools to be instrumental in the downfall of the youth.

Three youngsters are also in the supporting cast, Thelma Salter, Thelma Burns and George Harris.

This drama was staged under the direction of Robert B. Broadwell. June 22 is the release date.

"Jerry's Elopement," a one-reel Cub comedy, starring George Ovey in his famous character of Jerry, will be the second Horsley production released by Mutual the same week.

The entire strength of the Cub comedy supports Mr. Ovey, the greater amount of the action falling to Claire Alexander, George George, Louis FitzRoy and Janet Sully. Others in the cast are Jefferson Osborne, Ray Lincoln, Robert Kenyon, Joseph VonMeter, Harry Jackson and Arthur Mund.

The wind-up of Horsley-Mutuals for the last week of June is a Centaur feature, "A Siren of the Jungle," from the pen of Theodosia Harris, and is a vehicle for the co-stars, Margaret Gibson and William Clifford.

Miss Gibson portrays a rather different role than heretofore, and the same is said of Mr. Clifford. The supporting cast contains such players as Frederick Montague, Harrish Ingraham and Claude Lampman. Director Charles Swickard supervised.

"MACBETH" IS GIVEN WEST COAST PREMIERE

Special to Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, June 10.

"Macbeth," with Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, was given its West Coast premiere at the Majestic theatre, Los Angeles, Tuesday evening, June 6, and is scheduled for an indefinite run. It is the expectation of the managers of the theatre that it will draw for a number of weeks, or until the D. W. Griffith subject "The Mother and the Law" is ready for showing. This latter film is said to be the next attraction for the Majestic.

Thomas H. Ince's spectacle "Civilization," which had a seven weeks' run, closed Sunday night, June 4. The last week's business was almost as good as that of the first, and the receipts were far better for the last week than any of the intervening weeks. No announcement has been made as to Mr. Ince's intention with regard to the film on the coast. It is reported it had been booked at San Diego and also at San Francisco, but these rumors cannot be verified. Mr. Ince's local manager, Eugene H. Allen, is awaiting advices from the chief who is now in New York.

The first showing of the National Drama Corporation's subject, "The Fall of a Nation," has been booked for Clune's Auditorium theatre on Monday, June 19.

American-Mutual Offerings: "Convicted for Murder," "Van Deusen's Eggs-Spensive Adventure"

"Pedigrees, Pups and Pussies," and Another Scene from "Convicted for Murder"

ENOUGH BLUEBIRDS TO CARRY EXHIBITOR THROUGH "HEATED TERM"

Bluebird Photoplays, Inc., has selected enough features to carry its exhibitors through the well-known "heated term" and into the regular season for theatregoing. While the publicity department has not been authorized to foretell the complete list, the following is a forecast of a few releases.

"The Deacon's Demise" may appear under a different title. Lynn Reynolds wrote the story and directed the production. While it is a story of love and adventure, there is a "surprise finish." Myrtle Gonzalez will be the leading lady in the company and Val Paul her leading man; others engaged in unfolding the story are George Hernandez, Fred Church, Frank McQuarrie, Nannie Wright, Jack Curtis and Lule Warrenton.

George Gibbs' novel, "The Silent Battle," has been made the subject of another Bluebird release. F. McGrew Willis prepared the scenario and Jack Conway directed the production. J. Warren Kerrigan, Lois Wilson, Maud George, Harry Carter, Ray Hanford and J. F. Connolly will be the principal players. The scenes are largely exteriors of picturesque and beautiful locations, but there are one or two interiors that, it is said, will awaken great admiration for their beauty and extensiveness.

"L'Abbe Constantin," employing Francelia Billington, Louise Lovely, Rupert Julian, George Berrill, Zoe Bech and Elsie Wilson, will be directed by Rupert Julian. The scenario, furnished by E. J. Clawson, is based on Ludovic Halevy's story of the same title, and this Bluebird will appear among the August releases.

MELFORD'S LATEST LASKY SUBJECT IS "THE SELFISH WOMAN"

Director George Melford's latest subject for Lasky has been titled "The Selfish Woman." Cleo Ridgley plays the star part of the woman who weds a civil engineer solely for the money he is to inherit from his rich parent. The young man's father learning of this, and not content that his son, Wallace Reid, shall be an engineer, pays her a fabulous sum if she will prevent the completion of the contract her husband has taken. In carrying out this work for her father-in-law she falls in love with her husband.

Davis Buys $20,000 Worth of Script for Universal While East

He Intends to Produce Photoplays That Uplift and Instruct as Well as Amuse, and Was Guided by This Plan in Selection of Material

H. O. DAVIS, director-general of Universal City and vice-president of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, left New York a few days ago for "the capital of filmland."

His stay in the East was prolonged from time to time, for the principal object of his trip was to purchase scenarios, moving picture rights to books, past, present and future fiction hits, and in fact everything which offered possibilities for screen production. The moving of the eastern companies of the Universal to Universal City naturally increases the demand for scripts, and Mr. Davis has spent considerable time reading manuscripts and visiting the various book publishers and magazine editors in his search for good material. During his stay in the East he read hundreds of scripts and during the last four weeks of his visit he purchased over $20,000 worth of scenarios and negotiated for the moving picture rights for some of the best books and magazine stories on the market today.

It is the intention of Mr. Davis to produce photoplays that uplift, instruct and educate as well as amuse, and he has been guided by these elements in his choosing of scripts. He is absolutely opposed to the morbid, melodramas, and plays without morals, for he believes the public do not want to see unpleasant things. He believes that the company which seeks to aid the patrons and assist the children, instead of putting evil thoughts in their minds, is the one that is going to remain at the top of the industry.

A careful study of some of his purchases is interesting. He has purchased the rights to "The Pearl of Orr's Island," by Harriet Beecher Stowe; "The Rose Garden Husband," by Margaret Widdemer; "Idle Wives," by James Oppenheim; "The Measure of a Man," by Norman Duncan; "The Place Beyond the Winds," by Harriet Comstock; "If Any Man Sin," by Cody; "The Spotter," by Canfield, "The Mainspring," by Charles McLean; "Little Eve," by Edgerton; "Walda," by Mary Kincaid; "The Edge of Hazard," by George Horton; "The Light on the Hill," by Martha Gielow; "The Message," by Louis Tracy; "The Promise," by James Hendryx; "The Last Lady of Mulberry," by Henry Wilton Thomas.

He also bought scripts and rights to plays from Fred Jackson, the well known short story writer; Captain Leslie Peacock, from whom he purchased about ten scripts; Robert Davis, editor of Munsey's Magazine; Clarissa Mackie, author of some five hundred short stories; H. O. Durant, editor of the Famous Players scenario department; John Russell, well known short story writer; Robert Wells Ritchie; Suzanne Buck; Albert Payson Terhune; Lawrence McCloskey; Kate Jordan; Anna Wynne; Andrew Soutar; Mary Rider; Helen Bailly; Rev. S. C. Spaulding; Thomas Smith; Edna Schley; Robert Innis, Tarleton Winchester; Thomas Gray; Bertram Lebhar; Theodore Bayer; Mildred Rhodes; L. A. Drayer; Orlando Moore; Lawrence Pedrose; Anita Gaebler; Sinclair Kirtley Royle; W. M. Baker; Llewelyn G. Humphreys; Victor Norman Miller; Eugene Shade Bisbie; Frederic Truesdell; E. W. Voute; F. E. Ackerman; Maryn Lanier Magruder; D. Benthall; Maude Moore Clement; George S. Wheate; William Bradley and Ross Whytock, according to the announcement.

Many other offers on well known books and plays are pending and when decisions have been made the Universal will have other interesting announcements of material to be used in the production of photoplays.

Despite the fact that the companies from the eastern studios are moving to Universal City, the scenario department will continue its headquarters at 1600 Broadway for several weeks, where Helen Starr and her big staff will be engaged in disposing of the enormous quantity of material now in hand. When this has been done, Miss Starr will move her department to Universal City, and she begs to state that she will be pleased to receive scripts and promises all writers quick action on all material submitted.

GRAY IN CHARGE OF PLAIN DEALER FILM PAGE

The Cleveland Plain Dealer has a new moving picture section editor, Arthur Gray, until last week a member of the general news staff. E. Arthur Roberts, the former moving picture editor, has been transferred to the general staff.

PROCTOR IN CHARGE OF METRO CHICAGO OFFICE

R. O. Proctor, for the past year manager of the Kansas City branch of the General Film Company, has been made manager of the Chicago office of the Metro. He assumed his new position June 12. His successor at Kansas City has not yet been named.

Mr. Proctor entered the service of the General in 1911, after two years as an exhibitor in Chicago. He served as inspector and in other capacities, including manager of the Wabash exchange, for two years. He was three months in charge at Omaha, then opened the Des Moines office. He went from Des Moines to Kansas City in July, 1915, and has been markedly successful there, as elsewhere. Under his administration the Oklahoma branch was made a sub-branch under the Kansas City office, thus adding Oklahoma to Kansas and western Missouri as the Kansas City territory.

"A MAN'S SOUL" IS NOW "THE INNER STRUGGLE" AND "CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE" IS "CONVICTED OF MURDER"

The title of the five-reel Mutual Masterpicture, De Luxe Edition, for release June 12, has been changed from "A Man's Soul" to "The Inner Struggle," and that of the two-reel American-Mutual release for the same day from "Circumstantial Evidence" to "Convicted of Murder."

In "The Inner Struggle," Winnifred Greenwood and Franklin Ritchie are the principals, while the leading roles in "Convicted of Murder" are played by Edward Coxen and Lizette Thorne.

"CIVILIZATION" TRANS-CONTINENTAL TRAVELERS KEEPING SCHEDULES

Telegraphic advice from the two youths who are riding from Los Angeles to Portland, Maine, to advertise "Civilization," is to the effect that they are keeping up with their schedule. They were last heard from at Kansas City, and expect to complete the trip by the last of June. All along the route the lads have been receiving very enthusiastic receptions by theatre men and theatre patrons.

LUCAS A VISITOR IN DALLAS

Among the recent visitors in Dallas, was Arthur Lucas, district superintendent of the Triangle Film Corporation, with headquarters in Philadelphia. According to rumors around the Triangle office, many big things have been promised their exhibitors, with Mr. Lucas' visit.

R. Levine, the new Southern division manager of the Fox Film Corporation, is visiting the Dallas Fox office this week.

KILEY IS ROADMAN FOR LYNCH, IN BOSTON

D. A. Kiley, a former assistant director and more recently studio manager for the Eastern Film Corporation, has been engaged as road salesman by the E. W. Lynch Enterprises, Boston, states rights buyers. He will cover Maine and New Hampshire.

Fairbanks Wants to Make a Few Pictures in South America

Fine Arts-Triangle Star, Now in East, Looks Forward to Going Below the Equator in the Fall, if Possible, and Would Like to Film Pictures in Europe

DESPITE the fact that the weather was cold and rainy, that he was to attend a wedding in the role of best man, and that he was being interviewed, Douglas Fairbanks was as ever contagiously smiling when seen at his hotel last week by a representative of MOTION PICTURE NEWS. It takes a wonderfully sunny disposition to shine through such a trio of clouds, but "on or off," Mr. Fairbanks is always the smiling "Doug."

He has just arrived in the East at the head of another Fine Arts-Triangle company to take up work during the summer at one of the numerous Fort Lee, N. J., studios. He will star in three feature pictures to be made on this side of the continent, during the summer months. After that—well, let Mr. Fairbanks tell his own story:

"When the fall comes," said Mr. Fairbanks, "I want to go down to South America and make a few pictures there, and then when that's over and if the war stops, I want to tour all Europe with a company and make pictures wherever we stop. We'll be able to get variety that way and there's no one in the company that will object. Why should they? They'll have a nice trip, see the world and get the work in en route."

When put to the eternal question as to whether he would ever go back on the stage, Mr. Fairbanks laughed it off. "Never," he said; "what's the use? On the stage it's up some time during the morning, and then it's eating and loafing until show time. Then it's to the theatre, to spend several perfectly good hours on the stage saying the same thing you said the night before. After that supper and perhaps bed. Working for pictures is quite another matter. You, or at least I, am dragged out of bed at six in the morning by two doctors, rubbed down and dressed by two other people. Then after I've grabbed a bite, all four of 'em throw me across a horse and I'm taken to the location. You eat when you can and when you can't, you work. You're ready for bed at sundown. I've been out in the open all the time. Don't I look it?"

He does indeed. Mr. Fairbanks has a skin tanned to a dark shade of brown. He looks fully capable of doing the part he has already done in "The Carquinez Woods," a Brete Harte story, picturized. In this Mr. Fairbanks is to appear as an Indian. Before this release will come "Flirting With Fate," something on the style of "His Picture in the Papers," says Mr. Fairbanks, because the other proved so popular.

Alan Dwan will produce the first picture made in the east and the second will be in charge of John Emerson. Jewel Carmen will play the feminine leads in the eastern releases. She is one of Mr. Fairbanks' finds. In "Reggie Mixes In" she had just a small part in a reception scene, but one sight of her on the screen was enough to convince Mr. Fairbanks of her suitability for leading roles opposite himself.

"You ought to see the scenarios sent to me," continued Mr. Fairbanks. "Ever since some of the fans discovered I was somewhat of an athlete, I've been getting scripts calling for me to jump from the Woolworth Building, take the Hudson on the run, fall in and out of the subway and the like. Perhaps they don't think I'm human. The result is that I usually write the scenario with the director."

During his stay in the east Mr. Fairbanks will reside at Pelham. Here he will keep his yacht and every morning sail through the Harlem River, over into the Hudson and across to Fort Lee. As Mr. Fairbanks says, "Why use an automobile, taxi or even a street car when you can have a yacht?"

FIFE BACK FROM MEXICO WITH SCRIPT FULL OF LOCAL COLOR

Shannon Fife, the photoplaywright, who has been in Dallas, Texas, for the past few months, has returned to New York with a kitful of new scenarios. During his trip to the South Fife made a number of trips with scouts from the Texas Rangers into Mexico, where he had an opportunity of studying Mexican conditions at first hand. Fife was commissioned by the Amalgamated Photoplay Service to write two feature scenarios with Mexican atmosphere. In addition he brought back with him another scenario for Douglas Fairbanks and three well-known women stars.

NATIONAL CINEMA WILL MARKET EXPOSITION SCENICS IN SERIAL FORM

The National Cinema Syndicate, Inc., has just purchased the world's rights to the official Panama-Pacific International Exposition negatives from E. M. Asher, who recently acquired these rights from the Exposition Players Corporation. E. H. Kaufmann and S. M. Krellberg, executives of the National Cinema Syndicate, Inc., announce that they will market the pictures throughout the world in serial form, this being the first attempt to market scenic and educational pictures in this manner.

"SIMON LEGREE" BURGER DINES SALESMAN AT RECTOR'S

"Simon Legree" Burger, manager of exchanges of the International Film Service, Inc., entertained his New York solicitors at luncheon on June 6.

Fifteen film salesmen, tried and true, sat down to the viands as dispensed by the house of Rector. The occasion marked the inauguration of the new Hearst International News Pictorial, a weekly news reel devoted to current events.

IS THAT—THAT—THAT—SO!

Assistant Manager C. C. Vaughn of the Mutual exchange in Omaha, was in Kansas City, Mo., last Sunday, the Sunday before that, the Sunday before that, the Sunday before that, the Sunday before that—in fact he has been going to Kansas City every Sunday for a long time. Assistant Manager C. C. Vaughn is not married yet.

Players in "The Yellow Menace": (Left to Right) Edwin Stevens, Marguerite Gale, Gerald Griffin, Florence Malone, J. A. Hall, Marie Treador, Armand Cortes

VIM COMPANY NOT TO COME NORTH FOR SUMMER

Contrary to expectation, the three Vim comedy companies will not come to New York for the summer months, but will remain in Jacksonville, Fla. Managing Director Louis Burstein, after consultation with Mark Dintenfass, determined to take advantage of the extraordinary season which Florida is experiencing, and dispense with the difficulties attending removal from the spacious and up-to-date studios on the St. James River.

This decision affects the companies headed by Harry C. Myers and Rosemary Theby, Bob Burns and Walter H. Stull, and "Babe" Hardy and Billy Ruge. The news was received with satisfaction from all the players, who have formed ties that bind them to the southern city.

McGOWAN, HELEN HOLMES AND COMPANY NO LONGER IN HAWAII

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Los Angeles, June 6.

Director J. P. McGowan, Helen Holmes and other members of the Signal Film Producing Company, are expected to arrive in Los Angeles June 7 or 8 from Honolulu, where they have spent about two weeks in the filming of scenes for "The Diamond Runners." Wireless messages from McGowan state the company spent two days in filming scenes at Honolulu, two days at Hilo, and then went to the interior, where they were able to find decidedly tropical locations, and some out-of-the-ordinary mountain scenery. These settings are very appropriate for this photoplay, which is laid in the diamond mines of South Africa.

LEONE, COMIC OPERA BANDIT, IN "ETERNAL QUESTION"

In Mme. Petrova's production "The Eternal Question," produced by the Metro-Popular Plays and Players, is Henry Leone, well known as a comic opera bandit of the speaking and singing stage. Mr. Leone plays an Italian organ-grinder in the production.

COBB ADDS CARTOONS BY AHEARN TO RESERVE RELEASES

C. Lang Cobb, Jr., sales and publicity manager of the Reserve Photoplays Company, announces that, in conjunction with the releases of the Ray Comedies, beginning June 21, the Reserve will release through him a series of comedy cartoons by Ahearn, head of the Newspaper Enterprise Association.

Cobe of Unity Sales Signs for Comedy Releases from Eagle

He Completes Negotiations with Dunn of Jacksonville for Subjects to be Known as the "Tweedledum and Tweedledee" Series, with Perez as Star

ANDREW J. COBE, vice president and general manager of the Unity Sales Corporation, announces that he has signed for the comedy releases of the Eagle Film Company, of Jacksonville, Fla., following negotiations with William J. Dunn, of that concern. The films will be known as the "Tweedledum and Tweedledee" series, and will feature Fernandez Perez, the Spanish comedian.

"Perez is unique in his line," said Mr. Cobe. "His methods are entirely different from anything we now have upon the screen. At the present time we do not care to divulge details of his identity, but we may satisfy curiosity later when he is the success we are certain he will be."

The activities of Unity Sales in the past few weeks have been quite extensive. Besides planning an advertising campaign in connection with "The Yellow Menace," the sixteen episode serial in which Edwin Stevens is starred, Mr. Cobe has developed plans by which the story of the serial will be printed in 1,100 newspapers throughout the country.

The business of the company has developed so rapidly that new quarters have been engaged for the press and advertising department, and the auditing department has been enlarged. Mr. Cobe reports heavy business with "My Country First" and "The Pursuing Vengeance."

A forthcoming release is announced under the title, "The Bishop's Secret," which is said to employ in its enactment well known screen and stage players.

Arthur Rosenbach is making an extended visit to every independent exchange in the country in pursuance of Mr. Cobe's policy of co-operation and service. Mr. Rosenbach will also make reports upon conditions in the field.

"We have only just started to develop our plans," said Mr. Cobe, "and in the near future, I will have an announcement to make which will be of great interest to everyone in the trade. I can only say at the present time that it involves a new plan of distribution elaborated from my present ideas. I am in hopes that this plan will solve the problem which has been the greatest bug-bear of producers, exchangemen and exhibitors alike, namely, to get the extreme extensiveness of distribution under the present systems, no matter how highly they may have been developed. I intend making a radical departure from all previous efforts in this field, and when my plans are ripe, I shall announce them."

Over 14,000 Scenarios and Synopses Received by World

Script for Prize Contest Flows Into Office of W. A. Brady from All Parts of the Country and Is Sent by People in All Walks of Life

OVER fourteen thousand scenarios and synopses have been received at the World Film offices since last Thursday, when the announcement went forward that that concern was in the field for scenarios and would give five thousand dollars in prizes for the nineteen best stories or ideas received.

The influx of stories, ideas, synopses and scenarios, is not from any one section or confined to any one class.

From the Bureau of Mines, the Senate Chamber, the Scranton Correspondence School faculty, Columbia University, Leland Stanford, from the Border Patron along the Mexican Frontier, from mining camps, advertising departments of big concerns, and from girls and boys yet in their school days, the scripts have come pouring in. Identification marks are being removed from the scripts and numbers placed thereon. Mr. Brady, when he gets to the point of selecting the winner, will not know who wrote the best material.

It is his wish that the names be removed and deposited with numbers to match, in a safety deposit box. This has been done. The five thousand dollars to be awarded the nineteen winners have been deposited in the Mutual Bank of New York. The contest will be concluded September 15 and the awards made about January 1. Already several important magazines have made endeavors to secure the fiction rights to the winning stories, same to be published simultaneously with the releasing of the winning pictures.

Mr. Brady looks forward to receiving no less than 30,000 scenarios and ideas. "Two good stories will well repay us," he said.

NORMAN S. ROSE AND ELOISE DE MONTFORD MARRIED

The wedding of Norman S. Rose, one of the heads of the Triangle publicity department and Eloise de Montford, stepdaughter of Maurice V. Samuels, a New York playwright, was solemnized on June 10.

SHEER PLACES MANY STARS

William A. Sheer, former casting director for the World Film Corporation, who recently incorporated as a personal representative and manager for individual screen artists, has placed more than a dozen players with various film companies and has signed under his management a number of stars.

Among the engagements made by Mr. Sheer are: Carlyle Blackwell, to star with the Solax company; Alma Hanlon, to star with the Ivan company; Jack Meredith, to play the lead in a Premo picture; J. Herbert Frank and Helen Weer, with Triangle; Arthur Domalson and Robert Vivian, with Ivan and William Hinckley, as the lead with Olga Petrova in the next Popular Plays and Players production.

Among the numerous stars Mr. Sheer has placed under personal contract are Kitty Gordon and Lillian Lorraine, both of whom are expected to be signed for a series of pictures with producing organizations within the next few days.

WILLIAM ALEXANDER IS MADE NEW YORK EXCHANGE MANAGER FOR FOX

William Alexander, formerly South American representative of Fox Film Corporation, has been appointed manager of the New York exchange.

Nat C. Beier, formerly manager of the Fox New York exchange, has been appointed a special salesman in the Greater New York territory.

Albert W. Eden, formerly roadman in the Seattle territory, has been appointed manager of the Denver exchange for Fox.

Field Carmichael, formerly manager of the Denver exchange, has been appointed manager of the Fox Los Angeles exchange.

S. N. Robinson, formerly manager of the Los Angeles exchange, has been appointed manager of the Minneapolis Fox exchange.

E. A. Westcott, formerly manager of the Minneapolis exchange, has been appointed a special salesman in the Minneapolis territory by Fox.

Edna Goodrich (Morosco)

V-L-S-E Chicago Representatives, Under Command of Frank Redfield, Make Three-Day Invasion of Milwaukee

CHICAGO representatives of V-L-S-E, under the command of Frank Redfield, made a three days' invasion of Milwaukee last week. Private showings of three V-L-S-E features were given in the Strand Theatre to exhibitors; personal calls were made upon the photoplay editors of seven Milwaukee papers; and a successful campaign in general was carried out.

The V-L-S-E men had headquarters and display rooms in the Wisconsin Hotel. Gordon Laurence, publicity manager of the Chicago office, went to Milwaukee the day before the campaign started and called up each exhibitor over the telephone, following this with postal cards announcing the following program:

Thursday, 10 A. M., Strand Theatre, exhibition of "The Suspect" featuring Anita Stewart. 12 M. Reception, souvenirs and refreshments at Wisconsin Hotel.

Friday, 10 A. M., Strand Theatre, private exhibition of "The Cave Man" featuring Robert Edison. 12 M. Wisconsin Hotel, Dutch Lunch for exhibitors.

Saturday, 10 A. M., Strand Theatre, private exhibition of "The Badge of Courage." 12 M. Wisconsin Hotel Reception. 11 P. M., Wisconsin Hotel, supper and address by S. E. Abel, Chicago, branch manager of the organization.

The big feature of the campaign was the eight-reel Vitagraph production, "God's Country and the Woman," which started a two weeks' run at the Majestic theatre, Milwaukee. Following out the idea of co-operation with exhibitors, Mr. Laurence handled the publicity for this, assisting the exhibitors in preparing their newspaper copy. S. E. Abel, Chicago branch manager, delivered an address at the banquet on Saturday night, which was attended by most of the Milwaukee showmen. The success of the campaign is attributed largely to the efforts of Messrs. Redfield, Troupe, Gallas and Laurence, who comprised the working crew. The way was paved for future business dealings with exhibitors, and a large number of signed orders received.

RAYMOND WALBURN A MEMBER OF VITAGRAPH FORCES

Raymond Walburn, who has been one of the leading juvenile actors on Broadway for several years, has joined the Vitagraph forces, and is now a permanent member of the stock there. His first appearance in the silent drama was in "The Man Hunt," which has just been released.

Mr. Walburn accepted this engagement while wating for the first rehearsals of a stage engagement, but he made such a favorable impression on the screen that he has decided to remain in motion pictures. For two years he appeared with William H. Crane, and was last seen on Broadway with Henrietta Crosman at the Palace Theatre. He is a graduate of the Oliver Morosco stock company of Los Angeles and made his first appearance on Broadway in "The Greyhound." Mr. Walburn was born in Plymouth, Indiana, and is a graduate of Purdue University.

IN AND OUT OF TOWN

Among the prominent visitors to New York from out of town points during the last week were:

Douglas Fairbanks, Fine Arts studios, Los Angeles.

Marshal Neilan, Selig studios, Chicago.

James Delves, secretary M. P. E. L. of A., Pittsburg.

Hector Turnbull, Lasky studios, Hollywood.

Hy. Eilers, Eilers Music House, Portland, Ore.

A. Silverman, Pittsburg.

Bessie Eyton, Selig studios, Chicago.

Campbell Mann, Selig studios, Chicago.

Cecil Howland, Selig studios, Chicago.

Glen Darling, Selig studios, Chicago.

Among the visitors who returned to their homes were:

Charles Urban, London, Eng.

H. O. Davis, Los Angeles.

R. D. Hanish, Columbus, O.

JAMEYSON IN CHARGE OF PUBLICITY FOR PATHE IN KANSAS CITY

Howard Jameyson, former Kansas and Oklahoma traveler, for the Kansas City, Mo., Pathe exchange, is at the head of a publicity department installed by C. S. Edwards, Jr., branch manager. After much deliberation Mr. Edwards decided to inaugurate this department. The record made by Jameyson is responsible for his position as chief of the department.

The word co-operative will probably denote the function of the new work more than publicity. The main object will be to help exhibitors. The present campaign is being devoted to pushing serials.

Mae Marsh in "The Wild Girl of the Sierras," Fine Arts-Triangle

AMALGAMATED WILL ESTABLISH THEATRE STRING

Special to Motion Picture News.

Chicago, June 10.

The Amalgamated Theatres Corporation has recently been organized with offices at 1003 Mallers Building, for the purpose of establishing a string of motion picture theatres in Chicago. Samuel Katz, secretary and general manager of the corporation, and formerly owner of the Avon, Wallace, Illinois, and Janet theatres, states that it is the object of this amalgamation to secure the right kind of film for the theatres represented. So far there are twenty-six theatres represented, each one a high-class house of 800 seats or over, located in different parts of the city.

It is their plan to increase this number to about thirty-five. They have negotiations on at the present time for six more and are building three new houses. Mr. Katz says that stock in this concern is not for sale to the public. It is entirely owned by eight men, all well known in Chicago film circles. Besides Mr. Katz, the officers of this company are Barney Balaban, president, and Frank Schaefer, vice-president.

BEN GRIMM JOINS METRO-YORKE AS PRESS REPRESENTATIVE

Ben H. Grimm, of the reportorial staff of the New York Evening Journal, has accepted a position as special press representative of the Yorke Film Corporation, the new producing company headed by Harold Lockwood and May Allison, releasing regularly on the Metro program.

Mr. Grimm is now with the company at the Thousand Islands, where the Lockwood-Allison company is engaged in photographing the exterior scenes for "A One Cylinder Courtship." Mr. Grimm is an experienced newspaper man, and has worked in several capacities on the Journal and other big newspapers.

ROYALTY AND NOBILITY SEE "DUMB GIRL OF PORTICI" IN LONDON

Queen Alexandra witnessed the Pavlowa film, "The Dumb Girl of Portici," on May 16 at the Philharmonic Hall, in London. At the conclusion of the performance, Her Majesty expressed her pleasure and enjoyment of the picture, and made known the interesting fact that this was the first public cinema performance she had attended.

The princess Royal, Princess Henry of Battenberg, Princess Maude, the Grand Duke Michael and Countess Torby, the Princess of Monaco, the Duc d'Orleans, the Countess Grosvenor, and Lady de Trafford were a few of the other notable people present last week.

INCE GETS RIGHTS TO LAST DAVIS STORY

Picture rights for Richard Harding Davis' late story, "Somewhere in France," has been purchased by Thomas H. Ince, and continuity is being made from the manuscript by J. G. Hawks, who will have it completed within two weeks. Louise Glaum will in all probability be starred in this narrative of war and intrigue, which has appeared in the Metropolitan Magazine.

Mutual Will Release Six Features with Florence Turner

The Pictures Will Be Known as the Florence Turner Series of Mutual Star Productions, and the First Is Set for Release on June 19

ANNOUNCEMENT is made by the Mutual Film Corporation of the release of six productions featuring Florence Turner and a cast of capable players. These pictures will be shown as the Florence Turner Series of Mutual Star Productions. The first will be presented to the public June 19.

"Far From the Madding Crowd," a film adaptation of the famous novel by Thomas Hardy, has been selected for the initial release. This story is so well known to readers of English literature that its presentation on the screen merits the attention of all lovers of the artistic in the silent drama. The picture was produced by Larry Trimble.

In the cast supporting Miss Turner are Henry Edwards, Campbell Gollan and Malcolm Cherry of the Royalty theatre, London.

The second Florence Turner production is "Doorsteps," a screen version of the famous English comedy drama, which was one of the biggest of stage successes. It will appear on July 20, with the same all star cast.

"The Welsh Singer" will be released August 17. In this picture Miss Turner is called upon to display to her fullest scope her artistry in depicting tense emotion. The exterior scenes in "The Welsh Singer" were declared by a member of the Royal Art Academy to be the most beautiful examples of photography he had ever seen. The film version follows the original story closely.

The fourth of the Florence Turner Mutual series is "The First Settler's Story," a screen adaptation of the famous poem of Will Carleton. The screen possibilities of this work were readily seen by Larry Trimble, who directed the photodrama. "The First Settler's Story" will be released September 14.

"Shop Girls,' 'a five reel sociological drama, is the fifth of the series and will be offered the public on October 12. The last of the Florence Turner series is a five reel human interest drama, "Redeemed," which will appear November 9. All these pictures were produced under the direct supervision of Larry Trimble, one of the best known of English directors.

New York League Is Going to Be at Chicago with Bells On

At Meeting on June 5 Arrangements Were Made to Send Big Delegation to Convention—Ochs, Rothapfel, and Johnny-on-the-Spot Sam Trigger Among Delegates

AT a meeting held by the Motion Picture Exhibitors League, Local No. 1, at their offices at 218 West Forty-second Street, New York City, on Monday evening, June 5, arrangements were made to send a big delegation to Chicago, and the following were elected delegates:

Lee A. Ochs, Samuel H. Trigger, Louis F. Blumenthal, Benjamin Lyons, Max Oestreicher, I. N. Hartstall, William Hilkemeier, J. J. Wittman, Samuel L. Rothapfel, Morris Needle, Charles Steiner, Adolph Weiss, Charles Haring, Otto Lederer, Gus Koenigswald, Ed. Gorman, Samuel Rhonheimer, Henry Haring, Joseph Klein, Al. Harstn, Frank Peters, Max Tischer, William Bigall, A. B. Samuelson, Herman Mayer, Mr. Bock, Louis Rosenthal, Charles Fisher, David Picker, C. R. Martineau, Philip Menschel, Al Jutkowitz and Messrs. Glynn and Ward. Arrangements have been made to engage a special train on the New York Central.

The committee reported final arrangements regarding the Beefsteak Dinner to be given to Lee A. Ochs on June 28 at Reisenweber's, Brighton Beach, and judging from all appearances and the great demand for tickets, the affair will be one grand success. For tickets, apply to I. N. Hartstall, 218 West Forty-second Street.

A legislative committee has been appointed to take up the matter of adverse legislation. An elaborate luncheon was served and the meeting finally adjourned at 3:30 A. M.

Omaha Screen Club Ball Will be Made an Annual Affair

Success of the Event on May 25 Leads to This Decision—Club Also Plans Monthly Dances During the Cool Months

Special to Motion Picture News.

Omaha, Neb., June 10.

THE ball of the Screen Club and Photoplay Managers Association at Omaha on May 25 will be made an annual affair. While no formal action has been taken, this decision was reached at a meeting of the Screen Club Monday, June 6. At the same meeting the financial results from the first venture, which was highly successful, by the way, were distributed and a campaign started to establish quarters for the club.

The idea of the ball was to invite all exhibitors from the Omaha territory to the city for a day of automobile rides, visits to the clubs, exchanges and other places of interest, ending with a big ball at the city auditorium and a banquet. Stars are invited from the various film companies. Thousands attended the first ball.

Now the talk, practically assuring such an affair annually, is for a dance monthly during the cool months. As an advertising feature for the motion picture business, nothing was ever tried in Omaha that was such a big success as the ball.

The ball on May 25 yielded a big balance after all expenses were paid. This was divided between the coffers of the local film organizations and the Actor's Fund, quite a lump being sent east.

Not quite enough is in the treasury for the Screen Club to establish the quarters. To make up the balance the film men are talking of individual subscriptions. The club has decided to meet Fridays instead of Mondays for their luncheon meetings.

SABINE VERSION OF STEVENSON STORY PLEASES AUTHOR

Martin Sabine, who has appeared in support of John Drew, Maude Adams and others, and who himself has headed his own productions and those of famous producers, makes his bow as a film producer with his five-part feature "The Pursuing Vengeance" based upon Burton E. Stevenson's celebrated novel, The Boule Cabinet, which heralds the adventures and exploits of "Crochard, the Invincible."

The feature, which is distributed through The Unity Sales Corporation, was recently viewed at a private exhibition by Mr. Stevenson, who, after viewing it, wrote Mr. Sabine the following letter:—

May 25th.

My dear Sabine:

I confess that I have had some misgivings as to your film version of my story "The Mystery of the Boule Cabinet." You could not have chosen a more difficult book; indeed its plot is so intricate that it seemed to me well-nigh impossible to translate into pictures. I was therefore very agreeably surprised, when I saw the film the other afternoon, to find not only that you had followed the story with remarkable fidelity, but that you had succeeded in making it entirely intelligible, and at times even thrilling.

If I have any criticism to make of it, it is that it is too tense. But that is probably a virtue rather than a fault!

Sincerely yours,

BURTON E. STEVENSON.

WRIGHT AND HORNE, AT OPPOSITE ENDS OF CONTINENT, SETTLE POINT QUICKLY OVER TELEPHONE

William Wright of the Kalem Company found it necessary to send some hurry-up instructions to Director James Horne at the Glendale, Cal., studio last week.

As time was more important than the expense, the special department of the New York Telephone Company was started on the task of getting communication established clear through to the Coast. It required a little over a half hour to complete the connection, but when it was through Mr. Wright, in New York, and Director Horne at Glendale, were enabled to thresh the point in question out far more satisfactorily and in much quicker time than it would have been possible to secure a reply to the first telegram.

DELEGATES TO WOMEN'S CLUBS CONVENTION SEE "DAVID GARRICK"

Under the auspices of the American Club Woman, a large audience of delegates in attendance at the recent biennial conference of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in New York, were invited to see "David Garrick," the Pallas-Paramount photoplay.

Motion pictures were a live topic of discussion at the conference and "David Garrick" was chosen as an example of the high-grade photoplay. An address on the subject of "Better, Cleaner Pictures," was given by Jane Stannard Johnston in connection with the showing of the film.

Rose Coghlan, Stage Favorite for Many Years, Is Ivan Star

Company Plans to Make Pictures Distinctive with Casts Composed of Players Whose Ability Entitles Each Member to Being Starred Alone

Alma Hanlon Rose Coghlan Marguerite Snow

SOMEWHAT along the lines of revivals of famous old time successes in the legitimate where a cast is composed of all stars, will be the policy of the Ivan Film Productions which will in the future limit their productions to casts composed only of performers, each one of whom would ordinarily be starred alone.

The first film to be made along these lines will be "The Faded Flower," the next release on the Ivan program. Besides Marguerite Snow, who for a year was starred by Metro, Rose Coghlan, the legitimate star who this year celebrates her golden jubilee as an actress, will be in the cast. Alma Hanlon, leading lady for Pathe, the World Film and Fox is also included.

Arthur Donaldson, the original Prince of Pilsen, a famous delineator of character roles, star of William Fox; Edward Mackay, a name well known to theatre goers the country over, and William A. Bechtel, are all included in the next Ivan photodrama.

From present indications, "The Faded Flower" should be ready for release about July 1, through the chain of Ivan Exchanges.

New Studio Enables Essanay to Get Plays Ready Weeks Ahead

With Extra Floor Space and the Summer Camps Established, All Directors Can Work at Once, if Necessary—President Spoor Sees All Production Obstacles Overcome

ESSANAY'S new studio which now has been in full operation for several weeks, has proven a great boon to the company in facilitating the quick production of photoplays.

With the large number of feature productions as well as its shorter films, Essanay was greatly handicapped for a time in producing with sufficient speed. All obstacles were overcome with the opening of the new studio. But with the extra floor space and with the summer camps established, all of Essanay's score of directors can work at once, if necessary.

The result of this speeding up of productions, through additional floor space has resulted in the company having completed plays for many weeks ahead. Practically all photoplays for the month of August now have been finished with work going on for still further advance dates.

This additional room also gives more opportunity for careful detail work on the shorter subjects. George K. Spoor, president of Essanay, is a firm believer in the one, two and three reel comedies and dramas, and believes in giving them as much attention to detail as the longer features.

"While there is room for first class features the shorter subjects will always be in demand," said Mr. Spoor. "I believe in putting just as good material into the shorter subjects as in features and in playing up the leading actors.

"The popularity of the short photoplay will never wane. In fact, it is on the ascendancy, without interfering in any way with the hold features have on picture patrons. A two or three reel drama well played, to my mind is one of the real attractions of the motion picture theatre."

The three reel Essanay releases for July are as follows:

"The Regeneration of Margaret," a story on the topic of defective babies, which carries a love interest also. Warda Howard, Ernest Maupain and John Junior take the leading roles.

"Power," is a story of politics and love. Sydney Ainsworth and Nell Craig appear as the leads.

"The Secret of the Night" is played by Lillian Drew, Sydney Ainsworth and John Lorenz.

"The Grouch" is a comedy drama with Harry Beaumont and Harry Dunkinson, neither of whom require any introduction to lovers of this kind of picture.

John Lorenz and Ann Leigh are featured in "Repentance," a story of how a girl drives away her fiance by her sneers at religion, only to see her error and win back her faith and the man.

MANN VISITS HOME OFFICE OF PARAMOUNT

George R. Mann, general manager of Paramount's Washington Exchange, made a brief visit to the Paramount Pictures Corporation's offices, 485 Fifth Avenue, New York City recently.

LIVE WIRE EXHIBITORS

EDITOR'S NOTE.—It is the desire of "Motion Picture News" to include under this heading novel advertising ideas, successful schemes in the management, decoration and equipment of the theatre—everything, in fact, done by the exhibitor to stimulate his trade. We invite every exhibitor to write us about any new enterprise he has; also to come to us for advice or information along any line. Address: Editor, "Motion Picture News," 729 Seventh Avenue, New York City

THREE EXHIBITORS HIT UPON SAME NOVEL PLAN FOR ADVERTISING "WHO'S GUILTY?"

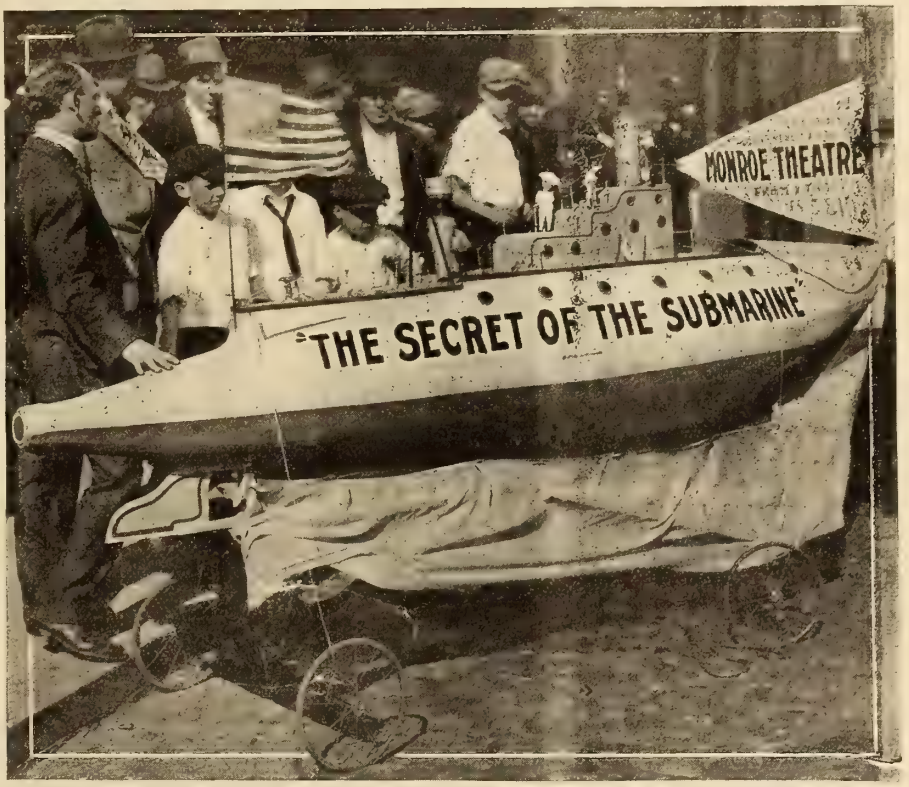
Several live exhibitors out west have found in the Pathe series "Who's Guilty?," produced by Arrow Film Corporation, opportunities for unique advertising. J. A. Berst, vice-president and general manager of Pathe, has recently received three letters, one from an exhibitor in Milwaukee, another from St. Louis and still another from Seattle, which show that each exhibitor had hit upon the same idea of intensifying public interest in the Pathe series.

The first letter came from the Strand Theatre in Milwaukee, This enterprising house has offered a six months' admission ticket, good for two persons, to the person or persons submitting the best answers as to who is really guilty in each of the weekly episodes. Agnes Thoms received the prize for the best letter on the first episode. Her letter said:

"I believe that Mrs. Bullard, the wife of Dr. Bullard is guilty. If Mrs. Bullard had taken a deep interest in her husband's work and been with him hand and hand, he would never have seen the other woman, no matter how hard she had tried to lure him on and have him all herself."

In St. Louis the prize winner labeled "the other woman" as the guilty person, because "she deliberately robbed a loving and faithful wife of her happiness." Only in Seattle was "Dr. Bullard" declared to be the guilty one because the prize winning letter said, "a man marries for better or worse and if Dr. Bullard's wife could not adjust herself to social conditions, materially changed by their prosperity, that fact would certainly not justify him in going to another woman for sympathy."

Miniature Craft Advertises "Secret of the Submarine" in Streets of Omaha for Monroe Theatre



How the Monroe Theatre, Omaha, Advertised "The Secret of the Submarine"

H. V. SIDE came to Omaha and the Monroe theatre, Twenty-sixth and Farnam streets, from Minneapolis, largely through his friendship for Max Weisfeldt of the Mutual Exchange in Omaha.

Side is a live wire addition to Omaha exhibitors. To advertise "The Secret of the Submarine," he had a sign company construct a miniature craft, wrote on it in large letters the name of the picture, adorned it with a flag advertising his theatre and the picture, and had it drawn through the streets of Omaha by an attractive little Shetland pony.

When not in use it stands in front of his theatre.

AN EXAMPLE OF REFINED AND EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING

IMPORTANT NOTICE

OAK PARK THEATRE

WISCONSIN AVE., 1 BLOCK SOUTH OAK PARK, "L"

PROGRAM FOR

MON., TUES. AND WED., MAY 22, 23 AND 24

BILLIE BURKE IN "GLORIA'S ROMANCE" CHAPTER ONE, IN TWO ACTS

MARGUERITE CLARK IN "MOLLIE MAKE BELIEVE"

CHARLIE CHAPLIN IN "THE FLOOR WALKER"

COMBINED SALARY OF THESE STARS $1,500,000.00

NO OTHER THEATRE IN OAK PARK, MAYWOOD, FOREST PARK, MELROSE PARK, RIVER FOREST NOR THE PARK THEATRE, AUSTIN, WILL SHOW THE BILLIE BURKE SERIAL PLAY, "GLORIA'S ROMANCE."

A PARAMOUNT MASTERPIECE WILL ALSO BE SHOWN EACH WEEK IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE BILLIE BURKE SERIAL.

NEW ADDITION IS NOW COMPLETE OFFERING 1300 SEATS

SPECIAL PRICES FOR BILLIE BURKE SERIAL DAYS

NIGHTS—ALL SEATS RESERVED—25 CENTS—CHILDREN 10 CENTS
MATINEES 2:30 AND 4:00—ADULTS 15 CENTS—CHILDREN 10 CENTS

Announcing the Star Supreme
Miss Billie Burke
supported by Mr. Henry Kolker in a triumphant Motion Picture Serial costing Half a Million Dollars
"Gloria's Romance"
by Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hughes in twenty chapters of two acts each to be presented each week for twenty weeks on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at The Oak Park Theatre Exclusively commencing May 22nd, 23rd and 24th

Showing Two Pages of a Neat Four Page Announcement Issued by Oak Park Theatre, Chicago

GAIETY, MUSKOGEE, SHOWS FILMS FOR CHILDREN

At the request of members of the Teacher-Patron clubs of the various schools of Muskogee, Okla., the Gaiety Theatre at that place has arranged to show children's pictures every Saturday afternoon and night, the films to be passed upon by a committee of the clubs.

Every effort will be made by both the management of the Gaiety and the members of the Parent-Teacher clubs to get pictures for the special shows that are clean and educational.

FREE TICKETS IN HERALDS PROVE PATRONAGE BUILDERS

Paramount Progress calls attention to the fact that many exhibitors do not get all of the advertising value out of the heralds which they secure from exchanges for distribution among their patrons. A new line of usefulness for heralds is contained in the idea sent into the Paramount offices by Hannaca & Morgan of Glasgow, Mo., managers of the Electric Theatre.

"On each Paramount day," they wrote, "we place one of your heralds, properly stamped, in an envelope, in one out of every ten of which we place a free ticket to our theatre good for that night only.

"We change the ticket each time, and instead of using a cardboard ticket, make this out on thin paper, stamping or writing on same. In this way the boy making the delivery cannot tell which ones have tickets and give them to any favorite party.

"Our patrons and prospective patrons have learned to look into these heralds to find out if they contain a free ticket. Of course, once opening the herald they will, most likely read the herald. Eighty-five per cent. of the tickets come in, and in nearly every instance it is accompanied by one or two paid admissions."

3 DETROIT THEATRES SUCCESSFUL WITH CHILDREN'S SHOWS

The Alhambra, Rosedale and Gladwin Park theatres of Detroit, Mich., are having splendid success with children's matinees each week. Children in the localities of these houses are regular patrons of their theatres.

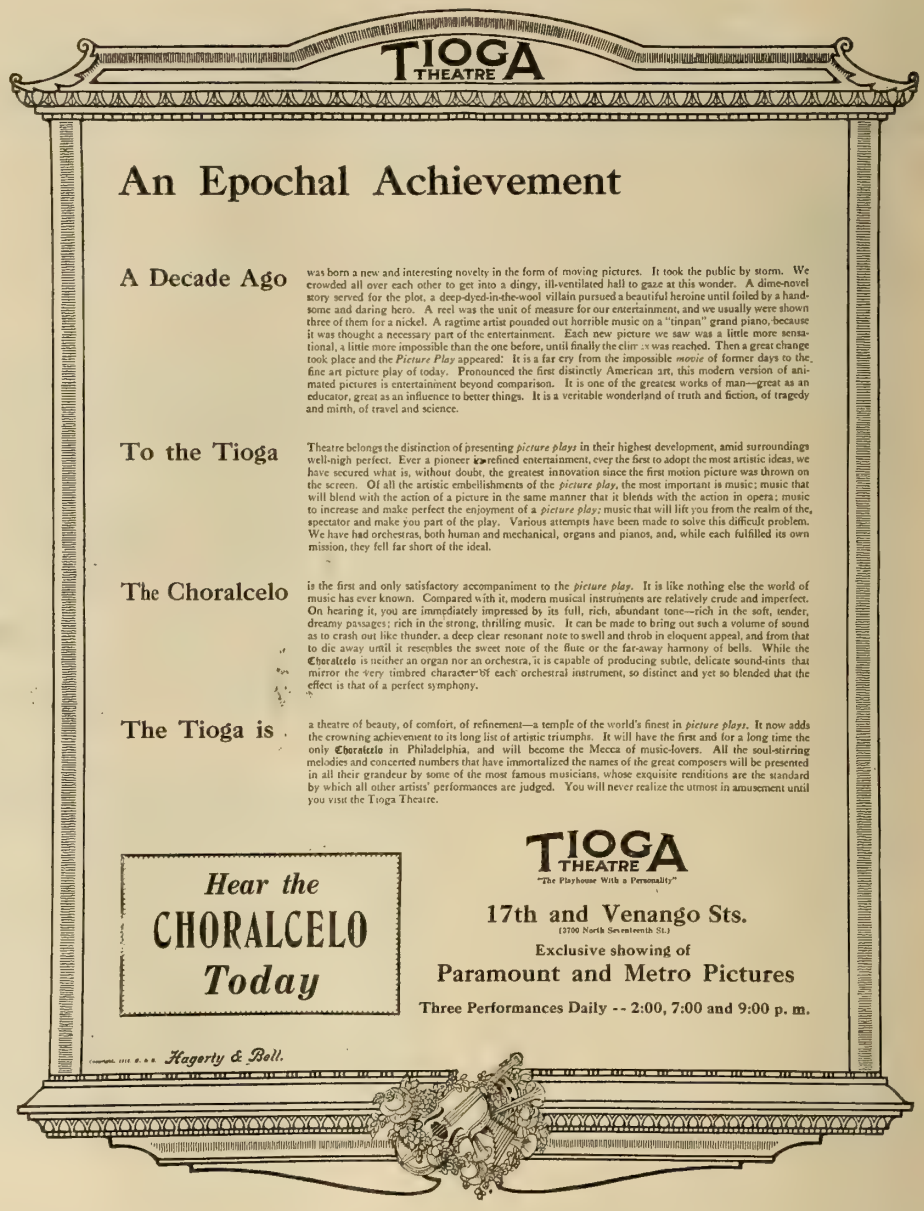
The only trouble experienced by these special kid performances is the wear and tear on the furniture. One manager told the NEWS representative that after every children's matinee he finds between $5 and $10 worth of damage to the house; they break chairs and in other ways do damage to the house. "But it's something hard to regulate," said this manager. "It's no cinch to handle from 500 to 1,000 boys and girls." Educational and scenic pictures, comedies and fairy stories are what the children like. Some of the managers find a lot of good available material in the releases of four and five years ago.

ALBERTA EXHIBITOR FINDS MATINEES FOR CHILDREN SUCCESSFUL

The first exhibitor in Alberta to adopt the Saturday morning matinee for children was Max Allen, Paramount distributor for Northern Alberta and manager of the Monarch theatre of Edmonton. The initial feature film was "Cinderella," with Mary Pickford. The Famous Players star proved the usual wonderful magnet and overflow audiences of mothers and children resulted.

One of the features of the morning matinees at the Monarch is the weekly appearance of forty children from the provincial government children's shelter. Accompanied by their matron, Miss Macdonald, the youngsters attend the Saturday morning matinees as regular as clockwork, the admission fee being paid in advance by philanthropists who make it a point to provide all the recreation possible for the little orphans.

New Idea in Picture Theatre Advertising Employed by Tioga Theatre, Philadelphia



TIOGA THEATRE
An Epochal Achievement
A Decade Ago
was born a new and interesting novelty in the form of moving pictures. It took the public by storm. We crowded all over each other to get into a dingy, ill-ventilated hall to gaze at this wonder. A dime-novel story served for the plot, a deep-dyed-in-the-wool villain pursued a beautiful heroine until foiled by a handsome and daring hero. A reel was the unit of measure for our entertainment, and we usually were shown three of them for a nickel. A ragtime artist pounded out horrible music on a "tinpan" grand piano, because it was thought a necessary part of the entertainment. Each new picture we saw was a little more sensational, a little more impossible than the one before, until finally the climax was reached. Then a great change took place and the Picture Play appeared. It is a far cry from the impossible movie of former days to the fine art picture play of today. Pronounced the first distinctly American art, this modern version of animated pictures is entertainment beyond comparison. It is one of the greatest works of man—great as an educator, great as an influence to better things. It is a veritable wonderland of truth and fiction, of tragedy and mirth, of travel and science.
To the Tioga
Theatre belongs the distinction of presenting picture plays in their highest development, amid surroundings well-nigh perfect. Ever a pioneer in refined entertainment, ever the first to adopt the most artistic ideas, we have secured what is, without doubt, the greatest innovation since the first motion picture was thrown on the screen. Of all the artistic embellishments of the picture play, the most important is music; music that will blend with the action of a picture in the same manner that it blends with the action in opera; music to increase and make perfect the enjoyment of a picture play; music that will lift you from the realm of the spectator and make you part of the play. Various attempts have been made to solve this difficult problem. We have had orchestras, both human and mechanical, organs and pianos, and, while each fulfilled its own mission, they fell far short of the ideal.
The Choralcelo
is the first and only satisfactory accompaniment to the picture play. It is like nothing else the world of music has ever known. Compared with it, modern musical instruments are relatively crude and imperfect. On hearing it, you are immediately impressed by its full, rich, abundant tone—rich in the soft, tender, dreamy passages; rich in the strong, thrilling music. It can be made to bring out such a volume of sound as to crash out like thunder, a deep clear resonant note to swell and throb in eloquent appeal, and from that to die away until it resembles the sweet note of the flute or the far-away harmony of bells. While the Choralcelo is neither an organ nor an orchestra, it is capable of producing subtle, delicate sound-tints that mirror the very timbred character of each orchestral instrument, so distinct and yet so blended that the effect is that of a perfect symphony.
The Tioga is a theatre of beauty, of comfort, of refinement—a temple of the world's finest in picture plays. It now adds the crowning achievement to its long list of artistic triumphs. It will have the first and for a long time the only Choralcelo in Philadelphia, and will become the Mecca of music-lovers. All the soul-stirring melodies and concerted numbers that have immortalized the names of the great composers will be presented in all their grandeur by some of the most famous musicians, whose exquisite renditions are the standard by which all other artists' performances are judged. You will never realize the utmost in amusement until you visit the Tioga Theatre.
Hear the CHORALCELO
Today
TIOGA THEATRE
"The Playhouse With a Personality"
17th and Venango Sts.
(3700 North Seventeenth St.)
Exclusive showing of Paramount and Metro Pictures
Three Performances Daily -- 2:00, 7:00 and 9:00 p. m.
Hagerty & Bell.

A Glimpse of the Tioga's "Reason Why" Newspaper Ad as It Appeared in the Philadelphia Evening Ledger. Note the Modern Layout and Effective Use of Border

THE new idea in motion picture advertising is well illustrated by the accompanying cut, reproducing in reduced size an advertisement run in the Philadelphia Evening Ledger by the Tioga theatre of that city. The copy in this ad is "reason why" copy. It does not confine itself to a mere catalogue of pictures, dates and stars. It tells the newspaper reader why he should visit the Tioga, not only because the photoplays offered are good, but also because the theatre is first-rate in its appointments, and the music is of a high order.

It is said this is the first time a neighborhood theatre has taken a full page in a metropolitan newspaper. Does such advertising pay? Listen to what Manager Columbus Stamper, of the Tioga, says:

"I used such a large display ad to create prestige for the picture play, which I believe to be an art; to introduce the 'Choralcelo,' which I believe is the world's most expressive musical instrument, and to let the people of Philadelphia know that located in their midst was a theatre unique in every respect and devoted to the highest type of entertainment.

"I believe in advertising—I believe in refined advertising. I believe in telling my possible, as well as my present patrons, why they should attend the Tioga theatre. I do not believe in circus stunts, nor do I believe in the 'movie' idea. I do not believe in extravagant claims as 'The best in the world,' hence I use 'reason why' advertising and plenty of it. I have not spent one cent in intelligent advertising that has not returned to me a hundred-fold."

The Hagerty and Bell Agency, who also handle publicity for eleven other Philadelphia houses, prepare all publicity for the Tioga.

Looking Ahead With The Producers

Many Players Who Have Obtained Fame on the Screen Will Be Seen in Pictures from General in Week of June 19-24

THE General Film program for the week of June 19-24, inclusive, is strong in the names of players who have attained fame on the screen.

"The Reprisal," in three parts by Selig, featuring Fritzi Brunette and Jack Pickford, will be first on the program, Monday. This is a story of the Southlands, in which romance plays a prominent part. "Stung" and "The Elephant's Dinner," Vitagraph short reels will provide the first comedies of the week, while the Selig-Tribune News will tell the story of important happenings. "The Misunderstood Boy," a one-part Biograph reissue in which Robert Harron and Lillian Gish share honors, will be shown next. "Otto's Legacy," a Lubin one-part comedy, will be last to fade away on the screen that day.

Essanay's comedy-drama in two parts, "The Girl at the Curtain," a reissue featuring Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, will be the first picture shown Tuesday. This will be followed by a Kalem comedy, "The Beggar and His Child," after which a Biograph reissue in two parts, "The Reformers," presenting Mae Marsh and Robert Harron, will be screened. Then will follow "Out of the Ruins," an Edison three-part reissue, featuring Pat O'Malley and Gladys Hulette. This picture achieved great success when originally released.

The program for Wednesday will start when "That Lovely Widow," by Kalem is shown. Then will follow Essanay's "The Fable of 'the Undecided Brunette'," one of George Ade's best stories. Edison offers "The Pied Piper of Hamelin," a drama reissue in one part, in which Herbert Prior is starred and which will be the closing number for that day.

Lubin's three-part drama, "Love's Law," in which Ada Gleason and C. E. Van Auker are featured, will be the first presented on Thursday's program. Then will follow the Selig-Tribune, bringing the big news of the day right down to the very minute, after which a Vim comedy, "Never Again," featuring Plump and Runt, will be offered.

Virginia Norden will be starred in the first picture shown Friday, a Knickerbocker star feature three-part drama, "The Ancient Blood." A Kalem comedy, one of the "Sis Hopkins" series, "Her Great Invention," will follow, and Vitagraph offers "The Curfew at Simpton Center," and "For Better or Worse," a Vim comedy, featuring Pokes and Jabbs, each a single-reel comedy, will close the day's program.

"A Traitor to Art," an Essanay production in three parts in which Ann Kirk and Edward Arnold have the leading roles, will be screened as the opening picture Saturday. "Persistency," a Lubin one-part comedy, precedes "Would You Forgive Her?" a Vitagraph drama in which Leah Baird and Arthur Cozine have the stellar roles. Then will come "The Mysterious Cipher," an episode in Kalem's "Hazards of Helen." The program for the week will be brought to an end by "Taking a Chance," Selig's one-part drama featuring Tom Mixx.

EDITH STOREY WILL BE SEEN IN "THE SHOP GIRL," A "V" SET FOR RELEASE ON THE 26TH

Edith Storey and Antonio Moreno are seen in the leading roles of "The Shop Girl," a Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature in five parts, announced for release on June 26. "The Shop Girl" was picturized from the novel of the same name by C. N. and A. M. Williamson, and directed by George D. Baker.

Miss Storey is first seen as a clothing model, on board a steamer returning from Europe. Peter Rolls (Antonio Moreno), son of the millionaire of the same name, becomes infatuated with her, despite her station, but his sister Ena breaks off the affair by telling Winifred that Peter is already engaged and is only trifling with her. In the city, Winifred loses her position with the modiste and finds herself blackballed in the trade.

She finally obtains a position as saleswoman in a store owned by Peter's father. Meanwhile Peter searches the city in vain for her. His search leads to his father's store, where he is informed that his sister had obtained Winifred's discharge that morning. Following information given him at the store, Peter is just in time to rescue Winifred from the clutches of Megeison, the store manager, who had inveigled her into his home. Although sceptical of Peter's intentions at first, Winifred's happiness is complete when she sees that he really loves her.

A cast of Vitagraphers is seen in this production, among them Lillian Burns, Edward Dunn, Thomas R. Mills, Josephine Earle, Harold Forshay, Templar Saxe and others.

VIVIAN MARTIN AT WORK IN "NELL OF THUNDER MOUNTAIN"

Vivian Martin, who recently arrived in Los Angeles to take up her new engagement with the Oliver Morosco Photoplay Company and Pallas Pictures, is now engaged upon her first vehicle to be released under the Morosco brand on the Paramount Program. "Nell of Thunder Mountain" is the title of Miss Martin's new subject by Alice von Saxmar.

The star and supporting cast, under the direction of Frank Lloyd, is now at work in the pine forests at the top of the San Bernardino Mountains in a spot noted for its wild beauty. The cast includes Edward Peil, William Jefferson, Jack Livingston, Louise A. Emmons, Alice Knowland, Herbert Standing and John McKinnon. James Van Trees is master of the tripod.

Scenes from Three Essanay Productions: "Fable of the Fearsome Feud," "A Traitor to Art," and "The Regeneration of Margaret"

"THE REPRISAL" FROM SELIG ON JUNE 19 FEATURES BRUNETTE

Continuing his policy of utilizing his best stars and stories for regular program service, William N. Selig, president of the Selig Polyscope Company, announces another list of picture plays for the final two weeks of June and the first week in July. These dramas will be released in the regular service of the General Film Company.

"The Reprisal," released Monday, June 19, features Fritzi Brunette, Jack Pickford, Guy Oliver and others. "The Reprisal" is the story of the South and of the vengeance of a woman. Miss Brunette and Jack Pickford are afforded many opportunities for versatile work.

"Taking a Chance," released Saturday, June 24, presents Tom Mix in a Western story.

On Monday, June 26, "The Sacrifice" will be released. This drama contains a strong plea for preparedness. Eugenie Besserer enacts the leading role and is supported by Harry Mestayer and Guy Oliver.

"The Return," one of William E. Wing's motion picture stories, is booked for release through General Film Company's regular service on Monday, July 3. Kathlyn Williams is featured and is supported by Guy Oliver, Wellington Playter, Harry Lonsdale, Sidney Smith, Vivian Reed and others.

On Saturday, July 8, the Tom Mix series of Western comedies begin. A Tom Mix one-reel comedy will be released through General Film service every Saturday thereafter until further notice.

"HOUSEKEEPING" IS FIRST VIM COMEDY WITH MEYERS AND THEBY

July 5 was the date set for the first release in the General Film service of the Vim feature comedies, starring Harry C. Myers and Rosemary Theby. "Housekeeping" is the title of the first release. Mr. Myers and Miss Theby enact the roles of a young couple who, from having no furniture at all, go to the other extreme when Uncle Jim sends them all his fine antique furniture. The little flat is transformed into a storehouse, and from this situation the brisk comedy develops to the climax, which leaves Mr. Myers and Miss Theby sitting on the roof in a severe rainstorm, homeless and forlorn.

One of these feature comedies will be released each Wednesday in the General service. "Spring Cleaning" is the title of the second release.

"WOULD YOU FORGIVE HER?" FROM GENERAL FILM

Vitagraph will release through the General Film Company, during the week of June 19, a three part Broadway Star Feature, "Would You Forgive Her?" featuring Leah Baird, under the direction of Van Dyke Brooke; "Stung,' a one reel comedy, with Stanley Dark, Lillian Burns and Templar Saxe; and "Curfew at Simpton Center," another thousand-foot comedy, in which Otto Lederer, George Kunkel, Webster Campbell, Jack Mower and Florence Vidor will be seen.

"Youth's Endearing Charm" Is the American's First Medium for Mary Miles Minter, Who Will Appear in Pathetic Orphan Role

"YOUTH'S Endearing Charm," picturized from Maybelle Heickes Justice's ever popular story of the same name, has been chosen as the first of the five-reel American-Mutual features starring Mary Miles Minter.

Under the direction of William C. Dowlan, latest of the directors to join the American-Mutual studios, the production is now well under way.

In this comedy-drama, Miss Minter will be seen in the pathetic role of Mary, a little orphan bound out by an asylum to the family of a brutal farmer.

Insofar as atmosphere and the selection of the proper locations are concerned, the picturization of Miss Justice's story is being followed with exceptional care. For the filming of a number of the important exterior scenes, Miss Minter and her entire company of players, cameraman, director and the various assistants, will spend almost a week in one of the garden spots of the Santa Ynez range, some fifty miles south of Santa Barbara, where the American-Mutual studios are located.

Director Dowlan, who will be in charge of the filming of the feature productions starring Miss Minter until the arrival at Santa Barbara of James Kirkwood, recently engaged by President Samuel S. Hutchins of the American-Mutual studios to devote his entire time to Miss Minter's production, spent several days in an auto tour of the Santa Ynez range, selecting the necessary locations.

Director Dowlan has been given carte blanche, so far as the studios are concerned, with the privilege of calling into play any of the players, cameramen, lighting experts or studio accessories he may deem necessary to the producing of the feature.

For the enacting of many of the interior scenes, Miss Minter will use both an indoor and outdoor stage, especially erected for her by the American-Mutual studio management.

A number of interesting and novel light effects, obtained by means of recent mechanical inventions perfected by the studio electrical department, will be seen for the first time in this feature production, it is announced.

"The World's Great Snare," Famous, and "The American Beauty," Pallas, from Paramount on June 26 and 29, Respectively

PARAMOUNT pictures relaesed for the week of June 26 will be "The World's Great Snare," in which the Famous Players will feature Pauline Frederick, and "The American Beauty," a Pallas production, starring Myrtle Stedman. "The World's Great Snare" will be released on June 26 and the Pallas picture on June 29.

Short reels also announced for release this week by Paramount include "Bobby Bumps' Fly Swatter," Earl Hurd's drawing in the Paramount-Bray Animated Cartoons, the "Spreewald Near Berlin," in the Paramount-Burton Holmes Travel Pictures, showing Europe before the war, and the twenty-first release of the Pictographs.

In the opening scene of this release of the Animated Cartoons, Bobby Bumps, the adventurous youngster originated by Earl Hurd, discovers that a perfect skating rink is supplied by Dad's unadorned head. Dad is shown on the screen attempting to take a nap and keep off the flies at the same time. A close-up of the rink reveals the flies performing stunts on roller skates. Bobby pauses in his industrious knocking out of the flies for the pup to brush a few off Dad's head, but the sport proves too tame, so he shifts the responsibility to the pup. The fly brush attached to the pup's tail works nicely and entirely to Dad's satisfaction, until a bee enters the scene, causing general excitement, a chase, and an areoplane flight.

Pictographs in this edition will show the "Training of a Lion," "Which Do You Remember?" in Hugo Munsterberg's "Testing the Mind" series; a screen jaunt to Coney Island and the picturizing of Montessori methods in the "Better Babies" release, "Seeing with the Fingers."

One of the most famous resorts of Europe, "The Spreewald near Berlin," the Paramount-Burton Holmes Travel Pictures will show this week as another of the beauty spots chosen by Mr. Holmes to picture to screen audiences how the goals of the European tourist looked before they were defaced by the ravages of the present war.

"SHERIFF OF PLUMAS" OFFERS HELENE ROSSON EXCELLENT ROLE

Helene Rosson, has an alluring role in "The Sheriff of Plumas," a two-part Mustang drama in which William Stowell has the principal masculine role.

This is the story of a rough man of the plains who in earlier years was a crook. He tried to straighten out, and succeeded for years until he accidently met an old time pal who persuaded him to again take to looting.

He does so to send his son through college. The son squanders funds sent him by his parents, but later repents, and returns home, where he falls in love with a wonderful girl, and defends his father, whose sudden death might have brought disgrace except for the son's clever criminal findings.

This photo drama will be released by Mutual on June 16.

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK IN GAUMONT SCENICS

The Gaumont scenic series, "See America First," will present views of Glacier National Park in the June 28 and July 12 releases.

Illustrating "The Purple Lady," a New Metro Photoplay, with Ralph Herz and Irene Howley

MME. PETROVA IN "THE ETERNAL QUESTION," SET FOR RELEASE BY METRO ON JULY 3

Mme. Petrova will be seen in the starring role in "The Eternal Question," a five part Metro play, produced by the Popular Plays and Players, which will be released July 3. This feature was produced under the direction of Burton King and the supervision of Harry Revier, supervising director at the Popular Plays and Players studio. A supporting cast includes Arthur Hoops, Mahlon Hamilton, Edward Martindel, Warren Oland, Henry Leone, Howard Messimer and Evelyn Dumo.

The story of "The Eternal Question" deals with the discussion of two clubmen on the eternal question, woman. One held that birth and breeding made the woman, while the other contends that clothes were largely responsible. They make a wager to test their theories. A young woman, the role essayed by Mme. Petrova, playing a grind organ and carrying a monkey, comes along at this time. She is selected for their subject.

The girl is fitted out with clothes galore, and introduced at a charity ball as a Russian Countess. A novel love situation develops and it also develops that the girl is in truth royal born. She has run away from home because her father, the King of Montenaro, has tried to force her into marriage with the Grand Duke. The Duke traces her to America, and is successful in abducting her aboard an outgoing steamship, bound for the Mediterranean. She is rescued in a spectacular manner, and of course, all ends happily when she is married to her American champion.

"KID CASEY, THE CHAMPION," THE STAR IN PARAMOUNT-BRAY ANIMATED CARTOON

Changes in the release date schedule for Paramount-Bray Animated Cartoons make possible the debut of a new leading man in these drawings—"Kid Casey, the Champion," originated by Fred Moser, who will appear before Paramount audiences for the first time on June 15.

His initial adventure will take the place of "Colonel Heeza Liar and the Bandits," the release date of which has been advanced one week. Subsequent animated cartoons, which have already been announced, will appear in their original order, but with the release dates also advanced one week in each case.

American-Mutual Spreads a Banquet of Film Delicacies for Sampling by Public With Discriminating Taste

WITH the work completed on "Purity," the seven reel allegorical feature starring Audrey Munson, director and players at the American-Mutual studios in Santa Barbara are at present engaged in the filming of no less than a score of subjects running from five to one reel in length.

"Purity," which is to be released shortly by Mutual, will be ready for the cutting room within the next few days. Immediately after this work is completed, prints will be rushed East for a special showing by Mutual.

Chief among the five reel features now under way at the American studios, is "The Sign of the Spade," first of the new American-Mutual productions to be filmed under the direction of Murdock MacQuarrie, who in recent months has been directing pictures for the Signal-Mutual studios. Helene Rosson will be the featured player. Alan Forrest, a newcomer to American-Mutual releases, will make his initial appearance in this production appearing opposite Miss Rosson, in a juvenile role. George Gebhardt, a character actor, is also to make his bow as a Mutualite in this production.

Another of the five reel features will be released under the title of "A Million for Mary." This is the first of the comedy-drama features starring Kolb and Dill, the character men of vaudeville. The production is being handled by Director Rea Berger and presents the co-stars in the famous roles of Louie and Mike.

May Cley, a clever young actress and a recent addition to the American-Mutual studios, appears with the funmakers in the role of Mary. The story was prepared especially for the introduction of this pair of mirth-makers to Mutual followers by Al Santel from a story by Aaron Hoffman.

In "The Man Who Would Not Die," another of the five reel features under way, which will be released as a Mutual Star Production, William Russell, the principal player, essays a double role. This production is from a story written especially to suit Mr. Russell's histronic talents, by Mabel Conden. It was prepared for the screen by J. Edward Hungerford and is being filmed under the personal direction of Mr. Russell, assisted by Jack Prescott. Charlotte Burton essays the chief supporting role to Mr. Russell in "The Man Who Would Not Die." Others in the cast are Leona Hutton and Harry Keenan. The story of the picture has to do with twin brothers, and the many dramatic events that follow in their wake.

"Dust," another of the five part features, will present Winnifred Greenwood and Franklin Ritchie in the chief roles, supported by Harry von Meter, Louise Lester and a strong company of players. The story is from the pen of Julian Lamethe and is being staged by Director Edward Sloman.

The many two reel subjects being filmed at the American-Mutual studios are diverse in plots and offer a number of Mutual players in the chief roles.

"Pastures Green," first of the two reel subjects, is a story of the big town and the country, in which a city idler is depicted in a series of adventures. Alfred Vosburg, Vivian Rich and George Periolat are the principal players. The piece, written by Arthur H. Godden, is being filmed by Carl M. Le Viness.

Art Acord and Nita Davis essay the leading roles in "Sandy—Reformer," a Mustang two reel drama by Karl Coolidge and directed by William Bertram. The story has to do with Sandy, a cowpuncher, who, after years of work on the prairies saves $2,000, which he invests and loses in a mining swindle. The story, however, has a pleasant ending and Sandy not only gets his money back, but gets a bride as well.

Anthony Coldeway is the author and Alfred Hollingsworth the director of "Castles in Spain," a two reel drama featuring Edward Coxen, Lizette Thorne and George Field.

"The Good for Nothing Kid" is the title of a two reel subject written by Frank Borzage and put in scenario form by Karl Coolidge. Borzage is the star, appearing in the part of a good for nothing son of an Eastern millionaire. Anna Little and various of the players who have appeared in Mustang-Mutual releases appear in the cast with him.

Another of Constance Crawley's stories will be released by the Mutual under the title of "Fear." It will be in two reels and presents Frank Borzage, Anna Little, and Jack Richardson in the principal roles. Borzage is also directing the subject.

"Love's Bitter Strength" and "Like a

(Continued on page 3914)

THE EASTERN STUDIOS

"I WANT a scaffold fifteen feet high to get some scenes of Marguerite Clark," shouted a cameraman at the Famous Players' studio to the stage carpenter.

"What are you doing—kidding me?," demanded the carpenter threatingly. For Miss Clark is only four feet eight inches in height.

"No, I'm not kidding. I want it," replied the cameraman, and then when the carpenter made signs which suggested a lack of mental balance on the part of the speaker, he proceeded to explain that in the scenes which he had in mind Miss Clark was imprisoned in the balcony of a French chateau. The whole set representing the interior of the chateau had been constructed, showing not only the balcony in question, but even the floor above, and the only way to get those particular incidents was to erect a scaffold out in the middle of the floor facing the balcony and to place the camera on top of this improvised platform.

Pauline Frederick and James Kirkwood held up all traffic in front of the Famous Players studio in Fifty-sixth street, New York, while they had an interesting flirtation. Of course it was all for a scene in "The Evil Thereof," and it was done under the direction of Joseph Kaufman, who has charge of this Paramount picture. It was just a flash of a scene, but they took some time in preparing for it and rehearsing, so that there was a long line of automobiles in front of the studio which formed an impromptu audience.

Alice Joyce (Vitagraph)

John O'Brien Proves Himself a Diplomat

John B. O'Brien is a brave man. The Famous Players, director deliberately engaged four professional pugilists for "Destiny's Toy," in which Louise Huff is to be featured on the Paramount Program shortly. The action called for "Thugs" and O'Brien thought that as long as these "persons" would have to battle with the police, it would be much more realistic to have bonafide prize fighters play the parts. It would undoubtedly add several fistfulls of realism to the performance at any rate. However, there are those who did not envy O'Brien when he began calling the gentlemen of the mits all sorts of near-polite names as he lost his temper at their inability to grasp the technical details of the action. It was extremely debatable as to just how far professional etiquette would impel a pugilist to permit the director to go before knocking him into a cocked hat. O'Brien seemed to know the secret, for he escaped "unmassacred."

June Caprice (Fox)

Earle Williams, the Vitagraph star who won favor in "My Official Wife," "My Lady's Slipper," "The Juggernaut," "The Sins of the Mothers" and "The Goddess," has received hundreds of letters of inquiry as to the reason of his non-appearance on the screen in new Vitagraph productions. For the past six months Mr. Williams has been working in a serial by C. N. and A. M. Williamson, which was originally intended for release during the latter part of last May. But, unfortunate weather conditions during the winter months held up the work, extending the time of production, which will entail work on his part well into the summer. The serial is now scheduled for release in September.

S. Rankin Drew has begun work on a new Vitagraph photoplay picturized from a popular serial by Robert W. Chambers. It is to be a Blue Ribbon Feature in which an all-star cast, including Anita Stewart, Brinsley Shaw, Anders Randolf, Frank Wupperman, Julia Wayne Gordon and Mr. Drew will be seen in the principal characterizations.

Dr. Mary Walker Visits "V" Studio

Dr. Mary Walker was one of the prominent members of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs who visited the Vitagraph studios at Flatbush recently on special invitation of Messrs. A. E. Smith and

Anna Luther (Fox)

J. Stuart Blackton. It was Dr. Walker's first introduction to the mysteries of motion picture production and she was as happily interested as a young girl with her first mechanical doll.

Director William P. S. Earle of Vitagraph is working on "The Battle Cry of War," under the personal supervision of J. Stuart Blackton, who wrote the script for the picture, with Cyrus Townsend Brady. In the cast are such notable players as Harry T. Morey, Alice Joyce, Joseph Kilgour, James Morrison, Dorothy Kelly, Naomi Childers, Templer Saxe, Walter McGrail, Edward Elkas and Bobby Connelly.

Barney Bernard of "Potash and Perlmutter," fame, is working on a five-reel Blue Ribbon Feature for the Vitagraph Company under the direction of Paul Scardon. Other prominent players in the cast are Marion Henry, James Morrison, Thomas R. Mills, Edward Elkas, Adele DeGrade and Mary Maurice.

"The Girl Philippa," a story by Robert W. Chambers, which ran in the Cosmopolitan Magazine, is being produced by the Vitagraph Company under the direction of S. Rankin Drew. Anita Stewart will be seen in the title role. Others in the cast are S. Rankin Drew, Brinsley Shaw, Anders Randolf, Frank Wupperman, Ethel Corcoran, Alfred Rabock and Julia Swayne Gordon.

STARS OF THE INTERNATIONAL FILM SERVICE NOW AT WORK ON NEW PHOTOPLAYS

Betty Howe Howard Estabrook Irene Castle Nigel Barrie Jean Sothern

Frank Daniels is still working with Alice Washburn under the direction of C. Jay Williams in the single-reelers which are released by the Vitagraph, weekly.

Director Eugene V. Mullin of Vitagraph is hard at work upon a three-reel melodrama with Evart Overton, Denton Vane, Miss Mayfield, Logan Paul and Adele Kelly in the cast.

An original effect has been secured by General Director Gasnier for a new Pathe serial now being produced by the Astra Film Corporation.

Daring Fire Stunt Shows Nerve of Actors

George Brackett Seitz, the author, had written in a fire at sea and in one of the scenes a number of frenzied blazing figures are supposed to leap into the ocean. The effect is easier written than done. Director Gasnier was not stumped, however, he had fourteen asbestos suits made, facsimiles of the clothes worn by the actors. Gasoline was poured on the suits and the actors—those who volunteered for the stunt—were set afire. The suits were rather warm, but by swift running, the actors managed to keep the blaze going out behind them long enough for them to reach the rail and leap into the sea.

The cabaret set used in the third episode of the new Pathe serial being produced by Astra, is the largest ever erected in the Pathe studios. During the excitement of a fire scene one of the young women became excited and fainted. General Director Gasnier picked her up.

"A coach! Quick, a coach!" he cried, turning to the property man.

Director Gasnier is from La Belle France and, when excited, his accent sometimes denotes it. "Props" ran to the property room. No, there were no coaches there. He glanced out the window. By the door of the studio there was an omnibus. "Props" ran madly out the door and packed the wagon to a nearby entrance.

"The coach is ready, sir," he said running back to Director Gasnier.

Gasnier gazed about. It was not in sight.

"Outside, sir," continued props, pointing.

"Bring it here," demanded the director.

"It is too large. It takes two horses to pull it," was the answer.

Then comprehension dawned.

"How do you spell your coach," demanded Gasnier.

"C-o-a-c-h."

"You spell mine c-o-u-c-h. Fetch me one quick."

"An Earthquake" Engineer

George Brackett Seitz, author of "The Iron Claw," and the new Pathe serial now being produced by the Astra Film Corporation, has a new position. He is a graduate earthquake engineer.

In the fourth episode there is a tremendous earthquake, a few scenes of which are being done in miniature. A very careful miniature was built of a Northwestern Canadian town. The ground was made to quake by a number of levers beneath the marvelous toy. To have things working exactly right Mr. Seitz got under the miniature and, at Director Gasnier's orders, worked the earthquake himself. The ground crawled and swelled as per program, but the bottom of a river running directly over the control levers—and the ambitious young author—gave way. The cameras were grinding and he had to stick. Item—one brand new suit to the tailor's and an unnecessary bath.

Nance O'Neil, one of the best known emotional actresses in the country, who recently completed her contract with the Lubin Company, is busily at work reading scenarios and plays. Miss O'Neil's plans for the future have not been definitely settled, as she is considering several offers from motion picture producers as well as three plays from theatrical producers.

Under the leadership of Director-General Paul Dickey things have begun to hum at the International Studios. Harry Fox has been engaged to play comedies, and says that he loves screen work. Betty Howe, fresh from her comedy successes with Vitagraph, has joined the International.

Howard Estabrook is doing some of the best work of his career as the psychic detective in "The Mysteries of Myra."

Jean Sothern handles the difficult title role in the "Myra" series in a manner that marks her an actress of capability. The brothers Wharton state that the part of Myra in this series is one of the hardest parts that has ever come before them in their long experience as producers.

Annette Kellermann in a Scene from William Fox's Million-Dollar Spectacle

Irene Castle has danced for the English Queen and is back in Manhattan ready to act for International. Director-General Paul Dickey and assistants have been working eighteen hours a day.

Nigel Barrie of "You're Here and I'm Here" fame has been engaged to play leads for the International. Mr. Barrie is

Gaumont Players on Shipboard En Route from Florida to New York

You May Be the World's Champion
THE STUDIO DIRECTORY-STAM
CHANCE TO PROV
(SHEEPSHEAD BAY, NEW

THE MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY, published by THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS, will hold a contest open only to motion picture actors, actresses, cowboys and cowgirls in conjunction with The Big Stampede, to be held at the three-million-and-a-half-dollar Sheepshead Bay Speedway, New York City, Aug. 5th to 12th, inclusive, 1916. The exponents of Western art and pastimes are, through the medium of the screen, probably better known to the general public than even the champion professional cowboys and cowgirls themselves; consequently the motion picture industry should be properly represented at the big Frontier Day celebration and competitive arena tournament, which will be held at Sheepshead Bay under the name of "The Big Stampede," where it can be decided conclusively in fair and open competition just who are the world's champions in sports and pastimes of Cattle-land. This contest will be separate and distinct from the open Stampede contest and will be open only to men and women who have played for the screen for a period of not less than six months. The same judges will officiate for the MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY contest as those who judge the various events in the World's Championship contest, which is of course open to everybody. THE MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY is offering prizes, and in addition free advertising space in THE MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY. The details of the contest and prizes follow on the opposite page, and other announcements will follow in subsequent issues of MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Guy Weadick

Mr. Guy Weadick is the Director-general of The Stampede and invites all of the motion picture contestants who so desire to compete in the open contest and if possible show the professionals up. This is the golden opportunity to settle once and for all the controversies which constantly arise between the different motion picture cowboys and cowgirls and between the companies themselves as to just who is the best type and exponent of Western feats in filmdom. Each and every film company has at some time or another laid particular stress on the fact that Mr. or Miss So-and-so were the best types and could perform the most hazardous and thrilling "stunts," depicting Western life in such and such a picture. Now is the time to decide, before an audience of a hundred thousand people daily, at this mammoth tournament, just who excels in each particular type and style, and just what company can lay claim to having the best exponent of the western art. We expect to hear from Tom Mix, Art Acord, Vester Peg (Perry), Fred Burns, Bud Osborne, Neal Hart, Walter Cameron, Bert Gudgeon, Hart Gibson, Rose Wenger Gibson, Jane Bernondy, Happy Jack Hawn, Nellie Hawn, Curley Eagle, Bob Anderson, Joe Ryan, and many others who are eligible. We will also expect to hear from G. M. Anderson, W. S. Hart, Douglas Fairbanks, Harry Pollard, Dustin Farnum, and many others who will be eligible for certain events. You will notice from the list of prizes offered that the events include actor horseman, depicting the best cowboy type; actress horsewoman, depicting best cowgirl type; best dressed and best equipped cowboy and cowgirl; so that actors and actresses who do not perform "stunts" are also eligible. This contest will determine championships in a fair and unbiased way before competent judges, before the largest crowds ever gotten together to witness such sports, on the largest and finest race-course of its kind in the world. The management will furnish horses for you to select from and has ample accommodations to care for your own horses if you desire to furnish your own mounts. There is no entrance fee, it costs you nothing to be seen and compete for the prizes. Let us hear from you all, the more the merrier! Don't wait until it is all over and say that "you didn't know"! If you can deliver the goods, now is the time to prove it. If you are not here to compete some of the unkind ones might accuse you of an attack of cold feet. For full information and entry blank, which is absolutely free, address MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY, Stampede Contest Manager, 729 Seventh Ave., N. Y. C., c/o MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Watch for next week's announcement.—Remember the date, Aug. 5 to 12, New York City.

Motion Picture Cowboy—or Cowgirl!
PEDE CONTEST GIVES YOU A
E THAT YOU ARE!

YORK, AUGUST 5th-12th)

EVENTS AND PRIZES GIVEN BY THE MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY

Champion All around Moving Picture Cowboy—1 solid gold medal.

Champion All around Moving Picture Cowgirl—1 solid gold medal.

Champion Moving picture actor horseman (not professional horseman) one page adv. in Studio Directory.

Champion moving picture actress horsewoman (not professional horsewoman) one page adv. in Studio Directory.

Moving picture company having the largest number of best contestants will be awarded handsome silver trophy.

Scenes That Will Make "The Stampede" a Distinctive Frontier Show

Actor horseman (not professional) depicting best cowboy type, one-half page adv. in Studio Directory.

Actress horsewoman (not professional) depicting best cowgirl type, one-half page adv. in Studio Directory.

Best dressed and best equipped cowboy, one-quarter page in Studio Directory. Best dressed and best equipped cowgirl, one-quarter page adv. in Studio Directory.

Cowboy catching largest number of running horses in one loop, quarter page adv. in Studio Directory.

Cowgirl who has the most novel photograph of her taken during contest, quarter page adv. in Studio Directory.

MOVING PICTURE CONTEST

THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULE OF EVENTS WILL PROBABLY BE SUPPLEMENTED BY OTHER EQUALLY INTERESTING CONTESTS:

POTATO RACE

MOVING PICTURE COWBOY TRICK RIDING CONTEST

COWBOY HALF MILE RACE

MOVING PICTURE COWBOYS' PONY EXPRESS RACE

MOVING PICTURE COWGIRL FANCY ROPING CONTEST

MOVING PICTURE COWBOY BUCKING HORSE CONTEST

MOVING PICTURE COWBOY TRICK ROPING CONTEST

MOVING PICTURE COWBOYS' STEER BULL-DOGGING CONTEST

MOVING PICTURE COWGIRL FANCY RIDING CONTEST

MOVING PICTURE COWGIRL HALF MILE RACE

ADDITIONAL DETAILS WILL BE FORTHCOMING IN NEXT WEEK'S ISSUE

a typical outdoor man—his riding, swimming and golfing proclivities being exceeded only by his attainments in the dance.

Olive Thomas will lend her girlish charm to the lens for the new Hearst organization. Miss Thomas states that she prefers drama to comedy.

Anna Luther has joined the William Fox Corporation. From this time forth she is to be star de luxe on the Pacific coast. It is said of Anna that she is the only girl on the screen who never looks "mussed up" no matter how hard the wind blows. Which, in itself, is quite some recommendation.

Alex K. Shannon, who is acting with the William Fox companies in Fort Lee, N. J., has been elected president of the Fort Lee Screen Club, a newly organized social association. In four weeks the club has grown to a membership of 225 men, and plans are afoot to make it even larger.

At present there are eighteen classifications of moving picture employes admitted into the club, from directors and actors, down through men employed about the studio. The headquarters of the organization is at Ft. Lee, and members of moving picture establishments within a radius of three miles are admitted to the club. It plans to build a home on Main Street, in West Ft. Lee, and to affiliate with the New York Screen Club later. More than a dozen companies have studios within the area recognized by the association.

Wortham Erects 17 Sets in One Day

Ed Wortham, technical director of the William Fox company which is now working at Cliffside, N. J., has achieved a record in erecting scenes. He placed seventeen sets in one day. So far as ascertainable, this record has never been equalled.

To get some outdoor scenes for the new Theda Bara picture, Director J. Gordon Edwards had to build an Algerian city in the grounds behind the William Fox studios at Fort Lee, N. J. A large part of the city was erected, at a cost of $60,000. It extended about five blocks down a narrow street, and had mountains towering above, in the background.

Many of the big outdoor scenes in the new Fox picture in which Madame Bertha Kalich is appearing were made on the estate of E. Drexel Godfrey, of Redbank, N. J. Mr. Godfrey has a projecting outfit in his house, and entertained the actors often with pictures in his own moving picture show.

Clay M. Greene, twelve times Shepherd of the Lambs Club, and widely known as a dramatic writer, photoplaywright and director of motion pictures, has resigned from the Lubin Company, and is being warmly welcomed back to New York after a three years sojourn in Philadelphia.

Greene's first play was produced in 1870 and since that time he has written so many plays, sketches, books, scenarios and adaptations for both screen and stage, that he long ago lost all track of them. Twenty-five years ago he won for himself an international reputation as an adapter of stage plays. "Greene, the play tinker," was the title his many friends conferred on him. He was one of the most popular Shepherds the Lambs Club ever had and during his long membership he wrote over one hundred sketches for the club stunts.

Three years ago the Lubin Company persuaded him to join them and during his time there he wrote innumerable scenarios and adapted the majority of the feature pictures produced by that organization. Green also directed dramas and comedies.

J. Grubb Alexander, scenario writer at Universal Heights, is one of the staff of that studio who left for Universal City in advance of the "mainguard." This occurred because Alexander, who had long been pining to write in the Western atmosphere, had his application for a transfer "in" before the general transfer of Eastern Universalites was decided upon.

"I want to write Western stories," said Alexander, who has made a reputation for Eastern society plays, before he bid New York adieu, "and I want to write them in the genuine Western atmosphere. I am turning my attention altogether to Western drama. It does a writer good to change his topics, I think."

NETWORK OF CONCRETE WALKS FOR INCE-CULVER STUDIOS

Now that practically all of the buildings for the Ince Culver City studios are nearing completion, the work of connecting all departments and stages by a network of concrete walks has been taken up.

HEYES PICKED FOR "UNDER TWO FLAGS"

Herbert H. Heyes, who will be seen in "Under Two Flags," a new William Fox production, was engaged because he resembled to a remarkable degree the hero of the picturized novel.

Mr. Heyes has been leading man in many Broadway legitimate productions.

THE MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY

(Published by MOTION PICTURE NEWS)

Will Be Issued September 9th, 1916

(OUT AUGUST 29th, 1916)

We want to see every Actor, Actress, Director, Assistant Director, Camera Man and Scenario Writer represented.

Tear off the Coupon below, fill out and mail NOW—and we will send you a biography blank at the proper time.

For $2 you may have a one inch picture in the next two issues with your biography and a year's subscription to the MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY (published Semi-Annually).

COUPON

Enclosed please find $2 to pay for my cut to be run with my biography in the next two studio directory issues and one year's subscription to the Motion Picture Studio Directory (issued twice a year by Motion Picture News).

It is understood that I will have a photograph in your hands in ample time for publication.

*Name*_____ *Line of Work*_____

*Studio*_____ *Permanent Address*_____

Motion Picture Studio Directory, 729 7th Ave., New York City

In and Out of West Coast Studios

By J. C. Jessen

Special to Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, June 10.

EDDIE LYONS and Lee Moran are home from their trip to New York, arriving Friday of last week. They immediately took up work at Universal City, where as co-directors and players, they will produce one-reel Nestor comedies, the brand in which they have been appearing for the past four years. The first story is named "Kill the Umpire," in which they are supported by Eileen Sedgwick. The comedians were given a hearty welcome by all their old associates at the film city, and after spending an hour or two in getting their wardrobe and effects located in their new quarters, they began the work of making their first subject without the supervision of Director Al. E. Christie.

The New York office of the Universal has sent to U City, Franklyn Farnum to play leads opposite Ruth Stonehouse. Farnum is a legitimate stage actor, and this is said to be his first appearance before the camera. He will appear first in "The Spring Song," a five-reel Bluebird written by Harvey Gates, and being produced by William Worthington. Kingsley Benedict is to play the heavy.

In number five of "Timothy Dobbs," which features Carter DeHaven as the aspiring screen actor, Dobbs is forced to try again because he learns that his sweetheart from Centerville is on the way to California to see him. He applies at the Ince studio at a time when a temperamental leading man has just left, and gets on to do a riding act. His sweetheart arrives, and learning where he is working, goes there immediately. She is in time to see him ride all over the place, in and out of the lines, and fall kersplash in a stream which his horse is supposed to dash across. Mary hears the bawling out from the director, and poor Tim goes in search of a place where genius is appreciated. Bob Milash continues as Tim's valet, Vola Smith is Mary from Centerville, and Mina Cunard is the leading woman of the film company.

While waiting for sets, Wallace Beery has filmed a one-reel comedy which has been named "The Janitor." The director appears as the janitor who has a pet monkey and aspirations to win the heart of the stenographer in the hotel. The action of the photoplay shows a dream of the janitor, who is awakened by his employer while kissing the monkey. Others in the comedy are Gilmore Hammond and Ruby Cox.

"Loss or Gain" for Exhibitor Gain

A one-reel story being filmed is "Loss or Gain," by Director Jacques Jaccard. This is one of the "Little Stories of Real Life" series, which features Raymond Nye and Roberta Wilson, with a supporting cast of Jessie Arnold, W. J. Bageman and Frank MacQuarrie. It is the story of an industrious man with a social butterfly wife. When deprived of the companionship of the wife, he falls in love with his stenographer. He refuses to make known his feelings to the girl until he comes upon his wife enacting a love scene with one of her admirers.

The U company, under the direction of Jay Hunt is home from Eureka, where they filmed exteriors for "The Wilderness Creed," a three-reel story, and "Redwood Land" of two reels. The casts for each includes Jack Holt, Lucille Younge, Jack Nelson, Albert MacQuarrie and Mrs. Jay Hunt as principals.

"Redwood Land," as the title indicates, is also laid in the lumber region of California, with the eternal triangle serving for a plot.

Joker Director Allen Curtis is making a two-part comedy, "Married for Revenge." Two country fathers decide that their children shall marry, regardless of the fact that they have never met. The children refuse to do as they are bid, and each one goes to the city, where they accidentally meet while under assumed names. Both are anxious to be married to revenge their parents.

Milburn Moranti and Lillian Peacock are the children, William Franey, and Chester Conklin the fathers, and Gale Henry the old maid.

A one-reel Universal picture being made by Cleo Madison and William Mong, is "Tilly, the Little Swede." The co-directors together with Charles Gumm make up the cast. The story is that of a Swedish girl being robbed of her money while on her way to her home, when her father is dangerously ill. She sees the hand of man disappear from her berth in a Pullman car and follows him, but he escapes. Later she comes upon him, and by the assistance of companions, he is forced to return the money.

A three-reel western Universal now being made by Director George Marshall is entitled "Well Represented." Harry Carey is featured in this as the leader of the Diamond A ranch cowboys, who inherits his father's estate on condition that he go East and manage it for a year. Neil Hart, William Quinn and Olive Golden are the principals supporting Carey in the photoplay.

The name of a painting, "The Grieving Dryad," serves for the title of a one-reel Universal filmed by C. D. Bennett from scenario by F. McGrew Willis. Bertram Grassby appears as the heavy, an artist of unsavory reputation, Maude Emory takes the part of the wife and Wadsworth Harris the husband. The woman had once served the artist as a model, and left his employ to escape his attentions.

"The Little Life Saver"

Little Elizabeth James, a diving nymph, is featured in a one-reel picture, "The Little Life Saver," being made by Director C. S. Elfelt, in which she appears as one of the children who dive for coins from the beach pier. Her father was a lifeguard who becomes an invalid after an accident, whose condition can be bettered only by an expensive operation. The coins secured by the girl serve to pay their living expenses, and daily she saves a bit for the operation fund. One day a doctor swims beyond the tide ropes, and is overcome by cramps. The girl dives to his aid, and is able to keep him up until the lifeguards can reach him. When informed of the bravery of the girl, the doctor goes in search of her, learns of the condition of her father, and arranges for him to be taken to the doctor's hospital, where the necessary operation is performed free of charge. Arthur Allardt is the doctor, and Edward Hearne the father.

Dorothy Dalton, Ince Star, in the Second Prize Car at Ascot Park Motor Carnival—Ince Motorcycle Team En Route Across the Continent—Arthur Hansen, Driver of Winning Ince Car at Carnival and His Associate

The magazine story by Edward Balmer, "The State's Witness," has been adapted for the screen by Walter Woods, and is being produced in three reels by 101 Bison Director Henry McRae. Marie Walcamp is the girl, Lee Hill the northerner, L. E. Shumway the plantation owner, and E. N. Wallock and Helen Wright are others in the cast.

Billie Rhodes and Betty Compson of the Christie Company

An aged man telling the story of his early life, brings about the reunion of separated man and wife, and serves as the plot for "Memories," a one-reel Universal drama, written and being filmed by Allen Holubar. Both man and wife go to the aged one for advice, and his story of how his life was blighted causes them to realize the importance of reuniting for their own happiness. Holubar appears as the old man, Paul Byron as the husband, Helen Leslie as the wife, and Betty Schade, the old man's wife.

The Bluebird photoplay originally named "The First Stone," is to be titled "Wanted, a Home." The picture has just been completed by the Smalleys, who will next take up the making of "Saving the Family Name." This is an adaptation prepared by Lois Weber from a story of the same name by Evelyn Heath, and will be in five reels. Mary MacLaran (formerly Mary McDonald), heads the big cast for the subject. The film will require a number of elaborate settings which are now being prepared at U City.

Myrtle Gonzalez and Fred Church are to play the principal parts in another Bluebird named "The Girl of Lost Lake," being made by Director Lynn Reynolds. Many of the scenes for this subject will be filmed in the southern California mountains.

Scenario Editor Eugene B. Lewis has written a five-reel drama now known as "Under Currents," which Director Otis Turner is filming with Flora Parker DeHaven and Jack Mulhall as principals.

Clara McDowell, who played leads for the Biograph for several seasons, has been engaged as leading woman for the Universal by Marshall Stedman of the U City engagement department. She has been cast to play in "Sea Mates," a one-reel drama being produced by Director Francis Powers. The story is by Powers, and the scenario was prepared by Frank Wiltermood. Opposite Miss McDowell will be Charles Mailes, who played many leads with her previously.

Director Robert Leonard, Ella Hall, Herbert Rawlinson, and other members of the Universal staff, are at Coronado Beach, California, making exteriors for "Little Eve Edgarton," a Bluebird subject adapted from the novel of the same name.

Clements Completes First Rooney Comedy

Director Roy Clements has completed the first Pat Rooney comedy, "The Bell Hop," and will shortly take up the filming of additional photoplays of this character with Rooney as the featured lead. Rooney, it is understood, is to remain at U City for several months.

Director George Cochran is shortly to take up the filming of "His Big Sister," a drama of one reel by Calder Johnstone. Marjorie Ellison plays the leading part, that of a girl without means who, while working in a hotel, discovers that her brother has forged a check. She induces men of influence to obtain the brother's release.

Jack Kerrigan and company have returned from a stay of two weeks in the vicinity of Coultersville, California, where exteriors for "The Beckoning Trail" were filmed. Kerrigan and all members of the company have a good coat of tan.

Allen Forest, formerly of Universal and later with Lubin at Coronado, has been selected by President S. S. Hutchinson as leading man to play opposite Helen Rosson. President Hutchinson has also added Murdock MacQuarrie and William C. Dowlan, late of Universal, as directors of American companies.

The Clune Film Producing Company has about completed all sets for its next production, "The Eyes of the World," and Director Donald Crisp is now selecting players for the various parts of the subject. Active production will begin soon.

Pat Rooney and Ed Sedgwick in "The Bell Hop," Universal

Gus Inglis, of the firm of Willis and Inglis, who has been in New York for the past four or five weeks making arrangements for eastern representation of the firm, is now on his way to the coast, having completed negotiations with Arthur W. Kane of 224 West Forty-second street, New York. With this connection, the firm of Willis and Inglis will be in far better position to serve their individual clients, as well as the independent producing companies they represent.

The Rolin Phunphilm Company are finishing the Lonesome Luke burlesque of "Julius Caesar" for Pathe. One of the scenes to be made was that of the chariot race, and before it was completed, the sets in use were practically smashed to pieces. The cause of the breakage was the catching of Lonesome Luke's whip on a chandelier. The horses dashed madly through a fountain and thus the stage was flooded.

Geraldine Farrar and Lou-Tellegen Arriving in Los Angeles for Work in Photoplays to be Filmed Under the Direction of Cecil B. De Mille

Activities In and About Universal City: (Left to right) Brigham S. Young, Head of Knights of Pythias, Visists Universal Zoo; Robert Leonard Company at Colorado Beach; Phillips Smalley Company at a Ranch Near Los Angeles

Several days the players worked on exterior locations for this, and the costumes worn gave old Sol the opportunity of his life to perpetrate a goodly number of sun blisters.

The Italia-American Film Company has been organized by Italian capitalists of San Francisco, and has opened a studio at 1500 San Pablo avenue, Berkeley, where they are filming a six-reel subject which has been titled "Pam's Daughter." Scenes for this are laid in Italy, and the direction is in charge of Hal Mohr.

The title for the E. and R. subject originally named "Dynamited," has been changed to "When the Clock Cuckooed."

This week a comedy is being made under the working title of "Rival Detectives," wherein a man and a woman of the police force are detailed to arrest a female crook. The crooks get in their work, and the two detectives are deprived of their stars, which are awarded Sally and Napoleon. Annette DeFoe, Eugenie Ames and Walter Rogers appear in the cast under the direction of J. J. Franz.

Director Al. E. Christie is making "The Deacon's Widow," from a scenario by Arthur Mackley. This comedy has a small town atmosphere, with Billie Rhodes as the vampish widow. Nolan Leary is the juvenile who falls for her winsome ways, but he cannot secure the inheritance left him by his father unless the bride is given an official O. K. by his guardian, Deacon Sneak. The deacon decides he wants the widow, until she attends an ice cream sociable and there stages an oriental dance which shocks the longhairs. The deacon then gives the juvenile the inheritance and a big cash bonus besides if he will get her out of town and prevent further scandal. Eddie Beery appears in the part of the deacon.

No Ad. for a Lemon

Another Christie company is making "Her Sun Kissed Hero." No, this is not an ad. for a lemon, but a comedy which gives Dave Morris the role of a life guard at a beach. Two college youths are in love with the fair dame, Betty Compson, but the supposed bravery of the lifesaver causes the girl to turn them down for him. The college boys learn he is married, the part of the wife being played by Harry Rattenberry, and they induce the wife to make a parade on the beach with the six small children when the guard is cooing nearby with the girl. At the same time they have a fisherman jump overboard and feign drowning, and show the guard to be a coward.

Both companies at the Selig studios began the making of new pictures during the past week. Director T. N. Heffron is filming "The Old Man Who Tried to Grow Young." Al. W. Filson appears in the featured part of the photoplay, an elderly man of wealth who desires a young wife, taken by Vivian Reid. In his search for youth, he comes upon a Hindoo faker, who sells him a formula which will rejuvenate him. This, however, proves to be but a poor hair dye. He discovers the girl he wishes to wed is in love with his secretary, and he finds ways and means of putting the young man out of the way. But affairs are eventually righted, and the young people come into their own, which points out the mockery of the old man in attempting to regain youth. Charles West and Harry Lonsdale appear in good parts in the photoplay.

A story of a very unusual plot is being filmed by Director Robert Daly. This is named "The Germ of Mystery." A scientist succeeds in finding a toxine taken from a spider, which can be used for medicinal purposes under proper conditions. Ordinarily, however, the toxine is a deadly poison. A spider is stolen from the laboratory, and an inventor who has perfected a new explosive is killed. The death is charged to the scientist, but detectives he secures are successful in proving his innocence. Guy Oliver is the scientist, Frank Clark the inventor, Fritzi Brunette the inventor's daughter, and others playing important parts are Lillian Hayward and James Bradbury.

Margaret Gibson is appearing in the featured part of "A Good For Nothin' Brat," being filmed at the Horsley studio by Director Charles Swickard. Fred Montague, Margaret Faust, Louis Durham and Dave Allen take the other important parts.

Another two-reel photoplay in production at the Horsley plant is named "A Woman's Reputation." This was written by Crane Wilbur, who appears in the part of a gentleman gambler, who accidently murders a man in a gambling place when the stranger insults a society woman. Supporting Wilbur in the picture are May Gaston, Leo Smith, Harrish Ingraham and Corrine Bradford.

The Horsley Club comedy company has just filmed "The Hero of E. Z. Ranch," with George Ovey in the featured part. Practically all of the exteriors for this comedy were made on a big ranch at Tropico, where about twenty-five players were used every day during the past week. Supporting Ovey in this are Claire Alexander, Louise Horner, Janet Sully, George George and Louis Fitzroy.

Four Fine Arts Subjects Completed

Four features were completed at the Fine Arts studio last week, and within the next few days all of these companies will take up the filming of new subjects.

With the completion of the feature adapted from the Bret Harte story "In the Carquinez Woods," Director Alan Dwan and the lead, Douglas Fairbanks, departed for New York, where they will make subjects at the New York studio of the Fine Arts. They were accompanied by Jewel Carmen, who will play leads opposite Fairbanks in one or more subjects. In the picture just completed, Fairbanks appears in the steller role, that of a half-breed. One of the last scenes made was that of a forest fire from which the half-breed rescues the girl of the dance hall. Fairbanks in performing this, was painfully burned, but it did not interfere with him completing his scenes for the picture.

The Norma Talmadge-Tully Marshall picture, originally known as "The Dope Fiend," has been completed in every particular and renamed "The Devil's Needle." The photoplay has for its leading role, an artist who is induced to resort to drugs for inspirations when he fails to make advancement in his chosen profession. The drugs cause him to sink to the lowest depths of humanity, and then there is a reformation. The picture is the first made under the direction of Chester Withey.

Another Triangle subject completed has been named "The Old Player." DeWolf Hopper plays the featured part, that of an actor overtaken by old age and pressing financial conditions. While fulfilling an engagement with a stock company he becomes interested in a fatherly way in an ingenue, taken by Bessie Love. Director Lloyd Ingraham was in charge of filming "The Old Player."

The Irish story featuring Mae Marsh and Robert Harron, completed by Director Paul Powell, is to be known on the screen as "The Marriage of Molly-O." In the photoplay Powell has introduced some new ideas, spoken of at the studio as fantastical episodes in which fairyland scenes are shown. The purpose of this being to impress upon the audience the romantic and poetic character portrayed by Harron, who tells Mae Marsh the story of a troublesome fairy. Exceptionally beautiful scenery was found to serve as locations, and the pictures are said to have the appearance of oil paintings.

A farewell dinner was given Director Dwan and Douglas Fairbanks by Fine Art studio players and other friends Friday evening at the Hoffman cafe. The guests numbered about fifty, and there were numerous sparking after-dinner talks and impromptu entertainment stunts provided by the film people.

Master George Stone of the Fine Arts studio has been loaned to Thomas H. Ince for his appearance in a Kay-Bee photoplay starring William S. Hart. Little George has played leading juvenile roles in four or five Fine Arts releases, and is considered the most finished actor of his age connected with the Los Angeles filming colony.

The contributions of the Fine Arts Triangle studio to the Actors' Fund endowment, has been increased to beyond the twelve hundred dollar mark. The list is headed by D. W. Griffiths, Sir Herbert Tree, and practically every member of the organization contributed according to their means.

The William Fox third company directed by Richard Stanton, has gone to Yuma, Arizona, for exterior scenes to be used in their first subject, which has been titled "The Beast." George Walsh and Anna Luther are the principals, with Hershall Mayall and Harry Devere as principals of the supporting cast.

Unusual Actor in "Honor System"

Victor Louis Eytinge, whose release from the Arizona prison practically all Ad clubs are trying to secure, was induced to play a minor part in the Fox film, "The Honor System," when Director R. A. Walsh and company were at the Arizona prison at Florence. Eytinge edits a magazine entitled Postage, from the prison, the magazine being published in Boston. His business getting letters first attracted attention of the advertising men, and they have since sought his release. With the exception of recutting the photoplay, Director Walsh has the picture completed.

The Canadian northwest story being filmed by Fox director Oscar Apfel, which stars William Farnum, is to be named "Hope" or "He Rides With Hope." Exteriors for the photoplay were made at Huntington Lake timber region recently.

The Lasky photodramatic department is to be discontinued at the studio, and will in the near future be conducted in connection with the New York office of the company. Hector Turnbull has already left for the east, and will be in charge there of a staff of writers for the preparation of photoplays. The continuity writers will remain at Los Angeles, but the majority of plays will be handled by the New York office.

Lasky director George Melford has returned from a vacation, and is at work on the filming of "The House of the Golden Windows," which co-stars Cleo Ridgley and Wallace Reid.

Marie Doro, star for the Lasky Company productions, last week gave a dinner party at her Hollywood home in celebration of her birthday anniversary. Among the guests were Charles Chaplin, who presented the hostess with a practical miniature motion picture camera. Following the dinner, lights were secured from the Lasky studio, a scenario was quickly written, and a small photoplay was made with Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks, Elliott Dexter and Miss Doro as principals.

Film Colony at Auto Fashion Parade

Many members of the west coast film colony took part in the Memorial Day races and auto fashion parade, held at Ascot Park, Los Angeles, under the auspices of the California Committee of the Actors' Fund endowment. This proved entirely different from any event of the kind previously staged in this portion of the country, and attracted a fair-sized crowd, which added a goodly sum to the fund raised by the California Committee.

The principal race event was that of ten miles for the photoplay championship and trophy offered by Barney Oldfield. The event was won by a Mercer car named "Civilization," owned by Thomas H. Ince, and driven by Arthur Hansen; time, ten minutes and six seconds. Ashton Dearholt of the American Film Company, Santa Barbara, driving a Premier owned by William Russell, took second place. The third entrant was Wallace Beery, director at Universal, who was a dangerous contender for first place until the fifth lap, when a tire was thrown.

In the five-mile motorcycle race, Wake Walters of L-Ko took first place in four minutes and forty-seven seconds. Frank Good, former professional and registered A. A. A. driver, gave an exhibition mile in fifty-three seconds. Good is now cameraman at the Fine Arts studio.

There were about fifty contestants in the fashion show, and the winner was selected by the crowd in the grandstand, the one receiving the greatest applause being named the winner. Five were first selected, these being Edna Goodrich of Morosco; Myrtle Gonzalez, Universal; Myrtle Stedman, Pallas; Dorothy Dalton, Ince Kay-Bee, and Pricilla Dean, Kalem. The cars were all very attractive, and the fair drivers were gowned in fashion's latest decree. In the final selection Miss Dean won the greatest applause, and was awarded first prize. Dorothy Dalton was honored with the second trophy. During the afternoon there were comedy pictures made by L-Ko and Keystone companies. Charles Murray of the Keystone was master of the day, and the program provided an afternoon of continuous merriment.

Richard Bennett and his children and Adrianne Morrison, leading woman, who are to play in American multiple reel subjects, arrived in Los Angeles the latter part of last week, and after a few days' stay here, will go to the Santa Barbara studios. They were met in Los Angeles by President S. S. Hutchinson of the American Company, who is now dividing his time between the Los Angeles Mutual producing studios and those at Santa Barbara. Subjects in which Mr. Bennett will play have not been definitely decided upon.

The L-Ko comedy makers have finished the filming of "Spring Fever," a one-reeler which features Billy Armstrong and a bevy of pretty girls who take part in a fashion show staged in a canoe promanade at one of the local parks. Since the finishing of this picture, Armstrong has been working in another in which he attempted to do a wire walking act, and fell from the top of a telegraph pole. At first it was thought he was fatally injured, but he is now on the road to recovery, and will be able to resume his work shortly.

Morning mail recently brought to Director Francis Ford of the "Peg o' the Ring" serial definite news of the sale of a copper mine in Arizona of which he was practically sole owner. Mr. Ford had considered the mine little better than worthless, and when the news of the sale came to him, he declared a holiday for all members of the producing company.

Scenes from Horsley-Mutual Productions: "The Siren of the Jungle," "Jerry's Elopement," "Wasted Years," and "Jerry and the Moonshiners"

GENERAL MANAGER McGEE IS GUEST OF COL. AND MRS. SELIG

James L. McGee, general manager of the Selig Pacific Coast studios, Director Colin Campbell, Marshal Neilan and others of the Selig Company who remained in Vicksburg, Miss., to film battle scene pictures, returned to Chicago on Monday, June 5. The production of "The Crisis" is about completed with the exception of one or two scenes which were reserved for Chicago. Mr. McGee expects to return to Los Angeles within a few days. Mr. Campbell will remain in Chicago for some time to superintendent the cutting and trimming of "The Crisis" negative.

Mr. McGee was a guest to dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Selig on Wednesday evening, June 7. The dinner was given in observance of Mr. McGee's birthday anniversary. His brother from Milwaukee, Wis., was present.

KEAN APPOINTED BY LOCKWOOD

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Vancouver, B. C., June 10.

As a result of a recent visit made to Vancouver by E. B. Lockwood, cinematographer representing the Selig-Tribune weekly in the northwest, it is likely that a representative for British Columbia will be appointed in the person of A. D. Kean, who has for some years been active in this territory, and has covered every important center in British Columbia. Most of his subjects were, however, released by himself for use in local houses, although in recent months he has supplied considerable of the material used in the Ford Canadian Monthly.

Two Players of Note at Work in "Where Love Is" for Edison

Ann Murdock Appeared for Number of Years in Frohman Successes, and Henry Stanford Is Remembered by His Appearance as Jerry in "Peg o' My Heart"

ANN MURDOCK, the Frohman star, and Henry Stanford, an actor best known to the American public by his appearance in the role of Jerry, with Laurette Taylor in "Peg o' My Heart," for one thousand performances, are engaged at the Thomas A. Edison, Inc., studios in New York in the production of a five-reel feature picturization of "Where Love Is," an adaptation of William J. Locke's novel of that name. Among the members of the company that is playing in the support of Miss Murdock and Mr. Stanford, are Leonie Flugrath, Mabel Trunnelle, Bigelow Cooper and other Edison players. The first scene of the picture was filmed on June 5, and it is expected that fully two months will be required to complete the production.

William J. Locke, the writer of "Where Love Is" is one of the best-known of present-day English noveltists. The story of studio life in England was adapted for the screen by Edward H. Griffith, head of the Edison scenario department. The photoplay not only follows the story of the book, but it contains many skillful touches by which the whimsical charm of the original tale is preserved. Ann Murdock not only is talented and beautiful, but she has a secure reputation and many admirers.

For a number of years she appeared in Frohman's successes.

Mr. Stanford besides appearing in support of Laurette Taylor in "Peg o' My Heart," was leading man with Viola Allen in "The White Sister," and with Eleanor Robson in "The Dawn of a Tomorrow." When the new theatre in New York was opened, Mr. Stanford was chosen to play the leading roles in the productions offered there. Recently he has been appearing at the Century theatre. The majority of the members of the supporting cast in the picture are widely known to the public through their appearances in Edison pictures.

"Where Love Is" is one of a series of five-reel features that are being made at the Edison studios.

LOUISE HUFF WILL MAKE FIRST APPEARANCE AS STAR FOR FAMOUS PLAYERS

Louise Huff makes her first appearance as a featured player in the Famous Players-Paramount release for June 15, "Destiny's Toy," which was written and directed by John B. O'Brien. The major portion of the action was staged on Block Island, with a cast including J. W. Johnston, John Bowers, Harry Lee and others.

This is Miss Huff's second Famous Players role. She was seen in that company's adaptation of "The Old Homestead."

Special music has been arranged for "Destiny's Toy" by G. Schirmer, the music publisher.

THE MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY

(Published by MOTION PICTURE NEWS)

Will Be Issued September 9th, 1916

(OUT AUGUST 29th, 1916)

We want to see every Actor, Actress, Director, Assistant Director, Camera Man and Scenario Writer represented.

Tear off the Coupon below, fill out and mail NOW—and we will send you a biography blank at the proper time.

For $2.00 you may have a one inch picture in both issues with your biography and a year's subscription to the MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY (published Semi-Annually).

COUPON

Enclosed please find $2.00 (Two Dollars) to pay for my cut to be run with my biography and one year's subscription to the Motion Picture Studio Directory (issued twice a year by Motion Picture News).

It is understood that I will have a photograph in your hands in ample time for publication.

*Name*_____ *Line of Work*_____

*Studio*_____ *Permanent Address*_____

Motion Picture Studio Directory, 729 7th Ave., New York City

AMONG THE EXCHANGES

"Film Frolic and Vodvil" in Dallas Is Tribute to Efforts of Exchangemen and Exhibitors

THE Film Frolic and Vodvil, presented to the Dallas people Sunday, June 4, afternoon and evening, under the auspices of the newly organized Dallas Screen Club, was a success.

Every exchange manager in Dallas worked to make the affair successful. Billy Byrd of the Fox exchange was the "vodvil director"; C. A. Clegg of the Mutual was "ticket man"; Ned E. Depinet of the Consolidated office had the treasurership; C. A. Logan of the Southern World exchange directed the publicity and advertising campaign for the event; while E. T. Peter of the United was one of the House Committee; Lew Remy, Triangle, was the official "programmer"; and—well, every exchange man in the town was something or other. In addition to the exchange managers, R. H. Campbell of the Labor Temple assisted in securing music, Jimmy Kelly of the Consolidated and C. A. Walker of Motion Picture Journal were responsible for a novelty film.

Beginning Thursday afternoon, the downtown district of the city was invaded by thirty-four pretty girls, stenographers and inspectors from the various exchanges, in a ticket selling contest. A man would have a vision of "loveliness bedecked in many pennants and ribbons"—then the fireworks would start—and Gosh! How those girls could talk. Of course, the guy bought. The stunt was repeated Friday and Saturday, and the house was sold out for both performances by two o'clock Saturday.

The show included four acts of vaudeville, a pianologue, a sister team of singing and dancing, a real "nigger" comedian, and a harmony-four that was strong on all brands of song. Then, mixed between the vaudeville, were six reels of new film, pre-releases, and the one reel novelty.

The novelty film contains more stars than ever appeared in one film before. There are five or six prominent on the Triangle program, four from Paramount's producing organizations, two from Fox, four from World, eight from V-L-S-E, one from Kleine. With the co-operation of the exchanges, the film was made by clipping that part of the first reel where "introduction of characters" takes place, and the many short strips combined in one reel.

Al Russell, of the Metro exchange, had promised to "lecture a picture" if the big show did not get the audience on its feet near the end—but happily for Al, it wasn't necessary. With Charlie Chaplin sandwiched between Billie Burke and William S. Hart, and Mabel Normand mixed with Theda Bara and Clara Kimball Young—the crowd "got so excited about the thing, that they pulled up the chairs and used them for flappers to applaud with"—this quotation according to Jim Kelly, in remarking of the success of the entertainment.

The Dallas Screen Club was recently organized to afford an organization for the exchange men and exhibitors where matters of importance to the trade could be thrashed out. The success of the show means that a great deal of important work may now be accomplished by that body.

PATHE BANQUET IN KANSAS CITY TO CELEBRATE BIG BUSINESS

A banquet was given at the Hotel Baltimore, Kansas City, Mo., by employees of the Pathe exchange there, who took this method of celebrating the largest business of any month done since the national profit-sharing plan of Pathe went into effect.

The principal address was made by C. S. Edwards, branch manager, but nearly all present said a few words. Those present were: E. E. Heller, K. A. Agnew, Darline O'Dell, Mary Bowman, Hattie Bolton, Ruth Richards, Emma A. Guenther, C. S. Edwards, Jr., and William Beckenstine. Much enthusiasm was manifested throughout the proceedings.

Chaplin Pictures Are in Constant Demand in Kansas City Territory; Gill Enthusiastic Over Business

THE Chaplin pictures are going great in Kansas City, Mo., according to P. O. Proctor, manager of the General Film Company exchange in that city. The General is handling "Police" and from reports emanating from that office, the film will be a record breaker. The Wonderland theatre of Kansas City, a downtown house, has booked it for seven days, which Mr. Cropper says is the longest run on any Chaplin picture ever made in that city. When the Apollo ran "Carmen," it had it for two nights, and the second evening broke all records for attendance at that house. Considering the fact that the Apollo is in the front rank of K. C. theatres, it must be admitted that Chaplin is getting by fairly well. Both "The Floor Walker" and "Police" were passed by the Kansas state board of censorship without the resemblance of an elimination.

Ted L. Morse, formely of the General Film Company, is now working out of the Kansas City office of the World Film Corporation, having succeeded J. S. Stout, who recently left there for the Salt Lake City branch of the World. Mr. Morse, whose territory will be principally Kansas, is a very popular person among the neighboring exhibitors, and in his new position as traveler will undoubtedly extend his acquaintance.

To hear the managers of the exchanges in Kansas selling serials talk about this class of pictures, one would get the impression that the greatest thing in the world is a serial picture. However, it is a fact that they are going in great style. C. S. Edwards, Jr., local manager of the Pathé, recently discovered that he had booked thirty-eight Kansas City houses for "The Iron Claw," in addition to having bookings on the picture taken every day for the next six weeks. George Bowles, publicity man of the Universal, is just as enthusiastic regarding "Peg o' the Ring," and declares that it will surpass any other serial ever on the market.

H. G. Hill, manager of the Motion Picture Supply Company, is more than enthusiastic regarding the business of his new enterprise. Although Mr. Gill's venture has just been in the field a matter of four weeks, he reports business as exceedingly good. He is now carrying a full line of lighting fixtures and a ventilating system, in addition to the regular line of supplies. He feels sorry he did not start in this line earlier in life.

An announcement made with regret in one sense and with the greatest of pleasure in another is that of the recent appointment of John W. Hicks as assistant branch manager of the Oklahoma City office of the General Film Company. A reorganization, which recently took place, put that office under the direct supervision of P. O. Proctor, Kansas City manager of the General, with the result that both branches are managed by him. A. L. Teagarden, formerly manager of the Oklahoma City branch, resigned and in his place Mr. Hicks was appointed. His position carries the title of assistant branch manager, although he is in complete charge of the office in that section, being responsible to Mr. Proctor alone. No one has yet been appointed to fill Mr. Hicks' place here.

WHITE IS IN CHARGE OF MUTUAL IN OKLAHOMA

M. S. White, former manager of the Mutual office in Fort Smith, Ark., has succeeded H. A. Bandy as manager of that concern in Oklahoma City. White has been going upward for the past three years, since he started in the film business in the United exchange in Dallas.

CARRICK ESTABLISHES EXCHANGE IN CLARKSBURG, WEST VIRGINIA

C. V. Carrick of Philadelphia on his recent southern trip established an exchange in Clarksburg, West Virginia, which will be ready for business on June fifteenth. This will be known as the Universal Film Exchange branch of the Interstate Film Company and will handle all releases of the company, including Bluebirds, Red Feathers and the regular Universal service.

Pathe's "Who's Guilty" is taking unusually well for a series in that territory, where series as a rule are less popular than serials. The exhibitors have booked the releases up to June twenty-seventh to the number of ninety-eight theatres.

The Supreme Feature Film Company, Harry F. Grelle, manager, has booked "The Dumb Girl of Portici," with Pavlowa, to the Forrest theatre, a large legitimate house, for a run of two weeks. The picture is being advertised in all daily papers just like a regular theatre attraction and will be put on with a symphony orchestra. The prices will be twenty-five and fifty cents. The office of the Supreme Company is at 1325 Vine street.

The Monarch Film Company, the Empire Film Company and the Attractive Film Company, now occupying the building at 1223 Vine street, have been given notice to move in two weeks as the building will be torn down. This is part of the property owned by the Quaker City Cab Company, which purposes to erect at once a large seven story film building on the site, which runs from 1215 to 1223, inclusive. The rest of the property is unoccupied by insignificant dwellings. The building is to be seven stories high, of fireproof construction, and will contain all facilities for the proper handling of films. Several other buildings have been planned, but before reaching fruition were for one reason or another allowed to fall through.

SAN FRANCISCO FILM EXCHANGE BOARD OF TRADE MOVES TO HEWES BUILDING

The Film Exchange Board of Trade of San Francisco, with which practically all of the exchanges of the city are now affiliated, has removed its headquarters from the Merchants National Bank Building at New Montgomery and Market streets, opposite the Palace Hotel, to the David Hewes Building at Sixth and Market streets. When this organization was formed a year and a half ago, great care was taken to see that every step made conformed in every respect to the provisions of the law, and offices were taken adjoining those of M. L. Asher, attorney for the Board of Trade.

For a long time his services were in frequent demand, but now that the organization is in smooth running order he is called less frequently in consultation and it was thought best to remove the offices nearer the center of the film exchange industry. Most of the important exchanges are located within four blocks of the new quarters and Manager Fred Peachey is enabled to reach any of these on short notice when occasion arises.

In addition to having more space at its command for general offices in the new quarters, the Film Exchange Board of Trade has also arranged for the use of a large assembly hall and its meetings can be held with more comfort than formerly. The organization has proved its value to the industry through its recent effective fight against censorship in its locality and through its victory in causing the railroads to set aside their proposed restrictions on the carrying of film as hand baggage within the confines of Greater San Francisco. It has also been instrumental in bettering conditions in the film business to a great extent through curtailing credit and effecting collections.

DENVER EXCHANGEMEN INVADE LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles film exchange row has been invaded by former Denver exchange employes, and the new men in this field, Harry Lustig of Metro, W. H. Cree of General, and Field Carmichael of Fox, find almost the reverse to that of their former work. In Denver practically all of the business is taken care of by mail, fully eighty-five per cent of the theatres being located outside of Denver and its suburban towns. There are but five cities in that territory with a population of twenty thousand or more, nine of ten thousand or more, and sixty of one thousand and less.

The Los Angeles territory is almost the opposite, as more than fifty per cent of the theatres of the territory are those in Los Angeles, and about fifteen per cent are located in towns a short distance from Los Angeles, and so close that the managers find it to advantage to personally deliver and carry home their films. In one respect the Los Angeles territory is a good deal like that of Denver—some of the patrons are eight or nine hundred miles from the exchange. The Denver territory includes Colorado, southern Idaho, Utah, western Kansas, New Mexico, Nebraska, and a part of South Dakota. The Los Angeles territory embraces southern California, Arizona and southern Nevada.

STOUT SEES IMPROVEMENT IN BUSINESS ON PACIFIC COAST

X. K. Stout, manager for the Mutual Film Company, San Francisco, states that there are strong indications of an improvement in business, and he thinks that the next three or four weeks will see a change for the better among the exhibitors generally. His firm's plan of going into specialties is meeting with unusual success, and in many features they are running to capacity business, particularly in the Chaplin output.

Sol. L. Lesser, head of the Golden Gate Film Exchange, and All-Star Feature Distributors, recently gave a private exhibition of "Where Are My Children?" to a selected group of prominent people, who pronounced it a superb production.

LAURENCE IS IN CHARGE OF V-L-S-E ADVERTISING IN CHICAGO

Gordon Laurence is now in charge of the publicity department of the Vitagraph-Lubin-Selig-Essanay, Inc. Chicago Exchange, and will assist exhibitors in the preparation of newspaper advertising copy.

MONTREAL UNIVERSAL BALL TEAM WINS ANOTHER VICTORY

Baseball has taken firm root among the film men in Montreal. The unbeaten Universal Stars completed their third game of the season, at Atwater Park, on Saturday, May 27, defeating the Tivoli C. C. Club, by a score of 19 to 9, and from all reports the game was a brilliant affair, which may have been because most of the players were formerly members of big league teams. The C. C. Club has stars of note. Red Kauffman, one time was star of the Rochester Athletic Club; J. Marks is from the Winnipeg Maroons; H. Kauffman is from the Yokahoma Baseball Club; A. Kirsch is from the New York State League: J. Rosenthal, the Lachine Ball Club; A. Sawyer, the Boston Up State League; T. Conway, the Old Canadian League; H. Lubin, the Tri State League, and J. D. Lightstone, the Nelson, B. C., Boundary League.

The Universal players are: E. Groneau, late of Fordham College; T. Byerle, late of the University of Pennsylvania; S. Taube, the Pacific Coast League; S. Darwin, the Ottawa League; G. Nicholas of the Grecian Stars; E. McMahon, from St. John, N. B., ball team; H. Barry, the New York Giants, and J. Orkney is from the City Senior League.

HOWE BUYS INTEREST IN ASSOCIATED, KANSAS CITY

G. B. Howe, formerly assistant manager of the Universal Film and Supply Company, Kansas City, Mo., has resigned and is now manager of the Associated Film Service. He purchased a controlling interest in that company from H. G. Gill, who organized it the first of February. Mr. Gill will devote his time to the Motion Picture Supply Company, which firm he recently organized and which has offices adjoining the Associated Film Service.

Mr. Howe had been with the Universal for three years, working up to the position of assistant manager from that of accountant for the company. He announces that there will be no change in the policy of the Associated Film Service, except that some new Universal pictures will soon be added.

PATHE EXCHANGE IN BANGOR, ME., WITH BERMAN IN CHARGE

Pathé Freres announces the opening of an exchange in Bangor, Me. Alfred Berman, formerly manager of the General Film Company in Boston, New Haven and Albany, will have charge of the office. Exhibitors in Maine find that difficulties in delivery of films by express and other exigencies, and the privilege denied them of looking over films before booking places them at a disadvantage. To obviate this situation the Pathé company is establishing an exchange in Bangor.

BRYSON TAKES DESERVED REST

Manager J. V. Bryson of the California Universal Exchange, Los Angeles, is on a two weeks' vacation which he is spending at Minneapolis, and during his absence the exchange is in charge of Dave Burshon.

STEEN MAKES RECORD OPENING AN EXCHANGE IN WASHINGTON, D. C., FOR UNICORN

What is without a doubt the record time for establishing an exchange is the opening of the Unicorn branch in Washington, D. C., by A. G. Steen, manager of the Philadelphia exchange.

Arriving in the Capitol City at 8 P. M. on May 22, by ten Mr. Steen had his location decided on, and the Philadelphia office on the long distance phone. Tuesday morning saw all necessary matter from the parent office on hand and by 3 o'clock eight hundred circular letters were on their way to nearby exhibitors. Now came a small army of painters, paper hangers, carpenters and electricians. By 4 P. M. Wednesday every workman was ont, the building metamorphosed for its new purpose and five weeks' releases on its shelves ready for customers.

The rapid growth of the Unicorns in the Philadelphia territory necessitated the opening of the Washington branch, which is located at 439 Ninth street, N. W., in the Plaza Theatre Building and occupies three floors.

This week a branch office was opened in Wilkes-Barre by Mr. Steen. The managers of these new exchanges have not yet been appointed.

Unicorns are now being shown in Philadelphia at the "Million Dollar Globe" as the only pictures in connection with the vaudeville program of this theatre. The manager, David Sabloskey, well known in film circles, generally reports a good reception for these pictures, with the some program running one week.

RYDER CONCENTRATES EFFORTS ON "THE LITTLE GIRL NEXT DOOR"

The Universal and Bluebird exchanges have vacated 183 Jefferson avenue, Detroit, and have moved to splendid new quarters at the southeast corner of Cass and Fort streets, where they occupy the first floor and basement of a fireproof brick building. As soon as all the alterations are completed and the fixtures installed, invitations will be sent to every exhibitor in Michigan to attend the formal opening. Manager George Weeks says it will be "an affair worth while."

The Michigan-Metro Film Corporation will temporarily continue at 183 East Jefferson avenue; in the same building is located the Unicorn Film Exchange under the management of W. D. Ward, who, by the way, reports business to be far ahead of expectations.

Robert S. Bendell, manager of the Bluebird exchange, has recovered from his recent illness and is feeling as good as ever. He also reports unusual brisk trade in Ohio and Michigan. His road staff comprises J. L. McCurdy for Michigan and Ira H. Cohn for Ohio.

John E. Ryder is concentrating his efforts on "The Little Girl Next Door" which is running indefinitely at the Grand Circus theatre, 301 Woodward avenue, Detroit. Mr. Ryder just completed some splendid work for the Essanay on the "Mary Page" serial.

Kansas City Universal Exchange Brings Out a House Organ Under Guidance of Bowles, Old-Time Newspaper Man

SUPPLYING both the motion picture exhibitors and the newspapers with news and feature stories through the same medium, is the feat being performed successfully by the publicity department of the Kansas City Universal exchange. Believing the ordinarg house organ of exchanges grows dull to the exhibitors and has no chance whatever of having its stories reprinted by newspapers, George H. Bowles, head of the publicity department, began, upon taking up his duties with the Universal three months ago, a real motion picture newspaper, which is known as The Universal Weekly.

As the name implies, The Universal Weekly is issued once every seven days and goes to 900 exhibitors in Missouri and Kansas and 300 newspapers. As a result, the editor is not only keeping the exhibitors interested in Universal plays and players, but is landing a great deal of newspaper publicity each week as a result of both dailies and weeklies reprinting stories from the columns of The Universal Weekly.

But that is not the only claim of the little picture newspaper. It now has a paid circulation of more than six thousand and a total circulation of 7,500. Shortly after the paper was born, exhibitors began writing to the editor asking if they could not purchase the Weekly in lots to give to their patrons each week to keep them interested in Universal plays and players. A low price was quoted on lots as small as 250 and the orders quickly came in.

Mr. Bowles hit upon The Universal Weekly plan as a result of coming from the newspaper ranks. He recently resigned from the Kansas City Star as assistant city editor to take up the Universal's publicity work. Before leaving the Star he also handled the motion picture columns and there found that most of the publicity stories sent out by the different companies were unfit for newspaper use, at least without rewriting or cutting. Therefore, he decided when joining the Universal forces that there was only one way of reaching both the newspapers as well as the exhibitors, and that was through a motion picture newspaper made up of short crisp feature and news stories. And right from the start, the newspapers were quick to scent a departure from the old-style press agent stuff, and began reprinting stories from the weekly as well as commenting upon the paper editorially.

The Universal Weekly is a three-column sheet of four pages, gotten up in a conservative style, with editorials and a screen criticism column. On the first page the more important news and feature stories are displayed and a regular style, both as to heads and the use of words, is adhered to throughout. There is no exaggerated or false promises made for the advance pictures.

The head publicity department of the Universal in New York liked the paper and its idea so well that copies of it were sent to every Universal exchange with the request that each issue a similar paper. Indianapolis and Oklahoma City already have started house organs fashioned after The Universal Weekly and Detroit, St. Louis and Wichita are considering it for the near future.

One thing the editor of The Universal Weekly always impresses upon the exhibitors is that to get big results they must advertise. Through this advice, he is bringing the newspapers and the exhibitors closer together for the benefit of both.

Mitchell, Manager of Laemmle Exchange in Omaha, Knows the Film Business "from A to Izzard"

JAKE MITCHELL, manager of the Bluebird exchange, Omaha, since it was established, is now manager of the Laemmle Film Service Company, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of F. A. Van Husan, Jr., manager for the last seven years, who resigned to conduct the business of the Western Supply Company, which he recently established here.

J. W. Jackson was appointed Mr. Mitchell's successor to take the place of George A. Rogers, who resigned as assistant manager to go with Van Husan as manager of the Western Supply Company.

Van Husan and Rogers have seen the Laemmle branch in Omaha grow to be one of the most important in the country. Their accomplishments as film men are known to all in the industry in that section of the country. They are still in the motion picture business, handling supplies only, however, and that is a source of gratification to their many friends.

General Manager Morris Fleckels of the Laemmle exchanges will be in Omaha next week to name a new manager for the Bluebird exchange. He will probably promote one of the Omaha men to Jackson's place as auditor.

Mitchell's rise in the film business has been steady but sure. For ten years he was a private correspondent for Carl Laemmle, and was also the head of the Blackstone Film Company of Oklahoma City, Okla. He went to Omaha as publicity man for Van Husan and from that position stepped into the managership of the Bluebird exchange. He has built up a demand for these new films in the Omaha territory until Bluebird pictures may be seen anywhere.

Jackson went with the Laemmle exchange in Omaha as bookkeeper. That was two years ago. Ability won him promotion and placed him in line for the assistant managership.

The success of the Laemmle branch under the management of Van Husan and Rogers is confidently expected to continue under Mitchell and Jackson, with the constant growth due such an establishment in a territory as rich as that supplied by Omaha. No other changes in the exchange are expected.

Film News From Foreign Parts

Australia Views as Novel Stunts Films Made There

Special to Motion Picture News.

May 1.

THE most important recent event in film circles has been the presentation of D. W. Griffith's spectacle "The Birth of a Nation," by J. C. Williamson, Ltd., at the Theatre Royal, at the highest prices yet charged for a motion picture entertainment in Australia, the highest being six shillings and the lowest one shilling (approximately $1.50 and 25 cents). Although the "Nation" is wholly American its apearance in this country at such a time, when war is the chief topic of conversation, will go a long way toward making the picture a success from a financial standpoint. It was impossible to obtain a seat at the opening performance, half an hour before it was timed to start.

The remarkable contrasts of home life and battle scenes portrayed in the picture all have the effect of making the spectator realize the evils of warfare. The deeds of heroism were loudly applauded and the whole audience at the Royal were carried away with enthusiasm. When a foreign people becomes so enthusiastic over the history of America it is not hard to imagine what a reception the "Nation" must have received in its own country. Mae Marsh and Henry Walthall, and particularly the latter, won more applause than the other members of the cast. A splendid orchestra of thirty members rendered appropriate music, the most conspicuous being "In the Gloaming."

The allegorical scenes that were shown in the picture in America have apparently been cut, as they were not in the film shown here. J. C. Williamson has adopted a shadow stage for the screening of this and other pictures, and it helps very much to concentrate the mind more on the subject, as only the screen is visible.

The Sydney Bulletin announces that "owing to winter conditions the Adelaide home of Fox Films has been closed down by the J. C. Williamson Co., Ltd."

Vera Pearce, the talented young artist who has appeared in a number of photoplays, recently carried off first honors in a beauty contest conducted by T. H. Eslick, an American who manages a vast amusement area in Sydney, known as the White City. Miss Pearce won out of a total of 780 entries.

The Colonial theatre has been taken over by Hoyt's, Ltd., who intend making extensive alterations prior to reopening. The Colonial was one of the first theatres to be built in Sydney by that enterprising pioneer, J. D. Williams.

Waddington Adds Theatre to List

Waddington, Ltd., has added another theater to its list, this time the enormous Glaciarium which has been for the last four or five years under the control of West's, Ltd. The Willoughby production of "Joan of Arc of Loos" is the opening feature under the new management.

Alfred Rolfe, who is making a series of industrial pictures for Australasian Films, Ltd., is at present taking scenes at the Lithgow Small Arms factory, N. S. W.

"Peggy," the Triangle play with Billie Burke, proved so popular that it has been extended an extra week's run at the Crystal Palace and the Lyric theatre, three weeks in all.

Australasian Films, Ltd., has produced a multiple reel drama featuring Richard Lang, and will be releasing it shortly.

The sixth Triangle program at the Lyceum, Sydney, consisted of the "Disciple" (Kay Bee); "His Picture in the Papers" (F. A.), and "A Game Old Knight" (Keystone). The audience did not appreciate the slow acting in the Ince picture, but Fairbanks jumped into fame from the outset and bids fair to rival Charlie Chaplin.

Other features being screened include "Should a Mother Tell," "A Gilded Fool," "The Walls of Jericho," "Chimmie Fadden" (Lasky); "Commanding Officer" (London); "Her Great Hour" (Equitable), and "The Flash of an Emerald" (World).

George Darrell, who wrote the story and starred in the Fraser Film production, "The Sunny South," some time ago, is at present appearing in a series of Shakespearian plays with Allan Wilkie at the Adelphie, Sydney.

A fire occurred in His Majesty's theater, Hobart, last week, during a matinee performance and a large number of valuable films were destroyed. The operator was also severely burned about the arms and legs.

John Gavin, who was joint producer of the "Martydom of Nurse Cavell" with Post Mason, is now at work on a farce comedy subject featuring Ernest Vockler, who has gained a considerable amount of notoriety through his theatre lobby Chaplin impersonations.

Rawdon Blandford, producer for the Southern Cross Film Company of New Zealand, is at present in the forest districts of that country making scenes for a multiple reel picture entitled "The Test," a story of the survival of the fittest. The scenario is by William Satchell, author of "The Toll of the Past," and a recent novel, "The Greenstone Door." Nada Conrade has been engaged as leading lady for the production of "The Test."

Edmund Breese is being screened in two photoplays—"The Song of a Wage-Slave" (Metro, at the Australian, and "The Walls of Jericho"), at the Strand.

Variety, a newsy paper conducted by Martin C. Brennan of the Brennan-Fuller vaudeville circuit, has begun a page or so devoted to motion pictures. Walter Sully is in charge of this department. Footlights, another vaudeville paper, also began a "movies column" recently.

Slipping on "Founded on Fact"

"Murphy of Anzac" is a three reeler produced by John Matthews for the Fraser Film Company, and is described as a "thrilling patriotic war drama founded on fact." It is founded on fact, but that is where it ends, for the finished picture is almost farcical. Archie Fraser has been in the business long enough to be able to get hold of a much better scenario than the one produced. John Matthews, the producer, is an American and he has made the Australian soldiers do the American drill, which, of course, is a big mistake. The photography is the one good point of the whole production. The settings are very cheap, and some scenes aboard a troopship are incorrect. The story is inconsistent all through. It runs as follows:

Murphy returns home from work to find his "gal" waiting for him to come to a party she is giving. Arriving there Murphy is the only man not in khaki, and Smith (Martyn Keith) hands him a white feather. Murphy enlists and discovers that Smith is a spy; he pitches the latter overboard. The Anzacs attack the enemy. Smith, who has swum (must have been some swimmer) to the shore has been recognized by the enemy commander. They are driven back and defeated; meanwhile Murphy has been rescuing the wounded with the aid of a donkey. A sniper gets him, and fatally wounded, he saves the life of the General before collapsing. Daniel T. Lalor plays Murphy creditably, while the remainder of the cast, Ethel Bashford, Clive Farnham, and Martyn Keith do the best possible under the circumstances. As a picture entertainment "Murphy of Anzac" is nearly the worst attempt yet made in this country.

I paid a short visit recently to the city of Goulburn, N. S. W., which is about 150 miles south of Sydney. The public are fairly well served with photoplays, three theatres running nightly, the Lyric, Empire and Majestic. Fox and Metro are booked to start shortly at the Majestic, while the Lyric shows Paramount and World. Triangle and Equitable usually form the chief attraction at the Empire. Goulburn is a growing city of 12,000 inhabitants.

JUST TO MAKE TALK

By LONGACRE

Irene Howley, who plays the leading female role in "The Purple Lady," a forthcoming Metro release, has received a peculiarly appearing dog, all crated and everything, at her suite in the Colonial Hotel.

The dog is the gift of an unknown admirer, and the only clue she has is that it came by express from Bayside, L. I. She took the strange critter to the Bide-A-Wee home, and had an expert go over the dog with sounding instruments and X-ray paraphernalia. The expert pronounced the dog one of the finest specimens of a Mosquito hound that he ever laid an eye on. The Mosquito hound, which is indigenous to the shores of Little Neck Bay, is not found in any other quarter of the globe, save in the unrestricted section of Harrison, N. J.

The dog belongs to the pointer breed, and has a sharp beak, something after the fashion of an ant eater. It is ambidextrous, and can run either backwards or forwards. Its hair is covered with a phosphorescent coating, and it works as faithfully and efficiently at night, as in the day time. The Mosquito hound cannot bark, but it hums beautifully. This is the decoy song that attracts the guileless mosquito.

Then, too, when wet, the dog emits an odor that has something of the aromatic tone of citronella. This fragrance invariably attracts countless mosquitoes who foregather on the dog's back, and roll and tumble in his long hair. When the hound finds that he has a full party aboard, he starts to chase his tail, going round and round with great velocity, until the unfortunate mosquitoes become dizzy and fall off his back. Most of them are killed outright, and those that escape instant death are maimed and crippled for life. The only ones that avoid injury altogether are the veteran mosquitoes, who know the Mosquito hound and his traits. They have learned long ago to volplane off his back to safety.

Once a Mosquito hound flushes up a covey of choral mosquitoes, it is difficult to get him to retrieve. Jim Corbett, Cliff Bruce, George Irving, Maurice Costello and other Bayside dog fanciers, always carry a Bayside Bugle (advt.) with them to call back their dog.

Miss Howley has named her pet hound "Amos Keeto." She intends to raffle him off during the height of the mosquito season, and give the proceeds towards building a shelter station at Bayside where the trains stop.

APPENDIX.—This report comes to us anonymously. There are, however, well-founded reasons for believing it originated in the Metro publicity department. Analysis shows this; to wit:

Paragraph 1. "A forthcoming Metro release." This expression is peculiar to the above publicity department, where the inmates have learned to say it in their sleep. That may be why it is said so frequently, "at her suite in the Colonial Hotel." Miss Howley lives at No. 96 Sharrott avenue, Pleasant Plains, Staten Island, New York (ring right hand bell) and not at the Colonial Hotel. This, being a concrete fact, would not likely be known in the aforesaid offices.

Paragraph 4. "Going round and round with great velocity." A popular sport at Broadway and Forty-second street.

Paragraph 5. "Jim Corbett, Cliff Bruce, * * * * always carry a Bayside Bugle—." A true statement, also (it must be admitted) typical of this organization.

Paragraph 6. " * * Bayside, where the trains stop." Also true and also typical.

Chester Beecroft, recovered from his long session in the hospital, has joined the American-Mutual forces.

Were it not for the fact that Miss Eyton is now a distinguished visitor to our pleasant little city, we would never dream of reprinting this verse from the Vicksburg Herald:

Perhaps you do not realize
Just in a day or two;
You have really captured Vicksburg;
We are all in love with you.

Your gentle girlish modesty
Your smile and oh, such eyes!
Your acting of "The Southern Girl,"
Are things that hypnotize.

"There's dear Miss Bessie Eyton!"
One can hear the ladies say;
While they gaze in admiration
At your poses in the play.

Do linger here for just as long
As you can make your stay;
For there will be some aching hearts
When you have gone away!

Not only is the world of books and magazines the poorer, but the screen has lost a fast-developing asset in the death of Harris Merton Lyon, in New York, June 2. Mr. Lyon, who, at the age of thirty-three had won himself a secure place in the literary world, had recently announced his plan to turn his attention toward pictures.

ONE of the best news sources this side of the Mississippi River* is responsible for these facts concerning the elevators in the Leavitt Building: It is customary for one of the film concerns on an upper floor to set the clocks ahead ten minutes in the forenoon, and ten minutes back in the afternoon, thereby adding twenty minutes to the working day; on a lower floor the same custom is in vogue, except that the clocks are twenty minutes ahead or behind, and still lower down the variation is forty-five minutes. Consequently, if one leaves his office on the top floor to go to lunch at twelve o'clock, he will get to the street about ten, or two hours previous, establishing something of a world's record for express elevators. Getting back is the rub, however. If he leaves the street level at ten o'clock, it will be nearly one before he reaches his office.

* Telephone Bayside 2696.

Time out while we extend hearty congratulations to Herman L. Gantvoort and Miss Gretchen Morris, who were married in New York, Tuesday, June 6. Mr. Gantvoort is well known in picture circles;

The Bayside Bugle

Vol. I. No. 5. Bayside, L. I., June 12, 1916 Ten cts. a copy

EDITORIAL

Another thing which we should have, is an early express train to the city; we mean one running about seven o'clock or thereabouts; so many of our citizens now being engaged in studios at Fort Lee or Yonkers or other places far removed, and it being necessary for them to be on hand in time to get made up, the regular trains run too late to be of service. It is a long way from Bayside to Fort Lee, and a hard trip at the best, which it seldom is. President Peters would do well to look into this, we suggest.

Local News

—Cliff Bruce's auto was in quite a smash up Sunday night about 12 m, Cliff not being in the car himself, which was a lucky thing, we maintain. Another car, with the initials "L. L." on the side, and belonging, we hear, to a young actress living at the Savoy Hotel in N. Y. dashed out of a side street and hit Cliff's car a good wallop. Nobody was hurt much, but Cliff's car looks like an explosion in a wire factory. Cliff hopes to get a new car out of the mix-up, especially if the man with "L. L." is the one his chauffeur says.

—The BUGLE does not make threats, but if Bill McCormick, of N. Y. doesn't quit annoying our subscribers we will have to print what we have heard about him.

—Geo. Irving was at the theatre, Tues. eve., to see Olga Petrova in a new play.

—Too much rain this week has been bad for the motorists, but the L. I. railroad has benefitted.

—Bob McIntyre and wife are now in Bayside for the summer, they occupying the same house with Pearl White.

Current Lubin Comedy and Drama: Scenes from "Otto the Reporter," "Two Smiths and a Haff" and "The Scapegrace" he contributed largely to the success of MOTION PICTURE NEWS Studio directory. Miss Morris is a native of Cincinnati, and is rapidly making a reputation in New York as a singer.

William Fox, through his press department, now admits adding the word "photoplay" to the English language. The coinage of the word came about through its use in an electric sign in front of the New York theatre, seven years ago, and the expression was quickly picked up by the press. We recall the sign perfectly, and are inclined to endorse Mr. Fox's philological record. Contestants will please file their claims at once.

Hector Turnbull, who returned to the coast after a short visit to New York, four weeks ago, is back in town. He has moved his waste basket into the Lasky offices in Fifth avenue, and will have charge of the scenario department in the East for an indefinite period.

MILO BEGINS WORK IN BALTIMORE

Baltimore, June 10.

The Milo Film Corporation, recently organized in Baltimore, has begun work on pictures. A picture taken at the Oriole Park ball grounds several days ago was shown during the early part of the week of June 5 at the New theatre, and attracted much attention.

The Milo Film Corporation is now at work on a comedy and a drama which will be released shortly. It is understood that the concern will sell its productions to one of the leading New York picture concerns.

"U" JUVENILES DIRECTED BY A WOMAN FOR "KIDDIE SUBJECT"

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Los Angeles, June 10.

Lule Warrenton, who has been a member of the Universal stock company for more than three years, playing feature character parts, has been placed in charge of a juvenile company, which is taking up its first picture, a one-reeler, entitled "The Calling of Lindy."

Only children will appear in the subjects, made under the direction of Mrs. Warrenton, and a number of stories have already been prepared by the directoress. Mrs. Warrenton has been on the stage all her life, and is in every way qualified for this work.

Kathlyn Williams and Charles F. Eyton Married on Coast

Romance Between the Star of Hundreds of Selig Reel Life Romances and Manager of the Morosco-Pallas Studio Began Over the Footlights Ten Years Ago

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Los Angeles, June 10.

A ROMANCE which began over the footlights in Salt Lake City ten years ago between Kathlyn Williams, star of hundreds of Selig reel life romances, and Charles F. Eyton, manager of the Morosco-Pallas studio, Los Angeles, led to their marriage, Friday evening, June 2, at Riverside, California. The couple are now on a honeymoon trip of one month through the east, and later will make their home in Los Angeles. Accompanied by friends, they drove to Riverside, where the marriage ceremony was performed by Reverend I. D. Van Arnan of the First Methodist Episcopal Church. In the bridal party were Juan de la Cruz, Mr. and Mrs. Robert von Saxman, Mr. and Mrs. Al. W. Filson, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. LeSaint.

The romance had its inception when Miss Williams was a member of the Willard Mack stock company in the Utah city. Mr. Eyton went there to see a play for Oliver Morosco, and was greatly attracted by the actress' ability and beauty. A strong friendship grew between the two and they became engaged. After the wedding day was set, a lovers' quarrel caused them to drift apart. More than a year ago they met in this city, renewed their friendship, and the trip to Riverside resulted.

Miss Williams is one of the best known and beloved stars of filmdom, and has no doubt played in more successful subjects than any other present day photoplay actress. From her earliest success, "The Adventures of Kathlyn," which by the way was the first photoplay serial, she has been a favorite in this country as well as in all foreign lands where American films are shown.

Charles Eyton has been affiliated with theatrical and motion picture enterprises for the past fifteen years, in association with Oliver Morosco. Since the inception of the Oliver Morosco Company, he has been general manager of the organization, and manager of the Pallas-Morosco studio.

J. C. JESSEN.

James Kirkwood Signs with American to Direct Miss Minter

Company Will Put on a Series of Features with Her as the Star—Director Is a Picture Maker of Seven Years' Standing

JAMES KIRKWOOD, well-known photoplay director, has signed a long term contract with the American Film Company, and has left for the American studios at Santa Barbara, where he will begin the direction of a series of features starring Mary Miles Minter. The contract negotiations were conducted by President Freuler of Mutual.

After a successful stage career, Mr. Kirkwood began directing pictures seven years ago at the old Biograph studios, when David Wark Griffith was director-general there. He put out a number of picture versions of Klaw & Erlanger productions, among them "Classmates," in which Blanche Sweet and Henry Walthall were starred.

Mr. Kirkwood directed ten pictures for Famous Players, featuring Mary Pickford, and played important roles in these offerings, among them "The Eagle's Mate," "Behind the Scenes," "The Dawn of a To-Morrow" and "Rags." He also directed "The Gangsters of New York," a successful picture made at the Reliance studios and released by Mutual. As a Reliance director Mr. Kirkwood made two one-reel pictures a week for a year.

Mr. Kirkwood is forty years of age. He is a member of the Lambs, the Players and the Screen Club.

OCTAVIA HANDWORTH WILL BE STAR OF ARROW FEATURE

Because of her effective work in an important role in Pathe's "Who's Guilty?" series, Octavia Handworth will be starred in a feature drama to be produced by Arrow when the present series is finished.

Miss Handworth, a well-known figure on the stage and the screen, was engaged by President Shallenberger of the Arrow Company on her recent return from Europe, where she appeared for several years in pictures and on the stage.

It's got them all beat—

This latest and greatest Universal Serial—15 weeks—30 reels has got them all beaten—yes, not alone beaten but entirely outclassed in power of crowd getting—in thrills—in punches—in story—in swiftness of action... that's why hundreds and thousands of Exhibitors have pronounced "Peg O' The Ring" a

HUGE BOX OFFICE ATTRACTION

that is getting the money in gobs for thousands of Theatres. Huge in conception, unique in plot, different in atmosphere, new and clever in the manner it is staged and fascinating more and more as the episodes come and go "Peg O' The Ring" stands out alone as the BEST serial on the market today.

"PEG O' THE RING"

—has the "pep" in it, has the action, the sets, and gives the public of this country exactly what they want in distinctly new and clever serial entertainment. The very fact that it gives the public what it wants is why it is winning out BIG everywhere. Headed by the two greatest Serial Stars—

GRACE CUNARD

AND

FRANCIS FORD

GREATEST FILM SHOW ON EARTH

and including a huge cast of talent, acts, incidents and real circus events, "Peg O' The Ring" tops them all. Book it now for the big money in it. Book it for the added prestige, popularity and profits it will bring to you. Communicate with your nearest Universal Exchange for more facts and figures and be sure to ask for a copy of the smashing big Ad campaign book that tells you how to put this great serial on in a manner that will keep your house packed for 15 straight weeks. Write today. Tomorrow may see it in the hands of your competitor.

15 WEEKS

30 REELS

UNIVERSAL SPECIAL FEATURE

Universal Film Manufacturing Co.

CARL LAEMMLE, President

"The Largest Film Manufacturing Concern in the Universe"

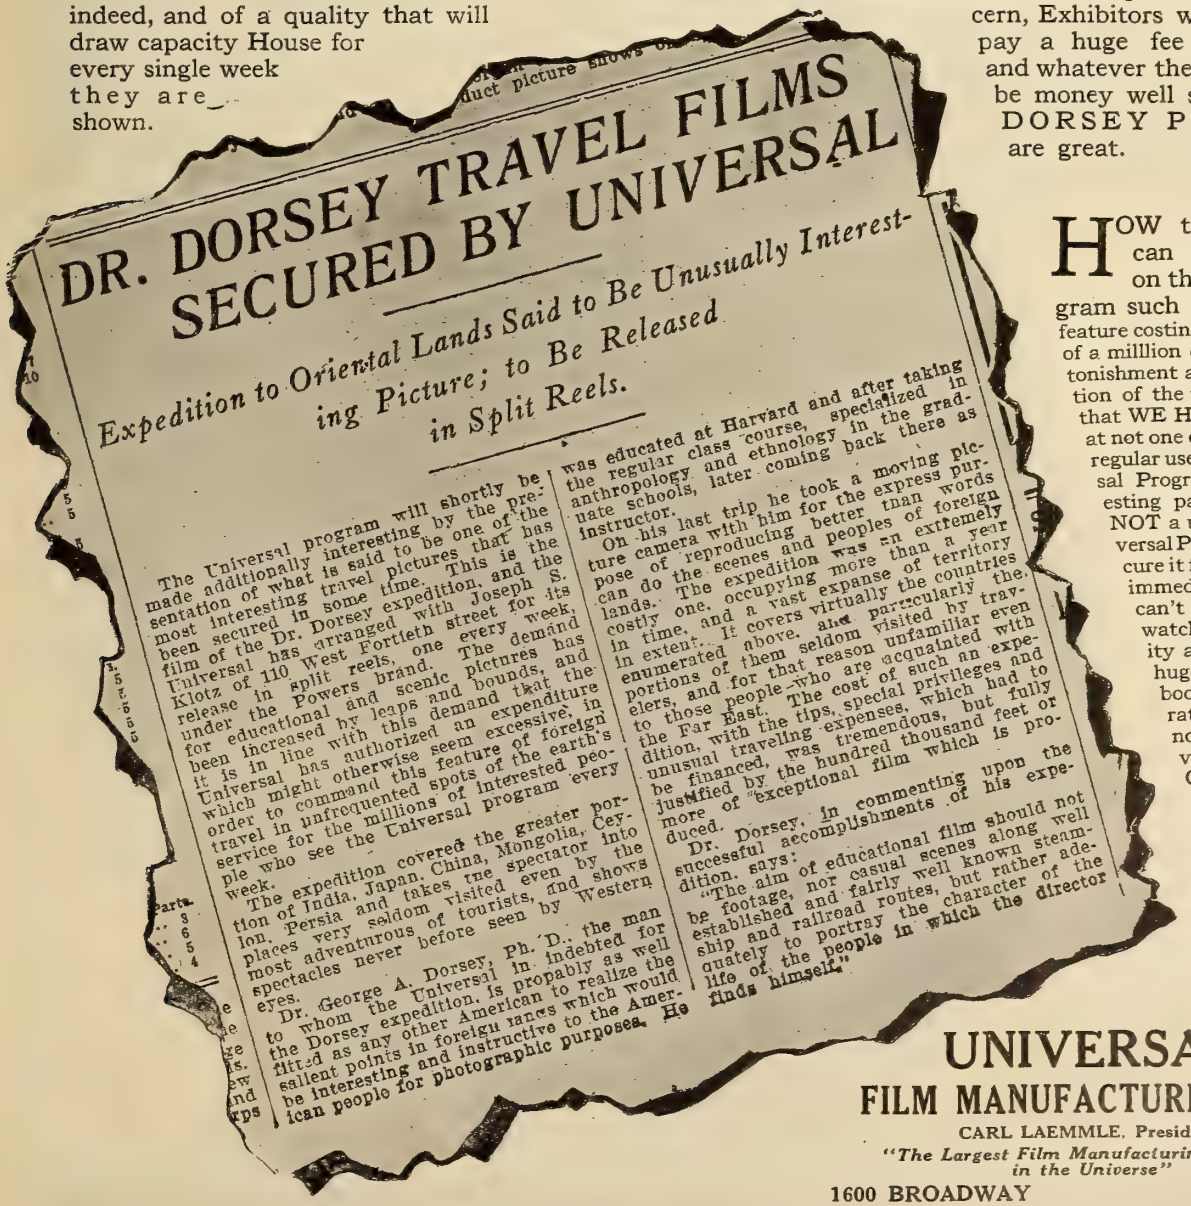
1600 Broadway
New York

The World Renowned DORSEY EXPEDITION PICTURES ON THE REGULAR UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

An Unparalled Achievement for Universal Exhibitors

THE achievement of putting the costly and famous DORSEY EXPEDITION TRAVEL on the regular Universal Program, establishes a precedent that has never been equaled in the entire history of Program Pictures. Here's a series of Travel pictures that are as distinctly different from the ordinary so-called Travel pictures as day is from night. The famous DORSEY EXPEDITION TRAVEL PICTURES are wonderful indeed, and of a quality that will draw capacity House for every single week they are shown.

ONLY the Mighty Universal with its vast financial resources, able to handle ANY moving picture proposition, would think of such a wonderful move as to put a tremendous quarter of a million dollar feature ON THE REGULAR UNIVERSAL PROGRAM without one single solitary cent extra to regular Universal Program Exhibitors. Were this colossal Feature in the hands of some special feature concern, Exhibitors would have to pay a huge fee to secure it and whatever they paid, would be money well spent, for the DORSEY PICTURES are great.



DR. DORSEY TRAVEL FILMS SECURED BY UNIVERSAL

Expedition to Oriental Lands Said to Be Unusually Interesting Picture; to Be Released in Split Reels.

The Universal program will shortly be made additionally interesting by the presentation of what is said to be one of the most interesting travel pictures that has been secured in some time. This is the film of the Dr. Dorsey expedition, and the Universal has arranged with Joseph S. Klotz of 110 West Fortieth street for its release in split reels, one every week, under the Powers brand. The demand for educational and scenic pictures has been increased by leaps and bounds, and it is in line with this demand that the Universal has authorized an expenditure which might otherwise seem excessive, in order to command this feature of foreign travel in unfrequented spots of the earth's service for the millions of interested people who see the Universal program every week.

The expedition covered the greater portion of India, Japan, China, Mongolia, Ceylon, Persia and takes the spectator into places very seldom visited even by the most adventurous of tourists, and shows spectacles never before seen by Western eyes.

Dr. George A. Dorsey, Ph. D., the man to whom the Universal is indebted for the Dorsey expedition, is propably as well fitted as any other American to realize the salient points in foreign scenes which would be interesting and instructive to the American people for photographic purposes. He was educated at Harvard and after taking the regular class course, specialized in anthropology and ethnology in the graduate schools, later coming back there as instructor.

On his last trip he took a moving picture camera with him for the express purpose of reproducing better than words can do the scenes and peoples of foreign lands. The expedition was an extremely costly one, occupying more than a year in time, and a vast expanse of territory in extent. It covers virtually the countries enumerated above, and particularly the portions of them seldom visited by travelers, and for that reason unfamiliar even to those people who are acquainted with the Far East. The cost of such an expedition, with the tips, special privileges and unusual traveling expenses, which had to be financed, was tremendous, but fully justified by the hundred thousand feet or more of exceptional film which is produced.

Dr. Dorsey, in commenting upon the successful accomplishments of his expedition, says:

"The aim of educational film should not be footage, nor casual scenes along well established and fairly well known steamship and railroad routes, but rather adequately to portray the character of the life of the people in which the director finds himself."

HOW the Universal can afford to put on the regular program such a tremendous feature costing over a quarter of a milllion dollars is the astonishment and the speculation of the trade. The fact that WE HAVE DONE IT at not one cent extra cost to regular users of the Universal Program is the interesting part. If you are NOT a user of the Universal Program, try to secure it for your territory immediately. If you can't secure it now, watch your opportunity and get it. This huge feature can be booked at attractive rates to Exhibitors not using the Universal Program. Get more facts from any U exchange today.

UNIVERSAL
FILM MANUFACTURING CO.
CARL LAEMMLE, President
"The Largest Film Manufacturing Concern in the Universe"
1600 BROADWAY NEW YORK

WATCH AND WAIT!

FOR THE WORLD'S GREATEST COMEDIAN

CARTER DE HAVEN

IN THE WORLD'S GREATEST COMEDIES

Something new, startlingly original and clean. Minus the vulgar slap-stick, the cheap and suggestive — just clean. A series that will delight fans and pack the Exhibitors' houses.

Carter De Haven, the King of modern comedy brings to this remarkable series a freshness, and exuberance that is captivating and fascinating. Everything from cast to direction will be unusual and attractive.

The series, names and details soon to be announced, will be directed by Wallace Beery, who is staking a well earned reputation on achieving something different from anything in the comedy line from anything ever attempted. Your nearest Universal Exchange can give you more facts. Investigate now.

UNIVERSAL

Film Manufacturing Co.

Carl Laemmle, President

"The Largest Film Manufacturing Concern in the Universe"

1600 BROADWAY - NEW YORK

New Laws and Court Decisions

This department is designed to keep the industry informed of all news concerning new or projected laws, Federal, State, County or Municipal, that may affect the business, and all events involving any branch of the trade with the authorities in all sections of the country

Exhibitors' Fight to Gain Sunday Opening Right in Wichita, Kansas, is Under Way; Restraining Papers Filed Against Authorities

THE exhibitors of Wichita, Kans., who recently announced their intention of fighting an ordinance for prohibiting picture theatres from opening on Sunday, have launched into their campaign with legal talent and much opposition. On May 29 eight exhibitors filed papers in the district court, seeking to restrain the city commissioners and the chief of police from enforcing the ordinance against Sunday pictures. The petition alleges that the ordinance is void because the commissioners have no legal authority to adopt it; that it is in violation of the Kansas constitution and infringes on the rights of citizens as outlined by the constitution of the United States. Numerous other reasons are urged for the repeal of the ordinance. The suit is brought by Joe C. Fox, L. G. Hicks, Don Powell, A. R. Ford, J. M. Benson, C. C. McCollister, E. L. Martling and the Southwestern Amusement Company as joint petitioners.

Fifty Wichita churches, through their ministers, have begun the opposition and have retained O. A. Keach, a prominent lawyer of the city. His staff will be three men from the Public Morals Committee of the Ministerial Alliance, as follows: Guy L. Brown, for four years supervising theatre censor for the city commission and church federation of Trenton, N. J., and leader of the "Clean Theatre Movement" in New Jersey; Rev. W. W. Bolt, and Rev. J. C. Beitel.

E. C. Mills, of the Mutual Film Corporation, of Kansas City, will probably handle the case for the Wichita exhibitors, although this has not yet been definitely decided.

A public demonstration for Sunday pictures was held at the Palace theatre there on Sunday evening, June 4, at which the crowd was larger than the capacity of the house. Rev. L. M. Birkhead, pastor of the Unitarian Church, presided. He spoke briefly in favor of clean, uplifting pictures on Sunday as well as on week days. He was followed by other well-known citizens of the town. The principal address at the demonstration was made by Mr. Mills, who made an impressive speech.

He declared that the theatres did not want Sunday shows unless the majority of the citizens did, a condition which he believed existed. The Wichita Ministerial Association had been invited to send a speaker to talk against Sunday shows, but declined on the ground that the subject is a question of law which the courts must decide, and that debating it will have no effect one way or other on the dicision of the court.

When the application for the injunction was called up for hearing, on June 3, it was postponed until June 17, owing to the absence from the city of City Attorney James Conly.

CANADA MAY HAVE FEDERAL CENSORSHIP

Chairman Horne, of the Manitoba provincial picture censor bureau, assumed his duties on the morning of June 1, and Frank Kerr, who held the same position with the Winnipeg censor bureau since its organization in 1910, dropped out of office automatically, the city bureau having ended its existance on May 31.

In this connection it is interesting to note that Winnipeg was the first city in Canada to establish a censor bureau for moving pictures. Mr. Kerr has stated that he believes that ultimately a federal bureau will be established for the whole of Canada.

Bluebird Plans National Campaign to Push Trade-mark Value

Merits of the Plays Will Be Emphasized by Sure-Fire Methods, Says General Manager Hoffman—Consistent and Continuous Advertising Is His Idea

BLUEBIRD Photoplays, Inc., has decided to make a radical change from the usual method of photoplay exploitation, and will soon begin a national campaign to build up the trade-mark, emphasize the merits of the play, and establish public confidence in its productions. Stars will not be advertised, but the entire company will be equally mentioned whenever individual players are referred to, hereafter, in Bluebird publicity.

General Manager M. H. Hoffman, in making the announcement, points to the Sphakesperian truism that "The play's the thing," and states that Bluebird admits it. "The promoters of theatrical attractions have found the play and not the player to be the most important part of their enterprizes. After spending thousands of dollars to make a star, the investment has time and again been lost for the reason that, regardless of the merits of the star, a play suitable to the individual artist could not be discovered."

"Bluebird is prepared to go forward on this radical basis, and we are confident of success. In the first place we know the nature and merits of the plays we will present for several months to come, and, fortified with this knowledge, we intend to convince the public that the Bluebird trademark stands for the best in photoplaying, production and photography regardless of the transient notoriety of any individual artists employed in the casts."

"We have decided upon a national campaign to embody newspapers and billposting, to exploit the Bluebird productions as a whole. In this way the exhibitors of Bluebirds will have audiences inclined to patronize theatres where Bluebirds are shown. This will not be a sporadic 'flash,' but a consistent and continuous advertising campaign that will proceed for many months in papers of tremendous circulation."

"We are prepared to combat the arguments of the numerous element always ready to decry an innovation. There will be exhibitors who will declare that photoplays cannot be established along lines that are followed to create the value of a commercial trade-mark. There will be others who will insist upon "stars" and "big names" to plaster in front of their theatres. But we fully expect to convince these exhibitors of the folly of their honest convictions in due course of time."

"It must be remembered that patrons of photoplays are becoming more discriminating every day. Too often have they been trapped into buying tickets because a 'big name' was attached to an inferior photoplay. The public has too long indulged itself in the beguilement of 'big names.' There is sure to be a reaction, and Bluebird is preparing for the harvest that will evacuate when the public understands that Bluebirds may always be depended upon for consistently superior entertainment."

EDNA MAYO PREPARES FOR WORK IN "RETURN OF EVE"

Edna Mayo is preparing to begin work on the Essanay production of "The Return of Eve." Representatives of the company are now in the Georgian Bay country seeking an island setting for the scenes which require such a location. The interior scenes will be completed before the players go to the lake country for exteriors.

Illustrating "The Inner Struggle," An American-Mutual Masterpicture, with Winnifred Greenwood and Franklyn Ritchie

AMERICAN-MUTUAL FILM DELICACIES

(Continued from page 3893)

Knight of Old" are two other two reel subjects now under way at the American-Mutual studios. In the first Edward Coxen, Dizette Thorne and George Field have the chief parts. The piece was put into scenario form by Anthony N. Coldeway from a story by Nellie Brown Duff.

"Like a Knight of Old," from the story of the same name by B. M. Bower, offers Art Acord and Nita Davis as the leads. It is being filmed by William Bertram and deals with a misfit motion picture outfit which tries to "shoot" scenes in the cow-country and becomes involved in a stage hold-up.

LOCKWOOD AND MAY ALLISON AT THOUSAND ISLANDS FOR "ONE CYLINDER SAM" SCENES

Despite the backward summer and the continued cold water and belated bathing season, a Metro-Yorke company of players now working at the Thousand Islands have been obliged to turn polar bears, swim in the icy water and absorb the spray from racing motor boats. The company is headed by Harold Lockwood and May Allison, and includes Lester Cuneo, Bert Busby, Lee Walker, Philip Masi, Dan Hanlon, Lillian Halpern and Mrs. Mathilde Brundage. Henry Otto, the new Lockwood-Allison director, is in charge of the crew.

The players are at work on the five-part feature, "One Cylinder Sam," which was adopted by Director Otto from the novel, "Sam," written by E. J. Rath. Much of the action of this story is laid around the Thousand Islands and Director Otto anticipates obtaining some novel effects. While there he will photograph many picturesque localities that have never been seen upon the screen. "One Cylinder Sam" is a comedy-drama, with plenty of thrills and a mystery story.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., IN "SEE AMERICA FIRST"

The Gaumont Company will show views of Birmingham, Ala., in its scenic, "See America First," of June 21. The largest steel mills in the South are located there.

Eighteen Stars of the Universal Forces Will Appear in Pictures for the Week of June 19

KING BAGGOT, Mary Fuller, Herbert Rawlinson, Ben Wilson, Violet Mersereau, William Garwood, Thomas Jefferson, Paul Panzer, Edith Roberts, Eddie Lyons, Lee Moran, Billie Rhodes, Edna Hunter, Gale Henry, William Franey, Hobart Henley, Francis Ford and Grace Cunard, stars of "The Adventures of Peg O' the Ring," all appear on the Universal program for the week of June 19.

One by one the East Coast players are leaving for Los Angeles. Even King Baggot may go. Baggot has the position of honor on the program for the week of June 19, appearing in the five-reel Red Feather drama, "The Man from Nowhere," in which he is supported by Helen Martin. On the same day Neal Burns, Betty Compson and Ethel Lynn disport in the Nestor comedy, "Wanted, a Husband."

On Tuesday, June 20, Herbert Rawlinson and Agnes Vernon share honors in "The False Part," a two-reel Gold Seal light drama, which is followed on the same day by the Imp comedy, "His Picture," in which William Garwood and Violet Mersereau play the principal roles. Thomas Jefferson and Zoe Bech, his little co-star, share the screen in the Big U drama, "The Grip of Crime," on the same day.

Mary Fuller in the two-reel Victor detective drama, "The Scarlet Mark," is the star of the program for June 21. Miss Fuller is supported by Joseph Girard. On the same day, Animated Weekly, No. 25, and the L-KO howler, "The Jail Birds' Last Flight," with Billie Armstrong, Carmen Meyers and Gene Rogers, will be released.

"Behind the Secret Panel," a three-reel drama in which Paul Panzer, William Welsh and Sonia Marsel take the principal roles, will be released on June 22 as the feature of the day. It will be followed by the Power's comedy, "The Young Sleuths."

Harry Benham and little Edith Roberts make a delightful pair of sweethearts in the Imp comedy drama, "The Heart Wrecker," which will be released on June 23. On the same day Lois Weber and Phillips Smalley reissue "The Rosary," which, although four years old, is considered to be one of their masterpieces. Just so the day won't be too serious, Eddie Lyons, Lee Moran and Billie Rhodes cavort about in the Nestor two-reel comedy, "What Could the Poor Girl Do?"

The supernatural and life after death enter in a large measure into the Bison two-reel animal drama, "The Ghost of the Jungle," which is said to be one of the eeriest productions in which Rex De Rosselli and Yona Landowsky have appeared for the Universal. On the same day William Franey and Gale Henry cut up some didoes in the Joker comedy, "The Fall of Deacon Stillwaters."

On June 25, Ben Wilson appears in the two-reel Rex domestic drama "The Fool," in which he is supported by Edna Hunter. On the same day Hobart Henley shares honors with Sydell Dowling in the Laemmle drama, "The Rogue with a Heart." On the same day Gertie Selby and Reggie Morris do their worst in the L-KO comedy, "Dirty Work in a Beanery."

During the week of June 19 the eighth episode of "The Adventures of Peg o' the Ring" will be released, with Francis Ford and Grace Cunard furnishing the thrills.

"PRINCE CHAP" PLAYERS GO TO NEW YORK

Active work on the Selig feature production "The Prince Chap," began when on Thursday, June 8, Director Marshal Neilan escorted Bessie Eyton, Cecil Holland, Leo Pierson and other Selig players to New York City. Special scenes for "The Prince Chap" will be filmed in Gotham. It will be the first time that Bessie Eyton ever visited the metropolis of America. After a week's work in New York City, the players will return to Chicago, where work of producing the picture play will be continued. Mr. Neilan will not only direct the production of "The Prince Chap," but he expects to play the lead.

KANSAS CITY SCREEN CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Special to Motion Picture News.

Kansas City, Mo., June 10.

The Kansas City Screen Club, which has been a matter of conjecture for a number of weeks, is at last organized. At the Hotel Baltimore, on June 9, nearly one hundred representatives of the exchanges, supply houses, and moving picture theatres, and members of the press, were present at a dinner held late in the evening. In addition to the forming of the Screen Club, the banquet was also of importance as a farewell to R. O. Proctor, formerly Kansas City manager of the General Film Company, who recently left to take charge of the Metro office in Chicago.

A jeweled gold fob was presented to Mr. Proctor by a representative of the Amusement Association of Kansas City, who, in a short talk, thanked Mr. Proctor on behalf of the association for the great work he has done in furthering its activities. Although this organization of the Screen Club is merely temporary, the fact that the exhibitors and exchange men got together is one of great importance. To E. R. Pearson, E. C. Mills and Joseph Gilday must go great credit for bringing about this affair. These three gentlemen have devoted much time to preliminary plans, and this formation is a result of their activity. The club has not yet undertaken any definite movement, but as soon as it is fully under way will take up matters of interest to the industry.

IVAN COMPANY WILL ISSUE TWO PICTURES A MONTH

Having released one feature production each month for the last half year the Ivan Film Productions have decided, at the continued requests of the exhibitors and exchanges, to increase their production to two each month.

In line with this policy, they have obtained the services of Wray Physioc, who was one of the pioneer feature directors with the old Ramo Company and later served two years with the Biograph.

Mr. Physioc will immediately put in production a special feature written by two well known photodramatists, the title of which is "Human Clay." This story will employ an all star cast in line with the Ivan company's new policy of all star cast productions.

Sets are being erected in the Ivan studio and immediately upon finishing his exteriors, Mr. Physioc and his company will occupy the second stage of the plant.

"Human Clay" will be the first of the two-a-month Ivans and will be ready about the middle of July, when it will be released through the Ivan exchanges as the second picture bearing the Ivan brand for that month.

NORMA TALMADGE MADE MAID OF HONOR BY JERSEY CITY

Norma Talmadge, the Fine Art-Triangle star, was officially designated Maid of Honor for the "Made in Jersey City Week" celebration held under the auspices of the Jersey City Chamber of Commerce. The honor was paid her as the most prominent Jersey City girl now in pictures.

Costello and Ethel Grandin Featured by Consolidated

Former Vitagraph Star and Actress Also Well Known to Picture Public Will Be Seen in "The Crimson Stain Mystery," in 16 Two-Reel Chapters

Eugene Strong Ethel Grandin Maurice Costello

PRELIMINARY plans for the production of "The Crimson Stain Mystery," a new serial, in which Maurice Costello and Ethel Grandin are to appear, have been completed by the Consolidated Film Corporation, and work will begin at the New York studios of the company immediately.

The serial, which is to consist of sixteen two-reel chapters, will be released through Metro exchanges, beginning August 21. The scenario for the serial is complete, and the story is being novelized for use in a list of daily papers, by Albert Payson Terhune.

This will be the first appearance of Maurice Costello on the screen since he severed his connection with Vitagraph, last winter. He will be starred in the new serial, and his salary is said to be around $1,500 a week. Mr. Costello is known as the first great popular favorite "made" by the motion picture screen. When the industry was in its first stages Mr. Costello began to build up a great personal following, and thousands of persons all over the country have long been demanding his return to motion pictures.

Ethel Grandin is also well-known for her work in Universal and other features. Supplementing these two will be Eugene Strong, playing a juvenile part. He is popular with thousands of "movie fans." The direction of the picture will be in the hands of T. Hayes Hunter, who has produced scores of successful photodramas.

The Consolidated corporation has made special arrangements with Metro, whereby the "Crimson Stain Mystery" will be distributed on a special booking plan. The corporation is composed of a group of men long prominent in the picture field, as manufacturers and as experts in the distribution of films. O. E. Goebel, formerly president of the St. Louis Motion Picture Corporation, which released its product through Universal, is president of the Consolidated corporation. August Froebel, another officer of the concern, will have executive charge of the distribution and exchanges.

Vogue Studio Stages Are Fitted with New Diffusing System

Lighting Is Planned by Manager Crone, Who Also Engages Three Players for Horsley Organization, Gipsy Abbot, Elsie Gleason and Nell Farrin

Special to Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, June 10.

THE Vogue studio stages have been fitted with an entirely new diffusing system along plans made by Manager Crone. This new type makes possible the use of more or less light as desired, and may be quickly changed. Manager Crone has engaged Gipsy Abbot as lead for the Jack Dillon company, and Elsie Gleason as the lead for the Rube Miller organization. Another new member is Nell Farrin, who will play heavy and vampire parts. All three of these new members of the Vogue Stock company are well known in photoplay circles. Gipsy Abbot has played with a number of coast companies, most recently with the Balboa and Horsley organizations; Elsie Gleason was for a long time with Selig, and later played with Universal and Keystone. Miss Farrin has been identified with the Lubin, Fox and Kalem organizations.

The first Vogue two reel comedy will be finished within a day or two by Director Jack Dillon. The story is very intricate, having many complications and unusual turns. The plot hinges about the shipment of a large sum of money at a time when there is a strike by the railway employees. Ben Turpin and Paddy Maguire are secured as strike breakers to act as brakeman and conductor on the limited train to transport the money. Melodramatic scenes take place in which a train is dashed off the end of a pier at Long Beach. Later when the money is recovered and placed on a freighter found to contain ammunition for the allies, the ship is dynamited. Land and sea transportation facilities falling, an aeroplane is then put to use. Jack Gaines appears as the heavy in the comedy, and it serves also as the debut vehicle for Gipsy Abbot.

Director Rube Miller is doing the part of a waiter in a cafe comedy which will in all probability be named "Chicken Soup." Arthur Traveras is the chef, and Madge Kirby, Alice Neice and E. V. Shaw are other principals. With the completion of this, Traveras will leave the Vogue organization to become assistant director to Donald Crisp of the Clune Film Company.

J. C. Jessen.

Emmett Corrigan Gerda Holmes Holbrook Blinn

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION SCENES IN SELIG-TRIBUNE

Jack Wheeler, editor-in-chief of the Selig-Tribune, accomplished some enterprising work when he directed his force of cameramen Saturday, June 3, in the filming of unusual scenes of the Preparedness Parade, in Chicago, Ill. A special Selig Preparedness film was manufactured and was exhibited in many Chicago theatres Saturday evening and Sunday. The Selig-Tribune spared no time nor expense in filming scenes coincident with the Republican National Convention in Chicago the week of June 3.

Among the special cameramen assigned to the convention by Editor Wheeler, were: L. J. Simons of Washington, D. C.; Fred M. Delaven and John J. Pasztor. These expert staff cameramen were personally directed by Mr. Wheeler. A special edition of the Selig-Tribune carrying convention scenes was released.

Series of Pictures with All-Star Casts Is World Plan

Among the Subjects to Appear in Next Three Months Is "Husband and Wife," Last Season's Broadway Success—Cast Includes Holbrook Blinn and Emmett Corrigan

WITHIN the forthcoming three months, William A. Brady will offer on the new World Film program, a series of all-star cast pictures.

The first of these productions is that of last season's Broadway success, "Husband and Wife," which under the direction of Barry O'Neill, was completed in two weeks of actual work.

The cast of "Husband and Wife" includes Ethel Clayton, Holbrook Blinn, Emmett Corrigan, Gerda Holmes, Montagu Love and Dion Titheridge. "There was no useless rehearsing," says Mr. Brady. "The players were given parts just as though they were to study the lines for a stage production. Mr. O'Neill then outlined the business of the story, conveyed to the players his ideas on the construction and continuity of the play and the finished picture shows the result."

And now Mr. Brady is going to produce a number of similarly cast plays. Within the next week, Edwin August, Muriel Ostriche and Mollie King will begin work on a visualization of the famous old sentimental song, "Sally in Our Alley," which is now being done into story form by a prominent author, and Gail Kane and House Peters will complete work on "The Velvet Paw," which is the first all-star picture made by Maurice Tourneur and which contains, besides Miss Kane and Mr. Peters, a complete cast of World Film players.

Holbrook Blinn, and a cast of players, begin work within the next few days on Alfred Henry Lewis' story, "The Man Higher Up," in which June Elvidge, Gerda Holmes and other more than popular players will occupy the principal roles, while Edna Wallace Hopper, Frank Sheridan, Macey Harlan and Alec B. Frances will be seen this month in "The Perils of Divorce."

Carlyle Blackwell, Muriel Ostriche and other well known players are at work in "Molly o' Pigtail Alley," which is the first co-starring vehicle for these two prominent artists.

"There will be no resorting to the sensational in these productions," said Mr. Brady. "We completed 'Husband and Wife' in two weeks and did not have to send an automobile off a cliff, capsize a boat, stage a train wreck or rescue any fair maiden from a villain, and it was because the six stars in the picture more than acted their roles, they anticipated the director's wishes and went through their scenes with remarkable faithfulness and celerity, and despite the fact that the cast cost more than six thousand dollars a week, the picture cost less than some which have had a considerably minor cast, in the point of salaries."

Virginia Hammond, Former Lead for Irving, Joins "V"

Actress Will Be Seen in Feature Especially Written for Her by Cecilie B. Pettersen and Production Will Be Directed by Thomas Mills

VIRGINIA HAMMOND, former leading lady for Sir Henry Irving, E. H. Sothern and other notable players, is the latest legitimate star to join the Vitagraph forces. She will be seen first in a feature written especially for her by Cecilie B. Pettersen, and the production will be under the direction of Thomas Mills.

Although this will be her first appearance in a Vitagraph photoplay, Miss Hammond is not a novice as a picture player. She has appeared in a number of features for another producing company.

Mr. Mills had just been advanced to a directorial position from the ranks of the Vitagraph stock company, where, for two years, he has played a wide range of parts. Previously, he was engaged as a legitimate actor with several stars.

E. H. Sothern has practically completed work on his first production for Vitagraph, with Peggy Hyland as his leading lady. Mr. Sothern's director is Fred Thomson. Work is also going forward on the first Alice Joyce Vitagraph subject, "The Battle Cry of War," a sequel to "The Battle Cry of Peace," being produced by William P. S. Earle.

Barney Bernard is enacting his first Vitagraph role under the direction of Paul Scardon. This is a character similar to Potash, which Mr. Bernard made famous on the speaking stage in "Potash and Perlmutter."

A BIRD BRINGS PRIMATES TO SELIG ZOO

The stork has been working overtime at the Selig Zoo, Los Angeles, the past few days, with the result that the nursery now contains three brand new baby leopards and two lion cubs.

ANTOINETTE WALKER, SIGNED FOR "LITTLE MUSKETEER," WAS "GOOD LITTLE SOLDIER" IN BROADWAY PLAYS

Not missing a season on Broadway since her earliest stage experience, is the record of Antoinette Walker, obtained to make her picture debut in support of Henry B. Walthall in his forthcoming Essanay feature, "The Little Musketeer."

Miss Walker is known to theatregoers everywhere, especially because of her performance with David Warfield in "The Music Master," during the run of that play for several seasons.

She is a cousin of Walker Whiteside and her first stage experience was obtained under his supervision. She played boy parts in various Shakespearian productions and as soon as she became old enough to undertake leading roles was engaged by David Belasco.

Antoinette Walker

Productions other than "The Music Master" in which she appeared of late, have been "The Yellow Jacket," "Mr. Wu," "Nearly Married," "The Love Trust," and "The Lily."

PEGGY HYLAND, LEAD FOR SOTHERN, IS ACTRESS WITH BRITISH REPUTATION

Peggy Hyland, a petite and dainty actress who won fame on the legitimate stage and in feature pictures in England, is one of the latest players to be signed by the Vitagraph Company. Miss Hyland, who has appeared successfully in London with Cyril Maude and in a number of the late George Edwardes' musical comedy productions, besides starring in such cinema features as "The Love of an Actress," "John Halifax, Gentleman," "Infelice" and "Caste," has been assigned to E. H. Sothern's company as his leading lady. She is now at work in a romantic drama by Paul West, in which Mr. Sothern appears as a business man whose creed is "get what you want, no matter how, but get it."

"Eternal Question" Scene Filmed in Hotel McAlpin

One of the Scenes Taken in the Hotel McAlpin, New York, for Metro's "The Eternal Question," with Mme. Petrova

WHILE workmen were employed building an elaborate set in the Popular Plays and Players studio for a throne room to be used in "The Eternal Question," in which Mme. Petrova is starred on the Metro program, someone suggested that just such a room could be found at the Hotel McAlpin. "Bobby" North, general manager at the studio, at once got into communication with L. H. Boomer, managing director of the McAlpin, and arrangements were completed within the next hour for the Metro players to use the famous Green room.

It is one of the most decorative private banquet rooms in the country, with high domed ceiling and three hanging chandeliers with a profusion of sparkling pendants. A number of valuable canvases hang on the walls, including some of the best works of Sir Godfrey Enellor, Sir Peter Lely, J. Van der Bank, Thomas Hudson and Wissing. Several of these works of art date back to 1670. For the best part of a week the Metro players, with their many studio lights, cameras and other paraphernalia, were in the Green room, and some excellent photography was obtained. The scenes staged were in the throne room of a mythical European principality, and they form an important and interesting part in the production of "The Eternal Question," which will be presented to Metro patrons shortly.

Gaumont Will Cast Miss McCoy in Three-Reelers for Mutual

Scenario Editor George Proctor Is Instructed by General Manager Bradford to Seek Proper Vehicles for Actress Whose Work in "Isle of Love" Made Hit

THE success scored by Gertrude McCoy in the Gaumont feature, "The Isle of Love," has influenced General Manager F. G. Bradford to give exhibitors of shorter photoplays an opportunity to feature Miss McCoy in their houses. Hence, Miss McCoy will be seen in a number of three-reel Mutual Pictures. Four manuscripts have already been prepared for her. The first picture will be Robert Burns's story of New York life, "Gates of Divorce." It will be released July 20.

There was an insistent demand from Mutual branch managers for Miss McCoy in Mutual pictures after "The Isle of Love" had been seen. Scenario Editor George D. Proctor was immediately directed to seek photodramas for Miss McCoy. Some of the reports from branches upon "The Isle of Love" follow:

Seattle.—"A positive knockout. Give us more like it. We can book them solid."

Atlanta.—"Exhibitors in our territory are always on the alert for this class of film."

Baltimore.—"Bids fair to be our strongest drawing card to date. Story strong. Star exceptionally popular."

Minneapolis.—"More pictures of this nature will always get over."

Philadelphia.—"This feature with Gertrude McCoy has made more money than any other recent picture."

Work has already begun far in advance so that the McCoy pictures can be released every other week beginning July 20. Edwin Middleton will direct them. He directed "The Isle of Love."

Robert Burns has gone over his story, "Gates of Divorce," to fit it to her personality. John B. Clymer will provide a photoplay, to be released August 3. It is called "The Wonderful Desire." Rennold Wolf is the author of the picture starring Miss McCoy August 17. Its name has not been definitely selected. The fourth play for her is as yet unnamed. It will be released August 31. This will carry Miss McCoy well through the summer in pictures. A company has been assembled from the Gaumont players to support her in these photoplays.

VALENTINE GRANT MAKES UNIQUE CONTRIBUTION TO ALLIES' BAZAAR

Valentine Grant, the Famous Players star, made a unique contribution to the Allied Bazaar at the Grand Cenral Palace, New York, when she dressed a large doll in an Irish colleen's costume, an exact replica of the costume she brought from Ireland and wore in "The Innocent Lie," and presented it to the women in charge of the Alsatian booth.

Frank Shaw Is Made Head of "V" News Service Department

Beginning with the Company in a Small Position, He Makes Rapid Rise in Four Years—He Will Look After Advertising and Press Matter

FRANK SHAW, head of the News Service Department of the reorganized Vitagraph, has risen rapidly to his present position since he entered the employ of the company four years ago.

His first job with Vitagraph consisted of looking after the stock room, which was operated as a branch of the publicity department of which Sam Spedon was chief. During spare moments, Shaw learned typewriting, with the result that he was appointed assistant to the press agent of the Vitagraph theatre. He found time also to organize the Vitagraph baseball team, which won the motion picture championship, and the Vitagraph Five, the recognized 150-pound basketball champions of Greater New York.

His second promotion came as recognized assistant to Mr. Spedon, publicity manager, and John W. Grey, then advertising manager of Vitagraph. He was called upon to employ the knowledge he gained in that capacity when he was put recently in charge of the News Service Department, under the supervision of Harold Bolster, assistant to Commodore J. Stuart Blackton. As head of this department, Shaw is responsible for posters, lobby display, photographs of players, cuts, advertising and all press material turned out by Vitagraph's staff of writers.

Mr. Shaw, who is not yet twenty-one years of age, will assume the duties of a benedict June 28, when he will lead one of Brooklyn's fair daughters to the altar.

Frank Shaw

Hearst International News Pictorial Issued June 12th

Two Releases a Week Is Plan of Company, Under Management of MacManus, Who Declares That the Publishing Magnate Will Introduce Revolutionary Ideas in the Pictorial

THERE is a brand new current event release in filmdom. This news reel is booked for two releases a week by the International Film Service, Inc., and is known as the Hearst International News Pictorial.

The International has cameramen in all parts of the world to contribute to this news reel. With the Allies at Salonica and representing International, is Aerial Varges. Mr. Varges will record the more interesting events on the battle front for the new Hearst Pictorial.

Nelson G. Edwards is another film faithful who will take a chance on getting shot a few times a day for the benefit of the camera. He is now at Constantinople with the Turks and Germans.

Tracy Matheson is with the United States punitive forces in Mexico, and right now he is the only cameraman with General Pershing.

E. B. Hatrick, who has personal charge of the Hearst International News Pictorial, and who is an authority on news subjects, has arranged for the automatic shipment of the film from all parts of the world.

No small measure of credit for the success of the new reel is due J. K. Burger, manager of branch exchanges for the International. By means of the telegraph which is used extensively by the I. F. S., on account of affiliations and wire service with the various Hearst publications, Mr. Burger arranged for the distribution of the news reel to the many exchanges throughout the world.

In an interview with E. A. MacManus, general manager of the I. F. S., it as stated that Mr. Hearst will infuse some revolutionary ideas into the new pictorial. The first release date is June 12.

Robert Ellis Will Direct Ivy Close in Comedies for Kalem

His Work in the "Sis Hopkins" Subjects Brought Him Into Notice as Comedy Director—McKey, in "David Harum" Three Seasons, Picked for Cast

AN indication of Kalem's plans for the Ivy Close comedies is found in the announcement that Robert Ellis, one of the most valued producers on the Kalem staff, would handle the reins with the new company.

Ellis has placed to his credit as a producer in the last two years a number of Kalem's most successful multiple reel productions, including a number of the Broadway Favorites productions presenting prominent stage players. His work on the "Sis Hopkins" comedies has brought him into notice as a comedy producer.

Another announcement concerning the Ivy Close comedies is that Henry Murdock, the popular acrobatic comedian who has scored in the "Sis Hopkins" comedies, will be drafted for the company supporting the English beauty.

William McKey, prominent as a stage comedian, and in feature screen productions, has also been secured as a member of the company. McKey, who will be remembered as a Kalem comedy favorite a few years ago, played the title role in "David Harum," for three seasons, and in the Charles Frohman production of "Eben Holden." He also became known in every section of the country as the Sheriff in "Pud'n Head Wilson," a role he played for five seasons.

J. A. Berst Distributes Bonuses to Seventy-two Pathe Employees

Vice-President and General Manager of the Company Plays "Santa Claus in June" and Rewards Hustlers at Exchange Branches, in Accordance with His Profit-Sharing Plan

PLAYING Santa Claus in June is the unusual role which has fallen to J. A. Berst, vice president and general manager of Pathe Exchange, Inc. Mr. Berst celebrated the first day of the month of roses by signing seventy-two bonus checks drawn to the order of seventy-two hustlers in the Pathe Branch offices who earned this money over and above their salaries. These checks are the first to be sent out under Mr. Berst's new profit sharing plan which has been responsible not only for greatly increased business for Pathe, but also greatly increased earnings for many of the sales force.

Members of the staffs of thirty offices will receive these checks, which range from amounts representing "vacation money" to large sums.

C. R. Seelye, the Pathe business manager, who is now making an inspection tour among the various Pathe offices, reports that Mr. Berst's bonus system has everyone digging early and late and that if there are any sluggards in the Pathe force he has so far failed to see them.

ALICE HOLLISTER PLAYED VAMPIRE ROLES AS EARLY AS 1912

Alice Hollister, who is starred in Kalem's coming five-reeler, "The Lotus Woman," released June 27 through General, was an early interpreter of vampire roles on the screen.

The Kalem star began her work in roles bordering on that type when she appeared as Mary Magdalene in the Kalem spectacle, "From the Manger to the Cross." That was back in 1912. Miss Hollister also appeared in "The Vampire," a Kalem two-reeler, and "The Destroyer."

Of French descent, Miss Hollister was born in Worcester, Mass.

Bluebird Photoplays
Announce
Mary MacLaren
in an extraordinary cinema production
"Shoes"
By Stella Wynne Herron - from Jane Addam's "An Ancient Evil"
Produced by that master genius
Lois Weber.

SUGGESTED by Jane Addams; story by Stella Wynne Herron; adapted for the screen, and produced by that genius of the film world

LOIS WEBER

"Shoes"—the work of these three notable women—is the nearest approach to screen perfection ever presented.

It is an intensely human story of a working girl who "sold herself for a pair of shoes."

It is greater than drama. It is a chapter from life. It is a photoplay masterpiece. Maintaining the BLUEBIRD standard—"Shoes" is a perfect photoplay.

Book through your local BLUEBIRD Exchange or Executive Offices

BLUEBIRD PHOTOPLAYS (Inc.)

1600 Broadway New York

Glimpses of Billie Burke in "Hidden Fires," Chapter 6 of George Kleine's "Gloria's Romance"

KLEINE MAKES PROMOTIONS IN GENERAL FILM BRANCHES

In line with President George Kleine's policy of rewarding efficient employes, the General Film Company announces the following promotions:

Charles Stombaugh becomes branch manager at Des Moines, succeeding C. W. Jeffries.

J. W. Hicks, until recently assistant branch manager at the Kansas City office, has been transferred and promoted to branch manager of the Oklahoma City office, succeeding A. L. Teagarden.

George T. Aimes, widely known in the motion picture industry, has been placed in charge as manager of the Philadelphia office, succeeding H. H. Buxbaum, who was recently transferred to New York to occupy a similar position there.

Another change announced by the General Film Company is designating C. C. Ezell as branch manager at Atlanta, Ga., succeeding J. L. Marentette.

Greater Number of Eastern "U" Players Now in the West

Members of Remaining Companies on Atlantic Coast Hurry to Finish Pictures in Work—Julius Stern, One of the Organizers of Universal, Shortly to Depart for West Also

WITH the departure last Sunday of William Garwood, Edith Roberts, Howard Crampton and Irene Hunt from New York City to Universal City, the greater number of the eastern companies formerly at work in the Fort Lee studio are now established in the western film city, where the Universal forces will be centralized in the future.

Among the recent arrivals at Universal city during the past few days are Joe Gerard, William Welsh, Matt Moore, Jane Gail and Baby Alexander. It is expected that those still in the East will have their pictures finished very shortly now and will be on their way west by the end of this week.

Julius Stern, who has been manager of the eastern Universal studios for a number of years, will leave for the West within a week. He is taking with him the best wishes and good will of the many players who have worked for him during his sojourn here. At present he is straightening out his affairs in the East preparatory to leaving for the West, where he will engage in the producing end of the business with Abe Stern, his brother.

Mr. Stern was one of the organizers of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company. In his stay as studio manager in the East he has supervised the production of over one thousand negatives. He has also been responsible for many stars in the motion picture field today, and gave many of the present Universal players their start in pictures. Included among them are Violet Mersereau, King Baggot, Hobart Henley, William Shay, Edith Roberts, Sydell Dowling and others. Such well-known directors as Herbert Brenon, George Loane Tucker, Francis Grandin, Stuart Paton, Edward Le Saint, Rex Ingram, Frank Crane, Bob Daley and Ray Smallwood started in the business under Mr. Stern in the old Imp studio on Eleventh avenue, New York.

Probably his two greatest pictures are "Neptune's Daughter" and "Traffic in Souls," made by Herbert Brenon and George Loane Tucker, respectively.

"I regret that I am leaving the Universal," Mr. Stern said to the NEWS representative. "But there comes a time in every young man's life when he wants to spread out and go into business for himself. I have that desire now, and it is this ambition which is causing me to leave this great organization.

"It is my intention to start a producing company on the coast, where I will make my own pictures, which may be released on the Universal program. We have engaged Francis Ford and Grace Cunard, who will probably make a serial for us after they have finished 'Peg o' the Ring' for the Universal. And we are now negotiating with other well-known stars.

"At present I am getting everything in shape preparatory to my leaving. All the companies are making strenuous efforts to have their pictures finished by the latter part of next week, so that they will be able to leave for Universal City. I will probably be ready to start then, too."

"Past Performances" Mean Permanency for 2 World Players

Francis, Recently in Numerous Broadway Successes, Is at Work with Miss Young in "Story of Susan," and Hines, Eccentric Comedian, Will Be Seen in "Miss Petticoats"

TWO film players, well known from their work in past productions, are now permanently with the World Film Corporation.

Alec B. Francis, recently in various Broadway successes, such as "The Solicitor," "The Girl From Kays," "The Barrister," and "Our Flat," made his World Film debut in "The Wishing Ring," in which Vivian Martin appeared. Since then, he has portrayed many roles and in such film productions as "Vanity Fair," "After Dark," "The Imposter," "Alias Jimmy Valentine," "Man of the Hour," "The Ballet Girl," and "Human Driftwood." He is now at work in support of Miss Young in "The Story of Susan" and will be seen in a highly important role in "The Perils of Divorce," in which Edna Wallace Hopper and Frank Sheridan appear.

Mr. Francis is from the spoken stage. He was educated at Uppingham College and Mount Memory College, Ireland, and for years sought the education that comes from experience by roaming the British Empire from Land's End to Simpra. Mr. Francis will now devote his entire time to World productions and has an ambitious routine planned for him by that concern.

Johnny Hines, one of the leaders of the young school of eccentric light comedians, has also become a permanent World player and is now at work in support of Alice Brady in her forthcoming production, "Miss Petticoats." During his several years as a screen player, Hines has appeared in fifteen features and strangely coincident he made his first appearance on the screen in Alice Brady's company as a sailor in "As Ye Sow" and is now playing precisely the same sort of part in "Miss Petticoats."

Johnny Hines was graduated from the stage, where he has appeared with William Gillette, George M. Cohan, under the management of William A. Brady, and Oscar Hammerstein, and was featured by World Film in "The Cub." His work in this subject earned him a long time contract with that company.

Hines will be seen at regular intervals in support of the stellar World Film players, being seen next early in August.

In addition to Francis and Hines, Frank Beamish and J. Clarence Harvey are allied now under the Brady-Made banner, both of whom have received detailed mention in these columns.

Big Bookings Feature Week in Philadelphia Offices

"Dumb Girl of Portici" Scores Big Success at Forrest Theatre—Managers of Various Exchanges Report Heavy Business on Recent Pictures

EARLE W. SWEIGERT, manager of the International Film Service Exchange, Philadelphia, took a few days off last week and married Marjorie E. Hall of Philadelphia. In spite of all stories about the absorption of managership, our old friend Dan Cupid, manages to get in his innings.

The young couple after a few days' trip will reside at 5619 Thomas avenue, West Philadelphia. The honeymoon will be completed in July, when Mr. Sweigert expects to attend the League Convention in Chicago. The office force gave the Newlyweds a big send off and a handsome pedestal lamp to light their matrimonial path. During the absence of the groom, the International exchange affairs were managed by G. W. Trimble.

Harry F. Grelle, manager of the Supreme Feature Film Service, formerly of Pittsburgh, reports a big success of the "Dumb Girl of Portici," at the Forrest theatre. At the opening performance every seat in the large building was taken. Representative people of the city and suburbs not usually seen at picture houses filled the auditorium.

The big eight reeler was put on with many special features, amongst them artistic stage settings framed in soft draperies of blue and black. The music was especially notable, comprising a symphony orchestra of twenty under the leadership of Professor Carl Bernthaler of Pittsburgh, a well-known musician and director.

Most of the music was taken from Auber's opera of "Masaniello," from which the scenario of the "Dumb Girl" was written. Pavlowa acted in the opera before transferring her art to the screen. This picture is scheduled for two weeks at the Forrest. It is also having a run of several weeks at the Pitt theatre, Pittsburgh. Until the big runs are over the feature will not be shown in any of the Pennsylvania picture houses.

In New Jersey, the other state controlled by the Supreme on this release, Mr. Grelle already has thirty-five to forty bookings. About forty-five in Pennsylvania are on the waiting list for the attraction.

On "Where Are My Children," there are already fifty-five bookings in large New Jersey cities. In Pennsylvania the feature is not yet on the market.

One June 19th the "Ne'er-Do-Well" will start a run at the Forrest. Manager Leon Netter has a lot of big surprises up his sleeve for the launching of the Rex Beach story.

The Masterpiece has just added "Life Without Soul" to its releases. On this the rights have been acquired to southern New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia and Virginia by Mr. Netter.

J. M. Squires, an exhibitor of Union Hill, N. J., paid a visit to Philadelphia for the express purpose of booking "The Spoilers."

Harvey Day, manager of the World exchange is taking trips to Scranton, Harrisburg, Lancaster and eastern Pennsylvania generally, to keep in touch with World exhibitors.

"La Boheme" is scheduled for a first run of a whole week at the Palace Theatre, Philadelphia, a large and first-class downtown house.

The Famous Players Exchange finds business keeping up to the mark in spite of the advanced season. Many new exhibitors all through the state are signing Paramount contracts.

The leaders of several of the best orchestras, especially the Stanley and the Palace, say that the music scores now issued with the Paramount pictures are a great help in properly interpreting the pictures which they accompany.

Manager Harry Scott says that the Kleine series of "Gloria's Romance" has had the voluntary praise of every exhibitor so far booking it. The first neighborhood house to show the film was the Tioga, at Seventeenth and Venango streets. After the performance was over, C. Stamper, manager, called up to announce that he had done the biggest business in the history of the theatre since his management, although the picture had only been taken on trial and had been shown on the poorest night of the week.

G. T. Ames, the new manager of the General Film Company, is busy getting acquainted with the Philadelphia exhibitors. "After I make all the theatre men my friends," said Mr. Ames, "I will feel that the first step to successful managership has been accomplished." No changes will be made at present in the office force. Mr. Ames was with General several years ago, but more recently was with the New York Bluebird exchange, from which place he came to the Quaker City.

George Bennethum, secretary of the Interstate Film Company, drove up to Harvey's Lake last week to open his amusement park at that popular Pennsylvania resort. The trip was made in the big touring Mercer, and the show was opened with a flourish. Besides the usual summer amusements, Mr. Bennethum makes an airdome a special feature of the park.

Samuel Lifko, head roadman for the National Poster exchange at 1231 Vine street, reports a good demand for the poster end of the business through his territory. Recent successful trips to Baltimore and Washington, out of the state, and to Scranton and Wilkes-Barre within, have inspired optimism in Mr. Lifko's soul.

Helen Gibson in a Scene from "The Hazards of Helen," Kalem

JUANITA HANSEN IN DARING STUNT FOR "SUBMARINE"

Juanita Hansen, who has the role of Cleo Burke in "The Secret of the Submarine," is said to have performed a hazardous stunt for the tenth chapter of the serial. While Thomas Chatterton was struggling in quicksands at the foot of a cliff, Miss Hansen lowered herself by a grape vine in order to rescue him.

Miss Hansen sustained a few bruises, but the most disagreeable part of the adventure was due to poison oak growing on the brink of the cliff. This made itself evident the next day much to Miss Hansen's discomfiture.

RALPH HERZ, METRO, TAKES BRIDE

Ralph Herz, the Metro star, who will make his debut in motion pictures on the Metro program in "The Purple Lady," just completed, has been quietly married to Frances M. Logan, a young society favorite in Washington, D. C, and the daughter of the late Major William Richard Logan. The wedding, which grew out of a romance that had its beginning last winter, was solemnized in the presence of a few friends at the Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C. Mr. Herz and his bride are spending their honeymoon in Atlantic City and New York City.

FAIRBANKS AND DWAN SOON AT WORK IN THE EAST

Douglas Fairbanks, the Triangle star, Allan Dwan, who has directed most of the recent Triangle pictures in which Mr. Fairbanks has appeared, and several members of the star's supporting company, will arrive shortly in New York from the Pacific Coast and will start work immediately on a new picture at the Triangle's eastern studio in Riverdale.

Mr. Fairbanks will be seen shortly in a screen version of Bret Harte's, "In the Carquinez Woods," the last picture to be completed before leaving for the East.

FLORENCE TURNER THE STAR IN "FAR FROM THE MADDING CROWD"

"Far from the Madding Crowd," a picturization of Thomas Hardy's novel, and first of a series of six Mutual star productions featuring Florence Turner, is the chief feature offering of the Mutual for the week of June 19.

This was filmed under the direction of Larry Trimble, and includes in its cast Henry Edwards, Campbell Gullan, and Malcolm Cherry, all members of the Royal theatre, London. Marion Grey and Dorothy Rowan are also in the cast.

Women's Clubs Go on Record Against Censorship

Federation Adopts a Resolution for the Appointment of a Committee to Co-operate with the Film Producers to Secure a Higher Moral Standard of General Productions and a Larger Supply of Proper and Appropriate Pictures for Children

IN the official report of the survey made of the film field by the General Federation of Women's Clubs during its recent biennial convention in New York city, censorship is twice mentioned and in neither instance is it apparently looked upon by the clubwomen with much favor.

"Lest there be a misapprehension as to the significance of the word censoship," says the report, "as considered by the Federation, let it be clearly stated that this word is used constructively, in an editorial sense, and not destructively—meaning selection rather than exclusion."

Further along the report says: "State censorship does not protect sufficiently according to reports of delegates from states where legal censorship now operates."

The Federation adapted a resolution for the appointment of a committee to co-operate with the film producers to secure a higher moral standard of general productions and a larger supply of proper and appropriate films for children.

This committee consists of Mrs. Charles W. Cartwright, chairman, Minneapolis, Minn.; Helen Varick Boswell, New York City; Mrs. George Zimmerman, Freeport, O.; Mrs. Dexter Thurber, Bristol, R. I., and Louise Connolly, Newark, N. J.

Purpose of Committee Is Public Service

The purpose of the committee is one of public service and helpful co-operation "with every sound agency — commercial, philanthropic, or educational—working personally or through organizations along lines of betterment."

During the convention almost daily consultations were held under the direction of committees, civic and education and a subcommittee of the Drama with discussions carried on by representatives from many states. A most comprehensive survey of the motion picture situation from a national standpoint has resulted. The following statement covering the findings was presented to the convention at its final session:

"A symposium of opinions has been gathered not from theory, but from the actual experiences of workers engaged in studying and working out constructive methods.

"These finds developed that too much emphasis has been placed upon the evil side of motion pictures and demonstrated the necessity for a positive, constructive policy to minimize the harm and emphasize the good.

"The consensus of opinion was that the motion picture must be recognized for the present as a commercial amusement rather than an educational or philanthropic medium. That a national demand for better conditions is evident.

"That this demand is based upon the peculiar danger to the adolescent of a large percentage of the films now being displayed upon the screen.

"That believing in the strength of concerted action and co-operation as opposed to antagonism, there is a great opportunity for a better understanding between the club women of the country and the motion picture producers as to the immediate needs of the boys and girls.

"That a workable plan of procedure now in operation in many communities involves a special program for boys and girls; that this plan is being extended to include the family program.

"That this plan now operates through local groups working with their local exhibitors and exchanges involving the individual support of every club woman in the community.

"The the development of the plan on a national scope necessitates a central committee to work directly with the producers."

Points Brought Out at Conference

The conference brought out some interesting facts, such as: If programs do not have plenty of action children will continue to patronize the perils and mystery series. The success of a children's program in such places as Providence, R. I., is due to the fact that it was not started as a philanthropic uplift for the poor children, but introduced in the best house in the city.

People in small towns are "shocked" differently from people in cities. For this reason the same pictures cannot be selected for all communities. You cannot superimpose your ideal on the masses. Films must be correlated with study courses in schools before the motion picture can be effective as a visual aid in instruction. The film visualizes the relationships and sequences of life with startling vividness so rapidly that the child mind is apt to have mental indigestion. Here is where the wise parent can help so much.

There are many people with art feeling in every community. If you can make producers believe that there are people with that feeling who will patronize artistic productions, you will get them, and the adolescents will take care of themselves.

Goff, V-L-S-E, Suggests Plan to Find Out What Public Wants

Let Exhibitors Distribute Slips of Paper Outlining Available Releases, Giving Names of Stars and Other Information, for Patrons to Drop in Voting Box

A. W. GOFF, assistant general manager of the Vitagraph-Lubin-Selig-Essanay Inc., is back in New York, following a tour of four middle-western cities in which the Big Four has branch offices. These included Chicago, Cleveland, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Mr. Goff's tour was made in line with the policy of the V-L-S-E in continually striving to cement a closer relationship in the Big Four family, the more effectively to bring about intensive co-operation and standardization. Various discussions along this line were had with members of the sales forces.

As was the case last summer with the V-L-S-E, Mr. Goff found the quietus given all along the line to the stereotype assertion that warm weather reduces the volume of film business. Increased business, and lots of it was the report in each of the V-L-S-E branches visited.

Interviewed in Cleveland by the dramatic editor of the Plain Dealer, Mr. Goff declared that public opinion is the link that must ultimately connect the patron with the producer.

"Let the public dictate the sort of photoplays the producing companies present," said Mr. Goff. "That is the aim of the Big Four, through its open booking policy.

"Our idea is that each day, an exhibitor should flash on his screen the titles and plot outlines of releases that will be available for him the following week. The slide requests his patrons to indicate their choice by applause or in some other well-defined manner.

"Another plan that strikes me as being practicable, is for the exhibitor to distribute among his patrons, slips of paper outlining available releases, giving names of stars and such information as the patron should have, and upon which they may indicate their choice. The blanks could be deposited in a vote box at the exit and by the verdict of his patrons the exhibitor could be guided.

"There is no question as to who should choose the films. The parons are the ones who pay to see them and the patrons should have the final say as to what they see. This important question should not be left to the personal whims of the exhibitor.

"Ultimately, the will of the public will make itself felt upon the producer. He will be forced to stage the sort of plays the majority demands. It would be a form of censorship at which no one could take exception."

CROPPER PROVES A "CUPID HELPER" AND THINKS IT IS ABOUT TIME TO OPEN A MARRIAGE BUREAU

R. C. Cropper, Kansas City, Mo., manager of the Universal office, is considering the establishment of a marriage bureau. Without any effort on his part three of his employees were recently married, and the question now debated in the Universal office is: What results would be obtained if Mr. Cropper would get into the game and help Cupid? In a period extending over but three weeks, three employees became life partners. G. B. Howe, assistant manager, and Leona McMillan, assistant booker, both of Cropper's office, recently took the long step, while Corinne Armstrong, the genial telephone operator, also joined the ranks.

NOW THEY CAN "FURBISH UP" QUICKLY AT "V"

A "Beauty Emporium" for the convenience of actors and actresses will soon be opened at the Flatbush studios of the Vitagraph Company. It is the result of a suggestion made by Evart Overton to Studio Manager A. Victor Smith, and will be the only one of its kind connected with any motion picture plant.

A building located within the inclosure directly opposite the big studio is being converted into this new department, and when completed, will contain a ladies' hairdressing and manicure parlor, barber shop, bootblacking stand, tailoring establishment and first aid department, for the exclusive use of members of the Vitagraph Company.

When Overton returned from a "road trip" (which in motion pictures means a few weeks in the country on "locations"), he found that he had forgotten to leave orders to have his dress suit pressed, that he needed a haircut and shave. The nearest barber shop is situated about a half-mile from the studio in one direction and a tailoring establishment the same distance in the opposite—then it was "wait your turn," which meant considerable time had been wasted before he had attended to his requirements. The thought then struck Mr. Overton: "Why not have our town tailor and barber?" He made known the idea to Mr. Smith, who thought so well of the plan that he enlarged on the suggestion and included conveniences for the ladies. The first aid department has been in operation for the past ten months, but it will be transferred to quarters in the "Beauty Emporium."

EDWARDS GIVES FOURTH ESTATE MEMBERS CHANCE TO SHINE

C. S. Edwards, Jr., Kansas City manager of the Pathé Exchange, seems to have a hankering after newspaper men for his work. Some time ago he took in his employ as a traveler Howard Jameyson, who was for a long period a reporter for a trade paper, while the latest addition to his staff is T. J. Folan, formerly the Kansas representative of Motion Picture News.

Jameyson was such a success that Edwards thought another newspaper man might be.

DONATES AFTERNOON'S RECEIPTS TO CANADIAN RED CROSS

On a recent afternoon manager Murdock of the Variety theatre, Victoria, B. C., turned over his entire receipts to the Esquimalt branch of the Red Cross Society, and on the same afternoon the management of the Ivel's Pharmacy, situated just across the street from the theatre, did the same with the money taken in at its soda fountain. The ladies of the Society assisted at both places during the afternoon, and a substantial amount was raised for the Red Cross. The stunt was given considerable publicity in the papers, and as nothing is more popular in Canada just at this time than the work of the Red Cross Society, much favorable attention was directed toward those responsible for the contribution.

Gertrude McCoy (Gaumont)

SELIG FINISHES "THE VALIANTS OF VIRGINIA"

At the Selig studio, Los Angeles, the final scenes have been made for "The Valiants of Virginia," in five reels, and within the next week Director T. N. Heffron will take up a new subject.

Director Robert Daly has finished "The Preacher," and is now picking a cast for the filming of an L. V. Jefferson three reel subject entitled "A Germ Mystery."

Fritzi Brunette, Selig star, was hostess of a dinner party last week at the Alexandria Indian room, Los Angeles, in celebration of her birthday. The guests included a number of the prominent people of Los Angeles filmdom.

Three Summer Camps Furnish Settings for Essanay Films

Chattanooga, Tenn., Starved Rock, Ill., and Camp Logan Supply Realistic Backgrounds for Filming of Features Under Policy Established by President Spoor

Essanay already has established three summer camps where outdoor scenes more representative of the picture involved can be taken. This is in accordance with the system inaugurated last year by President George K. Spoor, when several summer camps were established for the hot season.

"This enables us not only to get more realistic settings for our pictures, but better backgrounds. I am convinced that a beautiful background greatly enhances a picture."

The three camps established are Chattanooga, Tenn.; Starved Rock, Ill., and Camp Logan, the artillery and rifle range of the Illinois National Guard.

Director J. Charles Hayden, with Henry B. Walthall and a supporting cast, have left for Camp Logan, where they will take scenes for Mr. Walthall's next feature play, "The Little Musketeer." This story has much of its action during the Civil War period, and some battle action is shown. One thousand infantrymen and several hundred horsemen will be shown in guerrilla warfare. Arrangements will be made so that Essanay players can at any time encamp at this place to take any scenes requiring a military atmosphere.

Director Fred E. Wright established the camp at Starved Rock, where he took many of the scenes in the three-act photoplay "Power." Starved Rock is one of the beauty spots of the country, with its dells, shaded brooks, swift streams and thick-foliaged hillsides. Other Essanay directors will make use of this point from time to time. Mr. Wright, in his picture, "Power," also visited Arizona, where he made use of the Roosevelt dam, the great power plants and irrigation systems near Phoenix. These are all shown in this picture as a background to a thrilling plot woven about the battle of the people against the financial interests for their rights to public utilities.

The camp near Chattanooga was utilized by Director E. H. Calvert, who took a large part of the scenes in "According to the Code," Essanay's five-reel feature released in July through the V-L-S-E. Though Mr. Calvert and his troupe have returned, the camp will remain so that a company can make frequent excursions there to take scenes requiring a mountainous country. It is thus possible to use as a background all the rugged scenery of the mountains of Tennessee in photoplays requiring such settings.

Other camps will be established later as the need requires, so that a large part of the country will be covered by players who will visit them from time to time.

Betty Schade (Fox)

WORLD FILM SIGNS BIG CONTRACT WITH TURNER AND DAHN

The World Film Company has just put over another big contract. They have signed up Turner and Dahnken for first run privileges for that firm's new playhouse in Portland, Ore., and for their theatres respectively in Reno, Nevada and Oakland, San Jose and Watsonville, Cal. This firm is well pleased with business conditions, noting a good business generally with the exchangemen, due to the fact that the attendance is increasing at the theatres.

SCHUSTER IN KANSAS CITY

E. A. Schuster, auditor from the home office of the General Film Company, was a recent visitor to the Kansas City branch, where he stayed for several days.

Thrills in Every 1,000 Feet of Kellermann Film

Star in Fox Marine Spectacle, "A Daughter of the Gods," Written and Directed by Herbert Brenon, Braves Perils of the Deep in Jamaica to Get Scenes of Unusual Action for Picture—Alligators and Heavy Surf Pounding on Jagged Rocks Have No Terrors for Her

"THE motion picture that can provide one good, lively heart-tugging thrill to each one thousand feet of its length heretofore has had a good right to be called a successful picture," said a Fox official the other day.

"On that basis the $1,000,000 William Fox film spectacle. "A Daughter of the Gods," written and directed by Herbert Brenon, might be expected to provide ten very good thrills in its total length of ten thousand feet.

"This picture provides a separate and distinct thrill every ten feet of its entire length—or one thousand to the picture.

"To obtain the typical photoplay thrill the average director sacrifices the drama and beauty of his picture. But the thrills that Herbert Brenon has gathered together in his picture intensify its beauties in nearly every instance, and increases the hold of the picture upon your liking.

"Annette Kellermann, the star of this picture, has a repertoire of thrills all her own, and when you see what happened to her in "A Daughter of the Gods," you can well believe that the exciting physical adventures allotted to her fellow players in the picture will set new records for daring in the film world," he declared.

Here is an incomplete inventory of her ten adventurous months spent in Jamaica, all of which, and more, are found in the picture:

She is beaten against a ragged coral headland, pulled away from the rock each time by the undertow and hurled back again—each time seemingly by a larger and more powerful wave. And in this episode she is bound about, with her arms entirely useless, by heavy ropes. Both Herbert Brenon and Miss Kellermann declare that during the taking of these scenes her back was cut from shoulder to waist as if she had been beaten by a brutal jailer with a cat-o-nine-tails. Thrice was she taken unconscious from the water, begging in a half-conscious way, for the moment, not to be sent back into the boiling surf. But each time, her courage undaunted, she voluntarily went back and finished the scene.

Life in Danger at Every Turn

In another of the water sequence of scenes she swims almost with the speed of a train or a motor ahead of a shark, whose fin races along the surface not ten feet behind her. Again, she is struggling in a tremendous sea and gains a temporary haven on a rocky ledge or table, not more than two feet wide, and here gigantic waves many times as high as the average man or woman, pound her into helplessness and wash her off the rock and back into the foaming waters.

Later Miss Kellermann is tossed at the order of an insane Sultan into a pool filled with savage and hungry alligators. The spectators see the alligators poke their noses to the surface, blowing bubbles in the water as they expel air through their nostrils. Annette Kellermann is held aloft over the edge of the pool. The huge mouths of the alligators are poked out of the water, wide-open, and then she is dropped into their very teeth—yet escapes, as the film will reveal.

Once more in the water she reveals her prowess when she outswims a hundred Jamaica negroes—the fastest swimmers in the entire Caribean country. And she does this after escaping from a savage jailer and the pursuing Sultan, who have her imprisoned in a tower. She leaps from this tower to the sea—a distance of 103 feet—and is not even momentarily stopped by her impact with the water.

In one of the beautiful Gnome City scenes—laid at the foot of a beautiful cascade that comes crashing down from the mountains—she is stoned and beaten with sticks by several hundred dwarfs who imagine her to be their enemy. Just before this episode she has been rescued from the water and is almost unclad while blows and missiles are rained upon her.

Mounted on horseback and clad in coat of mail and clanking armor Miss Kellermann, in another scene, fights a sword battle with the leader of an opposing army on the sea wall of the beleaguered Moorish city, and when she receives a feigned death blow, topples on horseback into the sea. The camera follows her to the water and you see the horse churning and kicking so close to the heroine of the picture that every moment seems to be but one before her death.

Then rider and horse are separated in the water and you watch the brave swimmer while the heavy coat of mail weights her down and makes death by drowning imminent. She divests herself of the armour and, having died in the world of the mortals, she enters the life of the immortals and swims out into the sea as a mermaid to join her mates.

Most Daring Feat of All

What is said to be the most exciting and daring of all of Miss Kellermann's feats has been saved for description till now. After being hurled to the alligators and escaping them, the mad Sultan orders the flood-gates of the pool raised and she is swept out of the water gate into a roaring rapid, down which she plunges for a distance of two and a half miles—still bound tightly about the arms. The swift current pulls her into mid-channel of the rapids and ever downward she plunges at train-speed. The ever-present camera follows her down the boiling waters to the edge of a precipitous waterfall and then a camera below the fall picks her up at the brink and follows her on a fifty-foot drop into a Niagara-like whirlpool at the bottom of the waterfall.

Once more there is a daring feat to record. The mad Sultan has almost torn all of Miss Kellermann's clothing off during a struggle in the harem. At that moment sparks begin falling all around. A volcano nearby has burst into active eruption. Panic-stricken thousands flee through the street. The Sultan's favorites flee screaming from the harem. Miss Kellermann, who in her role is protected by the gods and possesses unusual powers, runs almost nude into the streets while fire and lava and sparks fall on every side and there turns the volcano fire into rain which falls in a drenching torrent and saves the populace.

In still another scene she rushes on horseback over a narrow and dangerous mountain road at the head of 1,200 gigantic mounted worriors on her way to the rescue of her lover Prince—only to be slain in an ensuing scene by the Prince, who has not pierced her identity.

"A Daughter of the Gods" will be ready for its premiere in just about a fortnight.

"THE DAY!"

THE TOAST

WHEREVER FILM

MEN FOREGATHER

—SEPTEMBER 9

IT'S THE DATE OF

THE STUDIO

DIRECTORY

INGENIOUS WALLPAPER HERALD ON "BATTLE CRY OF PEACE"

The latest herald distributed by the Isis, Longmont, Col., theatre is printed on varied hues of wall paper, and reads:

"Look! We are tearing the wall paper off our walls to make room for the crowds that will want to see 'The Battle Cry of Peace.'"

BANNERS ON STREET CARS EMPLOYED IN VANCOUVER

The advertising campaign being conducted by the Globe theatre, Vancouver, B. C., calling attention to the inauguration of Triangle pictures at that house, includes banners on street car fenders, and large space in the newspapers.

HERE'S ACTION FOR YOU—PLENTY OF BEARS, WALRUS AND SEAL IN A GAUMONT

More of the Gaumont animal studies taken by Elwin R. Sanborn, are seen in Reel Life, the Mutual Magazine in Film, Number Seven. First in importance are the bears. There are excellent pictures of black, brown and polar bears. Two hot-blooded denizens of the deep are also in this issue of Reel Life, the seal and the walrus.

Another section of this release pictures college students preparing for their life work by practical work in the fields at an agricultural college.

BURGER REPORTS "MYRA" BUSINESS BIG

J. K. Burger, manager of branch exchanges, International Film Service, Inc., left New York on Thursday, June 8, for Philadelphia, Washington and Atlanta.

During one of Mr. Burger's previous visits to Atlanta, George Allison, International exchange manager in that city dubbed Mr. Burger "Simon Legree," and the name has always stuck.

Mr. Burger has just returned from an extended business trip west, and reports that "The Mysteries of Myra" are showing to an unprecedented business.

"THE HIDDEN FACE," GAUMONT, WON'T HIDE AFTER JULY 6

In its series of fortnightly releases of three-reel photoplays the Gaumont company will release as its first July offering "The Hidden Face. This Mutual picture will go to exhibitors July 6, with Alexander Gaden and Iva Shepard as the stars.

June Brings Better Business to Exchange in New Orleans; Ragland Signs Big Contracts for "Gloria's Romance"

JUNE is bringing better business to the New Orleans exchanges. There was a serious depression that existed for three weeks, but it has apparently vanished. Big features are invariably the drawing cards these days, even at the suburban houses.

Louis Levin, the late Fox luminary, and named southern division manager only a few weeks ago, has left for the Dallas headquarters, after having given the New Orleans office a week of his time. He appointed Paul Engler, lately acting manager of the Fox Atlanta office, as his personal representative. Mr. Engler by this appointment is shifted to New Orleans.

At the Atlanta office Mr. Levin installed T. W. Brady as manager. Mr. Brady formerly traveled for Fox out of the Detroit office. He succeeds O. P. Hall, who resigned a short time ago.

Mr. Levin found conditions in New Orleans booming for Fox, and he states that similar conditions exist in the rest of the Southern territory. He found his stay in New Orleans profitable, as he signed Herman Fichtenberg for Fox service at the latter's Isis theatre in Houston.

The Pathe Goldberg cartoons now are being shown first run at Pearce's Trianon theatre. The new series is attracting large crowds nightly. Raoul Junet, Pathe manager in New Orleans, said that practically all old Pathe customers in that territory are taking on the Goldberg series for second run.

The NEWS representative found these live exhibitors buying on the Row last week: P. V. Black, of the Grand, Donaldsonville; Bert Tiller, Arcade, Lake Charles, and J. C. Landen, Istrione, Jackson.

Speaking of visitors, New Orleans entertained a few of the big ones last week.

Harry C. Drum, of the World; Pat Powers, of the Universal, and Arthur Lucas, of Triangle, came in rapid "concussion"; then Merle E. Smith, general superintendent for George Kleine.

Mr. Drum was on his way to the Pacific Coast, although he managed to spend a couple of days in New Orleans. Pat Powers, treasurer for the Universal Manufacturing Company, was there only one day. Arthur Lucas and Merle E. Smith were both one day visitors. Friends of Mr. Lucas were glad to find him once more in excellent health.

Mr. Smith was surprised and gratified with the quantity of business done by the New Orleans office of George Kleine. Through the energy of J. C. Ragland, the New Orleans manager, and an efficient traveling crew, fifty-four signed contracts were obtained from as many cities for Billy Burke in "Gloria's Romance." Fifty-three other applications have come in, making a total of 107 Southern cities and towns booked for the serial.

In New Orleans what is one of the most important moving picture contracts ever signed was made by Jac. Miller, owner of the Empire theatre, with J. C. Ragland, George Kleine manager. Miller through this contract agreed to show "Gloria's Romance" for twenty weeks at the Empire theatre at a weekly rental of seven hundred dollars, a total of $14,000. This is so far the largest price ever paid for a picture in New Orleans, but so great has the demand for Billy Burke been ever since that charming actress appeared here in her premier picture, that Manager Miller expects to cash in on the proposition.

Raoul Junet, manager of the Pathe, Inc., exchange, stated that his office broke all collection records the past week.

K. A. Bugbee, manager of the Metro exchange, left this week for a run to northern Louisiana and central Mississippi. Mr. Bugbee expects to visibly increase the circulation of the new Metro house organ in that territory before he returns. The circulation figures at present run well over 20,000, and Metro exhibitors all over the territory report they are having a great success with the magazine.

Amusements, a weekly newspaper devoted principally to the moving picture theatres of New Orleans, which is being used by some houses as a program, made its initial appearance last week. The paper is being published by a local trade paper correspondent. Its makeup is good, and the idea seems to have caught well with the exhibitors.

Mrs. Antoinette Evans, who recently put on a fashion show at the Crescent theatre, now is the fashion conductor on the staff of the New Orleans Times-Picayune. Mrs. Evans is the wife of R. King Evans, manager of the V-L-S-E branch and president of the Associated Film Managers of New Orleans.

A. JULES BENEDIC.

Strenuous Fights for Tom Moore in "Who's Guilty?" Series

But These Set-Tos Come Easy to the Actor, Because He Is a Healthy Young Irishman, and Doesn't Believe in "Faking" Struggles Before the Camera

N almost every one of the fourteen photo-novels which make up the Pathe's "Whose Guilty?" series, Tom Moore, who is co-starred in these pictures with Anna Nilsson, has had a real fight. These set-tos have come perfectly easy for Moore, because he is, first, a healthy young Irishman, and, second, because he is a devout actor, who does not believe in "faking" a stage fight.

But it comes rather hard on those whom, according to the stories, he must defeat. The other day they were staging a big fight in the Arrow studios for "Sold Out," the fifth of the series. Moore and Alan Hale, who is about twice Moore's size, were ordered to "go to it."

They fought and struggled all over the room, while the cameras clicked and Howell Hansel, the director, yelled to them to give him "a real fight." Finally, as the script called for, Hale got Moore down. (It was the idea that later Moore should defeat Hale.) Then, after getting Moore down, Hale lit into him in earnest. So much so that Hansel interfered.

"It's wrong to strike a man when he's down," said Hansel to Hale.

"Well, if you knew all the trouble I've been to to get him down," retorted Hale, "you wouldn't be talking like that."

When Hansel and his company went to Ogdensburg, N. J., recently to make some "western" scenes for "Sold Out," they got everything they wanted except good weather. Between showers Hansel managed to take some of his scenes, including about eight before a special mining camp shack.

When everything had been filmed, despite delays, except the remaining twelve scenes in and about the shack exterior, the rain fell more steadily and dishearteningly than before. Yet Hansel had to get the scenes, because he was working on a time schedule.

Then he solved his problem. He sought the owner of the shack, and after parleying with him for a few minutes, Hansel became the cabin's owner. Then he ordered his mechanical crew out into the downpour, with instructions to take the shack apart, keep every piece, transport it to Yonkers, where the Arrow studios are, and there reconstruct the building.

This was done. An empty lot near the studio and backed up by a steep hill, was rented. Then he got his men busy, and in surprisingly few hours the shack that had stood in Ogdensburg, fifty miles from Yonkers, was reconstructed, "atmosphere" and all.

SCREEN EXAMINATIONS

"SHOES"

(Bluebird—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

FOUR reels of film are consumed here in depicting the effort of Eva, a salesgirl earning five dollars a week in a five and ten cent store, to struggle along on a dilapidated pair of shoes. She gets splinters in her feet, catches cold and is humbled by her own comparison of herself with other girls. At the end of the fourth reel she takes a deciding step. She goes out penniless and comes back a day later with a new pair of shoes adorning her feet. She has, as Jane Addams wrote in a book, "sold out for a pair of shoes."

It is indeed a pathetic plight that Eva is in. Her father is a loafer, her mother sympathetic but unable to offer assistance. She has no friends, and a singer in a low cabaret proves her only means of procuring money outside of the small amount she receives from the store and dutifully turns over to her mother intact. It is just one of the world's tragedies, and the picture tells it simply and without the slightest vestige of elaboration.

If "Shoes" strikes an audience in the right mood the people are going to be greatly moved by it. If it strikes it in the wrong mood they are going to grow tired of it, for it is so simple in theme that there is of a necessity much repetition of incident. There is, on the other hand, a purpose to the likeness of the situations, because it makes the final step taken by the girl seem justifiable and consequently all the more pathetic. But your average audience wants a little more action than "Shoes" offers.

Eva Meets the Cabaret Singer

Lois Weber, who produced the picture as well as adapting it from Stella Wynne Herron's story, has pictured the life of the girl at great detail. Not much is left to the imagination regarding her trials and hardships. But Miss Weber has gone a step too far in showing a closeup of the girl extracting splinters from the sole of her foot. She has gone too far in showing the girl scraping mud from her feet with a pair of scissors. There is such a thing as being too realistic.

The last reel takes up the "what might have been" and when this is over there is a short return to the actual picture. The girl has confessed to her mother and is forgiven. Then the father comes home, happier than usual, for he has exerted himself to such an extent that he has procured work. But it was all too late.

Mary MacLaren is a new actress uncovered by Miss Weber. She takes the part of Eva and is in it every minute of the time. She is not taxed by requirements for varied facial expression and retains a sorrowful, downcast look throughout the picture. This attitude of Miss MacLaren's makes her character unusually real. Harry Griffith as the good-for-nothing father, Mrs. Witting as the mother, William V. Mong as the cabaret singer, and Jessie Arnold as another shop girl who has tasted bitter fruit comprise the supporting cast. S. Norton and A. Ziegler have done excellent work on the photographic end of the production.

FOUR VIM COMEDIES

("Spring Cleaning"—"The Connecting Bath"—"Will A Woman Tell?"—"Their Dream House"—One Reel Each)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

THESE single-reel feature comedies, starring Harry C. Myers and Rosemary Theby, who virtually carry all the action by themselves, are well produced and photographed in excellent style. They should prove good entertainment for audiences which do not insist upon marked originality of plot, and they contain nothing which will offend anybody's sensibilities.

The "Evidence" Uncovered

In addition, the story of each treats of a well-known situation in family life and for this reason they should interest almost any audience, even if they do not succeed in provoking extraordinary hilarity.

Myers appears as a husband and Miss Theby as his wife in each comedy. Their work is pleasing. In "Spring Cleaning" Myers, a traveling man who has just abandoned the road for good, gets home in time to be subjected to the torments of house cleaning; in "The Connecting Bath" the pair, intending to be divorced, stop at the same hotel, and discover through the medium of notes passed under the door that they really love each other; in "Will a Woman Tell?"—the best of the series shown so far—woman's inability to keep a secret is satirized; and in "Their Dream House" husband and wife buy a cheap bungalow from a crooked real estate agent, discovering too late that the water pipes are all out of order, and the house built of paper and other cheap material.

We can select "Will a Woman Tell?" as representative of the kind of humor offered in these comedies. Its story, the nearest approach to originality in the series, tells how the husband, constantly in trouble because his wife tells everything she knows, sends her to bed one night with the instruction, "Whatever you do, don't look out of the window at the woodshed." Then the husband goes out, gets a box from the woodshed and buries it in the yard. The wife, of course, follows him. After they have retired the husband leads his wife to believe that he is a murderer and has buried the evidence. The next day she tells the "secret" to a neighbor, and the police finally arrive to make the arrest. The husband escorts the crowd to the yard, digs up the empty box, and then leaves his wife to read the inscription on the top. It reads: "You can't keep a secret, but you can keep this."

The Hazards of Housecleaning

Myers, who directed the comedies, designed his own sets and they are very good, particularly the "Dream House," which is a seven-room structure especially built, and well arranged and decorated. The camera work is by Harry Keepers.

"THE TWO ORPHANS"

(Selig—Three Reels)

REVIEWED BY WILLIAM C. ESTY, 2nd

THERE is a historic as well as a histrionic interest attached to this picture, since it is a reissue of a film made some years ago. The cast is note-worthy, containing names now enrolled in studios from New Rochelle to Santa Barbara.

Like many productions of that period, it is a costume play, the locale being France in the days of swords, snuff and Sedan-chairs. The story is an involved melodrama of court life, at times difficult to follow.

Two young orphaned girls, Louise and Henriette, journey to Paris. Henriette is kidnapped by a licentious Marquis, and Louise, who is blind, falls into the hands of thieves. Henriette is rescued by a chevalier who loves her, but she refuses to marry him until her sister is found. The searchers come upon Louise just as the thieves are about to murder her. Papers from the police archives disclose the fact that Louise is of noble origin, her Countess mother having secretly married. To add to the general happiness, the court physician promises that the girl's eyesight can be restored.

"Her Sight Can Be Restored"

The part of Henriette is played by Kathlyn Williams, Winnifred Greenwood is Louise, and T. J. Carrigan enacts the role of the chevalier. Other well-known players who appear are Charles Clary, Myrtle Stedman, Adrienne Kroell, Lyllian Leighton, Leighton Stark and James O'Burrell.

Judged by present standards, the acting is too hurried, and the absence of close-ups, coupled with imperfect lighting and inferior photography, make it hard for the players to properly convey their emotions.

Every scene was taken in the studio, landscapes and marine views being improvised with painted drops. A snow storm of paper flakes is used. Many of the sets are unusually large, and the presence of numerous extra people frequently gives an air of elaborateness.

In spite of its technical faults, there may be many who will want to see this picture, because it shows favorites now scattered working together, and because it will recall a bygone era to faithful fans.

"THE WILD GIRL OF THE SIERRAS"

(Fine Arts-Triangle—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

THE presentation of Mae Marsh, Robert Harron and Wilfred Lucas in a single picture is enough to insure its success, even if it were not distinctive in other ways. It is a combination of screen talent hard to beat, and if we were an exhibitor we would advertise this triple alliance for all it is worth.

But the picture has other merits, particularly its extraordinarily beautiful exteriors. These wood and hill scenes, in which the play of light is so perfect that it looks almost as if it were artificially supplied, give the appearance of having been painted instead of photographed. We have never seen anything quite like them. Many scenes also are tinted in superb fashion.

The Boy Turns Down the Gambler

The photography and settings are of the first importance in this picture, because it is a romance of a girl who has grown up in the wilds and it is absolutely necessary that the settings harmonize with her nature. We are certain that the exhibitor will be delighted with the way in which this has been done.

As to the story, the picture is fanciful, but it ought to be a welcome relief because it gets clear away from the ordinary run of plots. There is no attempt to create a big "punch." Instead, we have a lot of pretty scenes built around the slave-like devotion of the girl to Bob Jordan, who comes into her domain with a gambler and his woman companion to look at a worthless mine which the two are trying to unload on Bob. Bob sees the girl running about in the woods and, mistaking her for a wild animal, fires, wounding her in the arm. This leads to their meeting. By a series of cut-backs, it is shown that the girl had been a denizen of the forest after her mother and sister had been killed by Indians. It develops that the gambler is the girl's father, but instead of the usual recognition scene between father and daughter, the story sends the gambler away without knowing who the girl is. Neither does she know that the gambler is her father.

Miss Marsh's portrayal of the girl, Robert Harron as the boy and Wilfred Lucas as the gambler are excellent, with first honors going to Miss Marsh. Others are Maisie Radford, Olga Grey and James O'Shea.

The story is by F. M. Pierson and Anita Loos, and the direction by Paul Powell.

"PERILS OF DIVORCE"

(World Film—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

A COMMENDABLE admission on the part of the producers states that this picture is melodramatic. It is also extreme melodrama in more ways than one. The story is of this type from title to final fadeout. The acting is pronouncedly of such flavor, inasmuch as the principals enter into the spirit of the picture with zeal that astonishes. The subtitles are on a par with the story and the acting.

"Perils of Divorce" is a class picture and doubtless we will only be voicing the producer's sentiments on the subject when we state that its appeal is totally confined to the class that boasts of no great learning. The ten-centers in the ten, twenty, thirty audiences, the shop girl as definitive of a certain class, the unskilled laborer—to those will "Perils of Divorce" bid for popularity. And as there are a great many such persons in this broad land, the road which the picture will travel seems smooth and easy.

Tegar's Compliments Fall on Eager Ears

At the outset a very happy couple is introduced, Constance Graham and John Graham. Enter Alice Lorraine—villainess extraordinary. Alice manipulates affairs in the way that only villainesses can and later we find as a result that John and Constance have separated and that Alice has married John. Of course, in due time John realizes how Alice has pulled the wool over his eyes and there is a reunion.

For melodrama, the story has been constructed unusually well. Although there are divorces, there are no court room scenes. The situations are not unduly strained and the incidental characters have been selected by one who really understands dramatic values. Of its kind then, "Perils of Divorce" is exceedingly good.

Edna Wallace Hopper as Constance, Frank Sheridan as John, Ruby Hoffman as Alice, Alec Francis as Craig, the family friend, and Macey Harlan as Tegar, the villain, are the principals. All the cast with the exception of Miss Hoffman overact considerably, but the mistake is not so serious, considering the general tone of the picture.

The scenes range between ice skating by torch light, all down the line from suburban villas and club houses to Broadway cafes and even to a Chinatown "joint." The atmosphere is always realistic in these scenes. In fact Edwin August, who directed, has also done his share in producing a teeming melodrama.

"THE SCARLET WOMAN"

(Popular Plays and Players-Metro—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

MADAME PETROVA'S beauty and poise lend distinction to this sex subject. As noted before in pictures selected as vehicles for her, the material is too thin for five reels, and there are a number of improbabilities in the plot. Nevertheless, the Petrova personality is potent enough to create a great deal of interest.

In addition, the production is excellent—by which we mean that Director Edmund Lawrence has maintained a high Metro standard in settings, lighting, and the handling of the cast. There are able impersonations by Arthur Hoops, Eugene O'Brien, Edward Martindale, Frank Hanna and others.

Certainly the central situation is strong in dramatic possibilities, and the events leading up to it are depicted with force. This situation involves the sacrifice of honor by a wife in order that she may save her husband from execution for a murder of which he is guilty. She pays the price to the district attorney, who thereupon conducts a weak prosecution, and the husband is acquitted. This action is developed in about three reels, and while it is not free from padding in the shape of cut-backs, its effectiveness is undeniable.

After this, the suspense is let down for several hundred feet while a virtually new dramatic situation is developed. The husband, freed, discovers what his wife has done, and divorces her. Remembering that the district attorney had told her that a beautiful woman possesses great power which she may use as she wills, the wife takes the easiest way, selecting men of wealth as her lovers, and becoming a well-known character in the cafes of the city. She meets a young man of character and social position, who is a candidate for district attorney against the man who freed her first husband. He wins, defeating his grafting rival. Meanwhile, he has fallen in love with the scarlet woman, and asks her to become his wife, not knowing her past, although it is quite inconceivable to the spectator that he should not have known it.

After their marriage the defeated grafter tells the young husband who and what his wife is. Husband and wife separate for a time, and she finally determines upon suicide. Learning that a letter in which the woman had told him her past had been kept from him by the grafter and a scheming girl, the husband arrives just in time to save his wife from death.

"BATH TUB PERILS"

(Keystone-Triangle—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

ALTHOUGH much of this is fast and furious slapstick, it is not particularly novel. But the last few hundred feet offer one of the most ingenious bits of action so far presented by Keystone.

After Fred Mace, as a flirting hotel proprietor, has made himself a thorough nuisance by amorous attentions to the wife of a guest, and is reduced to pajamas by his own enraged wife, the fun starts. The guest shoots at the proprietor and accidentally hits one of the big water pipes. This starts a flood, which eventually fills the whole room in which the proprietor had been imprisoned by his wife, as she thought. The gas pipes and the water pipes get mixed, and when the guest's wife decides to take a bath she finds the hot water heater filled with gas and the gas pipes filled with water.

Finally she is blown out of the hotel in her bathtub, floats down the street and out to sea, where the picture ends with the pursuit of her in full swing.

This last ludicrous situation is a sure laugh-bringer and is worked to its fun-making limit. In the cast are Dale Fuller, Hugh Fay, Claire Anderson, and a number of girls attired in gymnasium regalia. E. A. Frazee directed.

"ATHLETIC FEATURE FILM SERIES"

(Selig-V-L-S-E—First Reel)

REVIEWED BY WILLIAM C. ESTY, 2nd

THIS is the first reel of a series that proposes to show in action the foremost exponents of every sport from football to pool. The initial release opens with a scene in Mike Gibbons' gymnasium, showing the ring general performing such training stunts as weight-pulling, rope-shipping, and shadow-boxing. Then a three-round sparing match between Mike and his brother Tom is staged.

Cutler, the American cueist, is then pitted at the billiard table against Yamada, the Oriental expert. After a few innings the two cracks demonstrate fancy exhibition shots.

Following this, Doctor Roller wrestles with Fred Dalkins for two falls.

Pictures of this kind certainly ought to interest the male contingent of an audience, especially since many have not had an opportunity to see the heroes of the sporting page in the flesh. Judging from the increasing attendance of women at boxing matches and wrestling tournaments, the fair sex, too, likes to follow the performances of the mat and squared ring gladiators.

"THE SPELL OF THE YUKON"

(Popular Plays and Players-Metro—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY HARVEY F. THEW

THE title of this picture accurately describes the location and atmosphere. Although the drama of the story is enacted in New York (presumably), there is enough of the Alaskan wilds and the big snows to make this the home note of the picture.

The photography of the exterior scenes is excellent; the locations have been well chosen, and their full artistic value has been realized. Considerable artistry has been brought to bear in the subtitles, which are dissolved in over short scenes, illustrative of the spirit of the caption. Many lines from the poem of Robert W. Service are utilized as subtitles.

The story, which is taken from this same poem, is told in few words: Jim Carson, foreman in a big factory, is in love with Helen Blair, a stenographer in the offices. Temple, the proprietor, is also in love with Helen, and he "frames" Carson's books to make it appear that he is a thief.

Unable to get a hearing, Carson leaves the shop, threatening revenge on Temple. He goes to Alaska, to join Adams, a "pal" of other days, but arrives just as Adams has been murdered, leaving his infant son uncared for. Carson adopts the boy, and brings him up. In the course of eighteen years in Alaska, Carson strikes gold, and becomes wealthy.

He takes his adopted son and comes back to New York. Here he finds Helen has married Temple, and there is a daughter, Dorothy, whom the boy meets; the two fall instantly in love. Carson, however, finds the girl is the daughter of his old enemy, and forbids the boy to see her again. In the meantime he begins a campaign to ruin Temple, and is on the varge of success.

"You'll Pay for This!"

Temple induces Helen to go to Carson, and plead with him for mercy. Carson is about to thrust her ruthlessly aside, when she confesses that Dorothy is his own daughter. His viewpoint changes; he promises to let up on Temple, and sanctions the marriage of the young folks, without, of course, revealing Dorothy's true parentage.

Edmund Breese does some strong work as Carson, and is ably seconded by Arthur Hoops as Temple. Christine Mayo as Helen and Evelyn Brent as Dorothy present sincere and convincing work. Others in the cast are Billy Sherwood, Frank McArthur, Joseph S. Chaillee, Jacques Suzanne, Mary Reed, Harry Morevelle, and Baby Volare. The picture was directed by Burton King.

"THE REDEMPTION OF DAVE DARCEY"

(Vitagraph Blue Ribbon-V-L-S-E—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

THE exhibitor who books this picture will find his patrons pleased not only by the work of the cast, but also by a timely twist given the plot. The last named element involves a munition factory, and a scheme by foreign agents to blow it up—not an unheard of screen situation, of course, but the sort which brings a photoplay home to the spectator, and makes it seem more real to him.

We hasten to say, however, that this is not a war drama. It is a human interest story, depicting the reformation of a crook, who escapes from the police after killing a rival gangster in self defense, enters the house of some society folk while a party is in progress, and is given a chance to make good by Philip, whose father owns the factory.

It is possible to develop such a theme in two ways: to make it a psychological study, with many close-ups and little "action"; or, to give first place to action, and make psychology seem incidental. The Vitagraph people chose the latter method, and, we think, chose wisely. Psychology is present, but it is not overemphasized, while there is plenty of action, and a fair degree of suspense. The story is not without its flaws, but it holds.

Darcey Warns His Benefactor

Such a picture stands or falls, of course, by the work of the player who has the role of the crook. This picture stands. That it does is distinctly to the credit of James Morrison, whose portrayal of the crook is natural, sympathetic and of undoubted appeal. We are certain that his work will find response from any crowd of picturegoers.

The supporting cast is well chosen as to type, and gives uniformly good renditions. It includes Belle Bruce, Billie Billings, Emanuel A. Turner, Mary Maurice, Robert Gaillard, Gerald Gordon, John Costello, Logan Paul, Dan Hayes, and Charles J. Giegerich, Jr.

Paul Scardon produced the picture from a script by Charles T. Dazey. The direction is fully competent.

E. FORREST TAYLOR APPEARS OPPOSITE MARIN SAIS AND OLLIE KIRKBY IN "SOCIAL PIRATES," KALEM

E. FORREST TAYLOR is now appearing opposite Marin Sais and Ollie Kirkby in "The Social Pirates," Kalem's series by George Bronson-Howard.

The latest Kalem star entered the screen world less than a year ago, after an unusually successful stage career. He has appeared with such stars as Brandon Tynan, Catherine Countiss and Willard Mack, and was for four years a member of the last mentioned player's famous producing stock company in Salt Lake City.

Following that engagement, E. Forrest Taylor organized his own repertoire company, touring the principal cities of the country with Clara Kimball Young as his leading woman.

STURGEON ERECTS TANK FOR SCENE IN "THROUGH THE WALL"

DIRECTOR Rollin S. Sturgeon of the Western Vitagraph Company, has caused the erection of a big tank at the Hollywood studio for scenes in the multiple reel subject "Through the Wall," adapted from the Cleveland Moffitt story. Scenes were made in this during the past week, and William Duncan and Nell Shipman, leads of the picture, worked in the water for three hours. At the end Duncan carries the leading woman through a trap door, entrance to which was gained below the surface of the water.

"THE WAY OF THE WORLD"

(Red Feather-Universal—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

"THE Way of the World" was adapted by F. McGrew Willis from the Clyde Fitch play. It makes entertainment of the average sort. Hobart Bosworth is again the star. He appears as John Nevill, the heavy. Nevill is bent on winning a young woman, Beatrice, by hook or by crook, but he fails, and at last meets death by Beatrice's own hand. Mr. Bosworth has not delineated his Nevill with the precision and skill that we have become accustomed to associate with his work. Perhaps it is because he has almost always heretofore played the hero. At any rate, in "The Way of the World," he gives an entirely too likable impression during the first phases of the picture and the cropping out of the villainous characteristics in the final episodes hardly jibes correctly with the earlier impression gained from his acting.

The production, which was in charge of Lloyd B. Carleton, is very good. The director was in no difficulty over spectacular scenes or thrillers, but the story is finished in a straightforward complete manner. The handling of each individual scene, simple though it may be, is done in a thoroughly adequate style. The photography is equally as good.

John Nevill, an unhappily married man, meets Beatrice while abroad and falls in love with her. On learning that he is married Beatrice has nothing more to do with him. Later in America

The Rescue

Beatrice marries Croyden just after he has been elected governor. Nevill appears again and persuades Beatrice to accept him as a friend. Two years later the Croyden family is exceedingly happy, as a new addition in the shape of a baby has arrived.

It comes to the end of Croyden's term and his political enemies cast about for something to damn him before the public. They hit upon Beatrice's close association with Nevill and Nevill himself causes them to print a bit of scandal which casts doubt on the parentage of the Croyden baby. With this Croyden loses all faith in his wife. Beatrice goes to Nevill's home to beg him to contradict the scandalous report but instead Nevill shows his true colors. In desperation Beatrice stabs him with a paper knife and dying he makes a denial of the report.

Dorothy Davenport as Beatrice and Emory Johnson as Croyden are excellent in their respective roles, while others in the cast are Gretchen Lederer, Jack Curtis, C. Norman Hammond, Adele Farrington and Herbert Barrington.

"CHIP'S BURLESQUE ON CARMEN"

(Juvenile Film Corporation—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY HARVEY F. THEW

CHILDREN are nearly always attractive in a picture; more than this, they have an appeal which is even stronger to their elders than to themselves, and a good children's picture, according to all the rules, should be a good box-office investment. This picture is recommended as such.

Joseph and Janethel Monahan are developing into real professional screen artists. Part of this is apparently due to their inherent ability, but most to the intelligent and painstaking effort of their director, J. A. Fitz Patrick, who is also, we believe, their cousin. He appears to understand them, and they certainly understand him.

Joseph is an excellent juvenile imitator of Charlie Chaplin; in this subject, the Chaplin burlesque on Carmen has again been burlesqued, in ludicrous and yet touching manner. Where Charlie became a pigmy, Chip becomes a giant, with the aid of a cloak and another boy who kindly offers his shoulders. The other features of the Chaplin burlesque are also reversed, insofar as has been possible.

Little Janethel is an attractive and rougish Carmen. The bullfight is laughable as are also the antics of Chip on "Bon Doze," the Don Jose of this version. The piece is well costumed; the scenery in such a burlesque on a burlesque, may well be overlooked; one hardly expects an attempt at the reproduction of Seville or a Spanish bull-ring.

The only suggestion we can make is that a little more attention be paid to the cutting in several spots, especially where Chip rides the goat through the gateway, and Chip's fight with the bull.

"FOOL'S GOLD"

(Essanay—Three Reels)

REVIEWED BY WILLIAM C. ESTY, 2nd

THE woman who gambles for high stakes against her husband's wishes is an everyday figure in photoplay life. Here she is again, besetted with the same difficulties her celluloid sisters have experienced so often. Enough unusual and diverting variations from the routine plot are injected to bring the interest well up to the standard of the average program release.

Darwin Karr plays the hoodwinked husband effectively, Nell Craig enlists pity in the role of his auction-bridge mad spouse, while Patrick Calhoun and Marion Murray use a time-tried formula in acting the villain and villainess parts.

Auction devotees will speculate why the actors look through the cards after every hand—apparently every winning bid is no-trumps. This petty detail is the only fault attributable to the director. The settings and photography are adequate.

Helen Rowe, wife of a wealthy young business man, becomes a victim of a card-sharper. He wins all her money, and she finally has a paste imitation of her valuable necklace made, giving the original to pay her losses. The imitation necklace is stolen by a thieving maid. A detective, called in by Rowe, ascertains the real state of affairs, rescues Helen from the embrace of the sharper, and recovers the necklace, without arousing Rowe's suspicions. This adventure cures Helen's gambling fever.

"MUTT AND JEFF IN THE MOVIES"

(Mutt and Jeff Film—One Reel)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

THE war zone serves once more as a setting for the antics of Bud Fisher's two eccentrics, but this time it is a mimic war zone, with a cameraman at hand to "take" the scenes. The cameraman is disappointed in Jeff's method of charging a trench single-handed, and announces that Jeff "spoiled the greatest war picture ever filmed."

The spectator is anything but disappointed, however, and is thoroughly amused. It is difficult to burlesque war without offense, but Fisher does it in clean and effective fashion.

SEVENTY-TWO-YEAR-OLD CIVIL WAR VETERAN IN A METRO

MARCUS MORIARITY, who plays the part of Potter, the butler in the Metro-Columbia production, "The Flower of No Man's Land," is seventy-two years old. He fought through the civil war, and was a bugler in Sherman's army. Mr. Moriarity has been a motion picture actor for eight years.

DUNCAN McRAE, OF "THE FLOWER OF NO MAN'S LAND," A PLAYWRIGHT

DUNCAN McRAE, who plays the male lead in "The Flower of No Man's Land," is a successful writer of plays. The Gamut Club produced his sketch, "The Woman Across the Way" recently, with Mr. McRae and Miss Minnie Dupree in the leading roles.

"SILKS AND SATINS"

(Famous Players—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY WILLIAM RESSMAN ANDREWS

"SILKS AND SATINS" is a shimmering fabric of old romance. The story, free from red-dyed realism and the mercerized threads of near realism, is of fine romantic texture throughout. The plot, sentimental but not mawkish, was woven by a hand that knew how to gather up the loose ends of narrative for a satisfactory explanation at the denoument. The story is singularly free from frayed and threadbare incidents and is anything but patchwork. Like a good garment, "Silks and Satins" ought to wear well with the public.

Speaking of clothes—why did the hero of "the story in the story" go about bedecked in the regimentals of an Austrian Hussar, vintage of the 19th Century, when he is described as a Gentleman of France and the other characters were in clothes of the Colonial period? However, it doesn't matter much. The hero carries himself with such a debonair air, the matinee girls will pass over this anachronism in costume, particularly in the exciting moment when Friend Hero, over six feet, picks up dainty Marguerite Clark, less than five feet, and carries her across a stream.

"Silks and Satins" will make a strong appeal to audiences of women and girls, not only on account of the sentimental interest of the plot, but because there are more kinds of feminine raiment than any mere male review could hope to understand at one look.

But he can understand the significance of the scene where the villain stands under a hill teasing the heroine, the hero glancing down at the pair, his "gorge rising" at the sight of beauty in distress. In a few seconds, the hero, who will surely find favor with the matinee contingent, confronts Friend Villain (nobody's friend) and gives him a punch that makes him forget he is a villain and reminds him he is just a human being with considerable susceptibility to pain.

Marguerite Clark in the role of Felicite is more happily cast than she has been in a few other plays. In her present part she has ample opportunity to exercise the sprightliness and show the sweet winsomeness associated with her best impersonations.

The story in brief is as follows: A young girl about to be married at the command of her father to a man she does not like, finds in a secret drawer the diary of a relative, a beautiful but wilful girl, who a hundred years before, was placed in similar disagreeable and disheartening circumstances. The experiences of the oppressed fair one in former days are all faithfully recorded and her woes make a deep impression on the present day miss, who by the time she finishes the last page, resolves to emulate the example of her ancestor and marry the man she wanted, instead of the man picked out by her officious Pa.

The director, J. Searle Dawley, and the photographer, H. Lyman Broening, deserve credit for their work. The direction shows care and the camera end of the production indicates a mastery of technical difficulties. Miss Clark's supporting cast pleases, with Vernon Steel in the role of Jacques Desmond; Clarence Handysides as the Marquis; W. A. Williams as Henri; Thomas Holding as Felix Breton and Fayette Parry as Annette.

"A WOMAN'S HONOR"

(William Fox—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

"A WOMAN'S HONOR" introduces Jose Collins as a William Fox star in a story which is strong in both senses and which is well handled by Director Roland West. Except for slight confusion, due to the necessity of clearing the ground for the central situation, this picture is one of the best of recent Fox releases.

It is easy enough to tell a screen player when you see one, just as it is easy enough to identify an actor or an actress who wishes to be a screen star, but fails. Unless we are very much mistaken, Miss Collins has the makings of a genuine screen star. Her presence, her features, her animation, her command of restraint, and her ability to hold dramatic scenes are clearly shown. It is her work, more than anything else, which puts this picture over. Having seen its reception by an audience in one of Mr. Fox's New York houses, we feel justified in saying that the picture does get over, although if we had not witnessed its effect on an audience we would still be certain of the appeal of Miss Collins' acting, and of the dramatic worth of the picture.

In addition, the picture has a variety of setting that is truly gratifying. The scenes are laid in Naples (the atmosphere of which is admirably gained by Jamaican locations and one or two street sets), in the Pennsylvania coal region, and in New York. Throughout, the staging is elaborate, and remarkably pleasing to the eye. There are some excellent lighting effects, and other evidences of superior dirction.

In the supporting cast are Arthur Donaldson, who gives an excellent character sketch of an old Italian roue, who with La Terribula (Mrs. Cecil Raleigh) makes a practice of trapping young girls. They entrap Helena (Miss Collins), and she is forced to submit to outrage at the roue's hands. Then the girl goes to America, and finds her husband dying from the effects of a coal mine explosion. She goes to New York, meeting there a young artist (Armand Cortez). To gain the consent of his uncle to their marriage, they proceed to Naples. Helena discovers that the uncle is the old roue who outraged her, and carrying out an oath of vengeance, she captivates him, and then poisons him. After which, she chokes La Terribula to death. The evidence is covered up effectively, and Helena returns with the artist to America and happiness.

"THE REPRISAL"

(Selig—Three Reels)

REVIEWED BY THEO. S. MEAD

FRITZI BRUNETTE, who takes the leading part in this production, proves her versatility as a screen actress. Her first role of an unsophisticated Southern girl is later changed to that of a hardened, revengeful woman, who realizes her physical charms and does not hesitate to use them on the object of her revenge. She plays this vampire part effectively, emphatically registering the different emotions of hate, love and cynical amusement.

Jack Rodney, played by Jack Pickford, is sent by his wealthy family to a Southern sanitarium to recover from tuberculosis. Here he meets and falls in love with Alma Thorne, a girl of poor parentage. Jack's brother Louis, determined that his younger brother shall not marry beneath his station, rushes to the scene and arrives in time to break off the wedding in the midst of the ceremony. He carries Jack back home, where the latter dies. The heart-broken Alma marries an old friend of the family at her mother's dying request. Five years later, now a beautiful widow, she encounters Louis Rodney, and still cherishing thoughts of revenge, sets out to make him fall in love with her. For years Louis had cynically considered all women as fortune hunters, but he succombs to Alma's charms and they are married. Right after the marriage ceremony, she discloses her identity, recalling to her husband the time when he ruined her youthful love for his younger brother. Maddened by the thought of losing her, Louis goes to the next room to commit suicide, but the revolver falls from his trembling hands and explodes. Alma, thinking he is dead, and realizing that a real love for him has developed, rushes into the next room and falls into his arms.

Guy Oliver plays the part of the cynical woman-hater convincingly. The supporting cast includes Frank Clark, Lillian Hayward and Al. W. Filson.

PAUL HEMEL, OPERATOR AND LECTURER, IS SOLDIER WITH RECORD FOR BRAVERY

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Montreal, Que., June 10.

LAST week the Montreal Universal office had some very distinguished visitors, among whom was an old operator, Paul Hemel. He, in the year of 1914, was an operator and lecturer at the Sun and Star theatres, St. Henri, Montreal. At the outbreak of the war Mr. Hemel enlisted as a private and after a regular training course was transferred to England, and was stationed there three months.

From there he went to France and Belgium, and spent seven months in the trenches. After two days on the firing line he earned his first stripe as lance-corporal. The promotion was made by Major Roy, who was killed while saving his men and winning the V. C. Two months later Mr. Hemel had earned his second stripe as corporal from Captain Girouard, now a Lieuenant-Colonel in Montreal. One month later Hemel was made sergeant by Major Guybuyor, while on patrol in No Man's Land. While acting in this capacity he was wounded in the chest and later on was promoted to lieutenant with the 171st Battalion of Quebec City.

"THE PROMISED LAND"

(Essanay—Three Reels)

REVIEWED BY THEO. S. MEAD

THE charm of this picture lies in its unpretentiousness. It is the old story, simply told, of a dapper city salesman breaking in upon the love of a small town boy and girl. It develops along the usual lines, from the time when the attractive traveling man meets the innocent village maiden, and starts to win her affections away from the drug clerk, who is diligently studying to become a surgeon.

With tales of the city he feeds her imagination and she runs away with him to be married. He leads the life of dissipation in the city, finally leaving her to get along as best she can. She secures employment as a nurse, and at the hospital finds her village lover, who is now a rising young surgeon. He is still devoted, but she will not hear of his love while her husband still lives. One day a patient is brought into the operating room; when the bandages are lifted and he is recognized as the reprobate husband, and it looks as though their problem is to be solved.

But the generous surgeon and lover says he can save the man, and then, just as one is wondering how things are to end happily, the girl awakens. Her elopement has been a dream, and a good lesson to her, for she now realizes that she can only find happiness with her village lover.

The story is full of human interest and well acted by an excellent cast headed by Bryant Washburn, Marguerite Clayton and Edmund F. Cobb. The scenes of the small town society life are realistic and in fact nothing about the picure is overdrawn or inconsistent. It is a very good three reel program offering, which most audiences will find both refreshing and interesting.

"PARAMOUNT SHORT SUBJECTS"

(Burton Holmes' Travelogues—One Reel. Paramount Pictographs—One Reel)

REVIEWED BY HARVEY F. THEW

BURTON HOLMES this week discusses "The Penal Colony of Palawan," in the Philippines. He shows in detail the work Uncle Sam has undertaken and is accomplishing in the way of reforming native criminals, and illustrates the fact that this is so successful that three unarmed white men are sufficient to guard 1,300 prisoners.

Cottages, farms, recreation and industries are supplied for the prisoners, who are changed from criminals into useful and productive citizens. There are also glimpses of charming and unusual scenery in the neighborhood.

The Paramount Pictographs contain a moving diagram illustrating how the United States fleet might be destroyed. Although this was prepared by a naval expert, Henry Reuterdahl, it is not impressive, and it apparently presupposes a supineness and ignorance of naval tactics and strategy on the American side, which the writer has never observed in the United States Navy. Professor Munsterberg gives an illustrated article on testing the mind, showing the various trends of the human mental machine. There is also a striking scenic picture of Idaho, in which a motor boat successfully plows upstream through Wild Goose Rapids.

KEMBLE FILM COMPANY SECURES "THE ZEPPELIN RAIDS ON LONDON" AND "THE SIEGE OF VERDUN" FOR STATE RIGHTS

THE part the Zeppelins are playing in the world war is portrayed in moving pictures in "The Zeppelin Raids on London" and "The Siege of Verdun," which played to capacity audiences in the Park Theatre under the auspices of the New York Globe.

Pronounced at the time of their first showing as "the most spectacular war pictures ever seen," they actually show the giant Zeppelins flying over London, the bombardment of that famous city, and the attack on the huge dirigibles by anti-aircraft guns, and the devastation the "Zeps" leave in their wake.

"Deadman's Hill," Le Mort Homme, as it is known all over France, that slaughter pen where men died like sheep, is shown in all its thrilling realism. The blowing up of the Malancourt Bridge at the siege of Verdun, shown one minute a magnificent structure of steel and brick, apparently as strong as Gibraltar, shelled into a heap of ruins.

The Kemble Film Corporation of Brooklyn has secured the American rights for these films and they will be states-righted by them.

THEATRE BUILDING IN BALTIMORE RUNS AHEAD OF PICTURE DEMAND

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Baltimore, Md., June 10.

THERE have been complaints among the exhibitors in the center of the city houses during the past six months regarding the lack of business. While some theatres show an increase over a corresponding period of a year ago many complain that business is not so good. In discussing the condition, Guy L. Wonders, president of the Maryland branch, Motion Picture Exhibitors League, said that while the business at the Wilson, of which he is manager, has shown an increase, it was quite true that a number of houses were less prosperous than formerly.

"I hope," said Mr. Wonders, "that this condition is only temporary, but I am afraid that the situation will not improve for some time. During the last two years, owing to the building of new picture theatres and the conversion of former theatrical houses into motion picture theatres, the seating capacity of the film houses in Baltimore has increased between ten and twelve thousand. Of course, the interest in the photoplay has been going ahead by leaps and bounds, yet the new business has not kept pace with the increasing capacity of the picture theatres.

Most of the new houses have been built in the residential sections. The houses are very attractive and this has had a tendency to hold the people uptown at night, where formerly they would come downtown, and attend one or more of the picture shows in the center of the city. Of course, some of the smaller houses, and the least desirable in the residential section have been closed, but this has not equaled the increase in the capacity of the new theatres built. There are, at present, several theatres in the course of construction, which will open within the next few weeks, and will add probably a thousand to the seating capacity. There will be a few houses closed during the summer, but even taking this into consideration there will be more houses, and larger houses doing daily business in Baltimore than last summer. Baltimoreans are by no means losing interest in moving pictures; in fact, the film drama will become more popular than ever, but it is simply a case where the business is more widely distributed than ever before.

MABEL TALIAFERRO SIGNS WITH METRO-ROLFE FOR ELEVEN FIVE-PART FEATURES

MABEL TALIAFERRO has signed an engagement with Metro-Rolfe to appear in at least eleven more five-part productions. The first of this number, "God's Half Acre," is now in production, and will be released the middle of July. Edwin Carewe, who has been directing Miss Taliaferro, and who appeared with her in "The Snowbird," her last feature on the Metro program, will direct all the Taliaferro productions.

Miss Taliaferro has the distinction of being the first recognized stage star in America to appear in motion pictures. This was when she played the title role in "Cinderella" for Selig.

Miss Taliaferro was not only the first American star in pictures, but she was the first Metro-Rolfe star, appearing in the stellar role of "The Three Of Us." Previous to "The Snowbird" she was seen on the Metro program in "Her Great Price."

IN AND OUT OF TOWN

Among the prominent visitors to New York from other points during the past week were:

Norma Talmadge, Fine Arts Studios, Los Angeles.
Gus Inglis, Willis and Inglis, Los Angeles.
Bessie Eyton, Selig Studios, Chicago.
J. W. Martin, Milwaukee.
Mae Murray, Lasky Studios, Los Angeles.
Herman Rifkin, Eastern Feature Film Company, Boston.

Harry Rowson, of the Ideal Film Renting Company, London, has returned to England.

BERGER DIRECTS KOLB AND DILL

KOLB and Dill, the German comedians of West Coast fame, who made one picture in Los Angeles, last year, and who have been engaged by President S. S. Hutchinson of the American Company, are now at the Santa Barbara, Cal., studios working in their first subject which is being made under the direction of Roy Berger.

Tabloid Reviews for the Busy Exhibitor

PRODUCTIONS FROM ALL PROGRAMS

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

"The Promised Land." (Essanay. Three reels. Sat., June 17.)—Reviewed at length elsewhere in this issue.

"The Fable of the Undecided Brunette." (Essanay. Wed., June 21.)—This George Ade fable not shown for review; the story follows: A chicken was being rushed by two candidates, one a tin horn and the other a provider. The cheap guy was trench broke, and could be kept busy changing the records on the phonograph. The provider was a financial feather-weight. The doll was up a stump when it came to make a choice. She could not bring herself to lean against a stingy old thing who never buckled.

If she married the provider he would give her everything he owned, but all he owned you could put in a steamer trunk. Auntie advised the doll to center her affections on some tractable person who was neither a prospective pauper nor a close-fisted clam. The doll finally fell for a general manager of set habits and untheatrical generosity, who put things on a business basis. Moral: It is necessary to make a few purchases both before and after marriage.

"The Girl and the Curtain." (Essanay. Reissue. Two reels. Tues., June 20.)—Not shown for review; the story follows:

Bradley is left an immense fortune provided he will marry Mary Burns, a distant relative, a girl he has never seen. Mary at first refuses, but consents to marry him on condition that they at once separate.

They are married with a curtain separating them, so neither one sees the other. Later Mary becomes Bradley's stenographer and they fall in love with each other, without realizing that they are already married. The discovery of their relations makes both happy. Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are the leads.

"The Bachelor's Alliance." (Kalem. Wed., June 14.)—Several bachelors vow never to look sideways at a woman again but when Ethel joins the police force, they all forget their vow and are consequently arrested—that is all except Tom, her sweetheart, who arrests her and makes her his wife. Edwin Ray Coffin prepared this scenario which has many humorous moments in it despite its old age. Ethel Teare, Jack MacDermott, Victor Rottman and Gus Leonard are the principals.

"The Stenographer's Strategy." (Kalem. Fri., June 16.)—Sis Hopkins gets a job as a stenographer in this picture and among other things saves her employer from receiving a lecture from his wife for flirting, through a very clever ruse. This comedy by S. A. Van Petten makes average entertainment. Henry Murdock is as prominent as ever while others besides Rose Melville are Frank Mizney, Mary Kennedy and Richard Purdon.

"A Race Through the Air." (Kalem. Sat., June 17.)—Helen Gibson's featured stunt in this "Hazards of Helen" number is a drop from an aeroplane onto a train. The feat fails to appear as thrilling on the film as it probably was actually, as the falling body goes much too fast to take definite picture shape. The story by Herman A. Blackman is a good one and adheres strictly to railroad technique.

"In the Service of the State." (Kalem. Two reels. Mon., June 19.)—This number of "The Social Pirates" takes Mona and Mary aboard ship, where they assist a secret service man in regaining plans held by a foreign spy. It is as well built as the other numbers and maintains the interest from first to last. Marin Sais and Ollie Kirkby in addition to playing with the same sincerity as they have in the preceding numbers, wear some very beautiful gowns. E. Forrest Taylor, R. L. Dell and Frank Jonasson are others in the cast.

"The Alaskan Mouse Hound." (Kalem. Tues., June 13.)—This is not an educational as the title might imply but simply another Ham comedy of a very good sort. Ham has a valuable Alaskan Mouse Hound (which is the author's name for daschund) thrust upon him by a crook. He can't get rid of it and is afraid of arrest, so when Bud comes along he gladly gives it to him. Bud returns the dog to its owner and gets a reward which Ham promptly steals and which in turn is promptly stolen from Ham by a policeman.

"The Scapegrace." (Lubin. Three reels. Thurs., June 8.)—This is the old story of the banker's son who steals from the bank to cover his gambling debts and stock market speculations. It receives nothing strikingly new in the handling, and must be considered of only average interest. Settings and photography, as usual, are very good. The cast gives fairly good renditions, but some of the scenes which aim at sentiment are quite painful. George Routh, Bird Hopkins, Adelaide Bronti, Adda Gleason, Alan Forrest, and Evelyn Page are the players. The direction is by Jack Byrne from a script by Josephine McLaughlin.

"The Avenger." (Lubin. Two reels. Tues., June 13.)—A murder mystery, this starts well and holds for several hundred feet. Then the mystery is cleared up by means of a cutback which shows that the Hindu servant killed his master because the latter had stolen a bit of parchment from a temple in India. The dead man's son, in collaboration with a reporter, causes the Hindu to commit suicide by rubbing phosphorous on the face of the idol—phosphorous being a sign of the god's displeasure. L. C. Shumway, Sidney Hayes, Robert Gray, George Routh, Velma Whitman, and Melvin Mayo are in the cast. Leon D. Kent directed.

"Two Smiths and A Haff." (Lubin. Sat., June 10.)—Betta Haff doesn't want to marry John Smith, so when her brother arrives from the West with his friend, Jack Smith, the family is saved from scandal, and the cost of new wedding cards, by marrying Betta to Jack. It is a mildly amusing comedy, well-produced as to sets and lighting. In the cast are Francis Joyner, George Raymond, George Clarke, Jessie Terry, Herbert Fortier, Kempton Greene, Flo Williams, June Daye, Lenore Peacock, and Margaret Moore. Clay M. Greene is the director.

"Taking a Chance." (Selig. Sat., June 24.)—In this Tom Mix Western, Tom wins the rancher's daughter by rescuing both her and her father's money from a crook automobile salesman. The usual stage-coach is supplanted by an automobile. This adds a touch of novelty and supplies Tom Mix with a new vehicle for his dare-devil feats. It is a worth-while single reeler and one which will appeal to the host of Mix fans.

"The Ancient Blood." (Knickerbocker Star Feature. Three reels. Fri., June 23.)—This is one of those pictures which prompts the reviewer to talk about the settings rather than the story, because the story is very, very old, and is not handled in a genuinely dramatic way. The settings are good. Mostly exteriors, they show rugged hills, deep woods, and suggest admirably the atmosphere of the Canadian Northwest. The interiors are excellent, also. The story tells how a halfbreed girl marries a young Englishman who comes out to the Northwest, goes back to England with him, finds high society not to her liking, and returns to Canada and to Jacques. The cast does average work. It includes Virginia Norden, Ruth Lackaye, Myrtle Reeves, Alice Smith, Mitchell Scanland, Philo McCullough, Neil Hardin, Lake McKee, Robyn Adair, and Frank Erlanger. Charles Bartlett directed.

MUTUAL PROGRAM

"Doughnuts." (Falstaff. Sat., June 17.)—Conductor 786, in private life Riley Chamberlain, has trouble with his young wife's lack of skill in the kitchen. He goes to see the doctor, but is so terrified by the array of carpenter's tools he sees that he escapes through the window. Eventually he, his dog, and a thief who broke into the kitchen and ate some of the bride's doughnuts, all go to the hospital. When he is discharged the bride is waiting for him with the news that she has prepared an elaborate meal in celebration of his recovery. He gasps in despair, but on arrival at home is met by an expert cook which his wife has engaged. Gladys Leslie, Frances Keyes and Walter Hiers are also in the cast.

"The Gentle Conspiracy." (American. Two reels. Mon., June 19.)—This picture will hold the interest of most audiences, though the story is improbable and contains some minor inconsistencies.

The headstrong daughter of wealthy parents runs away to the city where she is killed in an automobile accident. The next night the house of her parents is robbed, and among the thieves captured is a young girl who perfectly resembles the daughter. In order to save his invalid wife from learning the fate of their child, the husband forces this young outlaw to take the place of their daughter. Later it is learned that the girl is their niece, being the daughter of the invalid's sister, who also ran away from home years before. The cast includes Louise Lester, Vivian Rich, George Periolat and Alfred Vosburgh.

"Ruffhouse." (Vogue. Tues., June 20.)—This comedy is one series of rough-house fights among the nurses and surprisingly agile patients in a hospital. A bomb finally explodes demolishing the ward and thus ending the reel. While no original stunt is pulled, except in picking a hospital for the location, nevertheless this picture will doubtless be enjoyed by those who like slapstick comedies. The cast includes Alice Neice, Madge Kirby, Arthur Travars and Rube Miller.

"The House on Hokum Hill." (Beauty. Wed., June 21.)—An amusing and original comedy which shows how the writer of thrillers loses his mind because his fagged brain cannot devise a method of saving his hero and heroine from a terrible end. With the aid of his patented plot machine, he conceives the plot. The progress of his story is visualized on the screen and the typewritten manuscript is used as sub-titles. It is a clever idea and out of the beaten path.

The cast includes John Sheehan, Carol Holloway, John Steppling, Rick Rosson and John Gough.

"Realestaters." (Falstaff. Mon., June 12.)—This is a clever comedy, in which Oscar and Conrad fall into the clutches of a real estate shark, who sells them lots which are under water at the sea side, in such manner that they have no redress in court. Mrs. Conrad comes to the rescue, she makes the acquaintance of the real estate agent, and gets him to take her sailing; she contrives that the boat shall be capsized just off the Conrad and Oscar property, and as he cannot swim, she helps him onto the "lots." There he finds Oscar and Conrad ready to have him arrested for trespassing, and his only salvation is to buy back the lots at a substantial advance. The cast includes Claude Cooper, Frank E. McNish, Louise Emerald Bates and Morgan Jones.

"Jerry's Elopement." (Cub. Fri., June 23.)—George Ovey has the support of a large cast in his impersonation of a French count; he does this to win a girl, but just as his wooing is progressing the real count appears. Jerry flees, but that night he throws a note to the girl, attached to a brick. The brick hits her father and knocks him unconscious, but the girl gets the note, and prepares to elope with Jerry. She is kidnapped by the count, however, and imprisoned in a deserted house. Jerry discovers the hiding place and leads the cops there, but all are thrown into the basement through a trap door. The police and Jerry organize, regain their liberty, trap the count, and Jerry wins the girl.

"A Modern Knight." (Mustang. Two reels. Fri., June 23.)—This is a good Western drama containing some hard riding and thrills, particularly when the stage-coach with its occupants crashes over a cliff. A cowpuncher falls in love with a movie actress, whose company is in the West to secure atmosphere. After some humorous complications, he is hired by the company.

In a real stage-coach hold-up, pulled off by two desperadoes, in place of a fake one which the movie company had planned, the cowpuncher rescues the leading lady from one of the bandits, who proves to be her deserted and despised husband. The husband is killed in the wreck of the stage-coach, so the two lovers are free to marry. The cast includes Art Acord, Nita Davis, Ashton Dearholt, Clarence Burton, Al. W. Fordyce, Bessie Banks, George Gerhardt, Harry McCabe and Carle Morrison.

"The Day's Work." (Beauty. Sun., June 25.)—This comedy shows how an author who writes books of practical advice fails in putting this advice into practice. In trying to arrange their house in an orderly manner so that he will make a good impression on his wife's wealthy aunt, who disapproves of him, he succeeds in upsetting it from top to bottom, breaking up the furniture, flooding the bath room floor and creating a perfect bedlam of disorder. His ridiculously impractical, but perfectly good intented attempts, make the picture hilariously amusing. The cast includes Orral Humphrey, Lucille Ward, Mollie Shafer, Joe Massey and Madeline Fordyce.

"The Iron Mitt." (Vogue. Sun., June 25.)—Not shown for review.

"A Traitor to Art." (Essanay. Three reels. Sat., June 24.)—Not shown for review: the story follows: Brunda Adams and Arthur Synott, small town sweethearts, become engaged. Brunda becomes an artist's model and Synott a minister. Later Synott marries her, not knowing her former life. Knowing that a nude picture of her is to be exhibited and that her husband will see it, Brunda goes to the artist's studio and destroys the picture. The artist comes upon her and threatens arrest, but his jealous wife, misunderstanding the conversation, rushes in and kills the artist and herself. Appearing in the cast are Ann Kirk, Edward Arnold, Hugh Thompson and Marian Lydston.

PATHE EXCHANGE, INC

"Luke's Fatal Flivver." (Rolin.)—This comedy is full of action of the faster sort. Luke is pilot of an auto conveying a large party to the picnic grounds. They stop and spread their lunch, and in some way Luke's party becomes mixed with a crowd of fashionable folk out for a day in the country. When Luke's passengers see him, apparently making way with the lunch, a riot follows, in which flying articles of lunch figure importantly.

"The Iron Claw," No. 17. (Pathe. Two reels.)—This chapter, entitled "The Vanishing Faker," brings David Manley, Golden's secretary, into more disrepute, following his claim that he was the "Laughing Mask," which claim he was unable to prove. He is dismissed from the Golden household, but Margery, with considerable lingering affection, presents him with a dog as a parting gift. The Iron Claw plans a sweeping revenge at a lawn party to be given by the Goldens. This is to dynamite a huge oak tree, and hurl it over onto the pavilion while the latter is filled with merry-makers. The pet dog, which has becomes involved in a pool of molasses, rolls across the note to Legar, in which one of his henchmen explains the plot. The note thus gets to Manley, who is able to frustrate the plot. Creighton Hale, Pearl White and Sheldon Lewis are featured in the cast.

"From Kitchen Mechanic to Movie Star." (Split reel.)—This is another of the animated Goldberg cartoons, relating the history of Ammonia Emptydome, the maid of all work, who is amputated from her job just in time to fall into the arms of a movie director who is looking for someone "with a face that was started but never finished." When she returns to the kitchen she is covered with diamonds whose flash overcomes her late mistress. On the same reel is a beautiful scenic study of "Japan's Ancient Capital—Nara."

"Luke's Society Mix-up." (Phunphilms.)—Lonesome Luke, chauffeur in the home of a wealthy family, is called in to take the place of a guest of honor at a reception and the resulting complications are side-splitting, unless we have lost our sense of comedy. There are pretty girls too, one of them who is quite bewitchingly so, has a prominent part, which she fully well deserves.

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

"The Man From Nowhere." (Red Feather. Five reels. Mon., June 19.)—Reviewed at length in the issue of June 17.

"Wanted—a Husband." (Nestor. Mon., June 19.)—Many humorous complications result when the young wife borrows a husband that she may inherit a fortune, her real mate being away on a business trip. This was staged with one of the popular Nestor casts including Betty Compson, Neal Burns, Ethel Lynn, Harry Rattenberry, Stella Adams and Joe Janecke.

"The False Part." (Gold Seal. Two reels. Tues., June 20.)—Herbert Rawlinson can always play the motion picture hero and he assumes his right role here with the result that an excellent comedy-romance has been produced. The girl loves friend Herbert from his picture work, but her mother has greater things in store for her in the shape of a languid society man. The picture idol comes to the house for dinner and at the instigation of the mother leaves his manners in the studio, acting very much like a pig. However, mother softens and consents to let daughter and Herbert love. Agnes Vernon, Helen Wright and Antrim Short are good support. William Worthington directed.

Edith Storey in a Scene from "The Shop Girl," Vitagraph-V-L-S-E

"His Picture." (Imp. Tues., June 20.)—A very good comedy in which the wife's jealous nature leads her to spy on her husband. She believes that he secretly meets a vampire, but instead he is sitting for his picture. William Garwood, Violet Mersereau and others appeared in a scenario by William Addison Lathrop, while Ray Schrock directed.

"The Grip of Crime." (Big U. Tues., June 20.)—This picture, scenario written by Calder Johnstone and produced by George Cochrane, should prove of more than usual interest. The acting throughout is good, while the character study of an old Italian rendered by Thomas Jefferson is most pleasing. Lena Baskett, Burton Law and Frank Newburg are the rest of the principals.

"The Scarlet Mark." (Victor. Two reels. Wed., June 21.)—A melodrama relying much on coincidence for its advancement, but most interesting nevertheless. Mary Fuller is featured in a dual role. She appears as a society girl and as a crook who takes the former's place with intent to rob. The ending is considerably exciting. Mrs. Brundage, Joe Girard and Tony Merlo are the other principals.

Paul Dickey, International Director-General

"A Jail Bird's Last Flight." (L-Ko. Wed., June 21.)—Showing the manner in which two rounders were taken in by a fair "cop-ess" and how by their antics in jail they completely destroyed it. Billy Armstrong and Gene Rogers do excellently as the fiirts in this while Carmel Meyers makes a very pretty foil. The roughhouse in the final scenes is hilariously funny while the comparatively calm action of the opening scenes is equally humorous.

"Behind the Secret Panel." (Imp. Three reels. Thurs., June 22.)—This melodrama shows the troubles that a flirtatious wife created for herself and her nihilist husband while living in Russia. The woman finally manages to elude a desiring officer, free her husband and escape to America. This picture, the scenario for which was prepared by William A. Lathrop, has a great deal of interest in it although it is a little rabid at times. Paul Panzer, Sonia Marcel, William Welsh, Tony Merlo and Howard Crampton are the leads.

"The Young Sleuth." (Powers. Thurs., June 22.)—In which two kids turn detectives and accidentally capture a crook. The action of this is much too slow in the earlier footage, while the picture never demands more than slight interest. Children, Frank Butterworth and Irma Sorter, are the leads, and the subject will find its warmest welcome from such picture-goers, although we have seen child offerings of much better quality.

"What Could the Poor Girl Do?" (Nestor. Two reels. Fri., June 23.)—An excellent burlesque on the crook melodrama written by Al Christie and produced by Eddie Lyons. Lyons as the hero, Billie Rhodes as the girl who wants to reform, and Lee Moran as the crook who becomes enraptured at the smell of heliotrope, are the principals. The closing scenes are of the rough and tumble variety that Christie's company can do so well. Numerous popular situations of the underworld melodrama are burlesqued to a really unproarious degree. Stella Adams, Harry Rattenberry and Ed Burns support the three leads.

"The Heart Wrecker." (Imp. Fri., June 23.)—William Addison Lathrop's story of the city man who is killed by lightning after his betrayal of a country girl while not anything original makes very fair entertainment as pictured in this reel. George Ridgewell directed and his cast, a good one, is composed of Edith Roberts, Harry Benham and Tony Merlo.

"The Ghost of the Jungle." (Bison. Two reels. Sat., June 24.)—While the inmates of the Universal zoo are introduced in places throughout this picture, it relies for its suspense and interest on the melodramatic plot which is well worked out. The scenes and photography are very good while the beasts furnish added suspense by their presence. Jay Hunt directed Yona Landowska, Rex de Roselli, Guy Hedlund and Colin Chase in the principal roles.

"The Fall of Deacon Stillwaters." (Joker. Sat., June 24.)—While the author of this comedy has not taken full advantage of his opportunities, the usual Joker cast makes the reel worth while. It tells of a rabid deacon reformist who innocently gets reformed the wrong way by the town toughs. William Franey, Gale Henry, Charles Conklin and Milburn Moranti are the principals. Allen Curtis directed.

"The Fool." (Rex. Two reels. Sun., June 25.)—An inventor at work on a labor saving device is deserted by his wife. His invention finally reaches perfection, but at the instigation of a girl whom he has grown to love he breaks up the machine because it will throw many men out of work. This story is fair up to the final point and then its foolish. Ben Wilson and Edna Hunter are the leads.

"The Rogue with a Heart." (Laemmle. Sun., June 25.)—A robber regenerated through the love of a woman is nothing new to the realm of pictures, and though pictured here with little regard to steady character development it carries with it a certain amount of suspense that helps along. Hobart Henley, Sydell Dowling and Sydney Bracey are the principals. The scenario was prepared by Harry Dittmar and produced by Robert Hill.

"The Sheriff of Pine Mountain." (Rex. Two reels. Sun., June 11.)—The sheriff of the northern town finds himself confronted with the alternative of arresting his sweetheart's brother or flinging his duty to the winds. He chooses the former course, but it turns out that the boy is guiltless, while the sheriff is able to capture the real murderers. Ben Wilson, Dorothy Phillips and William Courtleigh, Jr., are the leads in this drama which, laid in realistic snow scenes, makes an acceptable production. William A. Lathrop are the leads.

"Peg o' the Ring." (Universal Special Feature. Seventh Episode. Two reels. Week of June 12.)—This number, entitled "The Wreck," moves somewhat slowly and repeats many of the situations brought forward in the former chapters. The railroad crash, the big thriller of the number, can be made much more effective by better cutting of the film. This scene shows a freight car stalled on a bridge. Peg and Lund, Jr., are on top and when an express approaches they are obliged to jump into the water. The engine smashes the car to atoms.

WEEKLIES

Hearst-Vitagraph, No. 45.—Recruit firemen of Boston at drill; Berkeley, Cal., celebrates its fiftieth birthday; memorial service at National Home for Disabled Soldiers, Hampton, Va.; new mono-rail car tested at 'Frisco; delegates to Women's Clubs convention, guests of Vitagraph; President Lowell, of Harvard, and Gen. Wood, review Harvard student regiment; Republican "favorite sons" pose for camera; Columbia and New York University stage a pushball game; other views.

Selig-Tribune, No. 46. Society men go into camp as members of cavalry troop at San Francisco; Cambridge pupils at day's outing, Manchester, Mass.; military field hospital established for G. A. R. veterans in Chicago park; President Wilson delivers memorial day address at Arlington cemetery; Chicago hotels crowded to the doors by delegates to the Republican convention; 200,000 citizens march for preparedness at Chicago; solemn procession in commemoration of Lusitania tragedy, in London; pretty models pose at fashion show, New York.

Pathe News, No. 47. Scenes at the Republican convention, Chicago; women at work in factories in London; 250 girls get degrees at Vassar's fiftieth commencement; troops on guard at Dublin to prevent further uprisings; Coney Island welcomes 2,000 orphan children on outing; new type of machine gun on motor cycle arrives at Columbus, N. Mex.; crew of U. S. S. Oregon honors dead comrades at San Francisco; Western delegates to Women's Club convention visit West Point; U. S. Reclamation service finishes Arrow Rock dam at cost of $5,000,000, Boise, Idaho; automobile drives motor boat, at Aberdeen, Wash.; great preparedness parade at St. Louis.

Universal Animated Weekly, No. 24.—St. Louis preparedness parade; Brown University women play Shakespearean roles; Statue of Liberty illuminated by battleship searchlight; Gen. Wood reviews Harvard preparedness regiment; American Liberty Day at Sheepshead Bay draws 84,000; bathing beauties parade at Venice, Cal.; views of the German high seas fleet; last public views of Kitchener; "L" wreck in New York; other views, and cartoon by Hy Mayer.

INCORPORATIONS

In Delaware:

ILLINOIS ANIMATED ADVERTISING COMPANY; manufacture and sale of motion picture films and lantern slides for advertisement; capitalized at $25,000 in Wilmington, Del.; incorporators are: Melbert B. Cary, New York City; Ernest L. Conant, New York City; Edwardo Verdes, New York City.

FELBER FILM COMPANY; manufacture of moving photographs, lantern slides, etc.; capitalized at $50,000 in Wilmington, Del.; incorporators are: John E. Fitzgerald, John T. Costello, J. B. Felber, all Pittsburgh, Pa.

IN NEW YORK:

FILM FIRE PREVENTION AND MOTION PICTURE EQUIPMENT CORPORATION; manufacturing goods, wares and merchandise relating to motion picture films, equipment, etc.; capitalized at $250,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Kenneth S. Ferguson, 485 West 135th street, New York City; Wallace MacDougall, 203 West 106th street, New York City; Abram MacDougall, 193 Meserole avenue, Brooklyn.

E. I. S. MOTION PICTURE CORPORATION; general motion picture business; capitalized at $15,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Dixon Boardman, Pelham Manor, New York; Bradford Boardman, 375 Park avenue, New York; Walter E. Green, 12 Summer street, Orange, N. J.

EMAR FILM CORPORATION; motion picture business; capitalized at $5,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Michael Resnick, 734 East 160th street, New York; Harry Hayman, 445 West 124th street, New York; Chas. B. Mintz, 288 Madison street, New York.

KING KOMEDY FILM COMPANY, INC.; manufacturing picture films, novelties, accessories, etc.; capitalized at $2,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Louis Weiss, 51 Avenue A, New York; Fdk. Beck, 220 West Forty-second street, New York; Geo. M. Merrick, 220 West Forty-second street, New York.

TWENTIETH CENTURY FILM COMPANY, INC.; manufacturing films, accessories, supplies, etc.; capitalized at $1,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Louis Weiss, 51 Avenue A, New York City; Fdk. Beck, 220 West Forty-second street, New York City; Jeanette Pomerance, 1262 Fiftieth street, Brooklyn.

SANGER PICTURE PLAYS CORPORATION; manufacturing films, accessories, motion picture, etc.; carry on business with $10,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Wm. H. Rolston, 122 East Seventy-sixth street, New York; Eugene B. Sanger, 139 Pelham road, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Brown Rolston, Plainfield, N. J.

Float Built by Thomas H. Ince and Used to Advertise "Civilization"

THE BIDDLE PUBLISHING COMPANY, INC.; printing, publishing, bookselling, manufacturing motion picture films, accessories, etc.; capitalized at $25,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Chas. C. Metzler, 50 Broad street, New York; Earl Swain, 50 Broad street, New York; Thos. R. Horton, 239 West Thirty-ninth street, New York.

NEPTUNE MOTION PICTURE EFFECTS, INC.; motion icture films, effects, etc.; capitalized at $15,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Howard Thurston, Beechhurst, L. I., N. Y.; Rialto F. C. Leithold, 1400 Broadway, New York; Bailey C. Elliott.

BARRE ANIMATED CARTOONS, INC.; motion picture films, etc.; capitalized at $1,000 in Nyack; incorporators are: Arthur Rosenbach, 729 Seventh avenue, New York; Louis Shafarman, 729 Seventh avenue, New York; Harry G. Kosch, 218 West Forty-second street, New York.

ENTERPRISE FEATURE FILMS CORPORATION; manufacturing moving picture films, supplies, accessories, etc.; capitalized at $500 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Samuel B. Potsfsky, 511 West 129th street, New York City; Rae Zagon, 729 Seventh avenue, New York City; Emanuel S. Manheiner, 729 Seventh avenue, New York City.

THE NEW YORK CIVILIZATION FEATURE FILM COMPANY, INC.; exhibit motion picture film known as "Civilization"; capitalized at $10,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Al. H. Woods, 236 West Forty-second street, New York; Thos. H. Ince, Longacre Building, New York.

In Virginia:

DREAMLAND PARK AMUSEMENT COMPANY, INC.; to conduct a general amusement part and business; capitalized at $10,000 in Richmond, Va.; incorporators are: G. W. Stallings, Richmond, Va.; Thos. R. Spencer, Richmond, Va.; W. J. Boeckel, Petersburg, Va.

LEWIS J. SELZENICK PRODUCTIONS, INC., OF NEW YORK; the taking and producing of motion pictures, etc.; capitalized at $500,000 in Richmond, Va.; incorporators are: L. L. Lacy, John H. Bookok, J. V. Talley, all Richmond, Va.

STATEMENT OF OWNERSHIP

Statement of the ownership, management, circulation, etc., required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of Motion Picture News, published weekly, at New York, N. Y., for April 1, 1916.

State of New York, County of New York, Before me, a notary public in and for the State and County aforesaid, personally appeared H. Ashton Wyckoff, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the business manager of Motion Picture News, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers, are: Publisher, Motion Picture News, Inc., 729 Seventh avenue, New York, N. Y.; editor, William A. Johnston, 729 Seventh avenue, New York, N. Y.; managing editor, Lesley Mason, 729 Seventh avenue, New York, N. Y.; business manager, H. Ashton Wyckoff, 729 Seventh avenue, New York, N. Y.

2. That the owners are: (Give names and addresses of individual owners, or, if a corporation, give its name and the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of the total amount of stock) Motion Picture News, Inc., 729 Seventh avenue, New York, N. Y.; William A. Johnston, 729 Seventh avenue, New York, N. Y.; E. Kendall Gillett, 729 Seventh avenue, New York, N. Y.; H. Ashton Wyckoff, 729 Seventh avenue, New York, N. Y.; Henry F. Sewall, 729 Seventh avenue, New York, N. Y.; Percy Alden, 729 Seventh avenue, New York, N. Y.; Wentworth Tucker, 729 Seventh avenue, New York, N. Y.; Carl Tucker, 729 Seventh avenue, New York, N. Y.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees and other security holders, holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages or other securities, none.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

H. ASHTON WYCKOFF,
Business Manager.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 5th day of April, 1916.

HERMAN S. FULD.

Notary Public, Kings County, Kings County Clerk's No. 49, Kings County Register No. 8050, New York County Clerk's No. 114. New York Register No. 8118.

(My commission expires March 30, 1918.)

CARTOON ADS
DON'T HANDLE ANY LINE UNTIL YOU HAVE SEEN MOTO-ADS. CATALOG FREE. BIG PROFITS FOR EXHIBITORS AND AGENTS.
AMERICAN COMMERCIAL FILM CO.
150 W. Austin Avenue CHICAGO

FOR RENT
FULLY EQUIPPED STUDIO
Apply to G. H. WILEY, 251 West 19th Street, New York City
Phone, Chelsea 2459

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.

HEARST INTERNATIONAL NEWS PICTORIAL

¶ The HEARST INTERNATIONAL NEWS PICTORIAL will be released beginning the week of June 12th and twice weekly thereafter.

¶ This news pictorial is an accurate and interesting presentation of the world's news in motion pictures, exclusive fashions, directed by Mr. H. E. Hancock, a scenic and educational section—A NEWSPAPER IN PICTURES.

¶ The Hearst International News Pictorial is not only a news reel, but an indispensable one reel feature as well.

¶ Book it!

INTERNATIONAL FILM SERVICE Inc.
2 COLUMBUS CIRCLE • NEW YORK City

HEARST INTERNATIONAL NEWS PICTORIAL

WAR STUFF

¶ The HEARST INTERNATIONAL NEWS PICTORIAL will feature the most up to the minute war pictures.

¶ Ariel Varges of the International Staff, is the only American photographer with the Allies at Salonica.

¶ Nelson G. Edwards, is the only American photographer with the Turkish and German armies in Asia Minor.

¶ Tracy Mathewson, International Correspondent, is the only official motion picture photographer with the punitive expedition in Mexico.

¶ In France, Germany, Austria, Italy—in all the countries at war—an International Film Service photographer is on hand. This means exceptional war material. It means that the International Film Service is in a position to get the greatest war subjects.

¶ Go now to our nearest exchanges.

INTERNATIONAL FILM SERVICE Inc.
2 COLUMBUS CIRCLE · NEW YORK City

Calendar of Coming and Current Releases

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

RELEASES FOR CURRENT WEEK

Sunday, June 18, 1916.

KNICKERBOCKER STAR FEATURE—Pay Dirt (Henry King), D., 5000..... 20740

Monday, June 19, 1916.

KALEM—In the Service of the State (Thirteenth of "The Social Pirates"), D., 2000.....Special
BIOGRAPH—A Misunderstood Boy, D., 1000 (Re-Issue) 20750
SELIG—The Reprisal, D., 3000..... 20745
SELIG—Selig-Tribune, No. 49, Topical, 1000..... 20749
LUBIN—Otto's Legacy, C., 1000..... 20751
VITAGRAPH—Stung, C., 1000..... 20748

Tuesday, June 20, 1916.

BIOGRAPH—The Reformers, D., 2000 (Re-Issue).... 20756
EDISON—Out of the Ruins, D., 3000..... 20757
ESSANAY——The Girl at the Curtain, D., 2000..... 20752
KALEM—The Beggar and His Child (Ham Comedy) 20754

Wednesday, June 21, 1916.

EDISON—The Pied Piper of Hamelin, Juve., 1000.... 20762
ESSANAY—The Fable of the Undecided Brunette, C.. 20761
KALEM—That Lovely Widow (E. T. Comedy)..... 20760

Thursday, June 22, 1916.

LUBIN—Love's Law, D., 3000..... 20763
SELIG—Selig-Tribune, No. 50, Topical, 1000..... 20766
VIM—Never Again, C., 1000..... 20767

Friday, June 23, 1916.

KALEM—Her Great Invention (Sis Hopkins), C., 1000 20771
KNICKERBOCKER STAR FEATURE—The Ancient Blood, D., 3000..... 20768
VIM—For Better or Worse, C., 1000..... 20773
VITAGRAPH—Curfew at Pokey Center, C., 1000..... 20772

Saturday, June 24, 1916.

ESSANAY—A Traitor to Art, D., 3000..... 20774
KALEM—The Mysterious Cipher (H. & H. Series).. 20782
LUBIN—Persistency, C., 1000..... 20777
SELIG—Taking a Chance, W. D., 1000..... 20782
VITAGRAPH—Would You Forgive Her? D., 3000.. 20778

RELEASES FOR COMING WEEK

Monday, June 26, 1916.

KALEM—The Music Swindlers, (Fifteenth of the Social Pirates), D., 2000.....Special
BIOGRAPH—The Unwelcome Guest, D., 1000 (Re-Issue) .....
LUBIN—No Place Like Jail, C., 1000.....
SELIG—The Sacrifice, D., 3000.....
SELIG—Selig-Tribune, No. 51, Topical, 1000.....
VITAGRAPH—The Foxy Trotters, C., 1000.....

Tuesday, June 27, 1916.

EDISON—The Southerners, D., 3000.....
ESSANAY—The Voice in the Wilderness, D., 2000 Re-Issue) .....
KALEM—Ham Comedy (Title not decided).....
LUBIN—Out of the Flotsam, D., 2000.....

Wednesday, June 28, 1916.

BIOGRAPH—A Fair Rebel, D., 3000.....
EDISON—One reel Drama (Title not decided).....
ESSANAY—Vernon Howe Bailey's Sketch Book of St. Louis, Cart and 500 ft., Sc., Split reel.....
KALEM—When Opportunity Knocked, (E. T. Com.).
KALEM—The Lotus Woman (Alice Hollister), D., 5,000 .....

Thursday, June 29, 1916.

LUBIN—The Return of John Boston, D., 3000.....
SELIG—Selig-Tribune, No. 52, Topical, 1000.....
VIM—Better Halves, C., 1000.....

Friday, June 30, 1916.

KALEM—Setting the Fashions (Sis Hopkins).....
KNICKERBOCKER STAR FEATURE—The Master of the House, D., 3000.....
VIM—For Value Received, C., 1000.....
VITAGRAPH—Losing Weight, C., 1000.....

Saturday, July 1, 1916.

ESSANAY—The Regeneration of Margaret, D., 3000.
KALEM—The Engineer's Honor, (H. of H. Series)..
LUBIN—Edison Bugg's Invention, and Under a Barrel, Split reel Comedy.....
SELIG—The Girl of Gold Gulch, D., 1000.....
VITAGRAPH—Title not reported.....

MUTUAL FILM

Monday, June 19, 1916.

AMERICAN—The Gentle Conspiracy, D., 2000..... 04834

Tuesday, June 20, 1916.

VOGUE—Ruffhouse, C., 1000..... 04836

Wednesday, June 21, 1916.

MUTUAL—Mutual Weekly, No. 77, Topical, 1000.... 04837
BEAUTY—The House on Hokum Hill, C., 1000..... 04838
GAUMONT—See America First, Sc., The Belle of the Village Green, Shgrf., Split reel..... 04839

Thursday, June 22, 1916.

GAUMONT—The Criminal Thumb, D., 3000..... 04840

Friday, June 23, 1916.

MUSTANG—A Modern Knight, D., 2000..... 04843
CUB—Jerry's Elopement, C., 1000..... 04845

Saturday, June 24, 1916.

CENTAUR—A Siren of the Jungle, D., 2000..... 04846

Sunday, June 25, 1916.

BEAUTY—The Day's Work, C., 1000..... 04848
VOGUE—The Iron Mitt, C., 1000..... 04849
GAUMONT—"Reel Life," Magazine reel..... 04850

Monday, June 26, 1916.

AMERICAN—The Fate of the Dolphin, D., 2000..... 04851

Tuesday, June 27, 1916.

VOGUE—A Safe Loss, C., 1000..... 04853

Wednesday, June 28, 1916.

MUTUAL—Mutual Weekly, No. 78, Topical, 1000.... 04854
BEAUTY—When Adam Had 'em, C., 1000..... 04855
GAUMONT—See America First, Sc., (Glacier National Park, and Kartoon Komics, Split reel..... 04856

Thursday, June 29, 1916.

AMERICAN—Tangled Skeins, D., 3000..... 04857

Friday, June 30, 1916.

MUSTANG—The Demon of Fear, D., 2000..... 04860
CUB—Jerry's Big Haul, C., 1000..... 04862

Saturday, July 1, 1916.

CENTAUR—A King o' Make Believe, D., 2000..... 04863

Sunday, July 2, 1916.

BEAUTY—The Gink from Kankakee, C., 1000..... 04865
VOGUE—Just for a Kid, C., 1000..... 04866
GAUMONT—"Reel Life," Magazine reel, 1000..... 04867

Calendar of Current and Coming Releases

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

RELEASES FOR CURRENT WEEK

UNIVERSAL SPECIAL FEATURE—Peg o' the Ring, No. 8, D., 2000 01544

Monday, June 19, 1916.

RED FEATHER—The Man from Nowhere, D., 5000 .. 01526
NESTOR—Wanted, a Husband, C., 1000 01527

Tuesday, June 20, 1916.

GOLD SEAL—The False Part, D., 2000 01528
BIG U—The Grip of Crime, D., 2000 01529
IMP—His Picture, C., 1000 .....

Wednesday, June 21, 1916.

VICTOR—The Scarlet Mark, D., 2000 01531
L-KO—The Jailbird's Last Flight, C., 1000 01532
UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY—No. 25, News 01533

Thursday, June 22, 1916.

IMP—Behind the Secret Panel, D., 3000 01534
POWERS—The Young Sleuths, C., 1000 01535

Friday, June 23, 1916.

IMP—The Heart Wrecker, Com. D., 1000 01536
REX—The Rosary, D., 1000 (Re-Issue) 01537
NESTOR—What Could the Poor Girl Do?, C., 2000 .. 01538

Saturday, June 24, 1916.

BISON—The Ghost of the Jungle, An. D., 2000 01539
JOKER—The Fall of Deacon Stillwaters, C., 1000 01540

Sunday, June 25, 1916.

REX—The Fool, D., 2000 01541
LAEMMLE—The Rogue With a Heart, D., 1000 01542
L-KO—Dirty Work in a Beanery, C., 1000 01543

RELEASES FOR COMING WEEK

UNIVERSAL SPECIAL FEATURE—Peg o' the Ring, No. 9, "The Leap," D, 2000 01563

Monday, June 26, 1916.

RED FEATHER—It Happened in Honolulu, D., 5000 01545
NESTOR—The Browns see the Fair, C., 1000 01546

Tuesday, June 27, 1916.

GOLD SEAL—Jackals of a Great City, D., 2000 01547
REX—The Toy Soldier, C., 1000 01548
IMP—Peggy and the Law, D., 1000 01549

Wednesday, June 28, 1916.

BIG U—God and the Baby, D., 1000 01550
L-KO—Pirates of the Air, C., 2000 01551
UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY—No. 26, News 01552

Thursday, June 29, 1916.

LAEMMLE—The Human Cactus, D., 2000 01553
BIG U—Twice at Once, C., 1000 01554
POWERS—Sammy Johnsin, Magician, Cart-C., and The Children's Paradise, Ed., Split reel 01555

Friday, June 30, 1916.

IMP—Blind Man's Buff, Com-D., 2000 01556
VICTOR—Muggins, D., 1000 01557
POWERS—Such is Life in China, (Hy Mayer Com.). 01558

Saturday, July 1, 1916.

BISON—The Money Lenders, D., 2000 01559
JOKER—Bashful Charley's Proposal, C., 1000 01560

Sunday, July 2, 1916.

REX—The Sting of Conscience, D., 3000 01561
LAEMMLE—Baseball Bill, No. 1, C., 1000 01562

UNICORN PROGRAM

Monday, June 5, 1916.

PURITAN—The Rosary, D., 2000 650
GAYETY—The Baby in the Case., C., 1000 651

Tuesday, June 6, 1916.

HIAWATHA—Bob Armstrong's Reward, W. D., 1000 652
LILY—The Crucial Test, D., 1000 653
JUDY—Taming of the Shrew, C., 1000 654

Wednesday, June 7, 1916.

BUFFALO—Broken Hearts, W. D., 1000 655
HIPPO—Mixed Brides, and Pale-Faced Injuns, C. Sp. 656
PURITAN—The Missing Necklace, D., 1000 657

Thursday, June 8, 1916.

LILY—The Formula, D., 2000 658
JOCKEY—Johnny-On-The-Spot, C., 1000 659

Friday, June 9, 1916.

RANCHO—The Higher Voice, W. D., 1000 660
GAYETY—The Re-Made Maid, C., 1000 661
SUPREME—The Two Waifs, D., 1000 662

Saturday, June 10, 1916.

SUNSET—The Rustler's Retribution, D. W., 1000 663
SUPREME—The Eternal Truth, D., 1000 664
HIPPO—Hubby's Escapade, and His One and Only, C. Split reel 665

Sunday, June 11, 1916.

UTAH—A Squaw's Loyalty, W. D., 1000 666
JOCKEY—Two of a Kind, C., 1000 667
PURITAN—The Recoil, D., 1000 668

Monday, June 12, 1916.

PURITAN—The Lure of Gold, D., 2000 675
GAYETY—Little Grains of Rice, C., 1000 676

Tuesday, June 13, 1916.

HIAWATHA—The Wisdom of the White Man, W. D., 1000 677
SUNSET—Mother, D., 1000 678
JOCKEY—Their Noble Relation, C., 1000 679

Wednesday, June 14, 1916.

RANCHO—From Out of the Past, W. D., 1000 680
HIPPO—Wifie's Dilemma, C., 1000 681
SUPREME—The Cashier's Ordeal, D., 1000 682

Thursday, June 15, 1916.

PURITAN—The Ghost's Bride, D., 2000 683
GAYETY—Love and Overalls, and His Wife's Visitor, Com., Split 684

Friday, June 16, 1916.

HIAWATHA—The New Prospector, W. D., 1000 685
JOCKEY—The Closed Door, C., 1000 686
LILY—The Blindness of Jealousy, D., 1000 687

Saturday, June 17, 1916.

RANCHO—His Leading Lady, W. D., 1000 688
SUPREME—The Nobler Love, D., 1000 689
HIPPO—A Circumstantial Hero, and The Live Wire, Com., Split 690

Sunday, June 18, 1916.

RANCHO—The Man Who Came Back, W. D., 1000 .. 691
JOCKEY—The New Maid, C., 1000 692
SUPREME—The Little Heroine, D., 1000 693

RELEASE DATES FOR READY REFERENCE

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

BIOGRAPH

5—22. The Mistake, D. (Re-Issue).....1000
5—23. Who's Looney Now? C.....2000
6—29. The House with the Closed Shutters, (Re-issue).....1000
5—31. Woman Against Woman, D.....3000
5—31. The Woman in Black, D.....5000
6— 5. The Girl Across the Way, D. (Re-Issue) 1000
6— 6. The Yaqui, Cur., D. (Re-Issue).....2000
6—12. The Spirit Awakened, D. (Re-issue)..1000
6—14. Liberty Belles, C.....3000
6—19. A Misunderstood Boy, D., (Re-Issue).....1000
6—20. The Reformers, D., (Re-Issue).....2000

EDISON

6— 6. The Stoning, D. (Re-Issue).....3000
6— 7. Love's Labor Lost, Cart., and Camping with the Black Feet, Sc., Split Reel
6—13. The Man in the Street, D. (Re-issue).3000
6—14. The Charge of the Light Brigade, D.1000
6—20. Out of the Ruins, D.....3000
6—21. The Pied Piper of Hamelin, Juve....1000

ESSANAY

5—20. A Rose of Italy, D.....3000
5—23. The Condemnation, D.....2000
5—24. Canimated Nooz Pictorial, No. 10, Cart., and 500 ft. Sc.....Split Reel
5—27. The Schemers, D.....3000
5—30. The Song in the Dark, (Re-issue), D.2000
5—31. The Fable of the Willing Collegian Who Wanted to Get a Foothold, C.1000
6— 3. Our People, D.....3000
6— 6. Orphan Joyce, D.....2000
6— 7. Vernon Howe Bailey's Sketch Book of Berlin, Cart., and 500 ft. Sc., Split Reel
6—10. Fool's Gold, D.....3000
6—13. Putting it Over, C.....2000
6—14. Canimated Nooz Pictorial, No. 11, Cart., and 500 ft. Sc.....Split Reel
6—17. The Promise Land, D.....3000
6—20. The Girl at the Curtain, D.....2000
6—21. The Fable of the Undecided Brunette, C.....1000
6—24. A Traitor to Art, D.....3000

KALEM

5—10. Not What the Doctor Ordered, C....1000
5—12. A Lunch Room Legacy, C.....1000
5—13. The Bridge of Danger (H. of H. Series), D.....1000
5—16. The Irish Rebel, D.....1000
5—17. The Artful Dodger, C.....1000
5—19. An Innocent Vampire, C.....1000
5—20. One Chance in a Hundred (H. of H. Series), D.....1000
5—23. Ham's Busy Day, C.....1000
5—24. The Bogus Ghost, C.....1000
5—26. The Baby Grand, C.....1000
5—27. The Capture of Red Stanley (H. of H. Series), D.....1000
5—30. A Bunch of Flivvers, C.....1000
5—31. A Smoky Adventure, C.....1000
6— 2. Sis the Detective, C.....1000
6— 3. The Spiked Switch (H. of H. Series), D.....1000
6— 6. Midnight at the Old Mill, C.....1000
6— 7. In Cinderella's Shoes, C.....1000
6— 9. Juggling Justice, C.....1000
6—10. The Treasure Train, D.....1000
6—16. The Stenographer's Strategy, C.....1000
6—17. A Race Through the Air, D.....1000
6—19. In the Service of the State, D.....2000
6—23. Her Great Invention, C.....1000

KNICKERBOCKER STAR FEATURES

5— 5. The Oath of Hate, D.....3000
5—12. Broken Fetters, D.....3000
5—17. Spellbound, D.....5000
5—19. A Child of Fortune, D.....3000
5—26. The Flirting Bride, D.....3000
6— 2. Shadows, D.....3000
6— 9. The Stained Pearl, D.....3000
6—16. Pay Dirt, D.....3000
6—23. The Ancient Blood, D.....3000

LUBIN

5—13. Jenkin's Jinx, C.....1000
5—15. Otto the Artist, C.....1000
5—16. The Beggar King, D.....2000
5—18. Jackstraws, D.....3000
5—20. The Winning Number, C.....1000
5—23. Otto the Hero, C.....1000
5—25. Prisoners of Conscience, D.....3000
5—27. Oh! You Uncle, C.....1000
5—29. Trilby Frilled, C.....1000
5—30. The Final Payment, D.....2000
6— 1. The Code of the Hills, D.....3000
6— 3. Pickles and Diamonds, C.....1000
6— 5. Otto, the Reporter, C.....1000
6— 8. The Scapegrace, D.....3000
6—10. Two Smiths and a Haff, C.....1000
6—12. Otto the Cobbler, C.....1000
6—13. The Avenger, D.....2000
6—15. Sons of the Sea, D.....3000
6—17. Hubby Puts One Over, C.....1000
6—19. Otto's Legacy, C.....1000
6—22. Love is Law, D.....3000
6—24. Persistency, C.....1000

SELIG-TRIBUNE NEWS PICTORIAL

Issued every Monday and Thursday.

SELIG

5—11. Selig-Tribune, No. 38, Topical.....1000
5—13. The Sheriff's Duty, D.....1000
5—16. The Hardy Way, D.....3000
5—18. Selig-Tribune, No. 40, Topical.....1000
5—20. A Boarding House Ham, C.....1000
5—22. The Test of Chivalry, D.....3000
5—27. A Five Thousand Dollar Elopement, C.....1000
5—29. The Hare and the Tortoise, D.....3000
6— 3. Crooked Trails, D.....1000
6— 5. A Temperance Town, C.....3000
6—10. Going West to Make Good, D.....1000
6—12. The Two Orphans, D.....3000
6—17. The Cowpuncher's Peril, D.....1000
6—19. The Reprisal, D.....3000
6—24. Taking a Chance, W. D.....1000

RELEASE DAYS

GENERAL FILM

Monday—Biograph, Lubin, Selig, Selig-Tribune, Vitagraph.
Tuesday—Biograph, Essanay, Kalem, Lubin.
Wednesday—Biograph, Essanay, Kalem.
Thursday—Essanay, Lubin, Selig-Tribune, Vim.
Friday—Knickerbocker Star Feature, Kalem, Vim, Vitagraph.
Saturday—Essanay, Kalem, Lubin, Selig, Vitagraph.

MUTUAL FILM

Monday—American, Falstaff, Vogue.
Tuesday—Thanhouser, Vogue.
Wednesday—Beauty, Mutual Weekly, Gaumont.
Thursday—Gaumont, American.
Friday—Mustang, Cub.
Saturday—Centaur, Falstaff.
Sunday—Beauty, Vogue, Gaumont.

UNIVERSAL FILM

Monday—Red Feather, Nestor.
Tuesday—Gold Seal, Rex, Imp.
Wednesday—Victor, L-Ko, Animated Weekly.
Thursday—Laemmle, Big U, Powers.
Friday—Imp, Victor, Nestor.
Saturday—Bison, Powers, Joker.
Sunday—Rex, Laemmle, L-Ko.

VIM

5—11. The Water Cure, C.....1000
5—12. The Pretenders, C.....1000
5—18. Thirty Days, C.....1000
5—19. A Fair Exchange, C.....1000
5—25. Baby Doll, C.....1000
5—26. Villains and Violins, C.....1000
6— 1. The Schemers, C.....1000
6— 2. The Land Lubbers, C.....1000
6— 8. The Sea Dogs, C.....1000
6— 9. A Dollar Down, C.....1000
6—15. Hungry Hearts, C.....1000
6—16. The Raid, C.....1000
6—22. Never Again, C.....1000
6—23. For Better or Worse, C.....1000

VITAGRAPH

5—13. The Accusing Voice, D.....3000
5—15. The Lucky Tumble, C., and Scenes in Iceland, Sc.....Split Reel
5—19. More Money Than Manners, C.....1000
5—20. Miss Adventure, Com.-D.....3000
5—22. The Cost of High Living, C.....1000
5—26. The Battler, C.....1000
5—27. The Wheat and the Chaff, D.....3000
5—29. The Idle Rich, Com.-D.....1000
6— 2. The Loneliness, C.....1000
6— 3. Carew and Son, D.....3000
6— 5. New York, Old and New.....1000
6— 9. She Won the Prize, C.....1000
6—10. The Strange Case of Robert Burnham, D.....3000
6—12. Her Loving Relations, Com.-D.....1000
6—16. Harold the Nurse Girl, C.....1000
6—17. Ashes, D.....3000
6—19. Stung, C.....1000
6—23. Curfew at Pokey Center, C.....1000
6—24. Underneath the Low Down, D.....3000

MUTUAL FILM RELEASES

AMERICAN

5— 1. Pierre Brissac the Brazen, D.....2000
5— 8. The Touch on the Key, D.....2000
5—11. The Profligate, D.....3000
5—15. The Pretender, D.....2000
5—18. Four Months, D.....3000
5—22. Repaid, D.....2000
5—29. The Release of Dan Forbes, D.....2000
6— 1. The Trail of the Thief, D.....3000
6— 5. Jealousy's First Wife, D.....2000
6—12. Convicted for Murder, D.....2000
6—19. The Gentle Conspiracy, D.....2000

BEAUTY

5—17. Billy Van Deusen's Fiance, C.....1000
5—21. Twenty Minutes in Magic, C.....1000
5—24. Adjusting His Claim, C.....1000
5—28. The Pork Plotters, C.....1000
5—31. The Comet's Comeback, C.....1000
6— 4. Ima Knutt Gets a Bite, C.....1000
6— 7. Billy Van Deusen's Operation, C....1000
6—11. Thinim Stout, C.....1000
6—14. Billy Van Deusen's Eggs-spensive Adventure, C.....1000
6—18. Pedigrees, Pups and Pussies, C.....1000
6—21. The House on Hokum Hill, C.....1000
6—24. The Day's Work, C.....1000

CENTAUR

6— 3. Clouds in Sunshine Valley, D.....2000
6—10. The Lion's Nemesis, D.....2000
6—17. The Star of India, D.....2000
6—24. A Siren of the Jungle, D.....2000

CUB

5—12. Jerry's Perfect Day, C.....1000
5—19. Harmony and Discord.....1000
5—26. Preparedness, C.....1000
6— 2. Sawdust Love, C.....1000
6— 9. Jerry's Big Lark, C.....1000
6—16. Jerry and the Moonshiners.....1000
6—23. Jerry's Elopement, C.....1000

FALSTAFF

5— 1. The Dashing Druggist's Dilemma, C..1000
5— 5. The Sleigher's Strategy, C.....1000
5— 8. The Kiddie's Kaptain Kidd, C.....1000
5—13. Freddie's Frigid Finish, C.....1000
5—15. Deteckters, C.....1000
5—20. Steven's Sweet Sisters, C.....1000
5—22. Politickers, C.....1000
5—27. Sammy's Semi-Suicide, C.....1000
5—29. Disguisers, C.....1000
6— 3. Peterson's Pitiful Plight, C.....1000
6— 5. Advertisementers, C.....1000
6—10. Where Wives Win, C.....1000
6—12. Real Estaters, C.....1000
6—17. Doughnuts, C.....1000

GAUMONT

5—21. "Reel Life".....1000
5—24. See America First (Savannah, Ga.), and Kartoon Komics.....Split Reel
5—25. Armadale, D.....3000
5—28. "Reel Life".....1000
5—31. See America First, Sc. and Kartoon Komics, Cart.....Split Reel
6— 4. "Reel Life," Magazine.....1000
6— 7. See America First, and Kartoon Komics, Cart.....Split Reel
6— 8. The Flames of Vengeance, D.....3000
6—11. "Reel Life," Magazine Reel.....1000
6—14. See America First, Kartoon Komics, Scenic and Cartoon.....Split Reel
6—18. "Reel Life," Magazine Reel.....1000
6—21. See America First, Sc., The Belle of the Village Green, Shgrf.....Split Reel
6—22. The Criminal Thumb, D.....3000
6—25. "Reel Life," Magazine Reel.

MUSTANG

5—12. The Gulf Between, D.....2000
5—19. The Blindness, D.....2000
5—26. Jack, D.....2000
6— 2. A Man's Friend, D.....2000
6— 9. The Pilgrim, D.....2000
6—16. The Sheriff of Plumas, D.....2000
6—23. A Modern Knight, D.....2000

RELEASE DATES FOR READY REFERENCE

MUTUAL WEEKLY
Issued every Thursday.

THANHOUSER
5— 2. The Weakling, D.....2000
5— 4. The Spirit of '61, D.....3000
5— 9. When She Played Broadway, D.....2000
5—16. The Answer, D.....2000
5—23. For Uncle Sam's Navy, C.....2000
5—30. The Nymph, D.....2000
6— 6. John Brewster's Wife, D.....2000
6—13. Brothers Equal, D.....2000

VOGUE
5— 9. Germatic Love, C.....1000
5—14. A Mix-Up at Rudolph's, C.....1000
5—16. The Man with the Hod, C.....1000
5—21. The Chinatown Villains, C.....1000
5—23. Rival Rogues, C.....1000
5—28. National Nuts, C.....1000
5—30. Shy Thirty Cents, C.....1000
6— 4. Nailing the Lid, C.....1000
6— 6. A Plane Story, C.....1000
6—11. His Blowout, C.....1000
6—18. Delinquent Bridegrooms, C.....1000
6—20. Ruffhouse, C.....1000
6—25. The Iron Mitt, C.....1000

PATHE EXCHANGE, INC.

Week of May 29, 1916.

The Iron Claw, No. 14, D.....2000
Who's Guilty? No. 4, "The Silent Shame," D.....2000
Ice, C.....1000
Siberia, the Vast Unknown, No. 8, and The Tokio Exposition, Scenic.....Split Reel

Week of June 5, 1916.

The Iron Claw, No. 15, D.....2000
Who's Guilty? No. 5, "Sold Out," D.....2000
Luke Laughs Last, C.....1000
The Fatal Pie, Cart., and Some Fresh Water Fishes, Ed.....Split Reel
The Zinc Mines of Lang Hit, Ed., and Around Mt. Fugi (Japan) Sc. Split Reel

Week of June 12, 1916.

The Iron Claw, No. 16, D.....2000
Who's Guilty? No. 6, "Sowing the Wind," D.....2000
An Awful Romance, C.....1000
France's Canine Allies, Ed., and The Gorges of Colorado, Sc.....Split Reel

Week of June 19, 1916.

The Iron Claw, No. 17, "The Vanishing Faker," D.....2000
Who's Guilty? No. 7, "Truth Crushed to Earth," D.....2000
Luke's Fatal Flivver, C.....1000
From Kitchen Mechanic to Movie Star, Cart., and Japan's Ancient Capital—Nara (Col. Sc.).....Split Reel
A Matrimonial Martyr, Col. Com.-D.....1000

UNICORN FILM PROGRAM

BUFFALO
5—17. Divided Love, D.....1000
5—24. In the Hills of Kentucky, D.....1000
5—31. Rival Candidates, D.....1000
6— 7. Broken Hearts, Western D.....1000

GAYETY
5—22. Mary's Mistake, and Tricking the Trickster.....Split Reel
5—25. The Busy Bee, C.....1000
5—29. A Bride to Order, and In the Balkans.....Split Reel
6— 2. All for the Love of Laura, C.....1000
6— 5. The Baby in the Case, C.....1000
6— 9. The Re-Made Maid, C.....1000
6—12. Little Grains of Rice, C.....1000
6—15. Love and Overalls, and His Wife's Visitor, C.....Split Reel

HIAWATHA
5—25. Falsely Accused, D.....1000
5—20. A Daughter of the Hills, D.....1000
6— 6. Bob Armstrong's Reward, Western D.1000
6—13. The Wisdom of the White Man, W. D.1000
6—16. The New Prospector, W. D.....1000

JUDY
5—16. A Musical Deception, C. and The Black Mark, C.....Split Reel
5—23. Hubby's Present, and Our Darling's Playmate.....Split Reel
5—30. The Skating Craze at Moodyville, C.1000
6— 6. Taming of the Shrew, C.....1000

HIPPO
5—24. The New Ranch Owner, C.....1000
5—26. A Gentleman of Leisure, and our Darling's Chips.....Split Reel
5—31. A Modern Hercules, C.....1000
6— 3. Nearly Married, C.....1000
6— 7. Mixed Brides, and Pale-Faced Injuns, C.....Split Reel
6—10. Hubby's Escapade, and His One and Only, C.....Split Reel
6—14. Wifie's Dilemma, C.....1000
6—17. A Circumstantial Hero, and the Live Wire, C.....Split Reel

PURITAN
5—30. Kentucky Brothers, D.....1000
5—31. The Wheat King, D.....1000
6— 4. The King's Vengeance, D.....1000
6— 5. The Rosary, D.....2000
6—11. The Recoil, D.....1000
6—12. The Lure of Gold, D.....2000
6—15. The Ghost's Bride, D.....2000

LILY
6— 1. The Sacred Oath, D.....2000
6— 6. The Crucial Test, D.....1000
6— 8. The Formula, D.....2000
6—16. The Blindness of Jealousy, D.....1000

JOCKEY
5—21. A Midnight Escapade, C.....1000
5—24. The Hobo Imposter, C.....1000
5—27. O'Brien's Investment, C.....1000
6— 1. Billie's Find, and the Enchanted Matches.....Split Reel
6— 4. Willie the Sleuth, C.....1000
6— 8. Johnny-On-the-Spot, C.....1000
6—11. Two of a Kind, C.....1000
6—13. Their Noble Relation, C.....1000
6—16. The Closed Door, C.....1000
6—18. The New Maid, C.....1000

RANCHO
6— 2. A Double Reward, D.....1000
6— 9. The Higher Voice, Western D.....1000
6—14. From Out of the Past, W. D.....1000
6—17. His Leading Lady, W. D.....1000
6—18. The Man Who Came Back, W. D.....1000

SUNSET
5—20. The Mexican Insurrection, D.....2000
5—26. The Mystery at Shallow Creek, D...1000
6— 3. His Indian Guardian, D.....1000
6—10. The Rustler's Retribution, Western D.1000
6—13. Mother, D.....1000

SUPREME
5—25. The Village School Master, D.....1000
5—26. The Empty Crib, D.....1000
5—29. The Price He Paid, D.....2000
6— 2. When a Man Weakens, D.....1000
6— 3. The Heart of a Peddler, D.....1000
6— 9. The Two Waifs, D.....1000
6—10. The Eternal Truth, D.....1000
6—14. The Cashier's Ordeal, D.....1000
6—17. The Noble Love, D.....1000
6—18. The Little Heroine, D.....1000

UTAH
5—21. The Wrong Room, D.....1000
5—27. The Indian Child's Gratitude, D.....1000
6— 4. Fate's Decree, D.....1000
6—11. A Squaw's Loyalty, Western D.....1000

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

ANIMATED WEEKLY
Issued every Wednesday.

BIG U
5—31. The Attic Princess, D.....1000
6— 1. Brother Jim, D.....1000
6— 8. The Sea Lilly, D.....1000
6—15. Betty's Hobo, Com.-D.....1000
6—20. The Grip of Crime, D.....2000

BISON
5—20. Hulda the Silent, D.....2000
5—27. The Wedding Guest, D.....2000
6— 3. Tammany's Tiger, C.....2000
6—10. The Cage Man, D.....2000
6—17. A Railroad Bandit, D.....2000
6—24. The Ghost of the Jungle, An. D.....2000

GOLD SEAL
5—23. The Woman Who Followed Me.....
5—30. The Silent Man of Timber Gulch, D..2000
6— 5. The Rose Colored Scarf, D.....2000
6—13. The Melody of Love, D.....3000
6—20. The False Part, D.....2000

IMP
5—16. When Slim Picked a Peach, C.....1000
5—21. Claudia, C.....1000
5—23. The Health Road, D.....1000
5—26. The Unconventional Girl, D.....2000
5—30. A Double Fire Deception, C.....1000
6— 2. "Jim Slocum, No. 46,393," D.....2000
6— 5. His Little Story, C.....1000
6—13. Her Wonderful Secret, C.....1000
6—16. The Devil's Image, D.....2000
6—18. A College Boomerang, C.....1000
6—20. His Picture, C.....1000
6—22. Behind the Secret Panel, D.....3000
6—23. The Heart Wrecker, Com. D.....1000

JOKER
5—13. A Wife for a Ransom, C.....1000
5—20. A Raffle for a Husband, C.....1000
5—27. A Stage Villain, C.....1000
6— 3. A Dark Suspicion, C.....1000
6—17. Love Quarantined, C.....1000
6—24. The Fall of Deacon Stellwaters, C...1000

LAEMMLE
5—19. Heartaches, D.....2000
5—30. The Fur Trimmed Coat, D.....1000
6— 1. Two Mothers, D.....2000
6— 4. The Wire Pullers, C.....1000
6— 3. Alias Jane Jones, D.....2000
6—11. The False Gems, D.....1000
6—15. Her Soul's Song, D.....2000
6—18. Romance at Random, C.....1000
6—25. The Rogue With a Heart, D.....1000

L-KO
5—24. A Busted Honeymoon, C.....1000
5—28. Gamboling on the Green, C.....1000
5—31. Tough Luck on a Rough Sea, C.....2000
6— 7. Billie's Waterloo, C.....1000
6—11. Phony Teeth, and False Friends, C...1000
6—14. How Stars Are Made, C.....2000
6—21. The Jailbird's Last Flight, C.....1000
6—25. Dirty Work in a Beanery, C.....1000

NESTOR
5—15. He's a Devil, C.....3000
4—20. The Royland Villain, and Ed...Split Reel
5—22. Her Celluloid Hero, C.....1000
5—26. Love and Brass Buttons, C.....1000
5—20. All Over a Stocking, C.....1000
6— 2. Good Night Nurse, C.....1000
6— 6. Never Again Eddie, C.....1000
6— 9. Twixt Love and the Iceman, C.....1000
6—12. Their Awful Predicament, C.....1000
6—16. Almost a Widow, C.....1000
6—18. Wanted, a Husband, C.....1000
6—23. What Could the Poor Girl Do? C...2000

POWERS
5—20. Their Social Smash, C.....1000
5—25. Mr. Fuller Pep—He Dabbles in the Pond, Cart., and Classic Dances, Vaud.....Split Reel
5—27. Storming the Trenches, C.....1000
6— 1. It Can't Be True, C.....1000
6— 8. Mr. Fuller Pep—He Breaks for the Beach, Cart. and Pygmies of the Zoo, Ed.....Split Reel
6—10. Betrayed by the Camera, C.....1000
6—15. Prof. Wiseguy's Trip to the Moon, Cart., and Little Journeys in Japan, Sc.....Split Reel
6—22. The Young Sleuths, C.....1000

REX
5—18. A Wife at Bay, D.....2000
5—21. Love Triumphant, D.....2000
5—23. "Virginia," D.....1000
5—26. Harmony in a Flat, C.....1000
5—28. A Gentle Volunteer, D.....3000
6— 3. A Cad, D.....1000
6— 4. As in a Dream, D.....3000
6— 9. The Code of His Ancestors, D.....1000
6—11. The Sheriff of Pine Mountain, D.....2000
6—18. The Finer Metal, D.....2000
6—23. The Rosary, D. (Re-Issue).....1000
6—25. The Fool, D.....2000

VICTOR
5—17. The Three Wishes, D.....1000
5—24. The Limousine Mystery, D.....2000
6— 7. Object—Matrimony, C.....2000
6— 9. The Scorpion's Sting, D.....3000
6—16. The Golden Boot, C.....1000
6—21. The Scarlet Mark, D.....2000

FEATURE RELEASES—CURRENT AND COMING

Bluebird Photoplays

5— 1. The Crippled Hand (Ella Hall)...5 parts
5— 8. The Glided Spider (Louise Lovely).5 parts
5—15. Elusive Isabel (Florence Lawrence)6 parts
5—22. A Son of the Immortals (J. Warren Kerrigan).....5 parts
5—29. Naked Hearts (Rupert Julian).....5 parts
6— 5. The Eye of God (Tyrone Power and Lois Weber).....5 parts
6—12. Bobbie of the Ballet (Louise Lovely).....5 reels
6—19. The Three Godfathers (All star cast).....5 reels
6—26. Shoes (Mary McDonald).....5 reels

Fox Film Corporation

4— 3. Blue Blood and Red.....5 reels
4—10. Slander.....5 reels
4—17. A Modern Thelma.....5 reels
4—24. A Man of Sorrow.....5 reels
5— 1. Blazing Love.....5 reels
5— 8. The Eternal Sapho.....5 reels
5—15. Sins of Men.....5 reels
5—22. Battle of Hearts.....5 reels
5—29. The Spider and the Fly.....5 reels
6— 5. Hypocrisy.....5 reels
6—12. A Woman's Honor.....5 reels

Ivan Feature Productions

1—Forbidden Fruit (Everett Butterfield and Paula Shay).....5 reels
2—A Fool's Paradise (Chrystine Mayo, Paula Shay, and Joseph Burke)....6 reels
3—The Immoral Flame (Maude Fealy)...5 reels
4—The City of Illusion (Paula Shay and Mignon Anderson).....6 reels
5.—Her Husband's Wife (Sally Crute, Mignon Anderson and Augustus Phillips).....5 reels

Kleine-Edison Feature Service

EDISON

1—12. The Catspaw.....5 reels
1—26. The Innocence of Ruth.....5 reels
2— 9. The Martyrdom of Philip Strong..5 reels
2—23. At the Rainbow's End.....5 reels

GEO. KLEINE

1—19. Wild Oats.....5 reels
2— 2. The Final Curtain.....5 reels
2— 9. When Love is King.....5 reels
2—16. The Scarlet Road.....5 reels
3— 1. The Mishaps of Musty Suffer.....10 reels

Metro Pictures Corporation

F. A. BALSHOFER

4—24. The Come-Back (Harold Lockwood and May Allison).....5 reels
6—12. The Masked Rider (Harold Lockwood and May Allison).....5 reels

COLUMBIA PICTURES CORPORATION

3—13. Lovely Mary (Mary Miles Minter).5 reels
4— 3. The Kiss of Hate (Ethel Barrymore)5 reels
4—10. The Half Million Bribe (Hamilton Revelle and Marguerite Snow)...5 reels
5—22. Notorious Gallaghar (William Nigh and Marguerite Snow).....5 reels

POPULAR PLAYS AND PLAYERS

4—17. Playing with Fire (Mme. Petrova).5 reels
5—29. The Scarlet Woman (Mme. Petrova)5 reels
5—15. The Spell of the Yukon (Edmund Breese).....5 reels

B. A. ROLFE PHOTOPLAYS, INC.

3—20. Her Great Price (Mabel Taliaferro)5 reels
5— 1. The Snow Bird (Mabel Taliaferro).5 reels
6— 5. Dorian's Divorce (Lionel Barrymore and Grace Valentine).....5 reels
6—19. The Flower of No-Man's-Land (Viola Dana).....5 reels

QUALITY PICTURES

3—27. The Wall Between (Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne)...5 reels
5— 8. A Million a Minute (Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne)....5 reels

Mutual Masterpictures

DE LUXE EDITION

Week of June 5, 1916.

No. 107. Whispering Smith (Helen Holmes), Signal.....5 reels
No. 108. Soul Mates (William Russell), American.....5 reels

Week of June 12, 1916.

No. 109. The Inner Struggle, American...5 reels
No. 110. The Abandonment (E. Forrest Taylor and Helene Rosson), American.....5 reels

Week of June 19, 1916.

No. 111. The Wasted Years (Crane Wilbur), Centaur.....5 reels
No. 112. Far from the Madding Crowd (Florence Turner), Turner.....5 reels

Week of June 26, 1916.

No. 113. The Sign of the Spade (Helene Rosson), American.....5 reels

Paramount Pictures

FAMOUS PLAYERS

5—15. The Trust (Hazel Dawn).....5 reels
5—25. Saints and Sinners (Peggy Hyland).5 reels
5—29. (Title Not Decided), (Marguerite Clark).....5 reels
6— 5. The Evil Thereof (All Star Cast)..5 reels
6—12. Her Romance (Marguerite Clark)..5 reels
6—15. Destiny's Toy (Louise Huff).....5 reels
6—22. Susie Snowflake (Anna Pennington and Wm. Courtleigh, Jr.).....5 reels
6—26. The World's Great Snare (Pauline Frederick).....5 reels

JESSE LASKY COMPANY

5— 8. Maria Rosa (Geraldine Farrar)....5 reels
5—11. Alien Souls (Sessue Hayakawa)...5 reels
5—22. The Frameup (Blanche Sweet)....5 reels
6— 1. The Gutter Magdalene (Fannie Ward).....5 reels
6—19. The Clown (Victor Moore).....5 reels

MOROSCO PHOTOPLAY COMPANY

5—18. Pasquale (George Beban).....5 reels

PALLAS

5— 1. David Garrick (Dustin Farnum)...5 reels
6— 8. The Making of Maddalena (Edna Goodrich).....5 reels
6—29. The American Beauty (Myrtle Stedman).....5 reels

Pathe Exchange, Inc.

GOLD ROOSTER PLAYS

4—18. Big Jim Garrity.....5 reels
5—15. The Girl With the Green Eyes....5 reels
6—19. A Matrimonial Martyr.....5 reels

Triangle Film Corporation

KAY-BEE-INCE PRODUCTIONS

5—14. Not My Sister (Bessie Barriscale)5 reels
5—21. The Primal Lure (Wm. S. Hart)..5 reels
5—28. The Market of Vain Desire (H. B. Warner).....5 reels
6— 4. The Bugle Call (Wm. Collier, Jr.)..5 reels
6—11. The Sorrows of Love (Bessie Barriscale).....5 reels
6—18. The Dividend (W. H. Thompson and Charles Ray).....5 reels
6—25. The Apostle of Vengeance (Wm. S. Hart).....5 reels

FINE ARTS-GRIFFITH PRODUCTIONS

5—14. Susan Rocks the Boat (Dorothy Gish).....5 reels
5—21. A Child of the Paris Streets (Mae Marsh and Robert Harron).....5 reels
5—28. Mr. Goode the Samaritan (DeWolf Hopper).....5 reels
6— 4. Going Straight (Norma Talmadge).5 reels
6—11. Reggie Mixes In (Douglas Fairbanks).....5 reels
6—18. An Innocent Magdalene (Lillian Gish).....5 reels
6—25. A Wild Girl of the Sierras (Mae Marsh).....5 reels

KEYSTONE-SENNETT PRODUCTIONS

4—30. The Lion and the Girl (Joe Jackson)2 reels
4—30. His Bitter Pill (Mack Swain).....2 reels
5— 7. Her Marble Heart (Charles Murray).2 reels
5— 7. A Dash of Courage (Harry Gribbon).....2 reels

Red Feather Productions

4—17. Her Bitter Cup (Cleo Madison)....5 reels
4—24. Thrown to the Lions (Mary Fuller)5 reels
5— 1. Dr. Neighbor (Hobart Bosworth)..5 reels
5— 8. A Huntress of Men (Mary Fuller).5 reels
5—15. A Youth of Fortune (Carter and Flora Parker De Haven).....5 reels
5—22. Half a Rogue (King Baggot).....5 reels
5—29. The Iron Hand (Hobart Bosworth and Jane Novak).....5 reels
6— 5. The Madcap (Flora Parker DeHaven).....5 reels
6—12. What Love Can Do (Adele Farrington).....5 reels

Vitagraph-Lubin-Selig-Essanay

HEARST-VITAGRAPH NEWS PICTORIAL

Issued every Tuesday and Friday.

VITAGRAPH

4—24. God's Country and the Woman (Nell Shipman, Geo. Holt and Wm. Duncan).....8 reels
5— 1. The Law Decides (Dorothy Kelly, Bobby Connelly, Harry Morey and Louise Beaudet).....7 reels
5— 8. Britton of the Seventh (Charles Kent, Bobby Connelly and Eulalie Jensen).....5 reels
5—15. The Ordeal of Elizabeth (Lillian Walker, Donald Hall and Evart Overton).....6 reels
5—22. The Suspect (Anita Stewart).....6 reels
5—29. The Lights of New York (Leah Baird and Walter McGrail).....5 reels
6— 5. The Destroyers (Lucille Lee Stewart).....5 reels
6—12. The Redemption of Dave Darcy, (James Morrison).....5 reels

LUBIN

4—10. The Flames Johannis (Nance O'Neill).....5 reels
5— 8. Love's Toll (Rosetta Brice and Richard Buhler).....5 reels
6— 5. Those Who Toil (Nance O'Neil)..5 reels

SELIG

3—20. The Ne'er-Do-Well (Kathlyn Williams and Wheeler Oakman)....10 reels
4— 3. The Cycle of Fate (Bessie Eyton, Wheeler Oakman and Edith Johnson).....5 reels
5— 1. At Piney Ridge (Fritzi Brunnette).5 reels
5—29. Into the Primitive (Kathlyn Williams, Guy Oliver and Harry Lonsdale).....5 reels

ESSANAY

4—10. Burlesque on Carmen (Charlie Chaplin).....4 reels
4—24. The Little Shepherd of Bargain Row (Sallie Fisher, John Junior and Richard C. Travers).....5 reels
5—15. Sherlock Holmes (William Gilette).7 reels
6—12. That Sort (Warda Howard, Ernest Maupain, Duncan McRae and John Lorenz).....5 reels

World-Equitable Program

WORLD

4—24. The Closed Road (House Peters and Barbara Tennant).....5 parts
5— 1. The Feast of Life (Clara Kimball Young).....5 parts
5— 8. Her Maternal Right (Kitty Gordon)5 parts
5—15. Sudden Riches (Robert Warwick).5 parts
5—22. Tangled Fates (Alice Brady).....5 parts
5—29. Fate's Boomerang (Mollie King)..5 reels
6— 5. His Brother's Wife (Ethel Clayton and Carlyle Blackwell).....5 reels
6—12. Perils of Divorce (Edna Wallace Hopper and Frank Sheridan)..5 reels
6—19. La Boheme (Alice Brady).....5 reels
6—26. What Happened at 22 (Frances Nelson and Arthur Ashley).....5 reels

State Rights and Miscellaneous Releases

ALL FEATURES BOOKING AGENCY
Right Off the Bat.....5 reels

AMERICAN COMMERCIAL FILM CO.
Animated Cartoons.....

AMERICAN CORRESPONDENT FILM CO.
The Battles of a Nation.....6 parts

AUTHORS FILM CO., INC.
3—27. Sins of the Father.....4 parts
4— 3. Her Redemption.....4 parts
4—10. Denise .....4 parts
4—17. Love's Sacrifice.....6 parts
4—24. A Woman's Awakening.....5 parts
5— 1. Under the Mask.....5 parts

CALIFORNIA MOTION PICTURE CORPORATION
March—The Unwritten Law (Beatriz Michelena). .....7 reels
May —The Woman Who Dared (Beatriz Michelena). .....7 reels
July —Kismet (Otis Skinner).....10 reels

CELEBRATED PLAYERS' FILM CO.
The Birth of a Man.....5 parts

CHAMPION SPORTS EXHIBITION
Willard-Moran Fight.....4 parts

CHICAGO TRIBUNE
German Side of War.....5 reels
Russian Side of War.....4 reels

CLARIDGE FILMS, INC.
Heart of New York.....5 reels

COSMOFOTOFILM COMPANY
Incomparable Mistress Bellairs..4 parts
Liberty Hall.....4 parts
The Black Spot.....4 parts
Victoria Cross.....4 parts
O 18.....4 parts
His Vindication.....5 parts

E. & R. JUNGLE FILM CO.
No. 10. Haunted.
No. 11. Have a Heart.
No. 12. It Made a Monkey of Him.
No. 13. Two Chimps and a Chump.
No. 14. Twin Cupids.
No. 15. Aunt Hepsey's Heir.
No. 16. Oil of Revolution.
No. 17. Who's It?

E-K-O FILM CO.
The Invisible Enemy.....5 reels

ELDORADO FEATURE FILM CO.
The Impersonation .....5 reels

FORREST FILM CORPORATION
Bottom of the Sea.....5 reels

JOS. W. FARNHAM
Race Suicide .....6 parts
The Awakening of Bess Morton..5 reels

GREAT NORTHERN FILM COMPANY
Sins of Great Cities (E. Thomsen).4 reels
The Man with the Missing Finger (Alfred Hertel).....4 reels
For Her Son (Betty Nansen)....4 reels
A Woman's Honor (Elsie Frolich)4 reels
The Folly of Sin.....5 reels
The Mother Who Paid.....5 reels

HANOVER FILMS
Marvellous Macist.....6 parts
Should a Baby Die?.....5 parts

ESKAY HARRIS FEATURE FILM
Alice in Wonderland.....6 parts

HIPPODROME FILM CO.
At the Front with the Allies.....

HERALD FILM CORPORATION
?—27. Charlie's White Elephant, C. Cart..1 reel
4— 3. Charlie's Barnyard Pets, C. Cart...1 reel
4—10. Charlie the Busy Barber, C. Cart..1 reel
4—17. Charlie the Animal Trainer, Com. Cart. .....1 reel
4—24. Charlie's Jitney Hunt, Com. Cart..1 reel
5— 1. Charlie Prepared, Com. Cart.....1 reel

JUVENILE FILM CORPORATION
4— 1. World War in Kidland.....1 reel
4— 8. A Chip Off the Old Block.....1 reel
4—15. Chip's Elopement.....1 reel
4—22. Chip's Backyard Barn-Stormers....2 reels
4—29. Chip's Rivals.....1 reel
5—13. For Sale a Daddy.....1 reel
5—27. Chip's Carmen.....2 reels

KULEE FEATURES
Germany on the Firing Line.....6 parts

MODERN MOTHERHOOD LEAGUE
Twilight Sleep .....

B. S. MOSS
Three Weeks.....5 reels
Salamander .....5 reels
One Day.....5 reels

F. O. NIELSEN
Guarding Old Glory.....5 reels
Just Out of College.....5 reels
Little Sunset.....4 reels
The Spoilers.....9 reels
All for a Girl.....5 reels

PHOTODRAMA COMPANY
How Molly Made Good.....6 reels

PROHIBITION FILM CORPORATION
Prohibition .....5 parts

RAVER FILM CO.
The Other Girl.....5 reels
Life Without Soul.....5 reels
The Fortunate Youth.....
Driftwood .....

RAY COMEDIES
6—21. Casey's Dream.....
6—28. Casey's Kids.....

RIALTO FILM CO.
The House of Mirrors.....

STANDARD NEWS FILM, INC.
Standard Travelogues.....32 parts
Are We Ready?.....4 parts
The Animal World.....5 parts
Navies of the World.....1 reel
The Price of Liberty.....5 reels
Aircraft .....1 reel

SUN PHOTOPLAY CO., INC.
The Princess of India.....5 reels
A Woman Wills.....5 reels

SUPREME FILM CO.
The Cowpuncher.....6 parts

TRANS-OCEANIC FILMS, INC.
The Life and Adventures of Shakespeare. .....6 parts

UNITY SALES CORP.
5—29. Diana (Colored).....3 parts
6— 5. My Country First.....6 parts
6—12. The Pursuing Vengeance.....5 parts
6—19. The Bishop's Secret.....4 parts

VARIETY FILMS CORPORATION
Unto the Darkness.....4 reels
In the Ranks.....4 reels
Harbour Lights.....4 reels
Enoch Arden.....4 reels
Mysterious Man of the Jungle.....3 reels

WAR FILM SYNDICATE
On the Firing Line with the Germans .....6 parts

MISCELLANEOUS

EDUCATIONAL FILMS CORP., OF AMERICA
The Film Hunters.....1 reel
The Yarn of the Slowern'ell.....1 reel
In the Hanging Glacier Country...1 reel
The Sunset Trail.....1 reel
The Trail to Cloudy Pass.....1 reel
The Stampede .....1 reel
American Game Trails.....1 reel

"THE BEACON FILMS," INC.
Somewhere in Brittany.
Sea Anemones.
Life in Egypt.
Offering of Flowers.
Gorges of the Bourne.
Animal Studies.
In the land of the Hellenes.
Portugese types and costumes.
In the Land of the Rising Sun.
Curious Creations of Pond Life.

EMERALD M. P. CO.
6— 1. Tom & Jerry, Bachelors, No. 1....2 reels

METRO PICTURES CORPORATION
Metro-Drew Comedies (weekly).
Metro Travelogues (weekly).

MUTT AND JEFF FILMS
ANIMATED CARTOONS
1. Jeff's Toothache.
2. Mutt and Jeff in the Submarine.

PARAMOUNT PICTURES CORPORATION
PARAMOUNT-BURTON HOLMES TRAVEL-PICTURES
7—10. Beautiful Bavaria.
7—17. Down the Danube to Vienna.
7—24. The Real Bohemia.
7—31. Picturesque Prague.
8— 7. From Carlsbad to Moravia.

PARAMOUNT-BRAY CARTOONS
5—25. How Colonel Heeza Liar Captures Villa.
6— 1. Bobby Bumps Goes Fishing.
6— 8. Farmer Alfalfa and His Tentless Circus.
6—15. Kid Casey the Champion.
6—22. Colonel Heeza Liar and the Bandits.
6—29. Bobby Bumps' Fly Swatter.
7— 6. Farmer Alfalfa's Watermelon Patch.

PATHE EXCHANGE, INC.
Pathé travels (See Pathé).

UNIVERSAL
Uncle Sam at Work (See Powers Universal).

VARIETY FILMS CORPORATION
Upper Bavarian Mountain Lakes.
In the Land of the Hindoos.
Victoria Falls.
Should a Baby Die?.....5 reels

VITAGRAPH (V. L. S. E.)
FRANK DANIELS' COMEDIES
5— 1. Mr. Jack Hires a Stenographer.
5— 8. Mr. Jack, His Dukeship (End of the Jack Series).
5—15. Kernel Nutt Wins a Wife.
5—22. Kernel Nutt the Janitor.
5—29. Kernel Nutt the Footman.
6— 5. Kernel Nutt and the Hundred Dollar Bill.
6—12. Kernel Nutt in Mexico.....

SERIALS

The Girl and the Game.....Signal Film
The Secret of the Submarine.....Signal
Peg o' the Ring.....Universal
Mary Page, The strange Case of..Essanay
The Social Pirates.....Kalem
The Iron Claw.....Pathé
Who's Guilty? .....Pathé
The Mysteries of Myra.....International Film Service
Gloria's Romance.....Kleine

!!HERE ARE MY CHILDREN!!

TEFFT JOHNSON CREATOR OF THE WORLD FAMOUS SONNY JIM COMEDIES

HAS DISCOVERED THE GREATEST KIDS in the WORLD and has them working in a series of Kid Day reminders

ONE-REEL-KID-KOMEDIES

Bids now being entertained and territory allotted for

SONNY BOY at the BAT
SONNY BOY in SCHOOL DAYS
SONNY BOY and the DOG SHOW

FOR INFORMATION COMMUNICATE WITH CHARLES FEATURE ABRAMS

TEFFT JOHNSON KREATOR of KID KOMEDIES 220-224 WEST FORTY SECOND STREET NEW YORK CITY

YOU OUGHT TO BE THINKING
NOW OF THE REPRESENTATION
YOU WANT
IN THE MOTION PICTURE STUDIO
DIRECTORY
(OUT AUGUST 29)

MANUFACTURERS

Incorporated concern with modern film and office equipment, prepared to furnish same, as well as required bond and references with regard to business responsibility, wishes to represent weekly program and feature films as distributors for Texas, where we have transacted business with every-worth-while theatre for the last five years. Correspondence invited.

Box 28, Motion Picture News, 729 Seventh Ave., New York

MAIN OFFICE
SAN FRANCISCO
234 EDDY ST.
CALIFORNIA

EASTERN REPRESENTATIVE
LEON D. NETTER
1325 VINE ST.
PHILADELPHIA PA.

SOL L. LESSER
MOVING PICTURE FILMS

MOTION PICTURE RIGHTS PURCHASED FOR THE PACIFIC COAST

ALL STAR FEATURES DISTRIBUTORS, Inc.
AND
GOLDEN GATE FILM EXCHANGE, Inc.

BRANCH
LOS ANGELES
514 WEST 8TH ST.
CALIFORNIA

Mr. Live-Wire Exhibitor Have you arranged your bookings on Frederick J. Ireland's High-Class Comedy Series

TOM & JERRY?

IF NOT—DO IT NOW

Two reels a week for 10 solid weeks. First release Monday, June 26th
A Sure-Fire Box Office Winner for the Hot Weather Season

Made by
EMERALD MOTION PICTURE COMPANY
Released exclusively through
AMERICAN STANDARD MOTION PICTURE CORPORATION
Executive Offices: 166 W. Washington St., Chicago
Branches in all principal cities.

The "NEWS" advertisers believe YOU worth while; justify them.

CLASSIFIED

WANTED

Films on health and hygiene, tuberculosis, sanitation and occupational diseases, complete with titles. Universal Camera Co., 1007 Times Bldg., New York City.

Exhibitors

If your pictures have the least flicker or lack of brilliancy, get a NUIDEA 6 in 1 Combination Shutter. New Invention Surprising Results. Does the business. Guaranteed. Price $4.00.
Wm. Rehfuss Mfg. Co., La Crosse, Wis.

FOR SALE

Two Ft. Wayne Compensarcs, slightly used, good condition. L. E. Lemon, Aurora, Illinois.

WANTED

High-Class scenarios. Mid-Western Amusement Corp., 1635 Lytton Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

ARE YOU A LIVE WIRE?

Then Write Us at Once. Big Money in Taking Motion Pictures for News Advertising and Home Talent. We are the Lowest Priced House in the Country selling Motion Picture Cameras. Write for information. We are Specialists in equipping beginners. Describe your locality. We will tell you if it can be made to pay. Write us today. David Stern Co., 1047 E. Madison St., Chicago, Ill. In business since 1885.

Information with regard to Cinema business in Europe given free of charge.
G. KACZKA,
32 Rue de Moscou, Paris

The advertising you get from your electric sign in the day time is free. The advertising you get at night with a Federal sign is unsurpassed.
FEDERAL SIGN SYSTEM
(ELECTRIC)
Lake & Desplaines Streets, CHICAGO.

Theatre Slides $1.25 a dozen
NIAGARA SLIDE CO., Lockport, N. Y.

Phone—Bryant 7619
Pan American Film Laboratories
Perfect Film Titles Our Specialty. Titles for Export Films will have our Prompt and Careful Attention.
145 W. 45th St., NEW YORK CITY

PICTURE MACHINES

New and slightly used Power's, Simplex, Motiograph and Edison at bargain prices. Opera and folding chairs. Operating Booths that pass fire inspection. Picture curtains and everything for the M. P. Theatre at lower prices than offered by our competitors.

LEARS THEATRE SUPPLY COMPANY
509 Chestnut Street, St. Louis, Mo.

OPERA CHAIRS

Complete Line
Prompt Shipments
Write for Catalogue with Direct Factory Prices
PEABODY SCHOOL FURNITURE CO.
802 W. Fourth Street, North Manchester, Ind.

Motion Picture News

HAS THE QUALITY CIRCULATION OF THE TRADE

TABLE OF CONTENTS

LAST WEEK'S LUNCHEON (WILLIAM A. JOHNSTON) 3873
Editorials 3874
Broader Trade Association Planned at Luncheon 3875
"Fall of a Nation" Rises to Dramatic Heights 3877
Women's Clubs on Record Against Censorship 3921
Thrills to Every 1,000 Feet of Kellermann Film 3925
Ochs Candidate of New York Local for National President. 3876
Eva Tanguay, Famous Comedienne, Now a Picture Producer 3876
Bessie Eyton on First Visit to New York 3878
"Big Pictures Antidote for Summer Dullness"—Irwin 3879
Three Woman Stars in June Fox Films 3879
Selznick Closes Deal for Young Films in Chicago 3880
Owen Moore Re-Engaged by Famous Players 3880
"Daughter of Gods" Nearly Ready for Showing 3881
Vacation for Miss Young Before "Common Law" 3881
"Apostle of Vengeance" Is Kay-Bee Subject 3882
Play Within Play is Horsley Offering 3882
Davis Buys $20,000 Worth of Scripts for Universal 3883
Fairbanks Wants to Make Pictures in South America 3884
Cobe Signs for Comedy Releases from Eagle 3885
Over 14,000 Scenarios Received by World 3885
V. L. S. E. Makes Three Day Invasion of Milwaukee 3886
Mutual Will Release Six Features with Florence Turner 3887
New York League Going to Chicago With Bells On 3887
Omaha Screen Club Ball Will Be Annual Affair 3887
Rose Coghlan is Ivan Star 3888
New Studio Enables Essanay to Get Plays Ready Weeks Ahead 3888
Two Players of Note At Work in "Where Love Is" 3902
Kathlyn Williams and C. F. Eyton Marry 3909
James Kirkwood Signs with American to Direct Minter 3909
Bluebird Plan a National Campaign 3913
Costello and Grandin Featured by Consolidated 3915
Vogue Studios Fitted with New Diffusing System 3915
Series with All Star Casts World Plan 3916
Virginia Hammond Joins Vitagraph 3916
"Eternal Question" Scenes Filmed at McAlpin 3917
Gaumont Will Cast McCoy in Three Reelers 3917
Shaw Head of Vitagraph News Service 3918
International News Pictorial Starts June 12 3918
Ellis to Direct Ivy Close 3918
Berst Distributes Bonuses 3918
Greater Number of Eastern Universal Players Now in West 3921
Past Performances Mean Permanency for World Players .. 3921
Goff Suggests Plan to Find What Public Want 3923
Three Summer Camps Furnish Settings for Essanays 3924
Strenuous Fights for Moore in "Who's Guilty?" 3926

DEPARTMENTS

Live Wire Exhibitors 3889
Looking Ahead with the Producers 3891
The Eastern Studios 3894
In and Out of West Coast Studios 3895
Film News from Foreign Parts 3907
Among the Exchanges 3904
New Laws and Court Decisions 3913
Just to Make Talk 3908

SCREEN EXAMINATIONS

Athletic Series (Selig) 3929
Bathtub Perils (Keystone-Triangle) 3929
Chip's Burlesque on Carmen (Juvenile) 3931
Connecting Bath, The (Vim-General) 3927
Fool's Gold, A (Essanay) 3921
The Promised Land (Essanay) 3933
Perils of Divorce (World Film) 3929
Paramount Short Subjects 3933
Redemption of Dave Darcey, The (Vitagraph-V L S E) .. 3930
Spell of the Yukon, The (Metro) 3930
Scarlet Woman, The (Metro) 3929
Shoes (Bluebird) 3927
Silks and Satins (Famous Players) 3932
Spring Housecleaning (Vim-General) 3927
Their Dream House (Vim-General) 3927
Two Orphans, The (Selig) 3928
The Reprisal (Selig) 3922
Wild Girl of the Sierras, A (Fine Arts-Triangle) 3928
Way of the World, The (Red Feather-Universal) 3931
Will a Woman Tell (Vim-General) 3927
Woman's Honor, A (William Fox) 3932
General Reviews 3934
Mutual Reviews 3934
Pathe Reviews 3936
Universal Reviews 3936

ACCESSORY NEWS SECTION

Motion Picture Projection Simplified 3949
Projection 3952
The Camera 3958
Music and the Picture 3960
Building and Furnishings 3964

CAILLE
Ticket Office Equipments
Embody Ticket Sellers, Ticket Choppers, Change Makers, Theatre Record Ledgers and Theatre Tickets. Catalog on request.
Caille Bros. Co., 1003 Amsterdam Ave., Detroit, Mich.

TransVerteR
Furnishes a superior controlled direct current that produces the perfect arc for moving picture projection.
HERTNER ELECTRIC & MFG. CO.
432 Prospect Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, U. S. A.

MENGER & RING, Inc.
Manufacturers of
POSTER and LOBBY DISPLAY FRAMES
304 W. 42nd Street New York

Goes
POSTERS—Everywhere
Offices—Chicago and New York

Experienced and Reliable
CAMERA MEN
at Your Immediate Disposal
RAPID, EFFICIENT SERVICE
Cinema Camera Club, 1006 Times Building
'Phone Bryant 6558 New York City

THE BIOSCOPE is
The English Trade Journal of the Moving Picture Industry
Annual Subscription
(post free)
14s. (Dollars $3.50)
85 Shaftesbury Ave., London, N.W.

YOUR SCENARIO
Printed, Sold and Protected By the NEW METHOD
For Full Information Write to DRAMATIC AUTHORS' COPYRIGHT BUREAU
Longacre Building New York City

PREPARE NOW TO BE REPRESENTED IN THE NEXT ISSUE OF THE STUDIO DIRECTORY OUT SEPTEMBER 9

Accessory News

SECTION OF MOTION PICTURE NEWS DEVOTED TO THE
CONSTRUCTION, EQUIPMENT AND OPERATION OF THEATRE, EXCHANGE AND STUDIO

DO YOU WANT PERFECT PROJECTION?

The Adelphi and Gem Theatres
E. B. HENDRICK, PROPRIETOR
High Class Motion Pictures, Feature Plays and Vaudeville

Franklinville, New York,

April 30, 1916

Mgr. Strand Theatre,
Akron, Ohio.

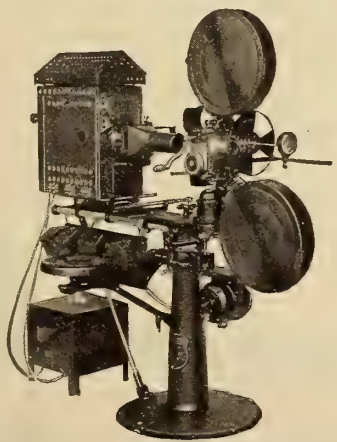
Dear Sir:-

Would like to inquire as to what make of machines you use in your projection department.

An ex theatre man from this place was in Akron last week and while there attended a show at your theatre. He told me that it was the first time that he ever saw what he called perfect projection.

Yours truly,

E B Hendrick.



You Can Get It With

THE MOTIOGRAPH

HERE'S PROOF—

The Strand
FEATURE PHOTO-PLAYS
AKRON, OHIO 5-9-16.

Mr. A. B. Hendrick,
Franklinville, N. Y.

My Dear Sir:-

Replying to your favor of the 30th ult., we are using two 1916 Model Motiographs in our projection room and we carry in stock an extra head for emergency use.

Having been in the picture business for many years, I have had quite some experience with projecting machines, in fact I believe I have used every brand of machine, (excepting one) that amounts to anything.

For many years I used Motiographs and discarded them a couple of years ago for the Powers 6-A, which I believed at that time to be better than the Motiograph.

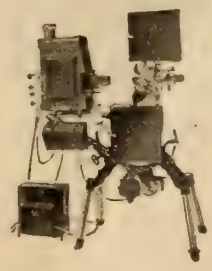
In equipping our Strand Theatre, which we opened last September, we looked over the market thoroughly and decided on 1916 Motiographs because we liked the construction and the materials used in the same. While we are not interested in any make of machines, it pleases us to be able to say that we have had perfect results with these new model Motiographs. They have given us no trouble whatsoever to speak of and have done their work daily in a perfectly satisfactory manner.

Trusting this is the information you desire, we are,

Very sincerely yours,
THE STRAND THEATRE COMPANY
BY M. C. Winters.

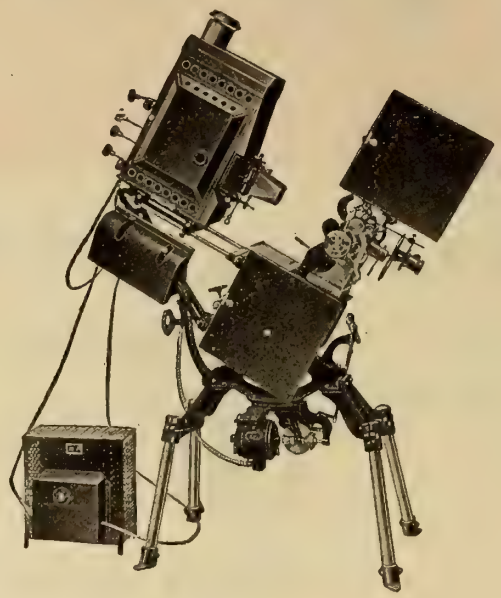
MCW:OLM

THE ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MFG. CO., 568 W. Randolph St., CHICAGO, ILL.
Western Office: 833 Market St., San Francisco, Cal.



"SIXTEEN YEARS OF KNOWING HOW"

POWER'S



CAMERAGRAPH No. 6 B

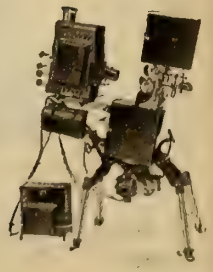
At the start we assumed a position of leadership on quality, and our position as leaders has never been questioned by anyone familiar with the facts.

Catalogue D Gives Full Details of Many Exclusive Features.

MAILED UPON REQUEST

NICHOLAS POWER COMPANY

NINETY GOLD ST. NEW YORK



Construction, Equipment and Operation

Accessory News

Section of Motion Picture News

Everything for Theatre, Exchange and Studio

Motion Picture Projection Simplified

By J. H. Hallberg

102—Does a choke-coil when properly constructed, vibrate so as to make excessive hum or noise when used in connection with a projector arc?

Ans. — No, when the core of a choke-coil is properly designed and securely clamped it is practically a solid body without vibration. However, many irresponsible concerns attempt to make these coils and as a result they are improperly constructed and assembled and therefore, cause a great deal of vibration with consequent hum, very annoying in many instances.

The remedy in a case of that kind is to introduce means whereby the laminations can be securely clamped and held in fixed position, relative to each other and to the coil which excites the core. This matter has already been mentioned in a previous answer.

103 — What proposition should be taken in installing a choke-coil for a moving picture machine?

Ans.—The choke-coil should be placed on a small foundation or support preferably made of slate or similar insulating material and in all instances there should be an air-space, not less than 10 inches or 12 inches between the floor or wall, and any part of the choke-coil where the operating room or booth is constructed in whole or in part from iron or steel.

104—Why is it necessary to place the choke-coil 10 inches or 12 inches away from the iron or steel structure constituting part of the operating booth?

Ans.—It has been stated that all choke-coils must be provided with a magnetic air-gap which means a break or a separation of one or more parts of the iron core constituting the magnetic circuit.

This break in the iron circuit is necessary in order to secure the constant current regulation which is required as a ballast or steadying effect for the arc.

You remember that in the choke-coil the magnetic lines of force, always follow the iron circuit because it is the path of lowest resistance.

Suppose an air-gap is introduced, then the magnetic lines of force will leak around the windings, as has been illustrated. Therefore, if through carelessness or misunderstanding the choke-coil should be placed close to the iron wall of a sheet iron booth the magnetic lines of force will attract the sheet iron, causing a tremendously loud and unpleasant humming.

In many instances operators have not been familiar with this condition and in consequence thereof, perfectly good choke-coils and transformers as well, which depend upon magnetic leakage for the regulation, have been condemned and sometimes discarded.

105—How is the choke-coil generally connected to a moving picture machine?

Ans.—In view of the fact that the choke-coil is a device to be connected in series, the connections are made in a similar manner as for an ordinary rheostat. In other words, on a 110 volt A. C. circuit, one line terminal goes directly to one of the carbons, the upper one for instance, then from the lower carbon the current passes to the beginning end of the choke-coil and from the other end back to the second line terminal, thus completing the circuit in series with the arc and line when the switch is closed and the carbons are put together.

106—What effect has a varying line voltage upon the current at the arc when controlled by a choke-coil?

Ans. — A varying line voltage produces exactly the same effect at the arc with a choke-coil as is the case with a rheostat. If the line voltage drops, the amperes through the arc will decrease, and if the line voltage increases the current flowing over the arc will increase in proportion.

107—How do you adjust the current at the arc with a choke-coil?

Ans.—Usually the line voltage is a known quantity determined by the electric light Company and you can secure the minimum and maximum voltage delivered from the service by the electric light Company, by asking them. However, it is well to state to the electric light Company that you intend to use a choke-coil for so many amperes in series with an arc of so many volts, which may be 50 amperes at 35 volt arc. With this information the electric light Company, can judge the power factor of your installation and this will allow them to figure on a sufficiently large transformer installation to prevent excessive voltage drop.

With a thorough understanding of the foregoing

Copyright, 1916, by J. H. Hallberg.

when you order the choke-coil it is specified for a given voltage and to be adjusted for a given amperage, and when you receive it and connect it in accordance with the instructions furnished with it, the correct results should be obtained with the carbons, separated maybe ⅜-inch.

If for any reason the line voltage should be lower than contemplated the choke-coil may be adjusted, as has been mentioned before, by either increasing the air-gap or by moving the coil or the core, so that a lesser number of turns will surround the iron.

On the other hand, if the voltage is too high and the current flow at the arc too great, then the opposite method must be followed, in reducing the air-gap in the core, if it is made in two sections or by lowering the coil on the core so as to surround the core with a greater number of turns, or if the choke-coil is of the kind where turns are cut in or cut out, cut in more turns to reduce the amperes for excessive line voltage.

108—Suppose the adjustments which have been suggested in the foregoing answer have been tried and the amperes at the arc is still excessive or too low, what should then be done?

Ans.—If the regular adjustments provided for, do not effect the proper regulation at the arc, then you can be fairly sure that the choke-coil is not of the correct size or design. It maybe however, that the number of cycles delivered by the electric light company, is not exactly as was originally specified and under this condition it becomes necessary to introduce other means for additional control or to exchange the choke-coil for one suitable to the exact cycle conditions of the system.

Tioga is Model House Run on Model Methods

Not Only Is It Pleasingly Decorated and Shows Worth-While Pictures, but Manager Stamper Lets the Public Know What He Has to Offer by Using All Forms of Effective Publicity—New Musical Instrument, Only One Outside a Private Home in Philadelphia, Is Part of Equipment

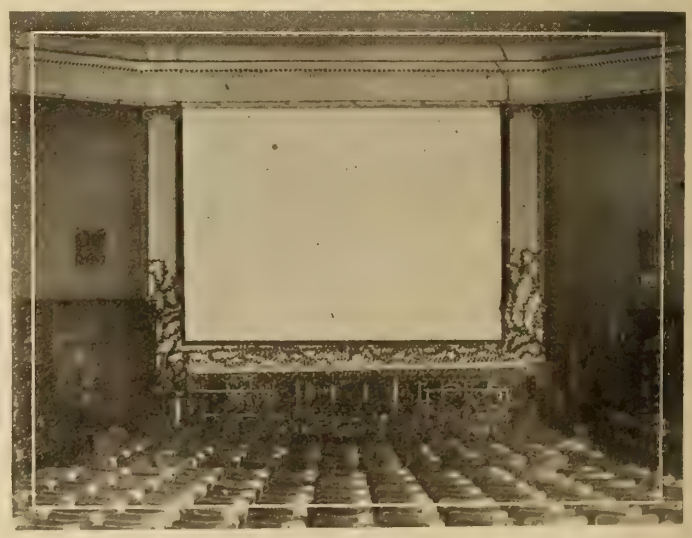
HAVING but recently celebrated its first anniversary, the Tioga theatre, at Seventeenth and Venango streets, is entitled to be called one of Philadelphia's newest photoplay houses. It also has the distinction of being one of the city's best. A neighborhood house, it employs not only the methods of the most up-to-date theatres in this class, but also the advertising, the music and the general "live-wireness" of the most progressive "downtown" homes of the motion picture.

The Tioga, whose name comes from the section of the city in which it is situated, is of brick and concrete with terra cotta facings, has an attractive entrance of Doric design, while an electric sign adds to the brightness of the evening performance. The lobby is large and furnished with comfortable cane furniture, while plants, flowers and paintings add their appeal to the patron.

The auditorium is unique in that it forms a perfect square and has all of its sixteen hundred seats on one floor without a single post anywhere. The screen is built across one corner, insuring perfect vision from any angle; thus there is not a poor seat in the house. When the house was built in 1915, its architects, Sauer and Hahn of Philadelphia claimed it as the first of this construction in the country.

Interior of the Tioga Theatre

The decorations are carried out in tones of red, gold and tan, forming an unusual but pleasing combination. The ventilation is of the most improved, the air being changed every three minutes by a series of large exhaust fans located in a cupola above the auditorium. Seven spacious aisles and fourteen exits make for speed and safety in the handling of large crowds. Handsome bronze chandeliers adorn the ceiling and sides. The lighting is of the semi-indirect order with dimmers. Simplex machines are used with a throw of one hundred and forty-three feet in a direct line.



The Screen and Orchestra, Tioga Theatre

A Wagner converter and an improved mercury arc rectifier are part of the equipment. A Mirroroide screen is used.

Comfortable Leather Chairs

Leather upholstered chairs of roomy design add to the comfort of the audience. It is in its music, however, that the Tioga has its strongest asset at the moment.

There has just been installed in the theatre a $10,000 Choralcello, an entirely new instrument to the picture house, although many are owned by the millionaires of the country.

The Tioga Choralcello, the first in Pennsylvania outside a

(Continued on page 3965)

Are You Getting The Crowds?

Is your theatre drawing as it should? Or is your competitor in the next block getting the lion's share of business? You must keep your place in the public eye — make it stand out above all the others — if you want to get the people.

Flood Lighting Will Do It

It is the most unusual form of illumination in the whole lighting field — floods the entire building with brilliant daylight illumination — makes it the bright spot for blocks around.

X-Ray Flood Light-Units

Are powerful silvered glass reflectors, whose mirror-like surface throws a 67,750 candle power beam with a 250 watt Mazda lamp. These are the units which light the Woolworth Tower in New York.

Get this striking form of publicity for your theatre. Be the first in your town to use X-Ray Flood Lighting.

Our engineering department will plan this illumination for you. Write, sending rough sketch of building front, with dimensions, and state whether lights can be mounted on opposite side of street.

National X-Ray Reflector Co.

244 West Jackson Blvd. CHICAGO

21 West 46th Street NEW YORK

Add This

To Your Theatre

And Get This

70c. Extra Profit from 20 Admissions

Manager Sharding of Georgia Motion Picture Theatre, writes that his net profits are $63 to $70 a week.

Motion put the money in the motion picture business and the BUTTER-KIST Pop Corn Machine acts the same way in making people stop, look and buy! Hundreds of theatre owners are now operating this "little gold mine." And you are missing from $300 to $3000 EXTRA yearly profits without it.

This wonderful machine will make big Extra Profits for any theatre, large or small.

"Profits as high as $112 per week," writes F. G. Pickett of the Hippodrome Theatre at Fairmount, W. Va.

"Profits $5.25 to $8.50 a day from Butter-Kist machine in our lobby," writes H. G. Heck of Utica, N. Y.

Scores of theatres paying rent, light and heat from Butter-Kist sales.

Butter-Kist Pop Corn Machine

makes the famous crackling white pop corn with the toasty flavor. Folks can't resist its coaxing fragrance. Draws people to your theatre. Occupies only 26 by 32 inches of floor space! Plenty of room in the lobby or down near the stage. Move a chair and you have room for it.

Runs Itself

Automatically pops, removes the unpopped kernels, and butters each fluffy white morsel evenly—then superheats it to a tantalizing crisp!

We're advertising this matchless treat to millions—line up your theatre with this big new national success.

A Small Payment

starts this machine popping you extra profits and increasing theatre attendance. Balance soon paid out of Butter-Kist earnings.

Mail the Money-Making Coupon and get our handsome book, "The Little Gold Mine," that gives photos, letters, proof of profits, easy terms and full details. It's F-R-E-E! You lose cold cash every day you delay.

Sign and mail the coupon AT ONCE.

HOLCOMB & HOKE MFG. CO.

557 Van Buren Street

Indianapolis, Ind.

Holcomb & Hoke Mfg. Co., 557 Van Buren St., Indianapolis, Ind. Send FREE postpaid, your photo-book, "The Little Gold Mine," and figures that prove what the 'Butter-Kist" profits are in theatres, stores, etc.

Name.....

Business.....

Address.....

Projection

Operating Electricity — Questions Answered — Repairing Equipment

Edited by J. H. Hallberg

Who will answer all questions you may send in, no matter how simple or difficult

USE OF CARBONS FOR RHEOSTATIC PURPOSES UNDER CERTAIN CONDITIONS

M. H. Cranholt, Long Beach, Calif.—Am looking for information again, so am appealing to you through the columns of Motion Picture News.

1. Assuming that a ⅝ by 12-foot carbon has a resistance of about ½ ohm (am I correct in this calculation?), why would it not be possible to use these carbons for rheostatic purposes, arranged in an insulated frame after the style of coils with an adjustable cut-out. This cut-out, it seems to me, could be arranged so as to work on the last two carbons, up and down, thus giving a very fine adjustment.

2. If the above is possible, please state how the calculation of resistance differs between a regular M. P. projection arc circuit and an incandescent house lighting circuit. That is, how could you calculate the ohmic resistance required to run a small arc lamp, pulling 6 amperes on a lighting circuit? 110 line—48 arc ÷ 50 = 1 6/25 would be my answer to the amount of resistance required to pull 50 amperes on a regular 110 projection circuit.. Now, it doesn't seem to me that this law would apply to the lighting circuit, as that would mean 10 ohms resistance, pulling 6 amperes and if this be true and the carbon matter be true, what size carbons would be required to make up the resistance of the latter puzzle, if puzzle it be? If you will straighten this out in my tangled dome I'll come again.

Ans.—The use of carbon sticks or pencils or plates or circular discs for use as a resistance medium in the control of electric circuits, has been known to electrical engineers and manufacturers for many years. As a matter of fact, there was a company in Chicago 20 years ago, which was construction and selling rheostats of all kinds composed of carbon discs as a resistance element. I do not believe this company is still in existance because the rheostats evidently do not prove entirely satisfactory, as none of them, are to my knowledge at least, in use to-day.

The difficulty met in using carbon as a resistance element is due to the disintegration which begins between the contact you have to make with the carbon material and the conductor when the temperature exceeds 125 degrees centigrade. The oxidation and consequent destruction of the contact between the carbon on the clamp or conductor increases as the current flows through the carbon is increased, which of course, also increases the temperature of the carbon. The contact will be absolutely destroyed in a very short time, unless the temperature of the entire rheostat unit be kept down below 125 degrees centigrade, which is about ¾ the temperature at which the better wire and grid rheostats are now being operated.

You understand it would be entirely too expensive to make a rheostat which would operate at such a low temperature and the size of the rheostat, using carbon as an element, would be too large to fit into ordinary spaces provided for the rheostat control of projector machines.

The resistance of a ⅝ inch M. P. carbon is about .008 ohms per linear inch when cold. If a current is put through a ⅝ inch carbon the temperature will constantly increase and the resistance will increase up to a current flow of about 15 amperes at which time the resistance per lineal inch will be about .011 ohms and the temperature will then be about 100 degrees centigrade, which is almost the danger point, or at least the maximum practical point at which a carbon can be operated as a resistance unit.

I would advise you not to fool with carbon as a resistance medium. The continued change in temperature from hot to cold will expand and contract the carbon clamps used for conveying the current and before long unless the clamps are tightened up continuously the contact will be destroyed.

The directions for calculating the resistance required in series with a projector arc are given on pages 20 to 22, inclusive, in the book "Motion Picture Electricity" and formula No. 2 is as follows:

$$R = \frac{E}{C}$$

This formula is the electrical designation for figuring the number of ohms for resistance required for your rheostat when you know the line voltage and the number of amperes required for your work. For instance, if you have 100 volts and you require 20 amperes for your work the formula in simplified form reads as follows:

"Resistance in ohms of rheostats equals $\frac{\text{100 volts}}{\text{20 amperes}}$ or written out: 100 volts divided by 20 amperes equals 5 ohms, which is the resistance required in your rheostat."

Now, bringing this formula down to your condition, if you have a 110 volt lighting circuit and you wish to operate upon this circuit an arc at 50 volts, which is about right, with 6 amperes flowing, your condition is as follows:

Line voltage 110 minus 50 volts at the arc leaves a balance of 60 volts which you will have to compensate for in your rheostat. Coming back to your formula it reads, "Resistance in ohms of rheostat equals $\frac{60}{6}$ which equals 10 ohms.

In other words, you have to provide a resistance unit which has a carrying capacity of 6 amperes at 10 ohms to do your work. The above formula can be used for any number of amperes or volts. Incandescent lamp and motor loads are of course figured on the same lines but with different factors as regards voltage and amperes.

WANTS PROJECTION INFORMATION FOR THEATRE BUILDING IN BELZONI, MISSISSIPPI

A. C. B., Belzoni, Miss.—We are erecting a motion picture house and would like to have some information. Our building will be 30 feet by 100 feet with 26 foot walls. Will have about 8 foot or 10 foot lobby and a 20 foot stage, a balcony for about forty or fifty seats. Will have about 350 seats on the lower floor.

Please advise about what heights the screen should be and about what elevation the seats should be on the lower floor and balcony. Any suggestion you make will be greatly appreciated by us and after the building is completed we will send you a photo of the structure.

Ans.—The height of the screen and the elevation of the seats depends entirely upon the design of your building. Your architects should provide for this department a plan and sectional blue-print of your building. You should state if the floor is to be level or inclined; and if so, have you decided on the pitch or the drop in inches per running foot towards the stage?

As a general rule, remember that your screen should be lo-

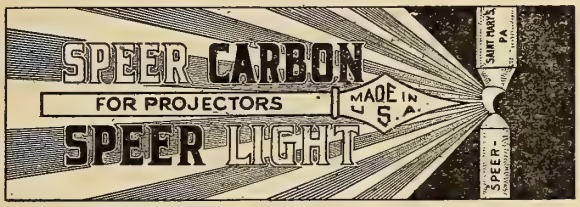
Thomas Ince's
"Civilization"

uses SPEER Projector Carbons in the Criterion Theatre, New York City.

The selection of the SPEER Projector Carbon for this wonderful performance is an additional proof of the superiority of the SPEER Carbon over all others.

Our Factory is OPERATING NIGHT and DAY to catch up with orders for SPEER CARBONS

You better get your order in NOW!!!



TRADE MARK

NET CASH PRICES

For Regular Speer Carbons

½x12,	cored, pointed both ends, $37.50 per M.	(1,000 in a case)
9 16x12,	cored, pointed both ends, $40.00 per M.	(1,000 in a case)
⅝x12,	cored, pointed both ends, $50.00 per M.	(1,000 in a case)
¾x12,	cored, pointed both ends, $70.00 per M.	(1,000 in a case)
⅞x12,	cored, pointed one end, $115.00 per M.	(500 in a case)
1x12,	cored, pointed one end, $150.00 per M.	(500 in a case)

Sample Orders for 100 Carbons Filled at 10% Advance on Above Case Lot Prices

Speer Carbons are absolutely guaranteed to give satisfaction or money back

SPEER CARBON COMPANY

DEPT. "N"

(Makers of Carbons for Electrical purposes during the past 25 years)

ST. MARYS, PA.

For Sale by Leading M. P. Machine Distributors, Including the Following:

J. H. HALLBERG, 727 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y.
E. E. FULTON CO., 154 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill.
KLEINE OPTICAL CO., 166 N. State St., Chicago, Ill.
KANSAS CITY MACHINE & SUPPLY CO., 813 Walnut St., Kansas City, Mo.
SOUTHERN THEATRE EQUIPMENT CO., Rhodes Building, Atlanta, Ga.
G. A. METCALFE, 117 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco, Cal.

Are You Working at a Disadvantage?

Do you realize how many people go away from your theatre dissatisfied with your projection. A satisfied patron is the best advertisement you can have.

Let us show you how we can help you satisfy your patrons by installing new equipment and letting it pay for itself by increased business.

Write today for our plan.

AMUSEMENT SUPPLY COMPANY

Note change in address
Third Floor Mallers Building
S. E. Corner Wabash Ave. & Madison St.,
Chicago, Illinois.

Dealers in Motiograph, Power's, Simplex, Standard and Edison Machines, Genuine Repair Parts and all goods pertaining to the M. P Theatre.

MINUSA

"SCREEN LIGHT THAT NEVER FAILS"

The "ORIGINAL GOLD FIBRE SCREEN" Perfected.

MINUSA CINE PRODUCTS COMPANY
SAINT LOUIS | CHICAGO SAN FRANCISCO | PITTSBURGH CALGARY, ALBERTA | NEW YORK
SCREENS BUILT BY BRAINS

MOTION PICTURE MACHINES

Power—Simplex—Baird

HALLBERG'S 20th Century Motor Generators

MINUSA Gold Fibre Screens

SANIZONE Deodorants, the perfect perfume for Motion Picture and all Theatres

WE ARE DISTRIBUTORS
Ask for Catalogs

Lewis M. Swaab 1327 VINE STREET PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Wagner WHITE LIGHT Converters

Especially constructed for Motion Picture service. They are complete equipments, ready to install, simple to handle, and are Wagner Quality

Bulletin 10922.

Wagner Electric Manufacturing Company,
Saint Louis, Missouri.

cated as low as possible, relative to the majority of seats or rather relative to the majority of better seats in your house. You must make sure that if the floor is level with the seats preferably staggered, that is, the seat in every other row being in direct line, the screen must be located just high enough so that anyone sitting in the last row can see the bottom of the picture when another person is seated in the second row ahead directly in front.

If the screen is placed too low, interference will occur, and if the screen is placed too high undue raising of the head, which is very tiresome on the audience, becomes necessary. It is on this account that the theatre floor is generally sloping down toward the stage from the rear.

The pitch or drop of the floor depends upon local conditions and there are theatres using from level floor to a drop of 1 inch to the foot, and I should say that with anywhere from ¼-inch to ¾-inch drop, good results can be obtained and the average is about ½-inch drop to the running foot for best results. When you have a sloping floor, you do not need to stagger your seats, as the seats may then be placed one behind the other, row for row, which makes a better proposition from all points of view.

Not knowing how far your balcony extends, and the size of picture you desire to project, it is impossible to give you exact location for the screen. The observer in the last row on the main floor must be able to view the top of the picture and the bottom, without interference, at the same time without moving. In your balcony, the person in the last row must be able to view the bottom as well as the top of the picture, at the same time, without moving.

If I had your blue-prints as above referred to, this matter could be laid out and determined within a few minutes' time, but perhaps if you give your architect the above information he will be able to locate your screen, which for the size theatre you specify, should not be larger than 11 feet high by 15 feet wide, nor smaller than 9 feet high by 12 feet wide.

THOMAS INCE INTRODUCES NOVEL PROJECTION SCHEME IN "CIVILIZATION"

By J. H. Hallberg

"CIVILIZATION," Thomas Ince's latest production is a magnificent piece of work. The writer had the good fortune to be present during the opening performance in the Criterion theatre, New York city, and was greatly impressed by the novel features introduced in the projection.

The motion picture machine equipment is installed in a booth located on the first balcony and consists of two latest type Simplex Projectors, equipped with motor drive and Gundlach lenses. The machines have the large type "S" lamphouse and the arcs are controlled by special rheostats, adjustable from 50 to 100 amperes on D. C.

Each arc lamp is controlled by an arc controller manufactured by the Speed Controller Company, the purpose of which is to automatically maintain the voltage and in consequence thereof, the amperage constant at each arc. This arrangement allows the operator to devote his entire time to the finer details necessary in a projection equipment of the kind used in "Civilization."

Thomas Ince, realizing the wonderful effects possible with this latest production of his, developed a very simple and efficient system for making certain of the scenes on the screen appear real and life-like.

This new edition of Mr. Ince's to the projection equipment in "Civilization" consists of specially designed color screens, by means of which the operator in charge under instruction by the director, introduces color tints upon the screen.

In some of the great battle scenes, for instance, the flashes from guns and cannons are brilliantly illuminated with a red tint, while the sky may appear dull and gray or dark blue, if the scene be at night. It is difficult to describe this realistic effect and one should see "Civilization" in order to appreciate the beauty and magnificence of the film and the effects, due to the introduction of the color screens in front of the projective lenses.

There are sunsets and other views at dawn which by means of this tinting are charmingly real.

The introduction of the color screen is extremely simple, but one must use good judgment in applying the proper colors of

BETTER SATISFACTION

This notice is addressed to the minority of our subscribers who do not regularly answer advertisements.

The service described is, however, open and free to all who wish our help.

We do not wish to discourage you from writing direct to our advertisers; in fact, you do not do enough of it for your own good, but we do want you to get the proper goods to fit your needs.

There are many, perhaps you, who are too busy to write each company separately; therefore we are offering our co-operation, which means that you will receive full information on any subject which you may designate by merely filling out the coupon, designating by numbers the goods in which you are interested.

Your inquiries thus received will be forwarded to reputable manufacturers, even though the goods on which you wish information are not advertised in the "News."

1. Architectural Suggestions
2. Arc Controllers
3. Brass Rails
4. Building Materials
5. Cameras
6. Carbons
7. Chairs
8. Chair Upholstery
9. Converters and Transformers
10. Developing and Printing
11. Developing Tanks
12. Disinfectants and Perfumes
13. Economizers and Rheostats
14. Electric Signs
15. Elevators and Escalators
16. Exterior Lighting
17. Film Carriers
18. Film Cement
19. Film Cleaners
20. Film Stock
21. Fire Extinguishers
22. Floral Decorations
23. Generators
24. Gas Engines
25. Heating Apparatus
26. Interior Lighting
27. Interior Telephones
28. Lenses
29. Lighting Sets
30. Lobby Display
31. Lobby Novelties
32. Metal Ceilings
33. Motors
34. Mural Paintings
35. Musical Instruments
36. Paints
37. Perforating Machines
38. Printing Machines
39. Projection Machines
40. Projection Machines (Home)
41. Projection Booths
42. Rectifiers
43. Reels
44. Rewinders
45. Screens
46. Slides
47. Slide Ink
48. Studio Lights
49. Tickets
50. Ticket Selling Machines
51. Ticket Taking Machines
52. Uniforms
53. Ventilating and Fans
54. Vacuum Cleaners

Gentlemen: Please send me descriptive matter on the subjects marked in the above lists.

Name .....

Theatre .....

City .....

State .....

the proper density and the screen must be made of the proper shade to suit a particular view. This necessarily requires the direction of someone who knows every detail of the film and then a regular color screen schedule for the film must be provided exactly in a similar manner to that required by the stage electrician for a regular production for the control of his spotlights and color effects on the stage.

There is installed a 16-foot by 20-foot Radium Gold Fibre Screen, and the distance from the lends to the screen is about 92 feet.

Mr. Ince has also introduced a novel feature in a pantomine prologue in the beginning of the picture which describes the horror of the beginning of war which carries the observer into the film later on presented in the most realistic manner possible.

Speer projector carbons are used to produce the illumination on the screen. The projection is in charge of Thomas Walker and George Huntley. Mr. Walker operated at the Eden Musee for several years. Later on, Mr. Walker was in the employ of the Precision Machine Company, and when George Kleine put on "Quo Vadis" he was in charge of the projection.

Co-operating with Mr. Walker is George Huntley, who for the past four years has been with Lyman Howe. The experience of these men in charge of the projection accounts to a large extent for the perfect projection in "Civilization."

The machines were installed by B. F. Porter. Every operator should take an afternoon or evening off to see "Civilization," because he will get new ideas and it will be well worth his time.

ROBERTS AND CARTER SUPPLY COMPANY, NASHVILLE, ADDS REPAIR DEPARTMENT

AMONG the popular moving picture supply houses of Nashville is the Roberts and Carter Supply Company, of Nashville, Tenn., which now occupies a suite of handsome offices at 511½ Church street. A repair department has been installed. Machinery of the very latest type has been installed and will be in complete running order within a week or ten days. On January 1, the company got out a catalogue in which a complete list is given of all supplies carried by the concern. This catalogue will be sent on request to all those who wish one.

The Roberts and Carter Supply Company is under the supervision of J. I. Roberts, who is president of the company. In speaking of the business of the company, Mr. Roberts in an interview with the "News" representative had the following to say: "Nashville has always been in need of an up-to-date motion picture supply house and it is my intention to fulfill this long felt want. We intend to carry a line of supples, from a five cent admission ticket to a Powers' or a Simplex or Motiograph moving picture machine. Here will be found everything that the exhibitor needs. Dewey Kilby, an experienced roadman was recently added to the traveling force of the company. Mr. Kilby has had many years of experience in the motion picture supply line and will undoubtedly prove a valuable addition to this department."

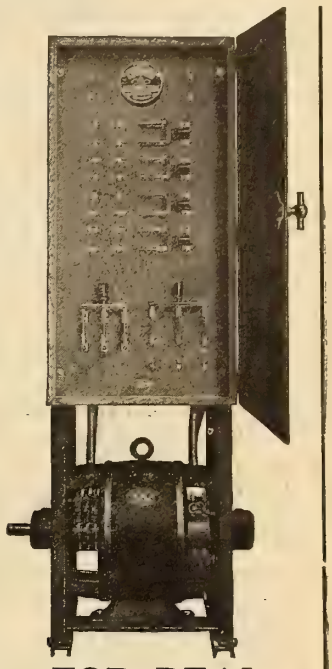
The officers of the Roberts and Carter Supply Company are as follows: J. I. Roberts, president, H. A. Carter, general manager.

EXHIBITORS IN VANCOUVER, B. C., AGREE ON POLICY OF EMPLOYING ONLY NON-UNION OPERATORS

PURSUANT to an agreement made by practically all the exhibitors of Vancouver, B. C., the operators in their theatres were notified on June 3 that beginning on the tenth of the month all the houses concerned would be operated on a strictly non-union basis, as far as operators were concerned, and that those of the present operators who wish to retain their positions must immediately resign from the labor organization. Not all of the houses employ union men at the present time, but it is stated that all motion picture theatres in the city with the exception of the Orpheum have agreed not to employ members of the union in the future.

It is thought that with such a united stand on the part of the exhibitors, the majority of the operators will give up their union affiliations, although many are of the opinion that the union will not go out of business without a struggle. The attention of the

The "MARTIN" ROTARY CONVERTER



FOR REAL "SUN-LIT" PICTURES

AND PERFECT REEL DISSOLVING

The machine they are all talking about

The Martin Rotary Converter is positively the only machine on the market which does not require a compensarc for emergency purposes. Its emergency panel provides A. C. for the lamps should the rotary for any reason become temporarily out of service. The elimination of this extra expense makes the Martin the cheapest machine to install.

Consider this fact when purchasing a converter—It will save you money.

Over One Hundred Martin Rotary Converters installed in Chicago alone. Write for list of theatres using them.

Write for Full Information.

NORTHWESTERN ELECTRIC CO.

617 W. Adams St., Chicago, Ill.
1009 Brokaw Bldg., New York.

Make Your Film Service Give Results

Get from it not only the interesting story but the clear, brilliant pictures with sharp detail and even illumination. That is what holds patrons—and it is the sure result of using

Bausch and Lomb Projection Lenses

They help make business profitable by giving the quality of pictures the public like—and patronize.

Bausch & Lomb objectives and condensers have the unanimous approval of operators who use them.

Edison & Nicholas Power Machines are regularly equipped with these superior lenses. You can get them through your film exchange.

Bausch & Lomb Optical Co.
569 ST. PAUL STREET ROCHESTER, N.Y.
New York Washington Chicago San Francisco
Leading American Makers of Photographic and Ophthalmic Lenses, Microscopes, Projection Lanterns (Balopticons) and other high-grade optical products

We Sell SCREEN SATISFACTION

—and these days there's a great deal of difference between selling "Screen Satisfaction" and merely selling "Screens."

There are scores of patented projection surfaces on the market and many of them are offered as "Gold Fibre" products. All imitations of the original

RADIUM GOLD FIBRE SCREEN differ from it materially in the manner of their manufacture, but the real, essential point of difference in our favor is that

The Radium Gold Fibre Screen Is Manufactured and Sold by a Company That Positively Guarantees its Product and Sees to It that Every piece of Merchandise "Makes Good"

RADIUM GOLD FIBRE SCREENS ARE IDEAL FOR AIRDOMES

Write for Price and Detailed Information

RADIUM GOLD FIBRE SCREEN, INC.
220 W. 42d ST., NEW YORK CITY
CANADIAN DISTRIBUTORS — Allfeatures, Ltd., 56 King St., W., Toronto, Can.; Allfeatures, Ltd., Scala Theatre Bldg., Toronto, Can.

Vancouver Trades and Labor Council has been called to the matter by Delegate Thomas of the Operators Union, and it is thought that some formal action will be taken at the next general meeting.

A statement given out by W. P. Dewees, manager of the Rex theatre, sets forth the objection to the union as being principally on account of the alleged disposition of that body to spread reports exaggerating the dangers connected with the operation of a projection machine, and of the effect that such reports would have on the theatre-going public. Another objection, though a minor one, it is said, is that the exhibitors object to the rule of the union requiring an extended apprenticeship before a man is given an operator's card.

The managers do not contemplate the employment of returned soldiers as operators, as was done in Calgary, according to the statement of Mr. Dewees, and neither is there any thought of reducing salaries; but the managers seem determined that the union must go.

EQUIPMENT BUSINESS OF PHILADELPHIA SUPPLY HOUSES IS BRISK

LEWIS M. SWAAB of 1327 Vine street, Philadelphia, has had a brisk business in equipment lately, having just put into the Lincoln theatre at Fifth and Christian streets, Phila., a 6-A Power's machine. This theatre is just reopening after being closed for several months. J. Greenstine is the present manager.

A 6-B Power's has just been installed in the Opera House at Waynesboro for the proprietors, Decker and Karper. Two 6-B Power's were also put in Blaker's theatre at Wildwood, N. J. Gilbert Blaker is manager of the house.

The Calehuff Supply Company of 1301 Race street, Philadelphia, has just taken the agency for the Strauss Ticket Booth of New York. Those booths come in all styles ranging in price from a low figure to several hundreds. In fact they can be made to order in any fashion to match the design and decorations of a given theatre. The one on display is a striking one of white and gold with marble slab and mosaic glass dome.

"SAFETY FIRST" SCHOOL OF OPERATORS MEET

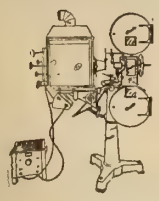
THE moving picture operators' union of Evansville, Ind., will conduct a "safety first" and efficiency school for members at its meetings hereafter. Sylvester Ruschmeier suggested the plan to the members, which met with their approval.

MANY THEATRES OPEN IN MICHIGAN TOWNS

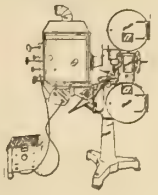
NEW theatres to open in Michigan during June are: C. A. Miller's new theatre in Alma; the Whitehall theatre in Whitehall and the Robinhood theatre in Grand Haven. The Drury Lane and the new Regent theatres in Detroit will not open for some time.

Get acquainted with "FULCO"
The Department Store
MOVING PICTURE TRADE
MACHINES EQUIPMENT SUPPLIES
Our catalog covers the line from A-Z
E. E. FULTON COMPANY
156 W. Lake St. CHICAGO, ILL.

REFLEX
Made in Switzerland
CARBONS
Write us for descriptive circular and price list
JONES & CAMMACK
Sole Importers
12 Bridge Street New York City



Simplex Projectors



USED

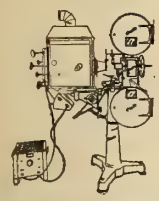
at CRITERION THEATRE

BY

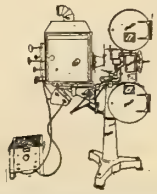
THOS. H. INCE

FOR

"CIVILIZATION"



THE PRECISION MACHINE CO. INC.
317 East 34th St. New York



Motion Picture Jobbers, Dealers and Exhibitors

Our new projector is placed on exhibition at 217 W. 42nd St., New York City, and one of these is in our show room at 1023-25-27 Race St., Philadelphia. We extend you a cordial invitation to call at either of the above places and inspect this machine. We wish you to criticise it, boost it and knock it. We don't claim it to be faultless, nor is this machine a creation of a divine inspiration, as is claimed by some. It is the work of human hands and mechanics that know how. There may be some defects in these samples. The lot we are making for placing on sale will be perfect and your criticism will be appreciated. We will sell you a machine at a fair price which is better than the highest price projector placed before you today. We solicit your inquiry. Descriptive matter will be ready for distribution in a few days.

THE STERN MANUFACTURING CO., Inc.
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

THE PROJECTOR FOR YOU

must throw a perfect picture, stand up under the heavy grind of years, be economical in operation—in fact, you want a projector that you can install in your booth and forget about it.

¶ The American Standard Motion Picture Machine is that projector. It will not remind you of its existence thru frequent and heavy repair bills. Its perfect performance on the screen will delight you, your operator, and especially your patrons. You will forget present projection troubles once you get the American Standard.

SEND FOR PARTICULARS

AMERICAN STANDARD MOTION PICTURE MACHINE CO.
110 W. 40TH STREET NEW YORK CITY

Our advertisers tell us when we give YOU the best magazine.

The Camera

A Department Devoted to Motion Picture Photography in All Its Phases, Studio and Laboratory Work

The Telephoto Lens in Cinematography

Well-Known Type of Photographic Objective, for Which Many Uses Have Been Found in the Field of Motion Picture Camera Work, Is the Telephoto Lens—As Name Implies, It Will Give Larger Image of a Distant Object Than Will the Lenses in Common Use by Cameramen

A WELL-KNOWN type of photographic objective, for which many uses have been found in the field of motion picture camera work, is the telephoto lens. As its name implies, the telephoto lens will give a larger image of a distant object than will the lenses in common use by cameramen.

As the telephoto lens is simply an adaptation to photographic work of the Galilean telescope, the invention of the same may be said to date back to the days of Galileo, who first made and used a telescope such as we are all familiar with.

The introduction of lenses having the properties of a telescope into photography was brought about in 1891. The late J. H. Dallmeyer of London, Dubosq of Paris and Dr. A. Miethe of Berlin (the last-named being also credited with having produced the first photographic anastigmat lens) brought out their telephoto lenses simultaneously in the year mentioned, although all had worked quite independently of each other.

Although many refinements in the optical corrections and mountings of telephoto lenses have been made since that time, they remain the same in basic principle, and we shall endeavor to explain the principle and construction of the telephoto lens and describe such types as have found their way into the hands of motion picture photographers.

How Telephoto Lenses Are Made

A telephoto lens is generally formed by the addition to an ordinary photographic objective (positive lens) of a negative lens, the latter being placed between the regular photographic lens and its posterior focus. The addition of this negative lens greatly reduces the convergence of the light rays from the positive lens, and in addition gives the effect of having shifted the latter farther forward than its actual position. The negative element of a telephoto combination has a shorter focus than has the positive element, and in the form of telephoto lens generally used in ordinary photography means is provided for increasing or decreasing the separation between the negative and positive elements. In this way the size of the image to be photographed may be varied between certain limits dependent upon the relative focal lengths of the elements of the complete objective. Such, in brief, is the principal and action of the ordinary telephoto lens for photographic purposes. Although it has the advantage over long focus lenses of not requiring a great camera extension to secure large images, its magnifying powers are attained at the sacrifice of speed, a considerable increase in exposure being necessary when using such a combination.

To meet the requirements of hand camera and motion picture photography, in which very little camera extension is possible, special forms of telephoto lenses have been produced by some of the leading makers of photographic lenses. These are characterized by their ability to give a large image with a short camera extension, and they are also possessed of tolerable rapidity, being therefore available for focal plane camera work and cinematography. It may be further stated that lenses of this type consist of a well corrected positive element and a well corrected negative element, the same being mounted at quite some separation from each other in a mounting of fixed pattern with no means provided for varying the separation.

As it is the purpose of this article to treat the lenses of this description we will start with the Dallmeyer lens, as the well-known London house of J. H. Dallmeyer have always occupied a prominent place in the development and manufacture of telephoto lenses for photographic purposes. In addition to being one of the first in this field (as noted above) the Dallmeyer concern also introduced some years ago a telephoto lens called the "Adon." This lens combines considerable magnifying power with a short camera extension and enjoys a world-wide popularity among photographers. Appreciating the requirements of the motion picture cameraman, the Dallmeyer concern have quite recently introduced a series of telephoto lenses especially applicable to cinematography.

Most Popular Telephoto Is the Dallmeyer No. 9

Of these Dallmeyer telephoto lenses for motion picture work the most popular without a doubt is the No. 9, which has a focal length of six inches and requires an extension of only three inches. Its magnifying power is three diameters and it possesses the serviceable speed of f.4.5. This lens enjoys great popularity with "Newsfilm" cameramen, as it allows them to secure views of celebrities and interesting bits of action from a distance. It might be here remarked that a good telephoto lens is one of the prime requisites of a news photographer's equipment.

For the sportsman or naturalist, who perhaps requires a lens of higher power, the No. 10 Dallmeyer, with a speed of f.6 and a focal length of eight inches (requiring an extension of four inches), will be a wise selection. In justice to a really excellent article, it must be said that the performance of these Dallmeyer telephoto objectives is not surpassed by that of any other lens of like nature.

Another telephoto lens, suitable for cinematography, which numbers some of the foremost cameramen among its adherents, is the Ross "Telecentric" lens made by Ross, Ltd., of London, the makers of the well-known "Homocentric" anastigmat for general photographic use.

Although the Ross "Telecentric" lens is made in a variety of focal lengths, only one of them is eminently suitable for motion photography. This is the nine inch "Telecentric," which is obtainable in two different speeds, namely, f 5.4 or f 6.8. Both of these lenses, which have a focal length of nine inches, require an extension of 4⅝ inches. We have seen "Telecentric" lenses in mounts of very excellent and practical construction, and the manner in which a telephoto objective is mounted will be found an important factor if the best results are desired.

The Emil Busch Optical Company, a German concern who also maintain a headquarters in London, placed upon the market several years ago a telephoto lens of the type we are here considering called the "Bis-Telar."

The Busch "Bis-Telar" gives a magnification of two times the size of image which would be produced by an ordinary photographic objective of similar focal length. The speediest of the "Bis-Telars" is the one of eight-inch focus. This lens has a speed of f 7. and requires an extension of 4⅛ inches, or about half its focal length, in common with all the lenses of this type.

The seven-inch "Bis-Telar" has a speed of f 9. and also requires a 4⅛-inch camera extension. Having been on the market for a number of years, these Busch tele-objectives are well known and their performance is quite favorably commented upon.

An article on the subject of telephoto lenses would hardly be complete without reference to the contribution along this line of that celebrated lens maker, Carl Zeiss of Jena, Germany.

The Zeiss telephoto objective is called the "Magnar" and its focal length is 18 inches, but the camera extension required is only about 6 inches. It has a speed of f 10. and a very great magnifying power. On account of this enlarging power there is means provided within the lens mount for altering the separation of the lens elements, as when used for very distant views the lens requires a slighly different adjustment than when used on comparatively close subjects. On account of its larger size the "Magnar" is not so well adapted to use on cinematograph cameras as the other objectives mentioned, but like all Zeiss lenses it is well corrected and yields satisfactory results.

The well-known optical firms Voigtlander and Sohn and C. P. Goerz, while making telephoto negative lens attachments (for use in conjunction with their regular objectives), do not supply special compact lenses, such as we have described above, for telephoto work.

The C. P. Goerz American Optical Company, however, recommend for this class of work their "Dogmar" and "Celor" photographic lenses fitted in Micrometer Mounts or extension collars. The "Dogmar" lens has a speed of 4.5 and the speed of their "Celors" ranges from f 4.8 to f 5.5, according to the focal length selected. A lens of 8¼-inch focus of either of these types will give an image approximately four times larger than will a two-inch cinematographic objective at the same distance.

We have also seen Zeiss Ic Tessars of six-inch focus and upwards mounted in extension collars and used on motion picture cameras to secure large images of distant objects. But it will be obvious that ordinary photographic objectives of 4-inch focal length and over are designed to cover a much larger area than that of a motion picture film image, and consequently the volume of light transmitted by such lenses is so great, that the negative images secured through their use are generally veiled over by some degree of fog due to this great excess of transmitted light. This can be remedied to some extent by having the inside of the extension mount well blacked, and by inserting in the backmost end of the extension tube a mask which will only allow a beam of light the size of a cinematographic film image to reach the exposure aperture of the camera, but still the image is generally veiled over to some degree.

When a Light Filter Is Employed

In using these telephoto lenses to secure pictures of distant views and in other phases of scenic work it is almost imperative that a light filter be employed. The reason why a compensating filter should be employed in photographing a distant view is not difficult of explanation. Upon looking at a far distant scene a slight mist is generally perceptible, the same being caused by minute particles of dust and water vapor in the air. These particles reflect the ultra-violet and blue-violet rays to a great extent, and unless a filter which will largely absorb these rays is employed in making the exposure, the distant parts of the mountains or landscapes photographed will appear veiled with mist in the completed results. Zeiss furnishes a special filter which increases the exposure 5 times for use with the "Magnar" lens when taking scenic pictures.

For comparatively close or mid-distance work, such as naturalistic or Newsfilm cinematography, it is not generally found necessary to employ a filter, and in these classes of work the exposure necessary through a compensating filter would frequently prohibit satisfactory results being secured.

Although there are other telephoto attachments and photographic lenses which could be employed in the class of work with which this article deals, we have described those best known to the well posted cameraman and are sure that among the lenses described, anyone can find the lens best suited to his wants.

MAGNESIUM TORCHES FOR FILM PHOTOGRAPHY

A. F. P., Buffalo, N. Y.—Can you cite to us any new developments in outdoor lighting for motion picture work, especially along the line of aluminum or magnesium light sticks or candles. If you have the name of the makers of anything of this kind you would confer a favor by furnishing the information.

ANS.—Many producers of motion pictures avail themselves of the magnesium torches, or "flares," as they are frequently termed, in order to secure novel or artistic effects in taking scenes at night.

Scenes showing a party searching through the woods by the light of torches are nowadays frequently shown; and in this

(Continued on page 3966)

"EASTMAN"

in the film margin answers the question,

"How clear should a motion picture be?"

EASTMAN KODAK CO.,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

The Universal Camera
For Motion Photography

Write for Illustrated Catalogue
The UNIVERSAL CAMERA CO.
559 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago

Branches { 1007 Times Bldg., New York
821 Market St., San Francisco
229 E. Sixth St., Los Angeles

A determination to be at your service.
C artoons, animated advertising films.
T itles of every description made to order.
I n full swing, day and night.
V ersatile in film efficiency.
E astman Raw Stock (shipments made the same day).

ACTIVE MOTION PICTURE CO.
1101 W. Randolph Street Chicago

Perfect Developing and Printing

Negatives Developed . 1c. ft.
Positive Printing . . . . 4c. ft.

TITLES in any language 5c. per foot complete
Cards Free Tinting Free

Satisfaction guaranteed by our fifteen years' experience Special price on quantity orders.
GUNBY BROS., Inc., 145 West 45th Street, New York City

QUALITY means
EVANS
means PERFECTION

We Do Particular Work for Particular People
Developing and Printing ONLY

Evans Film Manufacturing Company
Numbers 416-418-420-422 West 216th Street
Telephone 6681 Audubon NEW YORK CITY

Music and the Picture

Edited by Ernst Lux

This department is maintained for the exhibitor's assistance with a view of suggesting proper musical illustrations for current photo plays. MOTION PICTURE NEWS will be pleased to help solve any difficulties the exhibitors may have with their musical programs. All communications should be addressed to the Music and the Picture Department.

The Picture Evolving Its Own Form of Musical Expression

Music for the Pictures Will Become a Noble and Worthy Sister of the Music of the Operatic and Concert Stage," Says Victor L. Schertzinger, Composer of the Score for the Thomas H. Ince Spectacle, "Civilization," Just Put On in New York City

HAS the motion picture which has revolutionized so many walks of life and forms of art, evolved and is it evolving an entirely new and absolutely different school of modern music?

Victor L. Schertzinger, who composed the score of Thomas H. Ince's giant spectacle, "Civilization," which electrified New York at its premier at the Criterion, and has kept right on electrifying, declares that it has; and "Vic" is willing to back up his assertion by sitting right down at the piano and pounding the poor thing to powder.

Mr. Ince is far too observant of technical skill and effects to have allowed his greatest work of screen art to have suffered from the lack of sympathetic and inspiring music to bring out its every light and shade, and, after mentally revolving in his mind who should compose the score (a process in which he considered every name of note in the music world) he exclaimed to his assistant directors:

"Schertzinger's the man. He's the only composer on earth who really knows the technique of motion picture composition."

Mr. Schertzinger is twenty-five, and suggests the college athlete in the pink of condition far more than he does the musician of pictures that New York has now acclaimed him. He had written the scores of several other big Ince pieces. He had also, and here's something of interest to picture fans, written literally hundreds of scores to fit the action of pictures which were being made in the studio.

Picture Music Radically Different from Other Forms

"Composing music for pictures is as radically a different form of musical expression as the futurist productions of some of our more rabidly modern composers," said Mr. Schertzinger, as in shirtsleeves he sat at the piano on the stage of the Criterion and directed a rehearsal of the chorus of "Civilization," led by Kathryn Barnard, the concert singer. He shoved his Panama hat to the back of his close-cropped head, and thought a moment.

"Victor Herbert expressed it pretty well to me the other day," he went on, "He said 'one of the tough things about composing for the pictures is that you write in a perfectly good Bom to fit a certain scene, but when you come to look for that scene the Bom has gone.'. It's been cut out of the picture by the assembler, or the director."

"I think," continued the Music Master of the Movies, "that Mr. Herbert very neatly expressed there just one of the difficulties confronting the man who composes for big features such as 'Civilization;' but after all that is nothing to a seasoned picture-music writer. In the first place, let's take the case of 'Civilization.' Hundreds of thousands of feet of film were taken while it was in the making, and yet when it came to be assembled it was cut down to eleven reels.

"Now then, during the year for its production, I had to spend every minute of my time with the company, in the studios during the day and at my piano at night. You see my score had to keep pace with the picture or else when it was ready to be produced I'd have been hopelessly behind with the music. Mr. Ince, himself no mean musician and possessed of a marvelous musical sense, if I can coin a term, spent many midnight hours with me conning over the score and the script and then lo and behold, two or three days later, the scene we had worked on would be cut out because it didn't come up to the exacting Ince standard.

"Then there is the matter of tempo. This is all important and nobody who has not made a study of the technique of the pictures can come within a mile of writing a really good motion picture score. I mean a score that for masterly work, dignity and musical beauty will accord with the productions of the great masters of the photo-drama.

No Place for Temperament

"Also temperament must be banished to the four winds. The studio and the location are bad places for persons possessed of temperaments. Somebody has said that genius is merely a capacity for hard work. I don't know; but I do know that the studio and the location are places for hard work and not for 'genius' to cavort its erratic self.

"Analysis of every scene must be made in composing a worthy picture score and the right perspective taken. At the present time there is a tendency to regard any hodge-podge of different tunes and operatic selections, played in slow or fast tempo according to screen action, as all right for the pictures.

"This is all wrong. The motion picture, which has changed the face of so many aspects of our social and artistic life, is slowly but surely evolving its own form of musical expression. It may take time, possibly years, but when it comes the music of pictures will be a noble and worthy sister of the music of the operatic and concert stage. But it will be distinct—it will be different—a form of art as inspiring as that from which it springs—the motion picture."

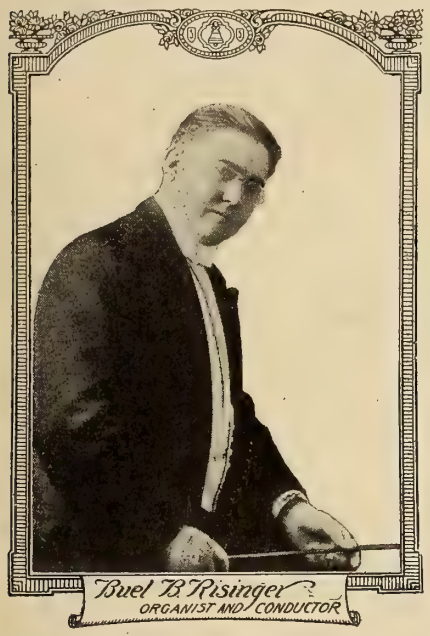
AMERICAN PHOTO PLAYER SALES COMPANY, SAN FRANCISCO, WILL MOVE TO GOLDEN GATE AVENUE

THE American Photo Player Sales Company, for several years located on Kearny street, near Sutter, in the heart of the piano district, is preparing to remove at an early date to the Film Exchange Building on Golden Gate avenue, San Francisco. The entire second floor of this large structure has been taken over and is being fitted up at a heavy expense for the use of the concern. A large stock of players will be kept on hand to give customers a fair idea of the line carried and a miniature theatre will be fitted up to illustrate the proper relations between moving pictures and music.

This theatre will be available at all times to film exchange men who may wish to show their productions to exhibitors under the most favorable conditions. This company has long felt the need of having a location near the leading film exchanges in the city, and its new home will be right in the heart of the industry, no less than four exchanges being on the ground floor of the building, with six in the building directly across the street.

RISINGER CONDUCTS SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA AT KNICKERBOCKER, NASHVILLE, ANOTHER TRIANGLE THEATRE MAKING SPECIALTY OF MUSIC

ANOTHER Triangle house has been added to the list of those making a special feature of music. The Knickerbocker, Nashville, Tenn., has in addition to installing a ten thousand dollar Kimball pipe organ, engaged an orchestra composed of artists well known in symphonic work, and placed in charge of the entire musical department, Buel B. Risinger, an organist prominent in his profession.



Mr. Risinger is one of the pioneer orchestra directors who made a specialty of orchestral interpretation for the pictures. Long before the picture theatres became a fixture in every prominent city block, Mr. Risinger had arranged special music for several traveling picture attractions and had conducted orchestras in this work on the road. He directed an orchestra of twelve men over the Valentine Circuit with the "Queen Elizabeth" production featuring Sarah Bernhardt, and for several years directed the music over the Montgomery circuit of picture theatres. The Knickerbocker orchestra is composed of men well chosen by Conductor Risinger, and some of the men have been under his direction for several years. The massive pipe-organ is used in connection with the orchestra and also as a solo instrument, Mr. Risinger himself presiding. The orchestra and its conductor have gained a firm hold on the affections of the Nashville theatre-going public during the short time that the theatre has been open. The Knickerbocker policy includes the two weekly changes of the Triangle program, which it runs two days each. On the remaining two days Fox productions are shown. The seating capacity of the theatre is 1,200 and the prices are from ten to fifty cents.

STRAND, OMAHA, IS SAID TO HAVE THE SIXTH LARGEST PICTURE ORGAN IN THE COUNTRY

A PIPE organ said to be the sixth largest installed in any motion picture theatre in this country has been put in the Strand, Omaha. A special musical program was given at the opening, the feature being Billie Burke in "Peggy." At the same time the Strand began opening at 11 A. M., daily, instead of at 1 P. M., as formerly.

The new instrument is a three manual Hillgreen Lane and Company pipe organ and is played by Florence Usher, an Omaha girl, and Louis Meier, who went to Omaha from a Seattle, Wash., theatre for that purpose. The Strand was filled on organ opening day, Manager H. M. Thomas having seen to it that the event was well advertised. The organ is said to be the largest west of Detroit and is a decidedly new thing for Omaha. Other organs are features of Omaha theatres, but none are so large as this one.

The Strand seats six hundred people on the main floor, five hundred in the balcony and four hundred in the gallery. Matinee admission is ten cents, with ten, twenty and thirty cents for evening shows. Palms, flowers and flower boxes, with carefully hidden lights, abundantly decorate the interior of the building. A new feature is the singing of birds, cages of the little feathered songsters being everywhere about the building. The stage, as a decoration around the screen, is a regular plant conservatory, with birds singing in the branches of the trees all the time.

Eight reels are used in each show and six shows are given every day. Thirty people are employed about the building, which

MUSIC SCORES

SPECIAL SCORES are now published for Orchestra and Piano to fit all

Paramount Releases

Every Exhibitor should use them
Ask your Exchange

We have on hand a few Orchestra and Piano parts for which we will sell at reduced rates.

CARMEN

Small Orch. $2.00 Piano 75 cts.
Cash with order—Postage extra

G. SCHIRMER, 3 East 43d St., NEW YORK

Send for free booklet "Music for the Photoplay"

THEATRE AND EXCHANGE MAILING LIST SERVICE

We rent lists of or address contemplated or existing theatres, exchanges, state rights owners, publicity mediums and producers, selected as to territory, class, etc. Twenty thousand changes were recorded in our list last year. Its use means a saving to you of from 30 to 50% in postage, etc.

N66

MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY CO.

80 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK Phone, 3227 Chelsea
425 ASHLAND BLOCK, CHICAGO Phone, 2003 Randolph

Addressing Multigraphing Printing Typewriting

ALL Kimball Organs are masterpieces, whether they consist in a carefully selected group of orchestral tones for a house seating less than five hundred or whether they contain every instrument that can be utilized in the most exacting picture and enough of them to fill the largest auditorium with musical sound. The electrical mechanism is quick, accurate, dependable and puts the whole instrument as completely under the domination of the organist as the symphony orchestra the conductor.

W. W. KIMBALL CO. Established 1857 CHICAGO

Eastern Office:—507 FIFTH AVE., NEW YORK

FOR SALE

MOVING PICTURE MAILING LISTS

Only complete one to be had, numbering 22,000; price, $40.00; itemized by states, or $3.50 per thousand for states you want. Postage guaranteed.

1173 Film Exchanges $4.00
149 Manufacturers and Studios 1.00
210 Moving Picture Machine and Supply Dealers 1.50

Write for particulars

Trade Circular Addressing Co.

166½ West Adams Street, Chicago

Franklin 1183 Estab. 1889

THINK THIS OVER!

You want the best music obtainable—SEEBURGS provide it. You want the biggest value you can get for your money—SEEBURGS give it.

But above all you want an instrument that will give unfailing, constant service—

SEEBURG
PIPE ORGANS
and Self-Playing Orchestras

are so sturdily built and simply designed that they are always on duty. Why bother with repair crews and adjustments?

Give the seating capacity of your house and we will submit styles and prices to fit your requirements. Get in touch with the nearest SEEBURG dealer today.

J. P. SEEBURG PIANO CO.

MANUFACTURERS

1010 Republic Bldg., CHICAGO

BRANCHES:

BOSTON
M. Steinert Sons
162 Boylston St.

ATLANTA
65 No. Pryor St.

NEW YORK
729 7th Ave.

SAN FRANCISCO
52 Turk St.

BEAUMONT, TEX.
702 Pearl St.

PITTSBURGH
431 Liberty St.

PHILADELPHIA
923 Walnut St.

is located in the heart of the business district, across the street from the city's principal hotel. Triangle and Fox service is used. Two Powers 6-A machines are used, throwing eighty-five feet to a Minusa screen. August Herman is the chief operator.

The Strand occupies a place along with the legitimate theatres in the news and amusement columns of the newspapers, and Manager Thomas makes plentiful use of newspaper, billboard, painted board and program space for advertising. Theatre parties are held at the Strand, and the names of those attending go into the society columns of the papers.

SIGNAL AMUSEMENT WILL BUILD $50,000 THEATRE IN CHATTANOOGA

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Chattanooga, Tenn, June 10.

NEGOTIATIONS have been closed by directors of the Signal Amusement Company for a twenty-five year sub-lease on property at 626-28 Market street, which is the site for the proposed new theatre for high-class motion pictures and legitimate theatrical productions. Approximately $50,000 will be spent in converting the building into a theatre. It is hoped to have the work finished by November 1. As soon as the plans, which are being drawn by Clarence T. Jones, architect, are completed and the present tenants move the work of construction will be taken up. Mr. Jones will go to New York, Chicago, Cincinnati and Atlanta to study several modern details in the designs of newly built theatres.

According to the plans, the theatre stage will be about sixty feet wide and forty-eight feet deep. The opening to the audience will be about 32 by 40 feet. An attractive lobby will serve as an entrance to the building. It is understood that the seating capacity will be 1,500, which includes the lower floor, balcony and boxes on each side of the stage end. The intention is to have the building so lighted that the clearness of the pictures will in no way be hindered. When pictures are being projected a fifty foot deep shadow box will be used. The front of the theatre will be of colored tile and terra cotta. The front will be brilliantly lighted by an indirect lighting system. Announcement of the shows will be reflected on a large electric plate-glass reflector. Music will be furnished by an orchestra. A musical instrument of 3,000 combination tone pipes will be installed. A modern cooling system is included in the plans for equipment. The interior decorations will be simple. The films to be shown at the new picture house will be the best obtainable, it is understood. The building project is being supported by Nashville and Chattanooga business men.

FRIENDLY, CONFIDENTIAL NOTICE ISSUED BY DENVER EXHIBITOR TO PATRONS ON INSTALLATION OF WURLITZER, TELLING THEM "IT IS THEIRS"

AFTER the installation of the new Wurlitzer-Hope-Jones Unit Orchestra organ in the Isis Family theatre of Denver, Colo., F. L. Baxter, proprietor and manager of the theatre, sent out the following notice in connection with the new installation:

"To the old patrons—in particular: The new organ has been installed for you. To be sure—we are pleased to make new friends, but most of all we appreciate our old ones—you who have been coming here for months and even years. There are thousands of you, whom I do not have the pleasure of knowing by name, but whose faces have become so familiar, that the place would be lost without them. The Isis is more a 'family affair' than a business. As manager, I am more than anxious to please you. There will be no formal opening, no invitations. I just want you to come as you have always come and feel that the organ is yours. It will play whatever the Isis family wants it to play.

"S. L. BAXTER,
"Proprietor and Manager."

This illustrates the way in which some theatre owners and managers throughout the country are catering to their old patrons, and by means of a cleverly worded notice of this kind, showing them how important they are to the progress of the house.

This also shows the importance which is being attached to the musical equipment and how strong an advertising force it has become.

"Going Straight"

Music Chart By ERNST LUZ

Triangle Feature Projection Time, 65 Minutes

This plot is adapted so as to make it possible for the pianist, one man orchestra player, organist or orchestra leader to make some prior preparation for playing the picture. The numbers suggested do not need to be used; similar numbers, or numbers suggested by "notes" will do as well. It is intended that no unnecessary expense be added for the exhibitor or musician.

	Description of Music	Number Suggested	Cue to Stop Number
1.	Polka Inter.	"Dew Drops" (M. Witmark)	"In the underworld," etc.
2.	Desc. (H. Path.)	"Arrietta" (Ditson & Co.)	Child lies down by dog.
3.	Waltz (Leg.)	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 15"—B. 2 (Jos. W. Stern & Co.)	"At the house," etc.
4.	H. Dr. Desc.	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 15"—C. 3	"At last they were tracked."
5.	Hurry	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 13"—A. 1	"The bulls are after us."
6.	H. Dr. Andante	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 13"—B. 2	After "The Pinch."
7.	Hurry	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 13"—C. 3	Connects 1 and 2. Man shot, falls from fire escape.
8.	H. Dr. Andante	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 13"—B. 2	"Higgins' wife was saved," etc.
9.	Desc. (Berceuse)	"Cradle Song," by Hauser	"A client of Remington's," etc.
10.	Inter. (L.)	"Sesame" (Leo Feist)	"Higgins."
11.	Desc. (H. Leg.)	"Broken Melody" (C. Fischer)
12.	Waltz (Len. Leg)	"Sphinx" (Chappell & Co.)	Connects 2 and 3. "Confident that Remington dare not refuse," etc.
13.	Desc. (H. Leg.)	"Romance and Rondo" (Ditson & Co.)
14.	Desc. (H. Path.)	"Faith and Hope" (Ditson & Co.)	Connects 3 and 4. "Back to the old job," etc.
15.	Waltz (Len. Leg.)	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 15"—B 2	"That evening," etc.
16.	Inter (P.)	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 15"—A. 1	"At midnight," etc.
17.	H. Dr. Desc.	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 15"—C. 3	"Hello, Jimmie," etc.
18.	Waltz (L.)	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 15"—B. 2	Jimmie opens window.
19.	H. Dr. Desc.	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 15"—C. 3	Briggs enters bedroom where wife.
20.	Agitato (L.)	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 15"—D. 4	Wife recognizes Briggs.
21.	H. Dr. Andante	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 15"—E. 5	After "You dassent scream," etc.
22.	Agitato	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 15"—D. 4	Connects 4 and 5. Husband enters room where Briggs attacking wife.
23.	Hurry	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 3"—A. 1	Guests enter room.
24.	H. Dr. Andante	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 3"—B. 2	Butler telephoning.
25.	Hurry	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 3"—A. 1	"Remington's injured child," etc.
26.	Desc. (Path.)	"Last Hope," by Gottschalk	Briggs climbing up at house.
27.	H. Mysterioso	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 1"—A. 1	"You double crossed me once."
28.	Hurry	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 1"—B. 2	Remington throws Briggs out of window.
29.	Sh. Dr. Path.	"A. B. C. Dramatic Set No. 1"—C. 3	To end.

This picture under ordinary circumstances would be found very difficult to play orchestrally should perfect synchronization be desired. This plot, however, suggests numbers which you will find greatly simplify its playing. The picture in itself is very good. With the musical setup as here given it cannot fail to be appreciated.

I have intentionally set this score to demonstrate what can be done by specially composed and arranged numbers for picture work, such as Nos. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 27, 28 and 29. These numbers are known as the A B C dramatic sets for picture playing sold by J. Stern and Company, 102 West Thirty-eighth street, New York City.

No. 1 should be a light number of polka style, suggestive of children at play. Nos. 2, 11, 13 and 14 must be slow numbers played legato and having a dramatic as well as pathetic appeal. No. 26 should be a quiet number, slow and melodious, having a strictly pathetic appeal. Nos. 3, 12 and 15 must all be slow legato waltzes of pleasing theme and melody. No. 9 should be a berceause or cradle song, giving baby in arms suggestion. No. 10 should be a light 2/4 or 4/4 intermezzo. Nos. 13 and 14 must play five or more minutes each.

Musicians, mechanicians, and managers agree that is the last word in musical instruments. Catalog?

THE BARTOLA ORCHESTRA

CHAS. C. PYLE, General Sales Agent, 710-711 Mallers Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

Factory
Oshkosh, Wisconsin

A. B. C. PHOTO PLAY MUSIC

New and Modern Melo-Dramatic Music for Picture Playing Composed and arranged by Ernst Luz
No scene changes too quickly to be illustrated by A. B. C. numbers. Appropriately and competently arranged for the lone Pianist, Organist, One-Man Instrument Player or Orchestral combinations of 2 to 35.

SIXTEEN SETS NOW READY

Set No. 1. A Murder Scene of three numbers.
Set No. 2. A heavy plotting description and fight. Two long numbers.
Set No. 3. Illustrating Tumult with a plaintive aftermath.
Set No. 4. A Society Scene illustrating agitation and its result.
Set No. 5. A Burglar Scene. Four numbers useful in every picture.
Set No. 6. A two-numbered set illustrating incendiarism inciting confusion.
Set No. 7. A three-numbered set of genuine Indian music.
Set No. 8. A Fight and Chase illustration containing full sized galop.
Set No. 9. A Storm Scene of three long numbers.
Set No. 10. A Diabolical Scene of three numbers.
Set No. 11. A Western Scene of three numbers, containing a complete Western Intermezzo and Galop.
Set No. 12. A Fire Scene of four long numbers.
Set No. 13. A Classy Illustration of agitation. Three long numbers.
Set No. 14. A Heavy Illustration of pathos and agitation. Two concert numbers.
Set No. 15. A Society Drama scene of five long numbers. Indispensable for Reception or Cabaret scenes interspersed with dramatic situations.
Set No. 16. A Heavy Dramatic Description of three long melodious numbers.

A. B. C. Music makes musical synchronization to the photo play drama simple.

Prices—	Nos. 1 to 8.	Nos. 9 to 16
Small Orchestra, Organ and Cello	25c Each Set	40c Each Set
Full Orchestra	35c "	55c "
Piano Solo and Accompaniment	10c "	10c "
Extra Parts	5c "	5c "

Publishers:—

PHOTO-PLAY MUSIC CO., 1520 Broadway, New York City

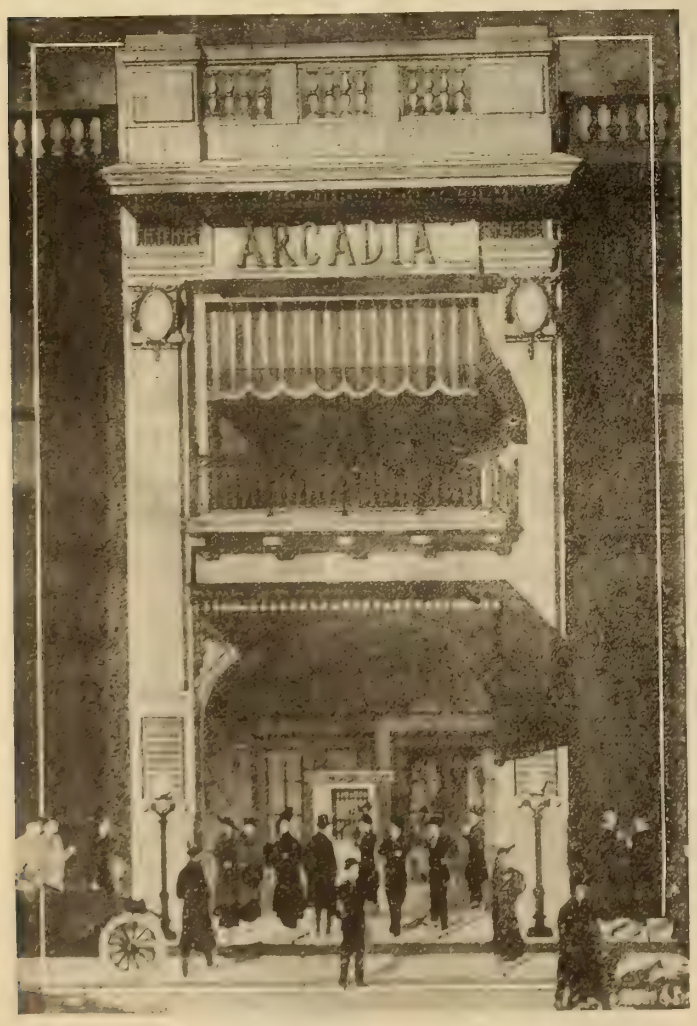
Building and Furnishings

Arcadia Is a 500 Capacity Theatre Costing $150,000

This Small Philadelphia House Is Located on Ground Representing an Investment of $500,000—Architecture and Decorations Are in the Style of the French Renaissance, Period of Louis XVI—Ivory, Old Rose and Gold Are Blended in Pleasing Harmony—Chairs of Circassian Walnut Are Upholstered in Spanish Leather

THE Arcadia theatre, 1529-31 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, is the pride of Alexander B. Boyd, president of the Cecelia Amusement Company. A visit to this little playhouse de luxe will indeed show that neither time, trouble, nor expense have been spared in its construction and adornment.

The architects, Henon and Boyle, Fuller building, Philadelphia, have embodied the newest ideas in science and art in their plans. The plans were decided upon only after Mr. Henon had made a tour of the principal cities of America and Europe in his search for suggestions and inspiration. The building itself is fireproof, costing over $150,000 while the ground represents an investment of $500,000. Thus over one-half million dollars has been put into this theatre seating only five hundred people. The architecture and decorations of the Arcadia are in the French Renaissance style, period of Louis XVI. The outside, while not especially striking, is pleasing and attractive. But it is on the interior comforts and luxuries that good taste and lavish expenditure have gone hand in hand. The conventional ticket booth that marks the photoplay house is in itself a mark of art, standing as it does in a vestibule of French marble.



Exterior of the Arcadia Theatre, Philadelphia

Marble of the same kind was used for the floors of the lobby and foyer, while Venetian mirrors line the walls, adding to the impressive entrance. Once inside, a veritable fairyland for pictures greets the eye. Ivory, old rose and gold are used with delicate touches in the decorations. A carpet specially woven for Mr. Boyd in deep rose with gray borders edged with black, blends into the dainty color scheme. Old rose brocade panels line the walls, while ceiling and frieze show roses and cupids on the background. The comfortable chairs of Circassian walnut are upholstered in Spanish leather harmonizing with the general color effect. These were furnished by the American Seating Company.

Artistic Marble Drinking Fountains

On each side of the theatre are artistic marble drinking fountains, while soft lights cast over them a mellow glow. The whole lighting system is unique. Some lights are behind cornices, others in beautiful hanging lamps of old bronze. Soft silk velvet hanging of deep rose, edged with gold brocade, drape the large stage. This stage is a little higher than in most theatres. In order to conform with the Philadelphia building laws, an exit had to be provided in the rear and the architects met this problem by putting it right under the stage. Retiring rooms for women and men are fitted with tiled floors, and walnut is used in all woodwork throughout the house.

Projection equipment was installed by the Precision Machine Company of New York City. Music is furnished by a Kimball organ costing $20,000 and said to be one of the largest and finest Kimball instruments east of the Mississippi.

Probably no single one of the many modern improvements incorporated in the Arcadia is of more importance and has a more direct bearing on the comfort and health of patrons than the air-purifying and cooling system. By means of this system 60,000 cubic feet of pure air are circulated throughout the playhouse every moment that it is open. This does not merely mean outside air that has been cooled by fans and drawn into the building, but air that has been "washed" and from which not only all impurities but all dust particles as well have been eliminated. Through the medium of this newly patented apparatus the air can be brought into the building in ideal condition, no matter what the outside weather conditions may be. It will be heated when necessary. It will be cooled when necessary. It will be humidified as the occasion requires, and always it will be pure and provided in practically unlimited quantities. On the most humid day in summer, it is claimed, the inside temperature of the Arcadia can be made twenty degrees lower than that of the street outside.

Thus provided with every device to please the most critical, the Arcadia has been launched into a successful career. Large crowds marked the opening day, and the lobby was gay with many floral offerings sent by friends of Mr. Boyd, who will be his own manager. The theatre is open from 10 A. M. to 11:30 P. M. The prices are fifteen cents for afternoon, and twenty-five cents for evening performances.

A well balanced program including the best features is being used, plays running usually two successive days.

TIOGA THEATRE IS A MODEL HOUSE

(Continued from page 3950)

private home was purchased through the Anderson Galleries of 284 Madison avenue, New York, from the Choralcello Company of Massachusetts. This instrument is entirely different from an organ, having no pipes. It has the strings of a piano, but is controlled by electric vibrations.

It is made of wood, aluminum and steel ribbons and runs the whole gamut of sound from a whisper to the roar of cannon or the peal of thunder. The various units of this instrument are located in different parts of the house, giving the effect of coming from everywhere in general and nowhere in particular. Its peculiar and unusual appeal may be best described by its name of the "Celestial Voice."

The theatre is owned by the Tioga Theatre Corporation, of which Columbus Stamper is treasurer and manager. Mr. Stamper,

The Tioga Theatre, Philadelphia

who managed the first picture house in West Philadelphia, has always been noted for his progressiveness, so it is not surprising that he rescued the Tioga from seeming failure in its first days and made it the success it has since become. S. H. Sisty is house manager and A. Elmer Seward musical director. Mr. Seward says it is no easy task to master the Choralcello, but once learned it repays the student, being the most fascinating of instruments.

Stamper Certainly Has the Right Idea

Manager Stamper believes in publicity, first, last and all the time. That is, the right kind of advertising, for it is only the best methods that ever have a place at the Tioga. A weekly house organ is issued entirely free from any outside advertising, although many merchants in the neighborhood have been eager for space. In this organ are given the names and synopses of the features to be shown throughout the week, also the times of the performances and the exact hour of the features. Each week there is an editorial on some special feature which it is desired to emphasize. This little house organ has been pronounced by experts as one of the best issued. The theatre is advertised in the daily papers and on billboards.

WE 48 WILL HELP YOU

Billie Burke	Mary Pickford	Charlie Chaplin
Francis X. Bushman	Theda Bara	Clara Kimball Young
Marguerite Clark	Mary Fuller	Dorothy Gish
Fannie Ward	Kathlyn Williams	Mabel Normand
Blanche Sweet	Cleo Madison	Fatty Arbuckle
Pauline Frederick	J. Warren Kerrigan	Crane Wilbur
Hazel Dawn	Ella Hall	Anita Stewart
Mary Miles Minter	King Baggot	Helen Holmes
Mme. Petrova	Grace Cunard	William Farnum
Beverly Bayne	Francis Ford	Vivian Martin
May Allison	Alice Brady	Ruth Roland
Harold Lockwood	Gail Kane	Pearl White
Viola Dana	Bessie Barriscale	Henry Walthall
Marguerite Snow	William S. Harte	Edna Mayo
Edith Storey	Earl Williams	Betty Brown
Nance O'Neil	Flo LaBadie	Gladys Hulette

EVERY ONE OF WE 48 WILL HELP YOU TO GET 1000 WEEKLY PROGRAMS FOR $3.00. WRITE FOR SAMPLES

Cahill-Igoe Co., 117 W. Harrison St., Chicago

OPERA CHAIRS

Steel—Cast Iron

Exceptional in Quality—Comfortable

You are invited to make use of our Service Department. Send blue print or sketch for Free Seating Plan.

If you are desirous of reseating, we can help you dispose of old chairs.

Write for Catalog N.

We manufacture Special Out-of-Door Seating.

STEEL FURNITURE CO.
1475 Buchanan Ave., S. W.
Grand Rapids, Mich.

ALL THE PLAYERS

of prominence in any sized picture can be furnished instantly. WIRE US YOUR WANTS. If you fail to display the face of a popular player who is appearing at your house you are overlooking an opportunity for larger receipts. THE FACE OF A WELL KNOWN PLAYER prominently displayed will draw more money than the mere announcement of a name.

LARGE HAND COLORED PICTURES.
Size 22 x 28 75c Each Size 11 x 14 20c Each

SEMI-PHOTO POST CARDS $3.50 per thousand. Print your announcement on correspondence side and mail them weekly. PHOTOGRAPHS, size 8 x 10, all the prominent players, 600 different names, 20c. each. GRAVURE FOLDERS, containing pictures of all the prominent players, including feature stars, $10.00 per thousand.

SINGLE COLUMN CUTS of all the players, 600 names, 40c. each.

TRANSPARENCIES, ALL SIZES, from 50c. to $2.50. FAC-SIMILE OIL PAINTINGS from $8.00 to $25.00, according to size and frames.

KRAUS MFG. CO., 220 W. 42nd Street, N. Y.
12th Floor, CANDLER BUILDING.
Send for Catalogue of over 600 players and samples free. Write us giving details of your dull nights, and we will send you a remedy.

Make Your Lobby Display Attractive

There is nothing more fascinating to the public than a bright brass frame to display your photos or posters.

We make Lobby and Theatre Fixtures and Brass Rails of every description.

Don't fail to visit our Showrooms.

Write for catalog.

The NEWMAN MFG. CO.
717 Sycamore Street Cincinnati, Ohio

Branch Factories and Show Rooms:
101 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.
68 W. Washington St., Chicago, Ill.

Coast representative, G. A. Metcalfe, 117 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, California.

BIG PROFITS

ADDED TO YOUR AIRDOME OR MOVIE SHOW

Put a Kingery Popcorn and Peanut Machine to work. Then watch the nickels and dimes roll in. Everybody likes fresh buttered popcorn and fine roasted peanuts. Their savor is enticing. No one can resist it. Attracts people to your place, away from other amusements. Makes your success certain. Brings double profits. You get an extra nickel or dime from your customers. Sell a bag of popcorn or peanuts to people when they go in—sell them a bag when they come out. Don't pass this proposition by. It's the biggest money maker you can tie to your business. We have

50 Styles of KINGERY
Popcorn and Peanut MACHINES

Easy Time Payments

suitable for every location—on wheels or stationary. Select any size and style you want. We'll trust you. Pay only a little each month out of profits you make. So don't let lack of ready money hold you back. We make a most liberal proposition.

FREE Big book, handsomely illustrated in colors showing 50 styles from $11.50 up, and letters from Kingery owners telling how easy it is to make big money with these wonderful machines. Don't wait, but get all the facts NOW. The first man that starts a KINGERY working for him will get the business. There are big PROFITS waiting for you. Get busy, write us now—and we'll tell you all about it.

KINGERY MANUFACTURING CO., Dept. 636, Cincinnati, O.

A THEATRE at the NORTH POLE

Has Nothing On a Typhoon Cooled Theatre at the Equator

TYPHOONS COST NO MORE THAN ORDINARY EQUIPMENTS OF BUZZ OR EXHAUST FANS WHICH THEY ARE CONSTANTLY REPLACING.

INSTALLATION TAKES A FEW DAYS ONLY. ALL SIZES IN STOCK.

SEND DIMENSIONS OF YOUR THEATER, SEATINGS, LOCATION OF DOORS AND WINDOWS.

YOU NEED NOT FEEL OBLIGATED BECAUSE OF ASKING OUR ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT FOR INFORMATION.

CIRCULAR "N" GIVES INFORMATION.

VENTILATE & COOL BY TYPHOONS

TYPHOON FAN COMPANY 1544 BWAY. NEW YORK CITY

There is also a mailing list. The neighborhood is both a business and a residence one.

The biggest stunt ever sprung in the picture house advertising line in Philadelphia was accomplished by Mr. Stamper when he took a whole page in the Evening Ledger, a couple of weeks ago, to advertise the installation of the Choralcello and incidentally the theatre itself. In fact this is said to be only the second time that a whole page was taken in a daily paper by any motion picture theatre. A dedication recital with Clarence Reynolds at the Choralcello was featured and after the first week of the instrument's installation a Sunday evening invitation concert was given.

There are daily matinee and evening performances at the Tioga. Twelve employes take care of the patrons. On Saturday there is always added some feature that especially appeals to the youngsters. The management does not believe in souvenirs. The only thing given in that line being a copy of Picture Progress each month, on the back of which is printed the advertisement of the theatre.

All of the publicity of the Tioga is in the hands of Haggerty and Bell, whose offices are in the Heed Building, Philadelphia, and who make a specialty of motion picture theatre advertising.

IRENE PAGE SOLOMON.

MAGNESIUM TORCHES FOR FILM PHOTOGRAPHY

(Continued from page 3959)

day of accuracy and attention to detail in film production the only practical way to make such a scene would be to employ the magnesium candle or torch.

Another depiction of artistic nature and pleasing effect is the representation of a party assembled round a campfire out in the open. Such scenes are nowadays frequently made with the aid of magnesium "flares," as the effect is much more realistic than when done in the studio.

Another effect that takes well with audiences is the opening of the door of a cabin or house, isolated in the woods, at night, revealing the interior completely illuminated and light streaming out of the door. In cases where electric current is not available so that arcs cannot be employed, this effect is obtained by having the interior of the house brightly lighted by the magnesium candles.

These magnesium torches or "flares" are also of great convenience when it is desired to take pictures in caves, or in fact all poorly lit places, where electric current is not obtainable and the possibility of using portable lamps is thereby precluded. The magnesium torch is not, however, to be preferred to portable lighting units, as it cannot compare with them in steadiness of burning. In point of actinicity or value of the photographic illumination, "flares" will be found very good. Magnesium burns with an intensely actinic light, and for this reason a word of advice will not be amiss as to the correct use of the magnesium candle.

Never place these magnesium candles or "flares" so that their direct rays are in the field of the lens. The light being so intensely actinic will cause a large halo of halation in the film image surrounding the main source, if placed within the field of the lens. This of course cannot be entirely avoided in torchlight processions, but we have seen several otherwise good campfire scenes completely ruined by the harsh lighting and halation from the camp fire itself. A stone or other opague object placed between the "flare" and the lens would have saved the picture in all its charm.

With regard to the makers of these magnesium torches, we suggest that the correspondent communicate with the I. C. Newman Company of 320 Broadway, New York City, who are makers of such "flares" for a wide variety of effects, as well as supplying smoke pots, bombs and anything else a film producer might desire in the line of fireworks.

DIRECTORY OF NEW THEATRES

CALIFORNIA

The St. Francis theatre on Geary street, San Francisco, opposite the St. Francis Hotel, is rapidly nearing completion and will be opened early in July, according to the plans of the owner, N. L. Josey. This house will be conducted as a high class photoplay theatre and will be the closest place of amusement to the exclusive shopping district. A number of unusual features are being incorporated in the construction of this house, including the placing of the screen at the front of the building. Music will be furnished by a fine instrument made by the American Photo Player Sales Company.

The Regent theatre in San Mateo, which was formerly owned by Charley Hart, who died suddenly a short time ago, has been purchased by J. L. Levin.

There has been a number of changes in theatres at San Diego. The Alhambra at Fifth and F, has been sold by J. R. Carlysle to J. H. Hiltse; the Dream, immediately across the street has been purchased by Woof and Hemsley from John Sorrell. James Hartigan, who formerly conducted a theatre at La Jolla, has purchased the Come Again on M street, remodeled the house and increased the seating capacity.

The Plaza theatre at San Diego, under the management of R. E. Hicks, has discontinued features, and returned to the one, two and three-reel service, which is furnished by the Los Angeles General Exchange.

The Royal theatre, Seventeenth and Main streets, Los Angeles, has been purchased by Riddel and McMurray of Capt. Fuller, and the new parties have taken possession.

A portable theatre has been built for mining camp use, and is now stationed at the Atolia Tungsten camp. This is fitted with hardwood floors which is used following the performances for dancing. The portable house has three hundred and fifty seats.

John Carnakes is building a new theatre at Bakersfield which will be known as the C. & S. This occupies a new building especially built for the purpose, and the theatre will have a trifle more than five hundred seats. Mr. Carnakes was in Los Angeles during the past week, and purchased operating room equipment and contracted for General service. The theatre will be opened about June 15.

CANADA

Ralph Gribble, who formerly managed the Grand theatre, New Hamburg, has taken a new position with the Hippodrome theatre, St. Catharines, Ont. Mr. Gribble still retains an interest in the New Hamburg house, but all his active work is given to his new position in St. Catharines.

A new theatre has been opened in Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., to supply entertainment for the thousands of Canadian troops centered there during the summer months. The new house, which is called the Park theatre, seats over nine hundred people, and is owned and managed by J. Burk.

Kennedy Hill, one of the most prominent moving picture exhibitors in Toronto, has sold his interest in the Colonial theatre, situated in City Hall Square, one of the the busiest corners of the city. Mr. Hill would not state his future plans, but remarked that the gentleman who had purchased his theatre, was from one of the western provinces, and as far as he knew, there would be no change in the policy of the house.

INDIANA

Joseph A. Werwinski and Clement Smoger have bought the Christian Science church at South Bend. The structure will be moved to the south side of Division street, between Scott and Chapin streets. The building will be redecorated and will open about August 1 as a first class motion picture theatre. It is planned to spend about $10,000 in remodeling the structure. It is estimated it will cost about $2,000 to move the building which is of solid masonry.

A small stage has been built in the theatre at Grandview, and it is planned to give Sunday afternoon shows during the summer.

Vernon U. Young, theatrical magnate of Gary, and his associates have let a contract to the Magic City Construction Company for the construction of the $60,000 Broadway theatre, Seventeenth avenue and Broadway.

W. H. Lindsay, owner of the Ark and Paramount theatres at Logansport, has bought the Grand theatre, Logansport, the only theatre in that place running pictures exclusively not previously owned by Lindsay. Mr. Lindsay took over the theatre from Everett J. Brown, of Lafayette, who has been managing it since March 10. Mr. Lindsay has had several years experience as a theatrical manager, having started the Ark theatre eight years ago July 4. He opened the Paramount theatre a year ago last January.

Charles C. Lower, owner of the Crystal theatre, at Muncie, has bought the Lyric theatre, Muncie, opposite the Crystal theatre, and will operate both houses.

A large ceiling ventilating fan, four feet in diameter, has been installed the Dreamland theatre, at Mooresville, which will make it a cool and comfortable place on warm summer nights.

A new screen has been installed in the Joy theatre at Cloverdale. The business at the Joy has improved considerably in the last year, one addition has been built to the east end of the building and it may be necessary to build a second.

Ernest Born, of Columbia City, owner of a motion picture house at Montpelier, has sold the theatre to a Hartford City man.

Tad L. Johnson of Rockville, has bought the Cozy theatre on the west side of the square. It will be renovated and placed in first class condition. Meville Johnson, his son, will assist in managing the theatre.

The airdome at Camden, recently opened for the summer. Albert Metzger, owner of the Fairy theatre at Knox, recently was married to Miss Marilda Evans, of Knox.

IOWA

Dan J. Preston has opened the Crescent theatre, a new house, in Audubon. He was in Omaha recently, and brought a new Power 6-B machine, a Fort Wayne motor generator set and a Minusa screen from the Western Supply Company. The Crescent seats 50 people, is ornamental in appearance, comfortably equipped with the most modern ventilation and seating means, and is open every day.

Claude B. Kerr and Frank G. Smith are arranging to erect a moving picture airdome in Sac City.

MASSACHUSETTS

Raymond W. Eberhard, once vaudeville performer and during the past winter, manager of the Music Hall in Leominster, has taken charge of the Premier theatre in Newburyport.

Frank Culbert, operator, Fred G. Hause, pianist and T. H. Sunderland, stage manager, have taken over the management of the Opera House at Athol. These men formerly were in the employ of the Steinberg Company, which managed the house. It was the company's plan to close down but an offer was received from the present owners.

MISSOURI

The Shenandoah theatre, Grand and Shenandoah avenues, St. Louis, has just closed its regular dramatic season, and opened as a feature picture house with the ten-reel spectacle, "The Ne'er Do Well." The Shenandoah is controlled by the Associated Theatres Company, under the general management of William J. Flynn. The houses in this group are the Arco, on Arco and Manchester avenues; The Broadway and the St. Charles, just opposite each other on St. Charles street, near Broadway; and the Juniata, at Grand and Juniata. All these are motion picture theatres, and all are in prosperous condition. The Park, on Delmar and Hamilton, a dramatic house, also belongs to the chain of Associated Theatres.

AMERICAN SEATING COMPANY

Exclusive Manufacturers of

Furnishings for Theatres, Schools, Churches and all Public Buildings

When you want Opera Chairs, remember we have

50,000 CHAIRS

ALWAYS IN STOCK

in 6 different styles in Imitation Mahogany and Circassian Walnut finishes, assuring you satisfactory selection and

IMMEDIATE SERVICE

Other designs of Upholstered and Unupholstered Chairs unlimited in number, furnished in 25 to 50 days after receipt of specifications, depending on character of chairs selected.

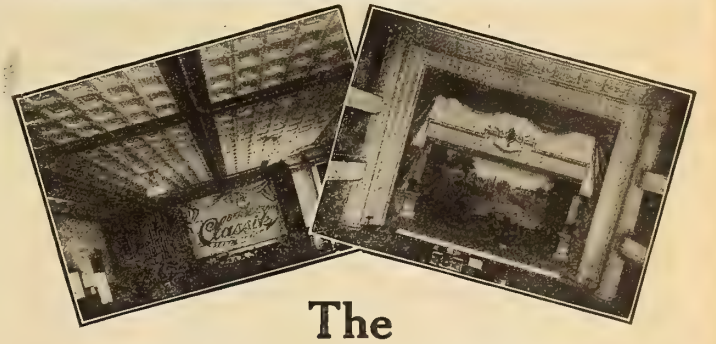
Our Consultation Service, specializing in designing economical arrangements for theatre seating is tendered to you without any charge whatever.

Descriptive literature on request.

For prompt attention address:

General Offices: 1012 LYTTON BUILDING, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Sales Offices in all principal cities



The Success of a Theatre

depends largely upon its attractiveness and safety. This is evidenced everywhere by the large number of renovations going on.

Whether you are building a theatre or repairing the old, to keep abreast of the times, you'll find that will add to the general attractiveness of your theatre and at the same time remain perfectly safe. They combine the beauty of moulded plaster with the strength of steel. Easily and quickly erected, they give a life-time of satisfactory service.

"BERGER'S Classik" STEEL CEILINGS

Our long experience in installing these ceilings in theatres, enables us to make some worth-while suggestions.

Send for full particulars and copy of handsome Catalog D. M. P.

The Berger Manufacturing Co., Canton, O.

Branches:— Boston New York Philadelphia Chicago St. Louis Minneapolis San Francisco

Export Dept.:— Berger Bldg., New York City, U. S. A.

Ball Bearing;
Long Wearing

Do You Know How?

It is often necessary to write a word or phrase exactly in the center of the paper. It is simple on the L. C. Smith & Bros. typewriter. Do you know how?

Do you know the best way to insert a large number of sheets of paper and carbons at the same time, so that the edges will all come even?

Do you know how to "half-space" so that you can write in an extra letter and still have the work look well?

Do you know why the use of the Variable Line Spacer increases the life of the platen?

Do you know what can be done with our Variable Line Spacer that can not be done with any other?

Do you know the best way to insert a sheet of paper?

Do you know how to "front feed" envelopes?

If you cannot answer "yes" to all these questions, it will pay you to send for the booklet—"The Silent Smith." It's yours for the asking. Drop a card to

L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter Company

Factory and Home Office: Syracuse, N. Y.

Branches in all Principal Cities

311 Broadway New York City

Full Line of Standard and Silent Models

The cold wave that has just passed through this section of the country has delayed the opening of a great number of independent airdomes this season. There have been only two or three evenings this spring which permitted sitting outdoors with comfort, and this exceptionally cool weather coming just after the cold and rainy season of last year, has made many exhibitors think twice before advertising a program. No theatre has as yet closed permanently for the summer. The West End Lyric theatre, which usually moves its program to the Lyric Skydome, a couple of blocks away, has been giving daily matinees in the theatre, and more often than not the evening performance also in the house. And where the house and airdome adjoin, other exhibitors have been showing inside.

NEBRASKA

W. L. Scritsmier of the Star, Broken Bow, was in Omaha the other day and bought a new Simplex machine from the Western Supply Company. Troutman and Puteney will open the Royal theatre at Royal, July 1. It is a new house, seating 300. It has been equipped with a Power 6-A machine.

NEW YORK

F. A. Jansen has rented the Family theatre, Albion, to H. H. Buckle who also conducts the Scenic theatre in Medina. Mr. Jansen, although entering the wholesale produce business will retain an interest in the house.

The Acme airdome, on Broadway, Elmhurst, opened its summer season the last week in May and is already doing unusual business.

The World in Motion, Adams, has again changed hands and will hereafter be run by Mr. Albright of Syracuse. Mr. Wicks, the former owner, has run the moving picture house for about a month.

Albrecht Brothers, who have leased the old Rudolph bowling alley building, on Broadway, Middletown, for a term of years, for the purpose of engaging in the picture theatre business, opened the new theatre to the general public on Memorial Day night.

PENNSYLVANIA

A new balcony and ceiling work just built in the Palace Picture theatre, Reading, caved in recently injuring three workmen who were still busy about the place, and killing another. The theatre has been undergoing remodeling for the past three weeks.

The Rex Amusement Company which operates a chain of theatres has secured control of the picture house in Corry. Manley Parker, former manager of the Temple theatre at Oil City, took up the duties of manager in the Corry house on the first of June.

Ben. H. Zerr, proprietor of the Schuylkill avenue motion picture theatre, Reading, has leased the house to Haas and Mover, motion picture exhibitors and owners of the Star theatre, South Tenth street.

TEXAS

Paul Reno, former vaudeville artist, is opening an airdome at Brownwood. He will use pictures for a time, then vaudeville with films.

The Hippodrome Amusement Company, of Fort Worth, will increase its capital stock to $200,000 and will erect theatres in Wichita Falls, Corsicana, Waxahachie and Austin. Each of these houses will be modern in every detail. Pierre C. Levy is secretary and treasurer.

THEATRE ACCESSORIES

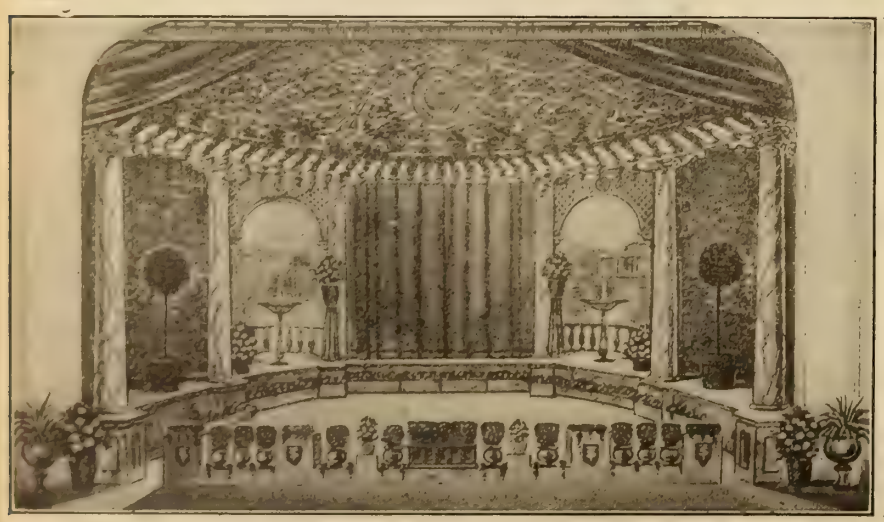
LUCAS THEATRE SUPPLY COMPANY

ATLANTA GEORGIA

NOW IS THE TIME TO EQUIP WITH FANS

We will furnish you (4) oscillating fans, the kind that distribute the air by swinging in different directions, for direct current at a total of $44.00. Alternating, $50.00. Also Ceiling Fans, Bracket and Ventilating.

Fidelity Electric Co., Lancaster, Pa.



For Artistic Lobby Display and Stage Decorations

Install our line of Artificial FLOWERS, TREES, VINES, LEAVES, GARLANDS, WREATHS AND PALMS.

Estimates made and theatres decorated under contract by our expert.

Our 32-page catalogue No. 3, illustrating in colors the latest artificial flowers for Theatre decoration, FREE.

FRANK NETSCHERT COMPANY, INC.

61 Barclay Street New York City

J. H. HALLBERG

HALLBERG
IS NOW ON THE GROUND FLOOR

The continued growth of HALLBERG'S Moving Picture Machine, Motor Generator, Transformer, Carbon and Supply business has made it necessary to establish the World's greatest show-room and supply shop at the corner of 7th Avenue and 49th Street, on the ground floor in the new Film Building.

This new move of HALLBERG'S spells progress and success, and with your co-operation, Mr. Operator and Mr. Exhibitor, I hope to make still further progress in the development of new and useful machinery and goods to facilitate and improve the exhibition of motion pictures and projection in general.

I want your co-operation and invite you to visit my new show-room where many new things will be on exhibition.

I have a special department for expert projection advice and you are invited to consult with me either in person or by correspondence about your troubles and difficulties or about the establishment of new theatres or improvement in your present projection.

Made in three sizes. 25 to 150 Amperes for A. C. to D. C. or for D. C. to D. C.

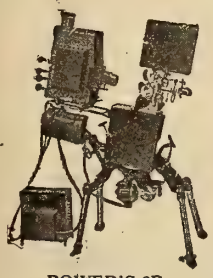
HALLBERG 20th CENTURY MOTOR-GENERATOR AND SWITCH BOARDS

are used in all leading theatres where the best results are necessary. Rothapfel's "RIALTO" Theatre uses 2 Hallberg 20th Century Generators.

For Sale by all Leading Distributors and Dealers

Free bulletin No 1 for the asking

Switch Board for two arcs



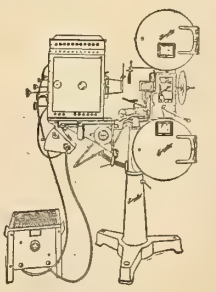
POWER'S 6B

I Am Distributor of Power's Simplex and Baird M. P. Machines
"Speer," "Electra," and "Bio" Carbons

Send for Free Circulars and Catalogues, but for Hallberg's Big 100-Page Catalogue, send 25 cents.

I EQUIP THEATRES COMPLETE AND CARRY SUPPLIES

Send $2.50 for Latest Operator's Book, "MOTION PICTURE ELECTRICITY"



"SIMPLEX"

J. H. HALLBERG, Swedish Electrical Engineer

729 Seventh Avenue The House of Quality New York

THE
SIXTH NATIONAL EXPOSITION AND CONVENTION
Of The
MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITORS' LEAGUE OF AMERICA
And The
MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
COLISEUM—CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, JULY 10TH TO 18TH INCLUSIVE

Will Be The Biggest
EXHIBITORS SHOW
That This Country Has Ever Had

MANUFACTURERS
Are You Going To Allow This Great Show To Take Place Without A Display of Your Goods?

THE EXHIBITOR
Is The One That You Are Catering To. They Will Be Here in Vast Numbers. Can You Afford To Miss This Opportunity of Reaching The Real Buyer? No! If You Are Without Space At This Exposition You Will Overlook The Best Chance of Reaping The Benefits Of The Greatest and Biggest Motion Picture Trade Show The World Has Ever Seen.

GET YOUR SPACE NOW

WRITE OR WIRE TO

WM. J. SWEENEY
Chairman, Convention Committee

LOUIS H. FRANK
Manager of Exposition

1413 MASONIC TEMPLE BLDG., CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

THE WILLIAMS PRINTING COMPANY, NEW YORK

GETTING THE RIGHT KIND OF LIGHT

With Fort Wayne Compensarcs you get exactly the light you want regardless of the kind or quality of your current supply. Compensarcs change any kind of current supply to that which is absolutely correct at the projection arc.

However special your screen may be, however good your projection machine or however clear the films, you cannot get good results with incorrect or poor light to start with. A Compensarc will give you

Steady Light—no flickering, no sputtering even when changing intensities or from one machine to another.

Bright Light—strong, clear, bright pictures even when the house is well lighted.

White Light—no yellow streaks, no ghosts.

And there is also a big saving in your current bills when you use a Compensarc.

Write for descriptive booklet on the safe, efficient, fool-proof, reliable Compensarc.

General Electric Company

Fort Wayne Dept., Fort Wayne, Ind.

ADDRESS NEAREST OFFICE

Atlanta, Ga.
Baltimore, Md.
Birmingham, Ala.
Boston, Mass.
Buffalo, N. Y.
Butte, Mont.
Charleston, W. Va.
Charlotte, N. C.
Chattanooga, Tenn.
Chicago, Ill.
Cincinnati, Ohio
Cleveland, Ohio
Columbus, Ohio
Dayton, Ohio
Denver, Colo.
Des Moines, Iowa
Duluth, Minn.
Elmira, N. Y.
Erie, Pa.
Fort Wayne, Ind.
Hartford, Conn.
Indianapolis, Ind.
Jacksonville, Fla.
Joplin, Mo.
Kansas City, Mo.
Knoxville, Tenn.
Los Angeles, Cal.
Louisville, Ky.
Memphis, Tenn.
Milwaukee, Wis.
Minneapolis, Minn.
Nashville, Tenn.
New Haven, Conn.
New Orleans, La.
New York, N. Y.
Niagara Falls, N. Y.
Omaha, Neb.
Philadelphia, Pa.
Pittsburgh, Pa.
Portland, Ore.
Providence, R. I.
Richmond, Va.
Rochester, N. Y.
St. Louis, Mo.
Salt Lake City, Utah
San Francisco, Cal.
Schenectady, N. Y.
Seattle, Wash.
Spokane, Wash.
Springfield, Mass.
Syracuse, N. Y.
Toledo, Ohio
Washington, D. C.
Youngstown, Ohio

For Michigan Business refer to General Electric Company of Michigan, Detroit.
For Texas, Oklahoma and Arizona business refer to Southwest General Electric Company (formerly Hobson Electric Co.), Dallas, El Paso, Houston and Oklahoma City. For Canadian business refer to Canadian General Electric Company, Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

6169

All ye who enter here

Leave doubt and dissatisfaction behind.

There are reasons—
come and see them.

Here you actually secure
Perfect Developing and Printing.

We invite you to come and see, for yourself, how we secure the supreme degree of film quality.

Come and see how and why we are able to deliver superior moving pictures at ordinary prices.

Our enormous capacity—2,000,000 feet weekly—insures prompt deliveries.

Our magnificent multiple set studio will soon be at your disposal at very reasonable rental rates.

Absolute satisfaction guaranteed on every order no matter how large or how small.

Rothacker Film Mfg. Co.

SUCCESSOR TO

Industrial Moving Picture Co.

Watterson R. Rothacker, President

Chicago

JULY 1, 1916

Motion Picture News

HAS THE QUALITY CIRCULATION OF THE TRADE

VOL. XIII. No. 26

PRICE 10 CENTS

RED FEATHER PHOTOPLAYS PRESENT

"FLORA PARKER DE HAVEN"

IN

"THE SEEKERS"

AN ABSORBING DRAMA OF A QUAINT COMMUNITY ROMANCE

PRODUCED BY OTIS TURNER

BOOK THROUGH ANY UNIVERSAL EXCHANGE

RED FEATHER PHOTOPLAYS

FAMOUS PLAYERS
48 SUPREME PHOTOPLAYS A YEAR

DANIEL FROHMAN
Presents

PAULINE FREDERICK

LOVE CONQUERS TEMPTATIONS

In a stirring picturization of E. Phillips Oppenheim's thrilling story,

AFTER THE BATTLE—PEACE

"The WORLD'S GREAT SNARE"

Released June 26th on the

Paramount Program

FAMOUS PLAYERS FILM Co

ADOLPH ZUKOR, PRESIDENT
DANIEL FROHMAN, MANAGING DIRECTOR
124-130 WEST 56TH STREET, NEW YORK
CANADIAN DISTRIBUTORS—FAMOUS PLAYERS FILM SERVICE LTD.

Paramount Pictures

are the productions of

Famous Players Film Co., Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Co., The Oliver Morosco Photoplay Co., Pallas Pictures

You attracted many people to your theatre by advertising that feature you played last week. It was a good picture and pleased everybody.

How many of these new patrons have you driven away by showing a poor picture the next time they came to your theatre?

Consistent quality is assured the Paramount exhibitor and he assures his patrons by displaying the Paramount Trademark.

Are YOU Satisfied?

Write Our Exchange To-day.

Paramount Pictures Corporation
FOUR EIGHTY FIVE FIFTH AVENUE at FORTY FIRST ST.
NEW YORK, N.Y.

Paramount Pictures

Music

Specially arranged music for each feature beginning with release of April 3rd, 1916, is available at a small rental. Whether you have a full orchestra or only piano, this specially arranged music will add greatly to the effectiveness of each feature.

Ask our exchange.

WEEK'S RELEASES

Daniel Frohman presents
ANN PENNINGTON in SUSIE SNOWFLAKE
produced by
Famous Players Film Co.

Jesse L. Lasky presents
VICTOR MOORE in THE CLOWN
produced by
Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Co.

PARAMOUNT-BURTON HOLMES TRAVEL PICTURES NO. 20
"Imperial Berlin"

PARAMOUNT PICTOGRAPHS NO. 20
Preparedness—Destruction of the American Fleet—Henry Reuterdahl.
Better Babies—Physical Independence.
How to Fall.
The Trend of Your Mind—Hugo Munsterberg.
He Has A Good Job—He Puts the Sand in Spinach.
In Idaho—Shooting the Rapids.

PARAMOUNT-BRAY ANIMATED CARTOONS NO. 23
"Kid Casey the Champion"

Write Our Exchange To-day

Paramount Pictures Corporation
FOUR EIGHTY FIVE FIFTH AVENUE at FORTY FIRST ST.
NEW YORK, N.Y.

Paramount Pictures

ARE THE PRODUCTIONS OF

Famous Players Film Co.

Mary Pickford — Marguerite Clark
Pauline Frederick — Hazel Dawn
Ann Pennington — Donald Brian
John Barrymore

Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Co.

Geraldine Farrar — Blanche Sweet
Marie Doro — Fannie Ward
Cleo Ridgely — Wallace Reid
Mae Murray — Victor Moore
Theodore Roberts

The Oliver Morosco Photoplay Co.

Anna Held — Lenore Ulrich
George Beban — Constance Collier
Rita Jolivet — Edna Goodrich
Vivian Martin

Pallas Pictures

Dustin Farnum — Macklyn Arbuckle
Winifred Kingston — Florence Rockwell
Myrtle Stedman — Elsie Janis (Bosworth)

Are YOU satisfied?

Write Our Exchange Today.

Paramount Pictures Corporation
EIGHTY FIVE [illegible] at FORTY FIRST ST.
NEW [illegible] N.Y.

Paramount Pictures

5418

THE BIGGEST THING ON THE SKY LINE

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG FILM CORPORATION

Lewis J. Selznick, President - Seventh Avenue at Forty-ninth Street, New York City.

A magazine's success is measured by its advertising. Look at the "News!"

WILLIAM FOX

FOX FILM

Presents

Bertha Kalich in AMBITION

That Overpowering Lure and Desire for Power that Leads Its Victims to Sacrifice Position, Home and Loved Ones—Everything—to Accomplish Selfish Ends. This Wife was willing to Give Up All For the Man She Loved.

Written by Mary Murillo Directed by James Vincent

CORPORATION

A magazine's success is measured by its advertising. Look at the "News!"

WORLD PICTURES

WILLIAM A. BRADY
in association with
WORLD FILM CORPORATION
Presents

FRANCES NELSON

and

Arthur Ashley

IN

"What Happened at 22"

A theme, a loveable heroine in romantic adventure and beautiful settings, that drive home the responsibility of a new and developing situation.

Produced by Frohman Amusement Corporation

BRADY-MADE

WORLD PICTURES

William A. Brady
in association with
WORLD FILM CORPORATION will shortly present

Kitty Gordon

in
"The Crucial Test"
A mysterious drama of love and exciting adventure.
PRODUCED BY PARAGON FILMS, INC.
DIRECTED BY ROBERT THORNBY

Arthur Ashley

Gail Kane

Robert Warwick

in
"Friday the 13th"
The most sensational story ever written by THOMAS W. LAWSON
DIRECTED BY EMILE CHAUTARD

House Peters

Clara Kimball Young

Carlyle Blackwell and Muriel Ostriche

Frances Nelson

Holbrook Blinn

Clara Whipple

John Hines

"Sally in Our Alley"
A very fascinating love drama bubbling over with laughter of merry children and the happiness of life.
DIRECTED BY TRAVERS VALE

DEPENDABLE PICTURES
CLEAN WHOLESOME AND ENTERTAINING

Pleasant to Remember

BRADY-MADE

The best list of newspapers story is running the

PATHÉ WHO'S

Here are some

Albany, N. Y. ..... Knickerbocker Press	Houston, Texas..... Houston Chronicle
Binghampton, N. Y. ..... Press	San Antonio, Texas..... Express
Syracuse, N. Y. ..... Journal	Oklahoma City, Okla..... The Oklahoman
Elmira, N. Y. ..... Daily Advertiser	Drumright, Okla..... Daily Derrick
Troy, N. Y. ..... Budget	Shawnee, Okla..... News Herald
Atlanta, Ga..... Atlanta Journal	Henryetta, Okla..... Standard
Boston, Mass..... Boston Traveler	Nowata, Okla..... Star
Providence, R. I..... Tribune	Teague, Texas..... The Times
Milford, Mass..... Daily News	Shamrock, Okla..... Blarney
Webster, Mass..... Times	Des Moines, Iowa..... Register
Buffalo, N. Y..... News	Cedar Rapids, Iowa.. Republican and Times
Rochester, N. Y..... Photoplay News	Magnoketa, Iowa..... Jackson Sentinel
Chicago, Ill..... Herald	Detroit, Mich..... Detroit Times
Springfield, Ill..... Illinois State Journal	Romeo, Mich. ..... Observer
Cincinnati, Ohio..... Times-Star	Williamston, Mich..... Williamston News
Columbus, Ohio..... Ohio State Journal	Indianapolis, Ind..... Star
Louisville, Ky..... Louisville Herald	Wichita, Kansas..... Eagle
Dallas, Texas..... News	Los Angeles, Cal..... Record
Galveston, Texas..... News	Milwaukee, Wis..... Evening Wisconsin

40 newspapers a day are

These newspapers, together with the pictures, are packing the houses

Produced by

The PATHÉ EXECUTIVE

25 WEST 45th ST.

that ever ran a photoplay stories of the great

SERIES GUILTY?

of them:

Madison, Wis. ..... Daily Democrat	Altoona, Pa. ..... Tribune
Rahway, N. J. ..... Record	Portland, Ore. ..... Telegram
New Orleans, La. ..... The Item	Salt Lake City, Utah. ..... Tribune
New York City ..... The Evening World	Oakland, Cal. ..... Tribune
New York City. The Jewish Daily Warheit	Sacramento, Cal. ..... Union
Bridgeport, Conn ..... Post Telegram	St. Louis, Mo. ..... Times
Bayonne, N. J. ..... Times	Owensboro, Ky. ..... Inquirer
Rockaway Beach, N. Y. ..... The Argus	Washington, D. C. ..... Herald
Ossining, N. Y. ..... Ossining Citizen	Wilmington, Del. ..... Morning News
Tarrytown, N. Y. ... Tarrytown Daily News	Richmond, Va. ..... Times-Despatch
Omaha, Nebr. ..... World-Herald	Baltimore, Md. ..... American
Philadelphia, Pa. ..... The North American	Lancaster, Pa. ..... Examiner
Harrisburg, Pa. ..... Patriot	Hagerstown, Md. ..... Daily Globe
Wilkes-Barre, Pa. ..... Evening News	San Diego, Cal. ..... San Diego Sun
Mauch Chunk, Pa. ..... Daily Times	Creighton, Nebr. ..... The Liberal
Reading, Pa. ..... Reading Telegram	Flushing, L. I. ..... Flushing Daily Times
Atlantic City, N. J. ..... Press	Greenpoint, N. Y. ... Greenpoint Home News
Camden, N J. ..... Post Telegram	Mineola, N. Y. ..... Nassau County Gazette
Pittsburgh, Pa. ..... Press	Winfield, La. ..... Winfield Times being added to this list!

super-excellent quality of the where "WHO'S GUILTY? is showing.

Arrow Film Corp'n.

EXCHANGE inc.

OFFICES

NEW YORK

The Topic of Who is "The
The Mysterious
PATHÉ'S
THE IRON
Has everyone talking —
The theatre manager's greatest greatest Serial. Here's what a
"'THE IRON CLAW' has made Monday, my worst night, the best of the week."
Arnold Davis, Park Theatre, Newark, N. J.
"'THE IRON CLAW' deserves the strongest commendation I can give it; it is with agreeable surprise that I heard of its extension to 20 episodes."
J. S. Grauman, Regent Theatre, Milwaukee, Wis.
20 EPISODES —
Produced by Edward José —
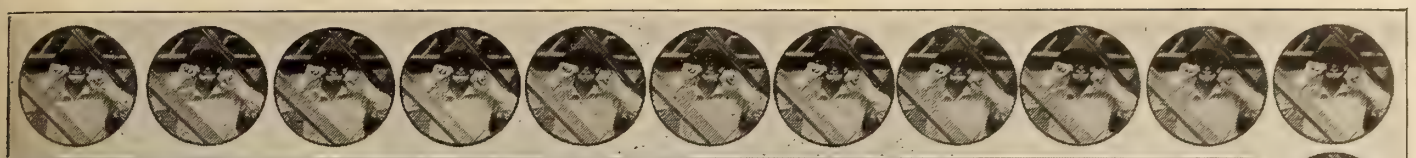
The PATHÉ
EXECUTIVE
25 WEST 45th ST.



the Hour
Laughing Mask"?
Character in

GREATEST SERIAL

CLAW

everyone guessing friend is PATHÉ'S
few of them say:

"It rained all day, yet we showed 'THE IRON CLAW' to over 2800 people in a 500 seat house with____in____showing in a house right next door."

Henry Hoffman, Moline, Ill.

"'THE IRON CLAW' draws the crowds. I show it every Monday to a packed house. My patrons were delighted to know that six new chapters are to be added."

J. F. Miller, Pastime Theatre, Hickory, N. C.

SHOW THEM ALL!
Feature Film Corp'n.
Gen'l Director

EXCHANGE inc

OFFICES
NEW YORK

PATHÉ

COMING!
July 17

THE GRIP OF EVIL

A Master Plot in Fourteen Chapters
Showing the real side of Humanity
Featuring
Jackie Saunders and Roland Bottomley
In every way a worthy successor to
THE IRON CLAW

The PATHÉ EXCHANGE inc
EXECUTIVE OFFICES
25 WEST 45th ST. NEW YORK

PATHÉ presents the Five Part Gold Rooster Play

A MATRIMONIAL MARTYR

Superbly treated in

PATHÉCOLOR

Featuring

Ruth Roland

Popular heroine of the Great successes

"Who Pays?"

and

"The Red Circle"

Produced by Balboa

The PATHÉ EXCHANGE inc.

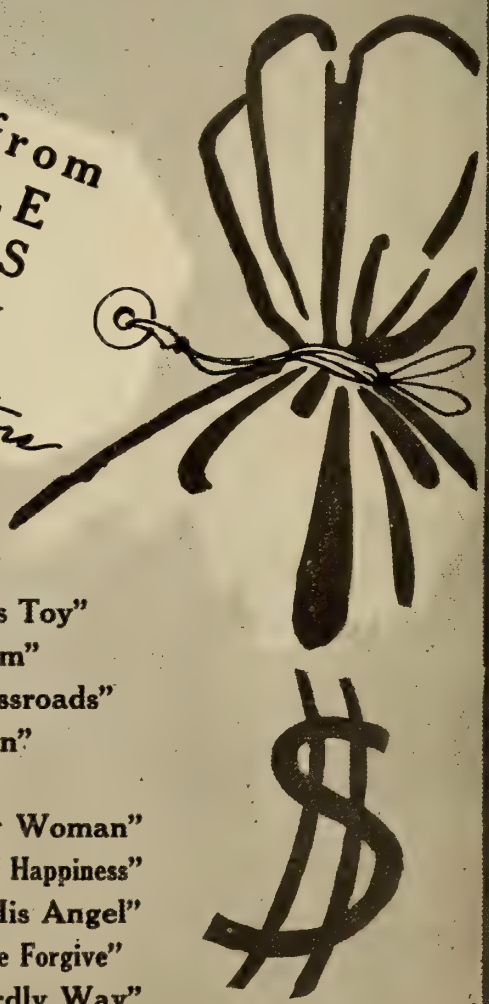
EXECUTIVE OFFICES

25 WEST 45th ST. NEW YORK

EQUITABLE PICTURES

RECEIPTS from EQUITABLE PICTURES are always satisfactory

Signed: Hundreds of Exhibitors



HELEN WARE . . . in "The Price"
ADELE BLOOD . . . in "The Devil's Toy"
JULIA DEAN . . . . in "The Ransom"
MARIE EMPRESS . : . in "Love's Crossroads"
MARGARITA FISHER . in "The Dragon"
CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG . in "Trilby"
LENORE ULRICH . . in "The Better Woman"
MARY BOLAND . . . in "The Price of Happiness"
JANE GREY . . . . in "Man and His Angel"
LILLIAN LORRAINE . in "Should a Wife Forgive"
FLORENCE REED . . in "The Cowardly Way"

EQUITABLE MOTION PICTURES CORPORATION
RELEASING THROUGH
WORLD FILM CORPORATION

Extra Pressure

TO "keep cool" in business during the summer means to put more steam on.

In other words, you must show attractions which overbalance the appeal of the great outdoors.

We Are Well Prepared To Help You

Appreciating your needs, our manufacturers have themselves put on "extra pressure."

Strong as have been the offerings of this company for the past months, they have been outdone by those which are to come during the torrid season.

"The Suspect"
"Sherlock Holmes"
"Into the Primitive"
"Love's Toll"

are but forerunners of a general list of dramatic offerings charged with an interest and intensity that will transcend any other attractions.

To show these subjects is to enjoy the experience of V-L-S-E last year of —

Steadily Increasing Business Throughout The Summer

V. L. S. E. Inc.

Trademark Reg. U. S. Pat. 1907

"The Shop Girl"

A Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature in Five Parts

By

C. N. & A. M. Williamson

Featuring

Edith Storey

and

Antonio Moreno

Showing Character pitted against Caste—the clash of Necessity with Expediency—the power of Love to beat down barriers and claim that which is its own.

THE VITAGRAPH COMPANY OF AMERICA

Released through V. L. S. E. Inc.

LUBIN

Proffers

Edgar Lewis'

Masterful Production

"THOSE WHO TOIL"

From the pen of

Daniel Carson Goodman

featuring

Nance O'Neil

Visualizing and vitalizing a powerful drama of the Pennsylvania oil fields, with a tremendous human interest appeal.

IN FIVE PARTS

LUBIN FEATURE

Released through V.L.S.E. Inc.

Selig Plays That Pay!

"Into The Primitive"
"At Piney Ridge"
"The Cycle of Fate"
"Thou Shalt Not Covet"
"Sweet Alyssum"
"The Rosary"
"A Texas Steer"
"Unto Those Who Sin"
"No Greater Love"
"The Circular Staircase"
"House of a Thousand Candles," and others.

COMING

Hallie Erminie Rives' Greatest Story

"The Valiants of Virginia"

SELIG

Released through V.L.S.E. Inc.

TRADE MARK REG
U.S. PAT. OFF.

Warda Howard

Supported by

Duncan McRae
Ernest Maupain
and
John Lorenz

Is presented in

"That Sort"

In 5 acts
By Basil McDonald Hastings
Directed by Charles J. Brabin

William Gillette

Is presented in

"Sherlock Holmes"

In 7 acts
Arthur Berthelet, Director

Essanay Features

"The Little Shepherd of Bargain Row"
Charlie Chaplin's Burlesque on "Carmen"
"The Havoc"
"The Discard"
"Vultures of Society"
"The Misleading Lady"
"Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines"
"A Daughter of the City"
"The Alster Case"
"The Raven"
"The Crimson Wing"
"The Man Trail"
"A Bunch of Keys"
"The Blindness of Virtue"
"In the Palace of the King"
"The White Sister"
"The Slim Princess"
"Graustark"

Essanay
GEORGE K SPOOR PRESIDENT

Released through V.L.S.E. Inc.

BIG FOUR FEATURE PLAY V L S E

LUBIN

BRANCH OFFICES

Atlanta
75 Walton St.

Boston
67 Church St.

Chicago
Adams St. and Wabash Ave.

Cincinnati
129 West 7th St.

Cleveland
2077 E. 4th St.

Dallas
1900 Commerce St.

Denver
1433 Champa St.

Detroit
502 Peter Smith Bldg.

Kansas City Mo.
12th & Walnut St.

Los Angeles
643 So. Olive St.

Minneapolis
608 N. First Ave.

New York City
1600 Broadway

BRANCH OFFICES

Philadelphia
229 N. 12th St.

Pittsburg
117 Fourth Av.

San Francisco
986 Market St.

Salt Lake City
129 E. Second South St.

St. Louis
3630 Olive St.

Seattle
415 Olive St.

Washington D. C.
811 E Street, N. W.

New Orleans
342 Baronne St.

Syracuse
117 Walton St.

Toronto
15 Wilton Ave.

Montreal
198 St. Catherine St., West

SUCCESS

SIGN POST NO 22

"I know not how to govern our own course save by the proven experience of others."

Forty Miles From A Railroad—

But Moving Picture Patrons Know That "Selected" Pictures Give Best Satisfaction

Stockgrowers Bank of Buffalo

BUFFALO, WYOMING

V.L.S.E. Inc.,
New York City.

Gentlemen:

I have been using the V.L.S.E. for about four months, and can't help writing you how pleased I am that I booked with you.

I like the open booking plan very much as I find the patrons of my house like pictures that are clean and free from the blood and thunder kind, and under the open booking plan I can pick out just what they like. Always before I have been bound to a contract and had to take just what they wanted to give me.

These failed to measure up to the class of pictures that the people in this small Western town, forty miles from a railroad, like.

Yours very truly,

THEATORIUM THEATRE.

J. Elliott Lamb

Manager.

V. L. S. E. Inc.

TRADEMARK Reg. U. S. Pat. 1907

One of the Most Consistent Box Office Record Breakers Ever Offered an Exhibitor

ESSANAY-CHAPLIN'S "BURLESQUE ON CARMEN"

"Ask the man who has played it."

T. D. FORM 2

Canadian Pacific Railway Company's Telegraph

IN CONNECTION WITH THE

COMMERCIAL CABLE CO. COMMERCIAL PACIFIC CABLE CO.
BRITISH PACIFIC CABLE BOARD LINE
HALIFAX-BERMUDAS AND WEST INDIES CABLES
REACHES ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD

READ THE NOTICE AND AGREEMENT ON THE BACK

D. McMILLAN, Manager Telegraphs, Montreal.

Montreal, April 16th, 1916.

V. L. S. E. Inc., New York City.

Chaplin Burlesque on Carmen beat all records of the Imperial, Toronto, by over three hundred dollars on the first day.

H. W. Conaver, Mgr.

Released Through
VITAGRAPH LUBIN SELIG ESSANAY INC.
4 THE BIG FOUR 4

Essanay
GEORGE K. SPOOR, PRESIDENT

THE CLASS OF THEATRES
ASCHER'S
KLAND SQUARE
THEATRE
Miss Billie Burke
BILLIE BURKE
GLORIAS ROMANCE

THE ATTRACTION

By Arrangement With F. Ziegfeld, Jr.

GEORGE KLEINE Presents

The Star Supreme

Miss

BILLIE BURKE

in

GLORIA'S ROMANCE

Supported by HENRY KOLKER

A Motion Picture Novel by Mr. & Mrs. Rupert Hughes.

Twenty Chapters – A New Feature Chapter Every Week. Now Showing at America's Biggest and Best Theatres. The only genuine feature serial ever produced with such a prominent star. For bookings apply to nearest Kleine Exchange.

THE RESULT

"ALL THE FIRE LAWS WILL PERMIT"
Interior Piedmont Theatre, Atlanta, Ga., Showing the Crowds packing this house daily to see GLORIA'S ROMANCE.

The Social Pirates

Thrills! Suspense! Originality!

Picture patrons the country over are following with avid interest the adventures of Mona and Mary—the most strikingly original characterizations the screen has had in a decade. It's the charm of two captivatingly clever girls and the grip of blood-tingling adventures that makes "The Social Pirates" the series that brings them back week after week.

MARIN SAIS OLLIE KIRKBY and E. FORREST TAYLOR

Head the all-star cast in the next powerful episode

"THE MUSIC SWINDLERS"

RELEASED MONDAY, JUNE 26th

Mona and Mary clean up a fake music school, but not without a bitter fight and many tense moments when their struggle seemed in vain. Intense suspense makes this one of the strongest of the stories in this premiere series.

By George Bronson Howard

KALEM COMPANY

235-39 West 23d Street New York City

Complete Line of Catchy Advertising Aids

The LOTUS WOMAN

Featuring

ALICE HOLLISTER & HARRY MILLARDE

Five powerful acts—The vivid tale of a woman's passionate intrigue and a man's loyal friendship blended in a tale that surges with strong emotions and suspense that holds in a vise-like grip. Strong in box-office value, stronger still in satisfying power, yet you can book it

IN REGULAR SERVICE!

Released Wednesday June 28th

Alice Hollister, the original vampire of the photoplay, and with a following built by years of popularity, will pull the coins to your box-office when you show this superb feature.

Book In The World's Biggest Programme—General Film Service

Heralds, Cuts, Banners, Photos, Posters, Slides, Etc., in the Complete Line of Publicity Aids

KALEM COMPANY

235 West 23d St. New York City, N. Y.

MUTUAL SPE

Sea

Blown Up By A Mine!!

In Chapter Five of "The Secret of the Submarine" spies attempt to run the U. S. Channel, but their boat is blown to atoms by a floating mine. Hope and Cleo risk enormous dangers at sea when Mahlin captures the light house and turns out the light!

Big scenes that amaze big crowds!

CIAL FEATURE

Terrors!!

The raging, tempestuous scenes of "The Secret of the Submarine" are continued in another pulsating two-act chapter—Chapter Six, released June 26th. The brilliant beauty of the great seascapes is in powerful dramatic contrast to the terrors of the treacherous waters filled with floating mines—where the Americans and foreign spies strive for mastery!! Again—Thomas Chatterton and Juanita Hansen in tremendous adventures! Again—a chapter of gigantic drawing-power!!

American Film Company, Inc., Presents

The SECRET of the SUBMARINE

Directed by George Sargent

The Film Novel of the Hour!

Crowds Blockade Streets!

Exhibitors send glowing reports of success! Read this letter—

Richmond, Ind., May 29, 1916

Today was our opening day for "THE SECRET OF THE SUBMARINE." We had "a regular jam." Before opening time (1:15 in the afternoon) our side of Main street was blocked, and those wishing to pass were compelled to take the other side. Regardless of inclement weather and six other high class features being shown at other houses today, we enjoyed a capacity business until 11:00 o'clock tonight. Considering that our audience changed on an average of once every forty minutes (as we were running but three reels today) will show you what "THE SECRET OF THE SUBMARINE" can do for box-office receipts. Any exhibitor who neglects this opportunity is overlooking a mighty good chance. THEATORIUM,
C. E. HOFFMAN, Manager.

Book Big Business!!

—for fifteen weeks with "The Secret of the Submarine." A chapter a week. Make big money! Show to big crowds! Rush your reservation today. Clinch this money-making opportunity.

Apply to "The Secret of the Submarine" department of any Mutual Exchange or at Mutual Film Corporation, 71 W. 23d St., New York City

American Film Company, Inc.

SAMUEL S. HUTCHINSON, President CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

SPECIAL! Over 1000 newspapers are publishing Powell's great novelization of "The Secret of the Submarine," including—

New York World, Boston Herald, Philadelphia Inquirer, Baltimore American, Pittsburgh Gazette-Times, Buffalo Courier, Cleveland Leader, Dallas Journal, Indianapolis Star, Omaha Bee, Milwaukee Journal, San Francisco Chronicle, Los Angeles Record.

Better to read fifty advertisements than to miss the one YOU need.

BROADWAY
NEW YORK
STRAND CIRCLE
PARK ARCADE
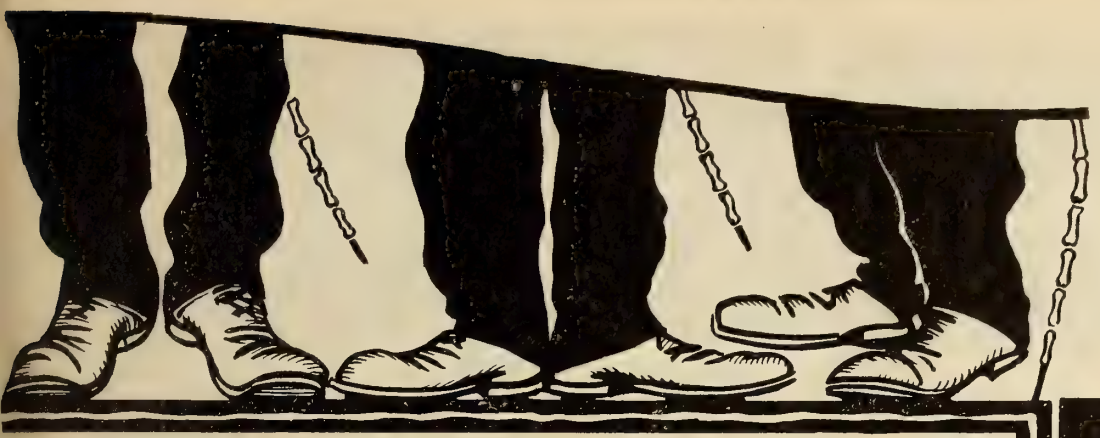
LINCOLN SQ.
SCHUYLER
Charlie Chaplin's Foot-prints



on the Great White Way—

On Broadway, New York, between 41st and 110th streets

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

in the latest Mutual Chaplin Special was played as the feature attraction, first run, in 14 theatres—all but one of the big first class theatres in that section! This strip of "main street" is picked out merely for the sake of ready illustration. Every other section made a like showing—the town went Chaplin mad. Reports coming in from all over the country read the same—crowds turned away and patrons warmly enthusiastic in their praise of star and picture.

THE FIREMAN

No such record smashing success has ever been known. Every part of the world is clamoring for the Mutual Chaplin pictures—for there never was such a sure thing investment. No speculation—just look up the business done in the thousands of houses that showed The Floor-walker and The Fireman and get in in time for the next Mutual Chaplin

THE VAGABOND

Released July 10

MUTUAL PICTURES

The Demon of Fear

A powerful, visionary photoplay based on the theme that "no man, who admits he is a coward for a principle, is one." Anna Little, Frank Borzage and Jack Richardson are the principles in this virile story of land and sea—a two-reel "Mustang." Directed by Frank Borzage. Released June 30th.

The Sign of The Spade

Helene Rosson and Alan Forest in a five-part masterpicture of society and underworld intrigue. Directed by Murdock J. MacQuarrie. Released June 26th.

The Fate of The Dolphin

A strong two-part "Flying A" story of the sea, featuring Edward Coxen, George Field and Lizette Thorne—and a ship wrecked during one of the most violent electric storms ever filmed. Directed by Thos. Ricketts. Released June 29th.

Tangeled Skeins

A three-part "Flying A" domestic drama, with Vivian Rich, Beverly Juneau, Alfred Vosburgh and George Periolat in the important parts. Directed by E. Mason Hopper. Released June 29th.

When Adam Had 'Em

One-part "Beauty" comedy with John Sheehan and Carol Halloway. Directed by Archer McMackin. Released June 28th.

The Gink From Kankikee

Orral Humphrey is "the Gink" in this one-reel "Beauty" comedy. Released July 2nd.

These subjects present the American Film Company's popular stars in powerful plots and action — with ideal scenery and photography

BOOK THEM FOR ASSURED SUCCESS

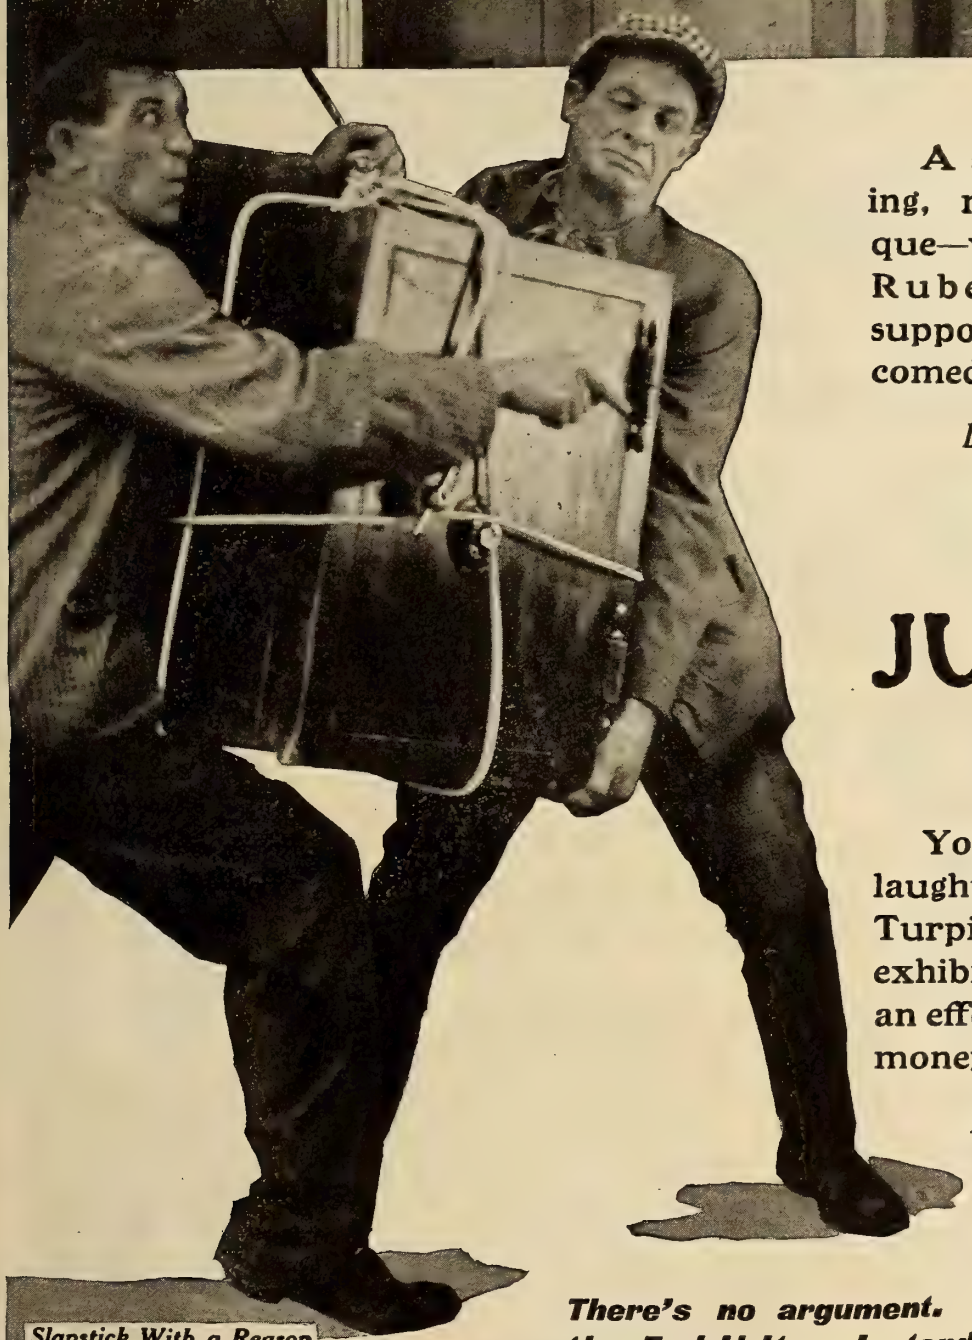
All "Flying A," "Beauty" and "Mustang" productions are distributed throughout the United States and Canada exclusively by the Mutual Film Corporation

American Film Co. Inc.

SAMUEL S. HUTCHINSON
President
Chicago, Illinois

MUTUAL PICTURES

A Safe Loss



A snappy, highly amusing, melodramatic burlesque—with the incomparable Rube Miller and strong supporting cast of VOGUE comedians.

Directed by Rube Miller
Released June 27th

JUST FOR A KID

Your sides will ache with laughter when you see Ben Turpin and Paddy McQuire exhibit kidnapped babies in an effort to secure the prize money at a baby show.

Directed by Jack Dillon
Released July 2nd

Slapstick With a Reason

VOGUE COMEDIES

There's no argument. VOGUE Comedies are the Exhibitors' standby!! Book these two today, and join the VOGUE van of money-makers.

Distributed throughout the United States and Canada exclusively by Mutual Film Corporation

Vogue Films, Inc., Gower and Santa Monica Los Angeles, Cal.

MUTUAL PICTURES

Gaumont

THE GREATEST MAGAZINE IN FILMDOM

"Reel Life"

The Mutual Film Magazine

The whole wide world is searched for entertaining pictures. The mountains of Georgia, the valley of the Nile and the Louisiana marshes contribute to "Reel Life" for July 2. Be sure to book this one-reel feature every week.

July 2 No. 9

Great Grandmothers' Methods—Carding, spinning and weaving wool

Monuments of Ancient Egypt—Pyramids, Temples and Tombs

Gaumont Animal Studies—Bird life at close range

Also Use These Other Great Gaumont Single Reels

"SEE AMERICA FIRST"—

Views of cities, historic sites, and places of scenic beauty, including U. S. Government film of National Parks released by permission of Department of the interior.

On same reel with

KARTOON KOMICS—

Animated reviews of current phases of life and ludicrous satires upon people and events by Harry Palmer. Popular with old and young.

THE MUTUAL WEEKLY—

The standard motion picture screen newspaper of America. Endorsed and used by leading New York picture theatres. Shown at the Rialto, Strand and Palace, the three leading Broadway houses using pictures. Pictures taken at West Point at 11 A. M., Tuesday, June 13, shown on Broadway the same evening. Live news only. The reel of scoops. Let your patrons see the events the world talks about.

Book "The Criminal Thumb," now showing, and "The Hidden Face," released July 6. Alexander Gaden and Iva Shepard star in both of these three-act plays.

Gaumont Co.

FLUSHING, N.Y. JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

THE NATIONAL DRAMA CORPORATION

Announces

ITS FIRST PRODUCTION

THE FALL OF A NATION

THOMAS DIXON

VICTOR HERBERT

Trade Press Reviews Stamp This Work as the Most Important Offering of 1916-17

MOVING PICTURE WORLD

"Battle scenes prepared on a gigantic scale. Victor Herbert's stirring music probably the most appropriate score ever written for the accompaniment of a motion picture. Audiences will be carried along on a wave of patriotic emotion."

MORNING TELEGRAPH

"Tremendously effective and highly sensational. 'The Fall of a Nation' is a great advance in the art of photo-drama."

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

"'The Fall of a Nation' rises to dramatic heights. Holds the attention by brilliant examples of motion picture art. Audience cheered almost constantly."

DRAMATIC MIRROR

"A huge colorful spectacle providing many scenes of rare beauty. Thomas Dixon had a genuine inspiration when he engaged Victor Herbert to compose the orchestral score."

THE BILLBOARD

"Thomas Dixon's spectacle provides plenty of thrills with remarkable music by Victor Herbert. There is plenty of comedy and really suberb photography."

Widespread Demand for Bookings

Capacity $2 Business at Liberty Theatre, New York

OFFICES OF THE CORPORATION: 1480 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

KULEE FEATURES
INC.
PRESENTS
THE UNBORN
WITH GERTRUDE BONDHILL

MR. STATE RIGHT BUYER

READ EVERY WORD OF THIS—IT MEANS DOLLARS TO YOU

THE VALUE OF A PICTURE

depends on the amount of money it draws to the Box office. You may have the biggest star in America, the cleverest producer, and unlimited money for production, yet unless you have a live story, chuck full of human heart interest, you will not have a winner.

"THE UNBORN" IS VITAL AND VIRILE

You won't have to sell it. It books itself and means a steady stream of dollars into the Box office.

"THE UNBORN" GRIPS THE HEART STRINGS

of every maid, wife and widow in the country. It has all the elements that make for success and success can only be spelled in dollars.

RACE SUICIDE IS NATIONAL SUICIDE

and "The Unborn" presents a tremendous warning to the people of America. Its appeal reaches the heart of the farmer's wife as well as that of the city women, for as Kipling says:

> "The colonel's lady and Julie O'Grady are sisters under the skin."

THE LIVEST TOPIC TODAY IS BIRTH CONTROL

The question is vital to every American family. If it be true that "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world" it means a cradle with a healthy baby in it—not an empty cradle.

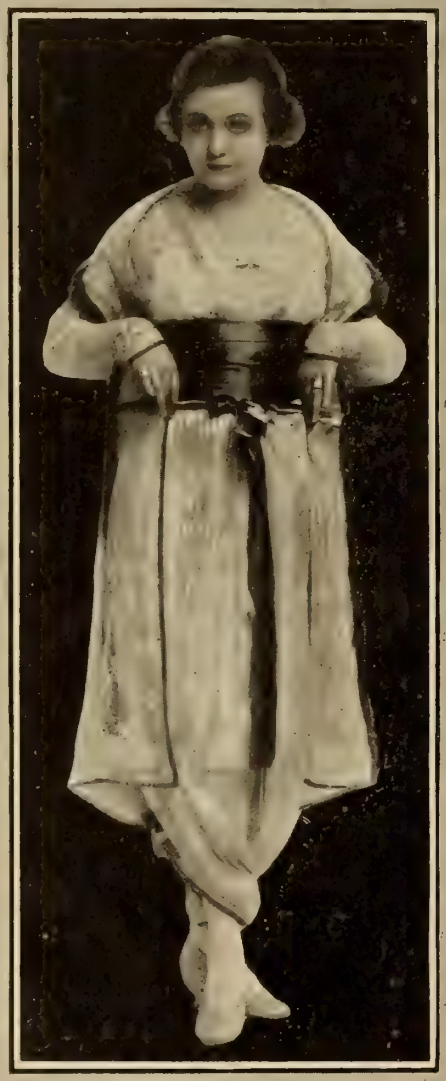
"THE UNBORN" IS READY AND WAITING

First come, First served. We are selling territories by mail, by wire and by 'phone. Get busy at once, to-day, if you want the livest money maker in the market for yourself and your clients.

If you like the "News," write our advertisers; if not, tell us.

KULEE FEATURES, INC.

220 WEST FORTY-SECOND STREET, NEW YORK



Essanay

GEO, K. SPOOR, Pres.
1333 Argyle Street, Chicago

EXHIBITORS SAY:

That as a "war baby" "The Strange Case of Mary Page" is a richer gold mine than a powder contract. Henry Walthall, Edna Mayo, superb acting, an enthralling story make this great series the biggest money coiner of the year. Get it quick!

The Pictures Magazine

5¢ a copy

ALABAMA THEATRE

COMING EVENTS

MONDAY

MARY PICKFORD in "RAGS"
DREW COMEDY

TUESDAY

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN and BEVERLY BAYNE
"THE WALL BETWEEN"

WEDNESDAY

MARGUERITE CLARKE
in
"THE BLOWGUN"

THURSDAY

GEORGE BEBAN
in
"THE TERROR OF TOPHET"

FRIDAY

MME. PETROVA
in
"THE SOUL MARKET"

SATURDAY

EDMUND BREESE
in
"THE SOUL BEREFT"

ALABAMA THEATRE

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN AND BEVERLY BAYNE
In "Romeo and Juliet"

Over One Million Circulation—Over Five Million Interested Readers

ONE Eager Hands

Reach out to the motion picture exhibitor each week for

The Pictures Magazine

Your Business Builder.
Your Business Holder.
Your answer to the dull day problem.

It solves first of all your problem for the Summer months. It stimulates your patronage as no other thing in the picture business can.

THE LIFE SAVER FOR HOT WEATHER PATRONAGE

MILLION

Its cost is trifling to you as the exhibitor.

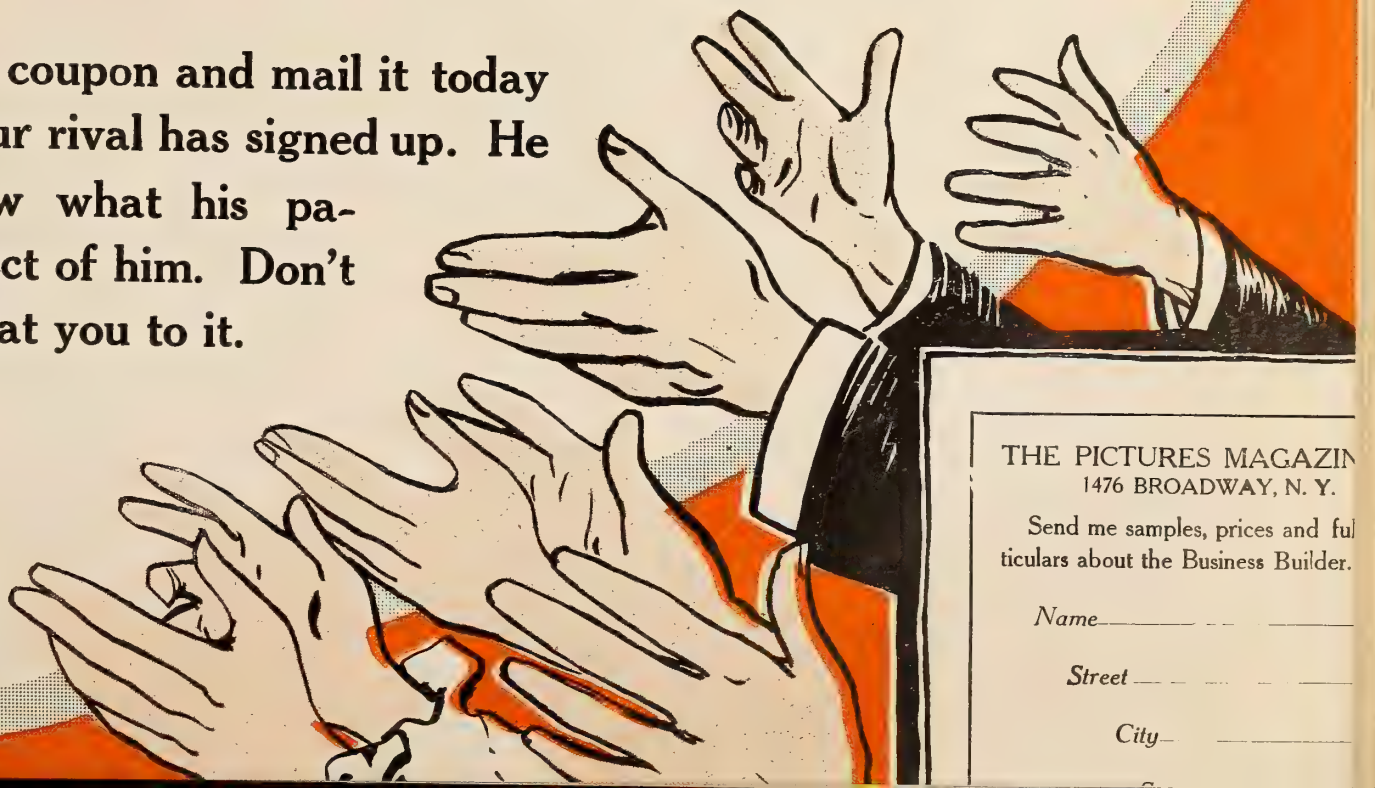
It gives you a house publication of your own, and one that you couldn't duplicate for ten times the price.

Its circulation has grown to a MILLION A WEEK because the picture patrons wanted it and had to have it.

It is coupled up with a national advertising campaign in 500 daily newspapers and your patrons look for it in your theatre.

Remember, the Pictures Magazine is produced by the best publishing brains and experience. Be ready when your patrons demand it of you.

Fill in the coupon and mail it today before your rival has signed up. He may know what his patrons expect of him. Don't let him beat you to it.



ATRE

THE PICTURES MAGAZIN
1476 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Send me samples, prices and ful ticulars about the Business Builder.

*Name*_____

*Street*_____

*City*_____

METRO PICTURES

ROLFE PHOTOPLAYS INC. PRESENTS

The INIMITABLE

RALPH HERZ

in SYDNEY ROSENFELD'S

THE PURPLE LADY

supported by IRENE HOWLEY

and a METRO wonderplay cast.

5 Acts of Comedy-Drama directed by George A. Lessey.

Released on the Metro Program June 19

UNICORN FILM SERVICE CORPORATION

One Exhibitor's Opinion

Washington, D. C. June 3rd, 1916

19©16

UNICORN FILM SERVICE CORPORATION
434 9th St. N. W.
Washington, D. C.

Gentlemen;

It is with pleasure that I express my appreciation for the drawing-power demonstrated in my Plaza Theatre where the whole of your program has been showing now several weeks. We have found a substantial increase in business since installing your service -- and furthermore the great variety of subjects seem to please the patrons of that house.

Since using your service to filling in around our features at the Garden and Strand (or picking subjects that appropriately can be used as "fillers" on a BIG program,) we are really delighted with our program -- especially since the Unicorn Service includes so many of the famous stars of today, such as Mary Pickford, Blanch Sweet, Henry Walthall, Florence Lawrence, Owen Moore, Wilfred Lucas and many others -- These pictures all being produced by D.W.Griffith are indeed a "find" for the purposes which they serve us.

We are glad to add our recommendation to the many others you have probably received for the Unicorn Service.

With thanks for the many past courtesies and with best wishes for your future success, beg to remain,

Very truly yours,

Tom Moore

Make up your mind now to investigate Unicorn Film Service, it will make money for you and please your audience.

UNICORN FILM EXCHANGES:

New York City	130 West 46th St. H. W. Harwell	Indianapolis,	129 W. Washington St. J. W. Cotter
Boston . .	207 Pleasant St. . S. M. Moscow	Chicago .	Mallers Bldg. . . . L. J. Schlaifer
Springfield .	167 Dwight St. Wm. F. O'Brien	Milwaukee	420 Manhattan Bldg. Chas. Barolet
Bangor . . .	Eastern Trust Bldg. W. J. Brennan	Cleveland	750 Prospect Ave. . . L. C. Gross
Buffalo . . .	23 W. Swan St. . H. E. Hughes	Pittsburg .	125 Fourth Ave. . . Jack Kraemer
Syracuse . .	565 S. Salina St. Geo. A. Hickey	Detroit .	183 Jefferson St. . . W. D. Ward
Albany . . .	680 Broadway William Lawrence	Toledo .	415 Summit St. . . R. E. Peckham
Philadelphia .	1309 Vine St. . . . A. G. Steen	Cincinnati	531 Walnut St. . Harry E. Coffey
Wilkes-Barre,	35 S. Pennsylvania Ave., G. R. Wallace	Denver .	1436 Welton St. . . L. Goldstein
Washington, D. C.,	434 9th St., N. W. . A. G. Steen	Western Division Manager . . . J. A. Eslow
St. Louis . .	3628 Olive St. . . Sam Werner	Eastern Division Manager . Fred B. Murphy
Omaha . .	Unicorn Exchange
Kansas City .	Gloyd Bldg. . . J. W. Morgan
Wichita . .	Unicorn Exchange, John Brainard
Minneapolis .	Produce Exchange W. L. Merrill

To be Opened

Atlanta San Francisco Dallas Salt LakeCity
Seattle Portland New Orleans Los Angeles

The men in charge are experienced film men who will co-operate with you in every way. Write the exchange in your territory or direct to the New York home office.

UNICORN FILM SERVICE CORPORATION

IKE SCHLANK, General Manager 126-130 West 46th St., New York

Names and dates of our releases can be found in "schedule of current and coming releases" on back pages of this publication.

Are You Running TRIANGLE PLAYS?

The richest man, the biggest store, the most successful merchant has from the dark ages been the one with sufficient foresight to pick out the leader in the manufacture of the articles sold over his counter, and to then tie up with this concern as its authorized representative, thereby cashing in on the value of the manufacturer's good will and trade-mark.

And this same rule applies to the business of exhibiting motion pictures. The most successful theatres are the ones that tie up with the recognized leader in the production of photoplays—with the concern whose pictures have by their merit alone won a reputation for the highest quality.

This is the reason the number of Triangle theatres throughout the country has been constantly increasing.

Seven months ago the exhibitor was not positive just how the public would receive Triangle productions. Now experience has proved not only that the public wants Triangle Plays, but that it is willing to pay real money to see them.

And so if you are an exhibitor and are not already running Triangle Plays, why don't you, too, make an effort to arrange for their presentation at your theatre. A line for information regarding their presentation would be the first step in the inauguration of a good business policy which has been tried for years and never failed.

For the exhibitor who is running TRIANGLE PICTURES the two dramas released for the week of June 25th are of more than passing importance. W. S. Hart, whose following is probably larger than any other male star, appears in "The Apostle of Vengeance," while Mae Marsh and Robert Harron may be seen in "A Wild Girl of the Sierras."

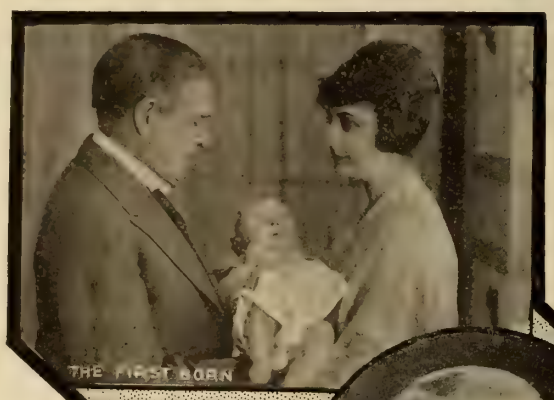
"The Apostle of Vengeance" is a story much different than any other in which W. S. Hart has yet appeared. The son of Kentucky parents, but brought up in Vermont as a minister, he is made to face the problem of choosing between avenging the death of his father, killed in a feud battle, and abiding by the Scriptural lessons. His decision, his efforts to follow his life's teachings and then the final vow to have revenge for the assault on his little sister are only a few of the big scenes.

Then "A Wild Girl of the Sierras" with Mae Marsh is a picture that is bound to appeal to every motion picture enthusiast. Fifteen years ago a child's mother was shot and killed by the Indians, and the little girl escaped to the mountains to grow up with only the beasts of the woods as her companions. The picture is so unusual, so picturesque and pleasing in its presentation that it cannot fail to make a lasting impression.

Then, of course, there are the usual Keystone Comedies, veritable hailstorms of hilarity, unequalled in their ability to make the most serious-minded laugh.

Triangle Film Corp., 1457 Broadway, New York City

TRIANGLE PICTUREPLAYS



Unity Sales Exclusively

Mr Nat. C.

America's best beloved in Remarkable of Modern

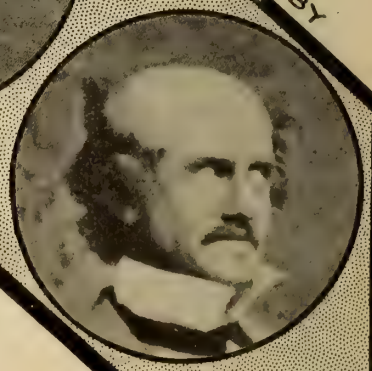
"The Marriage"

PRODUCED BY



Says Mr. Goodwin in his world-famed book:—

My first wife was:—
An Angel.

My second:—
A Silly Woman.

My third:—
A Roman Senator.

My fourth:—
A Pretty Little Thing.

My fifth:—
All Woman.

By CLAY M. GREENE

Today, I saw an eager, jostling throng,
Like some greed-laden human panorama,
Surround a playhouse door with vulgar clamour,
To honor Goodwin's star. "Seats! Seats!" their song:—
To witness his, NATHANIEL'S, show of laurelled glamour.

DISTRIBUTED
"The Concern

UNITY SALES CORPORATION

UNITY SALES CORPORATION.
729-7th AVE. NEW YORK

Corporation Announces Goodwin Dramatic Artist the Photodrama Society Bond"

MIRROR FILM CORP.

"Nat Goodwin's Own Book" received five miles of publicity (column width).

Think what this means to you and your theatre when you book "The Marriage Bond."

Richard G. Badger, the publisher, says:—
"Nat Goodwin has received more notoriety than any other man in America."

By CLAY M. GREENE

"You smile; you purse your lips; and even doubt.
E'er I have laughed myself into perdition,
NAT GOODWIN will have filled with inanition
The fame of every actor hereabout:—
For Nature gave him the Creator's tireless mission!"

EXCLUSIVELY BY
With a Conscience"

UNITY SALES CORPORATION.
729-7th AVE. NEW YORK

UNITY SALES CORPORATION

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!

THEY'RE ALL AFTER IT!

The Motion Picture Lesson to America
What Preparedness Really Means

HOW BRITAIN PREPARED

Now in its Fourth Week at the Lyceum Theatre
NEW YORK

Other Showings:

CHICAGO, Colonial Theatre, June 28th
BOSTON, Shubert Theatre, June 19th
PROVIDENCE, Opera House, June 26th

Philadelphia, Pittsburg and other important cities will follow immediately

A drama of fact far more thrilling than fiction!

The "REAL THING" in "WAR FILMS"

United States Rights Controlled by the

THE PATRIOT FILM CORPORATION

AL LICHTMAN, General Manager

729 Seventh Avenue New York City

EVA TANGUAY

offers

HER FIRST RELEASE entitled

"Energetic Eva"

IN FIVE REELS

with Specially Arranged Music

EVA TANGUAY is the world's greatest eccentric comedienne.

EVA TANGUAY is the only vaudeville star who played in N. Y. City three consecutive years.

EVA TANGUAY has played more return engagements than any other star in theatrical history.

EVA TANGUAY this season played her twenty second return engagement in the Orpheum Theatre, Brooklyn.

EVA TANGUAY this season played her twenty first return engagement in the Colonial Theatre, N. Y.

EVA TANGUAY this season played her twenty seventh return engagement in the Alhambra Theatre, N. Y.

EVA TANGUAY holds the Box Office record in every vaudeville theatre in which she has appeared.

EVA TANGUAY is the girl who won the diamond medal in the contest for biggest business in New York.

The ABOVE is a sufficient guarantee

All communications to

EVA TANGUAY FILMS

LONG ACRE BLDG., BROADWAY and 42nd STREET

NEW YORK CITY

ACTUAL PICTURES TAKEN ON THE FIELD OF BATTLE!

EXHIBITED AT THE PARK THEATRE
New York City, under the auspices of

The New York Globe

THE ZEPPELIN RAIDS ON LONDON AND THE SIEGE OF VERDUN

The actual and only authentic scenes of the bombardment of London by the fleet of Giant Zeppelins, and the trail of destruction in their wake; "Dead-man's Hill" the human slaughter pen taken inside the firing lines; Lord Kitchener's review of the Coldstream Guards—the last pictures taken of this great warrior just before he met his tragic death.

THIS IS THE ONE PICTURE WHICH BRINGS HOME THE HELLISHNESS OF WAR IN ALL ITS GRIM REALISM!

Truly, the most sensational box-office attraction of the year

Paper depicting actual scenes in 1, 3, 6, 9 and 24 sheets
For territorial rights and booking dates address

KEMBLE FILM CORPORATION

587 Fulton Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. Phone 2842 Main

VICE

as exposed in

"The Little Girl Next Door"

a 6 act photodrama

based on a Senate investigating commission report

Teaches Great Moral Lesson

Portrays scenes of startling vividness
Endorsed by ministers and social workers

GREATEST BOX OFFICE ATTRACTION OF YEAR

A SIGN POST TO SUCCESS

Ben D. Crose, Regent theatre, Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"The Little Girl Next Door" carried the city by storm. It is the talk of the town. It is doing such an enormous business it was necessary for us to open the Colonial theatre. We packed both houses and turned away business. Representative citizens, including ministers and sociological workers are enthusiastic in its praise.

Apply immediately for

STATE RIGHTS

Room 521, First National Bank Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

The Latest

ESSANAY—CHAPLIN

Feature

"POLICE"

IS PACKING
ALL HOUSES

A good comedy brings them all back again. This one makes them roar with laughter. Increase your patronage and swell your box office receipts by booking it.

GENERAL FILM SERVICE

Essanay

GEORGE K. SPOOR PRESIDENT

1333 Argyle Street, Chicago

Essanay short subjects will pack your theatre

Essanay stars of national reputation appear in its varied program of short dramas and comedies of the highest quality

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN

is presented in

"The Voice in the Wilderness"

2 act drama—Released June 27

VERNON HOWE BAILEY'S SKETCH BOOK OF ST. LOUIS

1 Reel with scenic—June 28

WARDA HOWARD

ERNEST MAUPAIN JOHN JUNIOR

are presented in

"The Regeneration of Margaret"

A thrilling emotional drama in which a girl passes through the crucible of affliction to sterling womanhood

3 act drama July 1

GENERAL FILM SERVICE

Essanay

GEORGE K SPOOR PRESIDENT

1333 Argyle St., Chicago

LEWIS S. STONE

supported by

Marguerite Clayton E. H. Calvert and Sydney Ainsworth

is presented in

"According to the Code"

Charles Michelson, Author
Arthur Berthelet, Director

Released through V. L. S. E.

IN 5 ACTS

Essanay

GEORGE K. SPOOR PRESIDENT

1333 Argyle St., Chicago

BIG FOUR FEATURE PLAY
V L S E

JUN 21 1916
DCLB362336

"When You See it in 'The News' It's News"

Motion Picture News

HAS THE QUALITY CIRCULATION OF THE TRADE

"The Exhibitors' Medium of Communication"

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA
427 SO. FIGUEROA STREET

NEW YORK CITY
SEVEN HUNDRED AND TWENTY-NINE SEVENTH AVENUE

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS
110 SO. DEARBORN STREET

Volume XIII | JULY 1, 1916 | No. 26

On to Chicago!

"YOU'RE going to Chicago, I suppose."

"Yes, indeed, I'll be there."

This seems to be the usual salutation about Times Square these days. Without any advertising, blare of trumpets and the like, there is quite apparent a strong, steady undercurrent of belief that the Chicago Convention will be the most important and largest gathering ever held within the industry.

* * *

THIS state of mind is all the more remarkable in view of fact that two trade expositions have already been held. Interest in the forthcoming convention seems not to be dissipated in the least.

Chicago is an ideal convention city, but this is a minor consideration. The attraction of the convention is the belief that there will be gathered there a very large number of exhibitors; and a large gathering of exhibitors is of vital interest to every branch of this industry.

* * *

EXHIBITOR organization was never, potentially at least, so promising as it is to-day. Things are stirring in the local and state organizations. For the first time a number of candidacies have been announced, well in advance, for the office of National President; and there are indications that more will arise.

Exhibitors, too, if we are to believe the reports from the prominent inland states, are considerably more prosperous. They are in a stronger position as buyers,—stronger than ever before in exhibitor history—because of overproduction and exchange competition.

* * *

THEY are thinking about organization, really thinking about it and wanting it. Time was, not long ago, when the leaders had to go on a veritable round-up to make even the semblance of a state organization. Exhibitors to-day are organizing at their own individual initiative. They are the right type of men to organize. They represent the survival of the fittest. They have stood the test of severe trade conditions. The speculator, the insincere, the incapable exhibitor—the kind of man who will not organize—is gone.

* * *

AND best of all, the exhibitor of to-day, the exhibitor who will be found in Chicago, is ready and willing to confer, to co-operate for mutual good with other branches of the industry.

He knows that conditions are greatly changed. At the trade luncheon held in New York recently a New York exhibitor, a prominent organization man, was very quick to deny emphatically the statement made by a speaker that dissension existed between the maker and exhibitor of pictures.

* * *

IT is true that at one time in this industry the exhibitor was forced to rebel and even then to no avail. To-day he need not rebel; he can confer.

It is, as a matter of fact, high time for the buyers and sellers in this business to get together. They must eventually, just as has been true in every other industry.

It may not be possible, it probably is not possible, to bring together the makers, distributors and exhibitors as individuals in one trade association.

Also, as stated in a previous editorial, MOTION PICTURE NEWS believes firmly in exhibitor organizations, national, state and local, and that whatever form a general trade association takes it must in no wise interfere with the perpetuation of these exhibitor bodies, but on the other hand it should reorganize fully and help stimulate their growth.

* * *

BUT the point of the matter is: it is not necessary to effect national and general organization in order to bring about full co-operation and understanding between exhibitors and manufacturers. Just the same results can be had through conferring committees from each branch, and the identity and stability of the exhibitor organizations kept intact and unchanged, as they must be kept.

This system of conferences is highly necessary.

I have talked with exhibitors and find them more than willing to co-operate; and I find manufacturers in exactly the same frame of mind. Both are willing and eager to do their share. Actually, all that remains is to bring them together.

* * *

MEETINGS within the industry do inestimable good these days. The time is ripe for them. I have failed to find one conference in which harmony and intelligent understanding was not very quickly and readily had between branches of the industry which otherwise were stand-offish and wholly unaware of the other's wants and good intentions.

Take the matter of advance payments for film service. There is not a problem confronting the exhibitor to-day, not even excluding the problem of censorship, which so concerns his business welfare; particularly is this of the small exhibitor who is a very potent factor in this business, and whose needs demand the earnest consideration of the maker and distributor.

There are wrongs in the deposit plan. There is no doubt of that and they should be corrected. I am not at all sure

(Continued on page 4030)

Motion Picture News

HAS THE QUALITY CIRCULATION OF THE TRADE

MOTION PICTURE NEWS EXHIBITORS' TIMES

Published on Tuesday Every Week by

Motion Picture News, Inc.

729 SEVENTH AVENUE, COR. 49TH STREET, NEW YORK.

WILLIAM A. JOHNSTON.....President and Editor
HENRY F. SEWALL.....Vice-President
E. KENDALL GILLETT.....Secretary
H. ASHTON WYCKOFF.....Treasurer and Business Manager
WENTWORTH TUCKER.....Asst. Treasurer
R. M. VANDIVERT.....Advertising Manager
THEODORE S. MEAD.....Chicago Manager
J. C. JESSEN.....Los Angeles Manager
LESLEY MASON.....Managing Editor
WILLIAM RESSMAN ANDREWS.....News Editor

The office of the company is the address of the officers.
Entered as Second-Class matter at the New York Post-Office.

Subscription $2 per year, postpaid in the United States, Mexico, Hawaii. Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands. Canada, $3; Foreign, $4 per year. N. B.—No agent is authorized to take subscriptions for MOTION PICTURE NEWS at less than these rates. Have the agent taking your subscription show his credentials and coupon book.

VOL. XIII July 1, 1916 No. 26

On to Chicago!

(Continued from page 4029)

that the manufacturer is cocksure of the correctness of the plan; some, indeed, are opposed to it.

And I do believe that a joint conference between all the manufacturers and a representative body of exhibitors could solve the problems to their mutual satisfaction in a single day's session.

* * *

THEN there is censorship, and other legislative evils. The exhibitor is and will remain everywhere the man on the firing line, tackling at once, through his exhibitor organizations, the troubles confronting him in his town and state. But he needs, as many an exhibitor organization knows—a united trade body back of him with the full sinews of war.

This can only be had through full trade co-operation and understanding.

There is no theory or idealism here. These are cold, hard facts—true of every other industry and, of course, true of this.

* * *

THE Chicago convention can accomplish much along these lines, and it is the plain duty of the convention to go down in history as tackling these broader, bigger essentials in a big and broad way.

We are growing up in this industry. We have got to take our full place alongside other big industries and work out our salvation along the lines of economic laws—laws which you cannot argue against and which must and will rule this business in all its phases whether we want them or not.

The fundamental economic law of any industry is co-operation between its branches.

Let's start it at Chicago.

WILLIAM A. JOHNSTON.

"Real Publicity" vs. "Unadulterated Bunk"

THE editorial published on this page a week or two ago which delineated the attitude of at least one photoplay page editor toward the mass of publicity aimed at him from all quarters of this industry has provoked at least one comment. In its way it is as good and as true as the one which inspired it, and for that reason we reproduce it here, for the benefit of publicity men who are looking for suggestions and ideas.

* * *

SAYS this writer:

"The motion picture editor out in Omaha that sent so much motion picture 'publicity' floating into the waste basket, as related in a recent number of the MOTION PICTURE NEWS, is not alone in that predicament by a long shot. The writer until recently was dramatic editor of a Boston newspaper and in the course of a week received publicity matter from the majority of film companies. It is not stretching the facts to say that 95 per cent. of that publicity was unadulterated bunk.

* * *

"ONE day Sally Whatnot would be announced as having purchased a Chinese rice hound which had to be muzzled when Sally took him down Broadway because he insisted on biting every Chinaman he met.

"Next day Bull Blazer, the most popular film star in the universe, would be proclaimed as the winner of a gunning match down on Long Island, having made 394 bullseyes out of a possible 300. And sometimes Sally would fall out of her automobile over the side of a cliff and land in a prune tree 5,000 feet below, shaken but ready for the next scene. And Bull once in a while would happen into a regular theatre in Washington and just happen to sit down in a stall next to President Wilson himself, who never sits anywhere but in a box and, it turns out later, didn't go to the theatre that night.

* * *

"ONLY once in awhile did a story come along that had any depth to it, that showed evidences that the publicity man could see farther ahead than the tip of his nose, that was a brief for the motion picturs and not a hand bill for a star's vanity.

"The fact that there are some publicity men with something like a large vision, men who know that a boost for the film game at large is a boost for their own little portion of it,—this fact was the only thing that prevented the editor from throwing his film mail in the basket.

* * *

"APROPOS of this situation it is interesting to note the reply written this week by a motion picture editor of one of the best known international newspapers to a publicity man who had written asking for information as to the space devoted by that paper to the pictures. The reply was in part:

"'We are not at all interested in the publicity matter sent out by the majority of film companies. We do not care whether this star takes milk baths or whether that one has a poodle dog that can sing "The End of a Perfect Day" while devouring a string of sausages. What we do want is the earliest possible information of every straw which indicates better things in the film situation.

"'We are among those who feel that the film which has behind it nothing but the desire to make money, and which gives its audience a clap-trap story done hurriedly with sets and situations which were outgrown years ago, is slowly but surely working its own way to the junk heap. Therefore, whatever real publicity you may be able to send us we should be glad to consider for publication.'

"Note that the letter says 'real' publicity. It is the writer's experience that 95 per cent. of the 'publicity' for the pictures has nothing of reality about it."

Permanent Receiver Asked for General Film Company

An Accounting Asked for by Waters and Clark—"Bill Is Not Brought by These Men as a Protective Committee Representing Preferred Stockholders," Says Smith, Vitagraph President, "but as Individuals—Exhibitors Should Not Be Misled by the Suit—Business of Company Going on as Heretofore"

AN action, asking for an accounting and a permanent receiver was begun in the Supreme Court of the County of New York, against the General Film Company, its directors and its component firms and their heads, by the filing of the papers in the case June 12. The plaintiffs are Percival L. Waters of New York and James B. Clark of Pittsburgh, Cadawallader, Wickersham and Taft being their attorneys. The complaint, a document of thirty thousand words, is dated June 6 and was sworn to on June 10. The papers were served forty-eight hours later.

The defendants in the case are named as follows:

Albert E. Smith, George Kleine, J. A. Berst, Frank L. Dyer, W. N. Selig, Sigmund Lubin, Alice M. Long, administratrix of Samuel Long, deceased; G. K. Spoor, W. T. Rock, William Pelzer, J. J. Kennedy, Paul G. Melies, Carl H. Wilson, Frank J. Marion, American Biograph Co., Kalem, Inc., Thos. A. Edison, Inc., Pathe Freres, Lubin Film Manufacturing Co., Vitagraph Co. of America, Esannay Film Manufacturing Co., Selig Polyscope Co., Melies Manufacturing Co. and General Film Co.

Among the important citations in the complaint are the following:

That pursuant to said resolutions (named earlier in the papers) said defendants not only have caused said sum of $2,396,397.50 to be paid in cash, but have also caused large credits to be entered upon the books of said defendant General Film Company in favor of the defendants, Biograph Company, Kalem Company (Inc.), Pathe Freres, Lubin Manufacturing Company, Melies Manufacturing Company, Vitagraph Company of America, Essanay Film Manufacturing Company, Selig Polyscope Company, Thomas A. Edison, Inc., and Kleine, and said George Melies, on the following dates and in the following amounts respectively:

During the calendar year 1910...	$134,863.11
During the calendar year 1911...	1,055,579.98
During the calendar year 1912...	1,678,268.23
During the calendar year 1913...	510,552.95
During the calendar year 1914...	1,133,437.56
During the calendar year 1915...	123,860.54
	$4,636,562.37

as alleged net profits so payable under said contracts for the years 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, and alleged accrued interest thereon, of which aggregate sum of $4,636,562.37 said sum of $2,396,397.50 so paid in cash formed a part.

Elsewhere the complaint charges that the defendants, to the "great loss and injury of said General Film Company and its preferred stockholders, decided upon a policy disastrous to said company but favorable to the competitors of said company, many of whom were then accustomed to distribute said 'feature' motion pictures—to wit, the elimination of all 'feature' motion pictures from the distributing programs of said General Film Company, and in pursuance of said policy did so eliminate such 'feature' motion pictures."

When the published story of the suit was called to the attention of Albert E. Smith, president of the Vitagraph Company, he made this statement to MOTION PICTURE NEWS:

"A recent publication in a motion picture trade paper, published in the city of New York, which contained reference to a suit brought by Percival L. Waters and James B. Clark against the common stockholders of the General Film Company and the General Film Company, in which my name is the only name displayed as the defendant, is so misleading respecting the real facts of the pending case as to be calculated to do great injury to me individually and to the Company of which I am a director.

"The publication in question, while purporting to set out certain features of the bill of equity filed by Percival L. Waters and James B. Clark, is so misleading as to convey an entirely false impression to motion picture exhibitors and others as to the real facts in the case.

"In the first place, the bill is not brought by Messrs. Waters and Clark as a protective committee representing the other preferred stockholders of the General Film Company, but is brought by them as individuals and as record holders of substantially less than 800 shares of the capital stock of this Company out of a total capitalization of 11,000 shares.

"This contest is the outgrowth of a contention on the part of the preferred stockholders of the General Film Company that certain large earnings of this Company for the years 1910 to 1914, inclusive, over and above what was necessary to pay the dividends on the preferred stock of the Company and a twelve per cent dividend upon the common stock of the Company, was improperly distributed among the common stockholders because by their consent it was paid to them as the purchase price of film instead of being paid in the form of an increased dividend.

"The contention of the General Film Company and its common stockholders is that it is no concern of the preferred stockholders how it was distributed inasmuch as it belonged absolutely to the common stockholders and the preferred stockholders had no interest therein because their dividends had been fully paid.

"For these reasons the General Film Company, acting under the advice of counsel, refused to bring suit against its common stockholders to recover the earnings so distributed and hence Waters and Clark bring this suit in their own names for this purpose.

"This is the whole question at issue and all other matters contained in the bill are merely incidental thereto.

"Certain significant facts respecting this controversy are entirely overlooked in this article.

"In 1913 Richard A. Rowland, President of the Metro Pictures Corporation, an active rival of the General Film Company and a former partner of one of the plaintiffs and joint-owner with him in the preferred stock of the General Film Company, brought suit in the same court to accomplish substantially this same purpose, and upon the filing of an answer thereto by the General Film Company, setting forth the above-cited facts, the bill was withdrawn and the case discontinued.

"That during most of the time covered by these payments and during which the bill of complaint alleges the Company was mismanaged, Percival L. Waters, one of the plaintiffs herein, was the general manager of the General Film Company, and was active in controlling its business policy and carrying into effect the very transaction of which he now complains.

"In 1915, upon a change of management, Mr. Waters resigned as general manager, and at the same time was elected as a director of the Company to represent the interests of one of the common stockholders against whom he is now bringing suit.

"That in the suit instituted by the U. S. Government against the General Film Company et al., both Waters and Clark, the present plaintiffs, were witnesses for the General Film Company, and testified to the legal and proper manner in which the business of the company was conducted during the very periods covered by their present complaint.

"These facts speak for themselves and the exhibitors and the public generally may draw their own inferences therefrom.

"The motive of the publication in selecting my name from the entire group of common stockholders and directors of the General Film Company, and placing it in the forefront of the article clearly indicates that the article in question is intended to do something more than convey to the motion picture industry information respecting a pending lawsuit.

"The business of the General Film Company is being conducted as heretofore. It still maintains its numerous branches, covering the entire United States and Canada, and supplies over 6,000 customers regularly and promptly with the product of many of the leading film manufacturers of the country, and is constantly improving its facilities and its service and will continue to do so.

"When these facts are understood, I am sure that the publication of the article referred to will not cause any dismay or lack of confidence in the minds of the customers of the General Film Company."

When the attention of P. L. Waters was called to the trade journal article above referred to he said: "I regret most deeply the publication of the article. It was premature to say the least and therefore not as correctly stated as it might have been.

"The printing of the complaint was only finished on Saturday, June 10, and it was served on Monday, June 12. This article was published, I believe, on June 14.

"Our attorneys, Messrs. Cadwallader, Wickersham and Taft, and all others connected, were expressly cautioned in advance to give out no publicity whatever. I went to them, and immediately my attention was called to the article, and found that they had neither given out publicity nor any interviews whatsoever.

"In a matter of this kind the facts, if published at all, should only be given in full and correctly after plenty of time has been taken to review the matter from all angles to give out only a true impression of the whole situation."

Illustrating Three Universal Subjects: "Baseball Bill," "The Browns See the Fair," and "Muggins"

BROOKLYN EXHIBITORS HOLD MEETING

The Exhibitors League of America, Local No. 11, met last Thursday night at the Triangle theatre in Brooklyn, N. Y.

The meeting was an open one and invited as its guests were W. W. Irwin and Joseph McFarlane of the V-L-S-E, C. B. Seelye of Pathe and Joseph Hardigan, Commissioner of Weights and Measures, New York City.

Mr. Hardigan gave an interesting discourse on the purchase of coal and the assistance his department would give the exhibitors in seeing that they got the correct weight in purchasing coal in quantities.

W. W. Irwin talked on organization, referring to the proposed formation of a central body of adjustment and advisement for the whole industry, incidentally speaking of the progress made by the subcommittee appointed to suggest a plan of closer co-operation.

Mr. Seelye gave a trade talk, lauding the Pathe Company for the many helpful things they had done for the exhibitors; showing they were for the exhibitors first, last and always.

Grievances were registered against producing concerns for breach of contracts. These were referred to the Grievance Committee. One exhibitor made complaint against a competitor for unfair methods. This was referred to a committee of arbitration.

The meeting was a very active and interesting session. The eighty members and guests in attendance remained until after refreshments were served, about 3 A. M. Friday.

BERST MAKES CHANIER GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT OF FACTORIES

J. A. Berst, vice-president and general manager of the Pathe Exchange, Inc., has appointed G. L. Chanier, general superintendent of factories and studio of the Pathe Exchange. Mr. Chanier will have under his immediate supervision the factory in Bound Brook, the factory in Jersey City, the studio in Jersey City, and the Pathe News department.

Mr. Chanier has previously been connected with Pathe, being at the time of his resignation some two years ago, one of the oldest in point of service of any employee of the house. He is an acknowledged expert in technical matters. Mr. Chanier was lately superintendent of the Selig Polyscope studios and factories in Chicago.

"Little Girl Next Door" Draws 4,000 Patrons a Day

In Chicago, Where Picture Enters Seventh Week, It Is Necessary to Continue Showing on Saturday and Sunday Nights to Two o'Clock in the Morning

ENTERING its seventh week, "The Little Girl Next Door," the film constructed on the report of the Illinois vice commission, continues to undiminished business at the LaSalle theatre, Chicago. At every performance the house has been crowded since the very first showing, an average of 4,000 patrons a day being maintained.

On Saturday and Sunday nights it is necessary to continue the show until 2 o'clock in the morning to care for the immense line in the lobby and in front of the house.

The film has appeared to good business in St. Louis, Peoria, South Bend, Alton and other Illinois and Indiana cities.

Harriet E. Vittum, active in reform work in Chicago, appeared before a council committee to protest against the film, declaring that it shows, "pandering in all its hideousness." The film does show the pitfalls which beset a girl in large and small cities alike, and for just such reason it was permitted to be shown in Chicago.

She further charged that persons under age were permitted to see the film, but Harry Earl, manager of the house, produced affidavit denying this, and the committee took no action.

The film is being booked from Room 521, First National Bank Building, Chicago, Illinois.

Pennsylvania League Elects Officers in Pittsburgh

A. J. Barthell Is Made President; Fred M. Smith, Vice-President; James Delves, Secretary, and I. W. Shearer, Treasurer—Everybody Getting Ready for Convention

Special to Motion Picture News.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 17.

AT the annual election of the officers of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of Pennsylvania the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, A. J. Barthell; vice president, Fred M. Smith; secretary, James Delves, and treasurer, I. W. Shearer.

Directors: I. W. Shearer, James Delves, F. W. Herrington, A. J. Barthell, G. W. Sahner, Sol Oppenheimer, Chris. Volmer, Henry Poke and Oliver McKee.

This league has been doing excellent work throughout the state and the members will assist in getting men elected to State Legislature who will be a help to the business instead of a hindrance.

At a recent meeting of the Motion Picture Exhibitor's League of Pennsylvania the following committee was appointed to go to New York with the object of securing as many film stars as possible to appear at the coming exposition of the organization to be held here June 26-27-28: F. W. Herrington, G. W. Sahner, A. J. Barthell and James Delves.

The arrangements for the holding of the big exposition have been going on at a rapid pace.

G. L. McCoy, Jr.

Jean Sothern of the International with One of Her Mascot Dolls

INTERESTING FILM DEPARTMENT IN SHREVEPORT PAPER

An interesting department devoted to film news, is conducted in The Caucasian, Shreveport, La., by Frank Grosjean. It gives the fan a lot of information about screen plays and players, written in a bright and entertaining style.

Pathe's $5,000,000 Serial Program Follows "Claw"

"Grip of Evil," Called a "Master Plot in Fourteen Chapters Showing the Real Side of Humanity," Is Picturization of a Basic Idea Affecting the Whole Course of Human Life from the Moment Man Became a Sentient Being—Jackie Saunders and Roland Bottomley in Chief Roles

Jackie Saunders, the Star of the Forthcoming Pathe-Balboa Series "The Grip of Evil"

IMMEDIATELY following upon Vice-President and General Manager J. A. Berst's announcement of a five million dollar serial program for Pathe comes the statement that on the close of Pathe's last serial 'The Iron Claw," a new continued photoplay will be released on July 17.

It is called "The Grip of Evil." The basic idea was conceived by Le Monte Waldron, a New York newspaper man. The picturization was made by Douglass Brunston, who was largely responsible for the "Neal of the Navy" scenario. The novelization of "The Grip of Evil" has been entrusted to Louis Tracy, the author of "Wings of the morning."

"The Grip of Evil' is neither a serial nor a series in the accepted sense of the terms. It has been called "A Master Plot in Fourteen Chapters Showing the Real Side of Humanity." America's greatest men have expressed their opinions on the question which it asks every man and woman. Their thoughts will be presented on the screen for the benefit of the millions of photoplay fans who will crowd the theatres to see the pictures in the course of which will be portrayed the ideas conceived by men whom they know personally or by both national and local reputation.

"The strongholds of evil and of wrong in the world are not as strong as they look," said Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. "Age by age man is struggling step after step to the day when he shall live in the full light that shines upon the uplands."

"Most emphatically I assert my belief that while evil as an abstract entity always has a part of Humanity in its grip, the world is always growing better and more worthy of its Creator year by year," says George W. P. Hunt, Governor of Arizona.

Evil of Economic Inequality

Mayor James W. Curley of Boston throws a bomb among those who believe that the world is getting better and better. He says that provided his interpretation as to what constitutes evil is accepted, his answer is "Yes."

"The evil of economic inequality as it applies to the struggle for a livelihood is more brutal in our day than in ancient times because of the subtle character of its achievement," he declares.

He makes the incontrovertible statements that of the three hundred thousand infants who die annually in America, more than one-half are victims of mal-nutrition, and that of the eight million women employed in the United States, fifty per cent are engaged in what might properly be termed manual labor that often makes them unfit for motherhood. This is a most powerful indictment of our economic and social systems.

The view that while Humanity is making progress, it is nevertheless in the grip of evil, is advanced by United States Senator George W. Norris from Nebraska.

"In my judgment," he says, "the greatest evil, as applied to Government and to Law, is the evil of partisanship. It is the same evil that induces the legislator, the public official to follow the mandates of the party leader, party boss or party machine. It is the evil that induces public officials to follow their conscientious convictions for the sake of party regularity and party solidarity."

Stating that the decision of the Pathe Company to give to moving pictures something bigger than entertainment value alone, is of immense importance, Governor L. B. Hanna of North Dakota says: "I believe that they can be made one of the greatest and best sources for real amusement and education of any movement that has ever been inaugurated, and I am glad to add a word that will help to elevate the kind, quality and character of the moving pictures."

These brief extracts from the letters of prominent men, will serve as an indication of the extent to which differences of opinion can exist on the great question presented by Pathe's motion picture.

Million and a Half in Advertising

Pathe has already spent in the advertising of serials in newspapers and billboards a total of very nearly a million and a half dollars, and the value of the publicity obtained in this connection is impossible to determine. It is now announced that five hundred thousand dollars will be spent in advertising the serials now planned or in course of production.

The campaign on "The Grip of Evil" will be the most extensive of any Pathe has yet instituted. Some of the papers that have already agreed to run the stories are: Baltimore American, Albany Times Union, Atlanta Constitution, Buffalo Times, Butte Daily News, Cincinnati Times-Star, Cleveland Sunday Leader, Ohio State Journal, Dallas News, Rocky Mountain News, Denver, DesMoines Register & Leader, Galveston News, Houston Chronicle, Los Angeles Record, Louisville Herald, New Orleans Sunday Item, Omaha Sunday Bee, Philadelphia North American, Pittsburg Chronicle, Portland Telegram, Providence Tribune, Richmond Times Despatch, Rochester Photoplay News, Salt Lake Telegram, St. Louis Times, San Francisco Daily News, Seattle Post Intelligencer, Wichita Beacon, and the Worcester Evening Post.

Experts Prepare Publicity

"The advertisements to which the exhibitors can tie up have been prepared by experts with a view to directing and holding the interest not only of the present motion picture theatre-going public but of those who have not yet become film fans," said a prominent Pathe official.

"This will mean that an exhibitor by extensive advertising according to the suggestions of the Pathe company may bring not only all his old patrons to see the new picture, but may see unfamiliar faces in his audiences."

To Serial Publicity Manager G. A. Smith, should go credit for the manner in which he has carried out the new ideas conceived by Mr. Berst and Mr. Sellye, which will be instituted for the first time in this campaign in close co-operation with Messrs. Parsons and Winchester of the Pathe company.

"The Grip of Evil" has been produced by the Balboa Amusement Producing Company with Jackie Sanders, heroine of a hundred photoplays, and Roland Bottomley, the young English actor whose success on the screen has been so immediate.

Scenes from Vitagraphs for the Week of June 24: "Letitia," "Losing Weight," and "The Foxy Trotters"

The story deals with John Burton, born a poor man who later inherits millions. With his money comes unhappiness, and he sets out to solve the question: "Is Humanity in the Grip of Evil?" His quest for the answer takes him into every walk of life, society, politics, the underworld and what lies between.

W. A. Douglas is supervising the production at the Balboa Studios.

SECRET OF "SPAGHETTI" CONSUMPTION WILL COME OUT ON JULY 13

A new use for a safe—patent applied for—is divulged for the first time in the Vim comedy release of July 14, entitled "The Great Safe Tangle." Bob Burns, inventor of the new method, hopes to receive his patent papers before release date. Until then the secret cannot be revealed.

Not to be outdone in inventiveness, "Babe" Hardy, the famous Plump, offers specifications for consuming large quantities of food in "Spaghetti,' the Vim comedy release of July 13. Without going into details, it may be said that his idea involves the great basic principle of scientific distribution of labor, as approved by leading economists.

MARY CHARLESON JOINS SELIG STUDIOS

Mary Charleson is the latest motion picture star to be engaged by William N. Selig to appear in Selig pictureplays. Miss Charleson arrived recently in Chicago, Ill., from New York City, and immediately assumed a leading role in "A Prince Chap," now in course of production at the Selig Chicago studios.

Marshal Neilan is the Director in charge and will also play the leading masculine role. "I am very glad indeed to be privileged to work for Mr. Selig," said Miss Charleson upon her arrival in Chicago. "Mr. Selig has an enviable reputation as a producer of artistic plays."

"JUANITA HANSEN MATINEE" AT LOS ANGELES HOUSE

A "Juanita Hansen Matinee" was recently held in Los Angeles, Manager Miller of the Alhambra theater being host. Every woman attending the matinee received a photo of the star of "The Secret of the Submarine" who was there in person and made a speech.

Signal Players Get Many Novel Scenes in Hawaii Islands

Among the Material for an Educational Is the Filming of a Volcano by Daylight and After Dark—Cameraman Sues Stood on Ledge That Afterwards Fell Into Bubbling Lava

Special to Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, June 17.

AFTER a most successful trip, Helen Holmes, Director J. P. McGowan and company of Signal players, arrived home this week from a month in the Hawaiias where they made exterior and many interior scenes for the Mutual Masterpicture "The Diamond Runners," and secured a great quantity of other material for educational films and the Mutual News Weekly.

While aboard boat, by the aid of an equipment of artificial lights they were successful in making both interior and exteriors on the ship, using practically every part of the big steamer. Arriving at Honolulu they spent several days there where the Pleasanton Hotel and grounds served for settings. Later they were at Hilo near Hawaiia's famous volcano Kilawea. Arriving at San Francisco they were confronted with the duty of each one looking after his own baggage owing to strikes of longshoremen there. A truck was engaged by Director McGowan, and the members of the company individually saw that their baggage was taken from the boat and loaded. To insure that it was delivered promptly, Jean Perkins, a member of the company, climbed aboard the truck, and while leaving the wharf, strikers attacked him thinking he was a strike breaked. Ropes holding the baggage were cut and Perkins pulled down off the wagon. When the strikers learned the true conditions they aided in reloading. These scenes were shot by Cameraman S. A. Sues, together with others for the Mutual Weekly.

While in the Hawaiias, Director McGowan arranged for the filming of the annual review of Hawaiian troops at Honolulu, the christening of a one-year-old native baby, and hundreds of feet of sports and pastimes of the Hawaiians. Besides exteriors for "The Diamond Runners," between four and five thousand feet of film was exposed.

Perhaps the most important educational subject secured was that of scenes in and about the volcano. The crater with clouds of colored gases was filmed by daylight as well as after night. Every few months subterranean action causes the lava of the crater to rise within less than four hundred feet of the top, and it was in this condition when Cameraman Sues secured his pictures. At the time he was warned to stay away from the brink, and the company has since learned that the cliff on which he stood while the films were made, has given way and fallen into the lava which remains at a temperature of 2,200 degrees fahrenheit.

The company arrived in Los Angeles on Wednesday, and after a day of rest took up the filming of the exterior scenes for "Judith of the Cumberlands," in which Helen Holmes will play the name part. During the company's absence from the studio, mammoth sets were built depicting street scenes of a village of the Cumberlands district with courthouse, public square, log cabins and other scenes. In the mountains, a short distance from the studio, other log cabins including a double one, and a moonshiner's still have been built for use in the subject now being filmed.

Work on the new subject was taken up as it was found that not all the necessary exterior scenes could be found in the Hawaiias. Consequently these are now being built at the studio. The story of the "Diamond Runners" is built around the clashes between British revenue officers of the Kimberly Mines of South Africa and an organization of illicit diamond buyers. Director McGowan spent considerable time there, first as an officer of the Australian Lancers during the Boer war, and later in the employ of the British government.

The members of the company who made the trip to Honolulu, and are taking part in the second subject besides Miss Holmes and Director McGowan are Paul C. Hurst, Leo D. Maloney, Thomas G. Lingham, William Brunton, Chance E. Ward, Louella Maxam, Jean Perkins and S. A. Sues, cameraman.

With the completion of the two subjects now under way, the company will go to Eureka, Cal., for scenes of a lumber region story. Plans for this trip are now being made by Director McGowan, and the company will leave within a short time.

J. C. Jessen.

SPEAKING OF THE STUDIO DIRECTORY—ARE YOU READY?

Universal Wins Appeal In Suit By Patents Company

"Laemmle Company, Without Aid from Other Concerns in Industry, Gains Victory Affecting Whole Picture Business," Declares Official—"Had Decision Gone the Other Way Every Exhibitor in Country Might Be Compelled to Pay Royalties on a Machine After He Had Purchased the Projector

JUSTICE Augustus N. Hand has handed down a decision in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the case of the Motion Picture Patents Company against the Universal Film Manufacturing Company and the Universal Film Exchange of New York, wherein the complainant claimed the right to collect royalties on all machines having the Latham-Loop—a small mechanical contrivance which is attached to the machine.

The decision affirmed the ruling of Judge Hough, who demurred the complaint when the case was before him in the lower court.

"Without the aid of the Motion Picture Board of Trade, or the assistance of any other company, the Universal Film Manufacturing Company has won one of the greatest victories in the entire history of the trade," said a prominent Universal official. "The whole industry is affected by this decision, and directly and tremendously benefited, for it is of the most vital interest to every exhibitor, exchangeman and producer in the United States, and, had the case been decided in favor of the complainant, it would mean that every exhibitor in the country might be compelled to pay a royalty on his projection machine even after he had bought it. It would also mean that the Universal Film Manufacturing Company would be compelled to pay about $150,000 in back royalties."

The Judge's Decision

In rendering its decision the Court said:

"It was held by this Court in the case of Victor Talking Machine Company v. Straus, 230 Fed. 449, that a license to use a patented talking machine upon payment of an initial royalty to cover the life of the patent and upon condition that the licensee purchase all sound records to be used with the machine from licensor was valid even though the license provided that title to the machine should pass to the licensor upon the expiration of the patent if the terms of the license had been observed.

The present case differs from that case because here the title to the machine at once passed by the sale of the projecting machine to the Seventy-second Street Amusement Company. We think this case comes within the doctrine of Bauer v. O'Donnell, 239 U. S. 1, rather than that of Dick v. Henry, 224 U. S. 1. This is especially true since the enactment of the so-called Clayton Bill which provides:

That it shall be unlawful for any person engaged in commerce in the course of such commerce, to lease or make a sale or contract for sale of goods, wares, merchandise, machinery, supplies, or other commodities, whether patented or unpatented, for use, consumption or resale within the United States or any territory thereof . . . on the condition, agreement or understanding that the lessee or purchaser thereof shall not use or deal in the goods, wares, merchandise, machinery supplies or other commodities of a competitor or competitors of the lessor or seller, where the effect of such lease, sale, or contract for sale or such conditions, agreement or understanding may be to substantially lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce.

"This Act was not regarded as applicable either in the District Court, or in this Court, in the case of Victor Talking Machine v. Straus, supra, because that case was decided upon a demurrer to the bill upon the face of which no substantial restraint of competition or monopoly in any line of commerce appeared. Here, however, the testimony shows that the complainant has a monopoly under its patents or projecting machines so that if no films not manufactured by complainant can be used upon these machines the complainant will obtain an absolute monopoly of the film business in spite of the fact that its patent on films has expired.

Comes Under Clayton Act

"If the provisions of the Clayton Act mean anything at all this case falls within them and the restrictions as to use of films other than complainant's with the projecting machines are, therefore, void. Indeed, the Report of the Judiciary Committee of the House concerning the Clayton Act shows that its purpose is to reach the film monopoly. A portion of this report, quoted by Judge Dyer in his opinion in United States v. United Shoe Machinery Co., 227 Fed. 507, is as follows:

Where the concern making these contracts is already great and powerful, such as the United Shoe Machinery Company, the American Tobacco Company, and the General Film Company, the exclusive or "tying" contract made with local dealers becomes one of the greatest agencies and instrumentalities of monopoly ever devised by the brain of man. It completely shuts out competitors, not only from the trade in which they are engaged already, but from the opportunities to build up trade in any community where these great and powerful conditions are appearing under this system and practice.

"Judge Sessions has held in the case of Elliott Machine Co. v Center, 227 Fed. 126, that this act applies to contracts made before the passage of the act and we think his opinion justified by decisions of the Supreme Court on which he relied. Louisville and Nashville Railroad Co. v Mottley, 21, U. S. 467; Armour Packing Co. v. United States, 209 U. S. 56; Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington R. R. v. Schubert, 224 U. S. 603. In the case of United States v. United Shoe Machinery Company, 227 Fed. 507, Judge Dyer reached the same conclusion in regard to the Clayton Act.

"Inasmuch as the contract with the Precision Machine Company involved and restrained interstate commerce, it makes no difference that the particular act of infringement occurred within the State of New York, and the prohibitions of the Clayton Act apply.

"Marienella v. United Booking Offices, 227 Fed. 170; Nash v. United States, 229 U. S. 373.

"It is urged that the defendant, Prague Amusement Company, cannot rely upon the license and repudiate its terms. It does not rely upon the license but obtained a lease of the machine from the owner, the Seventy-second Street Amusement Company, which acquired it after having paid the purchase price, and this freed the machine from the unlawful restrictions. The remarks of this Court upon the motion for a stay pending the decision of the appeal from Judge Dickinson's decree in the criminal prosecution for violation of the Sherman Act, 225 Fed. 800, would be applicable to the case if the restrictions we have held illegal had been held valid. Then it would have been true that the defendant who was using the patented article under a license could not question the validity of the patent, or claim it lacked invention. These remarks are not applicable when the restrictions are held invalid and the article having been thus freed from all restrictions may be used at the will of the licensee.

"In view of the foregoing considerations it is unnecessary to discuss the other defenses raised by the defendants and the decree dismissing the bill is affirmed."

The attorneys for the complainant were Melville Church and George F. Scull, while Edmund Wetmore, John B. Stanchfield and Oscar W. Jeffery acted as counsel for the defendants.

TOM TERRISS SECURES OPTION ON WHITESIDE FOR PICTURES

Tom Terriss, who produced the Unity picture "My Country First," announces that he has secured an option on all the famous plays in which Walker Whiteside has appeared, and also an option on the personal appearance upon the screen of Mr. Whiteside himself. Mr. Terriss will direct the Whiteside pictures and is negotiating for a studio of sufficient scope for his plans.

Among the Whiteside triumphs in which the actor is to appear under the Terriss direction are "The Typhoon," "The Ragged Messenger," "The Beloved Traitor," the latter by Frank Packard, the author of "The Miracle Man," and several other dramas in which Mr. Whiteside has endeared himself to the public the country over. Mr. Terriss announces that these photo-dramas will be released through the Unity Sales Corporation, through an agreement made between himself and Andrew J. Cobe, vice-president and general manager of the Unity concern. The Whiteside productions, according to Mr. Terriss, will be marked by originality and novelty both in photography and artistry. Mr. Terriss is now at work engaging a company of sufficient strength to support Mr. Whiteside.

MARIE EMPRESS IN "SIREN OF THE SLUMS"

Marie Empress is featured with Frank Mayo in a forthcoming Knickerbocker Star Feature entitled "The Siren of the Slums," an extravaganza based upon a husband's attempt to cure his wife of her tendency to dramatize personal experiences. Miss Empress has the role of an actress with playwriting aspirations, who goes into the slums for material.

OFFICERS OF THE CHICAGO LEAGUE AND THE CONVENTION—EXPOSITION COMMITTEES

Top Row: G. M. Laing, Chairman Press, Ent. and Reception Com.; M. A. Choynski, Sec'y Expo. and Fin. Com.; Sidney Smith, Sec'y Chicago Branch; W. J. Sweeney, Nat'l Vice-Pres. and Chairman Conv. Com.; Geo. Henry, Pres. Chicago Branch; C. C. Whelan, Sec'y Press, Ent. and Recep. Com.; Lewis H. Frank, Mgr. Exposition

Middle Row: Fred. W. Hartmann, Sec'y Conv. Com.; J. H. Frundt, August Zilligan, Jr., Fred. Schaefer, Expo. and Finance Com.; H. Lieberthal, Chairman Printing and Badge Com.
Bottom Row: Harry Hyman, M. S. Johnson, Julius A. Alcock

MELTING POT PICTURE PLANNED BY SUNBEAM

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Cleveland, O., June 17.

The Sunbeam Motion Picture Corporation has at last released the name and the synopsis of its first picture. It is in eight reels, is to be called "Hyphenated," and deals with the much discussed status of the hyphenated American. An immigrant girl comes to this country from Austria. An immigrant boy comes here from Poland. Both are subject to abuses at our gates which are unwarrantable, considering that all our forefathers were immigrants, fleeing from abuses.

These two strangers educate themselves, become naturalized citizens, and marry, joining in the melting pot to make, not the hyphenated American, but the real American. Mitzi Hajos takes the part of the little Austrian girl, but the part of the boy has not yet been allotted. The theme of the play was suggested to Mr. Ridgewell by an immigrant, now naturalized, who writes the story with great heart interest. During the course of the play the ship guards, and army quarters are shown, and our peaceful land is contrasted with the war countries of Europe.

FLINTOM BACK IN KANSAS CITY AFTER NEW YORK TRIP

A. D. Flintom, president of the Kansas City Feature Film Company, has just returned from a short trip to New York City. The Kansas City Feature Film Company is going to produce not so much quantity this year as quality.

P. C. Reed, manager of the Kansas City Feature Film Company, recently made a trip to Des Moines, Iowa, where he stayed for two days visiting the Paramount headquarters at that city.

Special Train Out of New York to Chicago for Convention

Exhibitors Can Travel Over New York Central on July 8 at Round Trip Rate of $40.30—Tickets Good for Any Return Train Except 20th Century

FOR the accommodation and greater comfort of those who will attend the Sixth National Motion Picture Convention, Chicago, July 10-18, a special train will be provided over the New York Central Railroad on the following schedule:

Saturday, July 8.—Leave New York (Grand Central Terminal), 1 p. m.; Albany, 4:25 p. m.; Schenectady, 4:57 p. m.; Utica, 6:47 p. m.; Syracuse, 8:15 p. m.; Rochester, 10:04 p. m.

ROUND TRIP RAILROAD FARE AND ONE WAY PULLMAN FARES

From	Railroad	Lower berth	Upper berth	Compt.	D'room
New York	$40.30	$5.00	$4.00	$14.00	$18.00
Albany	32.20	4.50	3.60	13.00	16.00
Schenectady	31.50	4.50	3.60	13.00	16.00
Utica	28.40	4.00	3.20	11.50	14.00
Syracuse	26.30	3.50	2.80	10.00	13.00
Rochester	23.00	3.00	2.40	8.50	11.00
Buffalo	21.00	3.00	2.40	8.50	11.00

Sunday, July 9.—Leave Buffalo, 12:02 a. m.; arrive Chicago, 11:50 a. m.

This train will have club car and dining cars, and the schedule will enable up-state members to avail themselves of this train and join the Convention party.

Railroad tickets at fare quoted are good on any train returning excepting the 20th Century Limited. They are limited for return to reach original starting point not later than July 19th. A minimum of one and one-half railroad tickets is required for the exclusive use of a compartment and two railroad tickets for a drawing-room. Compartments accommodate two persons and drawing-rooms three persons.

There must be one hundred in the party to secure a special train; otherwise, special cars will be attached to New York Central train No. 41 leaving at the same time.

The advantages of special arrangements above outlined must be apparent to all, principal among which are the pleasure of traveling together and the opportunity to discuss matters of mutual interest enroute.

To co-operate, send your request for reservation together with check covering railroad and Pullman charges to W. V. Lifsey, A. G. P. A., New York Central Railroad, 1216 Broadway, New York City, who will also be glad to give any further information desired. Sam Spedon is in charge of transportation.

JUANITA HANSEN TO HAVE OWN COMPANY

Juanita Hansen, who is now appearing in the American serial "The Secrets of the Submarine," is to be given her own company and director to produce love-interest dramas as soon as the serial is completed. This will be her first appearance in a romantic subject, having played comedy leads with Kolb and Dill and Ford Sterling, and adventure in "The Martyrs of the Alamo" and "The Secret of the Submarine."

Famous Is Ready to Spend $100,000 for Script Ideas

Company Is in the Market to Pay $1,000 Each for One Hundred Photoplays Submitted in the Form of One Thousand Word Synopses by Novelists and Playwrights of Recognized Ability—Offer Is in No Sense a Prize Contest—Company Does Not Want Lurid Melodramas or Scenarios With Sex Theme

ANOTHER record was established by the Famous Players Film Company, pioneers in the production of a program of feature plays, in its announcement that it would pay $1,000 each for one hundred photoplay ideas—a total investment of $100,000 in original photoplay ideas. The scripts are to be submitted in the form of thousand word synopses, thus offering the successful authors compensation at the rate of a dollar a word—a rate hitherto confined to only a very few of the greatest writers of our time.

The announcement, which is being made through several of the leading magazines of the highest literary standards and through the book review departments of some of the leading newspapers, has been directed through these channels because the producers are anxious only to receive scripts from authors of recognized merit. The offer is in no sense a prize contest.

"We have scrupulously avoided the 'prize contest' in making this announcement," declared Adolph Zukor, president of the Famous Players organization, "because we consider the contest to be very unfair to the authors who submit scripts on that basis. Lured by the bait of some fair stipend offered as the first prize, they are forced to compete on a 'heads I win and tails you lose' plan, because if they fail to win the prize they receive very negligible offers for their work if it proves acceptable at all.

Want Best Stories or Nothing

"In this case, however, we are making a flat proposition that we have appropriated $100,000 for the purpose of acquiring one hundred original scenarios which we consider to be worth $1,000 each to us. It is a matter of no importance to us whether one writer earns the entire $100,000 or whether it is divided among one hundred writers. We want the best ideas that money can buy and we want nothing but the best. Therefore we have definitely committed ourselves to pay $1,000 each for acceptable scripts and we will reject everything that does not measure up to our standards. There is no middle ground—it is the best or nothing.

"But since this is not a prize contest, there is no time limit on the submission of the ideas—we are always open to the receipt of scripts until the one hundred thousand dollars has been exhausted. Therefore there is no reason for an author submitting a half-baked idea to us, as writers have ample time in which to work out the polishing up of their ideas.

"Furthermore, the authors can submit their scripts without the fear that they will be accepted or rejected according to their relative merits as compared with the works of thousands of 'contestants.' There will be no spectacular photographs of stacks of manuscripts almost completely filling an entire suite of offices while one of the judges bears aloft the prize-winning script. We have purposely directed our announcement at trained writers only because we do not want anything but thousand-dollar ideas.

"As each script is submitted to our photoplay department, it will be read, judged on its intrinsic merits without reference to any other preferred idea. There will be no placing the script aside to wait for the final comparison with hundreds of others which have passed the first reading. Nor will there be any special judges engaged for the work of passing on the merits of the ideas. Scripts will be judged solely on the standards best suited to prescribe for the needs of the company.

Kind of Plots Not Wanted

"It will not be easy for even the cleverest authors to earn the remarkable rate of a dollar a word which we have offered, for the scripts must meet certain well-defined restrictions. We are anxious to avoid lurid dramas of the objectionable sex variety and we do not want political, religious or other controversial subjects. We also prefer ideas which are especially suitable for Mary Pickford, Marguerite Clark, Pauline Frederick, Hazel Dawn, Ann Pennington and our other stars—but we do not insist that the ideas be confined solely to plots necessitating feminine stars. Any really great or unusual plot will be accepted no matter whether for men or women stars, provided it embodies an idea which is intrinsically worth a thousand dollars to the company.

"Although we have restricted our announcement to authors of proven merit, and though the company's history has been linked with the names of such great writers as Hall Caine, William J. Locke, Mark Twain, Anthony Hope, Israel Zangwill, Robert Hichens, Henry Arthur Jones, Clyde Fitch, Richard Harding Davis and others of equal prominence, nevertheless, it can be authoritatively stated that the author's reputation will have absolutely no bearing on the acceptance or rejection of any of the one hundred scripts. Photoplay values are the only essential factors in determining the merits of the ideas.

"We are excluding the general public because it is our experience that less than one per cent. of the so-called scripts submitted by amateur writers are worth reading. The rest are absolutely worthless and a waste of time. Rather than wade through thousands of samples of that sort of material, we are anxious to confine ourselves exclusively to the works of trained authors.

"Our position in this matter does not mean that we believe the amateur writer to be a totally negligible quantity. It is unquestionably true that the amateur writer occasionally strikes a good idea—that is, the germ of a good idea. But it is almost impossible for him to weave a story that is intrinsically worth presentation on the feature screen.

"That is a job for the experienced fictionist and playwright. But, as we have pledged ourselves to pay a thousand dollars for each of the hundred scripts which we accept, we feel that we are amply justified in limiting our offer to the literary profession."

Photodramatists Plan Outing at Bayshore on June 24

At Invitation of Edward J. Montagne of Vitagraph Studios That Particular Beauty Spot of Long Island Is Selected for the Event

THE Photodramatists, formerly the Ed-Au Club, numbering among its members the most prominent writers for the screen, have reached the age-old conclusion that "all work and no play" may affect them as it did the immortal Jack, and at a meeting held on the 8th of June, decided to enjoy an outing and general reunion.

At the invitation of Edward J. Montagne of the Vitagraph's Bayshore studios, that particular beauty spot of Long Island was chosen as a Mecca, a shore dinner to follow after the pilgrims have paid their devotions at the shrine of Director Ralph Ince.

June 24 was set for the pilgrimage. Recreant members of The Photodramatists take notice, and send in reservations if intending to join the caravan. Address the secretary, Mrs. Mary Louise Farley, 607 W. 136th street.

After an address by L. Case Russell, the club members were treated to a showing of the latest Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature, "The Destroyers," adapted to the screen by Edward J. Montagne from a story by James Oliver Curwood, and directed by Ralph Ince. Planning big things for the coming year, an entertainment committee composed of Mrs. L. Case Russel, chairman, C. Doty Hobart of Famous Players and Edward J. Montagne of Vitagraph, was appointed.

The club, which already numbers among its members the best-known writers and directors for the screen, plans to open its doors to the established writers of fiction and drama who are entering the photoplay field.

Among the members present were President Howard Young, of Metro, Vice-President Arthur Leeds, recently scenario editor for Edison, Mrs. Mary Louise Farley, secretary of the club; Charles T. Dazey, author of that twenty-year-old success, "In Old Kentucky"; Mable Heikes Justice, well-known story writer. Equitable was represented by Cecelie Peterson, Metro by June Mathis as well as President Young; Famous Players by C. Doty Hobart, Vitagraph by George Plympton, Charles Reese and Mr. Montagne; Sunbeam by Director George Ridgwell; Thanhouser by Agnes Johnson, while the free lance writers were well represented.

DOROTHY KELLY PROVES A MISTRESS IN THE ART OF MAKE-UP AT VITAGRAPH

Dorothy Kelly, the little Vitagraph leading woman, has established herself in the course of the taking of Louis Joseph Vance's serial, "The Secret Kingdom," as one of the most efficient makeup artists among all the actresses of the Vitagraph studio.

Dorothy Kelly (Vitagraph)

In her part as Inez in "The Secret Kingdom," Miss Kelly, who is the "villainess," assumes many disguises. She appears as a little old lady, as a parlor maid, as a widow, as an innocent ingenue in whose little pink mouth butter wouldn't melt on an August Sunday, and then as herself, the beautifully wicked Inez, bent upon fortune through the devious channels of intrigue and, if necessary, theft and murder.

Inasmuch as the versatile and vivacious Dorothy manages to circulate all around the studios when she's waiting for a scene, any of her unlimited number of friends in the various departments have had shocks lately, for she has appeared in so many differing aspects and forms, that if you see a strange lady crossing the Quadrangle, you can take it for granted it's Dorothy Kelly in another disguise for "The Secret Kingdom."

CHARLIE CHAPLIN GIVES MARIE DORO MINIATURE CAMERA

Marie Doro, the star of the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, recently was the hostess of a party of photoplay stars, directors and producers at her home in Hollywood, California. The occasion was a house-warming by Miss Doro and her husband, Elliott Dexter, who have recently completed furnishing their home. One of the features of Miss Doro's house is that she has provided a miniature theatre on the lower floor to which, following supper and dancing, the guests adjourned to see some interesting motion pictures.

Miss Doro, who has become a great enthusiast, not only in acting for motion pictures but in the actual making of them, was surprised at the close of the supper when Charlie Chaplin, who was one of the guests, arose in his seat and after a short address presented the star with a miniature motion picture camera he had specially constructed for her.

Kansas City Will Have Screen Club with Seventy Members

Exhibitors, Exchangemen and Supply Men Will Gather for Promotion of Social and Business Interests—Pearson Is President and Harden Is Secretary

Special to Motion Picture News.

Kansas City, Mo., June 17.

KANSAS CITY is to have a Screen Club. This is the most welcome announcement that has been made in Kansas City for many a day—and it will doubtless mean more for the business of motion pictures than anything since the organization of the Amusement Association of Kansas.

The eighty men who gathered at the Baltimore Hotel last week were full of enthusiasm for the enterprise. There was some difference of opinion as to the character the organization should take, whether it would be wholly social, or partly business. But after the discussion had waged half an hour it was discovered that there was little difference after all—the chief purpose was to secure a meeting place for social purposes of the men in the industry—exhibitors, exchangemen, and supply men in other lines than films.

"We want to come here and look into the faces of the exchange managers, and find out really what kind of fellows we have been doing business with," said the exhibitors.

F. I. Buckingham, chief owner of the Apollo theatre, declared that his business interests demanded his participation in any enterprise that brought exchangemen and exhibitors together, for such co-operation, even on a purely social basis, was bound to build the business.

"I know what's going to make more trade for the Apollo," he said. "It's more trade for the other theatres. We all want to see everybody prosper. If I had it in my power to destroy all the other motion picture houses in Kansas City except the Apollo, I would certainly destroy the Apollo at the same time."

Joe Gilday, of the Willis Wood, also spoke heartily of the merits of a Screen Club. "Some people think I'm a bear and a grouch, but if you organize a Screen Club and meet me there, you'll find I'm a regular fellow," he said.

The meeting was full of comments by men who had visited other cities and noted the success of Screen clubs there. New York, Chicago, Minneapolis, Omaha, the West coast, Texas—from everywhere came reports of success. And Kansas City, one of the best cities in the industry, without one so far.

The meeting had been arranged by a committee consisting of E. C. Mills, E. R. Pearson and Joseph Gilday. After the refreshments, served at small tables where the visitors got well acquainted, E. R. Pearson was elected temporary chairman. He conducted the preliminary discussions. Then E. C. Mills was given the floor and, in his trenchant way, he aroused excitement to a high pitch. There was unanimous voting for the organization, and for the temporary officers, who are as follows:

E. R. Pearson, V. L. S. E., president; Charles W. Harden, Metro, secretary; C. S. Edwards, Jr., treasurer.

The following committee was appointed on permanent organization: R. C. Cropper, George B. Harrison, Joseph Gilday, W. B. Tuteur, F. I. Buckingham and E. R. Pearson.

On this committee Mr. Cropper and Mr. Pearson are exchange managers; Mr. Harrison is writer for a producing company, and Mr. Gilday, Mr. Tuteur and Mr. Buckingham are exhibitors.

The treasurer has collected five dollars initiation fees from about seventy applicants for membership.

C. S. Stevenson.

More Selig Athletics to Strong-Arm Public Interest

Second Series, Released Through V-L-S-E, Will Show, Among Other Things, a Wrestling Match to a Finish Between Russian Mat Artist and Greek Champion

THE second of the Selig Athletic series, released through V-L-S-E, Inc., on July 3, will be as interesting and as entertaining in every respect as the first film, the company declares.

Molla Bjurstedt and Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, the greatest of women tennis players, are presented in a closely contested tennis match for the world's championship, and they also exhibit lightning-like accuracy in their serving.

There is also a wrestling match to a finish between William Berne, the Russian strong man, and William Demetral, the Greek champion. This contest for supremacy between two physically perfect gladiators cannot but arouse intense interest.

Lovers of billiards will be pleased with the pocket billiard match staged between Joe Concommon, champion billiard player of the Eastern States, and "Cowboy" Weston.

Jimmy Clabby, middleweight champion boxer, demonstrates his training methods and concludes with a glove contest with Joe Welling and Steve Kenney. Clabby's demonstration of correct training methods will not only be interesting but instructive to lovers of the science and physical culture.

CAPACITY HOUSES ARE DRAWN BY "CIVILIZATION" IN NEW YORK

Absolute capacity in the very first week and each succeeding week of its run has been achieved practically from the premier of "Civilization," Thomas H. Ince's multiple reel production at the Criterion theatre, New York. Sixty additional chairs have been placed in the Criterion theatre filling every bit of available space and seats have been placed on sale eight weeks in advance.

It has been found necessary to absolutely dispense with the free list, but the management announce that a professional matinee will be given at 11 o'clock some morning in the near future to take care of the members of the press and prominent men and women of the motion picture world who were unable to attend the opening invitation performance.

Hiram Abrams Elected President of Paramount

William L. Sherry of New York Is Vice-President and James Steele of Pittsburgh Secretary and Treasurer—Ex-President Hodkinson Is on the Board of Directors, with Steele and Raymond Pawley—Heads of Producing Companies Assure New President of Maintaining Artistic Standards

At the annual meeting last week of the stockholders of Paramount Pictures Corporation, followed by a meeting of newly elected directors, a new administration was chosen for the ensuing year.

The new officers are Hiram Abrams, of Boston, president; William L. Sherry of New York, vice-president; and James Steele of Pittsburgh, secretary and treasurer. They succeed in the order named,

Hiram Abrams

William W. Hodkinson, James Steele and Raymond Pawley. The directors include the five men named above.

Mr. Abrams, who succeeds Mr. Hodkinson as president, has been active in the administration of Paramount since its inception two years ago. Immediately after his election Mr. Abrams notified Adolph Zukor, president of the Famous Players Film Company, Jesse L. Lasky and Samuel Goldfish, president and treasurer, respectively, of the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company and the heads of the Pallas and Oliver Morosco Photoplay companies of the change of administration. The executives of these companies, which release their productions through Paramount promised their co-operation in making the new administration attractive to the exhibitors and the photoplay public.

In a statement Mr. Abrams said:

"The constantly growing interest in the motion picture throughout the country permits us to anticipate a most active era for the Paramount Pictures Corporation in the future. The heads of the various producing companies releasing through Paramount have assured me that they will make every effort to surpass their artistic standards. On the roster of these companies are the most noted stars of the stage and screen, including Mary Pickford, Geraldine Farrar, Marguerite Clark, Marie Doro, Pauline Frederick, Blanche Sweet and many others.

"I was very gratified to receive these offers of continued co-operation from the producers. It is obvious their united support is essential to Paramount's success. Their statements to me to-day set at rest all rumors of the possibilities of their affiliation with any other film interest."

Mr. Zukor gave out the following statement:

"I can only add to the statement issued by Hiram Abrams, the newly elected president of the Paramount, which I have seen, that his quotation of my promise to give the new Paramount regime my sincerest support is fully justified by my intentions and desires.

James Steele

"Speaking for the producers, I can offer complete assurance that any change of policy adopted by Paramount will be for the advanced merit of the program and the greater good of exhibitors. During its former activities, the Paramount Pictures Corporation has established a high standard for efficient distribution and co-operative service to exhibitors. It is in the nature of things that these principles should go steadily forward. The producers are determined to keep active pace with their advancement by producing constantly better photoplays so that the productional and distributing units of the program shall attain and maintain the highest possible degree of efficiency.

"Mr. Abrams has the unlimited confidence of the producers and exhibitors throughout the country. Being one of the oldest and most practical film men in the world, and having been identified with the distribution of feature productions from the inception of this branch of the industry, he possesses a sympathetic and comprehensive understanding of the needs of the greatest number of exhibitors. To supply these needs he has committed himself to bend every energy, and I am confident that the whole-hearted support of the producers which will be extended him, will aid in securing results which will be gratifying alike to producers, distributor, exhibitors and the photoplay public."

William L. Sherry

SUB-COMMITTEE MEETS TO DRAFT PLAN FOR BOARD OF TRADE

W. W. Irwin, Lee W. Ochs, Jesse Lasky, John J. Whittman, L. L. Levine, J. H. Hallberg, W. S. Bush, Tracey Lewis and Wm. A. Johnston, members of the sub-committee appointed by the General Committee on the new national trade association, met on Thursday, June 15, at the offices of the V. L. S. E. to draft a plan of organization. Attorney Wm. M. Seabury and Arthur S. Friend were also present.

A great deal of favorable progress was made and the following committees were appointed to meet at once and report back to the general sub-committee: on Constitution and By-Laws, W. S. Bush, Arthur S. Friend, L. L. Levine and William M. Seabury; on ways and means of raising an annual budget: W. W. Orwin, Lee W. Ochs, J. H. Hallberg and Wm. A. Johnston.

TRIANGLE WILL OPEN EXCHANGE IN TORONTO

From a reliable source it has been learned that Toronto is to have another film exchange. The newest recruit to the business there will be the Triangle Company, which, it is said, has completed arrangements to open offices in August. Two men holding responsible positions in that city are under consideration for the managership.

Players Who Appear In Vogue - Mutual Comedies: (Left to Right) Arthur Moon, Alice Neice, Ben Turpin, Rena Rogers, Paddy McGuire, Madge Kirby, and Jack Gaines

THREE DETROIT HOUSES GO BACK TO THE DAILY CHANGE

The Alhambra, the Garden and the Strand theatres, Detroit, Mich., which some months ago announced a policy of changing pictures only four times a week, have renounced that plan and are back to the policy of changing daily. One of the managers said to the NEWS representative: "We tried out running pictures two days each, but we found that it was not a good thing for a neighborhood house where you get so many of your customers almost every night. Not alone that, but if you can offer them seven pictures a week, you certainly have a much better chance to get them oftener than if you can only offer them four pictures weekly.

"You may save a little by running the pictures two days, but you make up for it by the losses of people not coming so often. There are exceptional cases where it pays to run pictures two days, but it is not the best policy regularly, especially in view of the increasing number of houses that are invading every neighborhood. You must remember that a neighborhood theatre has little transient trade to cater to—hence it is very different from the downtown houses."

TAYLOR FINISHES "THE PARSON OF PANAMINT" FOR MOROSCO

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Los Angeles, June 17.

Both of the Morosco-Pallas producing companies have completed their subjects. Director Frank E. Lloyd with Vivian Martin and company, filming "Nell of Thunder Mountain," is home from the Pine Crest mountain district.

Director William D. Taylor has finished "The Parson of Panamint," and is now busy cutting the film. Dustin Farnum appears as the parson, and goes after the title held by his brother William for fight scenes. The story opens in a city where the parson fights a mob to protect one man, and in the rough and tumble brawl, Farnum gives a wonderful exhibition of hand-to-hand fist warfare, throwing around his husky combatants as though they were pygmies.

Edna Goodrich and Lenore Ulrich will in all probability be starred in the next features. Dustin Farnum will remain here for one more picture before leaving for a vacation, which he will spend at his home near Bridgeport, Maine.

Larger Offices for "Civilization" Staff in New York

Success of the Ince Feature Makes Removal from Old Quarters Necessary—Executive, Publicity and Advertising Departments Will Be in Times Building

OWING to the success of Thomas H. Ince's "Civilization" at the Criterion theatre, New York, it has been found necessary to take larger offices and to increase his executive and publicity staffs. At present the booking end of "Civilization" is being handled in the suite of offices in the Longacre Building while the advertising department is in the Eltinge Theatre Building and the publicity department in the Brokaw Building, but a deal has been closed with H. H. Frazee which makes it possible for the executive, advertising and publicity staffs to move into the Times Building at Broadway and 42nd street next Thursday in the suite until now occupied by Mr. Frazee, who will move back into his former offices in the Longacre Theatre Building on West Forty-eighth street.

A number of persons have been added to Mr. Ince's staff of "Civilization" promoters whose headquarters will be at the new offices, but J. Parker Read, Jr., will continue, as heretofore, to be Mr. Thomas H. Ince's general and personal representative in all business matters.

Robert Grau will be general manager for both the mammoth national and international publicity campaigns about to be spread broadcast on behalf of "Civilization." James Shesgrin, formerly with Henry W. Savage and more recently with Margaret Anglin, has been appointed house manager by Mr. Ince for the Criterion theatre during the run of "Civilization," and later will enter the campaign publicity department with Robert Grau. Four of the best known publicity men, now engaged in New York, whose names will be announced later, will be sent on tour ahead of "Civilization" companies which are going out in the early fall.

At the head of the New York publicity department will be Beulah Livingstone, formerly associated with Arthur Hopkins; Elizabeth Marbury, the Times Producing Corporation, etc., who has the unique distinction of being the first young girl to be placed at the head of a motion picture publicity department in the metropolis. The Chicago showing of "Civilization" is now being boosted by J. L. Barnard, who will act as general executive and promotor in many of the large cities where "Civilization" is soon to be shown. Fifteen office and publicity assistants, stenographers and other helpers have also been engaged by Mr. Ince for the new offices.

Grace Carlyle with Rita Jolivet for Morosco Subject

Actress Who Appeared on Speaking Stage in "Midchannel" with Ethel Barrymore Is Cast as Eleanor Williamson in "An International Marriage," for Paramount Release

GRACE CARLYLE, known among patrons of both the screen and stage for her talent and beauty, has become affiliated with the Oliver Morosco Photoplay Company at Los Angeles. Miss Carlyle will make her debut under the Morosco brand in Rita Jolivet's new film vehicle, "An International Marriage," a forthcoming release by George Broadhurst, on the Paramount program.

A strange coincidence in connection with Miss Carlyle's new engagement is the fact that through it she has renewed an old friendship formed years ago with Courtenay Foote, who also makes his debut as a Morosco player in this photoplay. Incidentally Miss Carlyle is a stage artist who has not come to the motion picture field and immediately claimed she preferred the screen to the stage. "It is difficult to have a preference between the two," said she recently. Each has an enjoyable contrast."

Prior to her appearance on the screen, Miss Carlyle attained success on the speaking stage during her career of seven years. Her appearance included engagements with Ethel Barrymore in "Midchannel," with Hattie William in "The Girl He Couldn't Leave Behind Him," with Rose Stahl in "Maggie Pepper," with John Drew in "The Prodigal Husband" and more recently with Elsie Ferguson in "Margaret Schiller." In stock she received wide experience at Elich Gardens, Denver, and in Los Angeles.

In "An International Marriage," as Eleanor Williamson she will appear in direct contrast to Rita Jolivet, who plays a carefree daughter of a wealthy American.

HERALD MAN GOES TO PARAMOUNT

Coolidge W. Streeter, formerly of the New York Herald, is now on the editorial staff of the Paramount Pictures Corporation in the Pictograph department.

Scenes from Three Unity Productions: "My Country First"; "Diana"; "The Marriage Bond"

STUNT WITH WIRE CABLE ACROSS CANYON PUTS DIZZY THRILL IN "SUBMARINE"

A wire cable had to be stretched across a canyon two hundred feet wide and over two hundred feet deep and a cabin with two rooms constructed on one edge of the chasm in order to get the proper effect for one of the big scenes in the ninth chapter of "The Secret of the Submarine."

Several members of the company traveled across the cable in a little iron car which seemed pitifully inadequate while it was suspended over the canyon, but it remained for Tom Chatterton, as Lieut. Hope, U. S. N. to furnish the climax.

In order to reach Cleo Burke (Juanita Hansen) who is imprisoned on the other side, Chatterton started over the cable hanging only by his hands and with nothing between him and the rocks below. When he is half way across, the cable is cut by Mahlin (George Webb) and the suspended man had an actual drop of twenty-five feet before he was brought up sharply by the safety attachment.

"SHOP GIRL" AND "KERNEL NUTT" FROM "V" JUNE 26

Vitagraph release through V-L-S-E for the week of June 26, consist of "The Shop Girl," a five part Blue Ribbon feature with Edith Storey and Antonio Moreno, and a one part comedy of the "Kernel Nutt" series in which Frank Daniels is starred.

"The Shop Girl" was picturized from the C. N. and A. M. Williamson novel by George D. Baker, and the supporting cast includes Lillian Burns, Thomas Mills, Josephine Earle, Harold Foshay, Templer Saxe, and Edward Dunn. In "Kernel Nutt in Mexico," Mr. Daniels is assisted by Alice Washburn and Adele De Garde.

PLAYW(RIGHT) TULLY ADMITS HE'S WRONG IN TRIANGLE SUIT

Richard Walton Tully, the playwright, who asked the Supreme Court of New York for an injunction against the Triangle Film Corporation, alleging that the copyright of his play, "The Bird of Paradise," has been interfered with in the production of the Triangle feature, "Alhoha Oe," has asked leave to discontinue the action. Permission was granted, Mr. Tully paying all costs.

Many Stars in Films from General, Week of June 26-July 1

They Include Eugenie Besserer, Harry Mestayer, Francis X. Bushman, Gerda Holmes, Mary Pickford, Charles H. Mailes, L. C. Shumway, Dorothy Barrett, and Mabel Trunnelle

IN the announcement of the weekly program of the General Film Company for June 26-July 1, inclusive, are found the names of Eugenie Besserer, Harry Mestayer, Francis X. Bushman, Gerda Holmes, Mary Pickford, Charles H. Mailes, L. C. Shumway, Dorothy Barrett, Mabel Trunnelle, Richard Tucker, Dorothy Gish, Charles West, Golden Madden, George Routh, Alice Hollister, Frank Mayo, Lillian West, Harry Millarde, Tom Mix, Victoria Forde, Warda Howard, Ernest Maupain, Charles Kent, Belle Bruce, Gordon Gray, Thomas R. Mills, Charles Wellsley and Jack Pickford.

Selig's "The Sacrifice," a three-reel drama, heads the program for the week. In this Eugenie Besserer and Harry Mestayer share titular honors. This picture will be followed by "The Foxy Trotters," a Vitagraph one part comedy, which precedes a chapter of the famous Selig-Tribune, telling pictorially all the big news of the day. "The Unwelcome Guest," a Biograph reissue in one part, featuring Mary Pickford, Charles H. Mailes and Jack Pickford, follows. "No Place Like Jail," a one-part comedy from the Lubin studio, will close the day.

Essanay's "The Voice in the Wilderness," a reissue of a very successful drama in two parts, featuring Francis X. Bushman and Gerda Holmes, will be shown first on the screen Tuesday. "The Explorer," a Kalem comedy, will add spice to the program of that day, which is also bulwarked by Lubin's "Out of the Flotsam," a two-part drama, in which L. C. Shumway and Dorothy Barrett are seen in the principal roles. This will be followed by Edison's "The Southerners," in three parts. Mabel Trunnelle and Richard Tucker have the chief parts.

Wednesday's releases are led by Kalem's comedy, "When Opportunity Knocks." Vernon Howe Bailey's Sketch Book of St. Louis will furnish additional entertainment. "A Fair Rebel," released by Biograph, in three parts, will follow, featuring Dorothy Gish and Charles West. Then will come Kalem's first five-reel feature, released through General Film Service, under the new policy. This is entitled "The Lotus Woman." Alice Hollister has the stellar role, assisted by Harry Millarde.

"The Return of John Boston," a Lubin three-part drama, is first on Thursday's program. Golden Madden and George Routh have the important roles in this production. Selig-Tribune and "Better Halves," a Vim comedy, will conclude the day's releases.

On Friday is released "The Head of the House," a three-part drama made by Knickerbocker Star Features, with Frank Mayo and Lillian West in the titular roles. This will be followed by "Setting the Fashion," one of Kalem's "Sis Hopkins" series, after which will be shown Vitagraph's "Losing Weight" and Vim's "For Value Received," comedies in one reel each.

Two Essanay stars, Warda Howard and Ernest Maupain, will be greeted in the first picture, shown Saturday, "The Regeneration of Margaret," a three-part drama. "Edison Bugg's Invention," a Lubin comedy in one part, and "Under the Barrel," from the same studio, will supply humor for the day. "Letitia," a Vitagraph drama in three parts, with an all-star cast, including Charles Kent, Belle Bruce, Gordon Gray, Thomas R. Mills and Charles Wellsley, will precede "The Engineer's Honor," an episode of the "Hazards of Helen" series from Kalem. The program for the first day in July will be closed with Selig's "The Girl of Gold Gulch."

PATTERSON ENTERTAINS MEYERFIELD AT UNIVERSAL CITY

Morris Meyerfield, Jr., president of the Orpheum theatres, was entertained at Universal City last week by E. G. Patterson, secretary of the big film concern. The head of the greatest vaudeville chain of theaters in the world exhibited keen interest in the work of the twenty-six producing companies at Universal City.

TURKS AT CLOSE RANGE BY EFFORTS OF EDWARDS

Nelson B. Edwards, staff cameraman of the Hearst International News Pictorial, with the Turkish army at Constantinople, has secured some unusual pictures, showing Turkish war activities "close up," it is said.

Small Attendance at Michigan Meet, but Lots of "Pep"

Officers Elected Are: President, August Kleist; Vice-Presidents, J. M. Neal, S. A. Moran and H. L. Rahn; Secretary, A. J. Moeller; and Treasurer, George Thatcher

Special to Motion Picture News.

Detroit, June 17.

ALTHOUGH the attendance of members at the annual convention of Michigan State Branch, No. 4, Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America, held at the Hotel Wenonah, Bay City, June 13 and 14, was not as large as had been anticipated by the officers, there was a marked spirit of enthusiasm on the part of those who did put in an appearance. There were two executive sessions and one open session. It was really Tuesday afternoon before the convention got under way, and this first session was given almost entirely to the reports of the officers, the standing committees and the appointment of special convention committees. Tuesday evening was spent in seeing the sights—motoring—and visiting the various theatres.

Wednesday morning was really the best session. The members voted unanimously to resume semi-annual meetings and it was voted to hold the next semi-annual meeting in the city of Detroit, which would come on the second Tuesday of December. It was also unanimously decided to hold the annual convention in Detroit. The fact cannot be denied that Detroit being the headquarters of the state film exchanges the attendance there would be much larger than in any other city in Michigan. For that reason the December meeting should be a whopper for attendance.

Officers were elected as follows: president, August Kleist, Mt. Clemens; vice-presidents, J. M. Neal, Lansing, S. A. Moran, Ann Arbor and H. L. Rahn, Bay City; secretary, A. J. Moeller, Howell, and treasurer, George Thatcher, Bay City. Mr. Simpson of Bay City was elected national vice-president. Seven delegates were elected to the national convention.

At the afternoon session, President Herrington of the National organization, spoke on the moving picture industry, past, present and future; on the work of his association, emphasizing the great importance of co-operation between exhibitors, exchanges and the producers. Peter Jeup also spoke in the afternon on what the Michigan association had done, and especially regarding unfavorable legislative matters.

Al. U. Thornburg.

Blache Will Pay $1,000 for Script, If He Gets First Pick

He and Madame Blache Will Shortly Open Their "Greater Blache Studios" Adjoining the Present Blache-Solax Stages and Produce for World and Pathe

"I am willing to pay $1,000 apiece for good dramatic scenarios," states Herbert Blache to the Motion Picture News. "In fact, I would rather pay $1,000 to good feature writers who will give me first choice of their work, than a lesser sum. But I must have first choice and the work must be the writer's best. I have no objection to writers who sell $1,000 stories to me writing for as many other producers as they please, but they must first present all their dramatic themes to me if they want $1,000 right along for their plays. With that simple understanding, I am willing to give $1,000 for every dramatic theme I can use, and I accordingly hope to surround myself with the best staff of scenario contributors in the country."

Madame and Herbert Blache will shortly open their "Greater Blache Studios" adjoining the present Blache-Solax studio on Lemoine Avenue, Fort Lee, N. J. The "Greater Blache Studios" will produce dramatic features for World and Pathe, in addition to the programs with whom they have present arrangements. It is due to this additional production work—which starts the moment the "Greater Blache Studios" are opened—that Mr. Blache needs so many good scenarios of the strictly feature order and is willing to interest all the bigger writers of moving picture scenarios, but the figure will be as cheerfully paid to an unknown if he can furnish the right kind of material that will meet all requirements.

AUTHORSHIP OF A METRO BY AN UNKNOWN WOMAN IS VEILED IN MYSTERY

Mystery veils the identity of the writer of "The River of Romance," the Metro-Yorke screen play in five parts, which Harold Lockwood and May Allison are now producing. The book of the same name, from which Director Henry Otto adopted the photoplay, was published under the nom de plume of E. J. Rath.

Director Otto has made every effort to learn who the writer is. His inquiries brought him the information that the writer of "The River of Romance" is the wife of a United States Senator. More than that he was unable to ascertain despite thorough investigation.

Picture rights to the book were secured through a man acting as the agent of the authoress. He allowed the Yorke Film Corporation to use the story only on the condition that the talented authoress remain unknown. This agent, other than to confirm the fact that the authoress was the wife of a Senator, would say nothing concerning her.

SET OF LOUIS XIV FURNITURE FOR INCE CULVER CITY STUDIO

Special to Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, June 17.

To the property equipment of the Ince Culver City studio, has been added a complete dining room set of Louis XIV furniture. It was all imported, and by critics is spoken of as the handsomest, costliest and rarest of its kind in the country. It was purchased on the recommendation of the art director, and shortly will be used in scenes.

Additional workmen were added to the corps now engaged in the building of the Ince Culver City plant last week, when they took up the building of a new carpenter shop. This department has been located temporarily in one of the open air stages, and as soon as the building, 60 by 150 feet, can be completed, the large number of machines will be moved there. This building, like all others at the plant, will be of fireproof construction and up to date in every respect.

Typical Examples of Posters Issued By the Paramount Pictures Corporation

Striking Costume Poses of Valeska Suratt, Soon to be Starred in a New William Fox Production

LOCKWOOD AND MAY ALLISON NEARLY DROWN IN ST. LAWRENCE

Harold Lockwood saved himself and May Allison, his co-star in Metro-Yorke photoplays, from possible drowning in the St. Lawrence River recently. The Metro-Yorke company were in the Thousand Islands, making exteriors for "The River of Romance."

Harold Lockwood and May Allison, Metro, at the Thousand Islands

Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison were out for a row in a skiff when the Steamer Toronto hove in sight. She threw a high swell in her wake and the skiff was capsized. Mr. Lockwood kept himself and Miss Allison afloat until they were rescued.

"WOODSMEN" ON CHICAGO STREETS HERALD "GOD'S COUNTRY"

Gordon Laurence, publicity manager for the Chicago V-L-S-E office, recently put over a winning stunt for "God's Country and the Woman," when the picture was running at the Fine Arts, Chicago. He hired two men dressed as woodsmen of the North to parade about the streets in the Michigan avenue district. Then attracted great attention, and won space in the newspapers.

Election of Officers in Pittsburgh Screen Club on July 2

Members Expect a Lively Voting Contest, as Candidates Are Electioneering with Zeal and Excitement in the Organization Runs High

Special to Motion Picture News.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 17.

THE election of officers of the Pittsburgh Screen Club will be one of the liveliest affairs ever held by the organization.

In some cases there are four or more candidates for office, and when the election is held, on July 2, there should be no end of interest displayed, as all of the candidates are out electioneering, and excitement runs high.

Among the candidates are the following:

For President: H. B. Kester, A. W. Cross, A. H. McClelland, Charles Seltzer.

For Vice-President: H. A. Lande, J. P. Donovan and G. R. Ainsworth.

Secretary: William Mayer.

Treasurer: Charles Reamer, David Simon, Mayer Silverman and John Long.

Corresponding Secretary: M. J. Kornblum. Official Organizer: Max W. Herring.

Board of Governors, three-year term: G. R. Ainsworth, M. Feitler, George Sweitzer.

Board of Governors, two-year term: Charles Seltzer, George Oldfield, C. W. Eckhardt, John McAleer and John Long.

Board of Governors, one-year term: Mayer Silverman, D. L. Harmon and A. J. Barthell.

A number of important speeches were made by the members of the Screen Club at the last meeting, when the various men were nominated for office.

Mr. McAleer stated that the passive submission to the fines imposed on the film men by the aldermen before whom the cases had been tried has disappeared. The fines are not permitted to go unnoticed as in the past.

G. L. McCoy, Jr.

Educationals May Be Shown in Louisiana Rural Schools

Representative Leopold Introduces Measure Authorizing Their Exhibition, with Idea of Teaching Children to Appreciate Good Pictures—Plan Will Help Theatre Attendance

Special to Motion Picture News.

Baton Rouge, La., June 16.

REPRESENTATIVE Simon Leopold has introduced in the Louisiana legislature a bill authorizing the exhibition of educational pictures in the schools of the rural districts. Part of the measure is as follows:

"To authorize the State Board of Education to provide films and slides and arrange for their distribution in the various parishes (counties); to create a department to have supervision of this work; and to appropriate $10,000 to finance it."

Exhibitors in this territory are not at all antagonistic to this bill; as a matter of fact they favor it. Under the terms of this law, the films would be shown only in rural schools. Thus the children would be in a measure taught to appreciate good pictures. This probably would mean more business for the exhibitor.

Louisiana has used moving pictures before in educating her rural citizens, but nothing so broad as the present bill has been attempted. What Louisiana has at present is a "traveling" moving picture show, one on wheels, which accompanies an agricultural educator on his trips throughout the various parishes. A parish, let it be explained, corresponds to a county in other states. This "traveling" show has accomplished much good. Perhaps that's one of the reasons Representative Leopold wants to broaden the moving picture work.

The only stumbling block in the present bill seems to be the $10,000 appropriation. In these "hard" times, it's hard work to get the state to appropriate anything unless it's badly needed. The new administration has been pledged to economy, also. But it is thought some plan could be devised to put Mr. Leopold's measure through.

VAN DYKE FILM BUYS KALEM STUDIO

The Van Dyke Film Producing Company has recently purchased the old studio of the Kalem Company in New York at 251 West Nineteenth street.

Two Bluebird Productions for the First of the Hot Months

Louise Lovely in "The Grasp of Greed" (Left and right) Center, Myrtle Gonzalez in "The Secret of the Swamp"

THOMPSON, LABORATORY CHIEF FOR DIXON, IS EXPERT CHEMIST

Thomas Dixon arrived in Los Angeles on June 14 and went at once into conference with his chief photographer, William C. Thompson, at the Dixon Studios and Laboratories, combining discussion of plans for the opening of "The Fall of a Nation" at Clune's Auditorium, with preparations for the new feature which Mr. Dixon will produce as soon as the various touring companies are organized. Mr. Thompson reported the success of several experiments he has been making while his associates have been in the east launching the production at the Liberty theatre. He has been "pulling an Edison" at the new laboratories built for him by the National Drama Corporation, rarely being absent from them more than six hours a day.

Mr. Thompson got his start in the chemical laboratories at Columbia University. After he got his degree his work attracted so much attention that he was admitted to the American Chemical Society and other organizations of scientists.

MAGNER WILL HANDLE IVANS IN SAN FRANCISCO

The Nat Magner Company, which has offices in the Pacific Building, San Francisco, has made arrangements to handle releases of the Ivan Film Productions, Inc., in that territory, the deal having been consummated on Mr. Magner's recent visit to New York.

This concern has also purchased the business and stock of the New Film Corporation, 120 Golden Gate Avenue, and has taken over additional offices.

REUBEN IS ROADMAN FOR BARR IN LOUISIANA TERRITORY

A. S. Reuben, motion picture editor of the New Orleans Daily States, forsook the Fourth Estate last week for the "Fifth Estate.' He goes to Maurice F. Barr of Bluebirds, Inc., as roadman, having Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas and part of Alabama as his territory.

Mr. Reuben will sell "Peg o' The Ring," the Universal serial being released in that territory through Bluebirds, Inc.

Universal to Copyright Up-to-the-Minute Animated Films

All Views of the Republican Convention in Chicago Will Thus Be Protected from Theft—Editor Cohn Presents Hughes with Set Showing Nominee

THE Universal's Animated Weekly is obtaining photographs so up to the minute that Editor Jack Cohn is taking care to have them copyrighted.

While in Washington, D. C. recently, Cameraman U. K. Whipple succeeded in getting such excellent pictures of President Wilson that Cohn decided to have them protected by copyright. Later he sent Whipple to Oyster Bay, where Roosevelt posed especially for the Animated Weekly.

Finding that some of these pictures were being stolen, Cohn resolved to put an end to it by copyrighting all the pictures which were taken at the Republican Convention at Chicago, and all others taken during the political campaign. During the first convention, the Animated Weekly covered the proceedings from every angle and had a moving picture camera continuously during the sessions. With this privilege, the Animated Weekly obtained the pictures that were shown in the Strand, Rialto, Broadway and other New York theatres.

When the Republican candidate, Charles Evans Hughes, came to New York, after the nomination, Cameraman Whipple took a series of pictures of him on the roof of the Hotel Astor. The New York Sun, Press and several Sunday papers eagerly sought and used them in their publications.

Editor Cohn presented the candidate with a set of these pictures, and sent another set to Washington to be copyrighted.

Hart in Story of Aztec Setting for Triangle Kay-Bee

Actor Is Giant Castilian Hero of Sixteenth Century Story, Elaborately Staged and Produced —Hart Finishes Another Film Along International Boundary

Special to Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, June 17.

The Aztec story made recently at Inceville starring William S. Hart, who has always appeared as a western hero, in an entirely new role, is to be released shortly by Thomas H. Ince as a Triangle Kay-Bee. The subject has been titled "The Captive God," which refers to the part played by Hart, that of a giant Castilian, who when shipwrecked in the sixteenth century, goes to a new land and there is adopted by the people as their leader because of his strength and wisdom. Settings constructed for this film are of the most expensive type and exceedingly large.

They represent early day architecture of the Aztec. Shorn of his six shooters, sombrero and chaps, Hart appears in this picture in a role that is entirely new for him. The story was written by Monty M. Katterjohn, and gives the actor and supporting players a most interesting romance with an atmosphere heretofore unused for the screen. Aiding Hart in this are Enid Markey, P. D. Tabler, Dorothy Dalton, Robert McKim, Dorcas Matthews, Herbert Farjean, and Robert Courtman.

William Hart and company of players which include Chas. K. French, William Bray, George Stone and others, are home from spending more than a week on the barren wastes along the international boundary, south of El Centro, California. The story being filmed gives Hart the part of a free lance soldier.

J. C. Jessen.

OF COURSE "THE MAN WHO TRIED TO GROW YOUNG" COULD WITH EUGENIE BESSERER IN THE LEAD

Eugenie Besserer has returned to Los Angeles after acting parts in "The Crisis," in Chicago and Vicksburg, Miss. She arrived home all enthusiasm regarding her trip and "The Crisis," but greetings were scarcely over when Director Heffron's eye alighted on her with glee and he exclaimed: "The very person I need," and without more ado she was cast for an important part in the new Selig production, "The Man Who Tried To Grow Young."

AGENCY HANDLES PUBLICITY FOR NASHVILLE EXHIBITORS

In more than one city, exhibitors are finding it to their advantage to place the handling of their publicity with advertising agencies. Good results are obtained by having trained writers prepare ad copy, and look after the "planting" of stories in the newspapers. This is possible, of course, only in the larger cities. But the principles of picture publicity are the same everywhere, and some of them are neatly stated in the following letter to MOTION PICTURE NEWS from the Anderson Advertising Agency, Nashville.

"A realization that your energies are directed in the benefit of those connected with the motion picture industry in all its ramifications, inpired this message from one who represents a clientele of exhibitors in this city with publicity and advertising service.

"Our organ—Amusement News—is self-supporting. A complete program of all the local theatres is given, although subordinate to the interests of our clients. Co-operation has been cheerfully given by the producing companies furnishing service to our patrons and the paper promises to be popular, especially with the feminine element toward whom we direct our main volume of advertising.

"The stories about coming plays are a bit more lengthy than we furnish the newspapers—with an obvious reason. We find that a short, snappy story, gleaned from reviews furnished by leading trade journals, including MOTION PICTURE NEWS, is the ideal medium to run in the amusement columns of local newspapers. Conditions here are a trifle slack and we could exploit the ancient circus poster style without the least trouble, even in the news columns, but such a method is decidedly against our ethics. Our complaint we wish to register is the manner in which advance press matter is written—and some of the larger companies are the chief offenders.

"We are indebted to the timely articles in MOTION PICTURE NEWS written from time to time by publicity men who are doing much to remedy the gross carelessness of the producing end in not furnishing the proper kind of copy, and also to your campaign in winning over the press to a more reasonable viewpoint to our needs—which is more space."

"IT WAS DECIDEDLY A HIT," SAYS THIS EXHIBITOR

Editor, MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
New York City.

Dear Sir: I have thought for some time that I should write a line to give your magazine a boost, as I consider it equal to any picture magazine I have ever had and think I know most of them in publication, as I have been a subscriber to them in the past. Your good book reached me in the way of a sample copy. I read it at once. "It Was Decidedly a Hit."

You will have my subscription for a year more. It is just right, splendid descriptions and all anybody could ask.

Very truly yours,
R. W. JESLYN,
77 Bank Street, Lebanon, N. H.

Rembusch Throws His Hat in the Ring for National President

Head of the Indiana Branch Has the Support of His State and the Illinois Organization—He Is One of the Most Prominent Exhibitors in the Country

FRANK J. Rembusch, president of the Indiana State branch of the M. P. E. L. and one of the most prominent and popular exhibitors in the country, announces in a letter to MOTION PICTURE NEWS that he is a candidate for national president of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America.

Mr. Rembusch needs no introduction to the exhibitors of the country. He has taken a prominent part in every convention and in the affairs of the Exhibitors League since its inception. He owns several theatres in Indiana and heads the present state league, in which he has always been a foremost organizer.

It is stated that Mr. Rembusch has the solid backing of the Indiana and Illinois State organizations. Other possible candidates from the Middle West, Wm. J. Sweeney of Chicago, Tom Furniss of Duluth and Peter J. Jeup of Detroit have announced in terms that leave no room for doubt that they will not enter the lists. Mr. Jeup holds a civil service position in Detroit, which makes him ineligible. Mr. Furniss, who has received a number of letters advocating his candidacy, asks MOTION PICTURE NEWS to deny any desire upon his part for any office in the National League. He is, as always, vitally interested and he wants a "big" man for president, "a man who has done things and is doing them, a big man in his own territory." But he feels that he has done his share of work in the past seven years and he is going to Chicago "not even as a delegate, but with a spirit to assist all I possibly can in perfecting a good organization and for the good of the industry." Wm. G. Sweeney is prominently mentioned for national secretary.

The field is therefore open to Mr. Rembusch in the Middle West, and the candidates are now narrowed down to Lee W. Ochs of New York, Fred J. Herrington of Pittsburgh, national president of the League, and Frank J. Rembusch of Shelbyville, Indiana.

Mr. Rembusch is out on a platform featuring the curtailing of ruinous competition, the details of which will be announced in the next issue of MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

All the candidates, it is believed, favor systematic co-operation with the producer and distributor, upon some practical basis not to interfere with the entity of the Exhibitors League, in order to secure vital improvements for the betterment of exhibitor conditions.

Griffith Is Putting Finishing Touches on Big Multiple

Producer Has Not Had Anything to Do With Pictures for Several Years Except "Birth of a Nation" and the Forthcoming "Mother and the Law"

D. W. Griffith, who is working night and day at his studios in California putting the finishing touches to his forthcoming production of "The Mother and the Law," has wired to his New York offices the following statement:

"In the light of reports that are reaching me through the press and newspaper clippings from New York, I deem it only fair to the public to state my plans. The efforts to associate the popularity of "The Birth of a Nation" with several recent motion picture productions in the East is wholly unwarranted. Eliminating the time spent in bringing out this story, I have not worked on any picture production except "The Mother and the Law." The ideas revealed in "The Birth of a Nation," as far as its screen version is concerned, were entirely my own and were worked out without the assistance or co-operation of anyone except the members of my personal staff who look after minor details.

"With this production out of the way, I resumed work upon "The Mother and the Law," a study which has taken a major part of my time for the past four years. This story is now nearing completion and will be revealed in New York early in the Fall. The enormous profits of "The Birth of a Nation" have been turned back into this production for the public's approval. I do not wish to announce anything further regarding the new production until it is seen and passed upon by the people who have been so generous to my productions in the past, but I would like to request the privilege at this time of making it emphatic that I have not had anything to do with any other picture for several years excepting these two."

THE JUNE INDEX OF REVIEWS (COVERING THE ISSUES OF JUNE 3-JULY 1 INCLUSIVE) WILL BE PUBLISHED IN NEXT WEEK'S MOTION PICTURE NEWS

IRENE CASTLE, FAMOUS DANCER, SWIRLS INTO INTERNATIONAL SERIES

Irene Castle, the famous dancer, has returned from a flying trip to England, where she said good-bye to her husband, Vernon Castle, before his departure for the front as a member of the Royal British Flying Corps.

Mrs. Castle began work last week in the first of a series of photoplays for the International Film Service under the supervision of Director-General Paul Dickey.

Immediately upon landing in New York Mrs. Castle was presented with the Hearst trophy awarded the motion picture actress receiving the most votes at the recent Exposition of the Motion Picture Board of Trade at Madison Square Garden.

"THE QUITTER," WITH LIONEL BARRYMORE, FROM METRO ON JULY 10

"The Quitter," a five part Metro-Rolfe film, in which Lionel Barrymore is starred, and Marguerite Skirvin is featured, will be released on the Metro program July 10. The story was written by Izola Forrester, a special writer on the New York Evening World, and produced under the direction of Charles Horan.

A Scene from "The Quitter" (Metro, July 10)

P. Thad. Volkman assisted in the direction. Among the prominent members of the cast who appear in support of Mr. Barrymore and Miss Skirvin are Edward Brennan, Paul Everton, Charles Prince and Julius D. Cowles.

VERDUN PICTURES PLAY TO CAPACITY

The "Germany's Battles at Verdun" pictures, which are presented by the New Yorker Staats Zeitung and under the management of Samuel Cummins, of 1476 Broadway, have made an exceptional record for themselves by drawing capacity business in all the theatres on the Loew circuit around New York, where they have been booked for 100 days. In conjunction with the special advertising amongst their regular patrons, the Loew Enterprises have used page and half-page newspaper advertisements to promote this picture, which has been done with great success. This picture has been cut down to 4,000 feet and contains nothing but action. Samuel Cummins, representing the owners of these pictures, intends to State-right this picture and accept bookings beginning the latter part of this month.

CONVENTION IN CHICAGO FROM JULY 12TH TO 18TH, INCLUSIVE

The date of the annual convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America, in Chicago, is set for July 12 to 18, inclusive. The committee in charge of arrangements is fast getting its plans under way for the reception of members of the league intending to be present in Chicago next month. Reports from headquarters indicate a larger attendance than at any previous meeting of the national body.

Spokane City Council Is Out for More Rigid Censorship

Civic Body No Longer Considers the Rulings of the National Board of Review Sufficient for Basis of Film Censoring and Gives Official Arbitrary Power

Special to Motion Picture News.

Spokane, June 16.

FACE to face with the declaration of the city council that "teeth must be put into the city censorship," theatre managers of Spokane again have a life-sized scrap on their hands.

City censorship in Spokane up to this time has been a most informal affair, based simply on a resolution of the council, passed some five years ago, that the commissioner of public affairs be entrusted with the task of seeing that the theatre owners toed the mark. It was tacitly understood at that time that the rulings of the National Board would be taken as a basis for local administration.

That some exhibitors have not been making eliminations ordered by the board is the basis for the present trouble. "The Island of Love" has been particularly pointed out as one subject which was run intact.

The city council two weeks ago passed a formal ordinance, making the commissioner of public affairs city censor. He is empowered to visit all theatres and see that the National Board's rulings are observed. For violations of the ordinance, a fine of one hundred dollars or a jail sentence of thirty days is provided.

The commissioner has entered upon his work by associating with him an advisory committee of citizens, two of the members of which are the dramatic editors of two of the daily newspapers.

The Amusement Managers' Association, of which Ralph Ruffner, manager of the Liberty theatre, is president, is busy with plans for securing a referendum vote on the ordinance.

By filing a referendum petition signed by ten per cent. of the voters, the association can hold up the operation of the ordinance for six months, until a special election on it can be held.

The largest of the newspapers are opposed to the referendum, on the ground that the ordinance gives the exhibitors a "square deal" and that a special election would be costly.

Taking advantage of the censorship agitation, the management of the Auditorium has succeeded in getting some brand new advertising for "The Birth of a Nation." The film, originally shown at the Clemmer, has been rebooked at the Auditorium.

The city council is unlikely to make any reversal of its former position, which permitted the film to be shown three weeks, but a committee of colored citizens already have made a formal protest against its exhibition.

Claire McDowell (Universal)

INCE PREPARES FOR CHICAGO OPENING OF "CIVILIZATION"

Thomas H. Ince, producer of "Civilization," left for Chicago last week to arrange for the production of his spectacle, beginning June 24, at the Grand Opera House, one of the leading Chicago playhouses.

Mr. Ince is accompanied by his executive staff, including J. Parker Reade, Jr., general representative, and J. L. Bernard, director of publicity and advertising. The producer declined to comment on the rumors which have been rife since "Civilization's" success, on the manner in which it would be marketed.

"The date of the Chicago opening and the theatre in which 'Civilization' will have its Chicago premier will be announced shortly," was all that Mr. Ince had to say.

It is understood upon good authority, no confirmative statement has yet been issued in regard to the purchasing or marketing of the state's rights on "Civilization." There have been many rumors but none are confirmed. Victor Shertzinger, who wrote the score of "Civilization," accompanied Mr. Ince to Chicago with the rest of the party, to examine the acoustics of the theatre which may be selected.

LADIES' NIGHT MAKES REEL FELLOWS BANQUET BRIGHT AS DAY

Special to Motion Picture News.

Chicago, June 16.

A large and enthusiastic turn-out for the Ladies' Night of the Reel Fellows Club of Chicago, held Thursday evening in their new spacious quarters at the Hotel Morrison, made this one of the most successful meetings in the history of the club. A specially selected cabaret furnished entertainment during the dinner, after which the time was enjoyably filled by talks from the members and guests until 10 o'clock, when the cabaret of the Boston Oyster House appeared. Later on in the evening the banquet hall was cleared for dancing.

The crowd was most representative of Chicago film circles and included the prominent exchangemen and exhibitors in addition to many players from Essanay, Selig and the Emerald Film Company. President Nehls presided as toastmaster and in a speech of welcome to the guests, contributed much of the success of the meeting to the untiring efforts of M. G. Watkins, secretary of the club, and Henry Miller, one of the board of governors.

Vitagraph V-L-S-E Offerings: Lucille Lee Stewart in "The Conflict"; Edith Storey in "The Shop Girl" and Frank Daniels in "Kernel Nutt"

PROGRAM CHANGES IN MILWAUKEE HOUSES

Special to Motion Picture News.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 18.

A number of changes have occurred in the bookings of the local houses. The Merrill theatre, since its opening showing Triangle plays, has let go its contract for these productions, which after the first of the month will be shown at the Toy theatre. The Toy has had to cancel the Metro program which it has been playing for some time in order to handle the Triangle program. It is expected that the Merrill will play Metro pictures part of the week instead of Triangles and then fill in the balance with opening market bookings.

Manager H. D. Graham, manager of the Merrill theatre since it opened, who has had much to do with its success, with a fifteen cent admission fee in the face of much adverse criticism, has resigned. His resignation, which will take effect July 16, was a great surprise to his many friends in this city. It is said that Mr. Graham will go with the Kleine people, working out of their Chicago office. Just who will succeed Mr. Graham has not been announced.

CHANGES MADE IN MUTUAL OFFICES AT MILWAUKEE

Special to Motion Picture News.

Wilwaukee, Wis., June 18.

E. Auger, special representative of the Mutual Film Company, arrived in this city last week to go over the affairs of the local exchange. Coincident with his arrival here a number of changes have been made in the local forces. Alfred Tanzer, who has been handling "The Fighting Germans" and "On the Firing Line with the Germans" out of New York, was appointed assistant manager.

John Griffiths will specialize on the Star series, while E. L. Leith, who has been with the General Film Company as special man for the Essanay releases, will go on the road for the local office. Mr. Auger expects to remain in Milwaukee for some days, and will inaugurate a number of new features in the exchange offices.

ASHER RETURNS TO THE PACIFIC COAST

E. M. Asher, who has been in New York for the past five months, has left for the Coast. Mr. Asher was formerly associated with Sol L. Lesser, with whom he came East for the purpose of marketing the "Ne'er-Do-Well." Mr. Asher and William Bastar, manager of Art Smith, the aviator, are making the trip West in an auto.

The negatives of the motion pictures of the World's Fair, which were controlled by Mr. Asher, are being marketed by the National Cinema Syndicate, Inc., 1600 Broadway. Asher has not given out anything as to his future plans; but will have an announcement to make after his arrival in the West.

CUB COMEDY COMPANY BOASTS OF A BAND

The Cub Comedy Company, funmakers of the Horsley-Mutual forces, have a band. It is a regular aggregation of musicians, eleven in number, with George Ovey as the leader. The other members are: Ross Fisher, Robert Turnbull, Clair DeWitt, Joseph VonMeter, Jefferson Osborne, Arthur Mund, Gordon MacGregor, Abe Lincoln, Robert Kenyon, George George, and A. V. Wiggins.

AMES IN CHARGE OF GENERAL AT DETROIT

E. M. Ames arrived in Detroit June 12 to take charge of the local branch of the General Film company here. He succeeds A. J. Gilligham, who has opened the National Film company in the Empire theatre building, which he owns. Mr. Ames was formerly assistant manager of the Twenty-third street exchange of the General, and his associations with the General date back for a period of five years.

Virginia Pearson (Fox)

AN ESSANAY SHOWS PANAMA EXPOSITION; 70 VITAGRAPHERS AT SAN DIEGO

Special to Motion Picture News.

San Diego, Cal., June 17.

Capt. Wilbert Melville, who has been at the head of the Lubin studio at Coronado, has sold his private yacht Vergana to C. H. Crocker of San Francisco.

Charlie Chaplin in "Police" has been a big drawing card at the Cabrillo theatre.

Seventy members of the Vitagraph Company were among the passengers on the Harvard from the north on Friday, and between San Pedro and this city a number of scenes were taken for a feature.

Among the recent releases from Essanay is a reel devoted to the exploitation of the Panama California International Exposition, now being held here. The film gives many representative views of the grounds, buildings and crowds, as well as scenes along the Isthmus.

DUSTIN FARNUM WILL CROSS CONTINENT BY AUTO

Not only a cross country automobile trip, but one that will start at the most southwesterly point in the United States and has a northwesterly point as its destination is now being arranged for by Dustin Farnum, the Pallas-Paramount star. With San Diego, Cal., as the starting point "Dusty" is mapping out a route that will terminate at Bucksport, Me., his home town, where he will spend his vacation.

It is planned to have the first print of "The Parson of Panamint" delivered to Carl H. Pierce, head of the New York office, by "Dusty" on his way through New York. For his trip across the country he will use a powerful new Marmon roadster and it is understood that he will be accompanied by Tom Kennedy, the pugilist who has promised to lift the car out of any bad spots encountered on the trip.

AMATEUR WRESTLING BOUTS AS A LIVE WIRE STUNT

James W. Pribyl, manager of the Columbia theatre, Tenth and Hickory streets, Omaha, noticed the number of amateur wrestlers in his neighborhood. Joe Stecher, aspirant for the national championship and now nationally celebrated in sport circles, lives in Dodge, Neb., near Omaha, and his fame had stirred up admirers in Pribyl's neighborhood. So between pictures lately he has been giving aspirants a chance to match their abilities. They gladly do it for nothing.

"FARMER AL FALFA'S WATERMELON PATCH" IS PARAMOUNT-BRAY CARTOON

Panacea for the blues is provided in the situations of the comedy release "Farmer Al Falfa's Watermelon Patch" in the Paramount-Bray Animated Cartoons. The drawing is the work of Paul Terry and the story centers around the eviction of an obstinate, ebony southern from old Farmer Al Falfa's melon patch. In the opening scene the farmer is shown sprinkling his melons. At the first opportunity the darky steals in and starts a sumptuous feast.

Noticing the intruder, Al Falfa orders him out, but the visitor is so intent upon eating that he pays no attention. Al Falfa resorts to his shot-gun, but the bullets bounce back, the invader being solid from the shoulders up. Maudie, the mule, called to the farmer's aid, beats her heels against the darky's head, but it is compelled to leave with feet sore and badly bent. After employing every violent method at his command, Al Falfa gives up in despair. Then a tiny mouse comes tripping along, climbs upon the enemy's foot and causes him to vanish with two backward flips and a big whoop.

ARTHUR LEVEY WILL OPEN EXPORT OFFICE FOR AUSTRALASIA, INDIA AND SOUTH AMERICA

Announcement is made that Arthur Levey, well known to the trade, who recently resigned from the Australasian Films, Ltd., will shortly open an office for the exportation of American films to Australasia, India and South America, besides handling commercial agencies for these territories. Mr. Levey, one of the pioneers in the industry, at the time state rights were in vogue, maintained an office in the Candler Building, which was a rendezvous for buyers and through which he handled many prominent foreign features, among them "A Message From Mars," "Little Lord Fauntleroy," "World, Flesh and the Devil," and "Harry Lauder Comedies," besides doing a general export business, and import business with England. Mr. Levey carries with him a most comprehensive knowledge of conditions in foreign territories which should insure the success of his venture.

PAINS TAKEN BY WORLD TO GET CORRECT ATMOSPHERE FOR "BOHEME"

When "La Vie de Boheme" is thrown upon the screen, patrons of photoplays will have an opportunity of witnessing the great length to which motion picture producers go in order to procure the proper atmospheric detail.

Mons. Capellani, the French director, who is responsible for its production, constructed entire villages, macadamized nearly a mile of street, decorated the interior and exterior of numerous dwellings and compelled his male characters to grow whiskers to fit the characters in order to eliminate the possibility of poor make-up spoiling the artistic effect.

Paul Capellani, who plays the part of Rudolphe, gave up social life for seven weeks in order to encourage the stubble on his otherwise smooth chin.

THE JUNE INDEX OF REVIEWS WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THE JULY 8 ISSUE OF MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Alice Brady, who plays the part of Mimi in the famous Murgur story, paid the expense of a Parisian modiste to New York in order to secure the proper fashion effect obtaining in the period of 1840.

In addition to this, three dozen buildings, representing land-marks in the Latin Quarter of Paris, were constructed and four huge truckloads of curios rented at goodly prices, in order to assemble the proper interior of a French curiosity shop.

The picture had the personal supervision of William A. Brady throughout, and the World Film Corporation is using "La Vie de Boheme" as a standard, up to which the "Brady-Made" pictures are to be measured.

ANOTHER FIREPROOF BUILDING AT INCE PLANT

Special to Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, June 17.

Another addition building to the Ince Culver City studios now being built will serve as a receiving department for supplies of the plant. This will be 60 by 100 feet, of two floors, and will be of the same construction as other buildings at the plant —steel and concrete, fire-proof.

TWO AFTERNOONS A WEEK FOR CHILDREN'S SHOWS IN 'FRISCO

The Republic theatre, San Francisco, has set aside two afternoons a week to be given over to a program arranged especially for children, which is to be presented at five cents for children and ten cents for adults. The shows will be given under the immediate direction of the League of the Children's theatre, a branch of the Recreation League.

SHEAR ATTENDS MEETING OF CONSOLIDATED MANAGERS

Al G. Shear, manager of the Consolidated-Universal office in New Orleans, has been in Atlanta attending an executive, semi-annual session of Consolidated managers' called by William Oldknow. Others in attendance included Ned Depinet of Dallas, Walter Price of Atlanta, and Tom James of Memphis.

Beatriz Michelena Is Cast for Marguerite in "Faust"

With Completion of "The Woman Who Dared," California Motion Picture Corporation Announces Preparation for an Adaptation from the Famous Opera

WITH the final scenes of Beatriz Michelena in "The Woman Who Dared" completed, announcement is made by the California Motion Picture Corporation that they now have in preparation a

Beatriz Michelena as Marguerite in the California's production of "Faust" pretentious adaptation from the opera "Faust," and that Miss Michelena is playing the role of Marguerite.

It has frequently been intimated that Beatriz Michelena contemplated this characterization for the screen, for it was known that when she came to pictures from the opera, she brought with her a decided longing to see "Faust" adequately done in film.

This adaptation by the California Company should be a notable one and well in keeping with their present attempt toward something out of the ordinary in pictures. No role could be better suited to Miss Michelena's beauty and emotional powers as a screen actress than Marguerite, officials of the Company declare.

Linked with Beatriz Michelena's name and beauty, it is impossible to anticipate the full scope of the production's possibilities. The release date will be announced in a forthcoming issue.

'MUTT AND JEFF DAY" AT PHOENIX, ARIZONA, THEATRE

The Columbia theatre, Phoenix, Ariz., worked a neat stunt in conjunction with the Arizona Gazette. The Gazette wanted to get every child in Phoenix to see "Mutt and Jeff," so it gave a free ticket to each youngster who brought a drawing of the two eccentric characters to its office. More than 1,500 children received tickets, and then went to the Columbia on "Mutt and Jeff Day" to see their favorites in animated form.

SUCCESSFUL AS EXHIBITOR IN TOWN OF 105 PEOPLE

Dorchester, Iowa, is a town of about one hundred and five population, eleven miles from the nearest railroad station, but it is not too small to support a successful picture theatre—the Princess, managed by C. Plambeck. Mr. Plambeck gives two shows a week, and runs features twice a month, using the General Film Service. He has his own electric plant.

LIVE WIRE EXHIBITORS

EDITOR'S NOTE.—It is the desire of "Motion Picture News" to include under this heading novel advertising ideas, successful schemes in the management, decoration and equipment of the theatre—everything, in fact, done by the exhibitor to stimulate his trade. We invite every exhibitor to write us about any new enterprise he has; also to come to us for advice or information along any line. Address: Editor, "Motion Picture News," 729 Seventh Avenue, New York City

EXHIBITOR ADVOCATES USE OF VEST POCKET PROGRAMS

John A. McNear, Jr., manager of the Mystic Theatre at Petaluma, Cal., advocates the use of vest-pocket house organs in a letter to the Progressive Motion Picture Company, which has been contributed to Paramount Progress. He says:

"I strongly advocate the use of a program only large enough to be accommodated in every man's and woman's pocket or pocketbook, as so many of the patrons of the motion picture houses are those on the streets or engaged in business that drop in to see a show or arrange their dates so as not to conflict with other business, in order to see a picture that appeals to them. It is a fact that a program such as I suggest and make use of will please them and be appreciated by every one, more so than one that is too large to be conveniently carried in the ordinary pocket.

"About sixteen months ago I started the use of a small program with the idea that those using the same could keep them in their pocketbooks for ready reference. The adoption of this program has proved to be a wonderful success, shown by the number of requests in person and mail orders for the same.

"My program is issued weekly and is ready for distribution at Saturday and Sunday shows for the week commencing the following Monday, thus giving us the best two days of the week for advance advertising. The program consists of four pages, printed on first-class stock 5¾ by 7½, the first page is given up to name and date, with house announcements. The second, third and fourth pages show the week's program. Our issue is 3,000 weekly and costs approximately $8."

IOWAN TIES UP ADVERTISING TO SCHOOL BOND ELECTION

The other day, Vinton, Iowa, was holding an election, so Manager Arthur G. Stolte, of the Palace, tied up his throw-a-ways that day to the main topic of interest in the town.

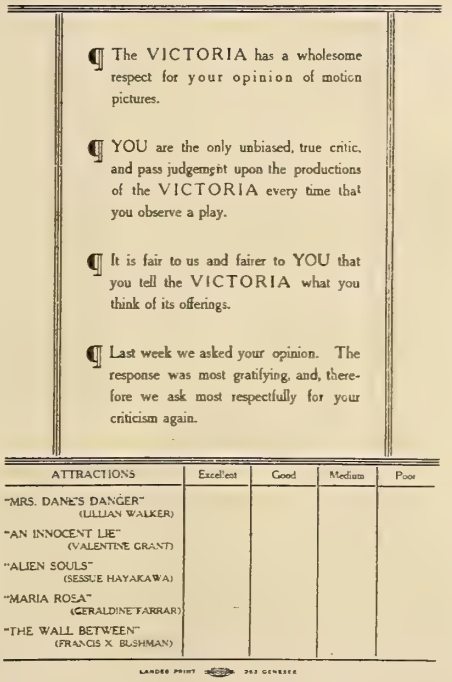
At the top he had printed in large black type: Have you voted on the school bond proposition? But be sure you attend the best show in the city at the Palace Theatre.

The attraction was "The Girl and the Game," and Stolte reports that this sort of advertising brought good results. He also found that giving a free matinee to school children on the opening day was excellent publicity.

Excellent Suggestion for Criticism Blank from House Organ of Victoria Theatre, Buffalo

WE have often urged exhibitors to invite systematic criticism from patrons, not only with regard to the way the theatre is conducted, but also respecting the quality of photoplays shown. This last is of first importance, and we fail to see how any exhibitor can omit making it part of his regular business.

The most effective scheme, and certainly the only permanently useful scheme is to get your patrons to express their opinions in writing. They may tell you what they think of a picture, as they pass out of the theatre, and this is better than not receiving any opinions at all. But wouldn't it be better to have them write down their verdicts in some regularly devised form.



Your Decision Counts Most

¶ The VICTORIA has a wholesome respect for your opinion of motion pictures.

¶ YOU are the only unbiased, true critic, and pass judgement upon the productions of the VICTORIA every time that you observe a play.

¶ It is fair to us and fairer to YOU that you tell the VICTORIA what you think of its offerings.

¶ Last week we asked your opinion. The response was most gratifying, and, therefore we ask most respectfully for your criticism again.

ATTRACTIONS	Excellent	Good	Medium	Poor
"MRS. DANE'S DANGER" (LILLIAN WALKER)
"AN INNOCENT LIE" (VALENTINE GRANT)
"ALIEN SOULS" (SESSUE HAYAKAWA)
"MARIA ROSA" (GERALDINE FARRAR)
"THE WALL BETWEEN" (FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN)

The Victoria's Criticism Blank for Use by Readers of Its House Organ

Now the Victoria Theatre, Buffalo, one of the Mitchell Mark enterprises, prints a criticism blank on the last page of a recent issue of its house organ, which may be useful to you. The accompanying cut reproduces it in reduced size. Note that this is the second edition of the Victoria's criticism blank idea. We suggest that you might adapt it to your theatre with beneficial results, and you might find it valuable to give the whole back page of your house organ to a criticism blank, preceded by some effective house talk as the Victoria has done.

VANCOUVER THEATRE ADMITS WAR VETERANS FREE

During a week's engagement of "Canada's Fighting Forces" (the official Canadian war pictures) at the Orpheum theatre in Vancouver, Manager James Pilling admitted all returned veterans free, it being only necessary to display the button which they receive on their discharge.

On the evening of the opening day of the league baseball season the Vancouver and Spokane teams were guests of the house, and Sergeant Fred Wells, who was wounded in the battle of Ypres, and who delivers a lecture in connection with the films, added to his regular talk an interesting description of baseball games as played by the soldiers behind the lines in France, when off duty. Big business was done throughout the week.

HERE'S ENTERPRISE IN SHOWING FILMS OF LOCAL EVENTS

A bit of enterprising motion picture work was done by W. W. Watts, owner of the Vaudette and Gaiety theatres, Springfield, Ill., in connection with Springfield's preparedness parade in which 15,000 people marched. Mr. Watts had a camera man on hand to get views of the parade, the biggest ever seen in the Illinois capitol.

As soon as they were taken, the film was rushed to Chicago and developed. It was taken on Saturday evening and was back in Springfield and on the screen at the Vaudette theatre Monday afternoon. Hundreds of people saw themselves on the screen at the exhibition of the parade pictures. Mr. Watts also exhibited scenes in connection with the Catholic Union pageant held on the Sunday following the preparedness demonstration.

SIMPLE AND EFFECTIVE STUNT FOR ADVERTISING "OVERALLS"

F. T. Mendenhall, who recently opened the opera house in Pacific Junction, Ia., found advertising the Mutual special "Overalls," to be a simple matter. He employed a number of boys to dress in overalls and parade the streets with signs advertising the picture.

Looking Ahead With The Producers

On July 2 Gaumont Will Release "The Hidden Face"; Landmarks of Ancient Egypt in Reel Life

THE Gaumont three-reel release of the first week in July is a melodramatic feature called "The Hidden Face." It will be shown as a Mutual Picture July 6. The stars are Alexander Gaden and Iva Shepard. The photoplay has its scenes laid at an old New England tavern, although no effort has been made to localize the story too closely.

Others in the cast are Lucille Taft, Mabel E. Trinneer, Henry W. Pemberton, John Reinhart, Myles McCarthy, Charles W. Travis, Albert Macklin, James Levering, Fritz Orlamond and James Davis.

The first day of the week, July 2, is marked for the release of the ninth number of Reel Life, the Mutual Magazine in Film. As usual, this one reel Mutual picture has three subjects. An industry which the majority of people do not know is still practiced in the United States, is pictured in the spinning of wool and its home manufacture into cloth by women in the mountains of Georgia. The Gaumont cameraman found that this primitive method was in vogue in the families of well-to-do mountaineers, those who were well able to purchase cloth woven on modern looms. All the processes are shown from the shearing of the sheep, through carding and spinning to the weaving on a loom over one hundred years old.

A second section of Reel Life shows some remarkable motion pictures of temples, tombs and palaces of ancient Egypt. These include the pyramids and the Sphinx, the celebrated ruins of the Temple of Phtah, the grand temple at Karnak, 1,200 feet long and 300 feet wide, and the ruins of the Temple of Ammon, the largest in Egypt. A third section of this issue of Reel Life features bird life, being pictures in the series of Gaumont animal studies.

The "See America First" city for July 5 is New Orleans, La. There are pictures of the Cabildo, the Spanish government building which became the seat of French authority, and then in turn the home of the United States government; St. Louis Cathedral, erected in 1794; the French market, known all over the world; and Metairie Cemetery, one of the most beautiful burial places known. There is a picture of the monument which commemorates the American victory of Andrew Jackson over the British in 1815.

On the same reel Cartoonist Harry Palmer has one of his ludicrous Kartoon Komics.

The third single-reel released weekly by Gaumont is the Mutual Weekly. Since this motographic news reel depends for its success upon the timeliness of its news, it is impossible to forecast what the issue of the week of July 2 will contain. However, a recent feast of the Mutual Weekly is worth chronicling. Pictures of President Wilson addressing the cadets at West Point on graduation day were shown the same evening in the Rialto theatre, New York, at nine o'clock.

Blanche Sweet in Lasky's "Dupe" and Donald Brian in "The Smugglers," from Famous, Are Paramounts for July 3

BLANCHE Sweet in the Lasky production "The Dupe," and Donald Brian featured by the Famous Players in "The Smugglers," will be the stars in the five-reel Paramount Pictures released for the week of July 3. The Lasky picture will be released on Monday and that from Famous Players on Thursday.

Short subjects which complete this week's program will be "Munich the Magnificent" in the Paramount-Burton Holmes Travel-Pictures; Paul Terry's drawing, "Farmer Al Falfa's Watermelon Patch," in the Paramount-Bray Animated Cartoons and the weekly release of the Paramount Pictographs.

Included in the index of this Pictograph edition will be "Weights and Measures," "Testing Your Mind; Memory for Numbers," by Professor Hugo Munsterberg, and more "Better Babies." Film novelties in the same issue will be "Assembling a Flivver" and "Boob Town New York," in which Gotham is picturized as the city where people are too busy to work.

Comedy is staged in "Farmer Al Falfa's Watermelon Patch" in this release of the Paramount-Bray Animated Cartoons and Paul Terry, the artist, has provided a number of amusing situations.

"Munich, the Magnificent," will be the third release in the European series of the Paramount-Burton Holmes Travel-Pictures, showing the Meccas of the tourist as they looked before the war.

MONTESSORI PUPILS IN PICTOGRAPHS

Kindergarten tots in the Montessori schools of New York City and Lawrence, L. I., are starred in "Better Babies" features of the Paramount Pictographs. One of the latest releases shows how to teach the child to dress and undress.

Scenes from a Gaumont-Mutual Masterpicture De Luxe

Illustrating "The Hidden Face" and Some of Its Dramatic Moments

Scenes from Selig Offerings: (Left and Right) "The Valiants of Virginia," V-L-S-E and Kathlyn Williams in Characteristic Poses; (Center) Scene from a New Tom Mix Comedy

"MAUD, THE EDUCATED MULE," FROM INTERNATIONAL ON JULY 3

"A Tempest in a Paint Pot," by George Herriman and "Maud, the Educated Mule," are animated cartoons scheduled for release July 3, by the International Film Service, Inc.

"Maud," in the leading "heavy" role of the latter subject, whales the everlasting daylights out of the rest of the cast, including our old friend "Si," who in due course of the narrative, is treated to a fast ride on a barrel. His career over greater New York and environs is not even slowed up by a collision with the Woolworth building, which crashes to ruin and desolation before the cataclysmic hoof blows of the long-eared bird from Missouri.

"Susie Snowflakes," a Famous Players Subject Featuring Ann Pennington, Deals with Musical Comedy Life

ANN PENNINGTON, star of the Ziegfeld "Follies," makes her photoplay debut in the title role of "Susie Snowflake," a Famous Players production released on the Paramount Program June 22. Appropriately enough, the story deals with musical comedy stage life and Miss Pennington plays the role of a young girl who rises to stardom on the stage.

But her theatrical laurels fail to appeal to her very maidenly and exceedingly prudish aunts, whose knowledge of life and the world in general consists in reading the Bingville Weekly Wheeze and in seeing the congregation file past the sitting room window each Sunday on its way to the church down the road. Susie's mother had run away from home with an actor and her spinster sisters had never forgiven her, though there were those in town who said that jealousy was the chief motive of their austere behavior.

Little Susie's personal success on the stage fails to save her company from financial shipwreck and she is soon stranded. Through the efforts of an old actor who had been a friend of her mother's, Susie's marble-facaded aunts are persuaded to receive their niece at their home. Of course there are many clashes of temperament and ideas when Susie's Broadway culture is exhibited to the straight-laced ladies of her mother's household, and there are many times when the aunts are scandalized by Susie's conduct. But their greed gets the better of their Puritanical instincts when they discover that the despicable son of their landlord, a very wealthy gentleman, is regarding Susie with more than passing interest.

But Susie scorns their importunities to accept the young man, for she has already found a staunch friend in a young doctor, of whom her aunts naturally do not approve. It is a local entertainment in which Susie does one of her best little Great White Way dances that brings matters to a head and puts the overbearing aunts in their proper place, while it leaves Susie to be loved by her doctor.

For the theatre scenes in "Susie Snowflake," the Famous Players erected a complete replica of a musical comedy theatre in the studio. Here Miss Pennington did one of the celebrated dances which has made her the idol of musical comedy.

Among those who appear in support of Miss Pennington are Leo Delaney, William Courtleigh, Jr., William J. Butler, Marcia Harris and Billie Wilson.

In accordance with a new arrangement entered into with G. Schirmer, Inc., the well known music publisher, a special musical score has been prepared for this subject, copies of which are obtainable from the various Paramount exchanges.

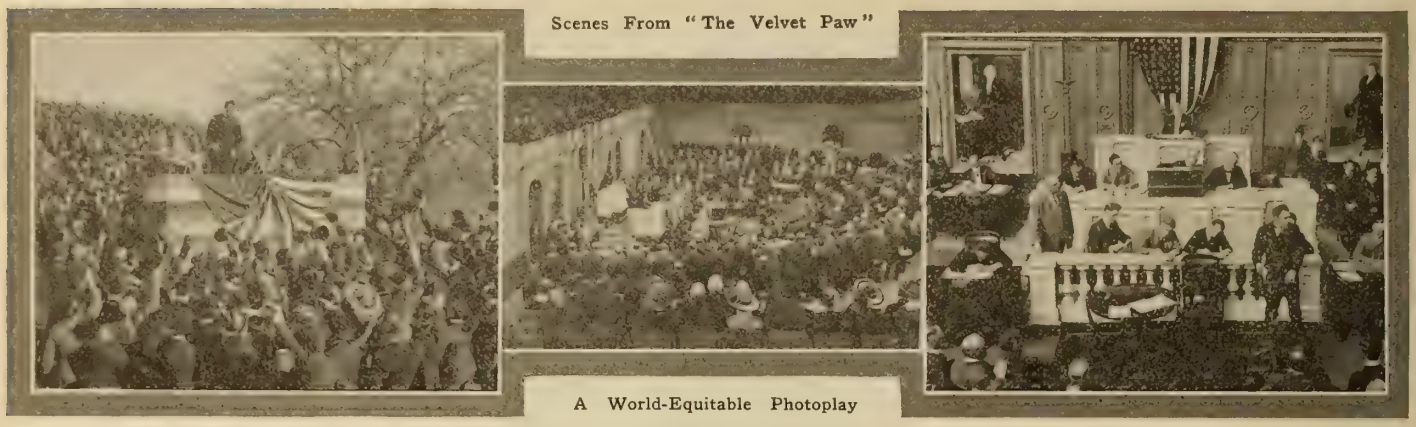
Three Part Broadway Star Feature, "Letitia," Heads Vitagraph List for Week of June 26

THE three part Broadway Star Feature, "Letitia," heads Vitagraph's releases for the week of June 26. "Letitia" is a drama and the program is balanced by the aid of "Losing Weight" and "The Foxy Trotters," two single part comedies.

Charles Kent in "Letitia" enacts the role of Dent, an old business man who is suffering from failing health owing to the fact that he constantly broods over his misdeeds years before, when in a burst of anger, he had deserted his wife and little child, Letitia. Knowing his secret sorrow and fearing his life would be short unless the girl is found, Dent's faithful old valet introduces his daughter to his master as his long lost daughter Letitia, hoping to make the old man happy and lengthen his life. The ruse succeeds, and when, after months of happiness with his "Letitia," Dent finally succumbs, the valet and his daughter are satisfied that they have done their duty. Belle Bruce is Letitia, and others in the cast are Hugh Wynne, Gordon Gray, Thomas R. Mills, Charles Wellesley and Frank Chapman. Harry Davenport directs the picture from a scenario by Gordon Arthur Smith.

George Kunkel in "The Foxy Trotters" expresses his disapproval of that popular indoor sport, dancing. When a dancing teacher, feminine gender, superlative beauty, moves in above him, Kunkel hastens to withdraw his objections to terpsichore, and soon becomes a past master of the art himself. Other Vitagraphers in the picture are Anne Schaefer, Carmen Phillips, Jack Mower, Archie Warren and Vera Rowe. Dave Smith directed the picture from George F. Burkhardts scenario.

In "Losing Weight," Hughey Mack, Vitagraph's heavyweight comedian, finds his enormous girth a hindrance to him in business. While on his way to close a million dollar contract, Hughey is halted on every hand by his immense corporation. He reaches the office just in time to be too late, and decides to take a course to reduce his excess avoirdupois. After working like sin for a couple of weeks, and refraining from all of his favorite pastimes, such as drinking beer, he hops on the scales and "goes out for the count" when he sees that he has gained 150 pounds or so. After this sad experience, Hughey decides to revert to his former "diet" of beefsteaks, potatoes and beer, on which he is speedily reducing weight. Jewell Hunt and John Flatow are assistant laugh makers in this comedy which was written by Lawrence Semon and C. Graham Baker and directed by the former.



"PURITY" FROM MUTUAL ON JULY 17 FEATURES AUDREY MUNSON

Announcement is made by the Mutual Film Corporation of the release of a six-part film allegory, "Purity," featuring Audrey Munson, the world's famous artist's model and international beauty, on July 17. It was produced at the studios of the American Film Company, Inc., and several hundred actors figured in the filming of this feature.

Many of the scenes were taken in a natural amphitheatre on one of the most beautiful estates on the Pacific coast. Weeks were taken to perfect the scenes and every detail was worked out under the eyes of artists of note.

A Scene from the American-Mutual Feature "Purity," Starring Audrey Munson

Miss Munson, who has posed for many of the greatest works of modern sculpture, reviews at a large garden fete her most noteworthy poses which are known all over the world.

The story is taken from Greek mythology. Purity wanders over the earth exerting a good influence on everything. She is loved by a struggling poet who idolizes her. They both love but he is unable to sell his poetry and marriage is impossible because of his poverty. Purity's wonderful beauty and grace of body is seen by an artist who gets her to pose for an allegorical painting. She does it to get money so that her sweetheart's poems may be published. She is successful and the lovers are happily united.

The allegorical characters Evil, Beauty, Art, Music and Drama all play important roles in this remarkable drama. Prominent in the cast supporting Miss Munson are Eugenie Forde, Nigel de Brullier and William Carroll. There are numerous ballets which add ancient atmosphere to the action.

HERE'S A STORY WITH AN ENTIRELY NEW PLOT—"OSTRICH PLUMES"

One of the seven wonders of southern California, the Cawston Ostrich Farm, has been used by the David Horsley Company for exteriors of a two-reel drama named "Ostrich Plumes." The title may be changed. At this institution there are more than five hundred ostriches. In one scene the beautiful birds of the desert literally kick a "man" to pieces when he is thrown into the lot in which they are kept. In another instance, the heroine, Margaret Gibson, rode one of the large birds to secure help to prevent a riot. The drama is by Theodosia Harris, the direction in charge of Charles Swickard, and William Clifford plays the lead opposite Miss Gibson.

The story pertains to an order received by a plume manufacturer prescribing a particular shade. The foreman of his dyeing department is unable to secure the tint, and tries to induce an old English dyer to tell him the necessary dyes needed to secure the peculiar shade. This is refused, and the old English dyer is employed. The foreman causes dissatisfaction among the other employes, and they bodily eject the old man. It is at this point that he is cast into the den of the kickers, and the daughter rides for help.

RUNAWAY ENGINE FURNISHES THRILL FOR A "HAZARDS OF HELEN"

A runaway engine serves to give cause for Helen Gibson to perpetrate another thrill in the Kalem "Hazards of Helen" single reel subject. The actress to prevent a collision, climbs aboard another locomotive, and on parallel tracks races with the runaway until the two engines are even. She then throws a rope from one to the other, and hand over hand climbs from one to the other.

This will be used in the subject entitled "To Save the Road."

C. Routh, who has played in a number of Universal subjects, and for the past several months has been with the Lubin Company at Coronado, has been signed by the Kalem Company to play heavies with the "Hazards" company.

YOUR PATRONS WILL STAND UP UNDER INSTRUCTIONS ON "HOW TO FALL"

Correct and incorrect methods of falling are to be shown on the screen in Paramount Pictographs. All ages and conditions of "slippers" are shown from the portly man who takes an unexpected toboggan on a banana peel to the child who takes a harmless tumble in the nursery and the bruise-proof drunkard. This feature is entitled "How to Fall."

Charles Chaplin in Two Scenes From "The Vagabond," His Next Mutual Release

THE EASTERN STUDIOS

RECORD time was made by the Frohman Amusement Company in the production of its new picture, "Jaffrey," from the novel of William Locke. Under the direction of George Irving, who had a cast of unusual size to handle, the picture has been finished in a little less than three weeks. The Equitable studio, at Flushing, L. I., was used for the interiors, and the outside work was done in the neighborhood. No announcement regarding the release of the picture has been made.

With the elaborate production of "Romeo and Juliet," in which Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are to appear, and with Max Figman and Lolita Robertson and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew making comedies at full steam, the floor of the Rolfe-Metro studio has been a busy place during the last two weeks. The situation has been somewhat complicated by the fact that in the comedy just finished, Mr. Figman required a pack of dogs of all breeds and sizes. The dogs were obtained, but not secured, and it required a special staff to catch them and keep them under control once they were in the studio; even now there is a lingering fear that eight or ten dogs may have crowded into the balcony scene between Romeo and Juliet.

For some of the scenes in the new William Fox photoplay starring Madame Bertha Kalich, the entire company was transferred to Red Bank, N. J. In an effort to find a good setting for the scenes, Director James Vincent discovered a beautiful estate on a hill. Inquiry revealed that the estate belonged to E. Drexel Godfrey.

Owner of Estate Made Pictures for His Amusement

Mr. Godfrey was extremely cordial to the Fox players, invited them to his home, and willingly gave his consent to their taking as many pictures as they liked on his grounds. He then announced to them that he had a projecting machine of his own set up in his house and a small camera for taking moving pictures. He was, in fact, a film fan of the first order.

At nights, during the stay of the company, Mr. Godfrey invited them to his house, entertained them, and showed them moving-pictures in which they themselves had acted. In the day, he would follow them about the grounds, watching the camera work. Many of his friends came around, and a temporary camping outfit was arranged, consisting chiefly of a great supply of cushions. When scenes were shifted to other parts of the estate, the cushions followed on a large wagon, and the temporary seats for spectators were set up.

Herbert Heyes, who is in a forthcoming William Fox feature, had not acted in pictures for seven months, before his engagement for this picture. As a result, he suffered from red eyes for a week after his first day's acting. He said the lights of the studios were too much for him.

Conrad Cantzen, who plays in a new William Fox film, has played with dozens of well-known actors throughout the country. He has had one experience, he says, which will always remain in his mind, Marguerite Mather, a famous actress of the eighties and nineties, died in his arms.

Cantzen was playing in "Cymbeline" with Miss Mather, in Charleston, W. Va., some sixteen or eighteen years ago. He was one of the brothers of Imogen, and he was just about to recite the requiem over the body of his supposedly dead sister.

He suddenly felt the limp body in his arms convulsed, and he knew by the expression on Miss Mather's face that something was the matter. He signalled into the wings and had the curtain rung down. Ten minutes later, the actress was dead.

Mr. Cantzen has not played "Cymbeline" since.

Mary Charleson, who has been featured in innumerable productions by the Vitagraph, Lubin and Equitable companies, has joined the Selig Company. For her first production Miss Charleson will appear in "The Prince Chap," which is to be directed by Marshall Neilan. Miss Charleson was given an enthusiastic sendoff by her many friends in New York.

Lincoln Signs for Another World Picture

E. K. Lincoln, has signed for another picture with the World Film, and will be directed by Frank Crane. Lincoln was engaged by William A. Brady to appear in a special World Film production and was persuaded to sign a contract for a second picture.

Marguerite Clayton of Essanay is learning to play the ukelele. So far the weird wail of the Hawaiian music has not been heard around the studio, but Miss Clayton promises—or threatens—that it will be shortly.

The latest opportunity to see Miss Clayton is in "According to the Code," new five-act feature drama, in which she plays opposite Lewis S. Stone.

The quaint Quakers of early Pennsylvania have served as subjects for the films in few instances, as compared with the other peoples of the world, but a delightful story has been built around them in a forthcoming Essanay three-act piece, "The Way of Patience." It is a story of a girl who rebelled at the stringent creed of her people and went out into a strange world. The theme is built on how her unusual innocence permitted her to explore the depths of society and escape unscathed to later find the right man. Nell Craig offers an excellent interpretation of the part. Darwin Karr appears in the masculine lead. Ernest Maupain is the heavy lead.

There is one interior scene at the Metro-Rolfe studio which will never see the light of the screen. That is the private office of Director Edwin Carewe. Interior decorators had just completed their deadly work of repainting his room, when Mr. Carewe dropped in with his stenographer to answer his mail. Instead of a dark blue, or subtle green, Mr. Carewe found his room a vivid baby pink. It was enough to drive any self respectable director to drink, not to say, to a private audience with the general manager of the studio. Mr. Carewe took a room across the street while the decorators went over the walls and ceiling with a battleship gray coating. Not that Mr. Carewe is temperamental, but there is a limit to color endurance.

Interesting Glimpses of William Fox's "A Daughter of the Gods," in which Annette Kellermann Is Starred

Viola Dana can qualify as an endurance motion picture actress, when she is awake. In making her new Metro production, "The Flower of No Man's Land," it was necessary to keep the entire company busily working for thirty-six hours, and they had to stay up all night.

In the wee small hours of the morning, long past the little star's usual bedtime, she was not required for a few minutes, and went fast asleep in her little rocking-chair used in the scene. The members of the company urged Director John H. Collins not to wake her up until it was absolutely necessary, so changing the order in which he intended to take the scenes, he directed all those that could be taken without her.

Finally Miss Dana awoke and rubbed her eyes. When she found what had been done she was indignant. "It's very sweet of you all, and I appreciate it," she said, "but I have as much endurance as anybody." And she insisted on going through all the scenes in which she appeared without stopping.

Irene Castle (International)

As the thirty-six-hour session drew to a close old Marcus Moriarity, the motion picture veteran of the civil war, who is seventy-two years old, hesitated as he took his hat to leave and asked, "Sure, that's all you want to-day, Mr. Collins?"

Jersey Woods Furnish "Western" Atmosphere

Up a branch line of the Erie railroad, in the corner of New Jersey that is nearest to the Pennsylvania woods, is the little village of Ogdensburg. It is the center of the zinc mine section of the state, and in many ways it resembles Leadville and Cripple Creek in their palmy days.

Director Howell Hansel had to have same real western atmosphere and settings for some of the "punch scenes" in "Sold Out," one of the fourteen "Who's Guilty?" photo-novels which the Arrow Film Corporation has produced for Pathe. Hansel knew of Ogdensburg and the zinc mines. So he took his company, headed by Anna Nilsson and Tom Moore, for a few days' in the real wilds of New Jersey.

There they made a number of big "western" scenes, including mine blasts and mine avalanches. Mostly they used the natives to help out for the "extras." But as the natives never before had seen a moving picture in the making, they took many a rehearsal before they learned not to look the cameras dead in the lens.

One old chap, a rural free delivery employe, was asked to hand a letter to Moore at the cabin door. But he wouldn't do so until he had read the contents of the envelope, to make sure it was nothing that might violate the postal laws. Another native, all the time he was driving into and out of the picture, kept asking, out of the corner of his mouth, "Am I doin' all right? Hey? Am I doin' all right?"

It remained for the village general store proprietor to kick up the biggest row. Eugene Cugnet, the French cameraman of the Arrow forces, went to the store and asked the merchant for a favor. The result was a riot. Hansel heard the row and rushed into the store to rescue his foreign knight of the lens.

"Why did you hit him?" Hansel asked the indignant proprietor.

Don't Miss This One

"Well boss," said the grocer, a bit frightened by Hansel's belligerent manner, "what would you do if a French guy came into your store and asked whether he could take a moving picture of your cheese?"

Hansel did not know—but he did take the cue and hustled Cugnet to the hotel.

Edward José, who has been directing the Pathe serial, "The Iron Claw," is completing the final details after many months of hard work, not only for himself but for everyone who has appeared in it.

Just recently Mr. José celebrated his first year as an independent producer and during that time he established an enviable reputation for himself, having filmed "The Beloved Vagabond," "Simon the Jester," "The Closing Net," "Nedra," "The Light That Failed," and over fourteen episodes of "The Iron Claw." These plays made fifty-four reels, an average of over a reel a week.

Mr. Jose is planning some big activities, following the completion of "The Iron Claw," which will shortly be announced.

The Raver Film Corporation moved its executive offices to their studios at Rockville Centre, Long Island, last week. The building, which will house the offices of the company, is finished and ready for occupancy.

So much of Mr. Raver's time was demanded at the studios in the supervising of construction and installation of equipment, that the offices maintained in the World Tower building were moved to the studio as soon as the office building was completed.

In its new home the Raver Company will have even better facilities than it enjoyed in the New York offices. Everything was carefully planned by Mr. Raver personally, with the result that things have been arranged to secure the greatest amount of efficiency.

The studios are only thirty-five minutes from New York City. Territory buyers seeking state rights on "The Other Girl," the Augustus Thomas play featuring James J. Corbett; "Driftwood," from the play by Owen Davis; "The Fortunate Youth," from William J. Locke's novel, or "Life

Wheeler Oakman (Fox)

Without Soul," adapted from Mary W. Shelley's book, "Frankenstein," will be met at the depot by the company's automobile and the pictures will be exhibited to them in the studio projection room.

This Story Holds Water, All Right

Just what harm four solid days of rain can do was discovered at the Vitagraph studio in Brooklyn last week, where more companies are at work than ever before. A great deal of outdoor work had been arranged to relieve the pressure for floor space in the glass studios, and about June 11 came rain. Wally Van, directing Earle Williams in "The Scarlet Runner," S. Rankin Drew, directing Anita Stewart in "The Girl Philippa," Lawrence Semon, directing Hughey Mack in a comedy, and several others were hard hit by J. Pluvius, Esq.

Many extra people had to forego appearance in the pictures until better weather. When that came, however, the yard at Vitagraph swarmed with automobiles and activity, people and "props," costumes and color.

"It beats the old days," said an elderly individual in the yard, who has been thereabouts since the first brick was laid.

Marc MacDermott, Vitagraph star, and one of the most popular artists on the screen, will soon start work under the direction of Charles Brabin. Brabin directed MacDermott for three and a half of the five years he was with the Edison Company, which includes the "World Tour" made by that company. It was under Brabin's supervision that the first five-part MacDermott features were produced. "The Life of Edgar Allen Poe," featuring Henry Walthall, is one of Brabin's many achievements during his engagement with the Essanay Company.

Madame Olga Petrova in Three Scenes from Her Newest Metro Production, "The Eternal Question"

Mary Imlay Taylor, who has written a number of the stories used by MacDermott in the past, is the author of the play in which the pair will be reunited. It is a modern drama dealing with social and political life and is ideally suited to MacDermott's distinctive type. Work will be started on this subject the latter part of the week.

The summer has lured another shore devotee back to the salt water. Northpoint, L. I., has welcomed the return of Edith Storey, the Vitagraph star, to her cottage at that interesting place, and the active figure of the heroine of "The Shop Girl" is seen every evening where boating and swimming are prevalent.

Get Real Bowery Types

Director Van Dyke Brooke was in despair when Leah Baird insisted upon realism in a Broadway Star Feature now in the course of production.

A number of scenes called for a typical rough Bowery dance-hall and the director had no idea where to find his characters. Miss Baird scornfully tabooed the idea of using the "extras" in the yard and another course had to be found.

At last Miss Baird suggested that they go to some employment agency in the lower section of the city and seek their types. They did this with wonderful results and the picture, which will be released in the near future, promises to present characters which one would fear to meet in the dark. They are the very essence of highwaymen and pickpockets and even the players watched them furtively while they were at the studios.

Vitagraph Director Eugene Mullin and his company of players headed by Evart Overton are back at the Flatbush Studios after a few days' trip to Perth Amboy, New Jersey, where they filmed a number of exterior scenes in a coming Broadway Star Feature from the pen of James Oliver Curwood.

The second picture in which Barney Bernard will appear was written especially for him by Senor Andres de Segurola, the celebrated baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company. It will be produced for the Vitagraph by Paul Scardon. In this latest offering Bernard will play both the role of a grasping banker and that of a big-hearted pawnbroker.

THE MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY

(Published by MOTION PICTURE NEWS)

Will Be Issued September 9th, 1916

(OUT AUGUST 29th, 1916)

We want to see every Actor, Actress, Director, Assistant Director, Camera Man and Scenario Writer represented.

Tear off the Coupon below, fill out and mail NOW—and we will send you a biography blank at the proper time.

For $2 you may have a one inch picture in both the next two issues with your biography and a year's subscription to the MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY (published Semi-Annually).

COUPON

Enclosed please find $2 to pay for my cut to be run with my biography in the next two studio directory issues and one year's subscription to the Motion Picture Studio Directory (issued twice a year by Motion Picture News).

It is understood that I will have a photograph in your hands in ample time for publication.

*Name*_____ *Line of Work*_____

*Studio*_____ *Permanent Address*_____

Motion Picture Studio Directory, 729 7th Ave., New York City

In and Out of West Coast Studios

By J. C. Jessen

Special to Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, June 17.

WITH the return of General Manager H. O. Davis from the east, and confirmation by wire of decisions to center producing activities at Universal City, work of increasing the capacity of the gigantic producing plant to accommodate the increased forces, was immediately begun. The change to be made means the expenditure of a considerable sum for the erection of additional dressing rooms, directors' offices, and the building of an entirely new studio which will have a stage space of approximately 75 by 150 feet, and of the same shape and design as the recently constructed feature producing studio. The new one will be located immediately north of the present feature stage and face on Laemmle Boulevard, which connects the front and back portions of the film municipality.

Scenarios Prepared for Newcomers

Since the return of Mr. Davis, he has been besieged from morn until night by a long line of people, many of whom have been waiting weeks for an interview. When he went east it was given out that he would be back within ten days, but additional business prolonged his absence to weeks instead of days. The only statement that could be gained from the decidedly busy general manager, was to the effect that plans for increasing the capacity of the studio have all been made, and the work will be completed by the army of workmen regularly employed, so that no loss of time will be occasioned by the transfer of the producing organizations from the East to the West, with the exception of the few days the people spend on the train.

Scenarios have been prepared for the companies coming to Universal City, and filming of new subjects will be taken up immediately upon their arrival there. This was brought out by the announcement that Rex Ingram has taken up the filming of "The Chalice of Sorrow," in five reels, with Cleo Madison as star. Wedgewood Knowles has been engaged to play in this production. Ingram arrived one day, and began production on the following. He formerly directed Paul Panzer.

With the transfer of Cleo Madison to the direction of Rex Ingram, Wm. Mong, who has been co-director with Miss Madison, will take charge of a company. His first picture will be "The Betrayal," consisting of one reel.

Jane Gail, being starred in the Universal subject "The Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," has arrived in Los Angeles from the Fort Lee Universal studios, and Violet Mersereau, and William Garwood have arrived to take up production here. A still later arrival was Matt Moore.

Grace Helen Bailey, a writer who has contributed to magazines and who wrote stories from every country while on a trip around the world, has been sent to U City by the New York Universal office, and will be connected with the scenario department. Joseph LeBrandt, who has been connected with the Universal scenario department in the east, has arrived at the western producing plant to continue his work.

Telegraphic advice received at U City Saturday, was to the effect that a party of players who had been engaged at the Fort Lee U Studios, was leaving Sunday for Los Angeles. The list included Ben Wilson, Howard Crompton, William Garwood, Edith Roberts, Irene Hunt, Hobart Henley, Gertrude Cameron, and others.

An addition to the U producing staff was made in the engagement of Raymond Wells as director. Wells recently jumped into international prominence in planning and producing the most remarkable Shakespearian spectacle known to the theatrical world when for the Actor's Fund he produced "Julius Caesar" in a natural amphitheatre, and with a cast composed of the leading actors of the film colony. His first picture will consist of three reels, and is entitled "The Caravan." This will feature little Lena Baskette, the child dancer, supported by Jay Balesco, Clara McDowell, and other equally prominent players.

Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," the favorite selection of a boy violinist, serves as an introductory part of a five reel Bluebird titled "Spring Song," which stars Ruth Stonehouse in her first Universal number. Harvey Gates wrote the scenario, and the production is in charge of William Worthington.

Little Dorothy Clark plays the part of Cecile as the child, and others are Kingsley Benedict as the heavy, Arthur Holt in a character part, William Canfield, Wadsworth Harris and Helen Wright. Franklyn Farnum plays opposite Ruth Stonehouse.

Myrtle Gonzales Found in "The Girl of Lost Lake"

"The Girl of Lost Lake" is the name given a five-reel subject now in the making under the direction of Universal Director Lynn Reynolds, who is also credited with the writing of the scenario. Myrtle Gonzales plays the star role, that of Jude, a simple girl of the mountain country, who lives with her father, a trapper.

Val Paul appears in the role of the city youth, George Hernandez the prospector, Bertram Grassby the artist, Fred Church the stage coach driver, Jack Curtis the girl's father, and others in the big cast are Ruby

Scenes from Kalem Productions: (Left to Right) Ethel Teare in "When Opportunity Knocked"; Ham in "Ham the Explorer"; and Helen Gibson in "The Hazards of Helen"

A Scene from the Rolin-Pathe Travesty of "Julius Caesar"

Cox, Jack Connelly, Bobbie Mack and Mary DuCello.

The theatrical story adapted from the Evelyn Heath novel "Saving of the Family Name," gives to Mary MacLaron the role of an unintentional vampire, at least she is looked upon as a vampire by the parents of wealthy young men who fall in love with her. Supporting Miss MacLaren are Carl Von Schiller, Jack Holt and Phil Smalley.

Two fisher lads of a Damon and Pythias friendship, both secretly in love with the same fisher girl, forms the plot for "Sea Mates," a one reel Universal. Francis Powers is directing this, and has a cast composed of Clyde Bunson, Harold Skinner, Charles Mailes and Clara McDowell.

"I Got Yer Number" is a one-reel Joker comedy Director Allen Curtis is filming with William Franey, Gale Henry, Charles Conklin, Lillian Peacock and Milburn Moranti. It all pertains to Mr. Binks, a poor henpecked husband going out for a glorious time.

The troubles of a baseball fan of the forty-two centimeter variety that accrue, furnishes the story for "Kill the Umpire," made by Lyons and Moran as their first independent contribution to the Universal. Besides Eddie and Lee, Eileen Sedgwick and Mina Cunard appear in the cast.

For more than a year Lule Warrenton, the character actress, has had dreams of directing a company of juvenile players, and last week saw her first picture projected on the screen. It is named "The Calling of Lindy." The title part is that of a little colored girl with a decidedly strong singing voice which drowns out the voices of the other children, causing the teacher to stop her from singing. But a day came when Lindy's voice was needed. It was when a fire occurred at the school, and Lindy was the only one with a voice which could be heard above the din. She calls the children to order, and they file out of the burning building. This act made her the heroine of the school.

Three Days' Entertainment for 10,000 Knights

Universal City officials last week were hosts of B. H. Canfield of Cleveland, O., general manager of the Newspaper Enterprises Association; H. L. Schmetzstorff, managing editor of the Los Angeles Record, and L. Sanders, editor of the Seattle Star, on one day, and on another day Frank J. F. Thiel, assistant treasurer of the U. S., and former collector of Los Angeles port Claude I. Parker, were entertained at the film municipality.

Plans have been made for the entertainment of the ten thousand Knight Templars who come to Los Angeles for the tri-annual conclave, June 17 to 24, and on Friday, June 23, the visitors will spend at Universal City. General Manager Davis is personally making the plans for the entertainment of the great number of visitors, and the program will include a rodeo by Universal cowboys and cowgirls under the direction of Harry Carey and George Marshall, assisted by Neil Hart. Among the women riders will be Jane Bernoudy, Olive Golden and Winnie Brown. The members of the Universal zoo will give a number of acts which Rex D. Roselli will supervise. In the afternoon there will be a reception for the visitors in which the leading players of all Universal companies will participate.

Dorothy Gish (Fine Arts) in "The School Marm"

Fritzi Scheff as guest of Adele Farrington, spent four hours at Universal City last week while in company with her manager and his wife. She was accompanied over the grounds by Engaging Director Marshall Stedman.

The breaking of a saddle girth during the making of a scene, this week endangered Cleo Madison. She was to ride speedily across the location, and just after starting, the leather broke, permitting the saddle to slip to the side of the horse. Miss Madison clung to the saddle, and the horse becoming frightened, ran away, continuing until it came face to face with an impassable fence. Aside from a number of scratches and bruises, the actress was not injured.

Some wonderful water scenes were made for "The Little Life Guard," when six-year-old Elizabeth Janes dived and swam with her hands and feet tied. The girl has gained considerable reputation as an unusually clever swimmer, and been given the name "The Bimini Seal."

The Lynn Reynolds U Company producing "The Girl of Lost Lake" which stars Myrtle Gonzales, has gone to Bear Lake Valley for the exterior scenes of the picture. Director George Cochran and company including Marjorie Ellison and Jack Nelson, are spending a few days in the vicinity of Oxnard, making desert scenes for the comedy drama "Never Too Old to Woo." Clifford Elfelt and company including Smith are at Mount Baldy making exteriors for five one reel mountain stories.

Lyons and Moran having completed their first picture, have taken up the filming of "The Bunglers," which is in one reel, and written by Ben Cohn.

Universal City was for a few minutes threatened with a disastrous fire when exploding hand grenades set fire to the dry grass on the foothills. It was not noticed for several minutes, and the flames gained considerable headway before members of the producing company and others began fighting the fire. It had crept toward the studio buildings when General Manager Davis noticed the smoke, and directed a large number of workmen to aid in the fire fighting. More than ten acres was burned before the fire was gotten under control.

The Helen Holmes-Signal Company in the Pleasanton Hotel Grounds, Honolulu. The Photograph Shows the Principals of "The Diamond Runners" Cast

Statistics compiled from records of Universal City laboratories, show that Allen Curtis, director of the Joker Comedies, who has been with the company for three years, has made more than one hundred and seventy-five one reel comedies.

While waiting for sets for the sixth episode of the "Timothy Dobbs" series, Director Wallace Beery produced a one reel comedy named "The Janitor's Vacation." written by himself, and in which he appears as the Janitor. The role was that of a Swede, which is his best known screen character. He was supported in the production by Gertrude Astor and Peggy Coudray.

Director Joseph De Grasse and His New Leading Lady, Dorothy Phillips, Universal

Keenan in Gold Field Play

Lanier Bartlett of the Ince scenario staff, has provided Director Reginald Barker with a heart interest drama of the California gold field days, written especially for Frank Keenan, who will be starred in the role of a hermit of the hills, whose peculiarities are cause for the theme of the photoplay. Enid Markey, Robert McKim and J. P. Lockney will appear with Keenan.

Two Ince Kay-Bee companies are absent from the studio. One including Louise Glaum, Howard Hickman, Jerome Storm and others, with Dal Clawson as cameraman, and Charles Giblyn as director, has gone to San Diego where the birdmen of the United States aviation station will work with the players for scenes in "Somewhere in France," by J. G. Hawks, adapted from the Richard Harding Davis story. Much of the action for the photoplay takes place near the battlefields of Europe, and aviation plays a big part in the narrative.

Director Walter Edwards with Dorothy Dalton and William Desmond and other players has gone north of Monterey, Cal., for ocean scenes along the coast of an unnamed island, where the romance of a young stranded missionary takes place. The Pacific Coast near Monterey offers some wonderful scenery which heretofore, it is said, has not been used in pictures. The story is by Monty M. Katterjohn and Lanier Bartlett, and gives William Desmond the fourth role of a minister.

John Lynch, short story writer, has been added to the scenario staff at the Ince Triangle studios of Culver City, increasing the number of writers to six. The entire staff now including C. Gardiner Sullivan, J. G. Hawks, Monty M. Katterjohn, Lanier Bartlett and Russell E. Smith.

The Christie Company under the direction of Horace Davey, is filming "Those Primitive Days," a caveman comedy with Betty Compson, Dave Morris, Neil Burns, Gus Alexander, Harry Rattenberry and others in the cast. While coming from location in the mountains near Chatsworth Park one day during the past week, a tire exploded and the company was forced to resort to the primitive ways. It was a two mile walk to a farm house to a telephone, and fully four hours from the time of the accident until another auto was secured. In the meantime they had a dinner of boiled eggs and baked potatoes, and made a bonfire to keep warm.

Director Al E. Christie is making "Over a Cave Man," in which the girl, Billie Rhodes, wants a man of the primitive type who rules by power rather than persuasion. Her suitor, Harry Hamm, learns of a wild man, Eddie Barry, and soon gives her enough of the close to nature life to win her.

"Girl from Frisco" Is a Kalem Series

Elaborate arrangements are being made at the Christie studio for the filming of a Japanese comedy which will be made next by Director Christie. Several street and garden settings have been completed, and arrangements have been made with the San Diego Exposition for use of the Japanese tea gardens for other scenes.

The coming Kalem series being made by Director James Horne at the Glendale studios, has been titled "The Girl From Frisco." This, like the "Social Pirates," Horne's most recent release, is of the nature of a series, each episode being complete within itself. Marin Sais will play the featured part throughout this series, which is of an equal suffrage nature, and will attempt to prove that women can rise to opportunities which confront them, and prove themselves as capable as men. The question arises in the first episode entitled, "The Fighting Heiress," when a western girl takes up the challenge made against her sex, and in the remaining episodes will attempt to prove that her contention is right.

Violet Mersereau Conversing With Her Director

Douglas Fairbanks (Grasping His Son's Hands) and the Fine Arts Juvenile Players

Members of the Jay Hunt Company (Universal) in Northern California Filming Three Photoplays

Episode number two is titled "The Turquoise Mine Conspiracy," and it is the girl who succeeds in aiding the rightful owners to hold their property. Supporting Miss Sais in the series are True Boardman in the male lead, Ronald Bradbury appears as the heavy, Jack McDonald, who appeared as Slapstick in Seligs "The Spoilers," plays a character part, and others in important parts are Frank Jonasson, Barney Furey, and William Parsons. Director Horne and company left Friday for Randsburg, Cal., where they will make scenes for episode number two.

William Farnum in the William Fox Production, "The Man from Bitter Root"

The Lasky Company has purchased from William A. Hurlburt, playwright and author of "The Fighting Hope" and other legitimate stage successes, a photodrama written especially for Marie Doro. This will be filmed by Director William C. deMille upon the completion of the one in which Miss Doro is now working entitled "The Kid." In the present subject Miss Doro appears in the role of a slum character, and the plot deals with her experience in a night court.

Sets are being built for the filming of "The Storm," an original photodrama by Mrs. H. C. deMille, mother of Cecil B. and William C. deMille. Director Frank Reicher has been assigned to the making of this, which will star Blanche Sweet. Reicher is at present engaged in directing the filming of the completing scenes for "Public Opinion," in which Miss Sweet is starred. The photoplay shows the effect sensational newspapers may have on the minds of their readers. In this instance, a nurse is charged with the murder of a woman, and public opinion created by the newspapers condemns her before trial, thus causing the trial to be one of a very unfair nature.

"For Ten Thousand Bucks"

Practically the last scene to be made for the first two-reel Vogue comedy which has been titled "For Ten Thousand Bucks," was the end of a chase in which two automobiles run through an entire building occupied by a saloon. The first one, a miniature car, partially cleared the way for the other, a big seven passenger machine that followed. Both cars were running at a speed of twenty-five miles an hour when they hit the front of the building, and the brick walls failed to retard their speed to any noticeable degree. The scenes were made without accident. In the making of other scenes for the picture, a train of seventeen cars was used on the Salt Lake railroad, and locations between Los Angeles and San Pedro served. This will probably be released early in July.

Director Jack Dillon is now engaged in filming "Bungling Bill's Dress Suit," wherein a spendthrift as his only inheritance from a rich uncle is given a dress suit. The usual Vogue cast with the exception of Elsie Gleason, new Vogue leading woman, appear in this.

A second two-reel Vogue is now in the making by Director Rube Miller and company. It is of the nature of a water story, and a majority of the exterior scenes will be made at Point Firmin where all kinds of coast scenes can be secured. Ben Turpin with Miller and Gypsy Abbott will be the principals of this two reeler.

The last one reel Vogue Miller subject with many scenes laid in a cafe has been titled "Jealousy a la Carte."

Two new members have been added to the Vogue stock company in the persons of Ward McAllister, who appeared as the Frenchman in "The Diamond From the Sky," and Lillian Hamilton, who has played with a number of coast companies.

The Rolin Film Company organization has been increased to two companies. One composed of D. Lampton, the fat boy, Harry Todd, Mary Joslin, Fred Newmeyer, Billy Fay, Estelle Harrison and others, will be under the direction of Hal Roach, who is responsible for the success of the "Lonesome Luke" series released by Pathe. Harold Lloyd, who has appeared in the part of Lonesome Luke in all comedies, with Gilbert Pratt will direct the second company, Lloyd apearing in the principal part. Others of this organization will be Bebe Daniels,

The Robert Leonard-Universal Company at Coronado, Where Scenes Were Taken for "Little Eve Edgarton"

Striking Glimpses of "For Ten Thousand Bucks" the First Vogue-Mutual Two-Reel Comedy

Harry Pollard, Bud Jamison, Earl Mohan and Charles Stevenson.

The one reel subject, a burlesque on "Julius Caesar," has been filmed by Director Hal Roach, and the Rolinites are now filming a physician's story. A city ambulance and other hospital equipment was secured for use in the comedy, and some real thrills were taken when an ambulance run was made that ended in a collision with a street car.

Pegging Away at Ninth "Ring"

The Stern Company with Francis Ford and Grace Cunard, are now busy on the ninth episode of "Peg o' the Ring," which will have a Mexican atmosphere. The circus goes to the border line, and for these scenes some very elaborate sets have been built.

The L-Ko Company has finished the filming of "Lizzie's Lingering Love," which features Alice Howell, and was made under the direction of Jack Blystone. The subject consists of three reels and is of an underworld type, in which a girl released from prison attempts to go the straight and narrow path, but is prevented from doing so by her former pals.

Three two reel L-Ko subjects are now in production. Billie Ritchie is scheduled to create some new thrills in a daring dash across roofs of down town Los Angeles buildings, and for another, Dan Russell as conductor will drive a street car off the end of a pier at a nearby beach.

Katherine Griffith, character actress, Belle Bennett, ingenue, and Joe Moore, juvenile actor and brother of Tom and Matt Moore, have all been added to the stock company of the L-Ko organization

Practically all members of the Vitagraph Company went to San Diego recently where Director Rollin S. Sturgeon will film shipwreck scenes for the Cleveland Moffit story, "Through the Wall." Director Sturgeon was accompanied by sixty extra players besides the regular members of the cast, and about one hundred and fifty additional ones will be engaged at San Diego to take part in the scenes made there.

Director William Walbert is making the last scenes for a three-reel drama entitled "The Gratitude of John Winston," wherein a man of the world, a widower, while on his way home from the club, finds a waif whom he takes with him and later adopts. The principals are Corrine Griffith, Webster Campbell and Jack Mower.

Work on the filming of a series of one-reel comedies has been started by Director Dave Smith. The first has been titled "It's A Bear." The story has to do with newlyweds who insist upon keeping a dog in an apartment house against the wishes of the janitor. The principals of the cast are Mary Anderson, Archie Warren, George Kunkel and Ralph McComas.

"A Woman's Reputation"

A David Horsley dramatic company headed by Crane Wilbur and May Gaston, are still working on the subject "A Woman's Reputation." Western gambling hall scenes, which require an area 200 by 300 feet, were made at the studio by the aid of about one hundred extra people, all in evening costume.

The most recent addition to the David Horsley studio is a first aid hospital in charge of Dr. F. C. S. Barlow. A special building has been erected which is being equipped with all surgical instruments, operating table and necessary accessories.

All children of the Jewish orphanage of Huntington Park were guests of the David Horsley studio one afternoon last week, complementary to the services the children gave in scenes for "Wasted Years," the most recent Horsley five-reel subject. Many scenes were made in and about the charitable institution, and practically all of the children took part in drills. Crane Wilbur on this occasion acted as guide for the party, and gave each child an autographed photograph.

Abraham Carlos, general representative of the Fox Film Corporation, is in Los Angeles for a short stay investigating business conditions, and for a short visit at the Fox studio. He is making a tour of inspections over the country and finds very gratifying growth of business at all of the exchanges in this country which have been opened by the company he represents.

The Fox Film Corporation Company, under the direction of Richard Stanton, has been encountering difficulties in the filming of scenes for "The Beast," at the border of the United States near Yuma, Arizona. The weather conditions have greatly delayed productions, and the company, headed by George Walsh and Anna Luther as leading people, is still in the south. During their absence the studio technical staff is building sets for this, and they will be ready by the time the producing organization returns.

Governor Hunt of Arizona has written to James Marcus, assistant director to R. A. Walsh of the Fox Film Corporation producing staff, complimenting Marcus on the make-up he used to impersonate the Arizona governor. Director Walsh is now nearing the end of the filming for the eight or ten-reel subject, "The Honor System," and by the end of the week all scenes will be in the cutting room.

The William Farnum Company is working at the studio, Director Oscar Apfel having made scenes in the Sierras for a Canadian northwest picture which he is now finishing. Gladys Brockwell plays the leading feminine part. The subject has not been given a permanent title.

Started Picture for Completion in East

Before departing for New York, Fine Arts Director Alan Dwan and Douglas Fairbanks started work on their next production. The scenario called for a number of western scenes with mountain settings, and these were made here. The film will be completed in New York. Fairbanks has the role of a dare-devil cowboy, and performed a number of riding scenes. A greater portion of the play is laid in the east.

"The Marriage of Molly-O" is now being completed at the Fine Arts studio. Robert Harron and Mae Marsh are to play in a comedy drama being written for them by Anita Loos. Lloyd Ingraham will direct the production of this. The working script will be completed within a few days, and filming taken up.

Wilfred Lucas has been chosen as star for the Fine Arts play "Hell-To-Pay Austin," written by Mary H. O'Connor. Austin becomes the guardian of Brier Rose, taken by Bessie Love, and others selected for this cast are Mary Alden, Eugene Pallette, Ralph Lewis and others. The part taken by Lewis is that of the father, minister by profession, who fights a losing batttle with barleycorn.

Motion picture rights for the Rupert Hughes story, "Laughter of Shiloh," have been purchased for Fine Arts production. The story, which ran in the Saturday Evening Post, has for its leading character a young girl of a small rural town, who is unadaptable to any vocation until the dancing craze hits the village. The girl then starts a dancing school with herself as the teacher. Lillian Gish will in all probability play the leading role in this production.

Inmates of the Los Angeles County hospital were given entertainment this week when Lillian Gish arranged for a showing of "The Birth of a Nation" at the institution. The Fine Arts actress learned that a number of the inmates had expressed a desire to see the picture, and she immediately secured projecting machine, equipment and the use of a copy of this famous film.

The closing day of school at the Fine Arts studio, arranged by the teacher, Sarah McClung, was one of the big events of the year at this film plant. Perhaps the most important event of the afternoon was the distribution of one hundred dollars by Douglas Fairbanks to the kiddies that made the highest grades. The pledge of the money was made early last fall, shortly after the opening of school, and throughout the year it has been an inspiration to all pupils. The program consisted of talks by Manager of Production Frank E. Woods; Business Manager J. C. Epping, and Mr. Fairbanks. George Stone, Buelah and Thelma Burns and Mae Giraci gave recitations. The entire class sang "The Owl and Pussy Cat." There were two dancing numbers by Carmen DeRue and Violet Radcliffe, Mildred Harris and Pauline Stark, and the program ended with the singing of "America." The exercises were held on the big stage at the studio where a special set was erected for the purpose.

Finish Four Keystones

The filming of four Keystone subjects has been completed, and two have already been shipped to the eastern laboratories of the company. The list includes "Hearts and Sparks," the story of the wireless spark plug; "His First False Step," with Chester Conklin as the property man; "His Wild Oats," and "Ambrosa's Cup of Woe." Ford Sterling is the featured player of "His Wild Oats," who takes the part of a flirting tailor, who tires of his wife, Ella Haines, and wins the love of the wife of a sharpshooter, taken by Polly Moran.

The melodrama prop, the mortgage, serves as a cause for action in "Ambrosa's Cup of Woe." He loses the farm, but not until after an artist had seen his wife and induced her to go to the city to pose for him. Joey Jacobs, a four-year-old actor, with his trained pig, makes his debut in this comedy. The pig, about the size of a three-months old, submits to harness and is driven about promiscuously by the little boy.

Victor Herrman, who for more than a year and a half has been director of comedies at the L-Ko studio, has been engaged by Mack Sennette to serve in that capacity, and began work last week.

James Young, who was engaged to direct Mabel Normand in five-reel comedy dramas, has resigned and J. Farrell Macdonald has been secured for this position. The company is now at work on the first subject, known at the studio as "Mountain Bred."

The Mabel Normand Company has purchased motion picture rights of J. M. Barrie of London, author of "The Little Minister," and this, one of the first of Frohman successes, will be produced next. Miss Normand will appear in the part of Babbie, the role made famous by Maud Adams.

Arbuckle to Go Back to Coast

Arrangements have been completed for the return of the Roscoe Arbuckle Company from New York, and the Keystone heavyweight director-comedian will leave the east for Los Angeles upon the completion of the comedy he is now working on, "The Waiters' Ball." He is expected to arrive in Los Angeles about July 1.

Players of two studios were considerably surprised last week when the marriage of George Walsh, leading man of the Fox Film Corporation, and Seena Owen, star of Fine Arts studio, became known. The wedding occurred at San Diego on February 5. Since that time the parties have been successful in keeping the news from their large circle of friends.

Director R. A. Walsh, brother of the groom, and Miriam Cooper, former Griffith actress, who played one of the leading parts in "The Birth of a Nation," were secretly wed about the same time at Albuquerque, New Mexico. The wedding of the latter couple became known several weeks ago.

Lenore Ulrich, who arrived in Los Angeles for an engagement of several months, will begin work in her first Pallas-Morosco subject this week. Scenario for this, now being completed, has not been named. It is a story of international intrigue, with scenes laid in Europe during the present conflict. The story, however, is not to be classed with one dealing with matters of the present war.

Director Lloyd and company experienced many hardships while at Pine Crest in the filming of exterior scenes for "Nell of Thunder Mountain," which stars Vivian Martin.

THE MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY

(Published by MOTION PICTURE NEWS)

Will Be Issued September 9th, 1916

(OUT AUGUST 29th, 1916)

We want to see every Actor, Actress, Director, Assistant Director, Camera Man and Scenario Writer represented.

Tear off the Coupon below, fill out and mail NOW—and we will send you a biography blank at the proper time.

For $2 you may have a one inch picture in the next two issues with your biography and a year's subscription to the MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY (published Semi-Annually).

COUPON

Enclosed please find $2 to pay for my cut to be run with my biography in the next two studio directory issues and one year's subscription to the Motion Picture Studio Directory (issued twice a year by Motion Picture News).

It is understood that I will have a photograph in your hands in ample time for publication.

*Name*_____ *Line of Work*_____

*Studio*_____ *Permanent Address*_____

Motion Picture Studio Directory, 729 7th Ave., New York City

AMONG THE EXCHANGES

Universal Outgrows Its Quarters in Washington, D. C., and Unicorn Opens Its Doors in the Plaza Theatre Building

THE Universal, Washington, D. C., has again outgrown its quarters and has moved into larger and more commodious ones. Under the name of the Washington Film Exchange, it is now located at 307 Ninth street, just a block from its former location and right in the heart of the picture center. Since the handling of the Red Feather and Bluebird features, Manager Yates has been hard pressed for space and proper facilities, and now with the new program of four daily releases, moving became an immediate necessity.

The present quarters are in many ways more fitted for their purpose than the offices vacated. They are better fitted up, better ventilated and lighted, and two floors are occupied by Universal. Each of these floors have a larger space than the former quarters.

For a few days everything was in confusion, but no interruption was allowed to business and the exhibitor was not aware of the change until all was over. Mr. Yates has assigned ample space to the repair department, the shipping, the poster and paper departments, publicity material, bookkeeping and delivery departments. His own office is located in the front of the building, but Mr. Yates is likely to be found in any other part of his domain supervising all branches of his exchange.

Herbert C. Wales has arrived in Washington, D. C., to take charge of the management of the World Film branch there, succeeding C. W. Bunn, who resigned to accept a similar position with Pathe in Chicago. Mr. Wales went from Albany, N. Y., where he conducted a motion picture theatre supply house, and previous to that was associated with the General Film Company.

He has had a decade of experience with various phases of the motion picture industry, most of this time being spent in the exchange field.

Mr. Schaffer, eastern division manager, went to Washington to install Mr. Wales and remained a few days. He frankly acknowledged his regret at the departure of Mr. Bunn and his close associate, Mr. Friedman. He spoke in the highest terms of the condition of the Washington territory and the strides it had made in the past year.

The Unicorn Exchange has opened its door in Washington, D. C., and is located in the picture district, over the Plaza theatre. These quarters were once the home of the sole film distributors of Washington, when Tom Moore controlled the film market there. Later he sold the office to the General Film Company when that company wished to locate in Washington. Then the quarters became the office of the New York Film Rental exchange, so it is quite natural that they should fall into the hands of another exchange.

The exchange is under the management of W. A. Kline, who goes from the same service in Philadelphia. He is a man thoroughly alive to the needs of the exhibitor and believes that another service will find a permanent place in the picture field. In fact this has already been demonstrated by the books of the Unicorn.

The large downtown feature houses are also making use of this service for fillers and find them popular with their patrons. This is especially true of Crandall's and the Garden in Washington and several houses in Baltimore. The Plaza is using the first releases of this service and this theatre is also being used by this exchange for frequent exhibitions for exhibitors as well as the exchange itself.

Mr. Kline has secured as his right-hand assistant, William Mack, a man who was associated with Tom Moore in the exchange field, and who has since known service with the General, Universal and states rights features. He has grown up with that territory as a film center and has made the territory grow as a film center during that time.

MARSTON BOOKS "GLORIA'S ROMANCE" IN NEW ENGLAND THEATRES

Manager Marston of the Boston George Kleine exchange has just returned from a trip to Maine, where he booked houses in Gardiner, Augusta, Hallowell, Bangor and Lewiston, Me., for Billie Burke in "Gloria's Romance." He booked the New Strand, J. Keller, manager, at Gardiner; the opera house, Tom Cuddy, manager, Augusta; and the Silver theatre, J. J. Fray, manager, Waterville, and many others.

"Gloria's Romance" is in the Park and Fenway theaters, Boston, and both managers have written of the unexpectedly large business done. These reports of unexpected business have come in from all over New England.

GILLIGHAM GIVES UP MANAGERSHIP OF GENERAL IN DETROIT

A. J. Gilligham has resigned as manager of the General Film Company in Detroit, and has opened offices at 189 Woodward avenue, Empire Theatre building, where he will operate as the National Film Company. Mr. Gilligham is the longest in point of service with the General Film Company, in which he is also a stockholder. He owns the Empire theatre in Detroit, and is president of the Gilligham and Smith Company, which operates a chain of six theatres in Grand Rapids.

Barr, New Orleans, Plans Extensive Advertising for "Shoes"; Sessions to Make Flying Gulf Trip; Luncheon Brings Out Film Men

MAURICE F. BARR, manager of the Bluebirds, Inc., New Orleans office, is planning an extensive advertising campaign for Mary MacLaren, who makes her debut in "Shoes." The press is to be used, with other publicity stunts, from time to time.

Beyond the fact that "Southern" has been added to the World Film office, and "Company" substituted for "Corporation," there has been no change at that exchange in New Orleans. Neither has an official announcement been sent exhibitors in the territory. They, however, or all those who read the newspapers, have been informed of the change.

Anna H. Sessions, manager of the New Orleans World office, will leave next week on a flying trip over the Gulf territory. Miss Session declares she will be her own traveling representative.

C. E. Tandy, of the Southern Paramount Pictures Company, visited Manager H. F. Wilkes recently and then went on his way to Atlanta.

"The Battle Cry of Peace" spent two weeks in New Orleans at the Crescent theatre under the management of the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Members of the New Orleans exchanges enjoyed a luncheon at the DeSoto Hotel a few days ago. It was an informal affair which nearly every member of the newly-formed Film Managers Association attended.

The Fichtenberg Enterprises and the Columbia Amusement Company have treated New Orleans film fans to a demonstration of quick work in picture taking and development. One hour after the last line of 40,000 marchers in the preparedness parade on June 3 had passed the reviewing stand at the City Hall, moving pictures of the parade were flashed at the Plaza theatre and at the Columbia. The films were rival films, although nearly everybody went to both theatres for the purposes of comparing them.

New Orleans has been selected for a future release by the Gaumont in "Seeing America First Series." E. Guetlein, staff cameraman of the Gaumont studios, is in the city taking views of the principal streets, harbor and historic spots.

PICTURE PEOPLE MARCH IN NEW ORLEANS PREPAREDNESS PARADE

To the tune of "America, I Love You," "Dixie," and other inspiring airs, two hundred members of the New Orleans film colony, including at least seventy-five women, marched eight abreast in the Preparedness Parade in that city recently, with 40,000 other patriotic citizens. The moving picture industry was the fourth unit of Division Seven in the giant parade, and virtually every exchange manager, a number of exhibitors, stenographers, rewinders, cashiers and poster clerks participated.

A feature was the bevy of pretty girls and women, that followed closely behind the exchangemen, forming eight abreast, clad in white. The fair sex was captained by Mrs. Al G. Shear, wife of the New Orleans Universal Film manager, with Bertha Sobel, daughter of N. Sobel, owner of the Washington theatre, as aide.

Big, jovial S. T. Stephens, New Orleans head of the Mutual Film Corporation, acted as unit marshal of the motion picture men, in the absence of Al. G. Shear, who was in Atlanta attending the semi-annual convention of Universal managers. Mr. Stephens had as his aides Nat Erlich, manager of Triangle; Maurice F. Barr, manager, Bluebirds, Inc.; R. King Evans, manager V-L-S-E; Hoyt Morrow, manager, General Film; F. C. Ragland and Elmer Smith, of George Kleine's forces; Paul Ford, of the Peerless Feature Film Company; Gaston Dureau, representing the Fichtenberg Enterprises and F. C. Wilkes, resident manager of Paramount.

Mr. Rotherford, special representative from Mutual's home offices and Raoul Junet, manager of Pathe, directed the second column of film men. Frank Marfese, and Nat Sobel served as captains of the exhibitors contingent. G. B. Mars, of Mars theatre, was a marshal of the parade.

ONE FIVE-REELER A MONTH IS BANNER PLAN FOR KANSAS

Placing one five-reel feature a month, and having no little features of any kind, is the principal characteristic of the Banner Film Company, which has just started in Kansas City, under the management of A. G. Hull. The Banner Film Company is going to place in that territory a photodrama depicting the question of race suicide. This photodrama has been run in the principal cities of Missouri and Iowa, and in Kansas City, Mo. The receipts of the first four days amounted to $1,500.

It was first run at the Wonderland theatre. Mr. Hull plans that the feature of each month shall be booked at each house for from one to four days. The race suicide photodrama has already been placed at the Palace theatre in Des Moines and at the New American, Davenport; Amuzu, Muscatine; and at the Rex theatre, Ottumwa.

WEDDING BELLS JINGLING IN OMAHA

J. E. Flynn, assistant manager of the General Film Company branch at Omaha, will be married June 20 to Marie Josephine FitzGerald.

R. & R. Jungle Paper Showing the Benign Countenances of Napoleon and Sally Brings Out the Youngsters in Kansas City

THE Monarch Feature Film Company, Kansas City, is supplying the demands of the exhibitors for E. & R. Jungle features and the Ivan pictures. J. H. Kamm, an exhibitor of Coffeyville, Kan., who was in Kansas City recently, says that the moment a poster showing Napoleon and Sally is placed before the entrance every kid in the town crowds around, and that the performances are packed with children who sometimes stay for the second showing. H. H. Hughes, manager of the Alhambra theatre of Springfield, Mo., was in Kansas City during the past week and says that contrary to opinion the Ivan production "A Fool's Paradise," was one of the best liked pictures shown in that city, and that it was the talk of the town for some time. Another proof of the popularity of Ivan productions is the case of E. M. Henle, of Muscatine, Ia., who has booked every production and is now waiting for more. The Royal theatre, St. Joseph, Mo., has just taken on a two-day program of all-Ivan pictures.

Frank Tacy, the manager, visited the Monarch Feature Film Company's office lately.

An additional feature office, due to the growth of the film exchange, is on the program for the United Film Service Company, of the Gloyd Building. This office will operate under the supervision of A. A. Chatkin, now of the United Film Service Company. The United Feature Service, which is to be its name, will rent a high grade of features running from two to four days, and each feature will be either five or six reels long.

The United Film Service is still releasing regular programs and is supplying nearly forty per cent of the airdomes in Kansas City and this vicinity.

The Unicorn Film Service has established a branch at Wichita, Kan., with Jack Brainard in charge as manager. Mr. Brainard was formerly with the Wichita office of the Mutual. The Unicorn has added to its force of travelers Roy Bettis, who will cover Missouri and Eastern Kansas, and W. M. Beckenstein, formerly of the Pathe, for Iowa and Nebraska.

John Hicks, a former roadman for the General Film Company, Kansas City, Mo., is to take the place left vacant by R. O. Proctor, who was given a farewell dinner at the Baltimore hotel. Mr. Hicks has been in the office for some time and has worked for the General Film Company for five years.

Albert M. Goldstein, formerly with Martin and Estes, selling "The Spoiler," "The Christian," and other features is now with the Fox exchange at Kansas City.

R. L. Hewitt, for seven months assistant to R. O. Proctor, manager of the General at Kansas City, goes with Mr. Proctor to the Metro at Chicago.

Two Roadmen for International in San Francisco, Feeling Stimulating Effect of Western Atmosphere, Get Enough Contracts to Make Them First-Rank Salesmen

THAT San Francisco and its tributary territory forms one of the greatest fields for film exchanges in the entire country is the tribute that is paid to that section by H. L. Knappen, manager of the recently opened International Film Service at 280 Golden Gate Avenue. To illustrate his point, Mr. Knappen calls attention to the fact that bookings at this office passed the $25,000 mark some time ago and that out of ten offices in the largest cities in the country San Francisco stands fifth, being led only by such cities as New York, Chicago and Boston, the population of which are much greater than the population of San Francisco.

The city of Chicago alone has more theatres than there are in the entire Pacific slope. In spite of the disadvantages of a scanty population and a limited number of theatres two salesmen of this branch, H. Korper and H. Krause, stand in the very first rank among the sixty salesmen of the ten offices. In speaking of this record Mr. Knappen recently said: "There is something in the Western atmosphere, and particularly in San Francisco, that serves to stimulate salesmanship. When this office was opened predictions were freely made that a success could not be made of it, as San Francisco was overrun with film exchanges and the field was too limited. Western men were placed in the field and some branches serving a population three or four times as large as the San Francisco territory can boast are now trailing in the dust. We are doing double the business of the Los Angeles branch and are making gains right along. Exhibitors are finding that the advertising done by the Hearst interests are bringing big results and newspaper publicity is due for a big boom here. The advertising balloons put out in connection with the "Mysteries of Myra" are being snapped up by exhibitors about as fast as we can get them, more than five thousand having been distributed from here so far. Many are featuring ascensions, fastening tickets for their shows to the balloons and liberating them."

The Hearst-Vitagraph News is now known as the Hearst-International News Pictorial and Manager Knappen states that every effort will be made to keep it in the front rank, with plenty of Pacific Coast material. A branch office is to be established at Salt Lake City and bookings from that territory will come through the San Francisco office. Advices have been received in San Francisco from the main office that within a short time feature releases will be made.

TANDY IS A VISITOR IN DALLAS

C. E. Tandy, general manager of the Paramount exchanges in the South, and director general of the Southern World Film offices, has been visiting in Dallas.

HOFFMAN VISITS TORONTO AND CONFERS WITH WEEKS, DETROIT BRANCH

M. H. Hoffman, general manager of exchanges for Bluebird, was in Toronto recently, and George Weeks, of the Detroit branch, also went to Toronto to confer with Mr. Hoffman, during his visit. From Mr. Weeks, it was learned, that he intends to shortly open a publicity department in Detroit, similar to the one in operation in Toronto. Several men are being considered for the position, but no announcement yet has been made.

W. H. Davidson, who for some months past has been special representative of the Universal Company, in Ontario, announced his resignation to take place immediately, and also the fact that he would shortly assume the managership of the Toronto office of the World Film Corporation.

It is reported, on good authority, that Charles Stevens, representative of the Kleine Company, under Mr. Cooper, in Montreal, will make a change very shortly, and come over to the Universal Company, and take over the position left vacant by Mr. Davidson, who has recently resigned, to go to the World Film Corporation.

RATHNER GETS RIGHTS TO "CIVILIZATION" FOR SIX STATES

Thomas H. Ince has just disposed of the state rights to his production of "Civilization" in six states to H. Rathner, a well known film magnate and manager of the Supreme Feature Film Company.

The states selected by Mr. Rathner are as follows: Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, North and South Dakota and Montana. Mr. Rathner was in New York to attend the premier of "Civilization" and immediately began to negotiate. The price paid is not stated, but Mr. Rathner said on signing the contract he expected to make a quarter of a million dollars on the deal.

FOX BOSTON EXCHANGE SEEKS LARGER QUARTERS

Manager Campbell of the Boston Fox exchange is negotiating for a new building, the present quarters having been outgrown. It is expected that the building will have a floor space of 15,000 square feet and will be occupied in the fall. Manager Campbell claims more houses in Greater Boston than any other feature exchange.

He signed the Hamilton theatre, Dorchester, and the Imperial, South Boston, last week. Charles Phillips, Fox representative, is on the road again after an illness. Fox has sold to Goldstein Brothers of Springfield fifty features for their house at Hampton Beach, N. H., this summer.

GRANBY A VISITOR IN DETROIT

Mitchell Granby, manager of the Toronto, Can., office of the Fox Film Corporation, was in Detroit Sunday, June 11, as the guest of C. G. Kingsley, Detroit manager for Mr. Fox. Mr. Granby visited some of the leading Detroit theatres both downtown and in the outskirts, and expressed surprise at their splendid construction and large capacity as compared to many in other cities. Mr. Granby reported Fox films to be in brisk demand in Toronto despite the war in Europe.

Butner of Triangle in Quaker City Swings Around the Circle in His Territory; Osborne Tries Roadman Efficiency Plan

ON account of the demolition of the building at 1223 Vine street, Philadelphia, to make way for the modern film building about to be erected on this site, the Monarch Film Company has moved back to its original quarters at 1220 Vine street and the Empire Film Company has moved to 1208 Vine street.

Manager JamesButner of Triangle took a swing around the circle last week, making several days' stop at Washington and Baltimore.

Beginning Thursday, June fifteenth, the Hearst International News Pictorial will start on a fresh phase of its career through the International Film Service, Inc., that being the release date for the Quaker City Exchange. During his recent tour of the exchanges General Exchange Manager Berger paid a flying visit to the Philadelphia office.

All the Philadelphia V-L-S-E employes are rejoicing at the recent dictum of the home office to give every employe of a full year's service, two weeks' vacation with pay in advance, if desired. Plans are now being made in the office to arrange the various holidays so they will not in any way conflict.

A new method of business efficiency is being tried out by Manager Osborn. In order to test each roadman's ability and further to get better acquainted with the Pathe exhibitors, Mr. Osborne will each week take in another part of his territory accompanying the salesman on his rounds. This work will keep the manager out of his office several days each week.

The "Matrimonial Market" is booking fast. "Who's Guilty?" has also taken a new and rapid stride. Exhibitors say it arouses keen interest as each person can exercise his own judgment over the answer. Testimonial letters are coming in to the exchange every day about this series. The Orpheum in Wilkes-Barre played it to 4,500 paid admissions in one day recently. Interest in the picture is augmented by the fact that twenty prominent newspapers in the district are publishing the story serially. The North American is running it in Philadelphia.

SANFORD AND SCOTT BOOK ENTIRE UNITY PROGRAM FOR TEXAS

After a visit to New York, extending over a long period, during which time they viewed scores of features, comedies and educationals, F. M. Sanford and C. R. Scott have returned to Dallas, Texas, having booked the entire program of the Unity Sales Corporation for Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas.

Messrs. C. R. Scott and F. M. Sanford

Mr. Scott is very enthusiastic about the Unity program and declares it is of consistently high quality. He also announces that the Sanford and Scott exchange will henceforth be known as the Unity Exchange, and the firm will handle the entire output of Unity.

A big trade showing, to which exhibitors from the entire Sanford-Scott territory have been invited, will be held shortly in Dallas, and the Unity product, including the Nat Goodwin releases and the serial "The Yellow Menace," will be shown.

Both members of the firm are well known in film circles, especially in the Southwest. Mr. Scott has operated a chain of theatres and exchanges for several years and Mr. Sanford is equally well known, having been for a long time in charge of the Southwestern interests of the World Film Corporation.

DEPINET BACK IN DALLAS FROM ATLANTA TRIP

Ned E. Depinet, manager of the Consolidated's office in Dallas, has returned to Dallas from a trip to Atlanta, where he conferred with General Manager William Oldknow regarding the two big features their company has recently acquired from the Universal, "The Dumb Girl of Portici" and "Where Are My Children?"

ARNOLD IN CHARGE OF EXCLUSIVE AT LITTLE ROCK

S. A. Arnold, for a long time manager of the Palace theatre, Little Rock, Ark., known as the man responsible for so many live stunts in the show business there, is now manager of the Exclusive Feature Film Service's branch office at Little Rock.

WALLACE MADE UNICORN HEAD IN WILKES-BARRE

George R. Wallace has been installed as manager of the Wilkes-Barre office of the Unicorn, which is at 35 S. Pennsylvania avenue, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Mr. Wallace has been in the exchange business in Wilkes-Barre for over four years.

New Laws and Court Decisions

This department is designed to keep the industry informed of all news concerning new or projected laws, Federal, State, County or Municipal, that may affect the business, and all events involving any branch of the trade with the authorities in all sections of the country

Tax on Theatre Tickets in Alberta Now in Effect; Houses in Calgary and Edmonton Will Bring Government $3,000 a Week

The new Alberta provincial theatre ticket tax went into effect on June 1, and resulted in a great deal of confusion on account of the fact that patrons generally were not aware of the new law, and much time was consumed in explaining the necessity of paying an extra cent for admission to motion picture theatres. Patrons were thus handled very slowly, and at times the lobbier were more crowded with people attempting to purchase tickets than were the auditoriums of the theatres themselves. Present plans of a number of managers contemplate providing an additional box office especially for the sale of the tax coupons, to be open for a short time each day. There was considerable objection to the payment of the tax, and some people even refrained from attending the theatres, rather than suffer the so-called "imposition."

The receptacle provided by the government for the tickets is a small red box, with a very tiny slot in the top, into which the tickets are to be placed. As the law provides that each patron must deposit his own ticket, more confusion and delay resulted, and the exhibitors will donbtless request permission to have the men on the door receive the tickets, to be deposited by them in the box; or for a box or hopper with a sufficiently large opening to allow the tickets to be tossed in without any trouble.

The tickets themselves are in different colors, and bear the provincial crest. The one-cent tickets, used by the picture houses, are pink; blue ones representing a tax of two and one-half cents are used by other theatres charging up to a dollar admission; while admission prices of a dollar or over, and circus tickets, carry a white ticket selling for five cents. Soldiers are exempted from the tax, as are also partiotic, religious or charitable entertainments.

It is estimated that the theatres of Calgary and Edmonton, representing about one-fourth the number in the province, will bring in a revenue of somewhat more than $3,000 per week. Exhibitors are allowed a commission of ten per cent on the coupons sold.

NEBRASKA TOWN DIGS UP OLD ORDINANCE FOR ENFORCEMENT OF SUNDAY CLOSING

Exhibitors throughout Nebraska—those who know of it—are interested in the manner by which the Lyric theatre at Wymore, Neb., was closed.

When the Lyric, under the ownership and management of H. W. Dimmitt and W. H. Small, opened on Sunday a few weeks ago, many of the church people and some of the business men protested vigorously to Mayor Rawlings, who stated that there was no ordinance to prohibit the theatre from keeping open on Sunday. He said he was not opposed to a motion picture theatre running on Sunday, and as there was no ordinance against it, the Lyric could not be closed.

When Dimmitt and Small were approached by a committee of business men, they said they could not operate at a profit without the Sunday business. They refused to close. The committee made several flank attacks and with the aid of some of the city authorities succeeded in digging up an old ordinance which prohibited moving picture shows from operating in Wymore on Sunday, so all the managers could do was to close. The matter may be taken into the courts.

Sunday closing was put into effect in half a dozen small Iowa towns by the election there June 5.

STEWART APPOINTED WAR TAX TICKET DISTRIBUTOR

Theatre men in Hamilton, Ont., and the surrounding district will be interested to know that David Stewart, proprietor of the Red Mill theatre in that city, has been appointed by the Ontario Legislature distributor of the theatre war tax tickets for that district.

This will mean a saving of time and labor for the theatre men and will also save them from a heavy investment in the tickets. Mr. Stewart is ready to supply these tickets upon application.

JOPLIN MANAGERS FORM CLUB

The Joplin Managers Protective Association was organized in Joplin, Mo., June 8, to secure co-operation in all projects for the general benefit of the industry. The theatres whose managers are interested in the movement are the Princess, Electric, Royal, Empress, Gayety, Club, New Joplin, Ideal and Star. The officers of the association are E. M. Chapman, Ideal, president; L. P. Ballard, Club, and New Joplin, secretary.

ATTEMPTS TO STOP SHOWING OF "LITTLE GIRL NEXT DOOR" IS RECEIVED WITH COOLNESS

The attitude of the central Illinois public toward censorship was illustrated by the coldness with which attempts in Springfield, Ill., were received to stop the showing of "The Little Girl Next Door," Lieutenant-Governor Barret O'Hara's "vice" expose film. In spite of the fact that O'Hara and his vice commission movement enjoy widespread unpopularity in Springfield the effort to forbid the picture exhibition died aborning.

The film was shown at the Gaiety theatre. It ran for a week at that theatre, getting the largest houses of any motion picture exhibition since "The Birth of A Nation." Two things are credited to its drawing power. Not the least important of these was the advertising that the cinematograph version of the vice trust activities received through the unsuccessful attempt to stop it in Chicago. The other was the fact that O'Hara is well known in Springfield and that part of the vice commission sittings were in Chicago. Many of the scenes were taken in the capitol.

OBNOXIOUS CENSOR ORDINANCE IN SAN FRANCISCO IS SAFELY LAID TO REST

The censorship ordinance, which has been under discussion by the board of supervisors of San Francisco for the past three months, passing successively from the police committee to the board as a whole and back to the committee again, is now safely buried and an understanding has been reached whereby it will not be brought up again in its present form. Work has commenced on the drafting of a new ordinance by moving picture interests and when censorship is made an issue again this will be introduced and will have the backing of the police committee of the board of supervisors, the members of which are being consulted in the preparation of the ordinance.

This will do away with a board of censorship and will place moving picture houses on a basis with regular theaters. Whatever chance the former measure had of passage was lost when the Royal Arch went on record as favoring censorship as an effective means of stifling publicity in the coming Prohibition campaign.

TEN WEEKS TO THE STUDIO DIRECTORY! ARE YOU READY?

Film News From Foreign Parts

What Producers in France Say About Situation There

Special to Motion Picture News.

Paris, June 1.

IT is easy for one to sit in a chair, smoke a pipe and write long articles against the importation of films into France, as long as there is no one to contradict the writer.

For many months this has been going on in England as well as in France, but, as I said in some of my previous articles, without the suggestion of a remedy for this so called evil.

I believed that the only people who are able to judge best the present situation in France, are the producers, therefore I decided to see them.

It may be of interest to the readers of Motion Picture News to have an exact notion of the business of the French film producers right from the start up till today, and what they think of foreign films. My first call was on Monsieur Nalpas, manager of the Societe Generale de Cinematographie, late Film d' Art Company, who was good enough to trace in full the history of this company for the readers of Motion Picture News.

"This company, he said, was formed in February, 1908, by three well known men, M. M. Laffiitte, a banker, Henri Lavendan, a well known author, and Le Bargy, the great actor of the Comedy Francaise. Thus the three factors necessary for an enterprising concern were brought together; viz., finance, talent and acting.

Firm Makes Another Start

They made arrangements with Pathes, who agreed to print and release their films. Unfortunately for them the company was formed with a very small capital, 50,000 francs, which capital was soon absorbed. They were handicapped by the fact that no films of more than eight or nine hundred feet would go anywhere at the time being, and it proved quite impossible to make anything really interesting of such a limited length. After all sorts of trouble, the company succeeded in increasing the capital to 250,000 francs, which allowed them to make a good start.

They soon made themselves known all over the world with the films "La Tosca," by Victorien Sardou, with renown artists like Mlle. Sorel and Mr. Le Bargy from the Comedy; with "L'Empreinte," from a scenario by Henri Lavendan, with Mlle. Mistinguette and Max Dearly; with "L'Assasinat du Duc de Guise," also from a scenario of Mr. Lavendan, with Mlle. Robinne and Messrs. Le Bargy and Albert Lambert, from the Comedy Francaise.

In August, 1909, Monsieur Paul Gavault was appointed manager of the company and under his management the company started selling their productions direct. In April, 1910, another change took place. This time Mr. Delac, well acquainted with the film business, was appointed manager of the company. This time the firm was registered under the well known name of Le Film d' Art. It was under this gentleman's management that the films, "Madame Sans Gene," with Madame Rejane, and "La Dame aux Camelias," with Sarah Bernhardt, were made.

At the end of 1911, Mr. Delac again increased the capital to one and a-half million francs and changed the name to the one it now bears, Societe Generale de Cinematographie.

The management of the theatre, which was built in 1912, was intrusted to L. Nalpas, who has since become manager of the company. It is under his management that the firm has released films like "The Three Mousquetaires" by Alexandre Dumas, the great Vaudevilles like: "Un Fil a la Patte," "Le Dindon," "La Puce a l'Oreille" and many others with the great comedian Germain who is one of our best Comedy actors.

Nalpas Now in Charge

Since the beginning of the war, Mons. Delac has been called to the front, and Mr. Nalpas has taken over the reins of this company. It is Mr. Nalpas who has given us the two patriotic films "La Fille du Boche" and "Alsace" with Madame Rejane.

I was also told by Mr. Nalpas that their next film to be released will be "La Flambée," from a scenario of Monsieur Henry Kistemackers, with Madame Jane Harding playing the principal role.

"What do you think of the big campaign carried on by some of our papers against foreign films?" I inquired.

"If we had good films and enough to provide our requirements, we would not buy any foreign ones," he answered.

After what I was told by Mr. Nalpas, manager of the Société Générale de Cinématographie, about foreign films, as reported in my previous article, I went to see Mr. Pathé.

I find, and a good many with me, that it is much easier to get near Mr. Poincaré, the president of the French Republic, than to come near Charles Pathé.

People Think Pathe Owns All Theatres

If it is impossible to see the king of the French film world, it is always possible to get hold of one of his officials, who in most cases is ready to give the requested information.

I was fortunate to get the ear of one of them, who most willingly consented to give me information about this world-renowned firm:

"The name Pathé," is synonymous with the phonograph and cinema business; in France the name of Pathé to the general public means cinema," he said. "People often say let us go to Pathé. This does not mean to one of Pathé's establishments, but simply to a cinema theater. Many people still believe that all cinemas and every film is owned and made by Pathé."

The reason, of course, is that the kinema industry in France was actually developed by Pathé; a few years ago nothing but Pathé films used to be seen at the kinemas, and most of the kinemas opened by different people, used to call their theaters "Cinema Pathé." This was a guarantee for a success.

It must be admitted that Charles Pathé, a most enterprising man, was one of the first to predict the enormous development of the kinema; and thanks to his energy this company has made an enormous extension in the last few years.

Business of this firm has grown more than 20 per cent. in a comparatively short time. It is wonderful what profits they have been able to realize for the last fifteen years.

It is interesting to know that until 1913, they used to buy all the unprinted films abroad, and Charles Pathé then succeded in raising the capital of the company from fifteen to thirty millions of francs, with the intention (which was immediately carried out) to build a larger film manufactory; and using the first uninflammable films, this firm was able to secure the world's market for such films.

"Films produced by our firm," this gentleman told me, are shown all over the world, and of which only about five per cent. are released in France. The firm produces films all over the world, their manufactories abroad representing a value of over 50 millions of francs.

It may well be said that it is one of the largest film producing concerns in the world, and also one of the largest French industrial companies.

All Paris Knows Pathe Offices

The general offices of this concern are well known to every Parisian and those who have come to this city; they are on the Boulevard des Italiens and occupy a very large building.

The first floor is entirely occupied by the "Compatibilitié"; they are impossible to approach; they have the control of the business, which amounts to over 60,000.000 a year. The second floor is taken up by the manager's and secretary's offices. Third floor is occupied by French and foreign correspondents and the fourth by the technical and commercial administration. From here also direct telegraph and telephone lines communicate with the different manufactories outside Paris. One of the largest is at Vincennes, a suburb which was occupied by 1,700 employes, previous to the war.

Three of the Allegorical Scenes From the Thomas Dixon Spectacle, "The Fall of a Nation"

Up till 1907, the firm produced very nearly 30,000 meters of film daily, and in 1909, the production was raised to 70,000 meters a day; and in 1913, when the firm first produced uninflammable films, their production jumped up to 160,000 meters; before the beginning of the war it got to the fantastically sounding figure of 300,000 meters a day.

In addition to their special studios for scientific, entomological, microbiological and radio cinematografic subjects, they have a very important and wonderfully installed coloring studio where over 500 girls were occupied.

The second largest works are at Joinville, on the beautiful river Marne, about one hour from Paris, where over 1,000 people used to find occupation. Well, all this or nearly every thing has been stopped since the war.

"We are not producing anything worth mentioning," said the official. "We are buying any good negatives we are able to and you will therefore understand that we consider that it is absolutely ridiculous to say we ought not to show any foreign made films. We want an enormous quantity of good subjects and we have to get them from England, America or Italy."

MORE BUILDINGS FOR "V" IN HOLLYWOOD

Special to Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, June 17.

Plans have been made for a number of new buildings which will be erected almost immediately at the Hollywood Vitagraph plant. These include a number of additional dressing rooms, a large garage, and following the building of these will be taken up the construction of a new office building, which will be erected on the corner at the entrance of the thirteen acre plot.

Country-Wide Exploitation of "Fall of a Nation" Planned

Within Three Months, According to Present Aim of National Drama, Largest Cities Will Have the Picture, and Several Companies Will Be Sent Out on Tour

THE National Drama Corporation, following the successful production of "The Fall of a Nation" at the Liberty theatre, has begun preparations for a country-wide exploitation of Thomas Dixon and Victor Herbert's patriotic musical spectacle. Within three months, according to present plans, the largest cities in the country will have the attraction and several touring companies with complete orchestra will be sent out. Ever since the opening at the Liberty there has been a steady demand for "The Fall of a Nation" in the best combination theatres throughout the entire country.

Before this demand is satisfied, however, it is the aim of Mr. Dixon to make productions in the large centers of population. This will pile up publicity for the theatre owner in the smaller cities of the section and make the booking of the spectacle profitable for all concerned. The first production outside of New York is scheduled for Monday, June 19, in Clune's Auditorium, Los Angeles. Mr. Dixon is now in California, where he went to supervise the opening on the coast. On his way east he will stop in Chicago, where the Illinois Theatre will house "The Fall of a Nation" from July 3 indefinitely. Mr. Dixon is specially pleased at his success in obtaining the Illinois, as it as at that theatre that "The Birth of a Nation" had such a long engagement. He is also happy in the selection of the night before the Fourth for the opening, believing that this augurs well for the success of his appeal to the patriotism of the nation.

From the south, where the Dixon books, plays and film features have always been profitable, the desire for bookings of his newest work are so numerous that four companies are projected for the territory south of Mason and Dixon's Line.

Color from a Palette as Well as "Local Color" for Pathe

Realistic Effect Is Heightened in "A Matrimonial Martyr" by Putting the Picture Through the Hand Process of Pathecolor, Berst Explains

"REALISM," said J. A. Berst, vice-president and general manager of Pathe, the other day in talking of "A Matrimonial Martyr," Pathe's next Gold Rooster release, "is the essential quality in a picture—that goes without saying. It was a recognition of that fact which prompted the house of Pathe a number of years ago to experiment in coloring films, since by the use of natural colors realism is increased. The coloring process is laborious and costly, but the popularity of Pathe pictures in Pathecolor bears witness to the fact that the extra labor and expense is well worth while, and it is evident that along with the increased realism of colored pictures comes a greatly added beauty as well.

"When we saw the Balboa company's production of 'A Matrimonial Martyr' for our Gold Rooster Program some months ago, the beauty of its photography and its wonderful outdoor scenes demanded no less appreciation from us than the process of Pathecolor, which is hand-color.

"Blackberry patches, outdoor swimming pools washing mossy banks, fruit orchards, country estates, flower-fringed roads and lastly, but not leastly, the charming summer dresses worn by Miss Roland insisted on color. So we sent 'A Matrimonial Martyr' abroad to our Paris laboratories, there to be treated to the tedious and expensive process of Pathecolor.

"People generally appreciate the element of color as one that makes for greater realism. This appreciation makes itself felt by the exhibitor as witness the enormous bookings on our 'Beloved Vagabond. 'A Rose Among the Briars,' and 'The Shrine of Happiness.'"

"A Matrimonial Martyr" is a comedy-drama in five reels, for release on the Pathe Gold Rooster Program in the week of June 19. It was made by the Balboa company, and features Ruth Roland, charming star of the "Who Pays?" series, "The Red Circle" series, and the Gold Rooster Play, "Comrade John."

ANITA STEWART TO BE LEAD IN "THE GIRL PHILIPPA"

Anita Stewart, whose most recent appearance was in "The Suspect,' is to have the stellar role in a Vitagraph picturization of "The Girl Philippa" by Robert W. Chambers.

JUST TO MAKE TALK

By LONGACRE

IT is to the Universal publicity department that we are indebted for a hint as to the Celtic origin of "Odiva," a more or less celebrated star of vaudeville. Four times on one page of typewritting she is referred to as "O'Diva."

Landslides on the seven hills of Inceville, it is solemnly reported, have altered the courses of streams running through the grounds into the sea, and now broks which used to run the other side of the mountains, trickle by the dressing room doors. A number of actors are able to catch enough trout for lunch by throwing a line out of their dressing room windows, and when one fair young thing who draws pay from the Inceville aggregation, reached her dressing room the other morning, she found six oysters lined up by the threshold waiting to be opened, and a large lobster which had crawled up close to the window, was broiling in the sun.

Yes, Edwin, in reply to yours of the 7th, we will be glad to join you in any offensive, or summer drive against the type of press-agent you mention. Your part in the campaign, however, commences in the same geographical location as does charity.

Special carbon copies to this department contain the information that Joe Engel has a Victrola (adv.) installed in his ————* automobile. When he is halted by traffic jams, etc., he merely sits back and turns on the music. His repertoire includes mostly: "Star of the Sea," "Star-light, Star Bright," "Evening Star," and "Twinkle-twinkle Little Star."

*This space for sale.

Sometimes these bits of comedy correspondence which we so love to reprint, originate right in our own office. To one of our pulchritudinous confreres—to be exact, Lillian Krieger—we owe this letter, postmarked Cardiff, South Wales, and opened by the censor:

My dear sir: please send me as soon as possible the sample copy of Motion Picture News as I have not got the copy that you said you would send me, I should like to Have as I am Interested in American Cinema papers as I have told you in my first letter
With Love.

.....

The young woman above mentioned insists that there is nothing personal in the form of the signature, so it must be meant for all of us. Surely we are loved by our advertising friends, as Shakespeare and the Mellin's Food Company would have it.

Valeska Suratt's press agents (yes, we intended the plural) are now bragging that she drops her Hs. We are not going to contest it, but—why specify Hs?

James Smith and Rose Richter, heads of the assembling and joining department of the Fine Arts studios have arranged to sign each other up for life.

Poetry had a good week of it during the seven days ending at 6 P. M., June 17. We received a clever little prose-verse credited to Marie Doro, and a perfectly good piece of verse-libre directed at Earle Williams, but as both were carbon copies. we suspect our inability to control the exclusive rights. We like poetry, but not the carbonized kind.

Hot out of Australia comes the complaint that American screen actresses show lack of form—physically. The complaint has crystallized into the statement that only Mabel Normand and Beverly Bayne satisfy the public taste when appearing in a bathing suit. The kick specifically mentions "flat-chestedness." We have a collection of photographs admirably calculated to refute this charge; it includes Marie Dressler, Olga Petrova, Kate Price, Lule Warrenton, Valeska Suratt, et al.

De Wolf Hopper, who has had charge of the subscription list at the Triangle-Fine Arts studio, has notified the managers of the Actors' Fund of America that his list has exceeded the twelve hundred dollar mark and that before the time expires for contributions to be made, it will be considerably larger.

Heading the list is David W. Griffith and among others whose names appear on it are Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, De Wolf Hopper, Douglas Fairbanks, Norma Talmadge, Fay Tincher, Constance Collier, Frank E. Woods, G. W. Bitzer, Wilfred Lucas, John Emerson, Alan Dwan, Owen Moore and, in fact, practically every employee of the Fine Arts studio in Southern California.

After twenty strenuous weeks making "The Iron Claw" serial, Creighton Hale, the hero of the serial, will leave in a few days for his vacation, going on a motor trip through New England. Hale's plans for the future are not definite, as he has had a number of offers for serials and five reel subjects.

The Bayside Bugle

Vol. I. No. 6. Bayside, L. I., June 19, 1916 Ten cts. a copy

EDITORIAL

The BUGLE agrees with many of our citizens anent the recent advertising of the film play "Civilization" in city papers, although none of this advertising was printed in the BUGLE, yet our opposition is not taken from selfish motives and we are not inclined to cry "Sour Grapes." This advertising was all about preparedness, and at the top was a picture of T. Roosefelt, and at the bottom one of Pres. Wilson. This is bad taste, no matter what one's politics, and although some people say republicans and their ilk have always been bad losers, still the President is the first American, and should not be given second place, in our view. We repeat, this is bad taste, and we disapprove of seeing it in the public prints.

Local News

—Leon A. Searl and his wife, Victoria, have moved to our midst, and have taken up their domicile at the Yacht club. Leon is the man who draws pictures of K. Kat for Mr. Hearst's film co. His wife is another addition to our colony of picture stars.

—Arthur Ashley honored our smiling village with an auto call, Sun. last.

—Jean Doyle, whose husband is of the famous Doyle & Dixon troop, is summering in Bayside, she going to N. Y. nearly every morning on the 8:49 train.

—H. Reichenbach, of Wright ave., this city, has learned to drive his own car, being known around Jim McKenna's and the First M. E. church as Young De Palma.

—John Ince and Riley Hatch were observed together on the 5:22 train from N. York, Tues. aft.

—Marsh Farnum has gone west to join his brothers, Dust. and Bill, the boys in New York giving him a great sendoff.

—J. H. Goldfrap and wife, and E. Richard Schayer expect to become Bayside residents on July 1, they having engaged a house near Jim Corbett's and given references.

—PERSONAL—If Pearl White, of this city, will communicate with the BUGLE she will be placed in touch with someone very anxious to meet her. adv.tf.

—Geo. Irving and wife were out for a spin with Ye Editor on Long Id., last Wed. eve, the car being George's Hudson 6, and not ours as might be inferred from the above. Thanks, Geo.

—We regret to find our cashier is holding something against us, especially the memorandums of what we have drawn ahead on our wages, which is very annoying in our humble view.

—Jim Corbett is home for the summer, and Cyril Scott is expected back in these parts soon.

—Maurice Costello has got a new job; he is going to play in part in a new moving picture serial, or continued story, for a N. Y. company. Cos is a popular fellow, and we wish him success.

—Bill Willis is back from Mexico, and got out on the Bayside tennis courts the first thing.

—L. A. Searl, who manages the cartoon dept. for Mr. Hearst's film co., in N. York, is a guest at the yacht club for the summer, with his wife, Victoria Searl, who is also in the motion picture bus., being quite well known as a actress. The BUGLE and Ye editor, who knew Mr. Searl in Chgo., many yrs. ago, are glad to welcome them to our midst.

—Nance O'Neil the famous N. Y. actress, is Baysiding for the summer.

—Harry Hilliard, who has been acting in pictures for the World co., autoed out to Bayside Sun. last.

—Oscar Eagle Sundayed in Bayside, he getting a pretty good dinner at Cliff Bruce's, so we are instructed.

—Frank Alworth is one of the latest celebraties to become a Baysideite, he getting a house down towards the yacht club.

If it happened in Bayside, it's in The Bugle. Make your own test.

Billie Burke in Moments of High Interest from "The Harvest of Sin," Chapter 7 of George Kleine's "Gloria's Romance

GERALDINE FARRAR ON COAST FOR 12-WEEK ENGAGEMENT IN 5, 7 AND 10-REEL SUBJECTS FOR LASKY

Geraldine Farrar and her husband, Lou Tellegen, are in Los Angeles for an engagement of twelve weeks in motion pictures to be produced by Cecil B. deMille. Prior to the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Tellegen, representatives of the Lasky studio made all possible arrangements for the comfort of the celebrated singer and actor husband. A handsome residence located in the centre of a private part in Hollywood was leased for the two, and a retinue of servants engaged.

It is expected that Miss Farrar will play in at least three separate photoplays while there, but at the office of Director deMille, no information could be given out, pending answers to telegrams to the New York office of the Lasky company. It is understood photoplays of five, seven and ten reels respectively, are being considered. It is the intention of Director deMille to use the same players in these subjects as appeared in the Farrar-Carmen and other pictures made last year.

Lou Tellegen will not appear in the cast with Miss Farrar.

The arrival of the singer and her husband caused a gathering of celebrities at the station including a number of opera singers of international reputations who are on the coast.

ALMOST ALL THEATRES IN MILWAUKEE SHOW PICTURES

Special to Motion Picture News.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 17.

All but two of the burlesque houses, a stock theatre and a popular price vaudeville house have gone into pictures. "The Birth of a Nation," re-opened at the Davidson theatre last week. This is its second summer in Milwaukee and indications point to another year almost as good as last. The Majestic, the big time vaudeville house, is playing features at twenty-five cents.

Incidentally there are to be a number of changes in the bookings at the various theatres. The Toy theatre has secured the Triangle plays, which have been shown at the Merrill theatre. The Merrill goes to the open market booking. All indications point to a record summer here.

Fireproof Paint Building Added to Pallas Studios

Structure Is in Course of Erection Near Main Stage to Shorten Trips of Artists to Scenery Department for Proper Color Schemes for the Settings

CONSTANT enlargement and improvement is evident at the Pallas Pictures studios in Los Angeles. One of the additions now being built is a fireproof building for the purpose of storing paints and oils used in the finishing of large sets. The building is being erected near the main stage and when finished will eliminate the troubles of the artists who must now make many trips back and forth from the scenery department to the stage, in order to get proper color schemes for the settings.

Various prop buildings and sets used in the last production are being torn down to make room for several large exterior sets for "Nell of Thunder Mountain," starring Vivian Martin. Many men have been added to the carpenter and technical forces in order to have the big street scenes for "The Parson of Panamint" ready for Dustin Farnum when he returns from the desert with his company.

The Pallas Pictures roster of players has also increased on several occasions of late, the most recent acquisitions including Walter S. Frederick and "Doc" Pomeroy Cannon, both motion picture players of prominence. Walter Frederick went from the New York Motion Picture Company and has appeared in such photoplays as "The Raiders" with H. B. Warner, "The Sacrifice" with Bessie Barriscale, "The No Good Guy" with Willie Collier, "Senator Biggs" and others of equal import, including the "Graft" serial. Prior to his appearance on the screen Mr. Frederick played on the speaking stage for twenty-two seasons in stock, comic opera and vaudeville.

"Doc" Cannon is another actor of wide experience, principally in character leads. Among his screen characterizations were those in "Mr. Jitney" with DeWolf Hopper in Fine Arts productions, with Douglas Fairbanks in "The Good Bad Man," "Modern Magdalene," "The Honor System," etc. On the speaking stage he appeared in various branches of the theatre including minstrelsy, variety, melodrama, vaudeville, stock and in executive capacities for various theatrical and circus organizations. For David Belasco he appeared with Mrs. Leslie Carter in "Adria" and was one of the first to play Ursua in "Quo Vadis." Mr. Cannon is now appearing in an important character with Dustin Farnum in "The Parson of Panamint," being produced at the Pallas studios.

Hear Ye, Hear Ye! Pittsburgh Makes Call for Convention

Final Arrangements Are Completed for the Fourth Annual Exposition of Exhibitors of Pennsylvania, Scheduled for June 26-28, in the Moose Temple

FINAL arrangements are being completed for the Fourth Annual Convention and Exposition of the exhibitors of Pennsylvania, which will be held at Moose Temple, Pittsburgh, June 26-28. Invitations have been sent to all exhibitors in the Keystone State, and in West Virginia and northeastern Ohio. Committees are actively at work to make the affair the best of its kind ever held by Pennsylvania showmen.

Many questions of vital interest to the exhibitor will be taken up, particularly local and state censorship. The exhibits and advertising display, it is announced, will be elaborate. The latest devices known to the industry will be on exhibition.

President A. J. Barthell, of the Pittsburgh local, and James Delves, state secretary, were in New York last week to arrange for the appearance of a number of stars on each day of the convention. A special ladies' reception committee has been appointed to provide entertainment features for wives of exhibitors.

Further information with regard to the convention may be obtained from Secretary Delves, 823 Penn avenue, Pittsburgh.

"INDIANA" SHOWN TO GOVERNOR OF THE STATE

The preliminary presentation of "Indiana," the historic motion picture filmed by the Selig Company to commemorate the history of Indiana as a State, was given in the Indianapolis State House, on Wednesday evening, June 7. A select audience was present, including the Indiana State Historical Commission, the Governor of Indiana, members of his staff, and other state officials. All expressed satisfaction over the worth of the motion picture.

The World Renowned

DORSEY EXPEDITION PICTURES ON THE REGULAR UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

THE DORSEY EXPEDITION PICTURES

A Quarter of a Million Dollar Feature Handed out on a Silver Platter To All Universal Exhibitors.

TOPS EVERYTHING IN PROGRAM HISTORY

AN accomplishment EXTRAORDINARY—an achievement for Universal Program users that "tops" anything ever heard of. The famous DORSEY EXPEDITION PICTURES are as vastly different from the usual so-called Travel pictures as day is from night. You can advertise them BIG—making the biggest noise you ever made—for 14 straight weeks—insuring yourself 14 straight weeks of capacity houses. Booked through any other medium than the Universal you would be forced to pay BIG PRICES for this 14 week box office attraction. As a regular U Program user you get this marvellous Travel series for 14 weeks without one cent extra cost. Non-users of the U Program can book these Dorsey Expedition Pictures at attractive rates. Communicate with your nearest U Exchange, and get the regular U Program if you possibly can, which includes this DORSEY EXPEDITION without extra cost. Get busy today.

UNIVERSAL FILM MFG. CO.

CARL LAEMMLE, President

"The Largest Film Manufacturing Concern in the Universe"

1600 Broadway New York

It Thrills—

Delights and Fascinates!

Thrills with the charm of the dangers and daring of the circus arena. Delights with a love story that is true and tender. Fascinates with the circus atmosphere—life with the people of the circus and under the big white tops. Never in all the history of serials has there been a subject so universal in its appeal to young and old of both sexes. Everyone loves the circus and

GRACE CUNARD
15 WEEKS—30 REELS

"Peg o' the RING"

FRANCIS FORD
15 WEEKS—30 REELS

With its circus atmosphere, its high class circus acts, with its deeds of daring, and red-blooded action, is daily demonstrating that when it comes to serials "you have to hand it to the Universal." With a brilliant all-star cast headed by those popular serial players—Grace Cunard and Francis Ford—it is daily "cleaning up" for thousands of foresighted Exhibitors throughout the land—men who saw the tremendous possibilities of the first and only circus serial and who knew from experience that the Universal would perform even more than it ever promised.

All Booking Records Smashed

Never in the history of Universal serials—the most successful of all serials ever presented—has the record of "Peg O' the Ring" been equalled in the number of bookings. Exhibitors everywhere are getting capacity business every episode because "PEG" the great circus serial has caught the public fancy. IMPORTANT:—It is not too late for you to connect with this assured money-maker. Write to-day for full particulars and for the big FREE (to Exhibitors) Advertising Campaign Book—cover in six colors and gold. Complete advertising plans that will make "Peg O' the Ring" a sure-fire winner for you. Write or wire your nearest Universal Exchange to-day, or the

UNIVERSAL

FILM MANUFACTURING CO.
CARL LAEMMLE, President
"The Largest Film Manufacturing Concern in the Universe"
1600 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

DOROTHY KINGDON SELLS PATHEPHONES AT ALLIED BAZAAR

Dorothy Kingdon, who in private life is the Baronness Dorothy Van Raven, and remembered for her work in Pathe, Biograph and Reliance productions, has been assisting Mrs. Robert Bacon and Mrs. Francis Rogers in selling the Pathephone at the Allied Bazaar. The Pathephone was presented to the Bazaar by Pathe Freres.

Dorothy Kingdon

Miss Kingdon has under consideration offers from western photoplay companies, but it is probable she will continue her picture work in the East. She has only recently recovered from an injury sustained in the filming of "The Governor's Boss."

FORD IS ASSISTANT TO CECIL B. DEMILLE

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Los Angeles, June 17.

A number of changes were made last week at the Lasky studio upon the return of Cecil B. deMille from the east. Captain R. Ford, who has been in charge of the engagement department, has been selected as assistant to Mr. deMille, and will take up this new work as soon as he recovers from a slight operation which he recently underwent at a local hospital.

Milton Hoffman, general manager of the studio, has selected Fannie Ferris, for a long time head of the engaging department for William H. Gregory of New York City, to succeed Captain Ford. Miss Ferris has arrived at the studio and has taken up her new work.

BARRETT IS AT HEAD OF MUTUAL IN TORONTO

W. Barrett, formerly manager of the Winnipeg branch of the Universal Film Company, who resigned recently, and returned to Toronto, has been appointed manager of the Toronto branch for the Mutual Film Corporation. Mr. Barrett, was on the road for the Mutual Company for a few weeks, but his occupancy of the manager's chair was inevitable, and only a matter of a short time.

"Star Courses" of V-L-S-E Films Is Big Four Aim

For Small Towns Unable to Book Large Features Company Arranges Lists of Four, Five and Six Plays Lending Themselves to Exploitation on "Chautauqua Plan"

AN entirely new departure in the distribution of films—in the form of star courses of V-L-S-E feature plays—has been instituted by that distributing organization.

Realizing that sometimes the very small towns cannot afford to book features of extraordinary merit such as "The Battle Cry of Peace," "The Ne'er-Do-Well," "Sherlock Holmes," and "The Great Divide," representatives of the Big Four have arranged various lists of four, five and six feature plays that lend themselves to the exploitation by the exhibitor on the Chautauqua plan. The manner in which the plan is being received by the small-town patrons is the most pertinent evidence that it fills a long-felt want.

A fact which is making the star courses particularly popular in small towns is that they not only provide amusement and entertainment for the inhabitants, but they also raise money for civic and charitable purposes. While the original intention of the subscription plan was merely to obtain a guarantee to provide the means for the exhibitor covering the expenses of booking the features in the courses, many of the exhibitors have enlisted the aid of civic, social and religious organizations in their communities, with the result that both they and the associations have found themselves in possession of hundreds of dollars in profits.

The success of the plan is illustrated by the reception which it has received from the critics in the little town of Muncy, Pa.

Public spirited citizens of that little town called a meeting for the purpose of planting trees and otherwise improving the town park. One of those in attendance had heard of the V-L-S-E plan of star courses and proposed that subscriptions be taken up to run such a course. Tickets for the series of entertainments were printed and 260 of them sold. Besides this number of tickets, single admissions were also sold when the pictures were displayed.

With the proceeds on the course tickets, the promoters booked a star course in the Philadelphia branch office of the Big Four. These included "Graustark," "The Rosary," "The Island of Regeneration," and "The White Sister." They were shown one a week.

There are less than a thousand inhabitants in Muncy, but when the course was completed and the promoters figured up their box office receipts and paid off all expenses, they found a most substantial profit in the strong box.

This same plan was worked recently by a V-L-S-E exhibitor on a single picture. J. A. Karnes, manager of the Lyric theatre, Blacksburg, Va., received repeated requests to run "The Battle Cry of Peace" and couldn't see his way clear to do it, but upon the star course suggestion he went among his townsmen and secured one hundred fifty subscriptions and upon running the picture, did the largest business of his experience.

Twelve Companies at Work in Essanay Studios in Chicago

Production of Walthall's Next Vehicle Is Begun—Antoinette Walker, Leading Woman for Warfield in "Music Master," Takes Chief Supporting Part

TWELVE companies are now at work in the Essanay studios at Chicago on a program of two and three reel subjects, together with two pretentious feature productions. It is possible for this number of directors to be constantly at work because of the massive third studio, now complete in every detail, which alone is large enough to accommodate the varied sets of four or five directors.

Two companies can work in each of the two older studios, thus making it necessary for only three or four directors to do exteriors while the others are inside. A large stock company, augmented as required by stars of established reputation on the stage, enables each director to have a cast of unusual strength for every subject.

The extraordinary activity has been made necessary by the order of President George K. Spoor that the next two Essanay multiple reel dramas, featuring Henry B. Walthall and Edna Mayo, respectively, be made decidedly artistic offerings. Thus, the one, two or three reel subjects, are being made somewhat farther ahead of program than usual, in order to clear the studios for the two features. Sets for one feature will take up the space in the largest studio, while the sets for the other play will be constructed in both other studios.

Work on Henry B. Walthall's next vehicle has already begun. The play gives Mr. Walthall the best opportunity he has ever had to display his unusual ability. He will be supported by numerous stage stars and Essanay players who are customarily to be seen in leading roles. Antoinette Walker, leading woman for David Warfield in "The Music Master" and other Belasco productions, takes the chief supporting part. Exteriors will be filmed at Camp Logan, the rifle range and encampment grounds of the Illinois National Guard, situated just north of Fort Sheridan, the United States army post.

"The Return of Eve," with which Edna Mayo will make her next bow to the screen public, deals with a group of scientists who experiment with two babies by placing them on an island and supplying them with necessities, but permitting them to know no other humans. When the children reach the age of nineteen years, the aged scientists find the time has come for their experiment and take the children to civilization. Here the simple girl and boy of nature are lost in a whirl of society. By its deceit and sham they are disgusted and return to their Eden. But having tasted of the world outside, Eden is no longer Paradise and they return to the society of other human beings.

Eugene O'Brien, long a Broadway leading man, who has played opposite the greatest women stars in pictures, will support Miss Mayo. Other stage stars of high standing will appear in the other roles.

Views from Four American Photoplays for Mutual Patrons: "The Gentle Conspiracy," "Convicted for Murder," "The House on Hokum Hill," and "The Comet's Comeback"

MITCHELL LEWIS, METRO, IS "HEAP BIG CHIEF"

Mitchell Lewis, who plays Kahoma, the Indian, in Viola Dana's first Metro production, "The Flower of No Man's Land," can speak the Ute language fluently, and knows some of the Onondaga language. He has made a specialty of Indian parts, and has lived among the Indians in various parts of the country. He has also played African headsmen, Chinamen, and everyday American types.

His father was Welsh and his mother Bohemian.

Mr. Lewis was formerly in the United States navy. He was on the Wasp in Cuba and Porto Rico, during the Spanish-American war. Later he went to the flagship New York, and was schoolmaster in the naval training school at Newport. He has medals for bravery in action.

SELZNICK NEGOTIATING FOR FOREIGN AGENCIES TO HANDLE YOUNG PICTURES

Ben S. Cohen and Ned H. Spitzer, personal representatives of Lewis J. Selznick, are in Minneapolis where they are negotiating with interests there for the distribution of the Clara Kimball Young pictures throughout Minnesota, the Dakotas and Nebraska. They will also visit Denver, San Francisco, New Orleans, Birmingham, and Atlanta on a similar mission.

Meanwhile, Mr. Selznick is personally arranging the foreign distribution. He is negotiating with agencies for Russia, Great Britain, France and South America.

Two Hundred Letters from Exhibitors Praise Selig Plays

Policy of Featuring Company's Stars in Shorter Length Productions and Devoting Time and Care to Their Making Brings Results

THE Selig Polyscope Company has on file over two hundred commendatory letters written by exhibitors of motion pictures and all highly praising the productions being released by the Selig Company through general film service. William N. Selig's policy of having his best stars appear in shorter length productions, and of devoting time and care to making the Selig one, two and three reel pictureplays meritorious in every way, has resulted, according to a statement of the Selig Company in trebling its business during the past six months.

Mr. Selig in the pursuance of his General Film policy announces the release of "The Return," through General Film service on Monday, July 3. "The Return," in three reels, was produced by Thomas N. Heffron from the story written by William E. Wing. Kathlyn Williams is afforded many opportunities and she is supported by such stars as Wellington Player, Guy Oliver, Sidney Smith, Vivian Reed and others.

"Some Duel," a Tom Mix Western comedy released Saturday, July 8, through General Film service, is the first of a series of Mix Western comedies. Every Saturday until further notice a Tom Mix comedy will be released. They will be in one or two reels.

"A Milk White Flag," one of Charles Hoyt's cleverest satires, will be released in three reels by the Selig Company, through General Film service on Monday, July 10. Otis Harlan will be featured. His support includes a company of players each one carefully chosen for a certain type in this Hoyt comedy. "Legal Advice," another Tom Mix comedy, will be released through the General Film Company on Saturday, July 15.

World Has Program to Sharpen Interest During Dull Months

On July 3 Will Be Released "The Crucial Test," on July 10 "The Weakness of Man," on July 17 "Sally of Our Alley," on July 24 "Paying the Price"

THE program of releases of the World Film Corporation for the dull summer months, according to the way it is at present arranged, is of sufficient interest the company believes, both in point of stars and stories to attract attention.

On July 3, Kitty Gordon, last seen in "Her Maternal Right" will make her third World appearance in "The Crucial Test."

In direct contrast, in a story as unlike and a theme as dissimilar, Holbrook Blinn will characterize the release date of July 10, in a tale, "The Weakness of Man."

July 17 will see two World stars, Carlyle Blackwell and Muriel Ostriche in their first co-starring vehicle, "Sally In Our Alley," which was produced from a scenario inspired by the famous old song classic of the same name in which both Mr. Blackwell and Miss Ostriche have roles. "Sally In Our Alley" is in contrast to the Kitty Gordon and Holbrook Blinn pictures which precede it. It is of the heart touching, sentimental type and a relief from the highly dramatic efforts of the other two.

On July 24, Gail Kane will be seen again, this time in "Paying The Price."

Folowing upon "La Vie De Boheme," comes Alice Brady on July 31, in "Miss Petticoats," based entirely on the popular novel of the same name and staged under the personal direction of William A. Brady in the precise locale of the original story. A number of the scenes were staged on board an old whaler, off the coast of Massachusetts, while others were made in various spots, called for by the author.

Baltimore Censors Begin to Perform Their Functions

Board at Work on the Holy Duty of Keeping the Public Mind Free from Any Picture Contamination in Maryland, and Theatre Patrons Will Soon Feel Uplift Effect

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Baltimore, June 17.

MEMBERS of the Motion Picture Board of Censorship began active operation on Monday, June 19. The Board on that date began to view film for release Monday, June 26 and thereafter.

The censors have located in a large suite of rooms at 204 East Lexington street, near the Baltimore film center. The motion picture exhibitors are very enthusiastic over the personnel of the Maryland Censorship board, as the individual members are persons of high standing, and it is believed will give perfect justice to the exhibitors and manufacturers, as well as carry out the lines of the censorship law.

Guy L. Wonders, manager of the Wilson theatre, has been working with the censors and has given them the benefit of his wide experience in the motion picture field. Mr. Wonders will represent in Baltimore five or six of the largest film manufacturing concerns in the country, and for this reason will be in constant touch with the censors.

A. F. GILLASPEY.

"LITTLE MARY SUNSHINE" IS "BORROWED" FROM BALBOA BY PATHE FOR GOLD ROOSTER PLAYS

"Little Mary Sunshine," a recent Pathe Gold Rooster play, has met with remarkable success. The chubby dimpled face of filmdom's "littlest leading lady" has caught the public fancy to such an extent that exhibitors have been petitioned by their patrons for more pictures in which she appears.

In consequence, J. A. Berst, vice-president and general manager of Pathe, has contracted with the Balboa company for the exclusive services of the child in forthcoming Gold Rooster Plays.

As public and exhibitors alike have persisted in calling the baby "Little Mary Sunshine" (the title of her first feature), everyone concerned has forgotten the name on her birth certificate, and as "Little Mary Sunshine" she will probably go down in film history.

The famous bear that was her playmate in her first feature will probably appear in the new pictures. Henry King will again be her director.

ADMIRAL WINSLOW, COMMANDER OF PACIFIC FLEET, GETS BEFORE CAMERA AT "U" CITY

An admiral of the United States Navy performed before the camera at Universal City on Monday, May 29. The distinguished gentleman in the service of the United States who enacted the role assigned to him is the commanding officer of the Pacific fleet—Admiral Cameron McR. Winslow, and at the time he was visiting the famous picture plant with the officers of his staff and those of the flagship Milwaukee and the San Diego, to which place they had been escorted by President John S. Mitchell of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and President E. G. Judah of the Merchants and Manufacturers of the southern city.

The admiral and his party had passed a pleasant half hour in watching Harry Carey and his company, under the direction of George Marshall, make a number of scenes for "Well Represented," a western drama.

A THEATRE IN CHICAGO IS NAMED THE V-L-S-E

Alfred Hamberger, one of the best known exhibitors in Chicago, last week formally opened the V-L-S-E theatre in that city.

Mr. Hamberger chose the Ziegfield theatre for the christening under the V-L-S-E banner. This house is situated in one of the best locations in the city, at 624 Michigan Boulevard, and is also one of the largest theatres in the city.

In his opening announcement, Mr. Hamberger states that it is his purpose to give the V-L-S-E theatre the best of his long and successful experience in handling theatres, and points significantly to his choice of Big Four features exclusively for the house.

The new theatre was opened with the big Essanay seven-part feature, "Sherlock Holmes," with William Gillette in the title role. The first night audience was a most representative one.

Mutuals for Dates Near at Hand Range from Drama to Comedy

"The Decoy," with Frances Nelson, Will Be Released on June 29; Second Masterpicture Is "The Sign of the Spade" and "King o' Make-Believe" Appears on July 1

Scenes from Two Mutual Masterpictures de Luxe—Left, Frances Nelson in "The Decoy"; Right, Helen Rosson in "The Sign of the Spade"

FRANCES NELSON, who, in recent months has starred in several notable productions, is presented by the Mutual Film Corporation as the chief player of "The Decoy," a five act human interest drama, to be released as a Mutual Masterpicture, De Luxe Edition.

This production, a picturization of Herbert Hall Winslow's story, "The Country Girl," which will be released June 29, tops Mutual releases for the week of June 26.

As Glory Moore, the heroine of Mr. Winslow's romance of love, intrigue and revenge, Miss Nelson has been cast and in her support there appears a company of players headed by Herbert W. Frazer, in the role of Jim Davers, Frank Beamish, as Milt Bannon, leader of the society crooks and card sharps, Leonora Harris, and Tim Cronin as Perkin's valet to Milt Bannon, are other important members of Miss Nelson's large supporting company.

Second of the Mutual Masterpictures De Luxe Edition, scheduled for release during the week of June 26, goes to the public on that date under the title of "The Sign of the Spade." This marks the first of the Mutual Masterpictures, De Luxe Edition, filmed under the direction of Murdock MacQuarrie since joining forces with the American Film Company, Inc. In this production, founded on a story by Kenneth B. Clarke, Helen Rosson is the featured player.

Alan Forrest, recently engaged as leading man for Miss Rosson, makes his first appearance in this feature release. Others in the cast are Warren Ellsworth, Clarence Burton and George Gebhardt.

Mutual's three act offering for the week of June 26, "Tangled Skeins," an American Drama, featuring Vivian Rich and Alfred Vosburgh, will be released on June 29. This feature, screened under the direction of E. Mason Hopper, is founded on the adventures of a rich son of a rich family whose love escapades with a foreign countess and the beautiful ward of his mother lead him into a series of unusual situations. George Periolat is also a member of Miss Rich's supporting company.

Three two real subjects comprise Mutual's short length features for the same week. "The Fate of the Dolphin," a stirring story of the sea; filmed at the American-Mutual studios and starring Edward Coxen and Lizette Thorne, first of the two reelers of the week will be released June 26.

The Mustang-Mutual two reel offerings of the week will be released June 30, under the title of "The Demon of Fear." This is an unusually interesting drama, featuring Anna Little and Frank Borange.

Considerable interest, so far as exhibitors and fans are concerned, is centered in the Centaur-Mutual release of July 1, "The King O' Make Believe," because it offers Crane Wilbur, in the first of the new two act feature releases in which he is to star.

"The King O' Make Believe" is a romantic comedy. It was filmed under the direction of Robert B. Broadwell, especially assigned to handle the short length Wilbur features, and presents a company in his support including Joseph Hazelton, John Oaker, Mae Gaston, Pearl Elmore, O. Bigelow and various others.

Vogue offerings for the week are "A Safe Loss," starring Rube Miller and "Just for a Kid" with Ben Turpin and Rena Rodgers. These comedies will be released June 27 and July 2, respectively.

"When Adam Had 'Em" featuring Carol Halloway and John Sheehan, for release June 28, and "A Gink from Kankakee," starring Orral Humphrey, to be released July 2, are the offerings from the "Beauty" studios.

"Jerry's Big Haul," featuring George Ovey, is the Cub offering for June 30.

BELLMAN INCREASES TIMES SCREEN SECTION TO TWELVE PAGES

George H. Bellman, the remarkably successful photoplay editor of The Seattle Times, has increased The Times' Sunday screen section to twelve pages. The first week it consisted of eight, the second of ten.

Mr. Bellman has found by experience that the columns of Motion Picture News furnish up-to-the-minute reading matter, and he finds each issue of The News most useful to him in making up his photoplay department.

NEGRO COMPANY ORGANIZED IN LOS ANGELES

Special to Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, June 17.

Believing there is a field for subjects in which negroes appear as the players, Los Angeles negroes have organized the Lincoln Motion Picture Company, which is a partnership with sufficient capital to make a number of two-reel pictures. Noble Johnson, who has played Indian and negro parts at Los Angeles studios for the past two or more years, is president and leading man. Dr. J. T. Smith is treasurer and Clarence Brooks, secretary. Buelah Hall is leading woman of the company.

Prior to the organization of the company, the members investigated the field, and found in excess of a thousand theatres, the majority located in the south, conducted solely for negro patronage. In the opinion of the organizers, there is a field there for pictures made wholly by negroes, they believing such subjects will draw usual patronage.

The first subject of two reels, which as yet has not been named, shows possibilities for the colored race to improve their conditions if they seek education. The leading man is a graduate of a colored men's college, secures employment in his chosen vocation—civil engineer—by a heroic deed, in which he saved the life of a big factory owner's wife. There is a love interest throughout, and the photoplay points the way to happier days for negroes if they will but persevere.

CAMPBELL FILMS FORTS SUMPTER AND MOULTRIE FOR "CRISIS"

Director Colin Campbell, of the Selig Polyscope Company, escorted special players and a staff of cameramen to Charleston, S. C., on Thursday, June 8. At Charleston old Forts Sumpter and Moultrie will be filmed for the forthcoming Selig production of "The Crisis." After visiting Charleston, Director Campbell will go to New York on business connected with the production and then will return to Chicago.

Clara Kimball Young Film Corporation Begins Work

Director General Capellani Is Engaged on Scene Plots for "Common Law," Arranging Details of Production and Casting Parts for the Picture

Latest Photographs of Clara Kimball Young, Who Is Resting Before Beginning Work on "The Common Law"

THE Clara Kimball Young Film Corporation has begun the actual work of producing its first feature picture. Miss Young left New York last week for a well earned rest at Poland Springs, Maine. Before going she had the satisfaction of knowing that what had been the greatest ambition of her life was realized and that the corporation organized in her name was actually engaged in the preparation of the first production in which she is to star under the new auspices—the picturization of Robert W. Chambers' novel "The Common Law."

Director General Albert Capellani has begun work on "The Common Law." Within the past few weeks the creator of "Les Miserables" and "Camille" has added another triumph to his achievements—the screen version of "La Vie de la Boheme."

M. Capellani is now engaged in preparing the scenic plots for "The Common Law" and arranging the details of the production. When not at the studio he may be found at the general offices of the corporation in the Godfrey Building, receiving the applicants for studio positions and casting parts for the picture. For the benefit of players seeking an interview with him, his office hours are from three to five o'clock in the afternoon.

The temporary studio in which Miss Young will work pending the completion of her own plant on Long Island, has been selected and the lease will be signed this week. The temporary studio is located in New Jersey, but its name cannot be given until the lease is signed. It is likely that the first three of four pictures will be made in this plant, as it will be months before the permanent studio is ready for business.

Miss Young will remain at Poland Springs until July 15 or thereabout, returning to begin her part in "The Common Law" on the day specified in her contract, July 16. Meanwhile M. Capellani and his assistant directors will have the production well under way—with all the scenes in which Miss Young does not appear finished.

Advertising Manager E. R. Schayer has carte blanche from Mr. Selznick to spare no expense in preparing material. Half a dozen of the biggest illustrators and portrait painters in New York, including Harrison Fisher, Malcolm Straus and James Montgomery Flagg, are at work on sketches in color from which the lithographs are to be made, and such leading exponents of modern decorative art as Flato and Fritz Winold Reiss are engaged in preparing advertising designs and posters.

The advertising campaign will include the use of 24-sheet stands throughout the country this summer and the expenditure of many thousands of dollars in such magazines as the Saturday Evening Post and Ladies Home Journal. Arrangements have been made with the publishing firm of Grosset and Dunlap to issue a special Clara Kimball Young edition of "The Common Law" this summer, illustrated with "stills" from the picture and portrait studies of Miss Young. This edition will be sold at fifty cents on all news stands and will be used by exhibitors in connection with their showings of the feature.

Cobe Secures "Marriage Bond" Featuring Nat Goodwin

Role Gives Actor Opportunity to Display His Gift of Humor—Picture Is Based on Celebrated Novel and Play—Other Unity Releases Include "Diana" and "My Country First"

ANDREW J. COBE, vice-president and general manager of the Unity Sales corporation, announces that he has secured "The Marriage Bond," in which Nat C. Goodwin is starred. This is said to be based on a celebrated novel and play, and employs in its enactment a cast of well known screen favorites. Mr. Goodwin is seen in a role which, it is announced, gives him opportunity to display his gifts of humor.

Other Unity releases include the "Tweedledee and Tweedledum" comedy series, with Perez, the European comedian; "Diana," a colored feature, portraying the romance of the immortal huntress; "My Country First," with Tom Terriss; and "The Pursuing Vengeance," with Sheldon Lewis.

Arthur Rosenbach of the firm who is making "a swing around the circle" reports heavy business all over the country, particularly for the sixteen episode serial "The Yellow Menace" starring Edwin Stevens and produced by William Steiner. A special publicity and advertising campaign will be made on behalf of this serial and the story of "The Yellow Menace" will be run in 1,100 newspapers.

"The Yellow Menace" has received the endorsement of several noted public men including Col. Roosevelt, Arthur Brisbane and others, it is announced.

SONNENBERG DIES IN OAKLAND

Julius Sonnenberg, for the past four years assistant manager of the Oakland Orpheum, Oakland, Calif., and prior to that treasurer of the house, passed away recently in a hospital in that city, following a long illness. He was a cousin of Morris Meyerfeld, president of the Orpheum Circuit.

MARIN SAIS PLANS "MOUNTED CROQUET" TEAM OF STARS

The latest benefit proposed for the Actors' Fund of America is a widely advertised polo game between a women's team composed of screen stars in the Los Angeles film colony and either the Coronado or Burlingame masculine aggregations. Marin Sais, Kalem's star, is the instigator of the plan and it has received the enthusiastic support of both her fellow players and the Los Angeles newspapers.

The Los Angeles Times last week pronounced the proposed team "a better drawing card than Ziegfield's 'Follies,' and certain to raise a substantial donation for the Actors' fund."

One of the first volunteers to present her name to Miss Sais, was Helen Gibson, whose daring riding is a feature of the "Hazards of Helen."

Marin Sais (Kalem) and Her Polo Pony

Miss Sais, who is just now being starred with Ollie Kirkby in "The Social Pirates." has been a lover of horses from childhood and took up the "mounted croquet" for recreation last fall. One of her pet ambitions has always been the organization of a woman's team and the possibility of benefiting the Actors' Fund was sufficient to cause her to put the plan into operation at once.

"What a wonderful thing it would be," declared Miss Sais, last week, "if we could complete the organization of the team and possibly take part in the Motion Picture Studio Directory's contests at the Sheepshead Bay Stampede."

SCENICS AND CARTOONS ADDED TO ALLIANCE LIST BY HILL

The Alliance Film Company of Texas, in Dallas, J. W. Hill, Jr., manager, has secured the "Charlie-Fatty-Maybelle" comedy cartoon subjects for Texas and Oklahoma; and will have one new release each week.

Mr. Hill is adding a scenic subject to the comedy cartoons, making the film a full thousand feet. The cartoons are from 600 to 700 feet in length. Bookings are rapidly coming in on the contract basis.

Magazines of General Circulation for Bluebird Publicity

Company Will Begin Nation-Wide Campaign With an Advertisement in the Saturday Evening Post During June, Exploiting "The Three Godfathers" First

THE Bluebird people are going in heavy for their new policy of impressing the public with their plays and productions. The first of the advertisements in their nation-wide campaign of general publicity will appear in the Saturday Evening Post during June and page advertisements will be used for some time to come.

But there will be continued for the immediate use of exhibitors the distribution of information on the personal element that enters into the productions.

The national campaign will be started just at a time when several of what Bluebird considers its very best pictures will be ready and waiting to be distributed on schedule. The first advertisement will relate to "The Three Godfathers," a psychological start for the advertising series, for the reason that the story was originally printed in the Saturday Evening Post. Then will come "Shoes," with Mary McLaren.

Future announcements will go into details for "Broken Fetters," "The Love Girl," "The Grasp of Greed," "The Silent Battle," and "The Secret of the Swamp," July releases introducing as the leading players, Violet Mersereau, Ella Hall, Louise Lovely, J. Warren Kerrigan, and Myrtle Gonzales, in the order given.

Among the August features will be "By Fate's Decree," bringing Dorothy Phillips into the Bluebird fold; "Little Eva Edgerton," with Ella Hall leading; "The Beckoming Trail," another one for Kerrigan; "Wanted a Home," a Lois Weber production that brings forward Mary MacLaren, the little girl of "Shoes" for her second essay at leads, and "L'Abbe Constantin," which will have Rupert Julian in the name part.

Three Lasky Subjects Through Paramount During July

Blanche Sweet in "The Dupe," Cleo Ridgely in "The Selfish Woman," and Mae Murray in "The Dream Girl" Are Announced

THREE Lasky productions will be released through Paramount on the first three Mondays of July, the schedule being Blanche Sweet in "The Dupe," July 3; Wallace Reid and Cleo Ridgeley in "The Selfish Woman," July 10; and Mae Murray in "The Dream Girl," July 17.

The first two are by Hector Turnbull, and "The Dream Girl" by Jeannie McPherson. Cecil B. De Mille, who produced "The Golden Chance," of which Miss McPherson was the author, directed the new Mae Murray vehicle.

Mr. Turnbull's well known features are "The Cheat" with Fannie Ward, "The Heart of Nora Flynn" with Marie Doro, "Temptation" with Geraldine Farrar, and "Alien Souls" with Sessue Hayakawa, and other features, all of which were produced by Cecil B. De Mille.

In support of Blanche Sweet in "The Dupe" there will appear Thomas Meighan, Ernest Joy and Veda McEvers. The cast for "The Selfish Woman" includes in addition to the stars, Wallace Reid and Cleo Ridgely, Joseph King, Charles Arling, Billy Elmer, Bob Fleming, Edythe Chapman and Dorothy Abril, and in support of Mae Murray in "The Dream Girl" will be Theodore Roberts, James Neil, Earle Fox, Charles H. West, Mrs. L. McCord and Mary Mersch.

World-Equitable Open Booking Takes Well with Exhibitors

Pictures Now Marketed by This Plan Include "Trilby," "The Price," "Divorced," "Blue Grass," "A Daughter of the Sea," "A Circus Romance" and "Sealed Lips"

SINCE the discontinuance of active production, the Equitable Motion Pictures Corporation, releasing through the branches and exchanges of the World Film, has placed all the features of that concern on an open booking plan which, according to General Sales Manager Felix F. Feist of World-Equitable, has met with a gratifying response.

The entire output of the Equitable is now, and has been for the past two months, available to exhibitors on the open booking plan. The productions in this policy includes Clara Kimball Young and Wilton Lackaye in "Trilby," Helen Ware in "The Price," Katharine Osterman in "Divorced," Thomas A. Wise in "Blue Grass," Muriel Ostriche in "A Daughter of the Sea" and "A Circus Romance," William Courtenay in "Sealed Lips," Frank Sheridan and Arthur Ashley in "The Struggle," Bruce McRae and Gerda Holmes in "The Chain Invisible" and Katharine Kaelred in "Idols."

In addition to these are twenty others which were made from August, 1915, until May of this year, and all of which are working throughout the country, which, judged from the accruing number of bookings, appeal highly to the exhibitor.

Mr. Feist states that the open booking idea will continue indefinitely on these productions.

HOBART BOSWORTH ENGAGED IN SUPPORT OF FARRAR

Special to Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, June 17.

Special stories are being prepared for photodramas in which Geraldine Farrar is to appear under the direction of Cecil B. deMille. Hobart Bosworth has been especially engaged to play an important role in the support of Miss Farrar. Others to appear in the cast will be Theodore Roberts, Wallace Reid, H. C. Carpenter, and other prominent players who supported the star in the three pictures made last year. All Geraldine Farrar subjects will be made under the supervision of Cecil B. deMille.

Of Course You Are Going to the "News" Stampede?

Everyone in Filmdom Is Eligible for the Contest to Be Held at Sheepshead Bay from August 5 to 12—Many Companies Intend to Send Their People by Special Train East for Entry in the Events—Write "Motion Picture News Studio Directory" Editor for Details

THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS Studio Directory's Stampede Contest editor is already receiving numerous inquiries about the Stampede Contest to be held at Sheepshead Bay, New New York City, August 5 to 12.

Several companies from the west are sending special cars to bring their people from the west coast to the east to compete in this big contest.

Anyone and everyone in filmdom is eligible for the Open Stampede Contest, whether they participate in the MOTION PICTURE NEWS Studio Directory Contest or not. In other words, entrance in the Studio Directory Contest, which by the way is absolutely free, does not bar you from participating in the World's Championship Contest. In order that you may understand, if you have not already received the information from the Stampede Contest itself, we will give you here some details of this colossal tournament.

The Stampede will be held at the three-million-and-a-half-dollar Sheepshead Bay Speedway for eight days, and is open to the world. Fifty thousand dollars in prizes are offered and the decision of the world's championship in the different Western sports. In addition to this it will be a frontier reunion of the West and East. The governors, cities, Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce and other public bodies of the western states are co-operating to insure a western demonstration that will stagger New York. Theodore Roosevelt says that he will be there. Mexico, South America and Australia are sending their crack riders and ropers. More than a thousand cowboys and cowgirls will be seen in open contest in the Sheepshead Bay arena.

Well-Known Men Interested in Event

The jubilee will be conducted under the auspics of a cotrie of famous gentlemen sportsmen who have underwritten all purses and expenses. August Belmont, Harry S. Harkness, W. A. Harriman, Judge R. L. Lovett, John C. Milburn, Jr., Horace M. Kilborn, Ralph Pulitzer, Lewis J. Spence, and William B. Walker are numbered among the honorary stewards. The Hotel Men's Association, the Merchants' Association, and the great railroad trunk lines have enlisted in the movement to attract attendance from all over the country. The Great Northern Railroad will bring on more than a hundred Blackfeet Indians from Glacier National Park, who will be encamped in their tepees with the other Indians in a frontier Indian village.

One of the most picturesque features of the celebration will be a last gigantic round-up of the men who made western history. Oldtimers who paved the way for those who came later; pioneers who drove oxwagons, stage-coaches, prairie schooners and mule teams and rode the bony express in the early days of the West. The Oldtime Trail Drivers Association of Texas is coming in a body. Dodge City, Kan., is sending its mounted cowboy band with its train of boosters. Arrangements are being made to bring on a train load of three hundred wild range horses for the arena competition. Trap shooting will be a conspicuous incidental feature and John Philip Sousa, the march king, who is an expert himself, is among those who have proffered trophies. Guy Wedick, a young Westerner, who is the highest authority on the sports and activities of the Range-Land, will be director-general of the celebration.

The prize list of the principal events of the Stampede is copied below from the announcement folders. This is not the MOTION PICTURE NEWS Studio Directory Contest, although all of the Directory contestants are eligible to enter.

COWBOY BUCKING HORSE RIDING CONTEST
(With Saddle)

Day Money
1st $100 3rd $50
2nd $75 4th $25

Final Money
1st $1500 and World's Championship Title
2nd $1000 5th $250
3rd $750 6th $125
4th $500

COWBOY TRICK AND FANCY RIDING
Final Money
1st $750 and World's Championship Title
2nd $500 3rd $250 4th $125 5th $75 6th $50

COWBOY STEER BULLDOGGING
World's Championship on Four Steer Average

Day Money
1st $50 3rd $15
2nd $25

Final Money
1st $1000 and World's Championship Title
2nd $750 4th $250
3rd $500

COWBOY NIGHTSHIRT RACE
One Half Mile Race Daily
Day Money
1st $25 2nd $15 3rd $10

PONY EXPRESS RACE
One Half Mile Race Daily
Day Money
1st $60 2nd $40 3rd $20

COWBOYS ROMAN STANDING RACE
One Half Mile Race Daily
Day Money
1st $40 2nd $20 3rd $15

COWBOYS BUCKING BULL AND STEER RIDING
(With Saddle)
$10.00 a Mount

 COWBOY WILD HORSE RACE
(This is a Daily Race. Special Entrance Fee $10 per day)
Day Money
1st $100 3rd $50 5th $15
2nd $75 4th $25 6th $10

COWGIRL BUCKING HORSE RIDING CONTEST
(Slick)

Day Money
1st $75 3rd $25
2nd $50

Final Money
1st $1000 and World's Championship Title
2nd $500 3rd $250

COWGIRL TRICK AND FANCY ROPING
Final Money
1st $500 and World's Championship Title
2nd $400 3rd $300 4th $200

COWGIRLS ROMAN STANDING RACE
One Half Mile Race Daily
Day Money
1st $30 2nd $20 3rd $10

COWBOY BAREBACK BUCKING AND HORSE RIDING
(With Surcingle)

Day Money
1st $50 3rd $15
2nd $25

Final Money
1st $1000 and World's Championship Title
2nd $750 4th $250
3rd $500 5th $125

COWBOY TRICK AND FANCY ROPING
Final Money
1st $750 and World's Championship Title
2nd $500 3rd $250 4th $125 5th $75 6th $50

COWBOY RELAY RACE
(This is World's Championship Event for Sixteen Mile Race)
Final Money
1st $1500 and World's Championship Title
2nd $1000 3rd $750 4th $500 5th $250 6th $125

STAGE COACH RACE
One Half Mile Race Daily
Day Money
1st $100 2nd $75 3rd $25

CHUCK WAGON RACE
One Half Mile Race Daily
Day Money
1st $60 2nd $40 3rd $25

COWBOYS BUCKING STEER RIDING
(Surcingle)
$5.00 a Mount

 COWBOY STEER ROPING (3) STEER AVERAGE CONTEST
Special Entrance Fee $50

Day Money		Final Money
1st $100	3rd $50	1st $1000 and World's Championship Title
2nd $75	4th $25	2nd $800	5th $200
		3rd $600	6th $100
		4th $400

COWGIRL BUCKING HORSE CONTEST
(Hobbled Stirrups)

Day Money		Final Money
1st $50	3rd $15	1st $600 and World's Championship Title
2nd $25		2nd $400	3rd $200

COWGIRL TRICK AND FANCY RIDING
Final Money
1st $500 and World's Championship Title
2nd $400 3rd $300 4th $200

COWGIRL RELAY RACE
(This is World's Championship Event for Sixteen Mile Race)
Final Money
1st $1000 and World's Championship Title
2nd $750 3rd $500 4th $250 5th $125 6th $75

Ten dollars is the entrance fee into any or all of the events listed above, with the exception of the Cowboys' Steer Roping Contest and the Wild Horse Race, which calls for an extra entrance fee, as indicated by the asterisk above.

No event at the Stampede will be called a tie or draw. All contests go to a finish for a decision. All rules and judges are to be chosen by a popular vote of the contestants.

Personally, we look for some of the MOTION PICTURE NEWS Studio Directory contestants to show up some of the professionals. The entry blanks are now ready and may be had on application by addressing The Stampede Contest, MOTION PICTURE NEWS Studio Directory (published by MOTION PICTURE NEWS), 729 Seventh avenue, New York City. Let us hear from you all, and remember the date, August 5 to 12, New York City.

Additional details will be forthcoming in the next week's issue.

JOHN W. CORNELIUS, WELL-KNOWN ST. LOUIS EXHIBITOR, IS DEAD

JOHN W. CORNELIUS, well-known moving picture exhibitor in St. Louis, died on June 9, at Hot Springs, Arkansas, where he had gone for a brief rest and to recover from a recent illness. Mr. Cornelius had been improving in health and had planned to return to his home on the very day that the telegram arrived announcing his death, which had been caused by heart failure. Mr. Cornelius began his motion picture activities in St. Louis six years ago, when he bought the site in Sixth near Pine street for the Lyric theatre.

This house was erected for a strictly motion picture theatre, at a cost of $45,000. Two years ago Mr. Cornelius purchased the West End Lyric theatre, which was entirely rebuilt and made into the theatre de luxe of the west end. Last year the Lyric skydome at Delmar and Taylor was added as a summer theatre, and drew much praise for its beauty and attractiveness as an outdoor picture show. Just recently controlling interest in the Royal was acquired by Mr. Cornelius, and all these theatres have become known as strictly high-class motion picture theatres. Mr. Cornelius has been ably assisted by his wife in his theatrical enterprises, and his son James. Mrs. Cornelius, who is considered an expert in selecting a picture program, will continue to operate the Cornelius theatres under the same policy as has been maintained in the past. Mr. Cornelius was fifty-eight years old when he died. His body was taken to St. Louis for burial.

TRAVELOGUER HOLMES, IN THE DOMINION FOR SCENES IN "CANADIAN LIFE AND INDUSTRIES," STOPS IN ST. JOHN, N. B.

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

St. John, N. B., June 17.

BURTON HOLMES the Travelogue man and Mr. Moomaw of the Essanay Film Company, who have been taking Eastern Canadian scenes in connection with Mr. Holmes Travelogue on "Canadian Life and Industries" are in the city. Mr. Holmes will spend nine weeks travelling in the Dominion as the guest of the Canadian-Pacific Railway Company, who have placed at his disposal the private car Brunswick.

Among other typical New Brunswick features pictures were secured of the Reversing Falls, which natural wonder no other country on earth possesses with the exception of China. The St. John River enters the harbor through a narrow gorge, running swiftly down until the gradual rising of a thirty foot tide forces the water back and causes the rapids to actually reverse and run up stream.

From here Mr. Holmes will go to Ottawa, where he is to be the guest of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and later he will go west and through the prairie provinces to the Pacific coast.

RIALTO IN BALTIMORE OPENS ON JUNE 24

THE Rialto theatre, Baltimore's latest and most handsome motion picture house, will formally open on Saturday, June 24. The Rialto is an up-town house, in the fashionable center of the city, with its entrance on North avenue near Linden avenue. The theatre will have a seating capacity of five hundred and is most elaborately finished. The exterior is of art brick, with a massive marquise over the entrances and extending to a point nearly on a level with the curbing. The interior decorations are of white, old ivory and old rose. The general color scheme of the walls is of old ivory with large panels of old rose, the panel mouldings being finished in tints of gold. All tapestry and hangings will also be of old rose. The seating will be of the cabinet variety, finished in mahogany. The pictures will be projected upon a gold fiber screen.

The theatre will be equipped with a piano and a Kimball Orchestral organ. The structure was built by the Linden Amusement Company, of which Myer Fox is president. Mr. Fox is also president of the Mount Royal Amusement Company, which owns and conducts the Mount Royal theatre on North avenue near Mount Royal avenue. Arthur Price, a well-known Baltimore motion picture man, manager of the Mount Royal, will also manage the Rialto. Mr. Price has arranged for Paramount, Triangle, Metro and other leading pictures to be presented. There will be a daily change of program.

SAN BERNARDINO FILM COMPANY IS ORGANIZED WITH CLEMENTS AS GENERAL MANAGER

Special to MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Los Angeles, June 17.

A motion picture company has been organized by business men which will be known as the San Bernardino Film Company, located with studios at San Bernardino, California. Hal Clements has been engaged as general manager, and work of building the studio is now under way on the grounds at E street and Base Line, San Bernardino. The company plans to make one, two and three-reel subjects, but has not made any announcement concerning releases.

PATHE SCENIC, "ASCENT OF MT. RANIER," IS SHOWN IN TACOMA

MANAGER Quimby of the Pathe Seattle office gave a private showing of "The Ascent of Mt. Rainier," a Pathe scenic, before the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club of Tacoma, recently, and these two bodies were so much interested in the picture that they are sending circular letters to all the Chambers of Commerce and Rotary Clubs throughout the United States, calling their attention to the scenic.

THE MOTION PICTURE STUDIO DIRECTORY IS OUT AUGUST 29

SCREEN EXAMINATIONS

"THE CLOWN"

(Lasky-Paramount—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY HARVEY F. THEW

VICTOR MOORE has been given a part of more than the usual sympathy in this subject, and special effort is made to reach the deepest sympathies of his audience. This is successful, despite a number of technical shortcomings in the dramatic construction. That the picture will "grip" there can be no doubt.

The situations have all been created before on the screen, but they are surrounded with an unusual atmosphere. The incidents and "business" are well handled, and the telling of the story is done on a plane which all will understand and absorb. The whole is well in keeping with the Lasky standard.

Victor Moore is seen as "Piffles," a light-hearted clown, with a big fund of good-fellowship. He saves the crippled son of Judge LeRoy from a runaway team at the circus, and is carried nearly dead to the Judge's own home.

There, during a long convalescence, he meets Milicent, the Judge's daughter, whose sweetheart, Dick, has gone into the desert prospecting. News comes that Dick has perished of thirst, and Milicent attempts suicide. Piffles, who has fallen in love with the girl, but realizes that he "aint got a chance," sees her attempt to drown herself, and rescues her. He learns her story—that she is about to become the mother of Dick's child, and in her despair she could think of no way out except death.

The Child's Affection for the Clown

To protect her name Piffles offers to marry her, and she accepts him as husband only in name. After the child is born, her father sends for the pair, and gives Piffles a job in the bank, where he makes a success.

The report of Dick's death is false, but when he returns, after having located a rich mine, he finds Milicent married, and drops out of sight again. This time he goes to New York to superintend the selling of stock in the new mine.

The mine becomes a bonanza, and it is decided to buy up all the outstanding stock. The only holder who won't sell is a man in Los Angeles, and Dick goes west to make a deal. The holder is Piffles, and at the latter's house, Dick meets the girl for the first time in three years. He hears the whole story, and learns that the boy romping on the floor is his.

Piffles from behind the curtain, sees the reconciliation. He decides that it is no place for him, and so, after leaving a note advising Milicent that any court will give her a divorce on the grounds of desertion, steals away and rejoins the circus.

Thomas Meighan plays Dick, and Florence Dagmar plays Milicent. Ernest Joy, Tom Forman, Horace B. Carpenter, Wallace Pike and Master Jerold Ward handle the other roles capably.

"BROKEN FETTERS"

(Bluebird—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

WRITTEN and directed by Rex Ingram, "Broken Fetters" can be counted upon to interest picture-goers chiefly because of the handling Mr. Ingram gave it. It is a story of adventure, with a strong human appeal, portraying the somewhat incredible experiences of a young girl, who falls into the clutches of Foo Shai, a Chinatown despot, the proprietor of a gambling-den and a white slave establishment.

Foo Shai Invites the Artist to Gamble

The atmosphere of Orientalism pervades the whole, and is easily the most striking thing in the picture, because Mr. Ingram was unusually successful in securing the right settings, locations and types. There are several exciting scenes centering about the Chinatown resort, and these are convincing, as to acting, as well as to atmosphere. If we except two or three scenes in which the despot attempts to assault the girl, it may fairly be said that there is nothing likely to give offense.

Violet Mersereau offers a characteristic portrayal of the unfortunate little girl, who is stolen from her Mandarin guardian in China, and brought to the Foo Shai establishment in New York, but she is overshadowed by Frank Smith. Smith does an excellent, and really out of the ordinary bit of character acting as Foo Shai. Others are Kittens Reichert, Charles Francis, Earl Simmons, William T. Dyer, Paul Panzer, Isabel Patterson, William Garwood, as the hero, Paddy Sullivan, Guy Morville, and Charles Fang. Mr. Garwood has a congenial role as an American artist, who eventually brings about the rescue of the girl, and Fang is excellent as a young Chinaman who befriends the heroine on several occasions.

In addition to the principals, the Chinese and slum types deserve especial mention, for they contribute greatly to the worth of the subject. Summed up, "Broken Fetters" will get over, because of Mr. Ingram's skillful direction, the human touches, and the excellent atmosphere.

Striking Views of "La Vie de Boheme," A World Film Production, in Which Alice Brady is Starred "POWER"

(Essanay—Three Reels)

REVIEWED BY THEO. S. MEAD

THE political drama of recent years has been a very popular subject with the American people. And at this particular time when the interests in the political situation is aroused to an unusual pitch, almost any sort of a picture that shows a boss of the conventional rough and ready type, and which contains a smattering of graft and of crooked gang methods will meet with the approval of the average audience.

"Power" is a political drama filled with action from start to finish. Evan Dexter is a struggling young lawyer, who lacks gumption to such an extent that he allows his sister Lucille to almost literally lead him by the hand to the saloon of Pat O'Riley, a political boss, a man unknown to her except through the papers. She asks O'Riley to throw some lucrative employment her brother's way. Of course, the boss is struck at once by Lucille's beauty, and as a matter of fact, Nell Craig is very alluring in this role. So when a short time later a compromise between O'Riley and the capitalists' interests allows the former to name a candidate for Governor, Evan Dexter the young lawyer, is the one he chooses. Dexter is very much puffed up over his breathlessly rapid rise to power, and turns from O'Riley to the interests of the capitalists, who wish to secure a franchise on the power rights of a state water way. He signs the bill which gives them these rights, without any compensation for the state. O'Riley in the meantime, has met the Governor's sister Lucille on several occasions, and under her influence has decided to turn over a new leaf. He defeats the plans of the dishonest capitalists by the effective method of burning the signed franchise and of threatening the Governor that he will send him to the penitentiary if he affixes his signature to another franchise. At this juncture the picture ends with O'Riley and Lucille departing on their honeymoon.

The Challenge

As intimated, Nell Craig plays the part of Lucille Dexter with considerable charm. Sydney Ainsworth is seen as the Governor, Carroll C. James as the political boss and Ullbrich Haupt as the leader of the capitalists' interests. Each member of the cast receives an opportunity to display emotional acting, which is fully taken advantage of.

Some beautiful exteriors, showing the disputed water fall, pleasingly run through this production. The interiors are well staged and the photography is excellent throughout.

"LA VIE DE BOHEME"

(Paragon-World—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY HARVEY F. THEW

IN the case of a classic such as this, it is hardly competent to to enlarge upon the story. This is a case where direction and mounting are everything, and they have not failed. In passing it might be mentioned that in all the various ways Henri Murger's story has been presented to the public, it has never been offered in a dressing which got more out of it as a dramatic work.

The picture comes to the exhibitor loaded with unusual advertising value. Every performance of the Puccini opera, every sale of the original novel, and every reference to the dramatic and operatic stars which have appeared in opera and play, have added just that much to the advertising which has prepared the way for the picture. Everybody knows of "Boheme," and almost everybody would like to know "Boheme" itself.

There are few, if any American producers, who could have given this story the production which Albert Capellani has. It required not only an intimate knowledge and sympathy with the Paris of the period portrayed, but also an intimate knowledge of the peculiar life of the Quartier Latin, and the "bohemians" which have now almost disappeared. Although his public in this country cannot be very exacting in the matter of geography, Mr. Capellani has not allowed his vigilance to relax, and those who know their Paris will recognize the careful accuracy of the locations. A striking instance of this is an "exterior" in the fourth reel, with shows Mimi leaning over the wall and looking into the Seine. In the background is the Ile de la Cite, with the Palais de Justice and Notre Dame dominating, thereby definitely locating the camera in the real Latin Quarter.

To picture goers who want a slice of a life they have never known, and never will, this picture will have an especial appeal. The narrow and intricate streets of old Paris, and the cafes and rookery studio buildings have been carefully rebuilt at the Paragon studios, and realistic street scenes are the result. The costuming and manners are also accurate; it is hard to find an artistic flaw in the production.

Alice Brady is a charming Mimi. Mimi, it will be recalled, is the little nameless orphan, who fled from a life of servitude, and fell in with a bohemian colony of poets, artists and musicians. At the same time Rudolph, heir of a wealthy uncle, heard the call of bohemia, deserted his uncle's home, jilted his wealthy fiancee, and also joined the cafe company, immediately falling in love with Mimi.

They were separated by the uncle, and Mimi, for the sake of her lover's future, wandered homeless for months, until exposure and starvation brought her low. Then she wandered back to Rudolph, who was waiting faithfully in the garret, and died in his arms. The uncle and Rudolph's fiancee relented in time to clasp the girl's hand before she drifted across the border.

The cast in this picture is of high order. June Elvidge is Madame de Rouvre, Paul Capellani is Rudolph, Leslie Stowe is the Uncle Durandin, Chester Barnett is Marcel and Zena Keefe the pretty and sprightly Musette. The character of Schaunard, the musician, is also introduced, for reasons which are not apparent.

BLUEBIRD · PHOTOPLAYS · PRESENT
VIOLET · MERSEREAU
& · WILLIAM · GARWOOD
IN "BROKEN · FETTERS"
A · ROMANTIC · LOVE · STORY · OF ORIENTAL · CHARM · WRITTEN & PRODUCED · BY · REX · INGRAM.
Anton Rice

BLUE BIRD

The Charm of BLUEBIRDS
The Perfect Photo-Plays

IN direct and unusually sharp contrast with the average feature offerings, BLUEBIRD Productions stand out boldly in clear cut relief. The characteristic superiority of BLUEBIRD, distinctly proven in each play, has met with Nation-wide applause, particularly at the hands of discriminating audiences and in all the better Theatres where BLUEBIRD productions are shown.

"IF IT'S A BLUEBIRD
IT'S GOT TO BE GOOD"

"Broken Fetters with Violet Mersereau and William Garwood," is a BLUEBIRD. Book through your local BLUEBIRD Offices or thru the Executive Office of

B L U E B I R D
PHOTOPLAYS (Inc.)

1600 Broadway New York

"THE MYSTERIES OF MYRA"

(International—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY H. S. FULD

THIS episode opens with the Black Master and his cohorts using the Black Arts to will that "the heart of Myra shall beat slower—slower—slower," and by their machinations give every promise of succeeding. Varney (Allen Murnane) the villain lover of Myra, finds Myra on the verge of collapse and only the opportune arrival of Dr. Alden (Mr. Estabrook) saves her.

Dr. Alden sets up a machine in Myra's room and with the electroscope finds the direction of the thought waves emanating from the Black Lodge and through a condenser in the shape of an umbrella, collects and confines them in a Leyden jar.

Warning everyone not to touch the jar he leaves. Varney, coming in later, is surprised at the remarkable improvement in Myra and she innocently tells him that Dr. Alden (his rival for her hand) has arranged an apparatus to circumvent the Black

Psychic Science Battles with Black Art

Lodge. She shows him the arrangement, and he, in trying "accidentally-on-purpose" to dislodge the connections, comes in contact with the jar and receives a severe electric shock.

Hurriedly leaving he rushes to the Grand Master and tells him of the machine Dr. Alden has installed. The Master shuts himself up in a lead-lined room where the rays from the machine cannot reach him.

Myra notifies Dr. Alden by telephone of Varney's visit and escape and he hurries to her home. On reaching there he causes Myra to try and concentrate her thoughts on the Grand Master, and by steadily gazing into a crystal globe direct him to his lair. She glimpses the Master as he opens a slide in the door of the lead-lined room, and her quick "Here he is, doctor," directs his hand and the rays shoot through the opening in the door, and the last we see of this episode is the rays striking him and he falls in the doorway.

The remarkable photographic effects that have won such favor during this series are kept up in this episode, and if such a thing could be, are even better than the predecessors. The interest is kept up and leaves one breathlessly waiting the next release.

"THE WASTED YEARS"

(Horsley-Mutual Masterpicture—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY HARVEY F. THEW

IN THIS subject Crane Wilbur does some of the best work of his screen career, up to date. He appears to have conquered an early tendency to overact, and gives a convincing portrayal of a sympathetic character.

He has not been given a good vehicle. The story is "there," but something has gone amiss in its presentation. The picture starts off well, and the interest is strong until almost the fourth reel, where it becomes involved in a complication of illogical and banal situations, and the original impetus is lost. This is to be regretted, as with a different handling, and a little bridging over the mellow spots it could have been made into an excellent subject.

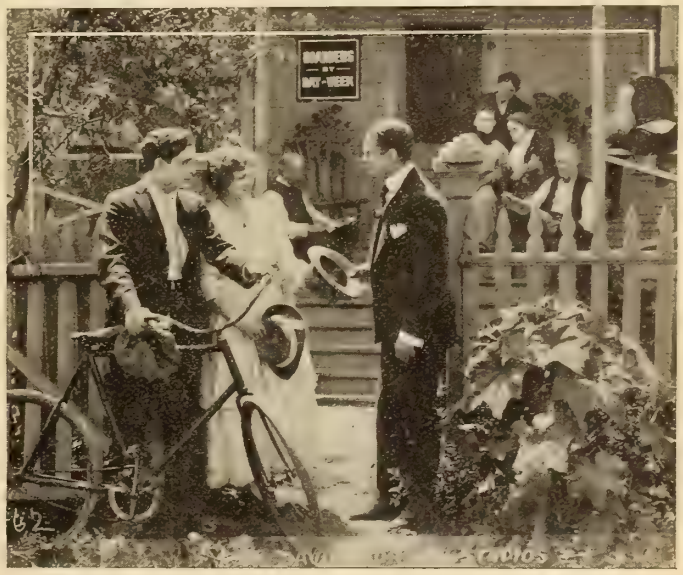
In the prologue, Crane Wilbur is seen as Old Weatherby, a broken derelict. A passerby gives him a coin, and he spends it for admission to a theatre where the play of "Youth" attracts him.

In the gallery he witnesses a visualization of his own past life. This is somewhat disappointing, as the title leads us to believe that it has been a life of reckless dissipation, whereas, the young man, barring a youthful cultivation of the wild oats ranch, about followed the normal course.

He leaves his home town on receipt of word that he is heir to a fortune, promises his sweetheart, June, to return for her immediately, and goes to the lawyers' office in the city. He finds he is heir to $200,000, and as soon as he receives it, stops a while to "see the sights." He sees them so thoroughly that one morning he wakes up with an awful head, and finds he has married a roof-garden habitue.

June comes on in search of him, finds him married, and goes back broken-hearted; later she marries his rival. His wife leaves him when she discovers she is to become a mother. She dies, and by accident he finds his little daughter in a tenement, after he has spent nearly all his fortune in the search for the child and her mother.

He starts back for the old home town, in the fond hope that he can patch things up with June, but on the way he is robbed of his clothes, money and automobile by a band of gypsies. He also finds June married, and he and the child wander on with the wagon and team the gypsies have left behind.



The Rivals

The child dies of consumption, and the father becomes a wanderer. When the show is over, the audience files out, leaving the old derelict silent in his seat. An usher discovers that he is dead.

Mr. Wilbur has the assistance of Mae Gaston, one of the real pretty girls of the screen, whose attractiveness loses nothing by its contact with the camera. Others in the cast are Jessie Burnett, John Oaker and Thelma Salter.

"MUTT AND JEFF IN THE INDESTRUCTIBLE HAT"

(Mutt and Jeff Film—One Reel)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

THE quality of humor in Bud Fisher's animated cartoons is steadily maintained. They are always a pleasure to the spectator because they contain, in each case, a genuine comedy idea. For the past several weeks, we have viewed these films in a New York heatre, and they captured the audience every time.

In this release, Jeff is attempting to find a hat which Mutt can't throw away. After several futile experiments, he buys a Prussian helmet, hoping Mutt will impale himself on the spike. Instead, Mutt merely tosses the hat up to the ceiling, where it sticks. Then Jeff gets an Australian Boomerang Hat, telling Mutt that he can't throw it away, because it will return to Jeff's head. It does return, but on the final throw Jeff, unfortunately, moves his head, and is floored by the blow.

"THOSE WHO TOIL"

(Lubin-V-L-S-E—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

A STORY of the fight of labor to gain its rights from capital, "Those Who Toil" is strong in human and heart interest, and offers Nance O'Neil in one of her typical emotional roles. It was directed by Edgar Lewis, one of the most careful and competent of producers, a fact which enables us to say that it is a thoroughly worthy offering.

The action is thrown against a realistic background—the Pennsylvania petroleum regions—and these give an impression of bigness, which, curiously enough, Mr. Lewis did not feel it necessary to carry out in his mob scenes, for these employ a comparatively small number of people. Instead of emphasizing the spectacular side, Mr. Lewis, working from a script by Daniel Carson Goodman, sticks pretty closely to the main emotional theme—Jane Brett's leadership of the strikers as the result of wrongs she has suffered at the hands of the oil owners.

This theme is amplified by having the son of the owner come to the oil fields to investigate conditions. He meets Jane, of course, and falls in love with her. After the strikers have delegated Jane to burn the tanks, the young man discloses his identity to her, and she pleads with the strikers to hold off from violence. They accuse her of treachery, whereupon there is a fight, and the strikers attack the house in which Jane and her lover are hiding. The young man rushes out of the house to address the strikers, and Jane, following, is slightly wounded in the arm. His fearlessness forces the mob to listen to him, and he induces them to go back to work on the promise that their demands will be met.

Jane Defies the Superintendent

Herbert Fortier, as the oil owner; Victor Sutherland, as his son; John Sharkey, as the ringleader; do effective work, and the rest of the cast—Tom Tempest, Fred Chasten, Ray Chamberlain, and Adelaide Hayes—are entirely acceptable. Settings and location render the atmosphere very well indeed.

Good opportunity is given Miss O'Neil to register her emotional scenes, and she takes full advantage of them. The action, as a whole, moves with a fair degree of rapidity. There are several cutbacks to cover incidents prior to the main story, but most of these are brief.

"A MATRIMONIAL MARTYR"

(Balboa-Pathe—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY HARVEY F. THEW

NOT so much because of its unique situations, and the handling of the story, but because of the magnetic qualities of the star, and a magnificent hand-coloring of the print, this subject is one of great attractiveness. It should find a wide appeal and be an excellent box-office investment for almost any exhibitor.

Anyone can understand green grass, brilliant flowers and blue sky, and even those who do not grasp even the elementary human emotions will appreciate this picture. Ruth Roland, the star, plays a dual part, and some clever double photography is brought to bear to lend conviction to scenes where she appears in conflict with herself.

She first appears as Erma Desmond, a happy young girl living with her uncle and aunt in the country. She goes away to the city to visit a friend, Phyllis, and later, being obliged to earn her own living, becomes the companion of Mrs. Stanley, a society woman.

Miss Roland also plays the role of Mrs. Stanley, a harsh, volatile virago, who hurls books, pictures and statues at her harmless husband, her friends and servants until the husband goes away for a few months, taking their young daughter to school.

Mrs. Stanley decides to go to Reno and get a divorce, and she leaves Miss Desmond to impersonate her in her absence. The sweet disposition of Erma mystifies the servants, and when Phyllis comes for a visit at the same time as one of Mrs. Stanley's friends arrives for the same purpose, there is considerable confusion as to her real identity.

Then Mr. Stanley returns. Like everyone else, he mistakes Erma for his wife, and on account of the change in her manner, finds himself falling in love with her all over again; Erma, on her part, finds herself falling in love with Stanley.

Erma's uncle dies, leaving her a small fortune. When the lawyer calls to inform Miss Desmond, Erma is obliged to introduce Phyllis as Miss Desmond. Then, a young man, who has fallen in love with Phyllis, is restrained by the belief that she is Mrs. Stanley.

Things are hopelessly complicated, when a telegram arrives from Reno, announcing that Mrs. Stanley has obtained her divorce. Then everything is quickly straightened out.

Andrew Arbuckle gives some excellent work as the "matrimonial martyr," and Miss Roland is the center of interest whenever she is on the screen. The supporting cast is satisfactory.

"THE SOCIAL PIRATES"

(Kalem—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY H. S. FULD

A RATHER unusual story is told in Episode 14, this latest adventure of the two young girls who help another unfortunate young lady from the clutches of two masculine schemers. The title, "The Music Swindlers," is very appropriate to the plot and it would be hard to find one more apropos. Winnie (Priscilla Dean) and her father have come to the city from their country home in order that the musical talents of the former may be developed.

A Prof. Hermann has told her that she has a great future and by misleading statements has caused the father to give him all his money and in addition, to mortgage his home to raise more money. The old man dies when he realizes that he has lost his all and Winnie is about to be dispossessed from her room when she is found and rescued by the two girls who are on a slumming expedition.

The Pseudo Theatrical Manager Is Trapped

The two girls Mona (Marin Sais) and Mary (Ollie Kirkby) take her to their home and proceed with the help of a friend (R. E. Bradbury), a newspaper reporter who plans to trap the professor.

The girls succeed in their plans and by threatening to present their case to the district attorney are enabled to get quite a sum from the professor and turn it over to Winnie.

The story is replete with action and good acting on the part of the principals. It is one of the best of the series.

"THE MAN BEHIND THE CURTAIN"

(Vitagraph Blue Ribbon-V-L-S-E—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

A CONSIDERABLE amount of mystery attends the opening of this melodrama, as the leader correctly names it, and the spectator is prepared for a film in which the keynote is suspense. He is not disappointed, although he may feel that the suspense created by the initial scenes is not fully sustained by what follows:

We have Edna (Lillian Walker) walking innocently into a tragedy, when she goes to apply for a job at the Stanhope home. Her first view of Mrs. Stanhope is of that lady dead, and she turns aside to see a hand, grasping a knife, thrust out from behind a curtain. Shortly afterwards, Gardner appears, and it is not difficult for the spectator to identify him as the murderer.

Edna is of course terror-stricken by the appearance of guilt, and the rest of the story is devoted to freeing her from it, but not before she has married Harry, son of the dead woman. In order to bring the two lovers together, it was considered necessary to "plant" a rather far-fetched situation, in which Harry rescues the child of whom Edna is governess.

Gardner is Caught

The Stanhope butler, a confederate of Gardner's in a theft conspiracy—the motive for the murder—plagues Edna after her marriage to Harry, and his accusations ultimately drive her from her husband's home. Harry, rather weakly, does not give her opportunity to explain. Edna meets Gardner by accident and encourages his attentions until she has discovered who and what he is. Curiously enough, Gardner does not appear to recognize her. Edna persists until she has brought about the capture of Gardner, after the latter has killed the butler. This she does by enlisting the aid of a detective and masquerading in male attire. Harry, of course, is in at the finish.

The story is not new, and it is essentially, as we said, melodrama. The improbabilities are evident, but nevertheless the picture as a whole, should prove good entertainment, particularly for patrons who admire Miss Walker. The supporting cast is acceptable, and includes Evart Overton, William Dunn, Templer Sax, John Costello, Helen Pillsbury and Bobby and Helen Connelly. The direction is by C. J. Van Deusen.

"GLORIA'S ROMANCE"

(Kleine—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY HARVEY F. THEW

THESE chapters, three and four, two reels each, of the Billie Burke serial, take Gloria Stafford from the wilds of the Florida everglades to the whirl of gay society in New York, and the changes are as striking as the scenes are beautifully and elaborately mounted.

Gloria, the young daughter of Millionaire Stafford, who escaped from her governess at a Florida hotel, and became lost in the everglades, was captured by Seminole Indians. She is followed by young Dr. Royce, who loves her, and Richard Freneau, a broker friend of her father. She is rescued through the bravery of Royce, but while the latter is fighting for his life with an Indian youth, Freneau conducts Gloria back to her father; after Royce overcomes his assailant and rejoins the party, Freneau is taking the credit for the rescue. Even Gloria believes he is her preserver, and the young doctor lacks the "nerve" to assert his own claims.

The experience decides Stafford to leave Florida, and return to New York. Here Gloria is again made to feel the restraint of the governess control, and such pleasure as she does get is obtained by stealth. In the same way that she obtained the freedom which came so near resulting fatallly in Florida, she gets a chance to witness a magnificent reception in the New York home. There she finds both Freneau and Royce, and there she is left with the close of Chapter Four.

The set used for this reception scene is one of the most elaborate and complete ever used in pictures. It is in keeping with the mouning of the entire production, and the atmosphere of wealth and refinement in which young Gloria lives is excellently represented.

Billie Burke plays the part of a young girl charmingly; her carriage and manners are entirely of the "flapper" style, and her screen magnetism is dominant.

The cast also includes Henry Kolker, David Powell, William Roselle, Frank Belcher, William T. Carleton, Jule Power, Henry Weaver and Frank McGlynn.

"THE UNBORN"

(Kulee—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY H. S. FULD

WITH Gertrude Bondhill playing the lead and doubling in two roles, this latest release, dealing with a current topic, is masterly handled. With the present day agitation for so-called "birth control" it certainly behooves one to be extremely careful in any propaganda dealing with the subject. How much more so when a story that has for its theme such a topic, is amply exemplified in "The Unborn.

The producers and director are to be congratulated on the wonderful arrangement and delicate treatment that this picture has received. There is nothing in the feature verging on the suggestive nor anything suggesting vulgarity. The story—in fact, there are two stories in one—is interesting throughout and holds the observer in tense attention till the end. Good photography, excellent acting, beautiful exterior scenes, all help to make this a more than ordinary release. Coupled with an interesting plot it becomes desirable.

A young girl (Gertrude Bondhill) in the country is betrayed by a young man, Richard Greenville (Wharton Jones), from the city. Later her son (Gertrude Bondhill) is adopted by his father, only to renounce him when he finds out that Greenville was the cause of his mother's disgfirace. The different ways that society women try to avoid motherhood, neglect their husbands, etc., also an outraged home where the father threatens to take the law into his own hands—these are mere incidents that lead to the climax.

The doctor whose criminal practices are finally brought to an end is named very appropriately, Dr. Ahlbad (Bert Merket) and he plays his part very well. The subtitles are in rhyme and show great care in the making and some of the sentiments expressed therein are well worth remembering. Altogether, through delicate handling of a delicate subject, this release is one in a hundred. Would specially recommend it for women's clubs though, rather than children's matinees.

"THE LOVE COMET"

(Keystone-Triangle—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

THE ingenious tricks for which Keystone is justly famous come to the fore in "The Love Comet." It is distinctly a trick picture, employing an aeroplane which apparently shoots through the upper air, bearing a young man, who finds it easy to effect an elopement by catching up the girl with an anchor.

When they are aloft, they amuse themselves by sending down fireworks, which the girl's father, an alleged astronomer, mistakes for a comet. They have still more fun by catching up a nego minister as he is delivering a sermon. The girl objects to his presence in the aeroplane, and the hero accommodatingly makes the machine loop the loop, with the result that the negro's face turns white out of fear. The objection is then removed.

Such stunts, worked by trick photography and other devices, makes the picture thoroughly funny. Joseph Belmont, Ora Carew, and Joseph Callahan are the principals. Walter Wright directed.

"CASEY AT THE BAT"

(Fine Arts-Triangle—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

THE poem, which De Wolf Hopper used to recite to delighted audiences, has been used as the basis of this comedy-drama, with Hopper, of course, in the role of the mighty batsman. For the first time, according to a subtitle, the world learns why Casey struck out in the final game between Mudville and Frogtown. The reason was this: just as the Frogtown pitcher was about to hurl the fateful third strike, Casey observed in the crowd a boy who was to bring him news of his little niece—the child had been seriously injured in a fall from a tree. Thinking the worst had happened, Casey was apparently rattled, and fanned.

Casey and the Heroine

Author William E. Wing and Director Lloyd Ingraham went to great trouble to provide sufficient material to justify the length of the picture, and perhaps also to bolster up Mr. Hopper's slight skill as a pantomimist. And they have succeeded in putting a lot of excellent small-town stuff on the screen, as well as in working up the three baseball games in a really dramatic way. In fact, the best thing in the picture is the portrayal of small-town life, for which a lot of admirable types are gathered.

Mr. Hopper's work is a little more effective here, because he is not called upon to carry the whole burden. Some of the scenes have considerable heart interest, notably those depicting Casey's love of children, and his kindly good-nature toward the villagers. Mr. Hopper seems to fit the atmosphere of this subject better than he fitted the atmosphere of some other pieces in which he has appeared.

Also, he has the assistance of many of the best character players in the Fine Arts studios, among them Kate Toncray, Carl Stockdale, William H. Brown, Robert Lawler, and Hal Wilson. Marguerite Marsh is very pretty as the heroine. Others are May Garcia, Frank Bennett, Bert Hadley, and Bert Hughes. The settings, lighting, and photography are thoroughly good.

"THE APOSTLE OF VENGEANCE"

(Keystone-Triangle—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY OSCAR COOPER

IN the gallery of characters contributed to the screen by William S. Hart, "The Apostle of Vengeance" ranks as one of the most impressive. The burden he is called upon to bear is heavy by reason of a story which calls for quick shifts from brotherly love to hate, and then back again; and it is exceedingly difficult to make this convincing before the camera. Nevertheless, Mr. Hart, through his magnetism, succeeds in holding the spectator throughout.

For this reason, we can recommend Mr. Hart's work as sufficient in itself to guarantee that the exhibitor may book "The Apostle of Vengeance" with safety.

There are other things to commend: human touches centering about a child; the admirable mountaineer types; a gun-fight between feudists that is filled with action; the element of strong pathos which arises out of the attack on the minister's sister by a drink-crazed boy; and the particularly dramatic scene wherein the minister preaches the doctrine of brotherly love to the group of feudists in the grove.

In addition, the atmosphere is very fine, and the camera was skillfully placed in more than one outdoor scene, so that the picturesque and the dramatic blend, as they should.

The action moves slowly at first, the author and the director being at great pains to "plant" the feud situation thoroughly before they bring Hart into it. When he does arrive, things quicken considerably, and the climax is reached about the middle of the fifth reel. Here the minister, who is of course Hart, after carrying out his plan to bring the gospel of love to the Valley of Hate, is confronted with the fact that his sister has been outraged by a member of the hostile clan, and then hurled from a bridge. He throws off his ministry and becomes "The Apostle of Vengeance." In the midst of a rainstorm, the man he is seeking falls down an enbankment at the feet of the minister, begging him "For God's sake" not to kill him. These words strike the minister with force, and he spares the boy. This brings the necessary softening of heart in the enemy clan, and all ends well.

Joseph J. Dowling gives a sterling impersonation of the leader of the McCoys, and Nona Thomas is very appealing as the heroine. Others are Fanny Midgely, Jack Gilbert, Marvel Stafford, and Gertrude Claire. The story is by Monte M. Katterjohn.

"THE PRIMA DONNA'S HUSBAND"

(A. & W. Film—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY WILLIAM RESSMAN ANDREWS

"THE Prima Donna's Husband" holds the interest in the first four reels with a tenacity making the spectator begin to believe he is witnessing an unusually well-constructed photoplay, but in the fifth reel many of the scenes disappoint from a lack of dramatic force. In these incidents the motives of the characters are not brought out in as sharp relief as in the previous episodes of the picture. They serve as mere picturesque settings for the people in the story, and fail to carry on the action satisfactorily. At the beginning of the fifth reel the story is pretty much disclosed, and the audience is by this time impatient for a swift culmination of the climax. Many of these latter scenes would be improved by cutting, and in some cases subtitles would bridge over the period of time to better advantage. The fifth reel is by no means "slow" throughout—only in spots. These spots, like the extraneous growth on a perfectly good peach, can be taken out, to a decided improvement of the action of the picture.

Constance Recognizes Her Father

The story is told by a series of intermittent flash-backs, novel in effect. The convict husband is seen musing in his cell, and his reminiscent mood is revealed in numerous dissolves. Every once in a while, in the midst of the events shown to have taken place before his imprisonment, the audience is reminded that the man is living over his past life in memory, through the re-appearance of the dissolve showing him lying on the cell cot, his features writhing in hopeless despair.

Holbrook Blinn gives a sympathetic characterization of Henry Vale, the musical director, who is serving a sentence of sixteen

A Few of the Prominent Producers Who Transact or Have Transacted Personal Business With Us.

Edwin August	J. Farrell MacDonald
Tom Chatterton	J. P. McGowan
Donald Crisp	George Melford
Al. E. Christie	Henry Otto
John Dillon	Harry Pollard
William Dowlan	Phillips Smalley
Harry Edwards	George Sargent
Francis Ford	Edward Sloman
William Garwood	Richard Stanton
Charles Giblyn	Rollin S. Sturgeon
Henry King	William D. Taylor
Burton King	Otis Turner
Ed. J. Le Saint	William Wolbert
Murdock McQuarrie	Lois Weber

WILLIS AND INGLIS

Wright and Callender Building, Los Angeles

New York Representative, ARTHUR S. KANE, 220 West 42nd Street

WHEN SEPTEMBER 10 COMES DON'T SAY WE DIDN'T WARN YOU ABOUT SEPTEMBER 9!

WHAT?

WHY, THE STUDIO DIRECTORY, OF COURSE!

CARTOON ADS

DON'T HANDLE ANY LINE UNTIL YOU HAVE SEEN MOTO-ADS. CATALOG FREE. BIG PROFITS FOR EXHIBITORS AND AGENTS.

AMERICAN COMMERCIAL FILM CO.

150 W. Austin Avenue CHICAGO

Perfect

Developing and Printing

There are reasons— Come and see them.

We sell Eastman raw stock and can make shipment same day order is received.

Dependable Service
Guaranteed Quality

Rothacker Film Mfg. Co.

Successor to Industrial Moving Picture Co.
CHICAGO, :: U. S. A.

Announcement To the Trade

The Lincoln Motion Picture Company of Los Angeles, wishes to announce its first release, a two-part drama, entitled

"Realization of a Negro's Ambition"

It is a beautiful story, well acted by an all-star Negro cast.

Exchangemen should look up the houses in their territory, see how many are catering to Negro patrons, and get busy.

If you can count the Negro population you can count the admissions.

This picture is one all Negroes will want to see and one of which all may justly be proud.

Theatre Owners Demand This of Your Exchanges

STATE RIGHTS NOW SELLING

For additional information address
C. A. BROOKS, Secretary

LINCOLN MOTION PICTURE CO.

1215 TENNESSEE ST., LOS ANGELES, CAL.

Tabloid Reviews for the Busy Exhibitor

PRODUCTIONS FROM ALL PROGRAMS

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

"A Traitor to Art." (Essanay. Three reels. Sat., June 24.)—Not shown for review.

"The Voice in the Wilderness." (Essanay. Reissue. Two reels. Tues., June 27.)—This reissue not shown for review; the story follows: A young author takes his butterfly wife to the country. He falls over a cliff and is taken by a sculptress to her cabin. His wife, thinking him dead, marries another man, so he is free to marry this sculptress with whom he has fallen in love. In the cast are Francis X. Bushman, Irene Warfield and Gerda Holmes.

"Vernon Howe Bailey's Sketch-book of St. Louis." (Essanay. Split reel. Wed., June 28.)—Sketches of interesting points in and around St. Louis share this reel with 500 feet of Western scenic.

"The Regeneration of Margaret." (Essanay. Three reels. Sat., July 1.)—Not shown for review; the story follows: Shortly after the death of her husband, Mrs. Chandler's daughter is born. The child is defective, and Dr. Belknap, a specialist, persuades the mother to let the baby die. Another doctor secretly steals the child and by an operation makes the baby a normal human being. The doctor brings up the baby with his own son, and the two fall in love with each other. Thinking they are brother and sister, however, they do not think of marriage until an accident discloses their real relationship. The players are Warda Howard, Ernest Maupain, John Junior, Patrick Calhoun and Florence Oberle.

"The Beggar and His Child." (Kalem. Tues., June 20.)—This Ham comedy, featuring Hamilton and Duncan, is one of the best so far. But taking the part of a girl is screamingly funny and Ham as the butler or majordomo is one laugh after another. In the safe robbing scene their combination of pathos and comedy is a masterpiece of pantomime. This release is bound to be a winner.

"That Lonely Widow." (Kalem. Wed., June 21.)—The daughter of a wealthy newspaper owner is placed on her own resources. How she tries to make good as a reporter on her father's paper, only to fall down and the son of the city editor brings in the story, is aptly shown. The plot is well worked out, and Ethel Teare as the daughter and Jack McDermott as the son easily carry off the honors. A typical Ethel Teare comedy, with good photography and plot.

"Her Great Invention." (Kalem. Fri., June 23.)—In this latest of the "Sis Hopkins" comedies Rose Melville has to do some quick action. Two escaped lunatics lead to mistaken identities and one laugh follows another. Henry Murdock as one of the lunatics is inimitable and he deserves special mention. There is not much of a plot, but the laugh provoking situations following fast on one another more than make up for that.

"When Opportunity Knocked." (Kalem. Wed., June 28.)—Ethel Teare makes a good artist and as a supporting cast she has two able assistants in Victor Rottman and Freddie Fraelick. The latter's impersonation of the colored servant deserves special mention. The struggle between Reggie and Sam (Rottman and Fraelick, respectively) is realistic in the extreme, and in fact the acting of all the principals is beyond fault. A good story, excellent photography and good acting make this a desirable number.

"Setting the Fashion." (Kalem. Fri., June 30.)—Rose Melville makes a wonderful play when she makes her pigtails the latest fashion in swelldom. The opportune absence of a noted hair dresser, in whose establishment Sis is working, gives her a chance and she succeeds beyond all expectations, and before she leaves she has had to call for the aid of Henry Murdock in the capacity of janitor and Frank Minzy as the mail man. There is real comedy through the whole reel and this number is a winner.

"The Sacrifice." (Selig. 3 reels. Mon., June 26.)—Reviewed at length in another part of this issue.

"The Girl of Gold Gulch." (Selig. Sat., July 1.)—The plot of this picture is not clear to the casual observer, but nevertheless it furnishes the foundation for the usual horseback and stagecoach riding of the Tom Mix Western dramas. A stage-coach driver and his sweetheart outwit a schemer who attempts to secure the claim to a mine by tampering with the stage-coach so that it breaks down en route. The girl leaves the stage-coach, and by hard riding on horseback, arrives at the destination before the schemer, with the money necessary to buy the claim. Tom Mix is assisted by Victoria Forde, Joe Ryan and Ed Jones.

Selig-Tribune, No. 47 (Mon., June 12.)—Naval cadets of Annapolis reviewed by Secretary Daniels on Commencement Day; last picture of the late Lord Kitchener, London, Eng.; President and Mrs. Wilson attend barge launching at Manchester, Mass.; U. S. Coast Artillery target practise; suffragists march in Chicago; opening of G. O. P. convention in Chicago; National Guard of Illinois marches in Chicago to stimulate enlistment.

Selig-Tribune, No. 48. (Thurs., June 15.)—$2,000,000 water front fire in San Francisco, Cal.; Knights Templars parade in Brooklyn, N. Y.; launching of large ship in San Francisco harbor; scenes relative to the Mexican and European wars; Dario Resta wins auto race in Chicago, Ill.; latest photograph of Charles E. Hughes with one of his daughters; and other events.

MUTUAL PROGRAM

"The Fate of the Dolphin." (Flying A. Two reels. Mon., June 26.)—The locale of this is a small seaport and the story a melodrama, in which the fleet owner's son attempts to get the hero shanghaied, but is himself framed up by the heroine. Harry Von Meter, George Field, Edward Coxen, Lizette Thorne, Perry Banks, and Clarence Burton head the cast.

"A Safe Loss." (Vogue. Tues., June 27.)—Henry Huckins, Madge Kirby, Art Tavares, and Rube Miller play the principal roles in this comedy, which centers about the disappearance of a safe and the exploits of a dishonest clerk. It is fair entertainment. Rube Miller directed.

"When Adam Had 'Em." (Beauty. Wed., June 28.)—This is a variation of the story of the wife who wants to charm her husband so he won't forsake her for the club. She enlists the aid of a psychic, who gives her a snake to practise her charms on. Hubby gets home very late one night, and the snake has a conspicuous part in the final reconciliation. In the cast are John Sheehan, Carol Holloway, John Steppling, Mary Talbot, and Al Santell.

"The Demon of Fear." (Mustang. Two reels. Fri., June 30.)—Of heart interest import, "The Demon of Fear" is a story within a story. James Oliver, whose wife is about to become a mother, is told by his physician that he must not engage in a physical encounter or get hurt in any way or it would kill his wife. He thereupon meets a tough in a saloon and engages in a quarrel. Forced to fight or admit cowardice, he does the latter. Then one of the spectators, an old man, tells a story, with this as his text: "No man who will admit that he is a coward for principle, is one." Frank Borzage, Anna Little, Jack Richardson, and Queenie Rosson worked under the direction of Borzage.

"Tangled Skeins." (Flying A. Three reels. Thurs., June 29.)—Produced by E. Mason Hopper, this is a human interest story of Randall, who marries a Countess when he is abroad, and returning to the West, meets a young shepherdess and falls in love with her. Later, when he is advised that the ship on which the Countess sailed was lost, he marries the shepherdess, but his mother scorns the girl and she is banished. Then the Countess unexpectedly appears. After Randall loses the Countess he searches for the shepherdess, who is also tracing her child. She finds that Randall's mother has adopted the infant and all ends well. Al Vosburgh, Vivian Rich, Beverly Juneau, Louise Lester, Emma Kluge, and George Periolat are in the cast.

"Jerry's Big Haul." (Cub. Fri., June 30.)—Jerry has trouble with his landlady, and when the latter's husband comes to eject him, Jerry gets the better of him and throws him out of the window; therefore he is obliged to dodge the cops, and while hiding in the park, he meets Josie, and falls in love with her. Josie takes him home to call on Papa, and Jerry, waiting in the parlor, comes upon burglars who are blowing open papa's safe. The landlady's husband, who has followed Jerry, is outside when the explosion occurs, and a box of money flies through the window and lands in his hands. Jerry runs and catches his enemy, and denounces him to the police. The money is recovered, and Jerry is the hero of the hour. Besides George Ovey, the cast includes George George, Claire Alexander, Jefferson Osborne, Janet Sully, Robert Kenyon, Gordon McGregor and Harry Jackson.

"Just for a Kid." (Vogue. Sun., July 2.)—Paddy McGuire, Ben Turpin, Rena Rogers, Arthur Moon, Ed. J. Laurie, and Jack Gaines perform amusingly in this slapstick, which centers about the theft of a child by Bungling Bill and Bloggie, two rogues.

"The Gink from Kankakee." (Beauty. Sun., July 2.)—Small town politics and old style melodrama are burlesqued amusingly by Orral Humphrey, John Gough, Lucille Ward, and Joe Massey.

Mutual Weekly, No. 77.—Tenth annual Rose Festival at Portland, Ore.; U. S. troops sail for Philippines; fatal crash on New York "L"; forty-five killed in $4,000,000 fire at Baltimore; Wilson addresses graduates of Naval Academy; battleship Pennsylvania placed in commission; twelve firemen overcome in blaze at Frisco; President Wilson heads Washington preparedness parade; views of Candidate Hughes; other views.

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

"Peg o' the Ring," No. 8. (Universal Special Serial. Two reels.)—An exciting auto and motor cycle chase and two involuntary high dives into the surf add "pep" to this chapter of the circus serial. The Lunds capture Peg after the automobile dash, and finding that she has given the coveted letter to the police, take her back to their shack on the seaside and tie her to a post, leaving her alone. Just before this, in attempting to escape from the same shack, Lund, Jr., throws one of his captors from the window into the sea far below, in leaping out of the same window, is shot as he falls through the air. His senseless form is washed up by the surf and he lies on the beach apparently dead. The chapter closes with him lying there, and a fire, started by rats which have gnawed through a box of matches, slowly envelopes Peg.

"It Happened in Honolulu." (Red Feather. Five reels. Mon., June 26.)—Reviewed at length in the issue of June 17.

"The Browns See the Fair." (Nestor. Mon., June 26.)—The San Diego Fair is the scene of this Nestor which Al Christie wrote and Horace Davey directed. A married couple and a flock of children at the place furnish average amusement. We have seen better Nestors, but this one gets some laughs. Neal Burns, Stella Adams, and Betty Compson are the principals.

"The Jackals of a Great City." (Gold Seal. Two reels. Tues., June 27.)—Showing the manner in which a rejected suitor made good by putting his rival in love, a man of unkindly intentions to rout. This is rapid fire melodrama ending with a series of fights that spur on the interest. Harvey Gates prepared the scenario for Edward LeSaint's direction. Harry Carey and Stella Razetto have the principal parts.

"The Toy Soldier." (Rex., Tues., June 27.)—A real man takes the place of a life sized toy soldier and is shipped to England. He succeeds in catching two burglars before his guise is given away. A cleverly produced subject, the man playing the soldier being expert in the art of playing the dummy.

"Bashful Charlie's Proposal." (Joker. Sat., July 1.)—When two brothers look exactly alike many humorous possibilities result. Allen Curtis has seized every opportunity available in this resemblance and has produced an excellent comedy with a story of his own concoction. William Franey and Charles Conklin are the brothers while Gale Henry and Lillian Peacock are others important in the cast.

"Muggins." (Joker, Sat., July 1.)—Separation of husband and wife results from the social aspirations of the latter but a reunion is affected through their child. Rather trite drama of little interest and not worthy to bear the name of its author, Harvey Gates. Clifford Elfelt directed Gretchen Lederer and Norbert A. Myles in the principal roles.

"The Sting of Conscience." (Rex. Three reels. Sun., July 2.)—Laid in beautiful mountain landscapes, and enhanced by very fine photography, this feature presents only a fair sort of story, and is hardly worthy its given amount of footage. It has just a little suspense and only a fair amount of love interest. Sydney Ayres, Doris Pawn, Dixie Carr, V. T. Henderson, Louella Maxam and Ruth Snyder are the principals.

"Base Ball Bill." (Laemmle. No. 1. Sun., July 2.)—This is the first baseball comedy produced by Bill Mason and has as its forte rapid action. Rapidity, however, is not all that is essential to comedy and the tricks employed in this reel are rather old and too familiar for use without material elaboration. Billy Mason is the lead as the hero of the village nine and does fair work throughout.

Universal Animated Weekly, No. 25. (Wed., June 21.)—President Wilson leads Preparedness Parade in Washington, D. C.; disastrous results of cyclone in Jackson, Mich.; China's new president, General Li; more troops depart from Canada to fight for England; burial services of General Gallieni, Paris, France; Rario Resta wins auto race, Chicago, Ill.; $2,000,000 fire sweeps San Francisco's water front; U. S. S. Pennsylvania, newest dreadnought receives commission, Norfolk, Va.; Mexican war scenes; President Wilson attends commencement exercises at West Point, N. Y.; Philadelphia National League baseball team raises last years championship flag, Philadelphia, Pa.; cartoons by Hy Mayer.

INTERNATIONAL FILM SERVICE

Hearst International News Pictorial, No. 47. (Tues., June 13.)—Among the interesting news items contained in this weekly are views at close range of the 1916 Presidential candidates, the coast defense guns in action on the Pacific Coast, the rear end collision on the "L" road in New York City, the launching of a large oil steamer at San Francisco, in addition to the regular fashion section. The scenes from the European battle front comprise closeups of the British naval guns in action at Salonika. The educational part of the film is devoted to the fishing industry near Washington, D. C., and shows thousands of shad being hauled ashore with big nets.

Hearst-International News Pictorial. No. 48. (International)—Finish of Chicago motor races, Chicago; President Wilson addresses graduating class at West Point; Educational Feature (sheep grazing in Southern Utah); Charles E. Hughes, Republican nominee, besieged by reporters at his Washington home; Field Marshal Von Mackensen cheered by the populace in Constantinople; scenes at the Democratic National convention, St. Louis; Colonel Roosevelt striken with painful attack on steamship pier, New York; Pennsylvania National Guard in sham battle at Philadelphia; President Wilson reviews parade of 65,000 preparedness advocates, in Washington; latest Fashions.

"Maud the Mule" and "A Sad Awakening." (International. Tues., June 20.)—Two cartoon comedies, more than ordinarilly laughable, are the work of F. Opper and George W. Herriman. In the former the squire is holding his savings in his hand preparatory to giving them to his nephew when Maud puts her head in the window and gobbles them up. Maud gets a slam in the eye and retaliates by kicking the squire across the lots where he strikes a fence wire and bounces back to Maud who kicks again. Back and forth from wire to hoof goes the squire and there are laughs galore.

"A Sad Awakening" is a Krazy Kat comedy with Ignats and a few accessories such as a piece of cheese and a sheet of fly-paper. Both are very good comedy conceptions.

INCORPORATIONS

The Corporation Trust Company, 37 Wall street, New York, reports the following new corporations:

In Delaware:

THE TOBOGGAN AMUSEMENT COMPANY; Conducting places of amusement; capitalized at $6,000 in Dover, Del.; incorporators are: John McLaren, New York City; E. B. Knowlton, New York City and E. M. Beyhl, New York City.

PRACTICAL PORTABLE PROJECTOR Co.; to manufacture motion picture projection machines and supplies; capitalized at $50,000 in Wilmington, Del.; Incorporators are: C. L. Peyton, Chicago; W. R. Mengel, Chicago, and Wm. W. Plewes, Chicago.

In Illinois:

SMILE & LAUGH FILM COMPANY; To Manufacture and operate moving picture films; capitalized at $2,000 in Chicago; incorporators are Edmund D. Levinsohn, Chicago; Benj. Simon, Chicago, and Emil Greenhut, Chicago.

WESSLUND PARK AMUSEMENT COMPANY; To operate place of amusement; capitalized at $5,000 in Paxton, Ill.; incorporators are: C. R. Cruzen, Paxton; F. L. Wesslund, Paxton, and K. E. Rodeen, Paxton.

UNIVERSAL FILM EXCHANGE COMPANY; Moving picture business; capitalized at $50,000 in Chicago, Ill.; incorporators are: John J. Laine, Chicago; Paul J. Dubois, Chicago and Edwin H. Collins, Chicago.

In Maine:

PARILLO-BROOKHART PLAYERS FILM COMPANY; Produce motion pictures, and exhibit same, conducting studios and school for teaching art of expression, etc.; capitalized at $500,000 in Portland, Maine; incorporators are: Bert Brookhart, Portland; Charles C. Hutchins, Portland; Lola B. Hutchins, Portland.

In New Jersey:

HUDSON TOBOGGAN CO.; Amusement enterprises; capitalized at $10,000 in Town of Union, N. J.; incorporators are Victor C. Berger, 1338 Sheridan Pl., Pittsburgh, Pa.; Harry F. Peters, 703 9th Ave., N. Y. C.; William Peters, 33 Palisade Ave., Town of Union, N. J.

In New York:

WERTSNER COMPANY, INC.; Mfg. moving picture screens, mounting maps, etc.; capitalized at $100,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Clayton S. Wertsner, Delanco, N. J.; Albert G. Wertsner, Delanco, N. J.; Frank M. Bennett, 525 Park Ave., E. Orange, N. J.

MILITARY MOVIE TARGET COMPANY, INC.; Mfg. kinematograph rifle ranges, moving picture apparatus, supplies, etc.; capitalized at $3,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Thos. J. Regan, Westbury, L. I.; Frank D. Ames, 63 E. 59th St., New York; John P. Vincent, 1108 Lincoln Pl., Bklyn., N. Y.

ANSONIA AMUSEMENT COMPANY, INC.; Theatrical and motion pictures; capitalized at $100,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Harry Shiffman, 7 W. 111 St., New York City; Simon Lind, 624 E. 6th St., New York City; Abr. Stock, 706 Fairmont Pl., New York City.

PICKFORD FILM CORPORATION; Theatrical and motion picture; capitalized at $50,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Gladys Mary Moore, 270 Riverside Drive, N. Y.; Charlotte Smith, 270 Riverside Drive, N. Y.; Dennis F. O'Brien, 1482 Broadway, N. Y.

EDMAX AMUSEMENT COMPANY, INC.; Theatrical and motion pictures business; capitalized at $1,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Edmund Plohn, 251 W. 82nd St., New York City; E. Bernhard Binberg, 251 W. 82nd St., New York City; Wm. Lamkay, 1878 7th Ave., New York City.

MONARCH PHOTO PLAY CO., INC.; Motion picture and theatrical business; capitalized at $10,000 in Brooklyn; incorporators are: Julian H. Clark, 531 Fulton St., Bklyn.; Kate R. Clark, 531 Fulton St., Bklyn.; Robert Russell, Hotel Navarre, New York City.

NORIEGA FILM COMPANY, INC.; Gen. film and motion picture business; capitalized at $50,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Manuel Noriega, 316 W. 58th St., New York City; H. H. Waller, 140 Nassau St., New York City; V. C. Bogardus, 140 Nassau St., New York City.

MORRIS GEST, INC.; Gen. theatrical business, motion pictures, etc.; capitalized at $1,000 in Manhattan; incorporators are: Morris Gest, 104 W. 39th St., New York City; Arthur S. Friend, 51 E. 52d St., New York City; Geo. Illmensee, 104 W. 39th St., New York City.

SOL L. LESSER
MOVING PICTURE FILMS

MAIN OFFICE
SAN FRANCISCO
234 EDDY ST.
CALIFORNIA

EASTERN REPRESENTATIVE
LEON D. NETTER
1325 VINE ST.
PHILADELPHIA PA.

MOTION PICTURE RIGHTS PURCHASED FOR THE PACIFIC COAST

ALL STAR FEATURES DISTRIBUTORS, Inc.
AND
GOLDEN GATE FILM EXCHANGE, Inc.

BRANCH
LOS ANGELES
514 WEST 8TH ST.
CALIFORNIA

SENSATIONAL SUCCESS STATE RIGHTS FOR SALE FULL OF ACTION

Now playing to capacity, 100 days on Loew Circuit, New York City, under the auspices of the New Yorker Staats Zeitung

"Germany's Battles at Verdun"

4000 feet of battle scenes full of thrills and sensation

SAMUEL CUMMINS, REPRESENTATIVE, ROOM 904, LONG ACRE BUILDING, 1476 BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY

Mr. Live-Wire Exhibitor Have you arranged your bookings on Frederick J. Ireland's High-Class Comedy Series

TOM & JERRY?

IF NOT—DO IT NOW

Two reels a week for 10 solid weeks. First release Monday, June 26th
A Sure-Fire Box Office Winner for the Hot Weather Season

Made by
EMERALD MOTION PICTURE COMPANY
Released exclusively through
AMERICAN STANDARD MOTION PICTURE CORPORATION
Executive Offices: 166 W. Washington St., Chicago
Branches in all principal cities.

Calendar of Coming and Current Releases

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

RELEASES FOR CURRENT WEEK

Monday, June 26, 1916.

KALEM—The Music Swindlers, (Fourteenth of the Social Pirates), D., 2000.....Special
BIOGRAPH—The Unwelcome Guest, D., 1000 (Re-Issue) 20788
LUBIN—No Place Like Jail, C., 1000..... 20789
SELIG—The Sacrifice, D., 3000..... 20783
SELIG—Selig-Tribune, No. 51, Topical, 1000..... 20787
VITAGRAPH—The Foxy Trotters, C., 1000..... 20786

Tuesday, June 27, 1916.

EDISON—The Southerners, D., 3000..... 20795
ESSANAY—The Voice in the Wilderness, D., 2000 Re-Issue) 20790
KALEM—Ham Comedy ("The Explorer"), C., 1000.. 20792
LUBIN—Out of the Flotsam, D., 2000..... 20793

Wednesday, June 28, 1916.

BIOGRAPH—A Fair Rebel, D., 3000..... 20801
EDISON—One reel Drama (Title not decided)..... 20780
ESSANAY—Vernon Howe Bailey's Sketch Book of St. Louis, Cart and 500 ft., Sc., Split reel..... 20799
KALEM—When Opportunity Knocked, (E. T. Com.). 20798
KALEM—The Lotus Woman (Alice Hollister), D., Five Parts 20804

Thursday, June 29, 1916.

LUBIN—The Return of John Boston, D., 3000..... 20809
SELIG—Selig-Tribune, No. 52, Topical, 1000..... 20812
VIM—Better Halves, C., 1000..... 20813

Friday, June 30, 1916.

KALEM—Setting the Fashions (Sis Hopkins)..... 20817
KNICKERBOCKER STAR FEATURE—The Head of the House, D., 3000..... 20814
VIM—For Value Received, C., 1000..... 20819
VITAGRAPH—Losing Weight, C., 1000..... 20818

Saturday, July 1, 1916.

ESSANAY—The Regeneration of Margaret, D., 3000 20820
KALEM—The Engineer's Honor, (H. of H. Series).. 20827
LUBIN—Edison Bugg's Invention, and Under a Barrel, Split reel Comedy..... 20823
SELIG—The Girl of Gold Gulch, D., 1000..... 20828
VITAGRAPH—Letitia, D., 3000..... 20824

RELEASES FOR COMING WEEK

Monday, July 3, 1916.

BIOGRAPH—The Blue or the Grey, D., 1000 (Re-Issue) .....
KALEM—Black Magic (Fifteenth of the Social Pirates) D., 2000 .....Special LUBIN—Otto the Traffic Cop, C., 1000.....
SELIG—The Return, D., 3000.....
SELIG—Selig-Tribune, No. 53, Topical, 1000.....
VITAGRAPH—Billie's Mother, C., and a tour from Bergen to Bandak, Sc., Split Reel.....

Tuesday, July 4, 1916.

BIOGRAPH—His Trust and His Trust Fulfilled, D., 2000, (Re-Issue) .....
EDISON— .....
ESSANAY—The Fable of the Fearsome Feud Between The Furst Families, C., 2000.....
KALEM—The Peach Pickers (Ham Comedy).....

Wednesday, July 5, 1916.

EDISON—No release reported.....
ESSANAY—Canimated Nooz Pictorial, Cart., And 500 ft., Sc., Split reel .....
KALEM—Notch Number Nine, D., 1000.....
VIM—Housekeeping, (Harry Myers and Rosemary Theby), C., 1000.....

Thursday, July 6, 1916.

LUBIN—The Stolen Master, D., 3000.....
SELIG—Selig-Tribune, No. 54, Topical, 1000.....
VIM—A Day at School, C., 1000.....

Friday, July 7, 1916.

KALEM—The Psychic Phenomenon (Sis Hopkins)..
KNICKERBOCKER STAR FEATURE—The Crooked Road, (Henry King), D., 3000.....
VIM—Furnished Rooms, C., 1000.....
VITAGRAPH—When it rains it pours.....

Saturday, July 8, 1916.

ESSANAY—Power, D., 3000.....
KALEM—(H. of H. Series) Title Not Decided, D., 1000
LUBIN—A Terrible Tragedy, C., and The Rival Queens; C., Split reel.....
SELIG—Some Duel, Com-D., 1000.....
VITAGRAPH—No "Broadway Star Feature" this week!

MUTUAL FILM

Monday, June 26, 1916.

AMERICAN—The Fate of the Dolphin, D., 2000..... 04851

Tuesday, June 27, 1916.

VOGUE—A Safe Loss, C., 1000..... 04853

Wednesday, June 28, 1916.

MUTUAL—Mutual Weekly, No. 78, Topical, 1000.... 04854
BEAUTY—When Adam Had 'em, C., 1000..... 04855
GAUMONT—See America First, Sc., (Glacier National Park, and Kartoon Komics, Split reel..... 04856

Thursday, June 29, 1916.

AMERICAN—Tangled Skeins, D., 3000..... 04857

Friday, June 30, 1916.

MUSTANG—The Demon of Fear, D., 2000..... 04860
CUB—Jerry's Big Haul, C., 1000..... 04862

Saturday, July 1, 1916.

CENTAUR—A King o' Make Believe, D., 2000..... 04863

Sunday, July 2, 1916.

BEAUTY—The Gink from Kankakee, C., 1000..... 04865
VOGUE—Just for a Kid, C., 1000..... 04866
GAUMONT—"Reel Life," Magazine reel, 1000..... 04867

Monday, July 3, 1916.

AMERICAN—Killed by Whom? D., 2000..... 04868

Tuesday, July 4, 1916.

VOGUE—The Chaser Chased, C., 1000..... 04870

Wednesday, July 5, 1916.

MUTUAL—Mutual Weekly, No. 79, Topical, 1000.... 04871
BEAUTY—Billy Van Deusen Masquerader, C., 1000.. 04872
GAUMONT—See America First, Sc., (Mobile, Ala.) and Kartoon Komics, Cart., Split reel..... $4873

Thursday, July 6, 1916.

GAUMONT—The Hidden Face, D., 3000..... 04874

Friday, July 7, 1916.

MUSTANG—The Taming of Wild Bill, D., 2000..... 04877
CUB—A Merry Mix-Up, C., 1000..... 04879

Saturday, July 8, 1916.

CENTAUR—The Good-For-Nothing Brat, D., 2000... 04880

Sunday, July 9, 1916.

BEAUTY—The Gink Lands Again, C., 1000..... 04882
VOGUE—Hired and Fired, C., 1000..... 04883
GAUMONT—"Reel Life," Magazine reel, 1000..... 04884

Calendar of Current and Coming Releases

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

RELEASES FOR CURRENT WEEK

UNIVERSAL SPECIAL FEATURE—Peg o' the Ring, No. 9, "The Leap," D, 2000 01563

Monday, June 26, 1916.

RED FEATHER—It Happened in Honolulu, D., 5000 01545
NESTOR—The Browns see the Fair, C., 1000 01546

Tuesday, June 27, 1916.

GOLD SEAL—Jackals of a Great City, D., 2000 01547
REX—The Toy Soldier, C., 1000 01548
IMP—Peggy and the Law, D., 1000 01549

Wednesday, June 28, 1916.

BIG U—God and the Baby, D., 1000 01550
L-KO—Pirates of the Air, C., 2000 01551
UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY—No. 26, News 01552

Thursday, June 29, 1916.

LAEMMLE—The Human Cactus, D., 2000 01553
BIG U—Twice at Once, C., 1000 01554
POWERS—Sammy Johnsin, Magician, Cart-C., and The Children's Paradise, Ed., Split reel 01555

Friday, June 30, 1916.

IMP—Blind Man's Buff, Com-D., 2000 01556
VICTOR—Muggins, D., 1000 01557
POWERS—Such is Life in China, (Hy Mayer Com.). 01558

Saturday, July 1, 1916.

BISON—The Money Lenders, D., 2000 01559
JOKER—Bashful Charley's Proposal, C., 1000 01560

Sunday, July 2, 1916.

REX—The Sting of Conscience, D., 3000 01561
LAEMMLE—Baseball Bill, No. 1, C., 1000 01562

RELEASES FOR COMING WEEK

UNIVERSAL SPECIAL FEATURE—Peg o' the Ring, No. 10, D., 2000 01582

Monday, July 3, 1916.

RED FEATHER—The Way of the World, D., 5000 .. 01564

Tuesday, July 4, 1916.

GOLD SEAL—They Wouldn't Take Him Seriously, Com. D., 2000 01565
REX—The Head of the Family, D., 1000 01566
IMP—The Clever Mrs. Carter, C., 1000 01567

Wednesday, July 5, 1916.

VICTOR—Behind the Veil, D., 2000 01568
L-KO—A Gambler's Gambol, C., 1000 01569
UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY—No. 27, News 01570

Thursday, July 6, 1916.

IMP—The Man Across the Street, D., 2000 01571
BIG U—The Wishing Lamp, Juv-D., 1000 01572
POWERS—The Janitor, C., 1000 01573

Friday, July 7, 1916.

IMP—The River Goddess, Com-D., 1000 01574
VICTOR—Any Youth, D., 1000 01575
NESTOR—Double Crossing the Dean, C., 2000 01576

Saturday, July 8, 1916.

BISON—The Committee on Credentials, D., 3000 01577
POWERS—Sports of the Rajah in Mysterious India, from the Dr. Dorsey Expedition, Ed., 1000 01578
JOKER—An All Around Cure, C., 1000 01579

Sunday, July 9, 1916.

REX—A Dead Yesterday, D., 2000 01580
L-KO—Getting The Goods on Gertie, C., 1000 01581

UNICORN PROGRAM

Monday, June 19, 1916.

UTAH—A Squaw's Loyalty, D., 1000 700
GAYETY—Little Grains of Rice, C., 1000 701
SUPREME—The Two Waifs, D., 1000 702

Tuesday, June 20, 1916.

SUNSET—The Brand of Fear, D., 2000 ..... 702A
JOCKEY—General Mixup, C., 1000 ..... 702B

Wednesday, June 21, 1916.

BUFFALO—The Measure of Man, D., 2000 703
HIPPO—Wifie's Dilemma, C., 1000 704

Thursday, June 22, 1916.

LILY—His Brother's Sin, D., 2000 ..... 704A
HIPPO—The Village Flirt, C., 1000 ..... 704B

Friday, June 23, 1916.

JOCKEY—The New Maid, C., 1000 705
RANCHO—From Out of the Past, D., 1000 706
SUPREME—The Eternal Truth, D., 1000 707

Saturday, June 24, 1916.

BUFFALO—The Barrier of Race, D., 2000 708
HIPPO—A Circumstantial Hero, and The Live Wire, Comedy, Split 709

Sunday, June 25, 1916.

BUFFALO—A Message from the Hills, D., 2000 710
SUPREME—The Nobler Love, D., 1000 711

Monday, June 26, 1916.

HIAWATHA—The New Prospector, D., 1000 725
JOCKEY—Clarence the Cowboy, C., 1000 726
PURITAN—His False Friend, D., 1000 727

Tuesday, June 27, 1916.

UTAH—The Indian Trail, D., 1000 ..... 727A
LILY—The Inner Mind, D., 1000 ..... 727B
JOCKEY—A Bald Lie, C., 1000 ..... 727C

Wednesday, June 28, 1916.

BUFFALO—The Strength of the Weak, D., 2000 728
PURITAN—The Recoil, D., 1000 729

Thursday, June 29, 1916.

UTAH—The Bandit's Bride, D., 1000 ..... 729A
SUNSET—Fires of Fate, D., 1000 ..... 729B
HIPPO—Family Troubles, C., 1000 ..... 729C

Friday, June 30, 1916.

PURITAN—The Slums of Humanity, D., 2000 730
JUDY—A Resourceful Lover, C., 1000 731

Sunday, July 2, 1916.

BUFFALO—A Deserter's Courage, D., 2000 732
LILY—The Derelict, D., 1000 733

Sunday, July 2, 1916.

PURITAN—The Fortune Hunter, D., 2000 734
GAYETY—The Lure of the City, C., 1000 735

RELEASE DATES FOR READY REFERENCE

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

BIOGRAPH

5—29. The House with the Closed Shutters, (Re-issue).....1000
5—31. Woman Against Woman, D.....3000
5—31. The Woman in Black, D.....5000
6— 5. The Girl Across the Way, D. (Re-Issue) 1000
6— 6. The Yaqui, Cur., D. (Re-Issue).....2000
6—12. The Spirit Awakened, D. (Re-issue)..1000
6—14. Liberty Belles, C.....3000
6—19. A Misunderstood Boy, D., (Re-Issue).....1000
6—20. The Reformers, D., (Re-Issue).....2000
6—26. The Unwelcome Guest, D. (Re-issue).1000
6—28. A Fair Rebel, D.....3000

EDISON

6— 7. Love's Labor Lost, Cart., and Camping with the Black Feet, Sc., Split Reel
6—13. The Man in the Street, D. (Re-issue).3000
6—14. The Charge of the Light Brigade, D.1000
6—20. Out of the Ruins, D.....3000
6—21. The Pied Piper of Hamelin, Juve....1000
6—27. The Southerners, D.....3000

ESSANAY

5—30. The Song in the Dark, (Re-issue), D.2000
5—31. The Fable of the Willing Collegian Who Wanted to Get a Foothold, C.1000
6— 3. Our People, D.....3000
6— 6. Orphan Joyce, D.....2000
6— 7. Vernon Howe Bailey's Sketch Book of Berlin, Cart., and 500 ft. Sc., Split Reel
6—10. Fool's Gold, D.....3000
6—13. Putting it Over, C.....2000
6—14. Canimated Nooz Pictorial, No. 11, Cart., and 500 ft. Sc.....Split Reel
6—17. The Promise Land, D.....3000
6—20. The Girl at the Curtain, D.....2000
6—21. The Fable of the Undecided Brunette, C.....1000
6—24. A Traitor to Art, D.....3000
6—27. The Voice in the Wilderness, D. (Re-Issue).....2000
6—28. Vernon Howe Bailey's Sketch Book of St. Louis, Cart and 500 ft., Sc..Split Reel
7— 1. The Regeneration of Margaret, D.....3000

KALEM

5—19. An Innocent Vampire, C.....1000
5—20. One Chance in a Hundred (H. of H. Series), D.....1000
5—23. Ham's Busy Day, C.....1000
5—24. The Bogus Ghost, C.....1000
5—26. The Baby Grand, C.....1000
5—27. The Capture of Red Stanley (H. of H. Series), D.....1000
5—30. A Bunch of Flivvers, C.....1000
5—31. A Smoky Adventure, C.....1000
6— 2. Sis the Detective, C.....1000
6— 3. The Spiked Switch (H. of H. Series), D.....1000
6— 6. Midnight at the Old Mill, C.....1000
6— 7. In Cinderella's Shoes, C.....1000
6— 9. Juggling Justice, C.....1000
6—10. The Treasure Train, D.....1000
6—16. The Stenographer's Strategy, C.....1000
6—17. A Race Through the Air, D.....1000
6—19. In the Service of the State, D.....2000
6—23. Her Great Invention, C.....1000
6—24. The Mysterious Cipher.....1000
6—26. The Music Swindlers, D.....2000
6—28. When Opportunity Knocked.....1000
6—28. The Lotus Woman, D.....5000
6—30. Setting the Fashions.....1000
7— 1. The Engineer's Honor.....1000

KNICKERBOCKER STAR FEATURES

5—12. Broken Fetters, D.....3000
5—17. Spellbound, D.....5000
5—19. A Child of Fortune, D.....3000
5—26. The Flirting Bride, D.....3000
6— 2. Shadows, D.....3000
6— 9. The Stained Pearl, D.....3000
6—16. Pay Dirt, D.....3000
6—23. The Ancient Blood, D.....3000
6—30. The Master of the House, D.....3000

LUBIN

5—23. Otto the Hero, C.....1000
5—25. Prisoners of Conscience, D.....3000
5—27. Oh! You Uncle, C.....1000
5—29. Trilby Frilled, C.....1000
5—30. The Final Payment, D.....2000
6— 1. The Code of the Hills, D.....3000
6— 3. Pickles and Diamonds, C.....1000
6— 5. Otto, the Reporter, C.....1000
6— 8. The Scapegrace, D.....3000
6—10. Two Smiths and a Haff, C.....1000
6—12. Otto the Cobbler, C.....1000
6—13. The Avenger, D.....2000
6—15. Sons of the Sea, D.....3000
6—17. Hubby Puts One Over, C.....1000
6—19. Otto's Legacy, C.....1000
6—22. Love is Law, D.....3000
6—24. Persistency, C.....1000
6—26. No Place Like Jail, C.....1000
6—27. Out of the Flotsam, D.....2000
6—29. The Return of John Boston, D.....3000
7— 1. Edison Bugg's Invention, and Under a Barrel.....Split Reel

SELIG-TRIBUNE NEWS PICTORIAL

Issued every Monday and Thursday.

SELIG

5—16. The Hardy Way, D.....3000
5—18. Selig-Tribune, No. 40, Topical.....1000
5—20. A Boarding House Ham, C.....1000
5—22. The Test of Chivalry, D.....3000
5—27. A Five Thousand Dollar Elopement, C.....1000
5—29. The Hare and the Tortoise, D.....3000
6— 3. Crooked Trails, D.....1000
6— 5. A Temperance Town, C.....3000
6—10. Going West to Make Good, D.....1000
6—12. The Two Orphans, D.....3000
6—17. The Cowpuncher's Peril, D.....1000
6—19. The Reprisal, D.....3000
6—24. Taking a Chance, W. D.....1000
6—26. The Sacrifice, D.....3000
7— 1. The Girl of Gold Gulch, D.....1000

RELEASE DAYS

GENERAL FILM

Monday—Biograph, Lubin, Selig, Selig-Tribune, Vitagraph.
Tuesday—Biograph, Essanay, Kalem, Lubin.
Wednesday—Biograph, Essanay, Kalem.
Thursday—Essanay, Lubin, Selig-Tribune, Vim.
Friday—Knickerbocker Star Feature, Kalem, Vim, Vitagraph.
Saturday—Essanay, Kalem, Lubin, Selig, Vitagraph.

MUTUAL FILM

Monday—American, Falstaff, Vogue.
Tuesday—Thanhouser, Vogue.
Wednesday—Beauty, Mutual Weekly, Gaumont.
Thursday—Gaumont, American.
Friday—Mustang, Cub.
Saturday—Centaur, Falstaff.
Sunday—Beauty, Vogue, Gaumont.

UNIVERSAL FILM

Monday—Red Feather, Nestor.
Tuesday—Gold Seal, Rex, Imp.
Wednesday—Victor, L-Ko, Animated Weekly.
Thursday—Laemmle, Big U, Powers.
Friday—Imp, Victor, Nestor.
Saturday—Bison, Powers, Joker.
Sunday—Rex, Laemmle, L-Ko.

VIM

5—18. Thirty Days, C.....1000
5—19. A Fair Exchange, C.....1000
5—25. Baby Doll, C.....1000
5—26. Villains and Violins, C.....1000
6— 1. The Schemers, C.....1000
6— 2. The Land Lubbers, C.....1000
6— 8. The Sea Dogs, C.....1000
6— 9. A Dollar Down, C.....1000
6—15. Hungry Hearts, C.....1000
6—16. The Raid, C.....1000
6—22. Never Again, C.....1000
6—23. For Better or Worse, C.....1000
6—30. For Value Received, C.....1000
6—29. Better Halves, C.....1000

VITAGRAPH

5—19. More Money Than Manners, C.....1000
5—20. Miss Adventure, Com.-D.....3000
5—22. The Cost of High Living, C.....1000
5—26. The Battler, C.....1000
5—27. The Wheat and the Chaff, D.....3000
5—29. The Idle Rich, Com.-D.....1000
6— 2. The Loneliness, C.....1000
6— 3. Carew and Son, D.....3000
6— 5. New York, Old and New.....1000
6— 9. She Won the Prize, C.....1000
6—10. The Strange Case of Robert Burnham, D.....3000
6—12. Her Loving Relations, Com.-D.....1000
6—16. Harold the Nurse Girl, C.....1000
6—17. Ashes, D.....3000
6—19. Stung, C.....1000
6—23. Curfew at Pokey Center, C.....1000
6—24. Would You Forgive Her?, D.....3000
6—26. The Foxy Trotters, C.....1000
6—30. Losing Weight, C.....1000

MUTUAL FILM RELEASES

AMERICAN

5—11. The Profligate, D.....3000
5—15. The Pretender, D.....2000
5—18. Four Months, D.....3000
5—22. Repaid, D.....2000
5—29. The Release of Dan Forbes, D.....2000
6— 1. The Trail of the Thief, D.....3000
6— 5. Jealousy's First Wife, D.....2000
6—12. Convicted for Murder, D.....2000
6—19. The Gentle Conspiracy, D.....2000
6—26. The Fate of the Dolphin, D.....2000
6—29. Tangled Skeins, D.....3000

BEAUTY

5—21. Twenty Minutes in Magic, C.....1000
5—24. Adjusting His Claim, C.....1000
5—28. The Pork Plotters, C.....1000
5—31. The Comet's Comeback, C.....1000
6— 4. Ima Knutt Gets a Bite, C.....1000
6— 7. Billy Van Deusen's Operation, C....1000
6—11. Thinim Stout, C.....1000
6—14. Billy Van Deusen's Eggs-spensive Adventure, C.....1000
6—18. Pedigrees, Pups and Pussies, C.....1000
6—21. The House on Hokum Hill, C.....1000
6—24. The Day's Work, C.....1000
7— 2. The Gink from Kankakee, C.....1000

CENTAUR

6—10. The Lion's Nemesis, D.....2000
6—17. The Star of India, D.....2000
6—24. A Siren of the Jungle, D.....2000
7— 1. A King o' Make Believe, D.....2000

CUB

5—19. Harmony and Discord.....1000
5—26. Preparedness, C.....1000
6— 2. Sawdust Love, C.....1000
6— 9. Jerry's Big Lark, C.....1000
6—16. Jerry and the Moonshiners.....1000
6—23. Jerry's Elopement, C.....1000
6—30. Jerry's Big Haul, C.....1000

FALSTAFF

5— 1. The Dashing Druggist's Dilemma, C..1000
5— 5. The Sleigher's Strategy, C.....1000
5— 8. The Kiddie's Kaptain Kidd, C.....1000
5—13. Freddie's Frigid Finish, C.....1000
5—15. Deteckters, C.....1000
5—20. Steven's Sweet Sisters, C.....1000
5—22. Politickers, C.....1000
5—27. Sammy's Semi-Suicide, C.....1000
5—29. Disguisers, C.....1000
6— 3. Peterson's Pitiful Plight, C.....1000
6— 5. Advertisementers, C.....1000
6—10. Where Wives Win, C.....1000
6—12. Real Estaters, C.....1000
6—17. Doughnuts, C.....1000

GAUMONT

5—25. Armadale, D.....3000
5—28. "Reel Life".....1000
5—31. See America First, Sc. and Kartoon Komics, Cart.....Split Reel
6— 4. "Reel Life," Magazine.....1000
6— 7. See America First, and Kartoon Komics, Cart.....Split Reel
6— 8. The Flames of Vengeance, D.....3000
6—11. "Reel Life," Magazine Reel.....1000
6—14. See America First, Kartoon Komics, Scenic and Cartoon.....Split Reel
6—18. "Reel Life," Magazine Reel.....1000
6—21. See America First, Sc., The Belle of the Village Green, Shgrf.....Split Reel
6—22. The Criminal Thumb, D.....3000
6—25. "Reel Life," Magazine Reel.
6—28. See America First, Sc., and Kartoon Komics.....Split Reel
7— 2. "Reel Life," Magazine reel.....1000

MUSTANG

5—19. The Blindness, D.....2000
5—26. Jack, D.....2000
6— 2. A Man's Friend, D.....2000
6— 9. The Pilgrim, D.....2000
6—16. The Sheriff of Plumas, D.....2000
6—23. A Modern Knight, D.....2000
6—30. The Demon of Fear, D.....2000

RELEASE DATES FOR READY REFERENCE

MUTUAL WEEKLY
Issued every Thursday.

THANHOUSER

5— 2. The Weakling, D.....2000
5— 4. The Spirit of '61, D.....3000
5— 9. When She Played Broadway, D.....2000
5—16. The Answer, D.....2000
5—23. For Uncle Sam's Navy, C.....2000
5—30. The Nymph, D.....2000
6— 6. John Brewster's Wife, D.....2000
6—13. Brothers Equal, D.....2000

VOGUE

5—16. The Man with the Hod, C.....1000
5—21. The Chinatown Villains, C.....1000
5—23. Rival Rogues, C.....1000
5—28. National Nuts, C.....1000
5—30. Shy Thirty Cents, C.....1000
6— 4. Nailing the Lid, C.....1000
6— 6. A Plane Story, C.....1000
6—11. His Blowout, C.....1000
6—18. Delinquent Bridegrooms, C.....1000
6—20. Ruffhouse, C.....1000
6—25. The Iron Mitt, C.....1000
6—27. A Safe Loss, C.....1000
7— 2. Just for a Kid, C.....1000

PATHE EXCHANGE, INC.

Week of May 29, 1916.

The Iron Claw, No. 14, D.....2000
Who's Guilty? No. 4, "The Silent Shame," D.....2000
Ice, C.....1000
Siberia, the Vast Unknown, No. 8, and The Tokio Exposition, Scenic.....Split Reel

Week of June 5, 1916.

The Iron Claw, No. 15, D.....2000
Who's Guilty? No. 5, "Sold Out," D.....2000
Luke Laughs Last, C.....1000
The Fatal Pie, Cart., and Some Fresh Water Fishes, Ed.....Split Reel
The Zinc Mines of Lang Hit, Ed., and Around Mt. Fugi (Japan) Sc. Split Reel

Week of June 12, 1916.

The Iron Claw, No. 16, D.....2000
Who's Guilty? No. 6, "Sowing the Wind," D.....2000
An Awful Romance, C.....1000
France's Canine Allies, Ed., and The Gorges of Colorado, Sc.....Split Reel

Week of June 19, 1916.

The Iron Claw, No. 17, "The Vanishing Faker," D.....2000
Who's Guilty? No. 7, "Truth Crushed to Earth," D.....2000
Luke's Fatal Flivver, C.....1000
From Kitchen Mechanic to Movie Star, Cart., and Japan's Ancient Capital—Nara (Col. Sc.) .....Split Reel
A Matrimonial Martyr, Col. Com.-D.....1000

UNICORN FILM PROGRAM

BUFFALO

5—17. Divided Love, D.....1000
5—24. In the Hills of Kentucky, D.....1000
5—31. Rival Candidates, D.....1000
6— 7. Broken Hearts, Western D.....1000

GAYETY

5—22. Mary's Mistake, and Tricking the Trickster. .....Split Reel
5—25. The Busy Bee, C.....1000
5—29. A Bride to Order, and In the Balkans .....Split Reel
6— 2. All for the Love of Laura, C.....1000
6— 5. The Baby in the Case, C.....1000
6— 9. The Re-Made Maid, C.....1000
6—12. Little Grains of Rice, C.....1000
6—15. Love and Overalls, and His Wife's Visitor, C.....Split Reel

HIAWATHA

5—25. Falsely Accused, D.....1000
5—20. A Daughter of the Hills, D.....1000
6— 6. Bob Armstrong's Reward, Western D.1000
6—13. The Wisdom of the White Man, W. D.1000
6—16. The New Prospector, W. D.....1000

JUDY

5—16. A Musical Deception, C. and The Black Mark, C.....Split Reel
5—23. Hubby's Present, and Our Darling's Playmate. .....Split Reel
5—30. The Skating Craze at Moodyville, C.1000
6— 6. Taming of the Shrew, C.....1000

HIPPO

5—24. The New Ranch Owner, C.....1000
5—26. A Gentleman of Leisure, and our Darling's Chips.....Split Reel
5—31. A Modern Hercules, C.....1000
6— 3. Nearly Married, C.....1000
6— 7. Mixed Brides, and Pale-Faced Injuns, C. .....Split Reel
6—10. Hubby's Escapade, and His One and Only, C.....Split Reel
6—14. Wifie's Dilemma, C.....1000
6—17. A Circumstantial Hero, and the Live Wire, C.....Split Reel

PURITAN

5—30. Kentucky Brothers, D.... 1000
5—31. The Wheat King, D.....1000
6— 4. The King's Vengeance, D.... 1000
6— 5. The Rosary, D.....2000
6—11. The Recoil, D.....1000
6—12. The Lure of Gold, D.....2000
6—15. The Ghost's Bride, D.....2000

LILY

6— 1. The Sacred Oath, D.....2000
6— 6. The Crucial Test, D.....1000
6— 8. The Formula, D.....2000
6—16. The Blindness of Jealousy, D.....1000

JOCKEY

5—21. A Midnight Escapade, C.....1000
5—24. The Hobo Imposter, C.....1000
5—27. O'Brien's Investment, C.....1000
6— 1. Billie's Find, and the Enchanted Matches..... .....Split Reel
6— 4. Willie the Sleuth, C.....1000
6— 8. Johnny-On-the-Spot, C.....1000
6—11. Two of a Kind, C.....1000
6—13. Their Noble Relation, C.....1000
6—16. The Closed Door, C.....1000
6—18. The New Maid, C.....1000

RANCHO

6— 2. A Double Reward, D.....1000
6— 9. The Higher Voice, Western D.....1000
6—14. From Out of the Past, W. D.....1000
6—17. His Leading Lady, W. D.....1000
6—18. The Man Who Came Back, W. D....1000

SUNSET

5—20. The Mexican Insurrection, D.....2000
5—26. The Mystery at Shallow Creek, D...1000
6— 3. His Indian Guardian, D.....1000
6—10. The Rustler's Retribution, Western D.1000
6—13. Mother, D.....1000

SUPREME

5—25. The Village School Master, D.....1000
5—26. The Empty Crib, D.....1000
5—29. The Price He Paid, D.....2000
6— 2. When a Man Weakens, D.....1000
6— 3. The Heart of a Peddler, D.....1000
6— 9. The Two Waifs, D.....1000
6—10. The Eternal Truth, D.....1000
6—14. The Cashier's Ordeal, D.....1000
6—17. The Noble Love, D.....1000
6—18. The Little Heroine, D.....1000

UTAH

5—21. The Wrong Room, D.....1000
5—27. The Indian Child's Gratitude, D.....1000
6— 4. Fate's Decree, D.....1000
6—11. A Squaw's Loyalty, Western D.....1000

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

ANIMATED WEEKLY
Issued every Wednesday.

BIG U

6— 8. The Sea Lilly, D.....1000
6—15. Betty's Hobo, Com.-D.....1000
6—20. The Grip of Crime, D.....2000
6—28. God and the Baby, D.....1000
6—29. Twice at Once, C.....1000

BISON

5—27. The Wedding Guest, D.....2000
6— 3. Tammany's Tiger, C.....2000
6—10. The Cage Man, D.....2000
6—17. A Railroad Bandit, D.....2000
6—24. The Ghost of the Jungle, An. D.....2000
7— 1. The Money Lenders, D.....2000

GOLD SEAL

5—30. The Silent Man of Timber Gulch, D..2000
6— 5. The Rose Colored Scarf, D.....2000
6—13. The Melody of Love, D.....3000
6—20. The False Part, D.....2000
6—27. Jackals of a Great City, D.....2000

IMP

5—23. The Health Road, D.....1000
5—26. The Unconventional Girl, D.....2000
5—30. A Double Fire Deception, C.....1000
6— 2. "Jim Slocum, No. 46,393," D.....2000
6— 5. His Little Story, C.....1000
6—13. Her Wonderful Secret, C.....1000
6—16. The Devil's Image, D.....2000
6—18. A College Boomerang, C.....1000
6—20. His Picture, C.....1000
6—22. Behind the Secret Panel, D.....3000
6—23. The Heart Wrecker, Com. D.....1000
6—27. Peggy and the Law, D.....1000
6—30. Blind Man's Buff, Com.-D.....2000

JOKER

5—20. A Raffle for a Husband, C.....1000
5—27. A Stage Villain, C.....1000
6— 3. A Dark Suspicion, C.....1000
6—17. Love Quarantined, C.....1000
6—24. The Fall of Deacon Stellwaters, C...1000
7— 1. Bashful Charley's Proposal, C.....1000

LAEMMLE

6— 1. Two Mothers, D.....2000
6— 4. The Wire Pullers, C.....1000
6— 3. Alias Jane Jones, D.....2000
6—11. The False Gems, D.....1000
6—15. Her Soul's Song, D.....2000
6—18. Romance at Random, C.....1000
6—25. The Rogue With a Heart, D.....1000
6—29. The Human Cactus, D.....1000
7— 2. Baseball Bill, No. 1, C.....1000

L-KO

5—28. Gamboling on the Green, C.....1000
5—31. Tough Luck on a Rough Sea, C.....2000
6— 7. Billie's Waterloo, C.....1000
6—11. Phony Teeth, and False Friends, C...1000
6—14. How Stars Are Mada, C.....2000
6—21. The Jailbird's Last Flight, C.....1000
6—25. Dirty Work in a Beanery, C.....1000
6—28. Pirates of the Air, C.....2000

NESTOR

4—20. The Royland Villain, and Ed...Split Reel
5—22. Her Celluloid Hero, C.....1000
5—26. Love and Brass Buttons, C.....1000
5—20. All Over a Stocking, C.....1000
6— 2. Good Night Nurse, C.....1000
6— 6. Never Again Eddie, C..... 1000
6— 9. Twixt Love and the Iceman, C.....1000
6—12. Their Awful Predicament, C.....1000
6—16. Almost a Widow, C.....1000
6—18. Wanted, a Husband, C.....1000
6—23. What Could the Poor Girl Do? C...2000
6—26. The Browns see the Fair, C.....1000

POWERS

5—27. Storming the Trenches, C.....1000
6— 1. It Can't Be True, C.....1000
6— 8. Mr. Fuller Pep—He Breaks for the Beach, Cart. and Pygmies of the Zoo, Ed.....Split Reel
6—10. Betrayed by the Camera, C.....1000
6—15. Prof. Wiseguy's Trip to the Moon, Cart., and Little Journeys in Japan, Sc. .....Split Reel
6—22. The Young Sleuths, C.....1000
6—29. Sammy Johnsin, Magician, Cart-C., and The Children's Paradise, Ed...Split Reel
6—30. Such is Life in China.....

REX

5—23. "Virginia," D.....1000
5—26. Harmony in a Flat, C.....1000
5—28. A Gentle Volunteer, D.....3000
6— 3. A Cad, D.....1000
6— 4. As in a Dream, D.....3000
6— 9. The Code of His Ancestors, D.....1000
6—11. The Sheriff of Pine Mountain, D 2000
6—18. The Finer Metal, D.....2000
6—23. The Rosary, D. (Re-Issue).....1000
6—25. The Fool. D.....2000
6—27. The Toy Soldier, C.....1000
7— 2. The Sting of Conscience, D.....3000

VICTOR

5—24. The Limousine Mystery, D.....2000
6— 7. Object—Matrimony, C.....2000
6— 9. The Scorpion's Sting, D.....3000
6—16. The Golden Boot, C.....1000
6—21. The Scarlet Mark, D.....2000
6—30. Muggins, D.....1000

FEATURE RELEASES—CURRENT AND COMING

Bluebird Photoplays

6—12. Bobbie of the Ballet (Louise Lovely). .....5 reels
6—19. The Three Godfathers (All star cast). .....5 reels
6—26. Shoes (Mary McDonald).....5 reels
7— 3. Broken Fetters (Violet Mersereau).5 reels
7—10. The Love Girl (Ella Hall).....5 reels
7—17. The Grasp of Greed (Louise Lovely).5 reels
7—24. The Silent Battle (J. Warren Kerrigan) .....5 reels
7—31. The Secret of the Swamp (Myrtle Gonzales) .....5 reels

Fox Film Corporation

5—29. The Spider and the Fly.....5 reels
6— 5. Hypocrisy. .....5 reels
6—12. A Woman's Honor.....5 reels
6—19. East Lynne (Theda Bara).....5 reels
6—26. The Man From Bitter Roots (William Farnum).....5 reels
7— 3. Ambition (Bertha Kalich).....5 reels
7—10. A Tortured Heart (Virginia Pearson) .....5 reels
7—17. Caprice of the Mountains (Harry Hilliard and June Caprice).....5 reels

Ivan Feature Productions

1—Forbidden Fruit (Everett Butterfield and Paula Shay).....5 reels
2—A Fool's Paradise (Chrystine Mayo, Paula Shay, and Joseph Burke)....6 reels
3—The Immoral Flame (Maude Fealy)...5 reels
4—The City of Illusion (Paula Shay and Mignon Anderson).....6 reels
5.—Her Husband's Wife (Sally Crute, Mignon Anderson and Augustus Phillips). .....5 reels

Kleine-Edison Feature Service

EDISON

1—12. The Catspaw.....5 reels
1—26. The Innocence of Ruth.....5 reels
2— 9. The Martyrdom of Philip Strong..5 reels
2—23. At the Rainbow's End.....5 reels

GEO. KLEINE

1—19. Wild Oats.....5 reels
2— 2. The Final Curtain.....5 reels
2— 9. When Love is King.....5 reels
2—16. The Scarlet Road.....5 reels
3— 1. The Mishaps of Musty Suffer.....10 reels

Metro Pictures Corporation

F. A. BALSHOFER

4—24. The Come-Back (Harold Lockwood and May Allison).....5 reels
6—12. The Masked Rider (Harold Lockwood and May Allison).....5 reels

COLUMBIA PICTURES CORPORATION

3—13. Lovely Mary (Mary Miles Minter).5 reels
4— 3. The Kiss of Hate (Ethel Barrymore)5 reels
4—10. The Half Million Bribe (Hamilton Revelle and Marguerite Snow)...5 reels
5—22. Notorious Gallaghar (William Nigh and Marguerite Snow).....5 reels

POPULAR PLAYS AND PLAYERS

4—17. Playing with Fire (Mme. Petrova).5 reels
5—29. The Scarlet Woman (Mme. Petrova)5 reels
5—15. The Spell of the Yukon (Edmund Breese) .....5 reels

B. A. ROLFE PHOTOPLAYS, INC.

3—20. Her Great Price (Mabel Taliaferro)5 reels
5— 1. The Snow Bird (Mabel Taliaferro).5 reels
6— 5. Dorian's Divorce (Lionel Barrymore and Grace Valentine).....5 reels
6—19. The Flower of No-Man's-Land (Viola Dana).....5 reels

QUALITY PICTURES

3—27. The Wall Between (Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne)...5 reels
5— 8. A Million a Minute (Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne)....5 reels

Mutual Masterpictures

DE LUXE EDITION

Week of June 5, 1916.

No. 107. Whispering Smith (Helen Holmes), Signal.....5 reels
No. 108. Soul Mates (William Russell), American. .....5 reels

Week of June 12, 1916.

No. 109. The Inner Struggle, American...5 reels
No. 110. The Abandonment (E. Forrest Taylor and Helene Rosson), American. .....5 reels

Week of June 19, 1916.

No. 111. The Wasted Years (Crane Wilbur), Centaur.....5 reels
No. 112. Far from the Madding Crowd (Florence Turner), Turner.....5 reels

Week of June 26, 1916.

No. 113. The Sign of the Spade (Helene Rosson), American.....5 reels

Paramount Pictures

FAMOUS PLAYERS

5—15. The Trust (Hazel Dawn).....5 reels
5—25. Saints and Sinners (Peggy Hyland).5 reels
5—29. (Title Not Decided), (Marguerite Clark). .....5 reels
6— 5. The Evil Thereof (All Star Cast)..5 reels
6—12. Her Romance (Marguerite Clark)..5 reels
6—15. Destiny's Toy (Louise Huff).....5 reels
6—22. Susie Snowflake (Anna Pennington and Wm. Courtleigh, Jr.). .....5 reels
6—26. The World's Great Snare (Pauline Frederick). .....5 reels

JESSE LASKY COMPANY

5— 8. Maria Rosa (Geraldine Farrar)....5 reels
5—11. Alien Souls (Sessue Hayakawa)...5 reels
5—22. The Frameup (Blanche Sweet)....5 reels
6— 1. The Gutter Magdalene (Fannie Ward). .....5 reels
6—19. The Clown (Victor Moore).....5 reels

MOROSCO PHOTOPLAY COMPANY

5—18. Pasquale (George Beban).....5 reels

PALLAS

5— 1. David Garrick (Dustin Farnum)...5 reels
6— 8. The Making of Maddalena (Edna Goodrich). .....5 reels
6—29. The American Beauty (Myrtle Stedman). .....5 reels

Pathe Exchange, Inc.

GOLD ROOSTER PLAYS

4—18. Big Jim Garrity.....5 reels
5—15. The Girl With the Green Eyes....5 reels
6—19. A Matrimonial Martyr..... 5 reels

Triangle Film Corporation

KAY-BEE-INCE PRODUCTIONS

5—14. Not My Sister (Bessie Barriscale)5 reels
5—21. The Primal Lure (Wm. S. Hart)..5 reels
5—28. The Market of Vain Desire (H. B. Warner). .....5 reels
6— 4. The Bugle Call (Wm. Collier, Jr.)..5 reels
6—11. The Sorrows of Love (Bessie Barriscale). .....5 reels
6—18. The Dividend (W. H. Thompson and Charles Ray).....5 reels
6—25. The Apostle of Vengeance (Wm. S. Hart) .....5 reels

FINE ARTS-GRIFFITH PRODUCTIONS

5—14. Susan Rocks the Boat (Dorothy Gish). .....5 reels
5—21. A Child of the Paris Streets (Mae Marsh and Robert Harron).....5 reels
5—28. Mr. Goode the Samaritan (DeWolf Hopper). .....5 reels
6— 4. Going Straight (Norma Talmadge).5 reels
6—11. Reggie Mixes In (Douglas Fairbanks). .....5 reels
6—18. An Innocent Magdalene (Lillian Gish). .....5 reels
6—25. A Wild Girl of the Sierras (Mae Marsh). .....5 reels

KEYSTONE-SENNETT PRODUCTIONS

4—30. The Lion and the Girl (Joe Jackson)2 reels
4—30. His Bitter Pill (Mack Swain).....2 reels
5— 7. Her Marble Heart (Charles Murray).2 reels
5— 7. A Dash of Courage (Harry Gribbon). .....2 reels

Red Feather Productions

5— 1. Dr. Neighbor (Hobart Bosworth)..5 reels
5— 8. A Huntress of Men (Mary Fuller).5 reels
5—15. A Youth of Fortune (Carter and Flora Parker De Haven).....5 reels
5—22. Half a Rogue (King Baggot).....5 reels
5—29. The Iron Hand (Hobart Bosworth and Jane Novak).....5 reels
6— 5. The Madcap (Flora Parker De-Haven). .....5 reels
6—12. What Love Can Do (Adele Farrington). .....5 reels
6—19. The Way of the World (Hobart Bosworth) .....5 reels

Vitagraph-Lubin-Selig-Essanay

HEARST-VITAGRAPH NEWS PICTORIAL

Issued every Tuesday and Friday. to and including No. 46

VITAGRAPH

4—24. God's Country and the Woman (Nell Shipman, Geo. Holt and Wm. Duncan).....8 reels
5— 1. The Law Decides (Dorothy Kelly, Bobby Connelly, Harry Morey and Louise Beaudet).....7 reels
5— 8. Britton of the Seventh (Charles Kent, Bobby Connelly and Eulalie Jensen). .....5 reels
5—15. The Ordeal of Elizabeth (Lillian Walker, Donald Hall and Evart Overton). .....6 reels
5—22. The Suspect (Anita Stewart).....6 reels
5—29. The Lights of New York (Leah Baird and Walter McGrail).....5 reels
6— 5. The Destroyers (Lucille Lee Stewart).....5 reels
6—12. The Redemption of Dave Darcy, (James Morrison). .....5 reels

LUBIN

4—10. The Flames Johannis (Nance O'Neill). .....5 reels
5— 8. Love's Toll (Rosetta Brice and Richard Buhler).....5 reels
6— 5. Those Who Toil (Nance O'Neil)..5 reels

SELIG

3—20. The Ne'er-Do-Well (Kathlyn Williams and Wheeler Oakman)....10 reels
4— 3. The Cycle of Fate (Bessie Eyton, Wheeler Oakman and Edith Johnson). .....5 reels
5— 1. At Piney Ridge (Fritzi Brunnette).5 reels
5—29. Into the Primitive (Kathlyn Williams, Guy Oliver and Harry Lonsdale). .....5 reels

ESSANAY

4—10. Burlesque on Carmen (Charlie Chaplin). .....4 reels
4—24. The Little Shepherd of Bargain Row (Sallie Fisher, John Junior and Richard C. Travers).....5 reels
5—15. Sherlock Holmes (William Gilette).7 reels
6—12. That Sort (Warda Howard, Ernest Maupain, Duncan McRae and John Lorenz). .....5 reels

World-Equitable Program

WORLD

4—24. The Closed Road (House Peters and Barbara Tennant).....5 parts
5— 1. The Feast of Life (Clara Kimball Young). .....5 parts
5— 8. Her Maternal Right (Kitty Gordon)5 parts
5—15. Sudden Riches (Robert Warwick).5 parts
5—22. Tangled Fates (Alice Brady).....5 parts
5—29. Fate's Boomerang (Mollie King)..5 reels
6— 5. His Brother's Wife (Ethel Clayton and Carlyle Blackwell).....5 reels
6—12. Perils of Divorce (Edna Wallace Hopper and Frank Sheridan)..5 reels
6—19. La Boheme (Alice Brady).....5 reels
6—26. What Happened at 22 (Frances Nelson and Arthur Ashley).....5 reels

State Rights and Miscellaneous Releases

ALL FEATURES BOOKING AGENCY
Right Off the Bat.....5 reels

AMERICAN COMMERCIAL FILM CO.
Animated Cartoons.....

AMERICAN CORRESPONDENT FILM CO.
The Battles of a Nation.....6 parts

AUTHORS FILM CO., INC.
3—27. Sins of the Father.....4 parts
4— 3. Her Redemption.....4 parts
4—10. Denise .....4 parts
4—17. Love's Sacrifice.....6 parts
4—24. A Woman's Awakening.....5 parts
5— 1. Under the Mask.....5 parts

CALIFORNIA MOTION PICTURE CORPORATION
March—The Unwritten Law (Beatriz Michelena).....7 reels
May —The Woman Who Dared (Beatriz Michelena).....7 reels
July —Kismet (Otis Skinner).....10 reels

CELEBRATED PLAYERS' FILM CO.
The Birth of a Man.....5 parts

CHAMPION SPORTS EXHIBITION
Willard-Moran Fight.....4 parts

CHICAGO TRIBUNE
German Side of War.....5 reels
Russian Side of War.....4 reels

CLARIDGE FILMS, INC.
Heart of New York.....5 reels

COSMOFOTOFILM COMPANY
Incomparable Mistress Bellairs..4 parts
Liberty Hall.....4 parts
The Black Spot.....4 parts
Victoria Cross.....4 parts
O 18.....4 parts
His Vindication.....5 parts

E. & R. JUNGLE FILM CO.
No. 10. Haunted.
No. 11. Have a Heart.
No. 12. It Made a Monkey of Him.
No. 13. Two Chimps and a Chump.
No. 14. Twin Cupids.
No. 15. Aunt Hepsey's Heir.
No. 16. Oil of Revolution.
No. 17. Who's It?

E-K-O FILM CO.
The Invisible Enemy.....5 reels

ELDORADO FEATURE FILM CO.
The Impersonation .....5 reels

FORREST FILM CORPORATION
Bottom of the Sea.....5 reels

JOS. W. FARNHAM
Race Suicide .....6 parts
The Awakening of Bess Morton..5 reels

GREAT NORTHERN FILM COMPANY
Sins of Great Cities (E. Thomsen).4 reels
The Man with the Missing Finger (Alfred Hertel).....4 reels
For Her Son (Betty Nansen)....4 reels
A Woman's Honor (Elsie Frolich)4 reels
The Folly of Sin.....5 reels
The Mother Who Paid.....5 reels

HANOVER FILMS
Marvellous Macist.....6 parts
Should a Baby Die?.....5 parts

ESKAY HARRIS FEATURE FILM
Alice in Wonderland.....6 parts

HIPPODROME FILM CO.
At the Front with the Allies.....

HERALD FILM CORPORATION
4—10. Charlie the Busy Barber, C. Cart..1 reel
4—17. Charlie the Animal Trainer, Com. Cart. .....1 reel
4—24. Charlie's Jitney Hunt, Com. Cart..1 reel
5— 1. Charlie Prepared, Com. Cart.....1 reel

JUVENILE FILM CORPORATION
4— 1. World War in Kidland.....1 reel
4— 8. A Chip Off the Old Block.....1 reel
4—15. Chip's Elopement.....1 reel
4—22. Chip's Backyard Barn-Stormers....2 reels
4—29. Chip's Rivals.....1 reel
5—13. For Sale a Daddy.....1 reel
5—27. Chip's Carmen.....2 reels

KULEE FEATURES
Germany on the Firing Line.....6 parts
France on the Firing Line.....6 parts
The Unborn (Bessie Bondhill).....5 parts

MODERN MOTHERHOOD LEAGUE
Twilight Sleep .....

B. S. MOSS
Three Weeks.....5 reels
Salamander .....5 reels
One Day.....5 reels

F. O. NIELSEN
Guarding Old Glory.....5 reels
Just Out of College.....5 reels
Little Sunset.....4 reels
The Spoilers.....9 reels
All for a Girl.....5 reels

PHOTODRAMA COMPANY
How Molly Made Good.....6 reels

PROHIBITION FILM CORPORATION
Prohibition .....5 parts

RAVER FILM CO.
The Other Girl.....5 reels
Life Without Soul.....5 reels
The Fortunate Youth.....
Driftwood .....

RAY COMEDIES
6—21. Casey's Dream.....
6—28. Casey's Kids.....
7— 5. Casey's Wedding Day.....
7—12. Casey's Servants.....
7—19. Casey the White-Wing.....

RIALTO FILM CO.
The House of Mirrors.....

STANDARD NEWS FILM, INC.
Standard Travelogues.....32 parts
Are We Ready?.....4 parts
The Animal World.....5 parts
Navies of the World.....1 reel
The Price of Liberty.....5 reels
Aircraft .....1 reel

SUN PHOTOPLAY CO., INC.
The Princess of India.....5 reels
A Woman Wills.....5 reels

SUPREME FILM CO.
The Cowpuncher.....6 parts

TRANS-OCEANIC FILMS, INC.
The Life and Adventures of Shakespeare. .....6 parts

UNITY SALES CORP.
5—29. Diana (Colored).....3 parts
6— 5. My Country First.....6 parts
6—12. The Pursuing Vengeance.....5 parts
6—19. The Bishop's Secret.....4 parts
6—26. The Lottery Man.....5 reels
7— 3. The Marriage Bond.....5 reels

VARIETY FILMS CORPORATION
Unto the Darkness.....4 reels
In the Ranks.....4 reels
Harbour Lights.....4 reels
Enoch Arden.....4 reels
Mysterious Man of the Jungle.....3 reels

WAR FILM SYNDICATE
On the Firing Line with the Germans .....6 parts

MISCELLANEOUS

EDUCATIONAL FILMS CORP., OF AMERICA
The Film Hunters.....1 reel
The Yarn of the Slowern'ell.....1 reel
In the Hanging Glacier Country...1 reel
The Sunset Trail.....1 reel
The Trail to Cloudy Pass.....1 reel
The Stampede .....1 reel
American Game Trails.....1 reel

"THE BEACON FILMS," INC.
Offering of Flowers.
Gorges of the Bourne.
Animal Studies.
In the land of the Hellenes.
Portugese types and costumes.
In the Land of the Rising Sun.
Curious Creations of Pond Life.
Lord Kitchener at the Front
In the Land of the Edelweiss
The Antwerp Zoo

EMERALD M. P. CO.
6— 1. Tom & Jerry, Bachelors, No. 1....2 reels

INTERNATION FILM SERVICE
International News Weekly
Comedy Cartoons

METRO PICTURES CORPORATION
Metro-Drew Comedies (weekly).
Metro Travelogues (weekly).

MUTT AND JEFF FILMS
ANIMATED CARTOONS
1. Jeff's Toothache.
2. Mutt and Jeff in the Submarine.

PARAMOUNT PICTURES CORPORATION
PARAMOUNT-BURTON HOLMES TRAVEL-PICTURES
7—10. Beautiful Bavaria.
7—17. Down the Danube to Vienna.
7—24. The Real Bohemia.
7—31. Picturesque Prague.
8— 7. From Carlsbad to Moravia.

PARAMOUNT-BRAY CARTOONS
6— 8. Farmer Alfalfa and His Tentless Circus.
6—15. Kid Casey the Champion.
6—22. Colonel Heeza Liar and the Bandits.
6—29. Bobby Bumps' Fly Swatter.
7— 6. Farmer Alfalfa's Watermelon Patch.

PATHE EXCHANGE, INC.
Pathé travels (See Pathé).

UNIVERSAL
Uncle Sam at Work (See Powers Universal).

VARIETY FILMS CORPORATION
Upper Bavarian Mountain Lakes.
In the Land of the Hindoos.
Victoria Falls.
Should a Baby Die?.....5 reels

VITAGRAPH (V. L. S. E.)
FRANK DANIELS' COMEDIES
5—15. Kernel Nutt Wins a Wife.
5—22. Kernel Nutt the Janitor.
5—29. Kernel Nutt the Footman.
6— 5. Kernel Nutt and the Hundred Dollar Bill.
6—12. Kernel Nutt in Mexico.....

SERIALS

The Girl and the Game.....Signal Film
The Secret of the Submarine.....Signal
Peg o' the Ring.....Universal
Mary Page, The strange Case of..Essanay
The Social Pirates.....Kalem
The Iron Claw.....Pathé
Who's Guilty? .....Pathé
The Mysteries of Myra.....International Film Service
Gloria's Romance.....Kleine

CLASSIFIED

Photoplay Manuscripts Typewritten
fifty cents per thousand words. Chas. Corby, 333 Decatur St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

FOR SALE
Two Ft. Wayne Compensarcs, slightly used, good condition. L. E. Lemon, Aurora, Illinois.

FOR SALE
to close Estate, Picture Theatre in large city vicinity of New York. Capacity 1200. Big earner, reasonable terms. Principals only. Address J. W. K., c-o Motion Picture News, 729 7th Ave., N. Y. City.

ARE YOU A LIVE WIRE?
Then Write Us at Once. Big Money in Taking Motion Pictures for News Advertising and Home Talent. We are the Lowest Priced House in the Country selling Motion Picture Cameras. Write for information. We are Specialists in equipping beginners. Describe your locality. We will tell you if it can be made to pay. Write us today. David Stern Co., 1047 E. Madison St., Chicago, Ill. In business since 1885.

Phone—Bryant 7619
Pan American Film Laboratories
Perfect Film Titles Our Specialty. Titles for Export Films will have our Prompt and Careful Attention.
145 W. 45th St., NEW YORK CITY

$1.25 PER 1000 ASSORTED
MAIL ORDERS FILLED
Samples Free
SOLD IN ANY QUANTITY
SNIPES
KEYSTONE PRESS
105 W. 23rd ST. NEW YORK

MENGER & RING, Inc.
Manufacturers of
POSTER and LOBBY DISPLAY FRAMES
304 W. 42nd Street New York

Agent Mirror Main 3413
Screens F 5128
LEO RYAN
Broker in Pacific Coast
Picture Theatres
730 S. Olive St., Film Exchange Row
LOS ANGELES, CAL.

Experienced and Reliable
CAMERA MEN
at Your Immediate Disposal
RAPID, EFFICIENT SERVICE
Cinema Camera Club, 1006 Times Building
'Phone Bryant 6558 New York City

Goes
POSTERS—Everywhere
Offices—Chicago and New York

The advertising you get from your electric sign in the day time is free. The advertising you get at night with a Federal sign is unsurpassed.
FEDERAL SIGN SYSTEM
(ELECTRIC)
Lake & Desplaines Streets, CHICAGO.

Motion Picture News

HAS THE QUALITY CIRCULATION OF THE TRADE

TABLE OF CONTENTS

ON TO CHICAGO 4029
EDITORIALS 4030
Pathe's $5,000,000 Serial Program follows "Claw." 4033
Universal Wins Appeal in Suit by Patents Company 4035
Permanent Receiver Asked for General Film Company 4031
Famous Ready to Spend $100,000 for Script Ideas 4037
Hiram Abrams Elected President of Paramount 4039
Of Course You Are Going to the "NEWS" Stampede 4077
"Little Girl Next Door" Draws 4,000 People a Day 4032
Pennsylvania League Elects Officers 4032
Signal Players Get Many Novel Scenes in Hawaii 4032
Special Train Out of New York for Chicago Convention 4036
Photo Dramatists Plan Outing at Bay Shore 4037
Kansas City Will Have Screen Club With 70 Members 4038
Larger Offices for "Civilization" in New York 4040
Grace Carlyle at Morosco Studios 4040
Many Stars in General Films for Week of June 26th 4041
Small Attendance at Michigan Meeting 4042
Blache Will Pay $1,000 for Script 4042
Election of Officers in Pittsburg Screen Club July 2 4042
Universal Will Copyright Up-to-date Animated Films 4044
Rembush Throws Hat in Ring for President 4045
Griffith Puts Finishing Touches on big Multiple 4045
Spokane City Council Out For More Rigid Censorship 4046
Country Wide Exploitation for "Fall of a Nation" 4067
Pittsburg Issues Call for Convention 4069
Fireproof Paint Building Added to Pallas Studios 4069
"Star Courses" of V-L-S-E Films Is Big Four Aim 4072
Twelve Companies at Work in Essanay Studios in Chicago. 4072
Two Hundred Letters From Exhibitors Praise Selig Plays. 4073
World Has Program to Sharpen Interest During Dull Months 4073
Baltimore Censors Begin to Perform Their Functions 4073
Mutuals range from Comedy to Drama 4074
Clara Kimball Young Film Corporation Begins Work 4075
Cobe Secures "The Marriage Bond" 4075
Magazines of General Circulation for Bluebird Publicity 4076
Three Lasky Subjects Through Paramount During July 4076
World-Equitable Open Booking Takes Well with Exhibitors 4076

DEPARTMENTS

Live Wire Exhibitors 4049
Looking Ahead with the Producers 4050
The Eastern Studios 4053
In and Out of West Coast Studios 4056
Film News from Foreign Parts 4066
Among the Exchanges 4062
New Laws and Court Decisions 4065
Just to Make Talk 4068

SCREEN EXAMINATIONS

Apostle of Vengeance (K-B Triangle) 4086
Broken Fetters (Bluebird) 4079
The Clown (Lasky) 4079
Casey at the Bat (Fine Arts-Triangle) 4086
Deserter, The (K-B Triangle) 4088
Dorian's Divorce (Metro) 4087
East Lynne (Fox) 4087
Gloria's Romance (Episodes 3 and 4-Kleine) 4085
La Vie de Boheme (Paragon-World) 4080
Love Comet (Keystone-Triangle) 4085
Matrimonial Martyr, The (Pathe) 4084
Mysteries of Myra (Episode 9-International) 4083
Music Swindlers, The (Social Pirates No. 15-Kalem) 4084
Mutt and Jeff (Mutt and Jeff) 4083
Man Behind the Curtain, The (Vitagraph-V-L-S-E) 4085
Prima Donna's Husband, The (A. Warner) 4086
Those Who Toil (Lubin-V-L-S-E) 4084
Unborn, The (Kulee) 4085
Wasted Years, The (Horsley-Mutual) 4083
General Film Reviews 4090
International Film Reviews 4091
Mutual Film Reviews 4090
Universal Film Reviews 4090
Release Charts 4092, 4093, 4094, 4095, 4096, 4097

ACCESSORY NEWS SECTION

Motion Picture Projection Simplified 4101
Projection 4104
The Camera 4112
Music and the Picture 4114
Building and Furnishings 4116

Electra Carbons 5/8 x 6
(Pink Label)
We have them.
Order while you can get them.
$50.00 per thousand
5.50 per hundred
Ross & Co., 507 No. Clark St. CHICAGO

PICTURE MACHINES
New and slightly used Power's, Simplex, Motiograph and Edison at bargain prices. Opera and folding chairs, Operating Booths that pass fire inspection. Picture curtains and everything for the M. P. Theatre at lower prices than offered by our competitors.
LEARS THEATRE SUPPLY COMPANY
509 Chestnut Street, St. Louis, Mo

TransVerteR
Better light without waste of current. Better pictures with less trouble for operator
HERTNER ELECTRIC & MFG. CO.
432 Prospect Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, U. S. A.

CAILLE
Ticket Office Equipments
Embody Ticket Sellers, Ticket Choppers, Change Makers, Theatre Record Ledgers and Theatre Tickets. Catalog on request.
Caille Bros. Co., 1003 Amsterdam Ave., Detroit, Mich.

AMERICAN STANDARD MOTION PICTURE MACHINE
FLICKERLESS
110 W. 40TH STREET, NEW YORK

OPERA CHAIRS

Complete Line
Prompt Shipments
Write for Catalogue with Direct Factory Prices
PEABODY SCHOOL FURNITURE CO.
802 W. Fourth Street, North Manchester, Ind.

Speedco
Arc Controller in use in
PROCTOR THEATRES
Ask Us Where They Are in Your City
Speed Controller Company, Inc.
257-259 William Street NEW YORK

Accessory News

SECTION OF MOTION PICTURE NEWS DEVOTED TO THE
CONSTRUCTION, EQUIPMENT AND OPERATION OF THEATRE, EXCHANGE AND STUDIO

H. A. SHERMAN, President
A. E. NELSON, Vice Pres. and Treas.
JOHN ELLIOTT, Secretary

J. A. BREHANY, General Manager
F. YORK ELLIOTT, Auditor
W. R. ORENDORFF, Press Representative

QUALITY E&S FEATURES

ELLIOTT & SHERMAN
FILM CORPORATION

Rooms 507-8-9
PRODUCE EXCHANGE BLDG.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Controlling the following States:

THE BIRTH OF A NATION

Arizona
Colorado
Idaho
Iowa
Kansas
Minnesota
Montana
Nebraska
Nevada
New Mexico
North Dakota
Oregon
South Dakota
Utah
Washington
Wisconsin
Wyoming

June 5, 1916

Enterprise Optical Mfg. Co.
564 W. Randolph St.
Chicago, Ill.

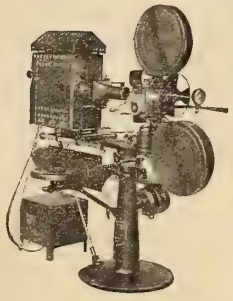
Gentlemen:-

After having made a thorough investigation of your new model 1916 Motiograph, we have decided that on all our future productions we will use the Motiograph machine exclusively, being satisfied that it will more than do the work required of it. Kindly ship us 8 machines fully equipped.

I might add that this equipment is to be used with our next great production, "RAMONA".

Yours very truly,
ELLIOTT & SHERMAN FILM CORP.
By Jack Elliott

JE-HTB



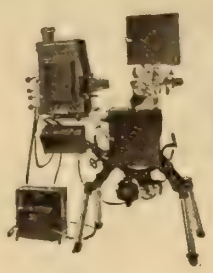
SUCH PROJECTION AS IS DEMANDED FOR THE SHOWING OF THE GREAT PRODUCTION "RAMONA" IS MADE POSSIBLE BY THE USE OF THE

1916 MODEL MOTIOGRAPH

The best buy of today

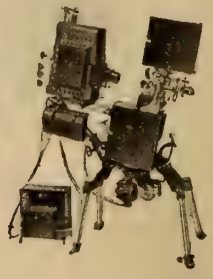
$285.

THE ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MFG. CO.
568 WEST RANDOLPH STREET - - CHICAGO, ILL.
Western Office: 833 Market St., San Francisco, Cal.



"SIXTEEN YEARS OF KNOWING HOW"

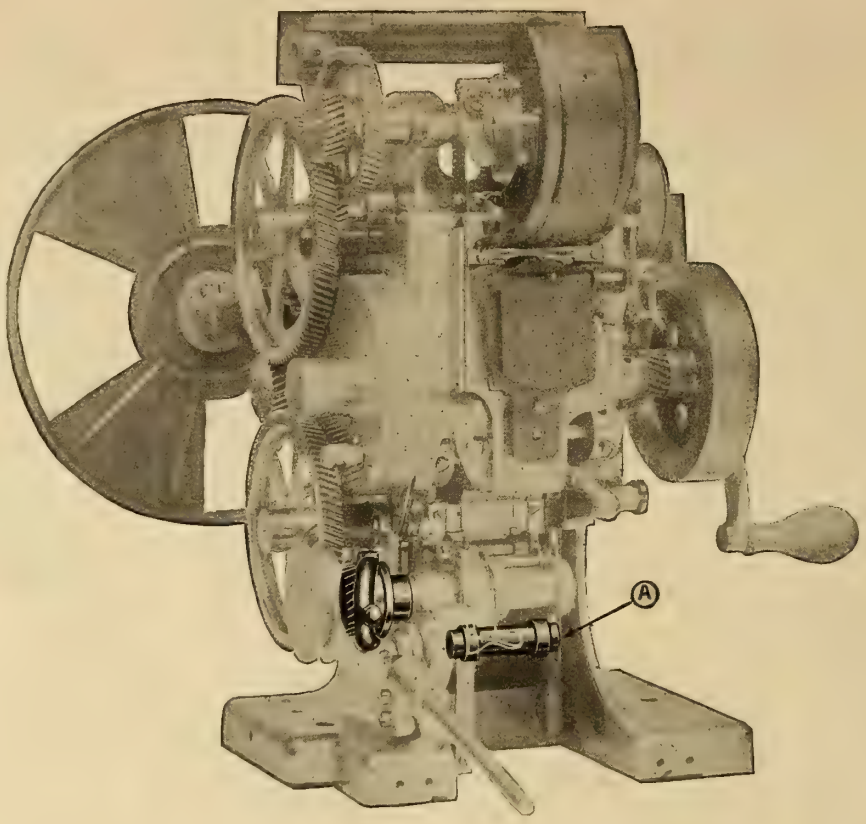
POWER'S LOOP SETTER



AUTOMATICALLY PREVENTS LOSS OF THE LOWER LOOP

THUS ELIMINATING THE MOST FREQUENT CAUSE OF TROUBLE IN MOTION PICTURE PROJECTION

A DEVICE AS SIMPLE AS IT IS EFFECTIVE

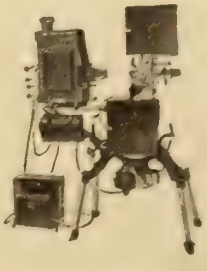


AN EXCLUSIVE FEATURE OF POWER'S CAMERAGRAPH

When the lower loop is lost, the film necessarily rips or tears apart. While making repairs an impatient audience is entertained by a dark screen.

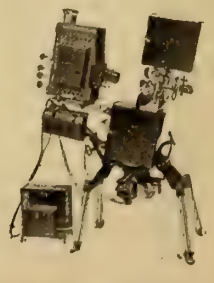
Power's Automatic Loop Setter eliminates this constant source of trouble by continuously maintaining the lower loop.

The loop forms around roller A. Any slackening of the loop draws the roller upward, thus disengaging the take up. The loop immediately assumes normal proportions. The roller springs into its original position and the take up again starts to operate.



You should have our Catalogue D which gives complete details of many exclusive features.

MAILED UPON REQUEST



NICHOLAS POWER COMPANY

NINETY GOLD ST. NEW YORK

Construction, Equipment and Operation

Accessory News

Section of Motion Picture News

Everything for Theatre, Exchange and Studio

Motion Picture Projection Simplified

By J. H. Hallberg

109—In answer to question 108 you state that if the voltage of the system is right for the choke-coil installed and adjustments have been made as they should be, the failure of the choke-coil to produce results may be caused by the cycles of the A. C. system being too high or too low for the choke-coil. What is the effect of the cycles being higher than the choke-coil is made for?

Ans.—The number of cycles per second or the frequency of the current on an alternating system must be known and of a given number for a given choke-coil to produce a certain result at the arc.

If the cycles or number of reversals per second of the line current are greater than estimated, the reactive or choking effect of the choke-coil will be increased so that the voltage and, in consequence thereof, the amperes at the arc will be reduced, and therefore the illumination will be decreased and results will be unsatisfactory.

110—What is the effect of the cycles on the lighting system being lower than anticipated using a choke-coil?

Ans.—It is evident in view of the foregoing answer that if the cycles are below normal the choke-coil will offer less reactance or choking effect and in consequence thereof the voltage and amperes at the arc will be higher with an increase in the illumination on the screen.

111—In what proportion does the reactive effect of a choke-coil increase or decrease with change in cycles?

Ans.—The reactive effect of a choke-coil will increase in practically direct proportion to the increase in the number of cycles on the system, and likewise the reactive effect of the coil will decrease in practically direct proportion with a decrease in the cycles or frequency of the current supplied to the choke-coil and the arc.

In other words, if you have a choke-coil which is made for 60 cycles it may offer a voltage drop of about 70 volts with 50 amperes flowing, but when you put this coil on a system supplying 30 cycles only, keeping the arc at the same voltage, or carbon separation, the choke-coil will offer considerably less resistance or reactance and will pass practically double the number of amperes, which in the case illustrated would be about 100 amperes to the arc. If you wish to put it another way, the 60 cycle choke-coil which would take care of a voltage drop of 70 volts at 50 amperes when used on 30 cycles would take care of a voltage drop of only 35 volts at 50 amperes.

In view of the above, if your choke-coil is suitable for 60 cycles 110 volts to control an arc of 35 to 40 volts, as is an average potential for an A. C. arc with a choke-coil, then if you put the same choke-coil on a 30 cycle circuit the line voltage could not be 110, but it should be reduced 35 volts, in which case the line voltage should not exceed 75 volts. If, however, through misunderstanding or not knowing the consequences, you should put the 60 cycle 110 volt choke-coil in series with an arc on a 30 cycle circuit also at 110 volt, you would get about 100 amperes at the arc.

From the foregoing you can readily understand that the cycles on an A. C. system is a very important factor on the control of an arc when a choke-coil is used.

112—What is the effect on the choke-coil when the cycles are lower or higher than intended?

Ans.—If the choke-coil is made for the regular adjustment necessary with 60 cycle current and for some reason it should be used on a system carrying a lower frequency than 60 cycles, then the current flowing through the coil and through the arc will be increased, and the increase in amperes will overheat and perhaps ultimately burn out the coil.

If, on the other hand, the frequency is higher than 60 cycles or higher than the number of cycles for which the coil is made, then there will be no damage done to the coil, and the result will simply sum itself up into a lower number of amperes than required for the work at the arc.

113—Why should the cycles on an electric system vary or be different than originally contemplated or specified?

Ans.—In the smaller towns the electric lighting plants are sometimes overloaded. Under this condition the engines at the power house may operate at slightly lower speed than normal. The loss of even one or two engine revolutions per minute will in some instances change the cycles five or ten per cent.,

Copyright 1916, by J. H. Hallberg

for that matter, depending upon the change in speed of the engine.

It is sometimes impossible for the smaller central station, at least, to always maintain the cycles constant, and this may account for the fact that operators of motion picture projectors find the voltage up to the mark, but still they cannot secure proper light when using choke-coils or special transformers for the control of projector arc lamps.

I have known of cases where it has been necessary in small power houses to speed up the engines in order to secure greater horse-power and capacity from the generators to take care of the increased load which may have come on the plant before the lighting company has had opportunity to put in additional engine and generator equipment.

Then again the governors on the engines are not always perfectly adjusted to give exactly the same speed with light and heavy load. This may account for the fact that in the afternoons, operators complain of a poor light, which is due to the fact that with light loads the engines may operate at slightly higher speed, and in consequence thereof the generators will also operate at increased speed, delivering a higher frequency than normal, which you will understand from the foregoing increases the resistance or reactive effect of choke-coils, transformers or A. C. economizers, thus reducing the amperes at the arc.

Pictures in Sway in Capital City This Summer

Theatres in the Northwest Section of Washington, D. C., Are Ready to Take Care of Patronage Expected from the Public Attending Other Amusement Places in the Cool Months—The Florida, Seating Nearly 1,400; the Princess, the Dixie and Others Doing an Excellent Business

Special to Motion Picture News.

Washington, D. C., June 17.

A SURVEY of the field in the northeast section of the city shows it to be amply fortified for the summer season, when the closing of the schools and other amusements will leave the pictures in sway for the diversion and recreation of the residents. The Florida, with its capacity of nearly 500, and its adjoining Florida Garden, seating 1400, is the largest five cent admission house in the vicinity. The management never raises the price and offers a Universal program show of six reels at night and eight reels for a matinee. With a judicious mixing of comedy and drama, the patrons are given a diversified show which is sure to please everyone somewhere. The music offered is by an excellent pianist who knows how to follow the pictures.

The Florida possesses a Mirroid screen, which has the property of not distorting the size of the figures irrespective of the angle and nearness of view. The manager has also slanted his screen to meet the grade of the floor of his house and thus gives an equal distribution of light over the screen from the projection machine. He says he finds this from experience more restful to the eyes and it offers a brighter picture.

The projection room of the Florida deserves mention, as it is 9 by 36 feet in dimensions, divided into three parts. On either side of this arc rooms 9 by 9 feet, for the rewinding of films, repair of machines and films, storing of reels, washing room, and other conveniences for the operator and the proper equipment of a modern booth.

Particular About Projection

The manager of the Florida is particular about the projection of his pictures. "A careful operator, a good machine, and an excellently clear screen," he remarked, "can do more to give your house a good reputation than even the subjects of the pictures themselves, because the pictures change daily, but these three essentials become a part of the equipment of the theatre and can make or break it. A poor subject can be greatly improved by good projection and an elaborate film killed by poor projection."

Two other five cent houses in the northeast are the Princess, with a capacity of 400, and the Dixie, with 500, but both of these present a ten cent show on Sunday, with an orchestra. The Princess, under the management of Richard Waldron, is using the pick of the General program of four or five reels. It anticipates going into longer features in the future if a demand is created.

Recently the Princess was offered to the local public school for three consecutive mornings to present "Hiawatha" for the benefit of the playgrounds. A goodly sum was realized and the superintendent expressed his gratitude to the management. It is community interests of this character on the part of the picture houses that have made the resident theatre exceedingly popular. Managers are usually quite ready to assist in local benefits and schools and churches all over the city have raised funds in this manner.

The Dixie, under the management of the Wickham Brothers, is running the Universal program. It specializes in serials and just at present "Peg o' the Ring" is very popular. "The players have as much to do with bringing the residential patron to the show as the play itself," commented the manager. "The children and women especially have their favorites, about whom they have created an atmosphere of personal acquaintance, and so I make it a point to bring to the Dixie the players whom my patrons like and thus maintain a well filled house."

Crandall's Apollo, with its capacity of 1,000 and its adjoining park of 1,400, stands as the largest and most artistic house in the northeast. This is a standard ten cent theatre, with children admitted for half price. Here the pick of the big productions are presented with a five piece orchestra under the leadership of Ralph Barrett. An interlude of music opens each show, thus affording the exit of people without obstructing the view of a photoplay on the screen. The Apollo may be described as a downtown theatre brought to the residents. Manager McDonald and his corps of assistants are most solicitous of their patrons and have won the approval of the neighborhood by the excellent attendance at the Apollo.

Empire Uses Triangle, Kleine, and V-L-S-E Service

The Empire, under Manager Greenberg, is another ten cent house using Triangle, Kleine, V-L-S-E, and similar features. "The Girl and the Game" has found popularity at this house. Music forms an important part of the show at the Empire, where a five-piece orchestra under the leadership of James Sears artistically accompanies the pictures. Manager Greenberg contends that good music is an important drawing card for the patrons of the pictures. "People simply will not remain in a theatre where the music grates upon the ears or is not in harmony with the subject on the screen," remarked Mr. Greenberg. "Whether your patrons are musicians or not, or whether they even understand music is of no consequence; they know what music pleases them and they want that music."

The Home is the newest house in the northeast, whose brilliant dome can be seen a long way off. Admission here is also ten cents, with children at half price, and big features form the program, which is changed daily. Duets of the violin and piano furnish the music, which is always in keeping with the subject on the screen.

Manager Dolan of the Home has given to his neighborhood a picture theatre which is artistic and commodious. The weekly bulletin of the plays to be presented is very attractive, the title page giving a picture of one of the screen stars. In advertising his pictures, Mr. Dolan makes the player the headliner, believing that this is the best means of publicity. The Home has a continuous performance on Sunday from 3 P. M. to 10:30. It also boasts

(Continued on page 4106)

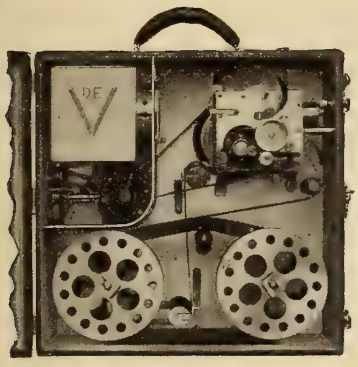
Here's the Portable Projector That Has Made Film Men Talk!

It's different from all the rest—not only portable, but more convenient to carry than a traveling bag. That's only one big feature of the

DeVry PORTABLE PROJECTOR

Another—it is positively a Portable Motion Picture Projector of professional quality. It shows up the film to best advantage, meaning more sales for the industrial film man, the road man and the exchange man. To the musician the DeVry means greater satisfaction in writing his synchronized score. In connection with the film industry there are a great many other uses for the DeVry Portable Projector.



SPECIFICATIONS: Size, 17x17x7½ inches. Weight, 19½ pounds. Runs standard reels and films. Threads or rewinds automatically. Universal motor.

SOME OF THE USERS: Camel Film Co., Supreme Film Co., C. & N. W. Railway Co., Western Electric Co., Burroughs Adding Machine Co., Northern Navigation Co., Mich. State Tel. Co., Chicago Tribune, Chicago Herald, U. S. Gypsum Co., and many other prominent concerns.

Write for full information and prices and learn where you can see a demonstration

The DeVry Corporation

117 N. FIFTH AVENUE, Dept. H, CHICAGO, ILL.

A THEATRE at the NORTH POLE

Has Nothing On a Typhoon Cooled Theatre at the Equator

TYPHOONS COST NO MORE THAN ORDINARY EQUIPMENTS OF BUZZ OR EXHAUST FANS WHICH THEY ARE CONSTANTLY REPLACING.

INSTALLATION TAKES A FEW DAYS ONLY. ALL SIZES IN STOCK.

SEND DIMENSIONS OF YOUR THEATER, SEATINGS, LOCATION OF DOORS AND WINDOWS.

YOU NEED NOT FEEL OBLIGATED BECAUSE OF ASKING OUR ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT FOR INFORMATION.

CIRCULAR "N" GIVES INFORMATION.

VENTILATE & COOL BY TYPHOONS

TYPHOON FAN COMPANY 1544 BWAY. NEW YORK CITY

NEW MODEL

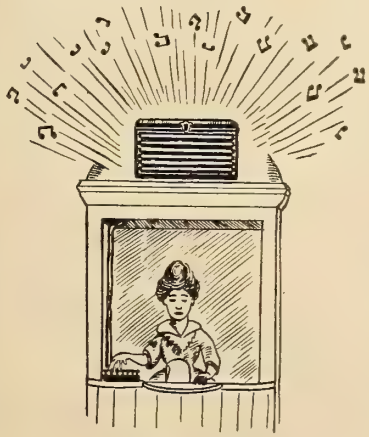
AUTOLA

MUSIC FOR ADVERTISING

A MARVELOUS MUSICAL INVENTION

NO MUSICIAN NEEDED

ANY ONE CAN PLAY AN AUTOLA



ON YOUR AUTO
YOU PLAY IT YOURSELF

IN YOUR LOBBY
YOUR TICKET SELLER PLAYS IT

Price $48.00

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
SUPPLY DEALERS
WRITE FOR AGENCY

POWERFUL TONE LOUD AS A BAND

PATENT APPLIED FOR

BARTOLA MUSICAL INSTRUMENT CO.

20 ALGOMA STREET OSHKOSH, WISCONSIN

Projection

Operating Electricity — Questions Answered — Repairing Equipment

Edited by J. H. Hallberg

Who will answer all questions you may send in, no matter how simple or difficult

DIFFERENT COLORED GLASSES IN LAMPHOUSE DOORS

F. H., Washington, D. C.:—In operating moving picture machines for many years I find that the different manufacturers of moving picture machines and stereopticons use different colored glasses in the lamphouse door to protect the operator's eyes. Some use a red glass only; others will use a red and a green glass; then some will use a green and a yellow or a red and blue glass; in fact, any combination of color and thicknesses from one glass up to three.

I have never understood just why so many different color combinations for glasses in lamphouse doors were used and I now ask you to kindly advise through the Projection Department what color combinations are the best to protect the operator's eyes and at the same time to give the best and clearest view of the arc and carbons.

ANS.—Several years ago when I made arc lamps for industrial and street lighting purposes, we had occasion to make tests on different glass combinations to protect the eyes of the lamp testers, who sometimes had to operate in a room where maybe 50 or 100 arc lamps were burning at the same time. During these tests it was always necessary to have a clear view of the arc and the condition of carbon points. About the same time experiments were conducted on electric welding, under my direction, and for this class of work even greater care in selecting the proper colored glass combination to protect the eyes was necessary.

My experience has been that while it has been the practice to use a combination of anywhere from one to three or five thicknesses of red and blue glass to protect the eyes of men operating electric welders, the final and most satisfactory combination worked out, proved to consist of one green and one red glass. This color combination is now extensively used in the helmets used by electric arc welders and is considered from both a practical and scientific point of view to offer the very best protection to the eyes and to give the clearest view of the arc.

You can secure the red and green glasses in almost any color density you want and, of course, the lighter the shade the greater the transparency.

I would recommend that wherever it is possible the operator should be protected by a combination of one green and one red glass placed in the lamphouse door and the density to be selected by the operator to suit his own convenience.

I think that this is one of the points which should have had discussion long ago and it looks as if the manufacturers of moving picture machines might look into the matter and make experiments on their own hook, and they should get together so that all glasses in moving picture machine and stereopticon lamphouse doors are of uniform color with maybe a selection of two or three densities to suit the individual operator.

INFORMATION ABOUT LENSES IN REGARD TO THROWS AND FOCUS

E. M. Baudette, Minn.—Please give me some kind of a line on lenses in regard to throws and focus. Please let me hear from you in regard to this matter.

ANS.—There is data obtainable on which to base the calculation of the foci of lenses relative to the size of the image on the lantern slide or on the film to the projected picture on the screen for different distances. However, such data is not necessary for the ordinary operator, especially one not thoroughly familiar with projection, and therefore I herewith submit a table which gives a very complete index to the different foci stereopticon and moving picture lenses as required for different distances for different size pictures. This table is reproduced by courtesy of the Precision Machine Company, Inc., and is taken from their instruction book.

The illustration at the bottom of the lens table shows the relative position of the arc between the two carbons, the condensing lenses, lantern slide (designated by "LS"), the objective and the screen.

You understand, of course, that when a film is used in place of the lantern slide the film is placed a considerable distance away from the condensing lenses, due to the fact that it is much smaller in area than the slide. Therefore when a film is used it would be located further away from the front condensing lens and closer to the objective than shown in the illustration.

THE "LENS TABLE OF FILM PROJECTION" WILL BE FOUND ON PAGE 4110

ENTERPRISE OPTICAL COMPANY ENLARGES ITS FACTORY

THE Enterprise Optical Manufacturing Company, of Chicago, has found it necessary to enlarge its quarters and factory, and has taken over an additional 9,000 square feet of floor space in the Rupreck Building. This means a considerable increase in output. Charles H. Hahn, of this company, left on June 12 for a five weeks' trip through the south, in the interests of his firm; he expects to be back in Chicago in time for the National convention in July.

The Enterprise company reports that Elliott and Sherman, of Minneapolis, who control the right to "The Birth of a Nation" for seventeeen states, and who recently purchased "Ramona" for the Northwest territory, have placed an order for eight 1916 Model Motiographs. This machine will be used exclusively in the future in the showing of these pictures.

The Lagoon theatre, one of the newest of Minneapolis playhouses, with the largest downstairs seating capacity of any theatre in that city, has also installed 1916 Model Motiographs.

SLIPPER ISSUES USEFUL INSTRUCTION CARD FOR OPERATORS

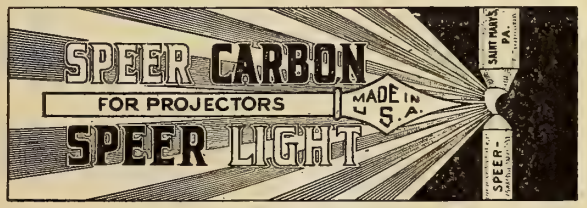
J. SLIPPER AND COMPANY of 728 South Olive street, Los Angeles, has issued a useful instruction card to operators. It contains a great quantity of statistical information for operators, and the remedies for poor results. Slipper and Company are accessory dealers handling Powers, Baird and Simplex machines.

SWETT, NICHOLAS POWER, IN DALLAS

FRED W. SWETT, Nicholas Power Company's expert projection man, is visiting the Southern Theatre Equipment Company in Dallas. "Freddy" has a host of friends in and around Dallas among the trade who have been "shaking his arm off" these last few days.

BY constant effort on the part of our Engineering Department we have succeeded in making the SPEER Projector Carbon the leader of all-- The SPEER Carbons are now known the World over as the best obtainable for any kind of current and in all sizes for all classes of projection and of either the Cored or Solid type in plain and metallic coated style.

You better get your order in NOW!!!



TRADE MARK

NET CASH PRICES

For Regular Speer Carbons

½x12,	cored, pointed both ends,	$37.50 per M. (1,000 in a case)
9 16x12,	cored, pointed both ends,	$40.00 per M. (1,000 in a case)
⅝x12,	cored, pointed both ends,	$50.00 per M. (1,000 in a case)
¾x12,	cored, pointed both ends,	$70.00 per M. (1,000 in a case)
⅞x12,	cored, pointed one end,	$115.00 per M. (500 in a case)
1x12,	cored, pointed one end,	$150.00 per M. (500 in a case)

Sample Orders for 100 Carbons Filled at 10% Advance on Above Case Lot Prices

Speer Carbons are absolutely guaranteed to give satisfaction or money back

SPEER CARBON COMPANY

DEPT. "N"

(Makers of Carbons for Electrical purposes during the past 25 years)

ST. MARYS, PA.

For Sale by Leading M. P. Machine Distributors, Including the Following:

J. H. HALLBERG, 727 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y.
E. E. FULTON CO., 154 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill.
KLEINE OPTICAL CO., 166 N. State St., Chicago, Ill.
KANSAS CITY MACHINE & SUPPLY CO., 813 Walnut St., Kansas City, Mo.
SOUTHERN THEATRE EQUIPMENT CO., Rhodes Building, Atlanta, Ga.
G. A. METCALFE, 117 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco, Cal.

DO NOT WAIT TOO LONG

To put in that new Machine. PROCRASTINATION IS THE ENEMY OF SUCCESS. People who go after things, get them quicker than those who wait for them.

We can equip your Theatre complete (with the exception of Films and Posters) and sell for cash or on the instalment plan.

Write today for catalog

AMUSEMENT SUPPLY COMPANY

Note change in address

THIRD FLOOR MALLERS BUILDING
S. E. CORNER WABASH AVE. & MADISON ST.
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Dealers in Motiograph, Powers, Simplex, Standard and Edison Machines, Genuine Repair parts and all goods pertaining to the M. P. Theatre

MOTION PICTURE MACHINES
Power—Simplex—Baird

HALLBERG'S 20th Century Motor GENERATORS

Mirroroid Screens Made in Three Tints

MINUSA Gold Fibre Screens

SANIZONE Deodorants, the perfect perfume for Motion Picture and All Theatres

WE ARE DISTRIBUTORS

ASK FOR CATALOGS

Lewis M. Swaab 1327 VINE STREET PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Get acquainted with "FULCO"
The Department Store
OF THE MOVING PICTURE TRADE
MACHINES — EQUIPMENT — SUPPLIES

OUR TRADE MARK
FULCO

Our catalog covers the line from A-Z
E. E. FULTON COMPANY
156 W. Lake St. CHICAGO, ILL.

REFLEX

Made in Switzerland

CARBONS

Write us for descriptive circular and price list

JONES & CAMMACK

Sole Importers

12 Bridge Street New York City

PICTURES IN SWAY IN CAPITAL CITY THIS SUMMER

(Continued from page 4102)

of a large and well equipped projection room suitably located.

The Staunton is another ten cent house of the northeast section which caters to its patrons with a well selected program of big productions. This is one of the Atkinson chain of houses and is under the management of Theodore Hartman. Excellent music accompanies the pictures, while a good screen and projection have added to the causes for popularity of the Staunton.

During the school term just closing this house has been offered to local churches and schools for means of raising funds for local interests. On each occasion goodly sums were gathered for the cause. Mr. Atkinson is very liberal in this respect, making his house a fellow worker in community interests.

The Orpheum is a northeast house that claims popularity in its neighborhood. It offers a program of variety which meets the favor of its patrons.

Already the parks and air domes have opened, though their consecutive nights of running have not as yet been very numerous. The Florida Garden and Apollo Park have been operated in conjunction with the adjoining theatre, and will continue to be so managed during the summer season.

The northeast, however, also possesses other parks, as the Maycroft, which has for several seasons been the most popular family open air picture show in this vicinity. There is every reason why this should continue in favor under the management of Harry Crandall, who recently acquired this park.

The Imp, under the management of William Minix, is another airdome in this section. The Unicorn service is being run here with success, accompanied by good music. It has a capacity of 700, which is ample for its patronage.

WILLARD HOWE.

LOCKWOOD-ALLISON CAMERAMAN, ANTONIO GAUDIO, MAKES REPUTATION FOR BEAUTIFUL PHOTOGRAPHY

ANTONIO GAUDIO, formerly cameraman-in-chief for the Universal, has joined the Metro-Yorke forces. He is a master of motion picture photography, as is evidenced by the beautiful photography in the many big features he has photographed.

Mr. Gaudio will travel to California with Harold Lockwood and May Allison, where Metro-Yorke features, following "The River of Romance," which Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison are now producing at Thousand Islands, will in future be produced.

Mr. Gaudio has become a member of the Metro-Yorke staff at the request of Director Henry Otto, who is directing the two stars.

Besides the Universal, Mr. Gaudio has been connected with several other American firms. Before he came to America he was head cameraman for the Ambrosio Film Company, of Italy. It was his work for the latter concern that attracted attention to Mr. Gaudio's work.

ESCH REPORTS MOTIOGRAPHS IN PHOENIX AND PRINCESS THEATRES, LA PORTE, INDIANA, ARE SATISFACTORY

W. H. ESCH, owner of the Phoenix and Princess theatres, La Porte, Ind., was in Chicago last week on business. Mr. Esch uses Motiographs in both his theatres and reports that they are giving him great satisfaction. Mr. Esch states that in his opinion the manufacturers are fast bringing on both national and local censorship, by releasing pictures which are objectionable to the neighborhood and small city audiences.

While La Porte is a broad-minded city, he says that in several instances he has been forced not to exhibit pictures which he booked without first viewing them, on account of the reform interests who are continually waiting a chance to put through a local censor board.

LABORATORIES OF SIGNAL DO WORK FOR FOX, VOGUE AND LONE STAR CHAPLIN

THE laboratories of the Signal Film Corporation present a very busy appearance at this time, as Superintendent Orrin Denny has taken on the work of the William Fox studios in addition to that of the Signal Corporation, Vogue Films, Inc., and the Lone Star Chaplin Company. The four companies require about sixty thousand feet weekly.

FENWAY THEATRE IN BOSTON IS IN THE FASHIONABLE BACK BAY DISTRICT

THE arrangement of the screen and stage of the Fenway, Boston, is unusual. The orchestra is seated behind a rail on a level with the audience and beyond is a balcony on which the singers stand. The specially constructed Gold Fibre screen can be seen plainly from every seat in the house. A large organ was installed by M. Steinert and Sons Company, and is played by B. B. Gillette, organist for many years at Trinity church, Boston.

The Colonial Realty Company has spared no expense in the construction or fittings of the house. The architectural design is in the Adam style, and the decorations are carried out in maroon and gold. The lobby and foyer are of imported Italian marble. The fittings in every respect are in keeping with the general atmosphere of refinement which is essential to any Boston picture house which hopes to attract a clientele in the Back Bay district. The ushers wear neat dresses of blue cloth trimmed with gold. The house was painted and decorated by James I. Wingate and Son of Boston.

Exterior of the Fenway Theatre, Boston

The management has set out to follow a high standard worthy of Triangle photoplays. Seats on the floor are twenty-five cents, those in the balcony fifteen and twenty-five.

Three prominent film houses in the Back Bay, the Exeter Street, St. James and Fenway are doing excellent business. The Exeter runs Paramount, the St. James World and Equitable and the Fenway Triangle.

DEAGAN UNA-FON PLACED IN NASHVILLE THEATRE

A DEAGON electric Una-Fon has been installed at the Bijou theatre, Nashville, a new house for colored people recently opened under the management of Milton Starr, former owner of a chain of theatres on Cedar street, Nashville. The Una-Fon has been placed outside the Bijou box office.

Mr. Dealer!

How are you meeting the demand for better projection lenses than the regular equipment of the various machines?

It will pay you to investigate and stock the best—the new Marlux oversize projection objective.

Marlux gives more light and greater steadiness of illumination. Write your nearest distributor or direct to the makers.

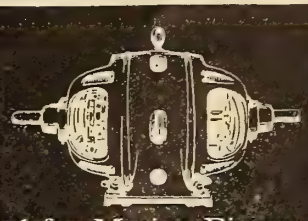
Crown Optical Co.
ROCHESTER, NEW YORK

FOR SALE
MOVING PICTURE MAILING LISTS
Only complete one to be had, numbering 22,000; price, $40.00; itemized by states, or $3.50 per thousand for states you want. Postage guaranteed.

1173	Film Exchanges	$4.00
149	Manufacturers and Studios	1.00
210	Moving Picture Machine and Supply Dealers	1.50

Write for particulars
Trade Circular Addressing Co.
166½ West Adams Street, Chicago
Franklin 1183 Estab. 1888

Wagner WHITE LIGHT Converters



Especially constructed for Motion Picture service. They are complete equipments, ready to install, simple to handle, and are Wagner Quality
Bulletin 10922.
Wagner Electric Manufacturing Company,
Saint Louis, Missouri

HALLBERG

J. H. HALLBERG

the recognized Motion Picture Projection Expert has moved his large establishment into the new Film Building at 7th Ave. & 49th Street, where he has established the greatest and most complete show-room in the World for Moving Picture Men. By knowing how Mr. Hallberg has established a reputation among the better Exhibitors and has gained the confidence of all individuals and concerns interested in Motion Picture Projection and theatres, you are invited to call. Orders for any class of goods or any make moving picture machine are usually filled on the same day they are received.

HALLBERG
20TH CENTURY MOTOR GENERATORS

Transformers and other electrical apparatus give best results with any make Projection Machine.

Distributor of Power's-Simplex-Baird
M. P. Machines

Send for Free Circulars and Catalogues, but for Hallberg's Big 100-page Catalogue, send 25 cents.

I EQUIP THEATRES COMPLETE AND CARRY "SPEER" AND OTHER MAKE CARBONS, ALSO SUPPLIES.

Send $2.50 for latest Operator's Book, "MOTION PICTURE ELECTRICITY.

J. H. HALLBERG Swedish Electrical Engineer
729 7th Ave. The House of Quality New York

AN ENLARGED SAVOY, WASHINGTON, D. C., WILL ACCOMMODATE 1,540

THE Savoy, Washington, D. C., which has stood for several years as the largest motion picture theatre in the northwest section of the city, will be enlarged so as to give it an increase in seating capacity of 540 over its present capacity of about 1,000. To do this the building will be increased in width by thirty feet, the lobby changed and other alterations made. At least three hundred of this seating capacity will be obtained by the erection of a mezzanine balcony, which promises to add beauty and comfort to the theatre.

The rear of the building will be extended and a large stage installed which will be artistically finished. The set of the screen will be something unique. The interior decorations will be altered to meet the requirements of the improvements.

The Savoy will continue to be, as always, the home of high class feature photoplays, a standard which has maintained excellent patronage for this house.

B. Stanley Simmons is the architect who is looking after the enlarging of the Savoy. It is proposed that there will be no interruption to performances during the alterations, as the Savoy Park adjoining will amply provide for patrons to the capacity of 1,500.

ANOTHER THEATRE, IN VANCOUVER, FOR THE PANTAGES CIRCUIT

A THEATER, which has been under consideration for a number of months, has just been announced for Vancouver, B. C., and it is stated that actual construction will be undertaken early in July. The house will be an addition to the chain controlled by the Pantages Circuit, with Alexander Pantages at the head, and a central location has just been secured on Hastings street, directly opposite the Rex theatre. The site is at present occupied by a hotel and the Strand theatre, which will be demolished as soon as possible.

The property has a frontage of 103 feet on Hastings street, and extends back for a distance of 120 feet. The ground will be used entirely for the purpose of the theatre, there being no stores or offices in the building. The structure will cost between $150,000 and $200,000, and is being designed by B. M. Priteca, who also planned the Pantages houses in Seattle, Portland and Tacoma.

C. A. Godson, from whom the site has been secured by lease, with the option of purchase within five years, will have an interest in the house.

ROTHACKER FILM MANUFACTURING COMPANY SENDS OUT CAMERA CREWS TO REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC CONVENTIONS

THE Rothacker Film Manufacturing Company, of Chicago, has had an especially active week. Among other things, a camera crew has been sent to Toledo to secure special pictures of the Knights and Ladies of Security Convention, which is being held in that city. H. S. Moss, of the producing department, is directing a special industrial reel at the Chicago studios. W. C. Aldous, of the Technical department is now in Washington, D. C., doing some special research work; he expects to visit film plants in and around New York City, returning to Chicago by way of Philadelphia.

The company had three camera crews working with artificial lighting equipment in the Congress Hotel during the Republican national convention. Three camera outfits, under the direction of Leslie Smith also went to St. Louis to film the Democratic convention.

MOTION PICTURE SUPPLY COMPANY IN KANSAS CITY, MO., IS SELLING MANY PROJECTION MACHINES

Kansas City, Mo., June 17.

A FULLY equipped show room is the center of attraction in the Gloyd Building. The Motion Picture Supply Company has opened the eyes of every one coming into their main office. Motiograph and Powers machines have constituted the major part of sales in the last two weeks. A ten-foot show case is elaborately decorated with accessories and across one end in the machine demonstration space.

H. G. Gill, the manager, has plenty of "pep" and frequently puts out an advertisement that attracts attention. Many of these schemes have been followed with success.

BETTER SATISFACTION

This notice is addressed to the minority of our subscribers who do not regularly answer advertisements.

The service described is, however, open and free to all who wish our help.

We do not wish to discourage you from writing direct to our advertisers; in fact, you do not do enough of it for your own good, but we do want you to get the proper goods to fit your needs.

There are many, perhaps you, who are too busy to write each company separately; therefore we are offering our co-operation, which means that you will receive full information on any subject which you may designate by merely filling out the coupon, designating by numbers the goods in which you are interested.

Your inquiries thus received will be forwarded to reputable manufacturers, even though the goods on which you wish information are not advertised in the "News."

1. Architectural Suggestions
2. Arc Controllers
3. Brass Rails
4. Building Materials
5. Cameras
6. Carbons
7. Chairs
8. Chair Upholstery
9. Converters and Transformers
10. Developing and Printing
11. Developing Tanks
12. Disinfectants and Perfumes
13. Economizers and Rheostats
14. Electric Signs
15. Elevators and Escalators
16. Exterior Lighting
17. Film Carriers
18. Film Cement
19. Film Cleaners
20. Film Stock
21. Fire Extinguishers
22. Floral Decorations
23. Generators
24. Gas Engines
25. Heating Apparatus
26. Interior Lighting
27. Interior Telephones
28. Lenses
29. Lighting Sets
30. Lobby Display
31. Lobby Novelties
32. Metal Ceilings
33. Motors
34. Mural Paintings
35. Musical Instruments
36. Paints
37. Perforating Machines
38. Printing Machines
39. Projection Machines
40. Projection Machines (Home)
41. Projection Booths
42. Rectifiers
43. Reels
44. Rewinders
45. Screens
46. Slides
47. Slide Ink
48. Studio Lights
49. Tickets
50. Ticket Selling Machines
51. Ticket Taking Machines
52. Uniforms
53. Ventilating and Fans
54. Vacuum Cleaners

Gentlemen: Please send me descriptive matter on the subjects marked in the above lists.

Name .....

Theatre .....

City .....

State .....

DUNDEE, OMAHA, SEATING ONLY 410, COST $25,000, AND GETS EXCELLENT PRICES

THE Dundee theatre, an up-to-date picture house, was opened at Fifty-first street and Underwood avenue, Omaha, Neb., by Manager A. C. Hartman on June 1. It cost $25,000 and is the only motion picture house in Dundee, an exclusive suburb. Manager Hartman had a hard fight, circulating several petitions, before he could get a place for his theatre. Then Dundee was annexed to Greater Omaha, its local rules were wiped out and there remained no obstacle to a theatre. The Dundee seats 410.

The indirect system of lighting is used, the Baird flickerless projector, and a Gold King screen are other features of the house. The seats are two inches wider than common in other theatres. A ventilating fan that changes the air every four minutes is used.

Manager Hartman put it to a vote of the people of the suburb—all of them among the wealthier class—whether he should charge regular prices and show the usual pictures, or higher prices and show the highest type of films. Almost unanimously they voted for the latter, so he is charging ten and twenty cents—a price no other suburban theatre there has yet tried to charge. The Dundee promises to be one of the most popular theatres among the children, special matinees being a regular feature.

THE PALACE STANLEY CHAIN, PHILADELPHIA, INSTALLS AUSTIN ORGAN

DESIRING still further to improve the quality of its already excellent organ and orchestra music, the Palace, one of the Stanley theatres, at 1214 Market Street, has just installed a Hook-Hastings echo organ.

This instrument is built in the back of the house behind a decorative grille work. The organ, though not a large one, adds to the beauty of the big Austin in the front of the house. The vox humana, the flute and the viola are the three stops which enable the organist to complete the whole gamut of sounds. The echo is worked by electric buttons attached to the main organ which the musician presses at will. The organ was purchased from the Boston, Mass., agency, but was almost entirely rebuilt in adjusting it to the requirements of the big organ.

This work was in the hands of James de Baun, who is in charge of all the organs in the Stanley chain. That Philadelphians show appreciation of good music is proved by the large audiences seen regularly at the Palace.

First run feature pictures, in the district between Broad and Seventh streets, are run by the Palace. The usual comedy, scenic and educational short subjects round out the two hour program.

BARTOLA INSTALLS $10,000 ORGAN IN THE VERNON, CHICAGO

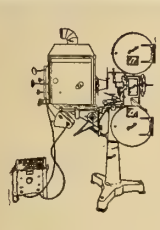
THE Bartola Musical Instrument Company has installed a Bartola de Luxe in the new Vernon theatre, an 800-seat house at Sixty-first street and Vernon avenue, Chicago. This house, one of the most beautiful in the city, opened on Saturday, June 17. The Bartola de Luxe is a $10,000 instrument, and its installation is being featured by the management. The Ashland Photoplay Company of Chicago has also purchased a special Bartola Grand to be installed in their Ashland theatre, West Madison street and Ashland avenue. This instrument will replace a three-piece orchestra.

Charles C. Pyle, general sales manager of the Bartola company, is now on a ten days' trip in the east. He will visit Detroit, Cleveland, Erie, Pa., and New York.

KORNICKER WILL APPOINT REPRESENTATIVES OF MENGER AND RING

ALBERT KORNICKER, traveling representative for Menger and Ring, 302 West Forty-second street, New York City, manufacturers of lobby display frames, has just left on a trip covering cities as far as Detroit. Mr. Kornicker is showing their latest designs and models in lobby display frames.

Mr. Ring will also leave in a few days on an extensive trip through the West, visiting their dealers and also appointing dealers to represent them in localities where they are not represented.



Simplex Projectors

USED AT LIBERTY THEATRE

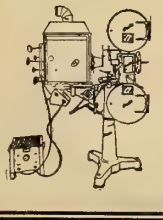
BY

THOMAS DIXON

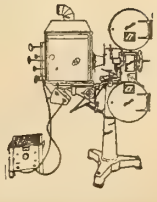
FOR

"THE FALL OF A NATION"



THE PRECISION MACHINE CO. INC.

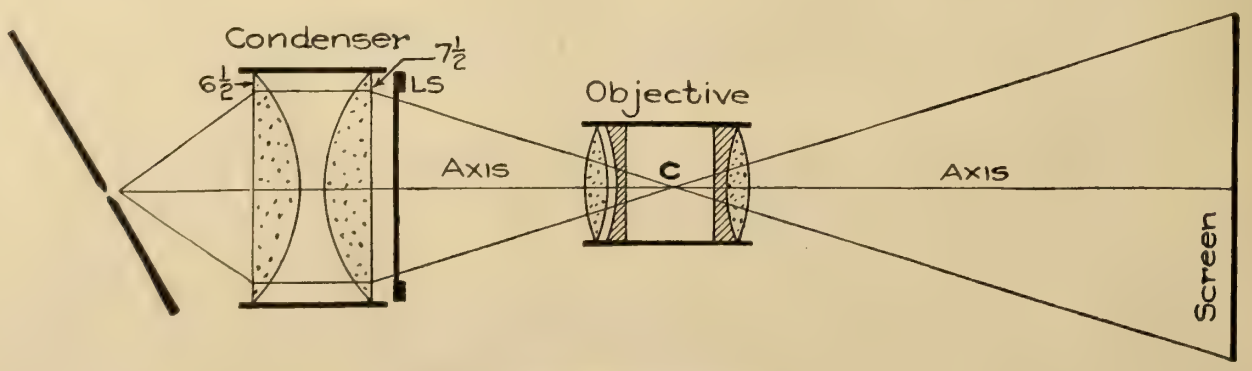
317 East 34th St. New York



LENS TABLE OF FILM PROJECTION

DISTANCE FROM FILM TO SCREEN

Stereo. Lens to Match	M. P. Lens	15	20	25	30	35	40	45	50	56	60	64	70	76	80	84	90	96	100	104	110	116	120
8	2	5.04	6.74	8.44	10.14	11.84	13.54	15.24	16.93	18.97	20.33	21.69	23.73	25.77	27.13	28.49	30.53	32.57	33.93	35.29	37.33	39.36	40.72
		6.72	8.99	11.25	13.52	15.78	18.05	20.31	22.58	25.30	27.11	28.92	31.64	34.36	36.17	37.99	40.71	43.42	45.24	47.05	49.77	52.49	54.30
9	2¼	4.48	5.99	7.50	9.01	10.52	12.03	13.54	15.05	16.87	18.07	19.28	21.09	22.91	24.12	25.32	27.14	28.95	30.16	31.37	33.18	34.99	36.20
		5.97	7.98	10.00	12.01	14.03	16.04	18.05	20.07	22.48	24.10	25.71	28.12	30.54	32.15	33.76	36.18	38.60	40.21	41.82	44.24	46.65	48.26
10	2½	4.02	5.38	6.74	8.10	9.46	10.82	12.18	13.54	15.17	16.26	17.34	18.98	20.61	21.70	22.78	24.42	26.05	27.14	28.22	29.86	31.49	32.58
		5.36	7.17	8.99	10.80	12.61	14.42	16.24	18.05	20.22	21.67	23.12	25.30	27.47	28.92	30.37	32.55	34.72	36.17	37.62	39.80	41.97	43.42
11	2¾	3.65	4.89	6.12	7.36	8.59	9.83	11.06	12.30	13.78	14.77	15.76	17.24	18.73	19.72	20.70	22.19	23.67	24.66	25.65	27.13	28.61	29.60
		4.87	6.52	8.17	9.81	11.46	13.11	14.76	16.40	18.38	19.70	21.02	22.99	24.97	26.29	27.61	29.59	31.56	32.88	34.20	36.18	38.15	39.47
12	3	3.34	4.47	5.61	6.74	7.87	9.00	10.14	11.27	12.63	13.54	14.44	15.80	17.16	18.07	18.97	20.33	21.69	22.60	23.50	24.86	26.22	27.13
		4.46	5.97	7.48	8.99	10.50	12.01	13.52	15.03	16.85	18.05	19.26	21.07	22.89	24.10	25.30	27.12	28.93	30.14	31.35	33.16	34.97	36.18
13	3¼	3.08	4.13	5.17	6.22	7.26	8.31	9.35	10.40	11.65	12.49	13.33	14.58	15.84	16.67	17.51	18.77	20.02	20.86	21.69	22.95	24.20	25.04
		4.11	5.50	6.90	8.29	9.69	11.08	12.48	13.87	15.54	16.66	17.77	19.45	21.12	22.23	23.35	25.02	26.70	27.81	28.93	30.60	32.27	33.39
14	3½	2.86	3.83	4.80	5.77	6.74	7.72	8.69	9.66	10.82	11.60	12.38	13.54	14.71	15.48	16.26	17.43	18.59	19.37	20.14	21.31	22.47	23.25
		3.81	5.10	6.40	7.69	8.99	10.28	11.58	12.87	14.43	15.46	16.50	18.05	19.60	20.64	21.68	23.23	24.78	25.82	26.86	28.41	29.96	31.00
15	3¾	2.66	3.57	4.47	5.38	6.28	7.19	8.10	9.00	10.09	10.82	11.54	12.63	13.72	14.44	15.17	16.25	17.34	18.07	18.79	19.88	20.97	21.69
		3.55	4.76	5.97	7.17	8.38	9.59	10.80	12.00	13.46	14.42	15.39	16.84	18.29	19.26	20.22	21.67	23.12	24.09	25.06	26.51	27.96	28.92
16	4	2.49	3.34	4.19	5.04	5.89	6.74	7.59	8.44	9.46	10.14	10.82	11.84	12.86	13.54	14.22	15.24	16.25	16.93	17.61	18.63	19.65	20.33
		3.32	4.45	5.59	6.72	7.85	8.98	10.12	11.25	12.61	13.52	14.42	15.78	17.14	18.05	18.95	20.31	21.67	22.58	23.48	24.84	26.20	27.11
17	4¼	2.34	3.14	3.94	4.74	5.54	6.34	7.14	7.94	8.90	9.54	10.18	11.14	12.10	12.74	13.38	14.34	15.30	15.94	16.57	17.52	18.48	19.12
		3.12	4.19	5.25	6.32	7.38	8.45	9.52	10.58	11.86	12.72	13.57	14.85	16.13	16.98	17.83	19.11	20.39	21.25	22.10	23.38	24.66	25.51
18	4½	2.21	2.97	3.72	4.48	5.23	5.99	6.74	7.50	8.40	9.01	9.61	10.52	11.42	12.03	12.63	13.54	14.44	15.05	15.65	16.56	17.47	18.07
		2.95	3.96	4.96	5.97	6.98	7.98	8.99	9.10	11.21	12.01	12.82	14.03	15.23	16.04	16.85	18.05	19.26	20.07	20.87	22.08	23.29	24.10
19	4¾	2.09	2.81	3.52	4.24	4.95	5.67	6.38	7.10	7.96	8.53	9.10	9.96	10.82	11.39	11.96	12.82	13.68	14.25	14.83	15.68	16.54	17.12
		2.79	3.74	4.70	5.65	6.61	7.56	8.51	9.47	10.61	11.38	12.14	13.28	14.43	15.19	15.96	17.10	18.24	19.01	19.77	20.92	22.06	22.82
20	5	1.98	2.66	3.34	4.02	4.70	5.38	6.06	6.74	7.55	8.10	8.64	9.46	10.27	10.82	11.36	12.18	12.99	13.54	14.08	14.89	15.71	16.25
		2.64	3.55	4.45	5.36	6.27	7.17	8.08	8.98	10.07	10.80	11.52	12.61	13.70	14.42	15.15	16.23	17.32	18.05	18.77	19.86	20.95	21.67
21	5¼	1.89	2.54	3.18	3.83	4.48	5.13	5.77	6.42	7.20	7.72	8.23	9.01	9.79	10.30	10.82	11.60	12.38	12.89	13.41	14.19	14.96	15.48
		2.51	3.37	4.24	5.10	5.96	6.83	7.69	8.55	9.59	10.28	10.97	12.00	13.04	13.73	14.42	15.46	16.49	17.18	17.87	18.91	19.94	20.63
22	5½	1.80	2.42	3.04	3.65	4.27	4.89	5.51	6.13	6.87	7.36	7.86	8.60	9.34	9.83	10.33	11.07	11.81	12.31	12.80	13.54	14.28	14.78
		2.40	3.22	4.05	4.87	5.70	6.52	7.34	8.17	9.16	9.82	10.47	11.46	12.45	13.11	13.77	14.76	15.73	16.40	17.07	18.06	19.04	19.70
23	5¾	1.72	2.31	2.90	3.49	4.08	4.67	5.27	5.86	6.57	7.04	7.51	8.22	8.93	9.40	9.88	10.59	11.29	11.77	12.24	12.95	13.66	14.13
		2.29	3.08	3.87	4.65	5.44	6.23	7.02	7.81	8.75	9.38	10.01	10.96	11.90	12.53	13.16	14.11	15.06	15.69	16.32	17.26	18.21	18.84
24	6	1.64	2.21	2.77	3.34	3.91	4.47	5.04	5.60	6.28	6.74	7.19	7.87	8.55	9.00	9.46	10.14	10.82	11.27	11.72	12.40	13.08	13.54
		2.19	2.95	3.70	4.46	5.21	5.97	6.72	7.48	8.38	8.99	9.59	10.50	11.40	12.01	12.61	13.52	14.42	15.03	15.63	16.54	17.45	18.05
25	6¼	1.57	2.11	2.66	3.20	3.75	4.29	4.83	5.38	6.03	6.46	6.90	7.55	8.20	8.64	9.07	9.73	10.38	10.81	11.25	11.90	12.55	12.99
		2.10	2.82	3.55	4.27	5.00	5.72	6.45	7.17	8.04	8.62	9.20	10.07	10.94	11.52	12.10	12.97	13.84	14.42	15.00	15.87	16.74	17.32
26	6½	1.51	2.03	2.56	3.08	3.60	4.12	4.65	5.17	5.80	6.22	6.63	7.26	7.89	8.31	8.72	9.35	9.98	10.40	10.82	11.44	12.07	12.49
		2.02	2.72	3.41	4.11	4.81	5.51	6.20	6.90	7.74	8.29	8.85	9.69	10.53	11.08	11.64	12.48	13.31	13.87	14.43	15.27	16.10	16.66
27	6¾	1.45	1.95	2.46	2.96	3.46	3.97	4.47	4.98	5.58	5.98	6.38	6.99	7.59	8.00	8.40	9.00	9.61	10.01	10.41	11.02	11.62	12.02
		1.94	2.61	3.28	3.95	4.63	5.30	5.97	6.64	7.44	7.98	8.52	9.32	10.13	10.67	11.20	12.01	12.81	13.35	13.89	14.69	15.50	16.04
28	7	1.40	1.89	2.37	2.86	3.34	3.83	4.31	4.80	5.38	5.77	6.16	6.74	7.32	7.71	8.10	8.68	9.27	9.65	10.04	10.62	11.21	11.60
		1.87	2.52	3.16	3.81	4.46	5.11	5.75	6.40	7.18	7.70	8.21	8.99	9.77	10.28	10.80	11.58	12.36	12.87	13.39	14.17	14.94	15.46
29	7¼	1.35	1.82	2.29	2.76	3.23	3.69	4.16	4.63	5.19	5.57	5.94	6.51	7.07	7.44	7.82	8.38	8.94	9.32	9.69	10.26	10.82	11.19
		1.80	2.42	3.05	3.67	4.30	4.92	5.60	6.17	6.92	7.42	7.92	8.67	9.43	9.93	10.42	11.17	11.93	12.43	12.93	13.68	14.43	14.93
30	7½	1.30	1.75	2.21	2.66	3.11	3.57	4.02	4.47	5.02	5.38	5.74	6.28	6.83	7.19	7.55	8.10	8.64	9.00	9.37	9.91	10.45	10.82
		1.74	2.34	2.95	3.55	4.16	4.76	5.37	5.97	6.69	7.18	7.66	8.39	9.11	9.59	10.08	10.80	11.53	12.01	12.50	13.22	13.95	14.43
31	7¾	1.26	1.70	2.14	2.58	3.01	3.45	3.89	4.33	4.86	5.21	5.56	6.08	6.61	6.96	7.31	7.84	8.36	8.71	9.07	9.59	10.12	10.47
		1.68	2.26	2.85	3.43	4.02	4.60	5.19	5.77	6.48	6.95	7.42	8.12	8.82	9.29	9.76	10.46	11.16	11.63	12.10	12.80	13.50	13.97
32	8	1.22	1.64	2.07	2.49	2.92	3.34	3.77	4.19	4.70	5.04	5.38	5.89	6.40	6.74	7.08	7.59	8.10	8.44	8.78	9.29	9.80	10.14
		1.62	2.19	2.75	3.32	3.89	4.45	5.02	5.58	6.26	6.72	7.17	7.85	8.53	8.98	9.44	10.12	10.80	11.25	11.70	12.38	13.06	13.52
33	8¼	1.18	1.59	2.00	2.42	2.83	3.24	3.65	4.06	4.56	4.89	5.22	5.71	6.21	6.54	6.86	7.36	7.85	8.18	8.51	9.01	9.50	9.83
		1.57	2.12	2.67	3.22	3.77	4.32	4.87	5.41	6.07	6.51	6.95	7.61	8.27	8.71	9.15	9.81	10.47	10.91	11.35	12.01	12.66	13.10
34	8½	1.14	1.54	1.94	2.34	2.74	3.14	3.54	3.94	4.42	4.74	5.06	5.54	6.02	6.34	6.66	7.14	7.62	7.94	8.26	8.74	9.22	9.54
		1.52	2.05	2.59	3.12	3.65	4.19	4.72	5.25	5.89	6.32	6.74	7.38	8.02	8.44	8.88	9.52	10.16	10.58	11.01	11.65	12.29	12.71
35	8¾	1.11	1.50	1.88	2.27	2.66	3.05	3.43	3.82	4.29	4.60	4.91	5.38	5.84	6.15	6.46	6.93	7.40	7.71	8.02	8.48	8.95	9.26
		1.48	2.00	2.51	3.03	3.55	4.06	4.58	5.10	5.72	6.13	6.55	7.17	7.79	8.20	8.62	9.24	9.86	10.27	10.69	11.31	11.93	12.35
36	9	1.08	1.46	1.84	2.21	2.59	2.97	3.35	3.72	4.18	4.48	4.78	5.23	5.69	5.99	6.29	6.74	7.20	7.50	7.80	8.25	8.71	9.01
		1.44	1.94	2.45	2.95	3.45	3.96	4.46	4.96	5.57	5.97	6.37	6.98	7.58	7.98	8.38	8.99	9.59	9.99	10.40	11.00	11.60	12.01



(FOR FURTHER DETAILS SEE PAGE 4104)

IRA G. SHERMAN

President

LOCAL No. 384

I. A. T. S. E. and M. P. M. O. of U. S. and C.

has joined the staff of the

Motion Picture News

and will take charge of the Projection Department

beginning with the

JULY 22 ISSUE

Brother Sherman has had broad experience and in undertaking his new duties wishes to impress upon all union members the fact that he is behind them in every way and in turn is looking for their support.

Send in Articles - Suggestions - Questions or Any Other Communications to

PROJECTION DEPARTMENT
Motion Picture News
729 Seventh Ave., New York

The Camera

A Department Devoted to Motion Picture Photography in All Its Phases, Studio and Laboratory Work

Methods of Making Film Titles

Titles May Improve or Ruin the Effect on the Screen and Are Therefore Receiving More Attention and Care in Their Preparation and Subsequent Photographing Than Formerly—For All This, Much Title Work on Many Otherwise Good Productions Is an Eyesore

IT is known and conceded by all competent film producers, and by critics and others who have studied the motion picture closely, that the titles (or captions as sometimes termed) inserted in a film may improve or ruin its effect on the screen.

Film titles are nowadays receiving more attention and care in their preparation and subsequent photographing than was formerly the case, but still the title work on many an otherwise good production is an eyesore and greatly militates against the effect of the picture and its reception by an audience.

In the following article we shall give an outline of the various methods by which titles are made in film laboratories and endeavor to set forth the correct procedure to be followed if good clear titles are to be secured.

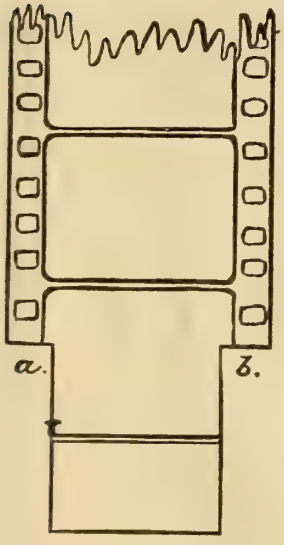

Fig. 1.

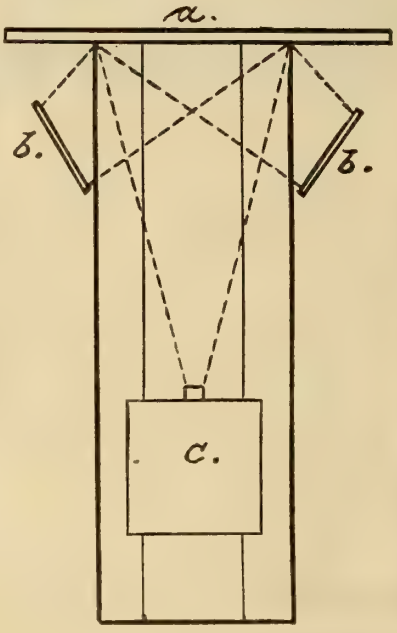

Fig. 3.

The first item to receive consideration will be the title-cards which bear the printing or lettering which is reproduced in the film captions. Cards were formerly most always lettered by hand with a brush and lettering ink or paint and many a fine effect lettered or painted by hand has been seen on the screen.

As a matter of time and economy in producing these title-cards the printing press is now largely employed and printed cards are now greatly in the majority in the title departments of most laboratories. There is no standard size for title-cards and such cards come to the laboratories in many different sizes and dimensions, while it will also be found that hardly any two establishments use a card of similar size.

Supposing however that the cards have been printed and proofread for possible errors in spelling, etc. (which should never be evident in the finished product) we will now pass to the consideration of the various methods of photographing these cards or otherwise reproducing their reading matter upon motion picture film.

A few years back there were to be seen in many laboratories printing machines (for printing film positives) of foreign manufacture, which in addition to being capable of ordinary positive printing were also possessed of a projecting arrangement for title making. The first proceeding in using such a machine was to photograph the title-card (black with white lettering) upon a plate of about 4½ x 6 cm. size. Having been developed, fixed and dried, this negative plate was placed in a suitable receiver within the housing of the printer mechanism behind which was a condensing lens and a light source, the latter being generally a Nernst glower or a focus-filament incandescent globe. At the proper local distance in front of the glass negative title-plate was a lens so focussed as to project a sharp image of the lettering on the plate upon a section of film in the exposure aperture of the printing machine. The image being critically focussed, positive film was then run through the printer and the images impressed or exposed upon it by projection.

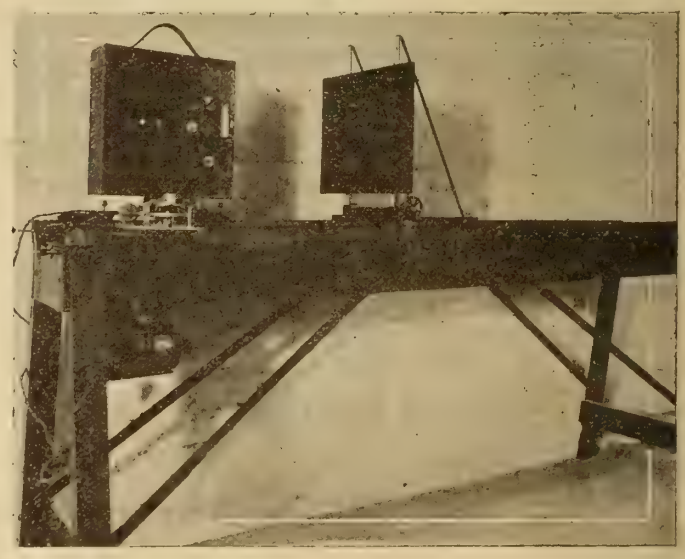

Fig. 2

Another Method of Title-Making

Another method somewhat similar in operation to that of the projecting title-printer just described, but now little used is as follows: The title-card is photographed upon a lantern plate so that a small image is secured, about ¾ by 1 inch or the size of a regulation film picture. This is then cut out of the lantern plate, with a glass cutter, and inserted in the printer at the exposure window or aperture so that positive film threaded through the

(Continued on page 4117)

QUALITY means
EVANS
means PERFECTION

We Do Particular Work for Particular People
Developing and Printing ONLY

Evans Film Manufacturing Company
Numbers 416-418-420-422 West 216th Street
Telephone 6681 Audubon NEW YORK CITY

THEATRE AND EXCHANGE MAILING LIST SERVICE

We rent lists of or address contemplated or existing theatres, exchanges, state rights owners, publicity mediums and producers, selected as to territory, class, etc. Twenty thousand changes were recorded in our list last year. Its use means a saving to you of from 30 to 50% in postage, etc.
N 67

MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY CO.
80 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK Phone, 3227 Chelsea
425 ASHLAND BLOCK, CHICAGO Phone, 2003 Randolph
Addressing Multigraphing Printing Typewriting

Perfect Developing and Printing
Negatives Developed . 1c. ft.
Positive Printing . . . . 4c. ft.
TITLES in any language 5c. per foot complete
Cards Free Tinting Free
Satisfaction guaranteed by our fifteen years' experience Special price on quantity orders.
GUNBY BROS., Inc., 145 West 45th Street, New York City

The Universal Camera For Motion Photography
Write for Illustrated Catalogue
The UNIVERSAL CAMERA CO.
559 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago
Branches { 1007 Times Bldg., New York
821 Market St., San Francisco
229 E. Sixth St., Los Angeles

CAMERA MEN

The organization of the Associated Film Producers, Inc., offers the greatest opportunity for camera men who can do good work.

Our work is non-dramatic and we are developing special fields wherein capable camera men throughout the United States and Canada can make their cameras very profitable. Send for our booklet on this plan.

DEVELOPING AND FINISHING FILM

A new process enables us to develop film with the dust evil entirely eliminated. Every breath of air that enters our film rooms first passes through water which extracts all dust, and gives you a film as clear as crystal. Our process is strictly scientific and a great advance in film production. It also insures quick delivery.

PROSPECTIVE CAMERA MEN

If you are going to get a camera and make a business of motion picture work we have a plan that is sure to interest you, make you start comparatively easy and prepare you for a good business.

Send for booklet which will be sent free.

Associated Film Producers, 682 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

"EASTMAN"

in the film margin answers the question,

"How clear should a motion picture be?"

EASTMAN KODAK CO.,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

UP-TO-DATE CAMERAMEN SHOULD USE

GOERZ LENSES

FOR MOTION PICTURE CAMERAS

THERE are few lenses better known or more widely used than the GOERZ,—

KINO HYPAR F 3.5 LENS

which has met all the exacting requirements of both studio and field motion picture photography. It is made in 1⅝, 2, 2⅜ and 3 inch focus. In addition, we manufacture GOERZ LENSES for long distance or telephoto work, the GOERZ MICROMETER MOUNT, GOERZ ROUND CLOSING DISSOLVING AND VIGNETTING DEVICE, DOUBLE EXPOSURE and other devices for producing the latest and best screen effects. Write now for our new descriptive matter. We are at your service for technical or other information.

C. P. Goerz American Optical Co.
Office and Factory
317 N. East 34th Street, NEW YORK CITY

Music and the Picture

Edited by Ernst Lux

This department is maintained for the exhibitor's assistance with a view of suggesting proper musical illustrations for current photo plays. MOTION PICTURE NEWS will be pleased to help solve any difficulties the exhibitors may have with their musical programs. All communications should be addressed to the Music and the Picture Department.

Musical Synchronization to Dramatic Photoplays

What Is Musical Synchronization to Photoplay Action? Is There Such a Thing, and If There Is, Why Do We Continually Renew the Old Argument About Everybody Having Different Ideas of Picture Music?— What Is Music in Picture Playing Really to Agree with to Be Effective?

WHAT is musical synchronization to photoplay action? Is there such a thing, and if there is, why do we continually renew the old argument about everybody having different ideas of picture music? To synchronize means to cause to agree simultaneously. The very definition of the word, meaning to agree, proves that to have so many minds to disagree about musical picture synchronization is wrong and detrimental to the cause of better picture music. Leaving the word "synchronization" on the side, let us find out to what extent we can agree in picture music.

What is music in picture playing really to agree with to be effective? Should it agree with the thoughts of the individual minds or should it be cindered down and exclusively confined to the picture thought or action conveyed by the screen? The great fault in picture music at the present time is that so many are trying a method of making a musical diagnosis of the picture to conform with their meager knowledge of picturedom and picture music. This is a pure and simple statement of fact, and I don't want my readers to believe that it hides one iota of sarcasm, for while this is a deplorable fact, the fault does not at all belong to the musician.

Every musician cannot be a great conductor or composer, not every or any musician will be able to create good musical synchronization to pictures. It is an assured fact that when the producers give one-tenth of their attention to the thought of picture music, they are at present giving to stars, good, bad and indifferent, paying them fabulous salaries and often ruining thousands of dollars' worth of film, it will take little or no time for the creation and recreating of authorities on picture music; and the more talented will energetically enter the field.

Producers Can Give Picture Aid to Exhibitors

There is still the old and erroneous idea among the producers that picture music is and should be the worry of the exhibitor, regardless of the fact that the exhibitor today is paying five times as much for his film as he paid three years ago. I am more than convinced that the producers are the only people in the industry today who can give the proper aid to the musician and exhibitor if they desire to do so. Furthermore, musical assistance to his picture is of even more value to the producer than the exhibitor, and when once properly thought out, it will add longevity of the film. It is to be regretted that a few of the enterprising producers in the past have spent such enormous amounts of money on picture music and derived therefrom so little benefit. They have, however, only themselves to blame, for had they worked along the lines of musical picture uplift for the masses instead of the classes they would have received appreciative commendation.

To say the least, musical scores are impossible for the picture theatre orchestra when programs are changed daily, and in all other theatres where proper rehearsals are impossible. My experience has taught me that the theatres having proper rehearsals are so equipped as to not require a musical score, and would not use them on account of their ability to make a special effort to stand alone and unique in their individual ways of presenting their program. We will omit restating what we know to be a fact—that correcting errors found in these scores require more time than the rehearsing or playing of them. Knowing this to be a fact, why is there then such a misconception regarding the requirements for picture music synchronization? The first and greatest mistake that musicians make when entering the field of picture music is to pride themselves with their wonderful knowledge of musical terms and designations, trying with that knowledge to create musical synchronization. All this knowledge is of little or no value in picture playing. It is first required that the musician understand music not only as to its known interpretation, but its possible interpretation. Allegro, moderato, adagio, andante maestoso, etc., don't mean anything in picture playing, and is of no assistance whatsoever when synchronizing music to the picture.

Still a Thousand Other Allegro Movements

If I were setting a musical score for my own use, having seen the picture in advance, I might see some hurried action on the screen and select an allegro movement to follow this action, later selecting a number which I, having seen the picture, would know to be appropriate. Nevertheless there would be a thousand other known allegro movements that would be far from good or proper for the same scene or situation. Consequently any layman should be able to see and every musician should know that such musical terms used in picture music suggestion mean nothing and can only confuse rather than assist. The same rule holds good with color or phrasing designations placed in music. The number you are playing might suggest that you play loud and the screen might suggest that you play soft. If you are playing in a picture theatre, and really playing pictures, play as the screen suggests, and you will greatly reduce your personal faulty picture playing.

There is only one possible way of diagnosing a picture so as to make it possible for the player to intelligently set a musical program in a manner giving him confidence that he will be able to musically synchronize with the screen action, and that is by suggesting to him what musical appeal or effect he will need to produce to synchronize with the ensuing picture thought or screen action. With such suggestions every picture music student will find a way to help himself, and will not necessarily have to look through one thousand allegro numbers to find thirty-two bars that he thinks are appropriate to play at a certain picture point where some one has suggested that he should play an allegro.

Two factors are positively necessary to simplify picture music and reduce the present difficulties of the musician and exhibitor. The first, that the picture musician make a thorough study of musical appeal and effect. Every musician hoping to follow the art of picture music should make a special effort in his musical researches to study the kind of music wherewith he can obtain pathetic, romantic, dramatic, mysterious, agitated, hurried, tumultuous, etc., appeals and effects. It should not be required of the picture theatre musician to be able to create both the theory and perform, for this will be impossible to ninety per cent of all the musicians there may be found in picture theatres a hundred years from now.

(Continued on page 4119)

"A Matrimonial Martyr"

By ERNST LUZ

Pathe "Gold Rooster" Feature Projection Time, 70 Minutes

This plot is adapted so as to make it possible for the pianist, one man orchestra player, organist or orchestra leader to make some prior preparation for playing the picture. The numbers suggested do not need to be used; similar numbers, or numbers suggested by "notes" will do as well. It is intended that no unnecessary expense be added for the exhibitor or musician.

	Description of Music	Number Suggested	Cue to Stop Number
1.	Inter (Light Desc.) XXX.....	"Sprakling Eyes" (C. Fischer).....	"Mrs. Hugo Stanley, etc."
2.	Short Intro & Waltz XXX.....	"Spring, Beautiful Spring" (Jos. Stern).....	"I'm going away, Gilberta, etc."
3.	Desc. (Rom) XX.....	"Twilight" (Chappell & Co.).....	"Stanley, the Henpecked, etc."
4.	Inter (Light Desc.) XX	"Shades of Night" (Jos. W. Stern & Co.).....	Connects 1 and 2. "The Witching Hour, etc."
5.	Short Light Intro & Waltz XXX...	"First Love" (J. Remick).....	"At Phyllis Burnham's, etc." (Quick)
6.	Inter-Trot. X.....	"Bo Peep" (J. Remick).....	"Time flits quickly on."
7.	Desc. (Light) XXX	"Joy of outh" (E. Schuberth).....	"Willoughby Crane, etc."
8.	Desc. (Rom) XX.....	"Venetian Love Song" (C. Fischer).....	Connects 2 and 3.
9.	Inter-Trot X	"Sweet Violets" (J. Remick).....	"The Green Eyed Monster, etc."
10.	Light Intro & Waltz XXXX	"Artist's Life" (Strauss).....	Bedroom scene.
11.	Desc. (Light Leg) XX	"Longing" (G. Schirmer).....	"When midnight came."
12.	Ghost Number. (Comedy) X.....	"Ghosts" (Chappell & Co.).....	"The months roll, etc."
13.	Inter. (Light Desc.) X.....	"In Roseland" (F. B. Harrus).....	Connects 3 and 4.
14.	Neutral (Light) (Slow Opening) XXXXXX.....	"Sybil" (Chappell & Co.).....	"Aunt Hannah's illness, etc."
15.	Light Intro & Waltz XXX.....	"Vienna Beauties" (Strauss).....	Connects 4 and 5. "And once again does Erma, etc."
16.	Galop (Light) X.....	"Allegro No. 2" (G. Schirmer).....	Husband on and off screen after Erma imitating Mrs. Stanley.
17.	Inter (Light) X.....	"Whitebird" (Chas. K. Harris).....	Addressed telegram envelope on screen.
18.	Desc. (Light Rom) XX.....	"One Summer Day" (C. Fischer).....	"Business demands urge the lawyer, etc."
19.	Inter (Light) X.....	"Witchery" (John Church).....	To End.

Note:—In music plots each reel of film is divided into 10 units of time, each unit denoted by one X representing about 1½ minutes. Consequently when a number is designed by XX it plays about 3 minutes, XXXX about 6 minutes, etc. When no X appears after musical description it means that the number is very short and does not play a minute or more. When cues to stop numbers are in quotation "——" it means that the Cue is reading matter or sub-title. All other cues are action on screen. All segues should be made quietly and clean. When quick segues or abrupt stops are necessary it will be mentioned in Cues or Notes. When the time of each 1,000 ft. of film is less than 15 minutes there will appear less than 10 X's in each reel. To get the correct time of projection for each reel, multiply the number of X's appearing in each reel by 1½.

Effects are of little consequence. The action throughout is of a lighter vein and every effort should be made to set a program of melodious numbers to conform with the beautiful natural color effects throughout the entire picture. All effects are disturbing to the more melodious musical numbers and should therefore be eliminated.

Music Notes:—Nos. 1, 4, 13 should all be light 4/4 numbers of intermezzo style. Nos. 17 and 19 should be 2/4 intermezzo numbers. Nos. 2, 5, 10 and 15 should be light concert waltzes with lively introductions. Nos. 3, 8 and 18 should be medium slow numbers of romantic appeal. 6/8 numbers preferred. Nos. 6 and 9 are 2/4 Trots, commonly used for modern dancing. Nos. 7 and 11 are moderate 4/4 numbers, with legato movements predominant. Should be of light temperament. No. 12 should be a comedy number in 6/8 with a ghost suggestion. No. 14 must cover 9 or 10 minutes of time and a selection of comic opera airs can be used if the opening movement is in slow tempo. When organ is used alone, special care must be taken to select a program of light and airy numbers.

Photoplay MUSIC

The Score's the Thing

SPECIAL SCORES are now published for Orchestra and Piano to fit all

Paramount Releases

Every Exhibitor should use them. Ask your Exchange

We have on hand a few Orchestra and Piano parts for which we will sell at reduced rates. Small Orch. $2.00 Piano 75 cts. Cash with order—Postage extra

CARMEN

G. SCHIRMER, 3 East 43d St., NEW YORK

ALL Kimball Organs are masterpieces, whether they consist in a carefully selected group of orchestral tones for a house seating less than five hundred or whether they contain every instrument that can be utilized in the most exacting picture and enough of them to fill the largest auditorium with musical sound. The electrical mechanism is quick, accurate, dependable and puts the whole instrument as completely under the domination of the organist as the symphony orchestra the conductor.

W. W. KIMBALL CO. Established 1857 CHICAGO

Eastern Office:—507 FIFTH AVE., NEW YORK

It is hard to refer to

THE BARTOLA ORCHESTRA

without using superlatives. Hear one and see why.

CHAS. C. PYLE, General Sales Agent, 708-712 Mallers Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

Factory Oshkosh, Wisconsin

WE BUILD

ORGANS AND ORCHESTRIONS

WITH ELECTRIC ACTIONS

WRITE FOR CATALOG

FACTORY

THE SYMPHONY PLAYER CO. COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Building and Furnishings

Wasserman's Knickerbocker is a Nashville Landmark .

His 100,000 Dollar Theatre, Sixth Avenue and Capitol Boulevard, Draws Crowds Because Public Realizes That It Will See Worth-While Pictures Amid Pleasing and Comfortable Surroundings—Special Section of the House Is Reserved for Ladies Every Afternoon—Music Is Furnished by Organ and Orchestra

SOMETHING new for Nashville, Tenn., is the method of construction and general appearance of the one hundred thousand dollar Knickerbocker theatre, William H. Wasserman, manager, which was thrown open to the public several weeks ago. Fireproof in every particular, perfectly ventilated by the latest known "mushroom" system, and beautifully decorated in ivory, green and gold, altogether it is one of the handsomest establishments in the South. According to Mr. Wassman, the operating room alone cost more than his first theatre, the Crystal, in its entirety. The Knickerbocker is divided into two sections, exclusive of the usual special boxes. Contrary to the general rule, the lower floor contains the popular priced seats, while the mezzanine floor has been so arranged as to give exclusiveness and the highest order of comfort and conveniences. On this floor all seats are upholstered in plush, and numerous maids look after the comfort of the patrons. In the construction of the building, the idea back of the scheme has been comfort, and all seats are of the most modern design and rest even upon the floor.

As in his previous ventures, Mr. Wassman has paid more attention to ventilation than any other thing, as he has learned from experience that it is impossible to be comfortable in an illy ventilated room. Manager Wassman says, he has been convinced that many people have complained of pictures hurting their eyes, when, as a matter of fact, it was not the picture but impure air. Any first class projecting machine will put a picture on the screen smoothly enough to prevent the hurting of the eyes, says Manager Wassman, but bad air will have the same effect on the eyes as smoke, the fact it is invisible making it no less irritating. The "mushroom" system of ventilation is the very latest word in its line, and this system, coupled with the process of "washing" the air before it is allowed to enter the building, gives perfect ventilation at all times.

The fresh air is taken from the top of the building, is drawn down and through the washing machine and then is blown all over the building through the "mushrooms," one of which is located under each seat. This air is not allowed to remain in the building, but is drawn out from the top, giving a continual flow, fresh and cleanly washed. This system not only serves to ventilate the building during the summer months, but in the winter, when artificial heat is required, the same process is followed, except that, before the air is passed into the building it is forced through a heating device, where it is brought to the desired temperature. Next in importance to the ventilating system is the cleaning system. Dusters and brooms have given way to a powerful vacuum machine which leaves no possibility of accumulations of impurities.

Fireproof Projection Booth

In the construction of the projecting room the builders of the Knickerbocker have reached the acme of security and safety in so far as there might be danger to patrons or other parts of the building. Constructed of reinforced concrete and equipped with thick steel doors, it would be possible to create a roaring furnace of this department without so much as marring the paint even within a few feet of it. To still further reduce the possibility of danger, a separate room, built along the same lines as the projecting room, has been provided for storage and rewinding of films, and during performances there will at no time be any film in the projecting room except that being shown on the screen. The projecting machines used in the Knickerbocker are the latest creation of the Edison factory at Orange, N. J., and were installed by an expert from the factory who went to Nashville for this purpose. The Knickerbocker has two main entrances, one on Sixth avenue and the other on Capitol boulevard, the same general design being followed in each. At neither end are there steps to the main floor, the natural downward sweep of the main floor which begins at the boulevard entrance being so constructed that it ends on a level with the Sixth avenue entrance. All lobbies and aisles of the Knickerbocker are laid with noiseless non-slipping, black and white composition cork, said to be little short of everlasting. Under a special test which was given this product at the Pennsylvania terminals in New York seventy thousand people walked over it daily for ten months without wearing its surface more than one thirty second of an inch. Manager Wassman has followed the ideas of the most expert decorators of the country, and is very proud of the result. Ivory, green and gold have been blended so as to give a most pleasing effect. Over the auditorium and mezzanine floors are sixteen suspended semi-indirect chandeliers of the most modern pattern. By the use of specially constructed controlling devices these lights may be made to give off any degree of brilliancy desired, and this feature will be of material help in the proper showing of the pictures without darkening the building to an extent sufficient to hamper the easy movement of the theatre's patrons.

One of the largest pipe organs ever manufactured by the Kimball Company, accompanied by an orchestra led by Prof. Buel B. Reisenger, one of the foremost organists and conductor consisting of the following artists, E. Daniel Worland, flute virtuoso; George Hodge, tympanist; Mozart Lucier, violinist and assistant director, make up the musical equipment of the Knickerbocker. A unique, yet absolutely necessary adjunct to this great organ is the "echo organ" which is located in the extreme rear of the building, back of the mezzanine floor. Though separated from the organ proper by the entire length of the building, the "echo organ" is operated by Prof. Reisenger from his seat in front of the screen.

On the main floor, at the Boulevard entrance, Manager Wasserman has provided rest rooms and toilets for ladies. On the opposite side of the Boulevard entrance from the ladies' rest rooms are the gentlemen's lavatories. In the construction of the building, Manager Wassman has seen to it that even the smallest conveniences have not been overlooked, hundreds of dollars having been spent by him on what ordinarily are considered "little things."

In his search for a fitting opening program, Manager Wasserman finally decided upon one of Bessie Barriscale's successess, "Bullets and Brown Eyes," a Triangle Ince production of unusual merit. In addition to "Bullets and Brown Eyes" there was a keystone comedy, entitled "The Village Vampire," produced by Sennett, which was a scream from start to finish. The policy of the Knickerbocker will be three changes per week, and only the very best pictures will be allowed to go on the screen. All offerings will feature Triangle plays, produced by Griffith, Ince and Sennett. Manager Wassman has also secured the William Fox service for the Knickerbocker.

Special Seat Reservations for Ladies

An innovation for Nashville is to be introduced by the Knickerbocker with the reserving of a special section of the theatre each afternoon for ladies exclusively.

The prices to be charged for admission to the Knickerbocker will be ten, fifteen and twenty-five cents. The seats on the entire main or lower floor will be ten cents, on the mezzanine floor, fifteen cents and boxes twenty-five cents. A special feature will be the reservation of private boxes for parties desiring to attend any particular performance. These reservations, which can be made at any time and for any length of time ahead of the show date, will be fifty cents. When thus reserved they will not be sold again until they have been used, whether the persons making the reservations claim them in the first or last part of the evening. The prevailing idea and policy of the Knickerbocker will be to give "service," plus cleanliness and comfort and entertainment of the highest order. The operating booth of the Knickerbocker is in charge of Irvin Robert, an experienced electrician with years of training in his line of work. As his assistant, Mr. Roberts has the support of H. A. Carter, another expert electrician. Both Mr. Roberts and Mr. Carter are members of the I. A. T. S. E., union. The Knickerbocker is strictly a union house and employs nothing but union men in all of its departments.

METHODS OF MAKING MOTION PICTURE TITLES

(Continued from page 4112)

printing machine will come in close contact with the plate at the exposure aperture. Upon running positive film through the machine a title is thus printed. This method requires the installation of a recess or grooves at the aperture of the machine to receive the little glass negative and is open to the objection that as the film moves and the negative is stationary the emulsion of the film stock is liable to be scratched.

Quite similar to the last mentioned method is that which is known in laboratories as "duping" a title. This method is used when it is necessary to duplicate a title for which the cards are missing but of which a small fragment of either the original negative or positive film is at hand. A small piece of the original title to be "duped" is taken and the perforations cut away below the image to be utilized as at a.-b. Fig. 1. The reason for cutting away the perforations as indicated is to keep the claw-movement of the printer from drawing the piece of film through the printer gate. The fragment of film fixed as above is secured to the aperture plate of the printer, with the image to be printed from accurately centered before the exposure window, and positive film threaded and run through the printing machine, and the result will be a fac-simile of the original title. This method, while handy at times, is also open to the objection that it scratches the film run through, and titles are frequently made by this process where economy is desired as it is only necessary to photograph a half a foot or so of negative title.

Where quality is the aim it will be found best to employ a motion picture camera, a title-board or stand, and artifical lights, photographing the titles full length with correct exposure, crisp focus and even illumination, in this way doing the job right.

The camera for title-work may well be of just as high quality as those used for production work, although this not necessary, it being more to the point to have a skilful photographer to make the titles than a twelve dollars a week boy. Cameras for title work should have an adjustable aperture plate or floor-line so that the titles produced can be made to match or "frame up" with film taken on any camera. While masks may be used to alter the aperture line in the camera an adjustable aperture which may be raised or lowered, by means of a small lever on the outside of the camera, will be found the best arrangement for the taking instrument used in a title department. There are a number of skilled mechanics who make and fit these adjustable apertures to most any type of camera.

Next in importance is the stand, the same being a combination of the easel upon which the cards to be photographed are mounted and the table or support for the camera. There should be incorporated in the design of the stand means for moving the camera towards or away from the easel and means for moving the easel or title board up, down and sideways, thereby facilitating the centering and focussing of the image in the camera.

Many laboratories employ a miserable makeshift, knocked together from a few boxes and boards to mount the camera and cards upon for title photography. On the other hand we have seen very creditable title making apparatus (made on the premises) in some other film plants. A most ideal type of title making stand and easel is shown in Fig. 2. The outfit illustrated in addition to being adjustable in all directions has a large and easily read footage countered which may be noticed just below the camera, and is motor driven.

Although a motor driven title camera is preferred by many as tending to give more even exposures, it will be found that many

EXHIBITORS CASH IN ON THIS OFFER

Every exhibitor will agree that his one best asset is a classy program to go to his patrons weekly. The most effective and classiest program on the market is our Souvenir Portrait Card program. It reaches the home, is a sure patron getter, and is the cheapest advertising known. And now you can purchase them at an undreamed of price — Listen ——

1000 Weekly Programs, $3.00

Printed on the backs of our famous artistic Souvenir Portrait Cards. We had designed and reproduced in colors portrait cards of forty-eight of the biggest stars in filmdom — Billie Burke, Charlie Chaplin, Mary Pickford, Francis X. Bushman, etc. You print your advertising program on the back. Use one a week. Write for sample programs and circular showing "Six Ways to Build a Bigger Patronage."

Cahill-Igoe Co., 117 W. Harrison St., Chicago

OPERA CHAIRS

Steel—Cast Iron

Exceptional in Quality—Comfortable

You are invited to make use of our Service Department. Send blue print or sketch for Free Seating Plan.

If you are desirous of reseating, we can help you dispose of old chairs.

Write for Catalog N.

We manufacture Special Out-of-Door Seating.

STEEL FURNITURE CO.
1475 Buchanan Ave., S. W.
Grand Rapids, Mich.

ALL THE PLAYERS

of prominence in any sized picture can be furnished instantly. WIRE US YOUR WANTS. If you fail to display the face of a popular player who is appearing at your house you are overlooking an opportunity for larger receipts. THE FACE OF A WELL KNOWN PLAYER prominently displayed will draw more money than the mere announcement of a name.

LARGE HAND COLORED PICTURES.
Size 22 x 23 75c Each Size 11 x 14 20c Each

SEMI-PHOTO POST CARDS $3.50 per thousand. Print your announcement on correspondence side and mail them weekly. PHOTOGRAPHS, size 8 x 10, all the prominent players, 600 different names, 20c. each. GRAVURE FOLDERS, containing pictures of all the prominent players, including feature stars, $10.00 per thousand.

SINGLE COLUMN CUTS of all the players, 600 names, 40c. each.

TRANSPARENCIES, ALL SIZES, from 50c. to $2.50. FAC-SIMILE OIL PAINTINGS from $8.00 to $25.00, according to size and frames.

KRAUS MFG. CO., 220 W. 42nd Street, N. Y.
12th Floor, GANDLER BUILDING.
Send for Catalogue of over 600 players and samples free. Write us giving details of your dull nights, and we will send you a remedy.

Make Your Lobby Display Attractive

There is nothing more fascinating to the public than a bright brass frame to display your photos or posters.

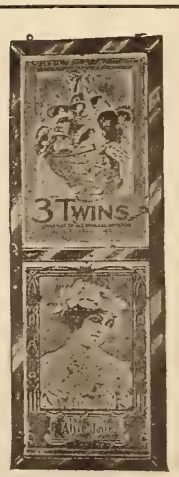
We make Lobby and Theatre Fixtures and Brass Rails of every description.

Don't fail to visit our Showrooms.
Write for catalog.

The NEWMAN MFG. CO.
717 Sycamore Street, Cincinnati, Ohio

Branch Factories and Show Rooms:
101 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.
68 W. Washington St., Chicago, Ill.

Coast representative, G. A. Metcalfe, 117 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, California.



Ball Bearing; Long Wearing

Do You Know How?

It is often necessary to write a word or phrase exactly in the center of the paper. It is simple on the L. C. Smith & Bros. typewriter. Do you know how?

Do you know the best way to insert a large number of sheets of paper and carbons at the same time, so that the edges will all come even?

Do you know how to "half-space" so that you can write in an extra letter and still have the work look well?

Do you know why the use of the Variable Line Spacer increases the life of the platen?

Do you know what can be done with our Variable Line Spacer that can not be done with any other?

Do you know the best way to insert a sheet of paper?

Do you know how to "front feed" envelopes?

If you cannot answer "yes" to all these questions, it will pay you to send for the booklet—"The Silent Smith." It's yours for the asking. Drop a card to

L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter Company

Factory and Home Office: Syracuse, N. Y.

Branches in all Principal Cities

311 Broadway - - New York City

Full Line of Standard and Silent Models

THEATRE ACCESSORIES
LUCAS THEATRE SUPPLY COMPANY
ATLANTA GEORGIA

NOW IS THE TIME TO EQUIP WITH FANS

We will furnish you (4) oscillating fans, the kind that distribute the air by swinging in different directions, for direct current at a total of $44.00. Alternating, $50.00. Also Ceiling Fans, Bracket and Ventilating.

Fidelity Electric Co., Lancaster, Pa.

of the best titles seen have been photographed by a hand driven camera. Some of the cleverest titles makers prefer to run the camera by hand. When motors are attached to title cameras the pulley carrying the belt from the motor is generally attached to the single picture shaft or trick spindle. This is done to assist in reducing the speed of the motor which should not drive the camera too fast as positive stock is used in photographing titles and if the camera was worked too fast under exposure would undoubtedly result.

Kind of Lights Used

Having stated the desirable qualities of cameras and stands for use in title work the lights to be used must now be looked into. Cooper-Hewitt tubes made in short sizes for just this class of work are probably the first choice of the majority owing to the steadiness of their illumination and their even distribution of light over the copy being photographed. Some of the arc-lamps used by photo-engravers are also particularly adapted to title work, however, the best examples of such being the Bogue lamp, made by the C. J. Bogue Electric Company of this city (an enclosed type arc) and the Joyce Arc lamp which is a flaming arc made by the Maurice-Joyce Engraving Company of Washington, D. C.

Too great stress cannot be laid upon the proper arrangement of the lights with relation to the copy on the easel, if even illumination is to be secured. In Fig. 3, a. is the copy board or easel, b-b are the lights placed at each side of same, and both lights should be inclined at the same angle to the copy board in order that the illumination may be equalized as roughly indicated by the dotted lines in the diagram. The camera is indicated by C in Fig. 3 and the field of the lens also shown by dotted lines. Equalizing the illumination as illustrated above is one of the most important points to be observed in photographing titles.

There are other classes of work executed in the title department including the making of the inserts, such as copies of letters, photos, books, newspapers, etc., which appear in completed film subjects. In the opinion of the writer a better effect would generally be had if inserts were photographed in the studio under the supervision of the producing director. It certainly destroys all illusion to see a man reading a letter out of doors or perhaps in a sumptuous living room set, followed by a flash of the letter on a dead black background and held by fingers as black as coal. The black background alluded to is the velvet on which the letter to be copied is placed while the darkness of the fingers holding the same is caused by the inability of the positive stock (almost invariably used in the title department) to correctly render flesh tones.

Should Be Photographed on Negative Stock

Such inserts and particularly photographs and any objects containing colors or delicate half-tones should be photographed on negative stock, although a very good copy of a photograph can be secured on positive film by slightly over-exposing and giving the same short development. It might be well to state here that positive stock is extensively used in title making on account of its comparatively contrasty nature and its ability to give clear white letters and dense black background.

The exposure given in photographing titles will vary with the conditions in different places such as camera speed, lights used, and other details of the methods employed.

HENRY REIMERS, GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT OF LABORATORIES, WITH SELIG FOR 18 YEARS, DEAD IN NEW YORK

HENRY REIMERS, forty-three years of age, died at the Bellevue Hospital Tuesday, May 30. His body was shipped to his brother in Chicago for burial. Reimers had been with the Selig Polyscope Company for eighteen years, holding the position of general superintendent of laboratories. He was known as the father of cameramen, being the first man to use a motion picture camera and establish a laboratory in this country.

The trade at large cannot help but feel the loss of such a man. Reimers was not only the first cameraman, but last and not least, one of the very best. He made several tours of the world, and each proved a financial success. His last position was with the Diamond Feature Film Company, 1547 Broadway, New York City.

Communications can be addressed to his brother Fred Reimers, 520 Jackson boulevard, Chicago, Ill.

MUSICAL SYNCHRONIZATION TO DRAMATIC PHOTOPLAYS

(Continued from page 4114)

It is more than enough to ask of a picture theatre musician to be acquainted with a proper library of music, its possibilities in picture synchronization, and the ability to play the music so as to be appreciated by the listening public. It should, therefore, be the musician's duty to study his music with a view to knowing its value for picture synchronization. Until he has made this necessary study, he cannot call himself a picture musician.

The second necessary factor is the producer. It is his duty to see that his picture is so assembled as to make musical synchronization possible, not ridiculous, and then furnish the necessary information, making it possible for the musician to properly select from his own and known repertoire of music, especially accumulated and selected for picture theatre work, to set a program which he in advance knows will be appreciated by the public.

No one would have the audacity to ask any second person to do that which they were not acquainted with or what is considered impossible. Why should such conditions exist as they really do exist in the film industry, which is one of the greatest industries in the world?

Until picture music is studied with a view of knowing its temperamental appeal and effect, very little advance will be made in picture music, and you can rest assured that when picture music advance is a fact not every Tom, Dick and Harry will be an authority.

LARGEST SHIPMENT OF PAPER CUPS IS SENT FROM NEW YORK TO SAN FRANCISCO BY INDIVIDUAL DRINKING CUP COMPANY

THE largest single shipment of paper cups ever made across the continent was just made from New York to California. The health laws against the use of common drinking glasses in California are now being rigidly enforced. With the advent of warm weather and the consequent necessity of furnishing ice water to patrons, the demand for paper cups has been enormous. Exhibitors have generally co-operated with the local boards of health by complying with the laws and in providing the best possible service to their patrons.

This shipment was the first of the summer consignment, consisting of 2,000,000 Health Cups made by the Individual Drinking Cup Company, 220 West Nineteenth street, New York City, and will be largely used by theatres in and around San Francisco. These cups are sold from penny-in-the-slot machines which allow a substantial profit for the exhibitor. If these cups were laid end to end in a single row they would stretch ninety-five miles, or from New York to Philadelphia.

COMPOSER OF SCORE FOR "CIVILIZATION" GOES TO CHICAGO

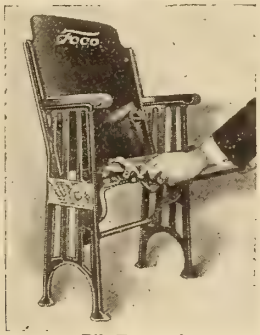
VICTOR L. SCHERTZINGER, composer of the musical score for Thomas H. Ince's eleven reel photodrama, "Civilization," who has been conducting the orchestra at the Criterion theatre since the New York opening has left for Chicago, where he will conduct the premier of "Civilization" at the Grand Opera House. Mr. Schertzinger will resume his duties at the Criterion theatre about July 1.

All Eyes on a Line

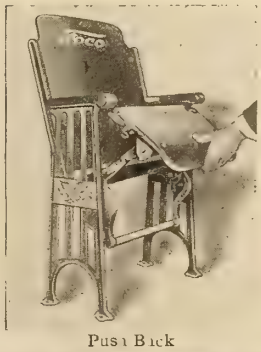
A NEW CHAIR

That Enables Everybody to See and Be Comfortable

Press Catch



Tilt Forward



Push Back

Can be changed from an adult's chair to a child's chair by pressing the catch and raising as illustrated. Returns to adult's position and locks just as easily.

It provides a child with a seat proportioned to his body, a foot rest the right height and puts the child's eyes on a line with those of adults, enabling him to see without annoyance to others or discomfort to himself. The

"All eyes on a line"
FOCO
Adjustable Chair

offers theatre owners something for which there is a real need. Fortunately it is not an extra expense but an added source of profit because it—

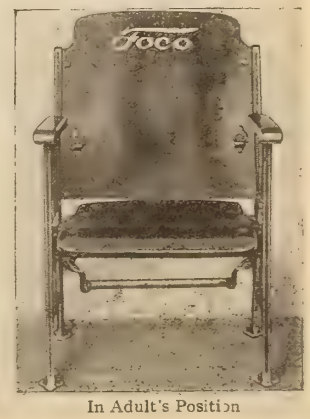
Does away with the free kids.
Increases the patronage of children; also the adults who come with children.
Attracts patronage of adults who won't now attend because of discomfort of holding children on their laps.
Attracts patronage from theatres not equipped with Foco chairs.

FOCO Chairs cost new only a few cents more than ordinary chairs. Made in all sizes and finishes. Old chairs can be converted into Foco Chairs at considerably less than the cost of new chairs. Leading chair companies are licensed to make Foco Chairs and can supply you.

Write for booklet showing reel of actual chairs in use.

Family Opera Chair Organization
315 N. 10th Street, St. Louis, Mo.

In Child's Position



In Adult's Position

AMERICAN SEATING COMPANY

Exclusive Manufacturers of

Furnishings for Theatres, Schools, Churches and all Public Buildings

When you want Opera Chairs, remember we have

50,000 CHAIRS

ALWAYS IN STOCK

in 6 different styles in Imitation Mahogany and Circassian Walnut finishes, assuring you satisfactory selection and

IMMEDIATE SERVICE

Other designs of Upholstered and Unupholstered Chairs unlimited in number, furnished in 25 to 50 days after receipt of specifications, depending on character of chairs selected.

Our Consultation Service, specializing in designing economical arrangements for theatre seating is tendered to you without any charge whatever.

Descriptive literature on request.

For prompt attention address:

General Offices: 1012 LYTTON BUILDING, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Sales Offices in all principal cities

SIMPLEX SOCIAL CLUB WILL HOLD SIXTH ANNUAL OUTING AT BELVEDERE PARK, NORTH BEACH, L. I., ON JULY 22

THE Simplex Social Club, Composed of employees of the Precision Machine Company are making extensive preparations for their sixth annual outing, to be held at Belvedere Park, North Beach, L. I., on Saturday, July 22. At last year's outing over two hundred employees and their friends made the event one to be long remembered, and this year the event is expected to eclipse all previous efforts. The entertainment committee have arranged for an elaborate cabaret entertainment at the conclusion of the day's festivities.

The baseball game, which is planned for the afternoon has aroused a strong spirit of rivalry among those who are to participate, and with the other sporting events all are assured of a "good time." The officers of the club are: E. Hoffman, president; W. C. Michel, treasurer; R. C. Kneuer, recording secretary, and T. Healy, financial secretary. The best wishes of the NEWS is extended to the members for an ideal day, and a merry one.

WURLITZER-HOPE-JONES ORGAN INSTALLED IN DE LUXE, LOS ANGELES

A WURLITZER-HOPE-JONES Unit Orchestra has been installed in the De Luxe theatre, Alvarado and Orange street, Los Angeles, and Proprietor-Manager Frank L. Schafer has engaged Bruce Gordon Kingsley as director of music. Attractive announcements concerning this addition to the theatre equipment were sent out to all prospective patrons by the management. A day was set aside for introduction of the new instrument to the patronage of the house.

CAMERAMAN LAWRENCE GOES TO UNIVERSAL CITY

GEORGE LAWRENCE, cameraman, who has made a number of subjects for firms in and about San Francisco, including "The Nature Man," which was released by the Universal, has accepted a position tendered him by Manager of Production Charles Rankin of U City, and is in Los Angeles to take up the new work.

One SIMPLEX, 110 volt motor and motor-drive attachments complete,—slightly used but guaranteed in perfect condition, $220.00. One SIMPLEX, absolutely perfect, complete with lenses, $190.00. Two No. 6A complete with motors, $195.00 each. One No. 6A complete, guaranteed perfect, $155.00. One No. 6B complete, brand new, $268.00. One No. 6 machine, $115.00. One EDISON MODEL D, $105.00.

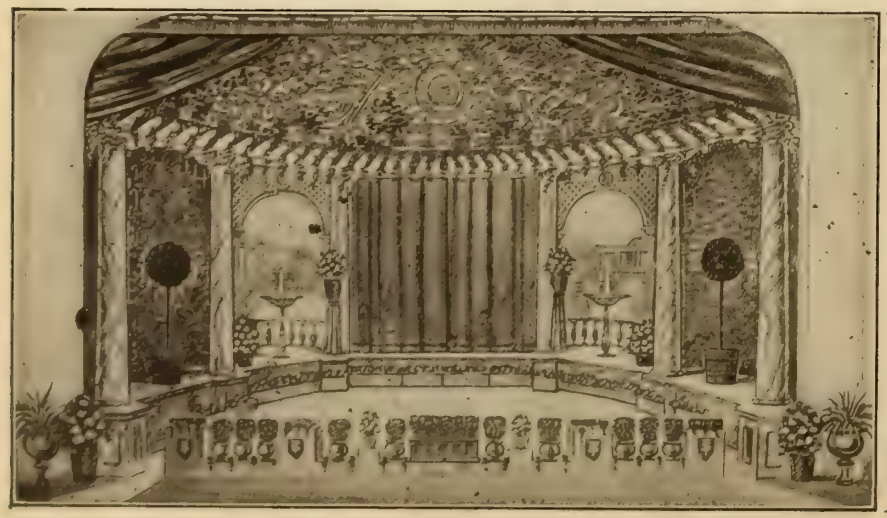
IMPORTED MALTESE CROSS CONDENSERS, guaranteed against discoloring, 75c each. These condensers cannot be equaled.

All of the above machines are guaranteed to be in perfect condition, some of which have been slightly used. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

THE STERN MANUFACTURING CO., Inc. PHILADELPHIA, PA.



For Artistic Lobby Display and Stage Decorations

Install our line of Artificial FLOWERS, TREES, VINES, LEAVES, GARLANDS, WREATHS AND PALMS.

Estimates made and theatres decorated under contract by our expert.

Our 32-page catalogue No. 3, illustrating in colors the latest artificial flowers for Theatre decoration, FREE.

FRANK NETSCHERT COMPANY, INC.

61 Barclay Street New York City

WANTED!

THOSE WHO HAVE

Motion Picture Projection Machines
Motion Picture Screens
Motion Picture Accessories of All Descriptions
Scenery—Properties
Electrical Stage Lighting Effects

FOR SALE, TO INVESTIGATE THE ADVERTISING MERITS OF

The Official Trade Journal

a monthly publication issued by the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes and Moving Picture Machine Operators of the United States and Canada, 107 West 46th Street, New York City

Consider What The Official Trade Journal Has Accomplished

FOR ITSELF. CIRCULATION, OCTOBER 1, 1915, WAS BUT 1394 COPIES WHICH HAS BEEN INCREASED TO AN ASSURED CIRCULATION FOR JULY 1, 1916, OF 18,614 COPIES

WEIGH WELL WHAT IT CAN ACCOMPLISH FOR YOU

Send for Sample Copy and Advertising Rates. Both will surprise you

F. G. LEMASTER, Manager
107 West 46th Street
New York, N. Y.

CONTRACTS ALREADY SIGNED FOR SPACE

FOR THE

SIXTH NATIONAL EXPOSITION AND CONVENTION

OF THE

Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America

AND THE

Motion Picture Industry

Coliseum, Chicago, Ill., July 10th to 18th.

Pathe Film Company	Monarch Film Producing Company	Sosman & Landis---Scenic Artists
General Film Company	Celebrated Players Film Company	Eastman Kodak Company
Universal Film Company	Mirror Screen Company	American Seating Company
Mutual Film Company	Seeburg Organ Company	Heywood Bros. & Wakefield
Metro Film Company	Bartola Musical Instrument Company	A. H. Andrews Chair Company
World Film Company	Wurlitzer Organ Company	Mills Novelty Company
International Film Service	Photoplayer Company	Commonwealth Edison Company
Selig Polyscope Company	Kleine Optical Company	Peoples Gas, Light & Coke Company
Essanay Film Mfg. Company	Nicholas-Power Machine Company	American Theater Hospital Company
Vitagraph Film Mfg. Company	Midwest Theatre Supply Company	Amusement Supply Company
American Standard Film Corporation	E. E. Fulton Supply Company	Motography
Bluebird Photoplay Company, Inc.	Precision Machine Company	Motion Picture News
American Film Mfg. Company	Edison Motion Picture Machine Co.	Moving Picture World
Melies Film Company	Enterprise Optical Mfg. Company	Exhibitors Herald
Rothacker Film Mfg. Company	Optigraph Company	New York Telegraph
Ivan Film Company	National Carbon Company	New York Dramatic Mirror
Fox Film Company	Speer Carbon Company	Billboard
Paramount Film Company	Exhibitors Supply Company	Wid's Reporting Company
Triangle Film Company	Chase Sign Company	Amusement---Minneapolis

The Success of the Exposition is Assured by the Above Firms

Are You Represented?

CHOICE SPACE CAN STILL BE HAD

APPLY TO

WM. J. SWEENEY, Chairman
Convention Committee

LOUIS H. FRANK
Manager of Exposition

1413 Masonic Temple Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.

THE WILLIAMS PRINTING COMPANY, NEW YORK

¶ THE MYSTERIES OF MYRA is now in its eighth week. Bookings on this feature series continue to pour into our exchanges.

The story of THE MYSTERIES OF MYRA grows stronger with each episode and the dramatic situations intensify with each release. You are missing an opportunity if you do not book it.

¶ WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN MEXICO is the title of the only authentic Mexican pictures. This single reel feature was taken by Tracy Mathewson, staff photographer now with the Punitive Expedition in Mexico. Tracy Mathewson is the only authorized photographer with this expedition.

¶ MAUDE THE MULE by F. Opper, will make millions laugh, beginning June 20th.

A SAD AWAKENING is the name of a Krazy Kat cartoon by George W. Herriman. Book this cartoon feature.

¶ THE HEARST INTERNATIONAL NEWS PICTORIAL is a newspaper in pictures in the full sense of the word. It contains a news section—a war section—a fashion section—and puts the interesting events of the world before your eyes. Two releases every week.

The INTERNATIONAL FILM SERVICE inc.

no. 2 COLUMBUS CIRCLE · NEW YORK City.

PALLAS PICTURES

PRESENTS

MYRTLE STEDMAN

IN

"THE AMERICAN BEAUTY"

RELEASED JUNE 29th

ON THE PARAMOUNT PROGRAM

PALLAS PICTURES are Paramount

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS
0 007 551 498 0